

People Want Action on School Problems - Carvel

State Support of Public Schools On a Per Pupil Basis, Recommended by Governor

The people of Delaware are looking to the Legislature for prompt and satisfactory action on a number of crucial problems on the State school system. As early as 1946, when the American Council on Education, employed by the State School Survey Commission, conducted a questionnaire survey, the great majority of citizens polled indicated that they favored improvements that would make our State school system second to none, and that they favored increased expenditures to make the necessary improvements. I, personally, during the political campaign of 1948, repeatedly made certain specific proposals. A great many lay and professional organizations have endorsed my proposals. Some, it must be admitted, have seen the merit of my proposals since my incumbency as Governor.

Yesterday I requested the members of the Joint Legislative Finance Committee to incorporate into the budget the Unified School Support Plan, which has my unqualified support and endorsement. This plan has been recommended by the State Board of Education, the Council for Delaware Education and by the Unified Legislative Committee, as well as many civic organizations throughout the State. This plan is based on a per pupil basis. The plan as recommended calls for a figure of $600 per unit of 25 children.

In comparison with the existing program of school expenditures, the proposed program would provide more funds for most of the schools although there are a few that receive more money than the recommended average at present, but it is expected these affairs can be adjusted without any hardship resulting.

The plan has been recommended by the State Board of Education and many other groups. Governor Carvel has held many conferences with members of the Legislature and other groups in considering the program.

During his press conference this week Governor Carvel indicated that opposition to the proposed increased revenue program is rapidly reducing and he credits a clearer understanding of the situation by many persons as being responsible for this.

The Governor stated that as it becomes understood that the gross income tax plan is the only methods whereby many persons would have an opportunity to contribute to the support of the State, especially schools, the objections are waning.

Governor Carvel has based his estimate as a result of letters he received and in conversation with persons from all parts of the State.

Brobst Heads Rotary Club

Melvin Brobst was elected president of the Harrington Rotary Club at Tuesday evening's meeting of that organization. He will succeed George K. Vappa.

Cliff Miller was elected vice-president, A. B. Parsons, secretary, Sam Williams, treasurer.

C. Finkbner Dies at Home

Charles Finkbner, age 60 years, died at his home near Andrewville, Tuesday evening after suffering a heart attack.

He was born in Philadelphia, but had resided in this community for the past 54 years, where he was engaged in farming.

His parents came to this country from Germany.

He was active in Democratic politics, and was a candidate for coroner of Kent County in the last election, but as he suffered a paralysis stroke the later part of September from which he didn't recover until the past December, he was unable to campaign.

Funeral services will be held at the Boyer Funeral Home, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in charge of the Rev. John Anderson, pastor of Bethel Methodist Church, Andrewville.

Interment will be in Hollywood Cemetery.

He is survived by one son, William Maurice Finkbner, Harrington, and 3 grandchildren. His wife, Mrs. Augusta E. Finkbner, died about 9 years ago.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday evening.

Auto Racers Open Eastern Circuit This Week

The AAA Eastern big ear auto race season opens Sunday at the Reading Fairgrounds, and veteran speed observers anticipate a driving circus reminiscent of the days of Billy Winn, Bryan Saulpaugh, George "Doc" MacKenzie and Johnny Hannon.

Not since the golden era of auto racing before the war has such an evenly-matched field been available for the inaugural events at the fairgrounds. For the current entry list includes the names of nine of the first 12 ranking drivers in the East last year, and the two top drivers on AAA Midwestern tracks.

The Eastern drivers, and their order of finish in last year's AAA Eastern point standings, are: Tommy Hinnershitz, Reading, second; Tommy Mattson, Wilmington, third; Bill Holland, Reading, fourth; Hank Rogers, Trenton, N. J., fifth; Len Koenig, Palmyra, eighth; Mark Light, Lebanon, ninth; Otis Stine, York, 10th; Walt Brown, Massapequa, N. Y., 11th, and Buster Warke, Allentown, 12th.

"Spider" Webb and Jackie Holmes, both of Indianapolis, Ind., are the two midwestern stars entered. Webb was champion of midwest tracks in 1947 and '48, and Holmes placed second in the championship last year.

Four of the entrants—Holland, Hinnershitz, Brown and Webb—are veterans of the 500-mile speedway race at Indianapolis.

The Reading program will consist of time trials, four 10-lap heat races, a match race and a 25-lap Ted Horn Memorial Sweepstakes. A one-minute period of silence will be observed before the running of the sweepstakes in memory of the 1938 National and Eastern champion who lost his life at DuQuoin, Ill., last October.

The time trials, which get under way at 1 P. M., will officially open the program. First heat race is scheduled at 2:30 P. M.

