U. of D. Offers Extension Courses At Harrington

First Meeting Held at High School Last Night - Courses Also Held at Dover High School

A course in "Guidance in the Secondary Schools" will be taught by Dr. Stanley R. Ostrom, supervisor of the guidance service of the State Department of Public Instruction, at Harrington this winter and spring under auspices of the University of Delaware Academic Extension Division.

Paul M. Hodgson, director of the division, said that the course would be valuable to classroom teachers and home-room teachers as well as counselors. A consideration of the needs of adolescents will be taken up, as well as various means of discovering the needs, the role of adults in dealing with them, and the techniques that have been found helpful.

Meeting at Harrington High School, the course will hold its first meeting January 27, and will meet on 15 Thursdays from 7 to 9:30.

Three of the University's extension courses have been arranged for Dover in the coming term. Registration was scheduled for Jan. 27 at Dover High School.

The courses to be offered are: College Algebra, Public Speaking and Principles and Practices of Vocational Education. All will carry three credit-hours.

The algebra course will be taught by Harry Smith, Jr., of the University's mathematics department, Milton Valentine, of the faculty in dramatic arts and speech, will teach Public Speaking, which will include informal discussion and prepared talks. So far as is possible, every student will have a chance to speak at every class meeting.

Both these courses will be offered from 7 to 9:30 p.m. on Thursdays, beginning February 3d.

Raymond W. Heim, of the University's vocational education faculty, will teach Principles and Practices of Vocational Education. This will be general survey course designed to acquaint academic and vocational high school teachers, with the fundamental principles and policies underlying modern educational theory in vocational education. The time for this course is to be arranged.

Allen Family To Give Concert

The James K. Allen family, of Dighton, Massachusetts, will present a concert of instrumental and vocal music in Asbury Methodist Church, Harrington, Delaware Monday evening February 14th, at 7:30 P. M. The pastor, Rev. J. Harry Wright announced this concert today. This family is personally known by the local minister, and is enroute to Florida to begin the sixth year of public concerts. They arrive here from a concert their way to the south.

Father, mother and six children all appear in the program. The concert begins with an orchestra number in which Robert Lee, the little 20-month-old boy beats the triangle as his part. The 5-year-old boy, Herbert Brockton, plays the drums. The older daughter, Ilo Elizabeth, 17, plays the piano; the younger daughter Marie, 16, plays the violin. Two more boys make up the family group for the orchestra—Frank 14, who plays flute and trombone, and John Richard II, who plays the trumpet. Thus every member of this American family appears, making a family atmosphere which will appeal to every member of attending families.

This family has a six-voice choir, and will be accompanied on the pipe organ by the older daughter, who is an accomplished and mature artist. She has been organist for Central Methodist Church in Brockton, Massachusetts, one of New England's largest churches. She was selected as organist for the Hall, Boston, Massachusetts for the fourth consecutive year. She plays the most difficult compositions from memory.

The vocal selections, though modern in character, are simple and beautiful. The range of voice in this group is remarkable—with Marie able to sing high soprano, an octave above high C. This family vocal music emphasizes purity of tone and harmony, and does not feature "stunt" singing to detract from the effect of good music, beautifully presented.

This concert is sponsored by the Mother's Auxiliary of the church, and endorsed by the music committee and official board. No admission charge will be made, but an offering will be received.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Kern, and Mrs. H. E. Ramsdell, of Denton, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Ramsdell on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vapaa and son spent last Sunday in Childs, Maryland, in the home of Mr. Vapaa's parents.

A new variety of head lettuce which is resistant to tipburn has been developed by scientists of the U. S. department of agriculture and the New Jersey experiment station.

March of Dimes Drive For Funds Ends Monday

County Chairman Earl Sylvester Urges Contributors to Aid Kent to Go Over the Top

The closing date of the 1949 March of Dimes Drive for Funds, January 31st, is fast approaching and Earl Sylvester, chairman for Kent County, urges all citizens to make their contribution and help Kent County go over the top in this very necessary campaign. Last year this County raised approximately four thousand dollars, of which, two thousand dollars was turned over to the Kent County Foundation for Infantile Paralysis which expended in 1938 a total in excess of four thousand dollars in providing medical services for nine new cases of polio and two cases from former years. The 1948 victims and amount spent in Kent County were as follows: three from Dover $1274.85, three from Clayton, Smyrna $1230.70, two from Camden, Wyoming $642.75 and one from Felton $519.25 and four hundred dollars additional for a patient released from the hospital in November. From a national standpoint it cost seventeen million dollars in 1948 to care for infantile paralysis patients and of this amount six million five hundred thousand dollars was sent to chapters to aid in epidemics throughout the country thereby completely exhausting the emergency aid fund of the National Foundation, Delaware had one hundred thirty five cases of polio in 1948 and was second in incidence of the entire nation from a percentage population standpoint. Kent County net per capita contribution to the March of Dimes campaign in 1948 was 1181, the lowest in the state as New Castle County contributed 1904 and Sussex 2819. This is a direct challenge to the citizens of Kent County and our citizens can and should contribute eight thousand dollars in the present drive and let our county be ready to meet any emergency. In the event you have not been contacted by your local committee you can forward your contribution to Howard Wagner, care Peoples Bank, Harrington, Delaware, who is the County treasurer for this drive and all amounts received will be credited to your local community. Mr. Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has stated, that a least thirty million dollars must be raised in this campaign if we are to continue to help polio victims.

Dr. Hewitt Smith, First National Bank; Mr. R. R. Coulbourn; Mrs. Emma Thawley; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Butler; Harry Greenberg; Mrs. Lucy L. Jones; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cannon, Sr.; Mr. William A. Smith; Harrington New Century Club; Mr. and Mrs. Amos Layton; Mrs. Clara Watts; Kent Chapter No. 11; Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Tee; Mr. Elmer A. Tull; Horace E. Quillen; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Brodus; Mrs. Bessie Rust; Mr. James Rust; Mr. C. M. Raughey; Tees Cut Rate Store; Mr. and Mrs. George Swain; Mr. Walter J. Paskey, Sr.

This is a departure from the usual methods of soliciting for this fund in Harrington and vicinity but the need is so great this year that these Scouts volunteered their services as an aid to the many boys and girls who may be stricken with the dreaded polio in 1949.

Harrington Troop, Boy Scouts of America, as their contribution to the March of Dimes, will make a house to house canvass Saturday, January 29th, beginning in the morning. Scout-Master Calvin Simpson will supervise the collection.

Frost Windows, Add Color To Give Bathroom Decoration

By Eritta Haley

"MY HOUSE is nicely furnished, but I have no idea what I can do to the bathroom to make it a decorative asset," wails a homemaker who is seriously concerned with keeping an attractive home.

Bathrooms are neglected decoratively in many homes for the same reason as this woman gave. People simply don't know the possibilities for making them as attractive to look at as a bedroom, kitchen or living room.

While time and thought has been spent on other rooms, the baths have been ignored except to see that they had towels, soap and running water. After a time, they become an eyesore because the rest of the house has been furnished tastefully. What can be done?

First of all, consider the bathroom as a possible decorative unit. If it adjoins a bedroom, possibly it can be carried out with a color scheme modified after the bedroom. If it's downstairs, you may want to use some of the other rooms so it's part and parcel of the home.

It's wise, also, to consider what you have in the way of towels and wash cloths. If your taste runs the gamut of colors, it's best to keep the bathroom white so that you may use any set of towels in it that you happen to have.

If your towel colors run to rose, green yellow and blue as well as white, the best choice would be Let windows sparkle . . . green as any of these colors can be combined with it. Paint or Tile? You Decide.

A bathroom which uses enamel paint on its walls is easy to clean as well as to repaint. It can be washed often, in fact as often as necessary without harming a good quality paint. The wall color can be changed frequently.

If you have a tile bathroom, it will look more luxurious and modern, but you'll have to stick to the original color once it's there. If, of course, you have white tile, then you may use a wide range of colors in it.

If you are modernizing your home, you may want to have some simulated tile put on the lower half

White curtains add color. of the walls, or perhaps even the whole wall. This works out well and gives a nice effect.

Tile is easy to keep clean. The best way to keep it sparkling is to run the shower or hot water until the room is full of steam. Then go over the walls with a dry cloth. As soon as the cloth becomes soiled, take a clean one or rinse out the one which you are using.

The advantage to having a dry

Be Smart!

