State Needs More Revenue Says Carvel

Delaware Has Been Tapping Its Reserves Says Governor

That the period in Delaware fiscal affairs of meeting Post-war expenses with pre-war income is ended was explained to the members of the Legislature Wednesday by Governor Elbert N. Carvel in a special message in which he reviewed the existing financial status of the State and recommended new and additional taxes to provide for an apparent deficiency.

After showing that the available cash balance of the State has been steadily decreasing since June 30, 1946, Governor Carvel cited that $7,667,396.39 would be needed, in addition to present estimated revenue, to meet all of the expenditures expected during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950. In addition the Governor cited that $1,750,000 more would be needed to provide for the increased debt service resulting from bond issues for capital improvements expected during the present session.

To procure this additional revenue Governor Carvel recommended the following taxes: First, a gross income tax on all income in excess of $1,040 per year graduated as follows: One percent on taxable income up to $3,000. Two percent on income between $3,000 and $10,000. Three percent on income above $10,000. This tax is estimated to yield $5,000,000 each year.

Second, Double the present spirits tax which would be estimated to yield $676,000 per year.

Third: Increase motor vehicle registration fees as follows: Motorcycles $8 per year. Passenger cars $12 per year. Commercial vehicles $2 per 500 pounds of weight up to 5,000 pounds and $3 per 500 pounds of weight in excess of 5,000 pounds. This is expected to produce $462,000.

Fourth: Increase gasoline tax to 5 cents per gallon, an increase of one cent per gallon, expected to yield $736,000.

Fifth: Levy a tax of two cents per package of 20 cigarettes which is expected to yield $700,000.

The revenue-raising measures proposed by the Governor are expected to result in a minimum increase in revenue to the State of $7,574,000 annually. Concerning the estimated million and a half still required to meet estimated excess of expenditures over revenue, the Governor stated:

"I am advised that this amount may be safely taken from the surplus of the State and still leave ample working capital in the State Treasury to run the government of the State."

After reviewing the general situation of the budget and the requests that will be met through supplementary appropriations and bond issues expected to total $25,000,000, the Governor said in his message:

"In the figures I have quoted to you today, there is no item which can be rejected without serious curtailment of the present functions of the State. We cannot continue to live beyond our means. We must have a sound fiscal policy to insure the continuance of the State functions. This means simply that annually recurring expenses must be paid from annually recurring revenue."

"It is a generally accepted principle that a working balance in the State Treasury is required to run the State government. This is required because of the sporadic nature of the State's revenue. This figure is generally agreed upon as the sum of $3,500,000. Obviously we must have more revenue if this balance is to be maintained."

"It is never pleasant to impose additional taxes upon the people. The people of Delaware, however, have made it plain that they expect the State to supply certain services. These services cannot be furnished without the necessary funds. However, I personally may be to impose additional burdens on our people, I consider it my duty as their chosen executive to meet the situation frankly, and as I believe they would have me meet it. I ask the members of this Assembly to seek the solution of our joint problem in the same spirit."

Of the revenue producing measures suggested by the Governor the gross income tax and the cigarette tax are not new in this State since they were in effect from 1943 to 1945 while the motor vehicle registration fees were reduced to their present figures in 1945.

Vane-Lecates Engagement Announced

Miss Betty Lecates

The engagement of Miss Betty Warren Lecates to Lieut. Ridgely W. Vane, U. S. A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ridgely W. Vane of Harrington is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Granville R. Lecates of 608 South Bancroft Parkway, Wilmington.

Miss Lecates is a graduate of Seaford High School and Beacon College. She is now affiliated with Clover Dairies as Laboratory Technician. Lieut. Vane, a graduate of Harrington High School, served three years with the Marine Corps Air Force during World War II, attended Beacon College, Wesley Junior College and the University of Delaware. He is enrolled for a ten weeks' course at Provost Marshall General School, Camp Gordon, Georgia.

Firemen Decide Against Carnival

Harrington firemen at a meeting Monday night voted to omit the carnival this year. The following parade committee was named: Paul Neeman, Sol Martin, C. D. Mills, Gooden Calloway, Clarence Collins, Eugene Anderson, Chief Hamilton, and William James.

Fire Recorder reported seven alarms in January, one in town and six in the rural areas. The company traveled 131 miles and worked 132 man hours. James Wilson and Norman Oliver were named to the membership roll.

The company failed to take any action on the disposal of the old truck after City Council decided not to accept it for a token payment.

Donald Moore Honored at Dinner

R. M. S. A. Donald Moore spent the week-end with his grand-father, John Houseman and Mrs. Houseman. On Sunday they entertained some of his friends to dinner honoring his graduation from Radio School at the Norfolk Naval Base.

Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cabbage, and son, Jack, and S. W. Conwell all of Dover, Miss Jean McGinnis and William Tieman, of Wyoming, Ed Gross of Frederica and Miss Gladys Rosh, from town.

Donald reported back to Norfolk and will leave there in several days for the Pacific Coast, awaiting further assignment.

Poultry Group To Meet Tuesday

The Camden-Wyoming Local of the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association will hold its March meeting in cooperation with the County Agent's office on the evening of Tuesday, March 15, 1949 at 8:00 P. M. at the Caesar Rodney School at Camden, Del.

The program will be a discussion of brooding chicks by a panel of practical poultry growers, lead by W. E. Skoglund. Those taking part will be: Ernest Smith of Kenton and Ernest Killen of Harrington, who will discuss "Brooding with Coal Stoves"; Frederick Haas of Dover and E. C. Barnard of Woodside, who will discuss "Brooding with Oil Stoves"; Arthur L. Hanby of near Lewes, who will discuss "The Use of Gas Brooders"; and William Richardson of Dover, who will discuss "Central Heating as Means of Brooding".

This discussion will be followed by the topic, "Egg Production Through Spring and Summer" by Charles Williams.

Movies and refreshments will follow the business session.

All poultrymen of the county are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Goodwill Addresses Demonstration Club

Mrs. Violet N. Goodwill, Kent County Agent was present at the regular meeting of the Harrington Home Demonstration Club this week. She gave an interesting and instructive talk on the topic for this month- "Clothes for Little Boys and Girls." Mrs. Goodwill also demonstrated her talk with patterns and garments designed to grow with the child. She especially emphasized the necessity of making children's garments simple yet attractive so that the child can readily dress himself.

Mrs. Catherine Hickman gave a report on a meeting she attended regarding Health and Nutrition.

Mrs. Martha Sneath, chairman of International Relations read an article on the United Nations its definition, meaning and objects.

A Stanley party will be held in connection with the next meeting which will be on April 4th. All members are requested to be present and the meeting will start at 1:30 P. M. Please keep this date and time in mind.

REPAIRING STEP LADDERS SAFETY JOB-OF-THE-MONTH

Step ladders are a source of many bad falls in the home and on the farm, says Miss Louise Whitcomb, extension home management specialist for the University of Delaware.

In the current state-wide drive to cut down on accidents due to falls, the March "job-of-the-month" is to inspect all ladders around the home and farm, replacing broken or missing rungs, and adding rubber pads to the bottom to prevent slipping.

The safety program is in the form of a contest being carried on by home demonstration and 4-H clubs throughout Delaware. Each month, safety letters, demonstrations and movies stress the particular phase of the safety job to be done that month. Club safety chairmen have volunteered to keep a record of what inspections have been made by club members to remove hazards causing falls in their homes or on the premises.

The groups achieving the most outstanding safety records over the nine-months period, February through October, 1949, will be awarded prizes. Winners will be determined on the percentage of club members participating in the safety program, number of safety hazards removed, and the club's activities in getting safety information across to club members and other people in the community.

The safety contest is sponsored by the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service and the Delaware Safety Council.

Georgetown, Denton Reach Tourney Finals

Sussex Countians Defeat Smyrna; Denton Also Wins

Last Saturday's Results: Georgetown 75 Smyrna 69 Denton 41 Delaware City 34

Schedule: Saturday, March 12th. Smyrna vs. Delaware City (Consolation) 7:30 P. M. Georgetown vs. Denton (Finals) 9:00 P. M.

George Keen's Georgetown County Seaters, Pennant Winners of the Eastern Shore League, and Bob Roberts' Denton Bobcats, 2nd place five in Mar Del Circuit, reached the Dover YMCA Invitational Tournament Finals last Saturday evening as they came through with well-earned hard fought victories.

The County Seaters ousted the Smyrna Hornets, defending champions, with a big spurge in the opening half to win by a 75 to 69 score. The winners had a 20-11 edge at quarter and held a 39 to 27 advantage at halftime. The Hornets came back strong in the last half to pace the scoring by the first half lead was too much to overcome. In the 3rd period Smyrna dropped 21 and Georgetown hit for 18 with both teams doing likewise in the final quarter. Ken Lingo racked 20 points to take game scoring honors while Smyrna's Al O'Neal was a close runnerup with 19. Joe Griffith with 16, Jim Travis 14, Jimmy Walls 13 and Ed Conway 10 also figured heavily in the winners scoring column.