Greenwood School To Hold Minstrel

Did you see the Sunshine Minstrel last year? If so, I'm sure you enjoyed it and will want to see their show this year. If you missed it last year, you want to plan now to see them, when they return to Greenwood High School on Wednesday night, April 6th at 8 P. M.

The chairman of the various committees are as follows: Director, Robert Jester; Programs, Miriam Lord; Tickets, Mary Christine; Music, Marilyn Lyons; Properties, John Lyons; Costumes, Madeline Lord; Business, Esther Lyons; Publicity, Thelma Schulze.

This year the Minstrel circle will include: John Lyons as interlocher with Kathleen Willey, Paskey Jester, Julia Davis, and Marie Dickerson, as end ladies and George Baker, Medford Smith, Allison Davis and Robert Jester as end men.

The old fashion minstrel will include two skits: one entitled, "One Wheeled Taxi," by Nila Schulze and Ebe Reynolds, Jr. and one entitled, "Whar's Mah Pants" by James Smith, Rose Handloser, Helen Reynolds, Drexel Orndorf, Madeline Lord and Luther Lyons.

The musical numbers will include a ladies quartet, a men's quartet, together with solos and a toy band. If you want to enjoy an evening of fun with lots of good laughs, then don't fail to see the Sunshine Minstrel on April 6th at Greenwood High School.

Bobby Greer Recovers From Fall From Truck

Robert "Bobby" Greer, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Greer, of Reese avenue, is convalescing at his home from a fall from the running board of a truck Saturday.

The driver of the truck, Henry Schanding, was unaware the child was on the running board. The accident occurred on Hanley St. Bobby was taken to Milford Memorial Hospital and treated for a slight concussion of the brain. He was released Tuesday.

Preparations Are Under Way For Poppy Day

Poppies by the thousands are coming from the skilled fingers of disabled veterans at New Castle Veterans Hospital and Perry Point, in preparation for Poppy Day, May 28th, Mrs. Joseph Penny, Poppy Chairman of Callaway, Kemp, Raughley, Tee Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, announced today.

Mrs. Penny is directing arrangements for the observance of Poppy Day here, when the Veterans-made Poppies will be worn to honor the dead of both World Wars, and aid the disabled and the children of veterans.

Describing the poppy making activities at the regular meeting of the C. K. R. T. Unit, Mrs. Penny said,

"It is very interesting to see the way a veteran makes a poppy, taking petals of crepe paper and a stem of wire shaping them into a very attractive replica of the wild poppies which grew on the battle fields and around the graves in Europe during both wars. Many veterans become very skillful in the work and can produce the memorial flowers with amazing rapidity. They enjoy the work, and being gainfully employed helps give them a wholesome mental attitude which promotes recovery.

"Being handmade, each of the Auxiliary poppies slightly different, varying with the maker's skill. At one time the Auxiliary used silk poppies, but the crepe paper flowers were adopted because they provide more interesting work for the veterans and can be made at a minimum cost for materials. Millions already have been made for this year's sale in hospitals and workshops throughout the country and by the time Poppy Day arrives more than 25,000,000 will be ready to be worn in honor of the war dead.

"The men who make the flowers are the only persons paid for their work in the Auxiliary's poppy program. The women who distribute the poppies on the streets are all unpaid volunteers who give their services to help carry out the purpose of Poppy Day—to honor the dead and aid the disabled."

The judges for the Poppy Poster Contest will be: Mrs. Joseph Penny Mrs. Brinton Holloway, Mr. Earl Sylvester, Mr. Gooden Callaway.

IN FLANDERS FIELD
In Flanders field the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row
That mark our place: and in the sky
The larks still bravely singing fly,
Scarce heard amid the guns below.
We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset's glow,
Loved and were loved and now we lie

In Flanders fields.
Take up our quarrel with the foe,
To you from failing hands we throw
The Torch—be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders Field!

William H. Stubbs Dies Near Town

Funeral services for William Henry Stubbs, aged 61, of near Harrington, husband of Eliza Stubbs and son of the late Charles Stubbs and Mary Schockley, was held Wednesday, March 30, 1949, at 2 P. M. from the Boyer Funeral Home, Harrington.

The services were in charge of the Rev. Grier Baker of the Pilgrim Holiness Church, assisted by the Rev. Earl Lowary, Oxford, Md.