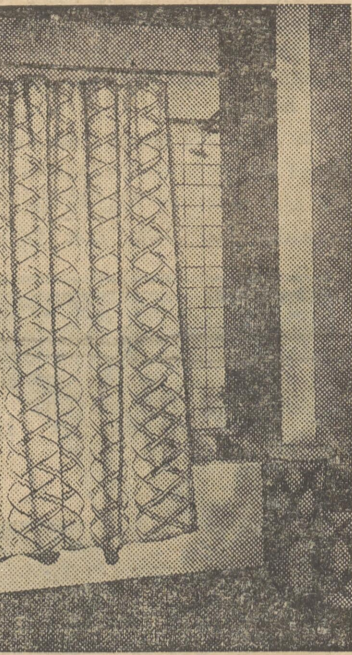

Many clever ideas feature Victorian whimsies in colorful costume jewelry, such as the pearls in the gilded cage sketched here. They belong to the pendant and necklace school which is just about tops in popularity. Among the other intriguing ideas is the return of the locket. The heart-shaped locket promises to be one of the most often used, with the theme repeated in bracelets as well.

Fashion Flashes

Whether you have a luncheon date or go out to call in the afternoon or evening, one of the prettiest dresses you can choose for the occasion is a slim rayon crepe dress with pockets that form slenderizing drapes at the hips. A portrait ruffe around the high neck completes the dress.

Popular colors from which to choose for the remainder of the winter season include green, gray, milk brown, royal or the always-popular black.

Matched Ensemble

Ribbons of different colors are entwined to make the spiral plaid in a new vinyl film shower curtain pattern. Drapes may also be had in the same pattern. The matching tote hamper and wastebasket are made to go with the curtain and drape set. They are sturdily constructed to withstand wear and are both alcohol-proof and flame-proof.

clean cloth is that it leaves the tile in a nice glossy condition, much nicer than if you had gone over the walls with a scrub brush and soap.

To do the best cleaning on the bathroom, remove everything movable before cleaning. This will give you more room in which to do the best work. Wash the shower curtains as well as the regular curtains weekly as you do the cleaning. Select Furnishings Tastefully

Since the bath is usually a small room, it's wise to furnish it carefully so there is little clutter in it. All the colors should harmonize well to give a unity of impression. Get everything that is not a part of the furniture, out of the way completely so there is an absence of clutter. You can put creams, jars, and bottles in a cabinet or arrange them attractively on the new glass shelves that are becoming so popular.

Shower curtains and drapes look best when they are matched. In fact, now there are even hampers made to match the shower and curtain sets. Chip-resistant lacquer is used on the background of the hamper and the hand-painted designs are sealed with a coat of plastic paint. This makes it easy to wipe smudges with a damp cloth.

Hampers and wastebaskets will stand up under wear best if they have heavy steel-bases. Since they are moved around a lot, they must be durable.

The more expensive shower and curtain sets are really economical in the long run. The best ones are made of natural rubber and have a dull finish that looks beautiful and weats well.

Other sets in plastic materials, such as opaque vinyl film, are very attractive and come in an attractive array of designs and colors.

Be sure to choose shower curtains long enough so there will be little water escaping when they're in use. The standard sizes of six by six feet are sufficient for most bathrooms.

Good Decorating Hints Given For those of you who want to "frost" bathroom windows, there are two easy ways. One method is to mix some epsom salts with a little varnish and apply to the glass. Another way is to cover the glass with a sheet of tissue paper and apply spar varnish which has been thinned with 1/4 turpentine. This mixture will make the paper adhere to the window.

If fixtures have become dull and rusted-looking, rub them thoroughly with steel wool and then apply a metal polish to them and rub until they shine. Keep soft paper around to wipe the fixtures dry to prevent them from rusting.

Peacock blue with white is a good color combination to use for a bathroom if you're in a warm climate. It's cool looking, and you may use white, blue, yellow or rose or maroon towels and accessories with this combination.

A yellow bathroom is very cheerful and warm for cooler climates. With this you may use blue, green, black or black and white towels, etc.

If you want to use a combination of colors in the bathroom, have the background gray. Gray tile with touches of white at the borders is very effective. With this you may use a combination of flamingo, yellow, drake green and dark gray.

A large bathroom is best held together with a large, shaggy rug in the same color that predominates the bathroom.

Remember those charms you collected so seriously for bracelets? Now these are being used alone, around the neck, attached to a narrow velvet ribbon to make a choker.

For the suit which you've been wearing since fall, get a new sheer cotton blouse with fine detailing at the neck or collar, down the front and at the sleeves. In snowy white, it's the best pepper-upper a suit can have.

'Soil Surgeon' Says Seedbed-Making Boon

Performs Multiple Work, Cuts Time in Half

A new, efficient device for producing finer, smoother seedbeds is the "Soil Surgeon" now on the market.

Designed for use in a plowed field only, the device does the combined work of a double-disc, spiked-toothed harrow and a float—and manufacturers declare it gives the farmer a finer, smoother seedbed in half the ordinary time.

The exclusive use of the soil surgeon after plowing does not turn up dormant weed seeds or plowed-under vegetation, thus giving a cleaner growing crop and richer soil. It levels the ground, fills all air pockets, and seals the moisture

This "soil surgeon" is designed for use in a plowed field only. It does the work of a double-disc, a spike-toothed harrow and a float—and is said to give you a finer, smoother seedbed in half the time.

In the soil, thereby making for quicker germination and a higher yield.

Sturdy and simple, the soil surgeon consists of two heavy steel pans with raised sides, to permit loading with dirt for added weight. These may be used singly or bolted together, depending on the desired width to be covered.

To the bottom of each pan are bolted 20 double-edged cultivator knives, each provided with a bearing to permit it to follow easily and automatically the tractor's line of travel. These heavy-duty knives slice the four and one-half inches of soil into one-inch strips, while the action of the pan pulverizes, smooths and levels the sliced soil in a way not approached by any other instrument currently in use on the farm.

The field should first be worked in the direction of plowing, using as many sections side by side as the tractor can pull with weight adjusted. The final finish is obtained by pulling the soil surgeon across the line of furrows. The soil surgeon should also be used as a crust breaker for all oncoming crops to mulch and kill small weeds.

Pacific Island Farm

"Pigs is pigs," no matter where you find them—even on the Pacific island of Guam in the Marianas. On farms established by the U. S. naval government on Guam, American sailors instruct natives in modern agricultural methods. Produce from the farms is used for naval personnel (who are fond of food anyway) and for the rehabilitation of the natives. In the photo an American seaman is driving some of the pigs to feed.

Proper Carburetor Use Cuts Farm Fuel Costs

A heavy tractor operating under a load with the carburetor slightly out of adjustment may burn a half-gallon more fuel per hour. In the average 50 days a year that farm tractors operate, the tractor may burn 250 gallons more fuel annually than it should.

Proper carburetor adjustment would save 10 per cent of the total fuel burned in farm tractors annually.

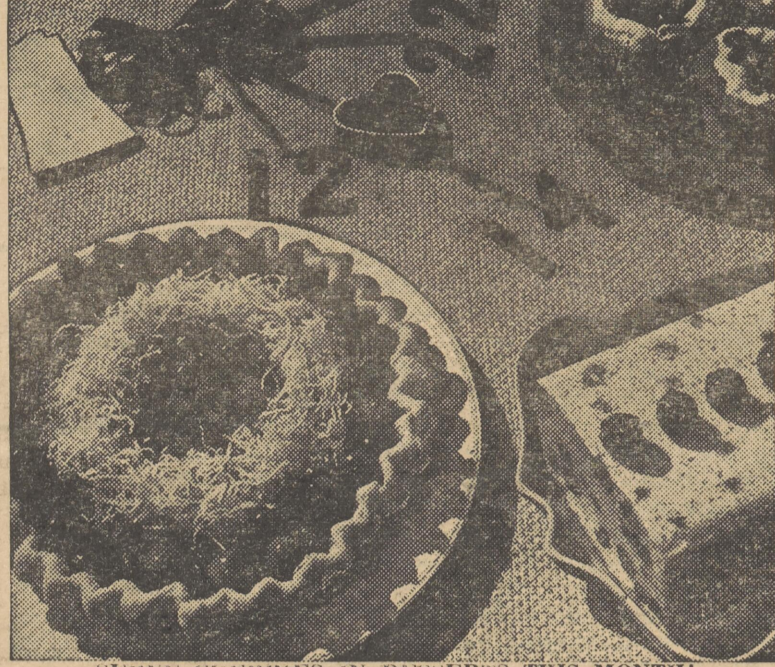

Sanitation May Reduce Losses to Hog Growers

Attention to sanitation, proper feeding and disease prevention measures will accomplish much in reducing losses to the hog producer and feeder.