Don Ennis, 6'5" center and Runt Grier, veteran guard, were runners-up in the Hornet scoring with 14 points each. The loss of the usual high scoring Bud O'Neill in the first half via the personal foul route had a heavy toll on the Smyrna chances. It was a well played game with both teams clicking smoothly with Georgetown showing a scoring punch difficult to halt. Runt Greir, small Smyrna guard was a standout for his team during the entire play while it would be difficult to name a Georgetown standout as the team clicked like a machine with every man playing his part well.

The second game saw the Denton Bobcats pushed to the final minutes to get a commanding lead with the Delaware City five closing fast in the final half. Denton came out on top 41 to 34 to reach the Finals for the second straight year. Delaware City forged to the front in the opening period 10-8 with effective work from the foul line putting the Bobcats in a lead at half 22-16. Denton piled up a 33-20 margin at the three quarter time-out. The victims began to find the range again in the last period to outscore the winners 14 to 8 but the Damage had already been done. Gran Diffie hit twice from the field and 7 times from the foul line to head the Denton scoring with 11 points. Ben Sheffield and Al Love each came up with 8. Frankie DiMico, Delaware City guard, captured game honors as he bucketed 15 with lanky Bob Jones being runner-up for the losers with 6.

Ken Lingo moved to the front in the individual scoring with 48 points Diffie of Denton is second with 43 while the veteran Joe Griffith is in the thick of the battle with 42. Ben Sheffield of Denton has 38 and Jim Travis of Georgetown 37. Anyone of the group have a strong chance of taking top honors and receiving the individual trophy for the event.

On Saturday evening, March 12 Smyrna Hornets and Delaware City will battle in the Consolation game at 7:30 P. M. The winner will be awarded a trophy. The big event of the evening will be the staging of the finals which will pit Georgetown County Seaters opposite the Denton Bobcats. This is a game that should send the Eastern Shore basketball fans in a frenzy. It offers the best. The wise old bird will be on hand early to get a seat before the standing room only sign is placed.

Immediately following the game Col. William J. Storey, Mayor of Dover, will award trophies to the winners, runner-up and individual winners. If you saw them at Dover last week you know they are well worth fighting for. Be on hand to give your teams a boost.

Mary Price Engaged To Donald Sapp

Brain Vs. Brawn

Is it better to be bigger or be smarter? Is it better to have brawn or carry brains? Would you rather be a wrestler or be Einstein? (Who draws the bigger money for his pains?) Would you rather be a Plato or a fighter? Which quality will help you best to thrive? Would you rather be a muscle or a thinker? Well, I'm satisfied to be almost alive.

Can it be that brain at last has supplanted brawn in sport? That while the race is to the swift, the battle is no longer to the strong?

In checking over midwinter disbursements of the laurel and the olive, the awards of crowns and coronets by various clubs, boards of associations, chambers of commerce etc. we discovered the startling fact that weight, power, strength, and displacement had been rather rudely shoved aside.

Brain at last returned to its ruling place in the eyrie and the big hulk is stranded on the beach.

For example, we might as well start with football. Who drew the big bulk of the awards? The answer is quite simple—Doak Walker, Charley Justice and Frankie Albert. Walker, of S.M.U., weighs 165 pounds. Justice of North Carolina weighs the same. Albert of the San Francisco 49'ers is around 160.

This is on the light side of a game that has been taking on weight year after year.

We read now about lines that average 225 pounds from tackle to tackle—or 223 pounds from end to end. We read of backfields that average 187 or 191 pounds.

But most of the post-season glory was awarded to athletes below 170. This meant they had to be intelligent and mentally alert. I've seen more than a few 220 or 230-pound guards and tackles who were fast, but not overburdened with any mental weight. Some of them were swell linemen just the same.

It was an amazing thing for Frankie Albert, a wolverine among the mastodons and mammoths, to get so many votes. In addition to his smartness and his skill, Albert has always had, from his Stanford days, another qualification so often missing. This is stamina. You can also add ruggedness.

In Other Fields, Too

Football isn't the only game that enters this consideration of brawn versus brain. Baseball hands most of its laurels to Lou Boudreau, another 165-pound entry.

In the past we've had Cobb—185 pounds; Wagner—200 pounds; Babe Ruth—225 pounds; Lajoie—200 pounds; Hornsby—190 pounds, and Joe DiMaggio—195 pounds. Stan Musial, running close to Boudreau, is in at 170 pounds and Cat Brecheen won't pass 155.

Track follows the same ideas. Two highly-crowned and laurel-embossed trackmen last year were Harrison Dillard and Mel Patton. Dillard is on the smaller side. Patton is slender. Neither goes in for surplus weight. Young Pat Mahias, a well-built kid, is one of the few brawny ones to make the grade.

What about boxing. Last year not one heavyweight got within ten kilometers of having a purple toga thrown across his shoulders. Louis? Walcott? Charles? Nothing doing. Most of the awards went to Ike Williams, a lightweight, Sandy Sadler, a featherweight, and Marcel Cerdan, a middleweight.

Cerdan, the Frenchman, led the pack and drew most of the decorations for stopping Tony Zale, a tough guy to stop.

Nothing above a middleweight was even mentioned—no light heavyweights—no heavyweights. And in the latter division, it may be several years before anyone comes along to act as a stand-out.

What about golf? Prior to his automobile accident, 137-pound Ben Hogan was the acknowledged champ—one of the best that ever played. Mangrum, who has been close and still is, is another light weight in the 142-pound class. Hagen weighed 185 pounds. Bobby Jones and Gene Sarazen were short, but powerfully built, in the 170-pound bracket. Nelson is a 180-pounder and Snead is close to this mark.

Jimmy Demaret is solidly built. But Hogan and Mangrum are two rare exceptions. They take you back to the days of Bill Johnson in tennis—a remarkable competitor at 118 pounds.

The Pro Coaching Staff

The two professional football leagues have practically wrecked themselves in refusing to get together. It has always been our idea that there was room for two leagues—but never room for one league.

In the old days of one league, four teams made money and 17 teams went bankrupt or went deep into the red. If there was only one big league in baseball today, it would be a flop. One big pro league team will never be any good except for two or three top teams.

Fashion Forecast for Spring Includes Little That's New

By Erta Haley

WHEN YOU START looking at the new spring clothes, the first idea which will come to you is that nothing very new has been added to the fashion picture.

Grey Chiffon

This full-skirted pale grey silk chiffon afternoon dress, worn over a matching color crepe slip, is from the spring collection of a New York designer.

Furthermore, those of you who were able to buy only a basic wardrobe, can now add some of the trimmings which give you the well-groomed look.

Smart Fabrics, Exquisite Handwork are Featured

You will be impressed by the sheer beauty of fabrics this season like never before.

The woollens which you'll be seeing in suits and coats are also materials which will make you sigh with delight.

Really sleek and silky gabardines that can show tailoring to perfection are as handsome as it's possible to be.

Exquisite handwork is featured on much of the clothing.

There is something so rich an utterly feminine about handwork in

Neckline Interest Shown Currently

Probably the most outstanding feature of the newest clothes is the importance attached to the neckline.

Necklines can take the form of gently rounded curve or they may be deep and plunging such as are featured on many of the new blouses.

On the beach dresses which you'll be buying now or later, you're most apt to run into the strapless variety.

Be Smart!

One of the features of the Empire waistline is the opportunity it gives for a new type of decoration.

Necklines are pretty.

Most formal dresses are longer than those worn in the daytime, but the ankle-length formal is still the most popular.

Rounded Shoulders Are Essential

The stiff-looking artificial shoulders which we started seeing some time ago have gradually disappeared, and fortunately, too!

In the really high-priced dresses, no shoulder pads are used.

Coats Use Plenty Of Materials

Most of the coats seen currently are long and full, whether they're of the belted variety or princess style or fitted.

Because of the lovely rich fabrics used on coats, you'll be amazed at some of the lovely details in tailoring.

Exquisitely soft leather is appearing on some of the shoes as lace-like straps, especially around the ankle.

Casual dresses can come into the limelight very readily if they're made in one of the handsome new silk prints.

Light colors and materials and an interesting combination of fabrics are also highlighted.

SAVE YOUR MARRIAGE if you can. Partly because marriage is the very root and basis of our civilization, but partly, too, because there is no companionship or happiness in the world like that of a man and woman who have achieved a successful marriage.

Don't think of your relationship with your husband as a fact accomplished, finished, settled, never to change. Think of it as being constantly in a state of development, up or down, for better or worse.