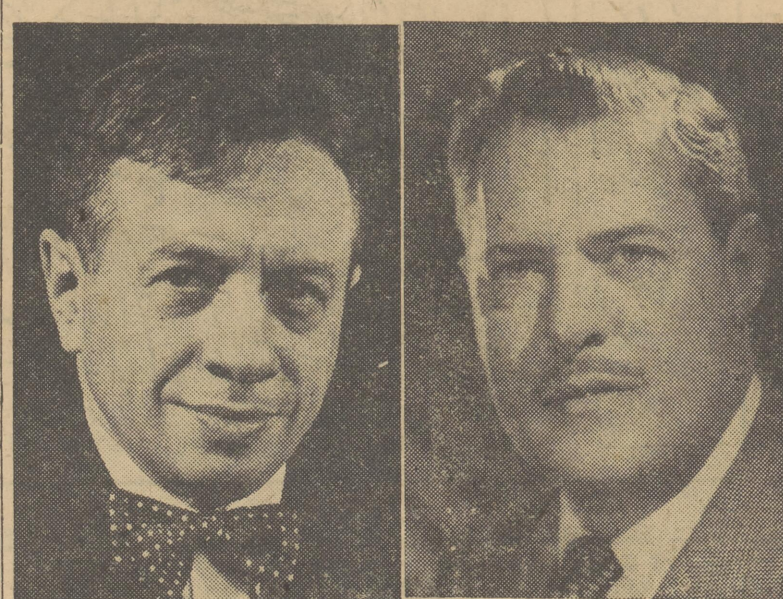

Interment was in Hollywood Cemetery. The pall bearers were Matt Minner, Clarence Minner, Jack Clark, Jack Hatfield, Homer Sherwood, and Ernest Wright.

Mr. Stubbs died early Sunday morning after being a patient of Milford Memorial Hospital for several days.

He was born and lived near Harrington all his life. He was a well known farmer in his community and was liked by everyone, who knew him. He was a faithful member of the Pilgrim Holiness Church of Harrington.

He is survived by his wife, Liza Stubbs, eight children, Mrs. Wilmer Johnson of Milford, Mrs. Granville James of Georgetown, Emil Edgar, Paul and Nelson Stubbs, all of Harrington; William Stubbs of Felton, and Mrs. Donald Dennis of Greenwood; a brother, Charles Stubbs of Felton, two sisters, Mrs. Sadie Killen and Mrs. Emma Reed of Felton, and 12 grandchildren.

Latex Officials Advance

A. N. Spanel

W. O. Heinze

It was announced today by Mr. A. N. Spanel, founder of International Latex Corporation, Playtex Park, Dover, that Mr. W. O. Heinze, Vice President of the company, was elected to the office of President. Mr. Spanel becomes chairman of the corporation.

Mr. Heinze came with International Latex Corporation as General Manager in September of 1943, at which time he was given charge of all plant manufacturing operations. The company was then engaged entirely in war work, its civilian business having ceased completely with the attack on Pearl Harbor.

"At war's end Mr. Heinze played a leading role in converting the company back to civilian business," Mr. Spanel said. In Dover the company today employs five times the number of people engaged before the war, in the manufacture of civilian goods.

The company also announced that Mr. Frederick W. Andrews, who has been in charge of Research and Development for the past three years, has been promoted to Vice President and Mr. Irving Obrow becomes Assistant Treasurer.

Student Council To Hold Carnival

The Student Council is sponsoring a Carnival on Friday evening, April 1. The funds realized at the carnival will be used to help defray the cost of stage furniture which is much needed at the school.

A special program is to be provided for the entertainment of those attending the carnival.

Among those presenting the program are the following: Jack Jerrald, Eileen Harris, Ann Howard, Marie Hopkins, Betty Bradley, Barbara Edwards, Jay Black, Edwin Wilkerson, Betty Ann Smith, Donald McKnatt, Elva Rae Smith, Dorothy Tucker, Bill Smith, C. Burgess, Walter LeKites, Randall Knox.

The master of ceremonies will be Donald Vane. The Court is as follows: Queen, Thelma Stauffer; King, Robert Baynard.

Court, Shirley Simpson, Mary Ellen Thomas, Lois Langrell, Louis Hobbs, Billy Wix, Eugene Willey.

Crown Bearers, Joyce Gruwell, Alby Hickman.

Flower Boys and Girls, Linda Humes, Irene Gourley, Jimmie Temple, Kenneth Konsey.

Jesters, Donald McKnatt, Donald Bullard.

NINTH GRADE GIVES PLAY

"At the Assembly on Friday, March 18, the ninth grade presented "Elmer," a one act comedy which entertained the student body with its many amusing episodes.

Elmer's part was taken by George Graham, who had with him on the stage his dog. George's dog behaved like a veteran troupier and won for himself no small share of popular acclaim.

The other characters were played by Martha Gruwell, Eugene Willey, Patsy Ann Billings, Reba Smith, Millie Ann Minner, Robert Ward, and Alice Tierman and Frances Black.

The stage managers were Doyle Calhoun and Maurice Willey. Directors assisting Elizabeth Ann Greenly were Leslie Riggan and Roberta Rice. Anne Toppin acted as prompter and Donald Sapp made the announcements.