It has been estimated, he says, that 35 per cent of pigs farrowed die before weaning. Many more die later or become stunted from nutritional diseases, parasites, inadequate rations, faulty management and infectious diseases.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS by Lynn Chambers

SERVE CHERRIES IN DESSERTS THIS MONTH!

(See Recipes Below)

CHERRY FAVORITES

FOR A MONTH which is short, February has more than its quota of holidays. Just in case you're entertaining for even one of these, I've planned a number of popular desserts from which you can take your choice.

Youngsters and oldsters alike will enjoy colorful desserts whether they're for family dinner or a party. You may serve them ice cream, cake or pudding, or pie, if that's your favorite dessert, and it's bound to be a hit.

Here are a number of top-notch cherry dessert recipes which may be used during this month or any other. Starting with a cherry pie filling, you'll find that several other desserts can be made from it. Filled cup cakes, cherry sundae topping or a cherry frozen pudding, all are made using the same, easy basic cherry sauce that is used for pie filling. The sauce may be stored in the refrigerator for later use or for quick snacks when company drops in to call.

YOU'LL FIND that canned cherries are convenient to use and somewhat lower in price than last year. The following recipes call for water-packed cherries. If you use those packed in syrup, reduce the sugar in the recipe to 1/4 cup.

All-Purpose Cherry Sauce (Makes 2 1/2 cups)

- 1 No. 2 can red sour pitted cherries
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons butter

Heat the drained liquid from the cherries. Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Sift into the boiling liquid and cook until thick and clear, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; add butter and cherries.

Cherry Pie

Fill an 8-inch baked pie shell with 2 1/2 cups of the all-purpose cherry sauce. Garnish with 3 tablespoons shredded coconut mixed with 1 tablespoon grated sharp cheese.

Cherry Sundae (Serves 4)

- 1 cup all-purpose cherry sauce
 - 1 pint ice cream
- Prepare the cherry sauce. Divide the ice cream into 4 servings. Top each with cherry sauce. Serve sauce hot or cold.

Cherry Filled Cup Cakes

- 2 1/2 cups all-purpose cherry sauce
 - 10 cakes
- Prepare the cherry sauce. Cut off tops of cup cakes and scoop out centers. Fill with cherry sauce. Serve with vanilla-flavored whipped cream.

Frozen Cherry Pudding (Serves 6)

- 1/2 pint whipping cream
 - 2 1/2 cups all-purpose cherry sauce
 - 3 drops almond flavoring
- Whip cream until stiff; fold in cold cherry sauce and flavoring. Pour into freezing tray of mechanical refrigerator and freeze until firm but not hard.

IF YOU'RE looking for other cherry recipes with which to celebrate any event, you'll like the following selection. The first is a delicious cookie:

LYNN SAYS: Food Tricks Make Dishes Appealing

Did you know that a bit of curry powder in corned beef hash will put it in the elegant class? You can stuff green peppers with the mixture for a meal in one dish.

Use the tough portions of broccoli cooked and pureed, mixed with cream sauce and hard cooked eggs for a nice vegetable dish.

Sliced stuffed olives with creamed veal or veal stew add both color and flavor to it.

Spice apple sauce and serve it with a small scoop of ice cream and a few crisp refrigerator cookies for a simple dessert.

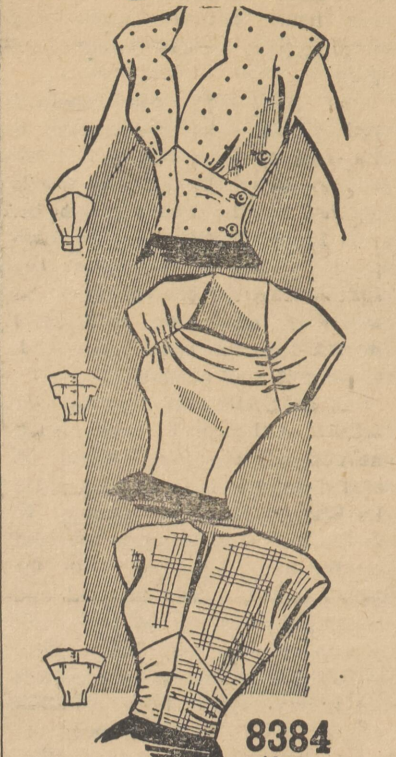

Thin pancakes spread with strawberry, raspberry or blueberry jam, then rolled and sprinkled with powdered sugar make a delightful dessert.

If you have some thin meat stock, cook it with yellow split peas for a hearty soup.

Try sliced salami and mushrooms in your spaghetti if you want a dish of really hearty, spicy flavor.

FUSSY STOMACH? RELIEF FOR ACID INDIGESTION, GAS AND HEARTBURN

THE TUMMY!

George Washington Cake (Makes 2 9-inch layers)

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 3/4 cups cake flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1 cup sour milk or buttermilk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 4 stiffly-beaten egg whites

Thoroughly cream sugar and shortening. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with sour milk and vanilla. Fold in egg whites. Bake in 2 waxed-paper lined 9-inch pans in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 30 minutes. Put layers together and frost with the following frosting and garnish with maraschino cherries.

Twice-Cooked Frosting

- 2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 egg whites
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Cook sugar, water and cream of tartar to soft ball stage (236°F.). Add salt to egg whites; beat until frothy. Place over hot water and gradually add sugar syrup, beating constantly. Continue beating until mixture forms peaks.

Cherry Pudding (Serves 6-8)

- 1 quart hot milk
- 2 cups dry bread crumbs
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 4 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 1/2 cups red, sour canned cherries, drained

Pour the scalded milk over the bread crumbs and mix with remaining ingredients in the order given. Pour into a greased casserole and bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 45 minutes or until set.

If you desire a sauce for the above pudding, use the cherry juice from the canned cherries, sweeten it to taste and thicken with 2 teaspoons of cornstarch mixed with the sugar. Cook until clear and serve warm or cold.

Simple supper dish can be made from shreds of leftover roast and diced cooked potatoes folded into white sauce, then baked in a buttered casserole with a topping of grated cheese or buttered bread crumbs.

Pork sausage patties combine well with macaroni and sauerkraut for a warming one-dish meal. Bake thoroughly.

Aspic salad made with deviled ham and hard-cooked eggs, seasoned with chili sauce, takes on real distinction.

For a delicious broiled meal, wrap slices of boiled ham around pineapple spears and dip in melted butter. Broil with peach halves for 15 minutes, turning to brown.

Pork chops may be broiled along with cooked sweet potatoes and apple rings for a tasty meal. Dot apple rings with brown sugar and butter.

Leftover, diced meat can be extended with sliced, hard-cooked eggs and mushroom soup and serve on toast for a hearty luncheon or supper dish.

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This Syrup, at Home

Here's an old home mixture your mother probably used, but, for real results, it is still one of the most effective and dependable, for coughs due to colds. Once tried, you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Now put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. This makes a full pint of splendid cough medicine, and gives you about four times as much for your money. It keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

And you'll say it's truly excellent, for quick action. You can feel it take hold swiftly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Thus it eases breathing, and lets you sleep.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its quick action on throat and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

CONGRATULATIONS:
JOE MARTIN

We are glad that an additional honor, though somewhat belated, has come to our old friend, Joe Martin, editor of the Sunday Star, who has been elected president of the Delmarva Press Association.

Joe Martin, on matters related to sound, though colorful, journalism, is closely akin to genius. Especially steeped in the lore of the journalism of Wilmington and Norfolk, he knows the history of the Fourth Estate as but few men of our acquaintance know it.

To any budding young journalists, to any and all of the nauseating, decadent Broadway columnists, we suggest that you spend a few evenings with Joe Martin, Herman Grier, of the Journal-Every Evening; Charley Gray and Clem Hallam, both retired, and Gilbert Jones, of the State Register, Laurel—and you'll learn something worth while about the ethics of journalism.

GOD SAVE THE STATE

Last week, for the first time in our residence of more than thirty years in Delaware, we printed the proclamation of the Sheriff, notifying the populace that the higher courts of the state would convene in February. Near the bottom of the proclamation were these words in bold type: "GOD SAVE THE STATE."

The Deity's name isn't usually associated with that of a sheriff, and someone asked how come. We suggested it might be, with variations, a heritage from our mother country, England. "No it ain't," one fellow said. "That's somethin' that was fust used when the Republicans came into power. They knowed that they'd have to have help from somewhere to keep the state from going straight to h—l." "Then the Dimmycrats had better keep on usin' it," snapped another, "cause they're even wuster than the Republicans."