Serve Home-Made Rolls Often!

Bake at Home

HOMEMAKERS who want to keep up their morale will find satisfaction in the praise of the family.

With the routine of endless cleaning, dusting, laundry and preparing meals.

No longer need there be an excuse for not making yeast-raised breads and rolls at home.

No-knead rolls and bread are light and delicious.

FOR THIS SEASON of the year, one recipe which you'll want to use often, is that for hot cross buns.

Hot Cross Buns (Makes 18)

1 cup scalded milk 1/2 cup shortening 1/2 cup raisins 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Combine milk, shortening, sugar and salt. When lukewarm, add yeast and mix thoroughly.

Combine four teaspoons of milk with one cup sifted confectioners' sugar and one-fourth teaspoon vanilla.

LYNN SAYS: Serve Hot Sandwiches For a Savory Lunch

Scrambled eggs placed between two slices of buttered toast which have been spread with anchovy paste make a delectable sandwich.

Hot sliced tongue makes an excellent sandwich when teamed with fried apples on a toasted English muffin.

Grilled tomato and hot roast veal is a combination that will call for seconds or thirds when served on rye bread.

Sliced hard-cooked eggs are delicious on Boston Brown bread when topped with hot anchovy sauce.

Finely shredded carrots may be added to hamburger mixture before frying or broiling.

Broiled pineapple slices give added zest to hot chicken or turkey sandwiches or broiled ham or roast lamb.

Hot sardine paste with a generous amount of cream cheese and season with onion juice and Worcestershire sauce.

Poached eggs placed on toasted English muffins and covered with cheese sauce make a filling sandwich.

Hot corned beef with grilled sweet potatoes are a combination certain to please hearty appetites.

THE DECIDING VOTE

IS CAST BY INDECISION

In the "Of The People" columns of the Sunday Star, a writer asks if the Delaware Legislature's vote on the Nineteenth Amendment insured women suffrage for the nation.

Although we're not sure, we're inclined to believe Tennessee's was the deciding vote. The legislatures of both states were in session at the same time, and ratification by either would give women the right to vote. The eyes of the world were focused upon Dover and Nashville and syndicates and metropolitan papers sent their greatest writers to the two cities. We do remember what the members of the Delaware Legislature. They did not refer to them as the most ignorant bunch of legislators they had seen—but as "the most ignorant bunch of men we've seen assembled anywhere for any purpose."

The passing thirty years has made a lot of changes, and nowhere is that change more apparent than in the Delaware Legislature. Today that body is made up, for the most part, of people far above the average intellectual level. And, as a whole, they're pretty much on the level, although, being human, they will continue to play politics occasionally.

But we are wandering from our subject—does Delaware or Tennessee deserve credit for the ratification of the Nineteenth Amendment. Neither deserve any credit. To heck with the opportunist who remains aloof while the battle is being fought and then casts the deciding vote! He's a weak-kneed, visionless creature. The people who did the spade work for suffrage, the pioneers who took up the cause when it was unpopular and kept up the fight throughout the years—the credit belongs to them. Both Delaware and Tennessee were "backward" states in the fight for woman suffrage.

KEEP 'EM OUT— THEN COMPLAIN

"Taxpayer," in the Wilmington Sunday Star, says: "Wilmington is always the goat. For instance, a big Philadelphia store is to build right on the border line of the city—BUT on the county side. It will have the benefit of every city utility—fire and police protection, health protection, garbage collection, water, paved roads, etc., including all necessary transportation for access to the city's population, but it will pay ONLY the county tax rate. Every Wilmington store pays not only the county tax rate but the city rate as well."

In this particular instance, Wilmington, through some of its over-zealous organizations, donned the ragala of the goat, including its smell, but the powers that be refused to let it enter. It would have been glad to pay all the city taxes, etc., but since it was refused admission into the inner circle, it had to build elsewhere, and the natural choice was a plot of land just outside the city limits.

History of

Harrington, England

(Note: The following history of Harrington, Cumberland, England, was written by the Rev. Matthew John Roberts, Rector of Harrington, and mailed to The Journal. The Rev. Roberts also mailed a copy of the London Daily Mail and a copy of the Workington Star and Harrington Guardian. Mr. Roberts would like the addresses of local clergy of the Methodist and Episcopal churches. He would also like to exchange English magazines for American ones. His address is: The Rectory, Harrington, Cumberland, England.)

In his letter, dated January 10, the Rev. Roberts writes: "As I write it is a cold winter morning with the sun breaking through trying to cheer us up in spite of the news. We all feel that the Palestine business will lead to trouble; I have never heard the ordinary man in the street so incensed as now; they feel that we have had a raw deal over the Jewish question. The question is being asked 'cannot the U. S. A. see that Russia is behind it all.' However, we must hope that strong but pacific measures will be taken."

The Rev. Roberts also sent The Journal a copy of the Harrington Parish Church Magazine, in which he tells of the History of Harrington (Del.) which has been running lately.

In old records we find that the ancient name of Harrington was Haveringham; in the writs issued to summons knights to parliament in December 1324 the Lord of the Manor is referred to as John of Haveringham. Later we find that in 1377, on the Coronation of Richard II Sir Richard de Harrington was knighted and the name continued in this form. We find that soon after the Norman Conquest in 1066 the Manor of Harrington was granted to the family of Talebols, barons of Kendal and held by them as a fee of Workington, the neighboring Manor. The name soon impressed itself on the possessors of the Manor; the family of Harrington soon became of some consequence among the English nobility. The first, who married a Robert de Harrington allied himself to the heiress of Seaton in Camerton. The next Robert de Harrington married the heiress of William de Cauncefield, whose father had married Sir Michael de Fleming. There were soon several branches of the family at Beaumont, Witherslack, Aldingham and in the countries of Rutland and Lincoln. There seems no doubt that the Harringtons were entirely derived from this family who held the Manor so soon after the Conquest.

In 1884 a portion of a Roman Altar was found in the walls of the Parish Church which records that it was erected by the Lingones from the shores of the Adriatic Sea who held the site now occupied by the Church as a Signal Station or small fort. This is now in the New Castle Museum.

In 1924 during a road widening scheme the upper part of a Norse Cross was found buried in the ground. It dates from a period 980-1020 and shows that Christianity was already being accepted by the Norse invaders.

By 1551 the Manor was held by Henry Grey, Duke of Suffolk, whose eldest daughter was Lady Jane Grey once proclaimed Queen of England. With her execution and that of her father the Manor and patronage of the Church passed into the hands of the Crown and by 1570 to the Curwen family of Workington Hall.

By 1800 we find Harrington a village of scattered homes a short distance from the Church. In reality it was a series of hamlets such as the Hollins, Beckside, Stocks Hill and the two Middowns. In 1760 Squire Henry Curwen, Lord of the Manor built a small quay to accommodate ships used to export the increasing amount of coal raised in local mines. By 1800 Harrington Harbour figures prominently in shipping lists. In 1764 the number of vessels belonging to the harbour was 60 averaging 100 tons burden; by 1858 there were 30 vessels of 5,790 burden.

In 1801 there were 1,357 inhabitants; by 1891 there were 3,535. The growth of the town is a typical commentary on the Industrial Revolution.

In 1838 Messrs. Williamson started their shipbuilding yards; many a proud ship was born here. The first Iron ship to be built here was the "Ann Gambles" of 465 tons launched in 1852 a Blast Furnace for the production of Iron was opened by Messrs Plevins and the Harbour was busily engaged in the consequent trade. At this time there was a large influx of Irish and Scottish workers. By 1939 however, the Harbour was closed, the iron works long since dismantled and the people unemployed to awake in the nightmare of war but now, it is earnestly hoped, wide awake to the new opportunities of a new era in the history of West Cumberland.

The ancient church still stands witnessing to the eternal truths. Although built on the ancient plan its fabric has been much rebuilt. Of the old Norman Church the Tower Arch at the West End still remains dating from 1120. In the porch is the Norman Font and built into the Nave Walls are early sculptured grave slabs dating from the 13th century.

Many tombs in the churchyard testify to the memory of those mariners who sailed forth to the opening up of the trade routes. Links between New York and Harrington seemed to have been particularly strong.

History of

Harrington

(Note: This week's instalment will be devoted to a partial description of this area, using Byles Map of Kent County as reference. The map was published at Nos. 517, 519, 521 Minor St., Philadelphia, by A. D. Byles in 1859. Surveys by the map were made by J. H. French, superintendent of the New York State Map and Atlas Survey, Assistant surveyor was J. L. Skinner, Philadelphia.)

The map, 5 feet x 5 feet, was found by Charles Derrickson when a frame building was being torn down, preparatory to the erection of The Peoples Bank on its present site on Commerce St.