Harrington Firemen Answer 11 Alarms

The residence of Wallace Smith, of Farmington, was destroyed by fire early Wednesday morning when an oil stove exploded. Loss was estimated at $15,000. The house was insured. The Harrington Fire Company answered the alarm and also another Wednesday afternoon at the same location when a blaze started in the debris.

The two calls were a part of 11 alarms answered by the fire company from Thursday a week ago to yesterday morning. Other alarms answered were:

Thursday morning, March 24, fire in shed adjacent to vacant lot next to Reese Theatre. Cause, unknown. Damage, $100.

Friday afternoon, chimney fire at home of Byron Kemp on Harrington-Masten's Corner road. No damage.

Sunday morning, chimney fire mile north of Harrington in home occupied by colored persons. No

'Possum in Movies; Muskrat in Court House

It shows the cock-eyed trend of times, The way the old world goes When lowly possums try to crash The moving picture shows.

Chief of Police Frank Morgan caught an opossum in the outer lobby of the Reese Theatre Friday. It was presumed the marsupial was attempting to get into the movies without buying a ticket to see "The Bribe." Chief Morgan gave the animal to Harry Short to release in the woods.

Samuel Fox, of Leipsic, caught a small muskrat Monday morning which was imprisoned under a grate just outside a basement window of Kent County Courthouse at Dover. He released it in a marsh.

Railroad News

The annual oyster roast at Delmar Engine House last Friday was a huge success with over two hundred in attendance. There were not quite that many casualties, but the following day showed by the number of scarred knuckles just how many were amateurs at the shucking game.

General Manager, H. E. Nancarrow, Superintendent T. M. A. Schwab, Superintendent J. J. Goodfellow and System Superintendent of Safety Tom Carrow, were loud in their praise for the good safety performance on the Delmarva Division and for the spirit of goodfellowship that this occasion always shows evidence of.

Another occasion displaying this co-operative spirit, locally and far, was the farewell party tendered Ted Angus last night at the Wonder Bar. As mentioned in this column last week, Ted reports to Baltimore today as Master Carpenter of the Maryland Division. His successor is Wade Mitchell, who comes from Wilmington where he has been assistant Master Carpenter for the past year and a half. We are glad to see Ted get promoted but sorry to lose him here. Evidence of the esteem in which Ted is held by his superiors and fellow employees, was shown in the fine speeches and gifts presented him last night.

He was given a handsome traveling bag and was wished further success by the following.

Thelma Larimore Weds Donald Deputy

The wedding of Miss Thelma Larimore, daughter of Mrs. Rachel Larimore and the late Mr. Jefferson Larimore to Mr. Donald Deputy of Houston, Del., took place, March 19 in Denton, Md., with the Rev. W. S. Jump officiating.

Mrs. James Thawley of Milford, a sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Mr. James Thawley of Milford, served as best man.

The bride and groom were entertained at dinner, Sunday at the home of the bride's mother. Relatives of the couple attended.

The couple left shortly after dinner for a wedding trip to Winchester, Va., Skyline Drive, and West Virginia.

H. L. Anderson Found Shot and Killed

Howard Leon Anderson, 31, colored, of East Street, was found shot to death Monday morning in an upstairs room at the home of a relative, Fred Johnson, on Hanley Street. A 22-caliber rifle was by his side.

Anderson, commonly known as "Mootsie," went to the home and locked himself in the room. P. King, 88, was the only other person at home at the time of the shooting. Anderson had been a patient at Delaware State Hospital until his discharge in July, 1948.

Lower Delaware Well - Represented At Jackson Dinner

Lower Delaware was well represented at the Jefferson-Jackson Day Democratic dinner in Wilmington on Saturday night with many persons prominent in the affairs of the Democratic Party in the two lower counties participating in the event.

The affair was also in the nature of a victory dinner in honor of the Democratic success at the polls last November and it was noted that old time Democrats from all parts of the State used the event for the purpose of meeting each other.

Mr. Barkeley delivered a masterful address in which he informed the Delaware Democrats that President Truman intends to go through with the promises made during the campaign and strongly pointed out that reactionaries could not stop the program.

Governor Elbert N. Carvel told the assembled Democrats about his proposed Legislative program and recounted the amount of time devoted to a study of affairs before the revenue producing program was finally formulated as the only possible solution to the State's fiscal program.

Lieut-Governor Alexis I. duPont Bayard devoted his remarks to the general attitude of Republicans concerning Democratic affairs and explained that the Wilmington City election was causing the Republicans plenty of worry.

Secretary of State Harris B. McDowell, Jr., who is Democratic State Chairman, served as Master of ceremonies while Daniel F. Wolcott, chairman of the New Castle County Committee, was toastmaster.

Among those introduced were State Treasurer Willard D. Boyce, who is also chairman of the Kent county Democratic Committee, State Auditor James W. W. Baker and Howard Bacot, Chairman of the Sussex County Democratic Committee.