Harrington's sidewalks, like Boston's streets, were built piecemeal, from time to time as financial conditions permitted or as the town expanded. Some of the walks seem to have been built by a submarine diver, joining up with others evidently designed by a mountain climber. This presents a dangerous condition. Immediately in front of the Journal lot, probably projecting two inches over that lot, where it joins the curb, there is a sidewalk several inches higher than the lot. Within recent weeks two people have suffered serious falls as the result of this condition—and both falls were sustained while the fallers were going IN the direction of the Stone Hotel, and not FROM the direction of the Stone Hotel.

A STOLEN DOG

The man was friendly. That was what attracted me to him, for I like friendly people. He called me to him and patted the seat in his car—so I jumped in and smothered him with caresses. Even when he closed the door of his car and started driving, I thought nothing of it. The generous fellow liked dogs and was taking me for a drive around the block.

But he didn't stop. He kept on driving, and I became uneasy. I whined in protest, but he patted my head and spoke softly to me. I responded by licking his hand, hoping he would return me home. But he kept driving and soon I was far away from home. Then there came the horrible realization that I would never see my home again—that my master had sold me or given me away.

I do not know how to reckon time, as it is reckoned by men, but that must have been years ago. Since then, in almost every waking hour, and sometimes in my dreams, I have wondered:

Why did my master and my mistress sell me down the river? I loved them, and love them now, as only a dog can love.

Many, many times, in the dead of night, I tip-toed up to their rooms, reared upon my hind legs and placed my paws upon the bed—and stood there, just looking at them sleeping—and loving them. I wanted to know they were safe. I could not let the long hours between night and morning pass without seeing them again.

The little boy with whom I used to play—what has become of him—has he forgotten me? We used to stroll through the woods together and he would gather his arms full of bluebells in the early spring. Then I remember the night we went fishing and he caught an eel. How he laughed when I sprang upon that eel, thinking it was a snake.

The little girl, the tiny tot of three! Although I loved each one better than the world, it seemed to me I loved that little girl best. She came running to me the first time she saw me, and just for fun, I growled. But she wasn't fooled. She laughed and standing tip-toe, placed her chubby arms around my neck. I was paraded up and down the yard and I was happier than I shall ever be again. What has become of that little girl? Does she remember me?

My master was justified in selling me or giving me away. He was a good man, a just man, and I'm sure he loved me, but I did something wrong—or he would not have given me away. I do not know what I did that I should not have done—I wish I knew—I study about it even now, trying to remember the mistake I made. I guess I'll never know, because I'm very old now and my memory is failing—but memory of them will never fail.

A long time ago I remember hearing someone say that a great Scottish poet had written a poem about "Man's Inhumanity to Man Makes Countless Thousands Mourn." Will there ever be a poet great enough to make man really understand how much his dog loves him?

NEW MILFORD VAUDEVILLE POLICY BIG SUCCESS

Doubting Thomas who believed the opening vaudeville show at Schine's New Milford was just an accident were agreeably surprised when the second bill last Friday and Saturday proved to be equally as good as the first. Record breaking crowds acclaimed it with great enthusiasm and brought the acts back for many encores. Harold deGraw, district manager for the Schine theatres in this area, has announced that the same high quality shows will be presented each week which is made possible by the facilities of the New Milford and through special arrangement with one of the nation's leading vaudeville bookers.

At the same time Mr. deGraw announced that the third program booked for this Friday and Saturday is another exceptional variety bill offering entertainment for the entire family. The cast will include The Hollidays, a novel juggling act; Wally Dean, mystifying magic; Ralph and Mary Carnevale, America's funniest dance team; Bob Sargent, a riotous comedy act; and Los Gattos, a thrilling acrobatic act.

The screen attraction on the same program is "The Plunderers", a thrilling drama of the early West starring Rod Cameron and Ilona Massey. Vaudeville is presented at both matinee and evening performances.

Hickman

Church news for Sunday January 30th, Sunday School at 2:00 p. m., in the afternoon, Howard Drummond, Supt. Worship service at 3:00 p. m. Sermon by the pastor Rev. T. H. Hudson.

The Hickman W. S. C. S. met Wednesday afternoon with 14 members and 1 visitor present. Mrs. Carrie Bowles of Harrington was the visitor. THE FIGHT AGAINST INFANTILE PARALYSIS
The epidemics placed a tremendous burden upon health facilities in 20 states where polio was epidemic, for no community, no city, no state can long sustain the full impact of polio in its sweeping attack without help from outside sources.
Demands from affected areas in this epidemic were greater than ever before. The financial drain upon your National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has wiped out the organization's epidemic reserves and depleted treasuries of hundreds of Chapters in hard-hit states. The job of fighting the epidemic and treating polio patients in 1948 will cost the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis approximately $14,000,000. And it is our bitter experience that more money is needed in the aftermath of an epidemic than is needed during the epidemic itself.
Unless this critical financial emergency is alleviated by spring of 1949, another sweeping epidemic may find the nation unprepared to help the thousands who must have quick and adequate assistance. For when epidemic strikes, all action, all energy must be concentrated on the job at hand. There is no time to raise funds in the midst of an epidemic. The time for action is right now.
During the period from January 14 to 31, you will be asked to give to the March of Dimes. This is the only fund-raising drive of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. It is held during the Winter, so that when the hot Summer months bring with them the threat of infantile paralysis, more than 2,800 National Foundation Chapters, serving every county in the nation, will be ready and able to meet any emergency that may arise.
Half the funds raised in the March of Dimes remains in the treasuries of these local Chapters, to provide continued care and treatment for your friends and neighbors who need help, to furnish hospitalization, medication and nursing care, to buy braces and crutches and wheel chairs for those who need such appliances, to pay for therapy and rehabilitation services, and to meet the first heavy blows of epidemics in your community.

The other half of your March of Dimes contribution is sent to National Headquarters of the National Foundation, to be used in fighting infantile paralysis from every possible quarter on a national scale. This money is used to support research into every phase of polio study at 88 of the nation's foremost research institutions. It is used to provide scholarships and fellowships in the field of polio for doctors, nurses, physical therapists and professional workers in all categories whose services are vital to the treatment and study of poliomyelitis. It is used to help educate the public with all known facts relating to polio and its prevention. And it is used as an epidemic emergency reserve to be poured into epidemic areas when all Chapter funds have been wiped out.

If this work is to continue with undiminished vigor during the coming year, you must act during this critical Winter to make the January March of Dimes an unprecedented success. If you can help in some small way to make life brighter for some crippled child, you will be doing your part.
The need is great—greater than ever before. We must therefore give more than ever before.
The March of Dimes needs your support. Please contribute to it generously.

It's A Burning Shame If It Weren't Insured!

Yes, it is a burning shame if this homeowner hadn't thought enough to insure his property for the full value, or worse, hadn't insured it at all. For this beautiful home is gone up in smoke—along with many thousands of dollars of investment. You can protect yourself against financial loss with our complete coverage policies. From where I sit... by Joe Marsh.

Who's A Foreigner?

While I'm waiting for a haircut the other day, Slim Hartman lets slip with a crack about those "foreigners" who live by the depot.
"Now wait a minute, Slim," snaps Doc Sherman. "Don't forget we're all foreigners' more or less. Some of our families have simply been here longer than others. But even if they came over on the Mayflower, they were foreigners to the Indians."
Slim gets a little red and you could see that Doc had him. "And the reason they came here," he goes on, "was to find freedom to do and think as they wanted to so long as they didn't tramp on the rights of the other fellow."

From where I sit, America became the great land it is today through our being tolerant of different people and different tastes—whether it's a taste for square dancing or waltzing, radio or movies, goat's milk or a temperate glass of sparkling beer.

FERTILITY PROGRAM Planning a Balanced Fertility Program in Kent County was the subject of a practical demonstration given at the Harrington High School by Professor Claude E. Phillips of the University of Delaware on Monday, January 25. The demonstration featured a balance scale—on one side of which a farmer's crop production is set up, and the other side his fertilizing, manuring and liming practices. A system of weights to represent the amounts of plant food removed by each crop according to yields, and corresponding weights to represent the amounts of plant food replaced gives the balance effect.

By the manner in which the scale tilts—one can determine whether too much or too little fertilizer is being applied to crops.

The system can be used for individual farm crops, but gives a more accurate picture for complete rotations—because cash crops like corn remove more food from the soil than others; while crops such as legumes add certain nutrients.

The complete rotation shows a true balance which can be maintained over a period of years.

The demonstration can be easily understood by the average person, because all facts and figures are changed to visible weights—one set of which is the crop program, and the other set the fertility program. Any farmer can determine just how his land is being used simply furnishing their crop production figures.