The map revealed that the population of Milford and Mispillion hundreds, combined, was 5,895, and that the population of Kent County was 22,816. There were 6,385 free colored persons in the county, and 347 slaves.

Street maps of the business districts of Milford, Felton, Dover, Kenton, Hazletville, Frederica, Camden, Leipsic, Willow Grove, and Salsbury, Del., were given.

FELTON DIRECTORY

The Felton directory revealed the following business places: J. W. Carter, dealer in fruits and produce; Luff & Moore, Reynolds & Bro., Simpson & Creadick, and P. J. Bath, merchants; James Simpson and L. D. Jackson, physicians; P. A. Jollie, manager of Fountain House; I. N. Hammon, Felton Hotel; James B. Conner, station agent; George McBride, carpenter and builder; C. P. Crouch, wheelwright; Kersey & Nickerson, steam sawmill. Stanton & Lindale, foundry and machine shop; J. & J. Kensler, brickyard (next to M. E. Church); Bostwick & Shilling, blacksmiths; Lewis Seaman, steam sawmill at Reynolds Corner (at intersection of Felton-Whitelburg Road and the road to Masten's Corner); A. O. Clifton, citizen and farmer; G. C. Herring, citizen and farmer.

FREDERICA DIRECTORY

J. S. Buckmaster, merchant and grain dealer; C. Smithers, merchant and farmer; J. W. Hall, dealer in guano, lime, lumber; James Cook and W. Townsend, merchants and grain dealers; P. T. Carlisle, merchant and lumber dealer; J. B. Anderson, merchant and farmer; Samuel Grace, druggist; W. Cooper Davidson, Thomas Cahall, C. G. Polk, and Albert Whiteley, physicians; Tunlison & Reynolds, foundry and machine shop; William H. Sapp, undertaker and cabinet-maker; J. M. Sutherland, boot and shoemaker; Robert Parkinson, wheelwright and blacksmith; T. B. Coursey, miller and farmer at Spring Mills (Coursey's Pond); R. J. Lowber and S. W. Darby, citizens and farmers.

The site of Houston is identified on the map merely as Killen's Cross Roads. However, the hamlet had received the name of Houston in 1854 in honor of John W. Houston.

Harrington, apparently, was little more than a wide place in the road. The map identifies our city as such, though the legislature did not authorize the use of the name until 1862. Previously, the place had been known as Clark's Corners.

The Flemming Hotel, (later known as the Harrington House), and J. H. Van Gesel's Store, were two establishments. The patronage of Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church was also noted. The city's only streets, according to the map, were Clark St., Commerce St., Fleming St., and Delaware Ave.

Miscellany — The map shows Morris Millpond on the west side of the railroad near Reeves Crossing. This pond, long empty, was an outgrowth of Black Swamp ditch. The stream later became known as Knapp's Branch and runs through Paradise Alley to Killen's Pond. This pond is on the map but is unidentified.

There are three ponds on Brown's Branch, part of which is known as Jackson's Ditch. The first of these ponds, now dry, was known as Thistlewood Pond and later as Tharp's Pond. It is unidentified on Byles Map. Scharf's History of Delaware also gives no mention of its origin. The middle pond (formerly Wilson's Pond) is noted on the map, as is also McColeys.

Marvel's Crossroads, now known sometimes as Porter's Corners (on road from Harrington to Frederica), is shown on the map as Melvin's Crossroads. A school there is identified as School No. 63. This school was known later as Marvel's School.

Magnolia

Magnolia folks will have the opportunity of seeing something "extra special" in the way of a play, when the Milford Business and Professional girls club will bring a 3 act comedy here on Friday evening March 25th. It is a play which they gave in Milford a few weeks ago to a record audience and received much praise and favorable comment, so try and reserve that night to see "Too Many Relatives" in the school auditorium here.

Tickets will soon be on sale and the proceeds will be used on payment of the organ.

Herschel Calloway has made a thermometer, which is hanging on the front of Johnsons' store, that is marked to register the money as it is received for the organ. Watch the mercury rise.

Mrs. Esther Moore as a Beauty Counselor Consultant, attended a "Beauty Counselor Birthday Party", along with Dover friends, on Tuesday in the Wicomico Hotel in Salsbury.

The W. S. C. S. met on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Laurence Roe. She was assisted as hostess by Mrs. William Storey and Mrs. Elizabeth Schwartz. The nominating committee is busy at work lining up their candidate for office with election of officers taking place at their April meeting when they will meet at the home of Mrs. Edna Davis and Mrs. Kathryn Knight, with Mrs. Ethel M. Collins as co-hostess.

Secret Pals for the past year were made known at their March meeting and though a few suspected those Pal they were, there was much evidence of complete surprise. New names were drawn for another year.

Laurence Jarrell received a letter recently which he thought some of the older residents here might be interested in knowing about. The letter was from a Mr. William H. Wooters, who once lived in Magnolia, but left here in 1883 and now lives in Philadelphia, but still holds a deep interest in Magnolia and the community.

Mr. Wooters read in the paper where we were getting a new organ in our church and he is very much interested and glad for us.

For the benefit of those who recall Mr. Wooters and have lost contact with him over a period of these many years, he is an architect in Philadelphia, but due to poor health has been living a retired life for some time.

Ned Hodgson and Stan Freidman, both students at the John Hopkins University, spent the week end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hodgson.

Mrs. Mattie Roach, of Milford spent Thursday with her sister, Mrs. Anna Orvis.

An accomplished artist has offered to do a painting on the wall back of the altar in the church here and we feel it is a wonderful opportunity to fill in that space with something of which we will feel proud.

Mrs. Sara Schoonover, who is the daughter of Mrs. Sara Lodge Dickinson, has offered to do this, providing the church is willing, and with no thought of remuneration.

This matter will be decided, whether to accept her offer or not, following church services on Sunday, March 20th.

Mrs. Howard Williams returned on Saturday from the Milford Hospital where she had been undergoing treatment for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wright had their children, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reynolds of Fullerton, Md. with them for the week-end.

Members of the Congregation received quite a thrill on Sunday morning when the first notes rang forth from the new Hammond organ. *Mrs. Lillie McIlvaine, organist played the congregational hymns and Mrs. Edna Roe, assistant organist, was at the console for the special anthem "My Jesus I Love Thee", sung by the choir and directed by Mrs. McIlvaine.

The March meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary will be held in the Community Hall on Friday evening, March 10, beginning at 7:30 P. M.

Mrs. Anna Orvis, Mrs. Cora Reed, Mrs. Sara Gouley, Mrs. Jane Bryan and Mrs. Dorothy Smith reported to the chairman, Francis M. Hart, $132.40 from their Red Cross canvass in Magnolia and community. That amount was then reported to headquarters in Dover, on Sunday.

This was a bit short of Magnolias quota of $200.00, so if you happen to be one who would like to contribute and have done so you may see the chairman or your solicitor within the next four days.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Maloney received a telegram from the War Department that the body of their son, Tech. Sgt. Charles Maloney is being sent to the states and the family expect to be held in March. Services will be held from the church here.

Claude McIlvaine is able to be about his official business, in the store after several days in the Dover Hospital under observation.

The Magnolia Fire Co. will be host to the Kent County Volunteer Firemen Association, when they will meet with them at the Fire Hall on Wednesday evening, March 16th.

Mrs. Paul Wootten accompanied by Miss Jeanne Book and friend Donald Gladden, of Dover spent the week-end in Mt. Vernon, N. Y. with the former's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Sholley and their new daughter, Cathy. Mrs. Sholley is the former Betty Wootten.

CHEVROLET VENTILATION SYSTEM

Engineering studies of the 1949 Chevrolet ventilation system show that with windows closed and air duct valves open, car interior air is changed approximately two and one-half times each minute at 30 miles an hour. At 60 miles an hour, continues the report, the frequency of air changes is doubled.

According to the company, the fact will prove a worthwhile safety feature in certain types of damp spring weather when windshields and windows have a tendency to fog. Body glass will stay clear without the necessity of providing drafts from open ventpanes.

The new Chevrolet ventilation system includes screened openings behind the radiator grille leading through tubes to outlet under the dash. The volume of air issuing into the passenger compartment is controlled by knobs beneath the instrument panel. The system is standard equipment on all Chevrolet passenger cars.

Hickman

Hickman Church news for Sunday, March 13th.

Sunday School 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Howard Drummond, Superintendent.

POPULAR RADIO ACT
FEATURED ON MILFORD VAUDEVILLE BILL

Songs and comedy predominate the 5 act vaudeville bill on the stage of Schene's New Milford Theatre on Friday and Saturday. The headline act is The Hollies with their songs and impressions of famous stars that have made them a popular feature on the CBS, NBC and Mutual radio shows. They are an exceptional fast versatile duo who, with the help of masks, create the illusion of actually seeing the stars on the stage.