United States Senator J. Allen Frear served as host for the Vice President and also introduced him at the dinner as well as at other places in Wilmington.

Boy Killed in Fall From Truck

George Hewitt Voshehl, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett H. Voshehl, of Felton, died in Milford Memorial Hospital Saturday evening, two hours after he had been injured when he fell from the rear of a small pick-up truck operated by his father.

State police at Dover said the vehicle was traveling along Route 12, one-half mile east of Felton, at a moderate rate of speed when the boy, his legs dangling over the tail board of the truck, attempted to drag his feet along the road.

When his feet touched the highway, he was dragged from the vehicle and the back of his head struck the concrete road. The accident occurred at 5:15 P. M. He died from a fractured skull and internal hemorrhages.

Also riding in the rear of the truck was a brother of the victim, Everett Zacharias Voshehl, 6.

The victim, a second grade pupil at Felton school, was the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. William Z. Voshehl, of Felton, and George W. Melvin, of Goldsboro.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Berry Funeral Home, Felton, with interment in Mt. Olive Cemetery.

Felton Livestock Dealer Dies

Milton Moore, 50, a livestock dealer, died Monday in Kent General Hospital, Dover.

Funeral services will be held today at 11 A. M. from Berry Funeral Home, Felton, with the Rev. William Tull of the Church of God, Milford, officiating. Interment will be made in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Camden.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Helen A. Moore, Willow Grove; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Walters of Harrington, and Mrs. Alice Sipple, of Felton, and a brother, Gilbert Moore of Wyoming.

A demonstration of the newest types of farm tillage machinery is to be held at the Harrington High School on Wednesday, April 20th, starting at 10 A. M. and continuing until 3 P. M. The demonstration is to be conducted in cooperation with local farm machinery dealers as a practical display of new farm equipment. Although primarily arranged for the high school and Farm Veterans Vo-Ag-classes, all interested persons are cordially invited to attend and observe the new machine at work.

The demonstration is to be held on the farm next to the school, weather and ground condition permitting. If the weather is good, but the ground too wet, the demonstration will be moved to higher land in better condition. If the weather itself is bad, the demonstrations will be moved ahead a week to Wednesday, April 27.

It is hoped that the demonstrations will fill the desire of farmers to see new tools actually in use, as well as to show students the very latest and most efficient equipment being made by the various companies. There should be at least a dozen different sizes, models and makes of tractors to demonstrate plowing, discing, dragging, cultivating, forming wide V ditches, moving dirt spoil, cutting brush and small trees, and fertilizing crops. Seven dealer agencies have already agreed to take part in the proceedings.

The school farm plots are to be laid off in narrow lands as the best means of tilling low, and normally poorly drained soil. The soil is typical of that west of the railroad in Harrington. The formation of wide V drainage ditches over which tillage machinery can be operated will be shown. The use of large disc-type brush choppers for clearing up hedgerows will be tried out. The use of the new weed killers and tree killing chemicals will be shown.

The Kent County Soil Conservation Service is cooperating to the extent of recommending approved farm practices and by providing technical help to see that the jobs are done properly. One of the purposes of the demonstration is to show that most soil conservation work can be done with ordinary farm machines by a farmer himself.

Telephone Company Builds New Cables

The Diamond State Telephone Company is now spending approximately $100,000 to provide additional cable facilities between Dover and Seaford, passing through Harrington, it was announced by Theodore W. Collins, local manager.

Approximately $20,000 of this sum will be spent in the Harrington exchange area, Mr. Collins said.

The new cable line will not only provide additional toll facilities but will also be available for local subscriber lines in many places. This means, the manager said, that new lines will be available to connect subscribers with the central office in the eastern end of the Harrington exchange area and up and down the main highway.

It is expected the entire project will be completed in July, Mr. Collins said, but it is hoped that sufficient of the work will be completed in late May or June so that additional toll and long distance circuits can be made available between Harrington and Dover.

These new circuits, he added, will improve virtually all long distance service here, as practically all such calls are routed by way of Dover.

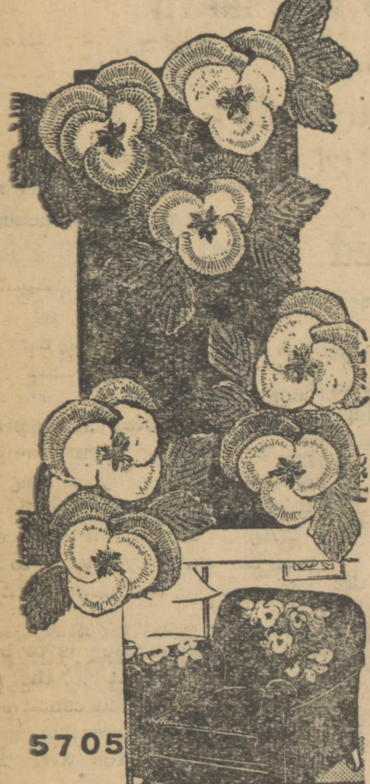

HARRINGTON TOPS RED CROSS QUOTA

Harrington closes their Red Cross Drive with an "Over The Top" report. The drive was sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary and had as their chairman, Mrs. Earl Sylvester.