Each person had an opportunity to ask questions and answers to production problems were worked out. One example worked out was the regular rotation of corn, wheat and lespedeza for hay and pasture. Corn and wheat take out fertility. Corn removes about 2 per cent or about 1 per cent if the corn is picked by machine. Wheat takes out about 1 per cent, lespedeza and legumes on the other hand add about 1 per cent of fertility. By using 400 lbs. per acre of 3-12-6 fertilizer and adding 10 T. of manure per acre in the rotation, the fertility would be maintained. Professor Phillips was careful to point out that livestock are very important in maintaining soil fertility because of the manure produced. He also showed how green manure crops tend to build up soils, and how commercial fertilizers alone do not keep up soil fertility.

Marvels Mr. and Mrs. Gove Donovan have been entertaining relatives from Philadelphia, the past week-end. Wedding bells in this community will soon be ringing. Guess who? Mr. Bobby Hill of Wilmington flew down Sunday, to visit Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Thistlewood and daughter Patsy, Junior Minner, Dorothy and Lewis Reese and family, Mrs. Florence Thistlewood and Mr. Roland Layton were Sunday visitors of Mrs. Annie Porter. The muskrat season isn't so good at the present time. Too much rain. A few of the local spring flowers are beginning to bud due to the warm weather. Mrs. Nettie Minner has been on the sick list.

Washington Digest
Is U.S. Going Socialist?
It's World-Wide Argument

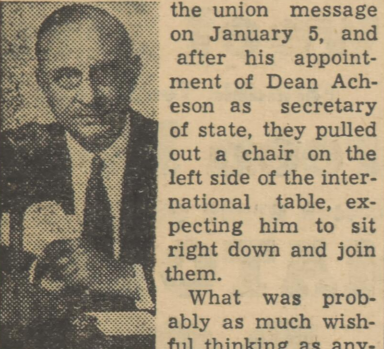

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—As congress sharpens its teeth for the "True-Deal" program (The "true" being for Truman), some of the gentlemen who have watched things going on behind the scenes in Washington for a long time (maybe too long) have a habit of blinking and saying in hushed voices:—"Say, is America going socialist without knowing it?"

Long before the November election a number of European statesmen, editors, professional politicians and others who are backing the various socialist and socialist-inclined governments, including Britain's, were getting really worried lest a probable Republican victory should make an emphatically capitalistic America less sympathetic toward left-center regimes.

The Truman upset caused them to whoop with joy. After they read the President's state of the union message on January 5, and after his appointment of Dean Acheson as secretary of state, they pulled out a chair on the left side of the international table, expecting him to sit right down and join them.

BAUKHAGE

What was probably as much wishful thinking as anything else caused the official Socialist party organ of France to hail the administration program as definitely socialistic. Most of the rest of the French press took about the same view, even to the somewhat lonely, pro-capitalistic Figaro which said the message was "close" to socialism.

The same view was taken by the left-wing press in other European countries—(I'm not counting the Communists who merely rang the old propaganda changes). However, the independent Manchester Guardian, long known as the rock of liberalism and likewise as an outstanding voice in British journalism, took a different tone. The Guardian always has been exceedingly well informed concerning the United States and probably understands America as well as any foreign newspaper. It said:

"Mr. Truman's program is an indication that socialism is not the only path for the left. Its goal might be called the insurance state. Its method the deliberate shortening of the odds against the weak. But without abandoning the basically individualist way of life which is accepted as characteristically American."

Comment from the extreme right in this country, in congress and out, chose to see Skipper Truman charting a course for the Ship of State which veered far to the left of center, in fact headed straight for the rocks on which free enterprise, individual initiative, in fact all phases of capitalism, would be sunk without a trace.

That, however, was not the opinion of the majority of the Republican party, and, already signs are showing that it isn't the intention of the majority of the Democrats to let such a catastrophe overtake us, even if they think the Skipper would be willing to risk it, which they don't believe he is.

The alarmists point to the rather startling suggestion on the part of the President that the government study production with a view to offering loans to the steel, and other industries for expansion of plants and increased production.

If the companies refuse to cooperate, it was suggested the government-owned steel plants would be erected. That does sound like a long step toward nationalization of industry. But other observers, both those who consider the idea fatal to free enterprise and those who believe in such government-run ventures as the Tennessee Valley Authority, consider it more of a threat than a promise.

In that connection the recent controversy behind the iron curtain which has finally leaked out in specific and detailed form is interesting. One document consists of reports of a three-day conference of Soviet economists held last May, the other is a study of Russian economy during World War II, by a member of the all-powerful politburo. Both documents attack the theories of Eugene Varga, internationally known Russian economist and former director of the World Institute of Economics in Moscow.

These 'Anxious' Russian Leaders

This controversy, according to Walter Lippman, may be the real basis of President Truman's Kansas City statement that there were "certain leaders" in Russia who were "exceedingly anxious" to reach an understanding with the United States. Even if the row among the economists wasn't the inspiration for the President's

Record Budget Given to Congress; Acheson Confirmation Predicted; British Say Israel Menaces Peace

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

RECORD BUDGET: Asked of Congress

President Truman, presenting a proposal for the largest peacetime budget in U. S. history to the congress, was greeted with the expected reaction. Democrats applauded, Republicans instantly demanded deep slashes in recommended outlay. It became evident quickly that the fight on adoption of the budget would be carried out strictly along party lines.

THE PRESIDENT declared it would take 41 billion, 858 million dollars to run the government right for the next year. And the punch line was that half of every American tax dollar would be spent to hold back the Communist tide in the world.

On a party line basis, approval of the budget was assured, assuming, of course, that the Democrats hold fast. The President has a comfortable majority in both houses and there should be no difficulty in getting his proposal adopted.

But the 41 billion-plus figure wasn't all. Mr. Truman served notice he will ask more funds later to supply arms to non-Communist nations, a step which would push the budget even higher.

THE ONLY possible bar to approval of the Truman budget was public reaction to the plan to finance with 50 cents of every American dollar anti-Red activities abroad. Would the people go along with American foreign policy and the theories of policy-makers that such a step was the only answer to Communist menace? Apparently the President is confident, because of his victory at the polls, that the people will support him in such a move and thus showed no hesitancy in his budget proposals nor in making his declaration that he plans to call upon the American people for even more money to stem the Communist tide.

Already thoughts are turning to the 1950 congressional elections and congressmen whose senses were not completely lulled by the 1948 Democratic sweep, may want to sound out public sentiment on the huge expenditure program. If that is the case, public opinion may be the final factor in its adoption.

According to the record, Acheson began his state department career with an attitude sympathetic to Russia—that is, to the extent that he believed the United States should do everything possible to get along with the Russians. But, since Yalta and Potsdam, observers report that attitude has changed and he is now one of the most determined anti-appeasers.

The ghost of Franklin Roosevelt will walk and the echoes of the Yalta and Potsdam parleys will rustle as the Acheson hearings progress.

IT APPEARS, Dr. Lansing stated, that the amount of X stuff in a fertilized egg sets the clock. When there is little X, the rotifer lives long. As parents get older, the eggs contain more X and life is shorter. He also said that the mysterious stuff also regulates growth—as the volume of X increases, growth stops.

The human existence is indirect, Dr. Lansing said. A study by Dr. Louis Dublin, showed a tendency for children of young parents to live longer than those born later. And, it must be remembered, humans come from eggs.

Russian designers have been told to forget extreme fashions. Styles for the mass consumer are needed instead, said senior inspector of trade in Moscow, V. Syrov.

He wrote in Trud that the artistic council of Moscow's biggest department store recently considered 672 new styles. He said he was astonished that 309 of these were for hats. The artistic council picks the styles ordered for the manufacturers.

GRATITUDE: Bear Has None

Gratitude is where you find it. That certainly must be the conviction of Alex Anderson, Chicago zoo visitor who discovered the truism when he set about feeding an European female brown bear. Anderson climbed over a four-foot guard rail, fed the bear a piece of bread. The bear took the bread, but then grabbed Anderson's right hand, bit off three fingers. Screams brought an attendant who drove off the bear.