Other acts on the variety bill are Jackie and Tuffy, one of vaudeville's funniest comedy teams; Jack and Sally Taylor in an acrobatic act that will thrill you; Davy Karr, a master of ceremonies and comedian who'll make you roar with laughter. Its a full hour of all kinds of talent and variety to entertain the entire family.

The exciting screen attraction on Friday and Saturday is "16 Fathoms Deep", filmed in Anasco Color, and featuring Lon Chaney, Jr. and Arthur Lake. Stage shows on Friday are at 7:00 and 9:45; Saturday at 3:45; 6:45; and 9:45.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon for Mr. N. Lee Sipple in the Berry Funeral Home and were in charge of Rev. T. B. Brinton assisted by Rev. H. T. Caldwell of Sharpton, a former pastor. Interment was made in the Hopkins Cemetery.
 Mr. Sipple, 87, died last Wednesday at his home after a long illness. He was a retired farmer and a faithful member of the Felton Methodist Church. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sarah Caldwell Sipple; two daughters, Mrs. Roland Diefenderfer, Wilmington; and Mrs. Norman A. Burton, Felton; one son, Charles Lee Sipple of Dover; six grand-children and four great-grand-children.

The Friday evening prayer service held for the World Day Prayer in our church was well attended and enjoyed. Mrs. Harriett Pond of Rehoboth assisted with the music. Also at our Sunday morning service, Mrs. Pond was the soloist assisted by the choir. Mrs. Pond has been the guest of Mrs. Kenneth Grant.

With the removal of the old Silver Maple trees from the Presbyterian Church lot recently, one of Felton's landmarks is gone. The Church building was demolished and removed last year. Felton Presbyterian Church was organized November 15, 1860, was closed in 1926. Rev. G. Ashworth Burslem was the last pastor. The lot has been purchased by the Felton Fire Co. who intend to erect a Fire-house.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

Members of the One Hundred and Fifteenth General Assembly of the State of Delaware.

I have requested you to meet together in Joint Session for the purpose of acquainting you with the serious financial problem facing our State. I do not intend to review in detail our past financial history. It will suffice for our purposes here today to refer to the fact that on June 30, 1946 our State had an available cash balance of $13,766,003.64. On June 30, 1948 this balance had been reduced to $10,459,385.02. According to the latest figures available in the Permanent Budget Commission, the available cash balance as of June 30, 1949 will be $7,000,000.

It is apparent from the fact of our annually dwindling surpluses that we have been paying a substantial part of ordinary expenses from accumulated reserves and not from current revenue. It is my firm belief that it is unsound financial policy to fail to meet current obligations from current revenues. My purpose in addressing this message to you today is to propose ways and means to bring expenditures into a proper relation to income.

It is necessary, in order to do this, to estimate as accurately as possible our income and expenditures for the period commencing July 1, 1949. For the purpose of this discussion, I think it is reasonable to assume that the Budget Appropriation Bill will provide for at least the recommended appropriations. This amount is $17,792,138.03 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950; however, to properly estimate probable total state expenditures for this fiscal year, we must add to the budget appropriation amount, additional sums which past experience indicates will be appropriated by this Legislature, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950. These additional amounts are: $1,000,000 for the Emergency Fund; $1,074,000 for Delayed School Repairs; $780,500 for various Deficiency Appropriations; $1,600,000 of Supplemental Appropriations; $350,000 for annual carrying charges on State assumed County Road Bonds; $175,000 for Legislative Expenses; and approximately $1,400,000 to pay teachers' salaries. These sums, together with the amount of expected budget appropriations, approximate the total sum of $24,200,000 necessary to be expended by the State for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950. May I again emphasize that this sum represents only State appropriations which past experience shows may reasonably be expected to recur annually in the future.

To provide for the payment of this total amount, estimated revenues for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950 are only $16,532,603.61, or an excess of expenditures over receipts of $7,667,396.39. The result will be, in the event no increase in revenue is provided, that the State will have to use all of its surplus, and that as of June 30, 1950, a deficit of $667,396.39 will result. Actually, the hearings now going on before the Joint Legislative Finance Committee of this Assembly will probably result in an increase of the recommended budget appropriation.

I might add that the figures I have quoted to you today on State expenditures are not exaggerated. They are based on the latest and best information made available to me by the accountants of the Permanent Budget Commission, the State Treasurer's Office, the State Auditor's Office and the State Tax Department.

There are pending in the General Assembly a number of bills which would authorize the issuance of State bonds to make a number of different capital improvements. I have carefully examined all of these bills and proposals. I have, on the basis of the information available, estimated that such bond issues will probably approximate a total of $25,000,000 to be retired within the next twenty-five years. I have had an estimate made of the total yearly carrying charges for such bonds. It is estimated that approximately $1,750,000 will be required annually to meet interest payment and sinking fund requirements. Accordingly, if the revenue of the State is not materially increased, the State's deficit as of June 30, 1950 will be increased by the amount necessary to pay carrying charges on such bonds as this Assembly will authorize.

I will not further burden you with figures, but I can state categorically that a deficit of approximately the same amount can be foreseen for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1951, unless additional revenue is provided.

It is a generally accepted principle that a working balance in the State Treasury is required to run the State Government. This is required because of the sporadic nature of the State's revenue. This figure is generally agreed upon as the sum of $3,500,000. Obviously, we must have more revenue if this balance is to be maintained.

In the figures I have quoted to you today, there is no item which can be rejected without serious curtailment of the present functions of the State. We cannot continue to live beyond our means. We must have a sound fiscal policy to insure the continuance of the State functions. This means simply that annually recurring expenses must be paid from annually recurring revenue.

In order to meet this serious financial problem, I have conferred with the various State Departments and Agencies concerned, and have formulated a plan for raising the required revenue to meet our prospective obligations. Very shortly, on behalf of my administration, bills will be presented to you to put into effect the proposed revenue-raising plan I am about to outline.

Since we have estimated a total annual expenditure of $24,200,000, and a total State Revenue of approximately $16,500,000 annually from which to pay it, the State will need in the future additional revenue in the approximate annual amount of $7,600,000, plus such sums as will be required to pay the carrying charges on new bonds issued as a result of authorization to be made by this Assembly. $1,750,000 is estimated as the amount required to pay the annual charges on a total bond issue of $25,000,000. Accordingly, the total amount of approximately $9,000,000 annually will be required for future State operations.

The first revenue-raising measure I desire to recommend for your favorable consideration is a gross income tax on all income in excess of $1,040 a year. This tax I recommend be graduated as follows: on that part of taxable income up to $3,000, one percent annually; on that part of taxable income in excess of $3,000, but less than $10,000, two percent annually; and on that part of taxable income in excess of $10,000, three percent annually.

I have received from the State Tax Department information that such a tax would add approximately $5,000,000 a year to the State's revenues.

The second revenue-raising measure I recommend for your favorable consideration is to double the present spirits tax. I have received estimates that this measure will produce additional revenue to the State in the amount of $676,000 annually.

I recommend for your favorable consideration changing the automobile registration fees as follows: increase the registration fees on motorcycles to $8.00 per year; increase the registration fees on passenger cars to $12.00 per year, and increase the registration fees on commercial vehicles to provide a fee of $2.00 per 500 pounds of weight up to 5,000 pounds, and to provide a fee of $3.00 per 500 pounds of weight in excess of 5,000 pounds. I am informed that these proposed changes in registration fees will produce additional revenues to the State in the amount of $462,000.00.

I recommend for your favorable consideration levying a tax of 2 cents per package of 20 cigarettes on each pack of cigarettes sold in the State of Delaware. I am informed that this measure will produce an increase in revenue to the State of $700,000 annually.

The revenue-raising measures I have proposed to you will result in a minimum increase in revenue to the State of $7,574,000 annually. This sum falls to meet the estimated excess of expenditures over revenue of June 30, 1950 by approximately $1,500,000. I am advised that this amount may safely be taken from the surplus of the State and still leave ample working capital in the State Treasury to run the government of the State.

It is never pleasant to impose additional taxes upon the people. The people of Delaware, however, have made it plain that they expect the State to supply certain services. These services cannot be furnished without the necessary funds. However reluctant I personally may be to impose additional burdens on our people, I consider it my duty as their chosen executive to meet the situation frankly, and as I believe they would have me meet it. I ask the members of this Assembly to seek the solution of our joint problem in the same spirit.

Respectfully submitted,
ELBERT N. CARVEL
Governor

Ellendale

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Workman of Chester, Pa. motored to Ellendale on Wednesday. They were accompanied by Mrs. Elsie Van Kirk, of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Elsie Van Kirk of Philadelphia, Pa. spent the week-end at her home on Main Street.