In making a report this week in regards to the drive, Mrs. Sylvester said she wished to thank the solicitors for the work which they had done and to also thank the many contributors who had made the drive a success. Mrs. Sylvester also said in her report that it was interesting to note that Farmington's contribution this year was 5 times greater than in the past year.

That Nagging Backache May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—in a risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood. You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pain, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

SPORTLIGHT Cellar May Be Their Destiny

By GRANTLAND RICE

A BASEBALL community, extended, is like any other big community. There is wealth and poverty living fairly close together. On either side of the opulent first-division Yankees and Cardinals in St. Petersburg, there are two strong tail-end contenders at Tampa and Clearwater. They are the Reds and the Phillies.

Neither Bucky Walters of the Reds nor Eddie Sawyer of the Phillies care to be labeled a tail-end contender. But what teams can they beat out? The Phillies have a possible and even probable star in young Richie Ashburn, who batted .333 last season and was the fastest man in the league has seen in some years.

Asburn was injured after playing 117 games, but he is O. K. now and more than keen to prove his first year was no fluke. The second year is always the hardest. He easily may be one of the game's future stars.

The Phillies have another kid in Curt Simmons, an expensive left-hander who is only 19 years old. Simmons won seven and dropped 13 games last season. Robin Roberts won seven and dropped nine. Roberts, only 22, is another possible star, maybe better than Simmons.

Waitkus, from the Cubs, will strengthen the Philly infield. This team can be dangerous if it gets better pitching than it picked up through 1948. It is the type of team that won't win any pennant or finish in the first four, but it can beat a lot of ball clubs and should be an improvement over last year.

The Reds have a great ballplayer and one of baseball's finest citizens in Bucky Walters but, like the Phillies, their strength is too spotty. It could be a different story if Blackwell could hook up with Vander Meer, Wehmeier, Gumbert and Raffensberger. They have a good power hitter in Hank Sauer with 35 home runs in his credit last year, and a good third baseman in Grady Hatton.

Both the Reds and Phillies have good ballplayers scattered here and there but too many others who are not too able. But the fact that teams as good as the Reds and Phillies should be scrapping it for last place proves the balance of the National League. You wouldn't think that six clubs will heat out this pair—and maybe six clubs won't.

That's the only way it looks as March buds are waiting to show and March winds are getting softer in the sun.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Give Yourself Spring Tonic With Easily-Done Hair Style

By Erta Haley

YOU CANNOT ALWAYS afford the new wardrobe you want, but you can always be certain your hair is just right; and, for most women, this inspires just the confidence they need to meet the new season or any situation.

We're going through a fortunate period with hair styles right now. Those of us who are old enough will appreciate the fact that we don't have to impose on ourselves below-the-waist length hair to be in fashion.

Neither do we have to dye the hair a certain color, unnatural to us, because our own coloring is considered best. Then, too, we don't have to use all sorts of devices in the hair style to make it appear just right.

The prevailing fashion is short hair and an easily managed style which, more frequently than not, can be brushed to gleaming smoothness to frame the face.

For you who shampoo your own hair, the short styles will save time and energy in care. If you give yourself a permanent, or set your own hair every week or every night, the short style is the ideal solution.

Teen-agers as well as oldsters can look attractive in a short hair

Easy Hair-Do

A brief combing and a swish of the hair brush will keep your hair perfectly groomed for all occasions if you have the short casual hair cut and an easily given home permanent.

We now know that hair should be washed every time it gets dirty. In dirty localities and particularly if you have oily hair, you may have to have a shampoo twice a week to keep the hair looking best.

If you have soft water, this makes it easy to get a lovely shampoo. However, don't let hard water scare you. Many good shampoos have a water-softening agent right in them that softens the water as you use it, and it's as lovely to use as though you'd gathered the water from the rain barrel.

Follow this Schedule In Shampooing

Just how is the right kind of shampoo given? Here's a simple outline, easy to follow.

Unless you have been told, with absolute truth, that you have a "way with hair," it's best to seek help in cutting your locks. A friend with the knack may be able to do it for you, or you may have to seek professional attention.

It's particularly important for your own sake to have an attractive cutting job, especially if you are not sold on the idea of having the hair cut to a short length. If the job is well done, you'll like it and get complimented about it.