Huge Exhibit Planned at Chicago Show

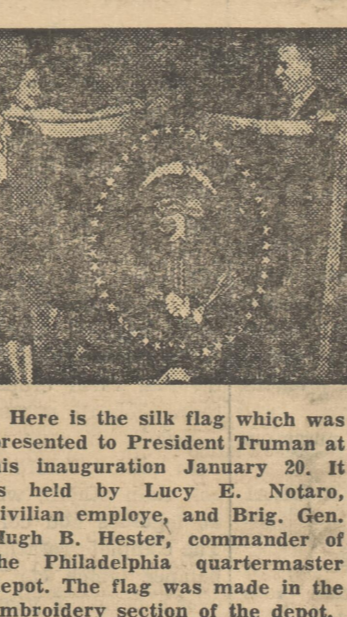

The trailer coach show is to be held in conjunction with the annual international Chicago sports and outdoor exposition, which is always one of the country's biggest shows. Manufacturers from Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, California, Oklahoma, Texas, Canada and England will exhibit more than 150 models ranging in price from $2,000 to $40,000.

AIR LIFT: Bananas for Ailing

An emaciated 14-month-old German girl munched bananas flown in by the American air lift to help save her life.

The child, according to officials, was ill with a rare intestinal ailment. She weighed only 10 pounds and her doctors say she can get nutrition only from bananas. She is in a German hospital in blockaded Berlin.

Truman's Flag

Here is the silk flag which was presented to President Truman at his inauguration January 20. It is held by Lucy E. Notaro, civilian employe, and Brig. Gen. Hugh B. Hester, commander of the Philadelphia Quartermaster depot. The flag was made in the embroidery section of the depot.

ACHESON: Should Make It

General belief was that Dean Acheson would be confirmed by the senate as secretary of state. Named by President Truman to succeed resigned George C. Marshall, Acheson is certain to be taken over the hurdles in public hearings on his appointment.

Protege of Justice Felix Frankfurter and former intimate and employe of Franklin D. Roosevelt, intimate with and a former employe of Alger Hiss, Acheson must inevitably be reminded of these facts by some of his interrogators.

On the other hand, he can point to a long and distinguished record of public service in which his loyalties have never been questioned. But in view of the current spy hunt in Washington and Acheson's connection with some of its principal figures, it would be little less than a miracle if his appointment were to go unquestioned.

According to the record, Acheson began his state department career with an attitude sympathetic to Russia—that is, to the extent that he believed the United States should do everything possible to get along with the Russians.

THE GLOSSARY reference to the subject was terse, saying merely this: "Guidance, homing, active—A system of homing guidance wherein the source, for illuminating the target, and the receiver are carried within the missile."

Here was the general idea: A guided missile (it could be a rocket or merely a pilotless plane) is fitted with the intended target—and a picture of the intended target—perhaps an aerial photograph of a city. The missile is launched in the general direction of the target. When it arrives at a point when the pattern of the picture matches what its television "eye" sees, the missile "homes in" on the target.

That's an over-simplified description because thousands of complex electronic actuating computing devices must make instantaneous and accurate reckonings; link the "eye" and the "brain" of the missile to its controls, and relay back to the base from which the missile was launched information on where it is and what it "sees."

Man's ingenuity in developing destructive devices apparently has not yet reached its zenith. When it does, those who fear man's ultimate destruction by his own hand may be altogether given over to morbid imaginings.

TRAILER DEMONSTRATION

Desirability of life in a trailer coach was demonstrated to Americans when manufacturers from seven states and three countries exhibit their models at the 1949 trailer coach manufacturers' association show in Chicago starting February 18 and continuing through February 27. The display will be housed at the International Amphitheatre.

Edward Wilson, managing director of the trailer coach manufacturers' association, declares the collection of coaches will be the largest ever assembled in America, either outdoors or under roof. It is said the trailers will occupy the equivalent of three football fields, set in convenient and appropriate surroundings for visitors to view.

Wilson said that trailers of today when compared with trailers of just a few years back, when they lacked most conveniences, show they have equalled or surpassed strides made in any other field.

CHAIN STORES: Food Dollar Chart

Despite the prevalence of many convictions to the contrary, consumers who lay a dollar down on the counter of a chain food store gets food that costs the chain an average of 83 cents.

This leaves 17 cents to the chain with which it must pay all its incidental expenses and 10 cents of this, or about three fifths, goes out in wages to employes of the chain. IN PAYING 17 cents to the chain the customer thus lays out that amount for the chain's combined wholesale and retail services. After the 10 cents goes to employes, the remainder is allocated in this manner: one and a half cents for rent and maintenance; two cents for warehousing and cartage; a little over one cent for shrinkage, spoilage and theft, and one-half cent for advertising. This leaves from one to one and a half cents net profit to the chain, less income taxes of one-half to one cent.

These figures were developed in the latest in a series of price studies by the family economics bureau of the Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

The survey disclosed that individual markups vary widely, of course, within the store, being much higher than the general 17 per cent average on perishable items like fresh fruits and vegetables, and much lower than average on very competitive staples like sugar.

ACCORDING TO the study result, the average food chain markup before the war was 22 1/2 cents—a third greater than today. Today's far greater dollar volume per store, and therefore per employe, is mainly responsible for the lower handling costs per dollar of sales.

Should either prices or total volume shrink materially, however, the cent or so profit margin per dollar would vanish rather quickly and "red ink" would take its place.

Before the war, the farmer received an average of 40 cents of the consumer's food dollar and 60 cents went for processing, canning, shipping, wholesaling and retailing. Today the farmer gets 53 cents per dollar and 47 cents covers all the various steps in processing and distribution.

LONGER LIFE: Science Has Key

If parents would insure long lives for their progeny, they must marry young.

DR. A. I. LANSING of the Washington university school of medicine, St. Louis, reported to the Gerontological society of New York the discovery of a mysterious chemical, called X, which seems to time how fast a human being grows old. "X" is something that parents transmit to their offspring and it is set like a clock, either for long or short life.

The age clock was found in rotifers, but a little human evidence was cited. Rotifers are microscopic water bugs, swimming with long lashes that make them look like whirling dervishes. The setting of the X-clock in rotifers depend on how early they mated.

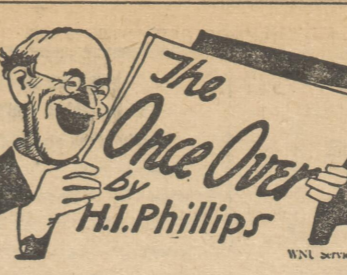

IT APPEARS, Dr. Lansing stated, that the amount of X stuff in a fertilized egg sets the clock. When there is little X, the rotifer lives long. As parents get older, the eggs contain more X and life is shorter. He also said that the mysterious stuff also regulates growth—as the volume of X increases, growth stops.

The human existence is indirect, Dr. Lansing said. A study by Dr. Louis Dublin, showed a tendency for children of young parents to live longer than those born later. And, it must be remembered, humans come from eggs.

RESOLUTION TROUBLE

With the new year well in its stride, Mr. Elmer Twitchell today reported that his new leaf turning, so bravely undertaken a few days back, has run into a stone wall. Today he found himself picketed as unfair to organized leaf turners.

Mr. Twitchell claims that he had hardly turned over a new leaf before he was cracked down on, with heated contentions that he could not turn over a new leaf single-handed, but must put on from one to three helpers.

It seems that even the Leaf Turners are organized. Mr. Twitchell was notified almost immediately after making his brave New Year's resolution that (1) he has violated the rules by not submitting his new leaves for a vote, that (2) in all cases where more than two leaves are to be turned the work must be shared and that (3) he must pay extra for this assistance.

"I got notices from the American Federation of New Leaf Turners, the Committee on Organized Good Resolution Makers, the National Association for the Substitution of Good Habits For Bad and the National Federation on Changes in Personal Conduct," said Mr. Twitchell, "all asking where I got the idea I could turn a leaf on my own."

"All my new leaves were ruled null and void and I was notified they would remain so until I agreed to turn them all over again, using two helpers—one to assist in the actual work of turning over each leaf, the other to assist in the daily work of keeping each resolution. This second helper insisted on the five-day, 40-hour week, which would leave me with no outside assistance in keeping my good resolutions Saturday and Sunday.

"Furthermore, I am at my weakest in keeping resolutions between 6 p. m. and midnight and would have to pay overtime for all help after 4:30.

"Well, I argued that I had always done my own new leaf turning, boy and man, and could not afford help; but I was picketed in no time as unfair to organized makers to good intentions. I appealed to the NLRB and it sent up a committee last night to go over the whole matter. I made a poor impression before it because, in the confusion and excitement, I had forgotten what new leaves I had turned over and was all balled up.

"I don't know just where I stand today, but I think I am licked. I just heard a jurisdictional dispute has cropped up. Somebody has claimed that I lack jurisdiction in my 1949 resolutions. It looks bad. I may forget the whole business and go back to my 1948 habits."

Divorce Is Tragedy

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"DO YOU think it is right for divorced persons to be friendly after the divorce?" asks Donna Wilson of Minneapolis. "It always has seemed so vulgar, somehow. Yet I find myself helpless against the friendliness of my husband and his new wife.