Firemen were called out on Tuesday to a brush fire near town which had spread to an idle tenement house. The fire was believed to have started from sparks from a passing train.

On Saturday morning the Ellendale Firemen were called to the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Workman near Lincoln, where a brush fire had spread to a nearby woodland.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jones, Jr. and family were Milford callers Saturday.

Miss Elizabeth Spicer visited, Mrs. Elsie Van Kirk on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clark, Jr. entertained guests on Saturday.

Mrs. Jennie Coverdale, who recently returned home after being a patient in the Milford Memorial Hospital for a fractured hip is now able to be up and around. We are all hoping that this grand old lady will continue to improve.

Mrs. Coverdale is the mother of Mrs. Edith Fisher Minicucci, an Ellendale resident for many years.

The young folks played basketball Friday evening in the Ellendale School auditorium.

The Annual Declaration Contest was held Friday afternoon in the school auditorium. Recitations this year were taken from several W. C. T. U. publications and were very interesting as well as educational with the children doing an excellent job of bringing out the moral of their particular story. Winners were: James Young, Margie Clark, Wilson Jones, Lee Moore, and Fredetta Ireland.

Wyonna Beebe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Beebe fell from the stage at the school on Thursday, injuring her back and face. We are hoping her injuries won't prove serious and that her recovery will be soon.

FARM MACHINERY REPAIR
"The Spring planting season is just around the corner and farm machinery will soon go back into service. There is not much time left to make equipment safe for the coming season", William Calvert, extension agricultural engineer for the University of Delaware warned today.

It is not enough to simply give it a "lick and a promise" and hope that you get by. Poorly conditioned equipment reduces an operator's efficiency and multiplies the chances for accidents. It is irritating, fatiguing, and fosters carelessness.

The National Safety Council recommends that all farm equipment be checked thoroughly before field work starts. Look for defects in hitches, seats, clutches, wheels, brakes, steering and unguarded gears or shafts. Make repairs now and head off costly breakdown or accidents during the busy season. Careful operators will also take time to equip tractors with fire extinguishers and provide secure holders for grease guns or other servicing tools carried on the tractor. Loose accessories may lead to falls or other casualties. A secure step or grab bar may also avoid a fall in getting on or off the tractor.

See that all fuel lines are tight and check fuel servicing equipment. A leaky hose or valve can easily lead to costly fire. If the fuel supply is too close to farm buildings for safety, take time to move it before an accident occurs.

Farm and Home News

Spray schedules for control of insects and disease on Delaware fruit crops are now available from the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of Delaware.

Two types of schedules have been prepared, reports J. E. H. Lafferty, extension editor. Delaware's Fruit Spray Schedules for 1949; Extension Circular No. 60, is primarily for commercial orchardists, as it gives materials in large amounts for control for apple, peach and grape insects and diseases.

Home Orchard and Disease Control; Extension Circular No. 58, gives schedules designed to control common insect and disease pests in home fruit plantings. Directions are included for spraying apples, peaches, cherries, grapes, plums and strawberries.

Washington Digest North, South Fought Hard Over President Buchanan

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—Democratic harmony, so far as the Dixie-rat revolt is concerned, remains an uncertain quantity. Democrats, basically, are still Democrats, but there will always be certain fundamental differences between North and South which existed even before slavery and secession became issues.

Beyond that, however, recent clashes with the Dixiecrats are largely only a leveling off process and probably nothing a sensible compromise cannot cure.

People outside of Washington are often surprised that the differences still arise between North and South over ancient matters which most of the country has forgotten.

The country has also forgotten that it was here that the earliest outbreaks of sectional feeling took place. As early as 1848, there was a riot following an "underground" slave-running incident in which 76 household servants were spirited off to freedom.

Nine years later a band of armed ruffians from Baltimore entered the city bent on helping the "Know Nothing" candidates in the local election. (We had local elections then.) The marines had to be called out: six men were killed and twice as many wounded.

The tide continued to rise and no President, from Tyler to Buchanan, could or would do anything about it. It was an open secret that Buchanan's sympathies were largely south of the Mason-Dixon line.

Historians agree that he learned in advance the decision in the famous Dred Scott slavery case which was one of the last of the explosions which started the Civil War. Today supreme court secrets are kept secret. But Buchanan knew the court had ruled that Dred Scott was not a citizen under the meaning of the Constitution, and could not be made a citizen; further that the Constitution affirmed a property right in slaves, and such slave property was protected by the "due process of law" clause.

Buchanan realized what the effect of this decision would be, but in his inauguration speech plausibly advised the country to accept the verdict, no matter what it was.

Later when southern sentiment grew in the capital, Buchanan did try to organize a militia, but congress would have none of it. The regular army troops in the city were known to be of doubtful loyalty. The militia, much larger on paper, could muster only 150 men. Meanwhile the southern group, the Militant Jackson Democratic association, was drilling 800 men.

Finally the militia managed to get a thousand men under arms. But feeling ran high, and on Washington's birthday following the election of Abraham Lincoln by the electoral college but before his inauguration, the militia paraded. Ex-President Tyler, a Virginian, went to Buchanan and protested the fact that they had been allowed to display the Stars and Stripes, and Buchanan is said to have apologized.

Most people have forgotten the northern animosity toward Buchanan, but it was to crowd up again in my time when it was the subject of one of those assiduous debates for which Sen. Cabot Lodge was notorious. Many Presidents are memorialized in stone in Washington, but not all, and in Lodge's time, Buchanan was one who was not.

Buchanan had been a bachelor and had taken his niece with him to the White House as hostess to assist in the brilliant entertainments for which he was noted. She later

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS Big Business Played in T-H Row; Unemployment Increases in U.S.; Soviets to Keep Prepared for War

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

LABOR LAW: Trouble, Trouble

In the field of liberal—or, as some would term it, even "left wing"—Republicanism, the GOP's Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon was conceding nothing to no man.

THE SENATOR was vocally and vociferously hurt. The defense of the Taft-Hartley law by "big business" was giving the senator no rest and he meant to let everyone know about it.

With little originality but much vigor, the senator was crying that the attitude of many defenders of the Taft-Hartley law was a "Judas betrayal of the capitalistic system."

IN A SUDDEN onslaught against many of the business men who have appeared before the committee in defense of the measure, the senator declared their attitude is "shocking . . . selfish . . . class-conscious . . . un-Christian."

In contrast, he praised Senator Taft (R., Ohio) whose name the law bears, for his "fair-minded objectivity" in considering testimony on the "shortcomings" of the act.

Morse declared he and Taft are "much nearer together on the need for a law less drastic against labor" than they were in 1947 when the act was passed.

MEANWHILE, sentiment was growing among congressional observers that with every day of delay on legislative consideration of Taft-Hartley law repeal, there increased the probability of labor's failing to get as many of the law provisions outlawed as they might hope to do.

A major battle was shaping up on the proposal, with many legislators evidencing a dawning conviction that perhaps it would not be wise to scrap the Taft-Hartley law in its entirety and replace it with some version of the Wagner act.

JOBLESS: 3 Million Out
At present count the number of jobless in the United States stood at three million.

However, according to the experts, there was no cause for immediate concern. Commissioner Ewan Clague of the federal bureau of labor said the time to become alarmed would be when the unemployed total reached five million and stayed there.

Would it reach five million? THAT WAS A POINT on which the experts disagreed. Those who were loudest in pointing to the possibility of a depression pointed out that in just three months the jobless total had jumped from 1.8 million to the present three million. That was a rate of acceleration which, they claimed, should cause everyone to be alarmed.

Time was an element, Commissioner Clague contended. Wait, he said, until the March and April begins to revive the construction business and Easter trade and then "we'll be able to tell better just where we're going."

The federal official noted there was a drop of 1.75 million workers in non-agricultural jobs between mid-December and mid-January. Part of this was seasonal, he said.

Fraternity Man Chooses Mind Over Gastronomics

Culture had won a minor triumph.
Ann Arbor, Mich., Paul H. Smith, University of Michigan Junior, was about to have at it with a hog for eating capacity honors.

Thinking better of the idea, he changed his mind. Smith declared that, on second thought, it occurred to him that the contest might be a "reflection" on himself and his fraternity.

Fraternity men from high above Cayuga's waters to the Rose Bowl breathed easier, buckled anew to their academic tasks.

but the overall decline was greater than normal.
SIGNIFICANT was a report of Robert G. Goodwin, director of the bureau of employment security, who said that the number of people receiving jobless benefits increased by 62,000 to a total of 1,784,000 during the week ending February 12.

In the same week in 1948, there were 1,080,000 such claims.
Employment or its lack has always been a major factor of indication in an evaluation of the nation's economic condition because of the simple fact that in past recessions general unemployment has always preceded periods of national depression.