One of the ideas which we might well borrow from grandmother is the daily brushing. With short hair, it's easy to concentrate on this exercise that means so much in gleaming good locks.

Apply the shampoo a second time and massage through the hair thoroughly.

Shampoo Your Hair When It's Dirty

There used to be some idea that hair should not be shampooed more than once a month, or at least not more often than once every two or three weeks.

Be Smart!

White is again headed for tremendous fashion importance, for resort wear and for wear everywhere come vacation time later.

The gorgeous new lines with their silk-like sheen and their crease resistance are wonderfully adapted to the smart tailored classic dresses and suits with such details as upstanding collars and pocket flaps.

Of course, white is not only flattering in its beauty and coolness, but it is also wonderful foil for color contrast accessories and your favorite costume jewelry with its colorful stones.

Spectator sport shoes are with us again, but there's a big difference. Many hues of blonde leather to match the new blonde hose are used. They're just the right thing to accent a favorite costume, especially if you have bag and gloves to match.

This is the season of cravats for ladies. Dresses or worn with V-necked dresses or underneath suit jackets and often they are designed to match your hat.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Must Women Worry?

Bell Syndicate-WNU Features

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

WORRYING is a fault and a habit. It is also stupid. But of this faulty, stupid habit, many women make a virtue. They are proud of their worrying. It nearly drives everyone mad; but they are meekly, resignedly proud of it.

Take the wife of the man who writes the following letter. He, Jim, is 40; his wife is 36. These are wonderful ages, the very cream of life. But for Rose the cream is curdled.

"The girls and I love Mama," writes Jim, or rather typewrites, on paper that shows he is the head of a wood and coal business. "We've got everything we want—a nice home, friends—and we're all normal people, no sickness of body or mind. So what can keep a sensible woman like Rose fretting and worrying, nagging and complaining is more than I can see. She says her mother was a great worrier, and says it as if it were something rather fine.

Others Don't Fuss

"But what she doesn't know," Jim adds, "is that a man is apt to meet other women who don't make such a darned fuss about everything. My agent in a near-by town is a young war widow, and is just a streak of sunshine. Nothing worries her.

"She'll fix a little meal up in the office; she'll laugh if anything goes wrong; she's sure this'll come out right and that'll all clear up, and it's a pleasure to be with her. She's got a boy of five and the way she handles that little fellow is a pleasure to see. They laugh together like a couple of kids.

"At home Rose begins nagging when I arrive and doesn't stop until I leave the next morning. Our girls are only nine and five, but already they are beginning to ignore her criticisms. Their clothes, their health, our financial status, the weather, the people she sees and doesn't want to see, and the ones she wants to see who don't come, my manners if I'm too cool, my family's treatment of her when she was a bride 12 years ago—there's no end to it. If I get in a helper, the girl wastes everything and isn't clean; if I don't get her anyone, she's half dead with work.

"And all the time she's capable and hardworking and economical, and would die for any one of us," the letter continues. "But she sure does make life a burden for herself and everyone else.

Criticizes His Driving

"Then there's my driving. She leans over from the back seat and watches the road like a cat, and there isn't a chicken or a red light or a truck that she doesn't see 'way ahead. It gets a man nervous. The whole thing gets you down."

This Rose of Jimmy's sounds to me like a too-well known type. There isn't any advice or suggestion that will reach such a woman. She is too entrenched in her own conviction and righteousness.

Her defense would be that Jimmy is careless, that there are many accidents, that someone has to watch the family safety and sanity, that people would be wasting money and getting sick and spotting their clothes and leaving lights burning and running into traffic if she wasn't on guard. She would argue that she kept a perfect house, never rested day or night, had to assume responsibility because no one else would, and altogether considered herself pretty nearly the perfect wife and mother.

No, you can't reach the worriers, complainers and naggers with even the gentlest criticism. They are letter-perfect, and they would laugh at the idea that households need the spirit as well as the letter. The letter, says the wisest book in the world, killeth. But in the spirit is eternal life.