"We are neighbors and her little girl by an earlier marriage and my little girl are inseparable friends.

"This wretched situation has come about," the letter continues, "because Len and I were undisciplined children seven years ago. Oh, we were respectively 26 and 23, but no one ever had taught us anything of the practical or the psychopathic values of marriage. Len's salary was $66.66 a week. It seemed a lot, when everything was all fun, bridesmaids, presents and excitement. It got to be pretty grim almost as soon as the honeymoon was over.

"We were perfectly amazed at the way bills accumulated. We both had cars, cameras, trips and spending money from our families. Now neither family could help us; we were on our own and anxious, quarreling, dissatisfied days began.

Applied for Divorce

"Deborah was born and I was overtired and continually on duty. When she was six months old I brought her home to my mother and applied for a divorce on the grounds of mental cruelty. Mother is arthritic; she needs me. She cannot be moved from the cottage that has been home to her all her life.

"Len's old home is around the corner. He owns it now and he and his wife and her little girl live there. There is going to be a new baby. He came in especially to tell my mother of it. Mother always liked him and I know now I always have loved him.

"Isn't it a terrible pity? Deb could have had her father; I could have had the lovely old home. Now I have to stand by and see another woman share the setting, love and protection that ought to be mine. All because I was so ignorant, so spoiled, so demanding.

"Len's wife is pretty and has some money. He tells me that it is Helena who feels that my $100 alimony is not large enough. She says that since he has prospered so remarkably since he inherited his father's property that Deb and I should share his good luck. She has no friends in this city and now she has asked Deb, Mother and me to come to live with her for dinner.

Knew Little of Marriage

"Oh, I know," this unhappy letter concludes, "that I forgot the better or worse, richer or poorer part as well as Len, that I didn't know anything of budgets, forbearance, patience and—yes, love, the married sort that forgives and waits. I could do it now, I could make Len happier than Helena ever can, but she's the wife and there's going to be a baby. Do you think I should force myself to keep up a friendship that costs me so much in humiliation and regret?"

So here is one more twist in the great divorce tragedy that never ends. The secret is how to handle and the only thing that is unchangeable about it is the suffering that hits somebody—now husband, now wife, and always small children if there are small children.

My advice to Donna would be to make other plans and to see as little of Len's household as she possibly can. Then she ought to build up other interests, keep herself busy and perhaps someday find love again and get another chance.

Meanwhile, we are stupid parents, indeed, who allow our children to be taught so much that they don't need—algebra and manners and how to dress and what king succeeded Louis XIV and yet not teach them the secret of how to handle their own lives. We let them blunder into the irrevocable partnership of marriage absolutely unprepared in character and practical training, although if they propose to enter any other business we exhaust ourselves with advice and preparation.

To become a doctor, lawyer, musician or writer involves actual years of study. Most courses in languages and business take several years. But our girls and boys undertake the most serious relationship of all with no more training than is involved in the arrival of 60 engagement cups.

What Donna didn't know, but knows now, is the tremendously important rule—marriages don't start with ideal happiness, that happiness only comes after years.

Vows Remain Strong, So Couple Remarries

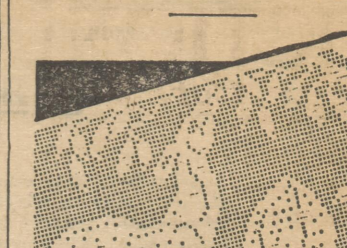

MEMPHIS.—After 55 years of marriage, Pearl Stovall and J. A. Kelly were "married" again, but not because it was necessary. The Kellys first were married 55 years ago on Christmas Eve at the home of her parents in Pleasant Grove, Miss. But while the vows remained strong, the thin wedding ring had almost worn away by 1948. So they did it again—this time with a new wedding band.

The new congress still hasn't got over that surprised look. So many of them are surprised they're here.

A resolution has been introduced to do away with the electoral college. The question now arises, what to do with the campus?

Recently Eire became a free and independent republic. It seemed a little more like the election of an American president by the electoral college, the shoutin' and shootin' has long since been over.

The FICTION Corner

The Gentle Extortionist

By CHARLES STUART

Things have a way of working out for the best and giving you renewed faith in people—people like Marty Stone, who fancied himself a pretty hard-headed business man, and Doc Howell, who found that Marty's heart was softer than his head, but who couldn't cure the lump in his own throat.

FROM my small office I can see anyone who passes through the wide front doorway before he can see me. In that brief period I can size up a prospective customer, and that's how it was with Fred Miller. He was small and frail-appearing. There was nothing spectacular about him except his tie, but it was an eye-catcher. Like a nervous monkey, he batted his eyes rapidly to adjust them to the semi-gloom of the garage. I had time to catalog him as a cinch for a lot of extras.

Seeing me in the office, he came over, hesitating at the door until I said, "Come on in." I stood to shake his thin hand. He had blue eyes that were deep-set in their orbits; they hung on mine like those of a dog that isn't sure of a kick or a caress. The flesh beneath them sagged into pouches, and his face was deeply lined. He had the unwholesome pallor of a man who spends a great deal of time in doors.

"What can I do for you?" I asked. "Why," he said, "I want to buy a car." "So do a thousand other people in this town," I reminded him. "I know. That's why I'm here now. I want to get on your list for a future delivery." Even as I told him it would be at least two years before he'd get his car, the way things were moving, I was remembering things that I had heard about him—how his home had been broken, how his wife had taken their boy and gone out to the coast. It was said that Miller had agreed to some fantastic alimony if only she would let the boy come to him for at least a part of the year. He had some sort of minor post in one of the government agencies in town; I knew it couldn't pay very much. I didn't see how he would be able to pay me for the price of a new auto, but two years is a long time and much could happen in the interim. Anyway, I could always sell a new car. So I felt around in my desk and finally came up with the list. "What kind do you want? Coupe? Sedan?"

"Here's something Fred wanted you to have," I told him. His eyes were so full he could hardly find the door handle.

"A coupe, please." "With or without wheels?" Fred smiled, tentatively. He wasn't sure whether or not he was supposed to laugh. "I'd like wheels, of course," he answered. "Want to put something down?" "Yes, I'd like to. How much do you require?" "Suit yourself. Even if you give me the full purchase price, it won't bring your car any sooner." He nodded. "Fair enough. I'll leave you two hundred."

I took the bills and gave him a receipt. Then I asked if he had a trade-in. He looked startled. "No, Mr. Stone, I haven't. Is it necessary to have one?" "Oh, no. Not absolutely necessary." A trade-in is still nice to have, though, for there is money in those used cars.

"I don't really have a car at all," he explained. "That's why I want this one. My boy will be coming to visit me every summer and he's getting pretty big now." His eyes lit up, talking about the kid. "In two years he'll be eighteen and he'll want a car. This is no town for a boy if he has to walk everywhere or depend on others for transportation. I plan to have a nice auto for him when he's ready for it."

"Yeah, yeah. That'll be fine." There was something holding back in him when he talked about that kid, and it made me uncomfortable. As though he might talk about him the rest of the day if he had any encouragement. But I wasn't giving him any. "We'll see what we can do," I said, and stood up.

He arose immediately. "You're busy," he was apologetic. "And I've taken so much of your time." "Not at all," I said, "come in and see me again."

"Oh, I will," he answered, "you'll get so tired of seeing me around you'll want to throw me out. By plugged some wires into a machine, and flicked a switch. "Doesn't seem to worry him. Can you tell me why?"

Neither of us knew then, but we got the answer later. When his car was being unloaded at the railway dock, I called him. Most of my customers like to be on hand to get a first glimpse of the car for which they have waited so long. After awhile, he showed up, and I was shocked at his appearance. He was walking slow and easy, like the old man he looked to be. His cheeks were hollow, his sunken eyes deeper than ever. The pouches below them hung away down.

But he was surely happy about the car. I told him it would take a couple of days to get it into shape for delivery. "Good enough," he said, "I expect the boy over about then." I never saw Fred again.

Doc let me know he called me. "Come on over, will you, Marty?" I knew from his tone it was important, so I hung up and went right away. He was sitting in his private office.

When I came in, he pushed a bulky envelope across the desk to me. It was addressed to me in an unfamiliar hand. Opening it, I found a two-thousand-dollar insurance policy with me as the beneficiary. The name of the policy holder? Fred A. Miller!

I showed it to Doc. "Yeah," he said, "Fred died last night. Natural causes, yet he could have lived a lot longer. Only eventually he would become an invalid, and his son would want to take care of him. On the other hand, he could duck out now and leave the lad something. I guess he chose to have the boy remember him as something other than a sick old man."