RUSSIANS: Big War Talk
The Russians must keep prepared for war.
That was the message of Soviet Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin, Soviet minister of armed forces, in a statement in an order of the day marking the 31st anniversary of the Red army.

The Marshal named the possible enemy—the United States.
Bulganin added that the "ruling circles of the United States might seek to establish their world domination by force pursue a policy of aggression and of unleashing a new war."

The language was strong, even for the Russians. Was it the beginning of a campaign by the Soviets to prepare the mass Russian mind for conflict?

It could be. Bulganin played on fears and prejudices which might well lay the groundwork for calling the Soviet people into war. Intimating the possibility of attack, he assured the Russians that the "Soviet people may rest assured our army, air force and navy will vigilantly stand guard over their socialist homeland."

THE UNITED STATES was the only western power singled out by the marshal in his order of the day.
But there was a naive element of braggadocio in all the anniversary statements. It seemed Lt. Gen. S. S. Shatlov, deputy chief director of the political board of the armed services, was trying to "whistle past the graveyard" when he stated that in its early days the Soviet army had "routed the hordes of 14 powers."

A-BOMBS: Whom To Tell?
Government officials were being frank, but futile. They said they hadn't figured out how to tell Americans ways in which to protect themselves from A-bombs without letting the whole world in on the "know how."

Their dilemma, A-bomb officials said, is how to disseminate this information at home and keep it at home. No defense plans exist, for area defense.

POSTAGE: Hike Asked
A boost in some postal rates has been asked of congress by Postmaster General Jesse Donaldson. He expects to have a 1949 deficit of $26 million dollars and would like to be able to trim it a bit.

DEATH SPRAY: Nazis Had It

Out of Mountain View, Calif., came one of the most chilling, awesome post-war tales of what might have been in World War II. It was about a "death spray"—a spray so fatal that if a spot of it the size of a dime lay on a person's skin, that person was doomed.

THE SPRAY was described as being potent enough to knock out whole divisions of men in exposed positions.

A dime-sized spot, unless wiped off quickly, would kill a man in two minutes. It would penetrate ordinary clothing and some types of gas masks.

Authorities for these statements were U. S. army engineers who destroyed 125,000 tons of the spray where it was stored in carefully hidden caves in Bavaria.

Maj. James M. Graham of the engineer corps said the Germans called the chemical "tabun," a combination of the scientists who invented it. According to Major Graham, who had charge of the disposal of the chemical, "tabun" was a military secret until about six months ago when some information concerning it leaked out to the American public.

One thousand tons were spared from destruction and shipped to the army proving grounds at Aberdeen, Maryland.

THE MAJOR said the stuff is nearly odorless that a person has to know exactly what he is smelling before he can detect it with his nose. It has a faint fruity flavor and looks like crankcase oil.

Then the Major said something that would add no comfort to those who fear a war with Russia. He said that the scientists who developed "tabun" were in Berlin when the Russians took over and probably became subject to Soviet control.

Speculation was that it was not used by the Germans because of a reluctance to engage in chemical warfare for a lack of knowledge of what weapons in this field might be possessed by the Allies.

OLIVER TWIST:
Fagin Is Issue
Intelligent Jews would draw little consolation from the violent acts of their fellow men in multi-turn Berlin.

With the world on tenterhooks over the possibility of a third world war and with the issue of Palestine not yet completely settled as it affects the Jews, a mob of Berlin Jews saw fit to demonstrate over the showing of a British-made film, "The Film was 'Oliver Twist,' a story familiar to almost every English-speaking schoolboy and, apparently, familiar to a great many Jews as well.

The Berlin Jews, it seemed, couldn't stomach the Dickens creation, Fagin, one of the major characters in the story. Fagin, depicted as a Jew, is an unlovely character who teaches children to steal for him and accords them brutal treatment.

The charge that the film was "anti-Semitic" was hurled by the Jewish demonstrators. Their demonstration was effective. It resulted in temporary withdrawal of the film. German police hospitalized some of the rioters, but said they could not continue to protect the theatre.

THE ENTIRE AFFAIR provided a disturbing spectacle. Berlin, supposed to be the proving ground of the ability of nations to work together, has become, instead, the malodorous corpse of that conception.

People Are Funny
And, people are funny, in many of the things they do. This woman, Charlotte Kierstein, 23, on probation for a check swindle verdict, couldn't keep a job. Suspicious employers fired her 14 times. Then, jailed at her own request, her story hit the papers and now she's been deluged with jobs. Her past will make no difference.

TAFT vs. Keyserling
There have been some attempts on capitol hill to discredit the statement of Leon Keyserling of the President's economic advisory committee that a comparable depression of the 1930's would cost the country about $90 billion dollars, or roughly four times the national debt.

Senator Taft belittled the statement, it seems, and of course there's no way to prove the statement except by actual experience and even Taft won't go that far.

DAIRYMEN RAPPED
The hard-pressed National Co-operative Milk Producers Federation and the National Butter Institute suffered a stinging blow when the powerful Farm Bureau Federation pulled the props from under them on the oleo-butter fight in congress. Said the board of directors of the Farm Bureau: "We favor removal of the special taxes on margarine if and when satisfactory means are taken to identify margarine and butter."

THE HOME TOWN REPORTER IN WASHINGTON WALTER SHEAD, WNU Correspondent

President's Rights
IF THE QUESTION were put up to you, whom shall I go along with—President Andrew Jackson, Abraham Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt and Harry Truman, or with James Buchanan and William Howard Taft, what would be your decision?

President Truman recently declared that he had the inherent power as a result of his office to go to the courts for whatever power he needed to stop strikes aimed at the welfare of the American people. He said that his attorney general Tom Clark had ruled that this power was inherent in the constitution which charged the President with the general welfare except where precisely prohibited by the constitution.

The question was raised by the move to repeal the Taft-Hartley act which specifically gave the President power to ask for injunctions from the courts in cases of national emergency. The President said he wasn't concerned about that provision since he already had the power although he was not averse to having the power spelled out.

Andrew Jackson took the same position on many questions but specifically on the Bank of America issue. Abraham Lincoln took the same position on a dozen questions in his moves to save the union. Theodore Roosevelt, who took office with views in advance of his time and who was the forerunner of the liberal viewpoint as we consider liberals today, declared in his autobiography:

"The course I followed regarding the executive as subject only to the people and, under the constitution, bound to serve the people affirmatively in cases where the constitution does not explicitly forbid him to render the service, was substantially the course followed by Andrew Jackson and Abraham Lincoln."

Ironically enough, or perhaps naturally enough, the man who is now the chief challenger of President Truman in his stand is Sen. Robert A. Taft, son of that president. William Howard Taft, who was the successor of Theodore Roosevelt in the presidency.

We are going to hear a lot more about this battle which on one hand holds that the President is the servant of congress rather than of the people, as Senator Taft believes, and can do nothing for the welfare of the American people unless the constitution explicitly commands that action.

This reporter is willing to go along with Jackson, Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt and Truman on the theory that the President has a right under the constitution to act for the general welfare of the American people despite congress, just as long as the constitution of this country does not expressly forbid that action.

Wallgren Heads NSRB
Gov. Mon Wallgren, the lame duck senator and governor from Washington, has been named chairman of the national security resources board by President Truman as a man most apt and fitted by training for the job.

The President pointed out that Wallgren, who was a member of the war investigating committee of which Truman was chairman as a senator from Missouri, has had specific training for the job. As a matter of fact, the President by this appointment of one of his close friends recaptures one of the most important positions in Washington from the military establishment.

The President recently has veered away from naming military men to key jobs. He moved the national security resources board out of the Pentagon and into the old state department building across the street from the White House.

He eagerly accepted the resignation of Arthur Hill of the Pennsylvania railroad and the Greyhound Bus company as chairman and since, has had this important board in the hands of his secretary, John Steelman, for the time being. The board has the job of building up stock piles of strategic materials, a most important job not only in war but in peace times.

There have been some attempts on capitol hill to discredit the statement of Leon Keyserling of the President's economic advisory committee that a comparable depression of the 1930's would cost the country about $90 billion dollars, or roughly four times the national debt.

Senator Taft belittled the statement, it seems, and of course there's no way to prove the statement except by actual experience and even Taft won't go that far.

White Coal
White coal is the figurative name for falling water that is capable of being used for power purposes. The term originated in France; it is the literal translation of houille blanche and was probably suggested because much of the falling water in France originated in snow-covered mountains, or because falling water when filled with air bubbles appears white when compared with the blackness of coal.
Tide water, usable for power, is sometimes called "blue coal."

Ladies and Gents: What is the sense in protesting against the use of a blackjack when at the same time you are pounding yourself on the head with six feet of lead pipe?

thing be done about mock trials in the Kremlin pattern is all very well, but what about us all personally doing a little less cheering, hat tossing and voting here on home grounds for candidates for city, state, and national office who are known to be so far to the left that a slight breeze could send them over to the Moscow line? Huh?

Is there anything screwier than expressing indignation over the Cardinal Mindszenty outrage, with its threat to religion everywhere on earth under communism, and then taking it on the double to the polls to vote into office leaders who are not wholeheartedly for the American way?

I don't mean to lay off telegrams of protest against persecutions of the church and defiance of all the rules of human justice. They help. But you're just performing in a squirrel cage if you rush off a wire of indignation in the morning and dash off in the afternoon to vote in office some crumb you know very well is the type who might play footsie with Pal Joey.

There is no percentage in yelling for the eradication of rats and at the same time voting for looser storage of sharp cheese.

STAR DUST Bette Davis Made It on Her Own

The FICTION Corner

MAYBE YOU'VE HEARD of this old war dog Gen. Jake Sears. You must have. He's been cited for bravery a dozen times. Considered one of the finest officers in the army, knows all the answers, as far as strategy is concerned. Smart. A hero.

Well, maybe he was a hero. I suppose any soldier is a hero who knocks the devil out of the enemy, no matter how he does it. That's war. Still somehow I'd always had a notion that a hero was one who braved odds. Queer the ideas kids get. Queer the way they stick with a chap as he grows older. At any rate, I was with Old General Jake's outfit at Lameroux. Remember Lameroux? Sure, General Jake got his biggest medal for what happened at Lameroux.

Well, sir, the day before the Boche moved in—of course we didn't know it was the day before until later—up comes a messenger from headquarters, with instructions for General Jake to hold Lameroux as long as he could. I mean, headquarters knew General Jake's tactics, and they didn't want him walking out without some show of resistance.

General Jake smiled thinly to himself and tore the orders into little pieces and threw the pieces away. And then the next day the Germans moved in. We had ample warning. Everything was in readiness for a hasty and efficient retreat. Of course, the smart thing to do was blow up the bridge, which offered the only means of approach, before quitting the village, thereby impeding the Germans on end. Everyone expected orders to that effect, but General Jake had a sly look in his eyes.

Ten minutes later there was a terrific explosion. The bridge flew into the air like kindling wood. The Germans who were on the Lameroux side stared in amazement, but their amazement gave way to concern, for just then General Jake's boys came swarming out of the woods.

What followed was pretty awful, even for a war. Our men outnumbered those Germans who had crossed the bridge about three to one. We had the advantage of knowing just what we were to do and having a flock of machine guns set up ready for use. By the time the slaughter was finished and our own wounded cared for and the outfit organized again, the body of Germans left on the other side of the river had built a pontoon bridge, and what with this and boats and rafts they were coming across with murder in their eyes. But General Jake had planned everything. Before the first of the remaining body of Germans touched the Lameroux side of the river we were in retreat, and a fast retreat at that, although there was plenty of time and nothing much to worry about. That evening we reached the town of La Roche, which was occupied by plenty of our boys, and there we made camp. I don't know exactly what sort of report General Jake turned in at headquarters, but I do know that he was cited for the Lameroux episode not long after. That's the sort of thing that makes a war hero, I guess. At any rate, that's the rank General Jake goes by now—war hero.

Rubbernecking Pedestrians Foil Prague Traffic Device. PRAGUE.—There can be other causes of traffic jams than "bottle-necks." Prague police say that one of the chief traffic problems is caused by "rubbernecks." They claim so many people started "rubbernecking" at a new traffic control device, that it didn't work out. The device was a helicopter from which police directed traffic as the aircraft hovered over intersections.

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

I can recall talking to several different people about this same time last year about buying a refrigerator or a gas range on monthly payments, and if you had purchased then as several did, you would just about be paid out. At that time Uncle Sam said got not less than 20 per cent down and the balance cannot run for more than 15 months. Of course Uncle Sam is always looking out for his children and he now says that you can sell your merchandise for 15 per cent down and take another 6 months to pay or in all 21 months. I think this is just fine for the working people who can now buy with such little down and your monthly payments so low.

This new ruling applies on the merchandise we sell such as refrigerators, freezers, stoves both electric and gas, also oil space heaters, washers of all types, radios, cleaners, electric and gas hot water heaters. In fact anything we sell for $50.00 or over can be handled this way under $50.00, pay weekly.

This good news has come to many of you I am sure at just the time that the most remarkable refrigerators are now in our store on display. See both Westinghouse and Philco.

Just opened a new model Philco today, little better than ten cubic foot box in a cabinet that is as small as a seven cubic foot box of last year. How do they do it? Well you should know the answer. Philco knows how and there is no lost space, in fact the Philco refrigerator is a refrigerator clear to the floor.

How about that automatic washer that Westinghouse has for you? When I say automatic, I mean it just turn a little button as simple as turning on your radio, fills itself, empties itself and stops and starts itself. Besides there are things that you can wash in a Laundromat that you wouldn't dare put in the regular washer. The price is very reasonable and again just think of a guarantee of 5 years. Westinghouse can do it.

Are you beginning to get the spring fever? Well I am and you know spring means the budding of a new life. Did you know that papering a room with the proper paper and pattern will also give it a new life? Drop in and select from a stock that is in reserve for you. We have plenty of patterns and plenty of time to help you and glad to assist you in your selection. We are still taking back at purchase price all full rolls not used. This is a saving as you get enough without a doubt and bring back the rest without a cent.

We still have a few of the special price bottled gas ranges for sale and the price is the lowest that a quality range can be installed. Call 541 Harrington and you won't be sorry.

Have a small size Frigidaire refrigerator taken in on a new Philco which can be purchased for just $100.00. Good condition and guaranteed.

Pride of accomplishment is pictured on the faces of the Delaware, Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland farmers shown above. Exceptional corn yields won them state championships in the 1948 National DeKalb Selected 5-acre Hybrid Corn Growing Contest.

In honor of the event, trophies were awarded to the corn champs by the DeKalb Agricultural Association, Inc. at a recent banquet in York, Pennsylvania. Wives of the corn champions were presented with sets of sterling silverware.

Delaware Champion Harrington, Kent county, with a yield of 125 bushels per acre selected a red loam field for his contest plot, spring plowed and planted May 24 to three DeKalb hybrid seed corn varieties, 825, 840, 846.

Virginia Champion Boxley, Loudoun county, with a yield of 104.3 bushels per acre selected a clay loam for his contest plot, spring plowed, dragged and harrowed before planting May 26 with DeKalb hybrid, variety 840.

Pennsylvania Champion Walker, Centre county, with a yield of 149.7 bushels per acre selected a Hagerstown soil 5-acre contest plot, spring plowed and planted May 23 with DeKalb hybrid, variety 406.

Maryland Champion Amoss, Harford county, with a yield of 138.5 bushels per acre selected a sandy loam 5-acre contest plot, spring plowed and disked before planting June 11 with DeKalb hybrid seed corn variety 825. All yields from contest plots were checked by a disinterested party, according to contest rules.

Habits of Brown Trout
Brown trout is not one of America's native trout, but was introduced in 1833 from Europe where it had been a favorite for many years. The original shipment of eggs was from a Von Behr of the German fisheries society, and for some time this trout was known as the Von Behr trout, or the German trout. Brown trout can live in warmer waters than most trout, and even when the temperature of the water reaches 80 degrees they apparently suffer no major ill effects. The caution of the brown trout is developed to a greater degree than it is with most trout and it is a habitual nocturnal feeder.

George Simon Ohm

In its original unbroken, unmelting form, every snowflake has its structure and shape built in units of six. These take on an almost endless variation of design.

George Simon Ohm
German physicist George Simon Ohm (1789-1854) formulated in 1827 the law of electrical resistance that underlies all modern electrical theory and measurement. Science scoffed at him for 15 years. Recognition brought him out of long retirement and into overwork that hastened his death.

Whistler, West Pointer
James Abbott McNeill Whistler, who is famous for his painting, "Whistler's Mother," once attended West Point, relates World Book Encyclopedia. Whistler was strong in drawing but weak in chemistry—and he flunked out in his third year. "Had silicon been a gas," Whistler said later, "I would have been a major general."

That Waxing Job
When you wax your floors, wax the feet of the furniture too. Then when the furniture is moved around, it will not mar the floor.

Paint Stucco House
Rain, snow, ice and sleet are natural enemies of stucco. In the winter, rain or snow settles in the cracks in the surface, freezes and enlarges the cracks. As this continues, sooner or later bits of the stucco are forced off and the house becomes unsightly. Proper painting with suitable colors and materials keeps the cracks sealed, the rain, snow and sleet out, and gives character to the house at the same time.

The Granite State
"Live Free or Die." is the motto of New Hampshire which adopted the purple lilac as its state flower. The unofficial bird of the state is the purple finch.