I could see the picture. But you just don't know what to say in such cases. So I guess I sounded a little irrelevant when I said, "Cars have gone up, Doc. This two thousand won't cover it now."

Doc looked as though he were disappointed in me. He pulled out his check book and picked up a pen. "Well, I want that boy to have that car, Martin. How much is the difference?"

"Put that stuff back, Doc," I said, "you don't have a corner on soft hearts and softer heads." He grinned then. "I want to share it, at least."

After old Fred had been decently fucked away—and it was amazing how many friends the old boy had—I called the kid over to the garage. Doc and I led him to the car. "Here's something Fred wanted you to have," I told him. His eyes were so full he could hardly find the door handle. "And here's another thing he told us to give you." He took the slip of paper I handed him, and I was glad he couldn't read it right then. He only nodded; he couldn't talk, although twice he tried. He put the car in gear and backed out.

Doc and I stood on the sidewalk to watch him drive down the street. About a block away, he pulled over to the curb and stopped. My guess was that he couldn't see through the tears that must have been tumbling down his cheeks. After all, he was only a kid.

I shoved my hands into my pockets and looked at my feet, not talking. For a minute, Doc didn't say anything, either. Then: "What was that you gave him?" My tone was defensive. Hadn't Doc treated Fred for nothing? "You really didn't think I could keep that policy, did you?"

Doc's voice was sort of soft and strange when he finally answered. "Fred sure knew a soft-hearted sucker when he saw one didn't he?" He turned and started off. "Now I'm going down to the office and see if modern medicine provides anything for a lump in the throat."

I forgot about Fred after that until one fine summer day I found that the next car on my list was for him. But I was dubious about the deal. After all, I was in business to make money; there was a lot of names after his that would be a great deal better business. It looked like Fred Miller was about to get the go-by, at least for a little while.

Then that same day I twisted my knee and had to go to Doc's office to get it wrapped. Climbing the well-worn stairs, I met Fred coming down. He looked just about all in, and very sad. I thought to myself: "Oh well, what can I lose?" and told him about the car.

His face broke into a million wrinkles as he smiled. "That's fine," he said, "that's good. The boy will like that." He went on down the steps with a lot more life to his tread. I went on up to Doc's.

Just to make conversation, I asked him what was wrong with Fred. His answer was vague, as I might have known it would be. "Can't understand the little fellow; he goes right on doing all the things I tell him are bad, yet he keeps coming in here to have me check him over. All I can do is shake my head, tell him to get more rest and stop burning the candle from both ends." He adjusted a couple of pads around my leg, and federal authorities in an intensive new investigation of the disease, launched under government auspices at a 16-state conference in Washington, D. C.

Characteristics of the malady, as observed in most outbreaks, include loss of weight and appetite, diminished milk production, abortion, fever, and a thickening and inflammation of the animal's skin. So far, no drug treatment has been successful, and there is still no definite information on the cause of this disease.

RANKIN UNDER FIRE . . . Rep. John E. Rankin, Mississippi Democrat, who is chairman of the house un-American affairs committee, was reported facing an ouster battle as the 81st congress convened. Rankin, center, above, is shown chatting with Rep. Boyd Tackett of Arkansas and Rep. F. Ertel Carlyle of North Carolina, fellow Democrats. The fiery southerner has been in hot water many times because of his activities as chairman of the un-American activities committee and is expected to put up a determined fight to retain his position if the committee is not abolished, as many Capitol observers think it will be.

UP-AND-OVER . . . The gent, giving the impersonation here of a cheer leader when the home team scores, is a Frenchman, goal keeper of the Racing team of Paris, France. His up-in-the-air position is occasioned by his having deflected the ball over the top and out of the goal during a football game with the Robaix club. Probably Vignal, which is the goalie's name, decided his feat merited a cheer and is proceeding to lead one for himself. However, the pose of hectic action is characteristic of football as the French and some other European peoples play it, with the only similarity to the American game of football being in the name.

DEATH IN THE STREETS . . . Death was in the cards at the moment a New York mounted policeman dashed to the rescue of a 13-year-old girl whose horse was out of control in Central Park. As he snatched the girl from the saddle, the girth of the saddle broke and pitched him and the girl to the road. But death was not to be denied. The two riderless horses dashed through the park and over a safety island, fatally injuring Mrs. Christine Palmer, 48. Here bystanders are shown gathering around Mrs. Palmer as she lies in the street before she was removed to a hospital.

GOP SENDS CAKE . . . Even the Republicans, those traditionally outnumbered opponents of the "ins" in Florida, got into the spirit of things at the inauguration of Gov. Fuller Warren as Florida's new chief executive. The huge cake was donated by the Republican club of Fort Myers, Fla., and remained intact during its journey to the state's capital city, Tallahassee. Governor Warren was equal to the occasion. It was he, himself, who cut the enormous cake and sampled it. The baker evidently was fully acquainted with capital architecture as attested by the faithful reproduction of the capitol building on the top of the pastry creation.

Spread of 'X' Disease Fought by Veterinarians New and deadly outbreaks of "X" disease in valuable herds of cattle were reported as veterinary leaders launched a nation-wide effort to find the answer to this new animal killer.

This strange disorder appears to be spreading rapidly and has been identified as the cause of cattle losses in more than half the states, the American Veterinary Medical Association says.

To illustrate the nature of the disease, the AVMA told of a recent instance where four cows in one herd died after manifesting a variety of symptoms which refused to yield to treatment. Digestive disturbance, skin lesions, high temperature, and a sharp drop in milk production were noted. Laboratory tests indicated that none of the more familiar diseases was present.

The AVMA said veterinary leaders were co-operating with state

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

A few days ago a man and his wife were in the store purchasing some wall paper. They were undecided about their bathroom as it was smaller than they wanted it and were thinking of trying to remodel it. I made a suggestion that while they were waiting for the necessary repairs, why not select a pattern that would make it look larger and that was the answer. Since it has been papered, both of them have been in the store and stated that it is almost marvelous the difference it makes in appearance. Well this same thing can apply to a room that is overly large or exceedingly high. Drop in and let us explain how these looks can be changed. The best part of it is it can be done at practically no expense to speak of.

We have plenty of wall paper to select from, not only for one room in the house. We have about 25 patterns alone to select from for your bathroom and other rooms accordingly. We carry around 300 to 350 different patterns.

If you have a closet or cellar or any room for that matter that needs a little freshening up, why not stop in and see the shades we carry in Sunflex paint. Add only water and it will not rub off, 85 cents per quart.

I have always said that if a man had to do the washing, he would either send it to a laundry or get himself a washer. Now don't you think your wife is entitled to a good washer especially if she does her own washing. Why not get her the best? Did you know that Maytag makes a brand new washer for only $124.95. This is not a washer that you will question, but a genuine Maytag of full capacity.

Then again if you want to buy her the best and the latest, there is the Westinghouse Laundromat which carries a 5 year guarantee. Once your wife uses it, nothing could make her part with it and the price is only $299.95.

I was listening to a radio program a couple of days ago and the man on the program said that it is only 54 more days to Spring. Then you can expect warm weather again, so why not let us install a new gas range for you now so that when the warm weather sets in, you will have it all ready. Let us trade in your old range on a brand new one. We have about 25 new ranges in stock and all you have to do is call phone 541 Harrington in the morning and your gas range will be ready to cook your evening meal. We can also take care of your heating water problem by installing an automatic gas water heater. With both of these improvements your gas will cost you less.

Come in and let us talk about trading your present radio for a new Philco Combination. We have several to select from and these can be bought by paying small monthly installments. We always have plenty of small radios on hand. To save many steps, install an extra one in that room you are mostly in either the kitchen or bedroom. You will like the convenience at such a small cost.

There are lots of people who have washers that need just a little repairs. If these are taken care of now, it will save you quite a lot of expense later on. We carry lots of parts for almost any washer. If yours need rolls or repairs of any kind, give us a ring 541 Harrington and we will pick it up and return when repaired.

Don't you think it is about time to get rid of that old cleaner and get a new one or get one if you don't have one? Well to my mind you will be putting dollars right back in your pockets as a good cleaner will take the dirt away from that rug or rug. Otherwise this dirt will surely eat the life of your rug away if left in it.

Westinghouse Tank cleaners are good and dependable, come in and let's have a little talk.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother, Annie Porter Rash, who departed this life on January 30, 1948.

Dearest mother how we miss you, Since from earth you passed away.

Our Heart is aching for you As we think of you today. Sadly missed by children.