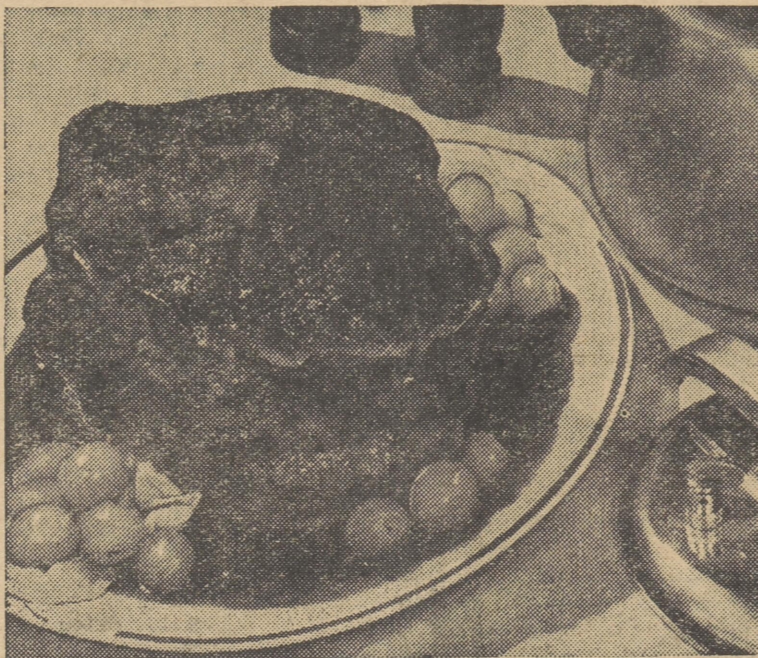

What might reach Rose's impregnable fortress of perfection is the hint of the other woman, in Jim's letter. The other woman, in his branch office in a neighboring town. The woman who is simple and cheerful and philosophical.

Grief and change already have struck at this woman. She is one of hundreds who were widowed in the war years. She had a child to protect. She had her living to make. And still she is happy and self-reliant and free from the swarms of mosquito cares that beset the more fortunate Rose.

Jim doesn't sound the kind of man who raises arguments, gets into domestic quarrels easily. But any man is the sort that just gets deadly, deadly tired of constant nagging reminders that everything is all wrong. Lots of things are worrisome today. But the things that make Rose, and so many other women, as destructive as termites to the walls of home are not these big world problems.

No, with them it is the weather, and that the kitchen clock stopped, and other trivia of that sort to the number of thousands.

Speed your Cooking with Pressure Pans

(See Recipes Below)

Quick Meals

IF YOU'VE EVER come home at five o'clock after an afternoon of club activities, have you wondered how to get a roast on the table and a meal cooked to completion within the hour?

The solution to this problem lies in cooking the meal in one of those efficient utensils known as a pressure cooker or pressure pan.

In an hour, and in many cases, less time, you can have a steaming hot meal with meat, vegetables and potatoes on the table for a hungry family. All this can be accomplished with no more previous preparation than marketing.

Foods cooked under pressure cook quickly because the steam is held within the utensil. Food values are saved, too, so you can serve more healthful meals to the family. And, if you're a busy homemaker, you can save hours of time in the preparation of foods which usually take three or four hours to cook.

All of the recipes given today use meats that take long cooking time under ordinary circumstances. Use the directions carefully and follow the manufacturers' directions for using whatever kind of cooker you have.

THE RECOMMENDED pressure for most dishes including meats is 15 pounds. Study your cooker to see how this is obtained and maintained.

*New England Boiled Dinner (Serves 4)

1 1/2 pounds ham shank
1 cup water
4 small potatoes, peeled and halved
4 small onions, peeled
1 small turnip, peeled and sliced
4 medium carrots, scraped
1 small cabbage, quartered
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Place ham and water in cooker. Adjust cover, exhaust air and bring pressure to 15 pounds. Cook for 20 minutes. Reduce pressure and open cooker. Add prepared vegetables and pepper. Adjust cover, exhaust air and bring pressure again to 15 pounds. Cook for five to eight minutes, depending upon size of vegetables. Cool and open cooker and serve at once.

CANNED TOMATO sauce added to a pot roast gives you a wonderfully rich but economical gravy, as in the following recipe:

Savory Pot Roast (Serves 6-10)

3 1/2-4 pounds pot roast of beef (chuck, round or brisket, boned)
1 clove garlic
Salt and pepper to taste
2 tablespoons drippings
1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 cup cold water

Rub the cut surface of the meat with cut surface of garlic clove. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Brown in the pressure cooker in the drippings. Add canned tomato sauce. Close cooker and exhaust air. Bring pressure to 15 pounds and cook 11 minutes to the pound.

LYNN SAYS: Pressure Cookers Have Many Uses

It's amazingly quick to make custards in the pressure cooker. Simply pour the custard mixture into small, heat-proof cups and set on the pressure cooker rack with a little water at the bottom. Cook for 2 minutes at 15 pounds pressure.

Molds are now available for puddings that fit right into pressure pans. They steam puddings perfectly and swiftly.

Fish which cooks quickly and best at high temperature is right at home when prepared in a pressure saucepan. A small amount of water or tomato sauce is placed at the bottom of the cooker to provide just enough moisture for proper cooking.

Fish and meat casserole may be cooked in a pressure pan if placed in a heat-resistant dish and set on the rack covered with water. If a brown top is desired, place the casserole under broiler for a few minutes, after removing from the cooker.

*Recipe Given

Cool cooker, following manufacturer's directions, and open. Remove meat to serving platter. Mix cornstarch to a smooth paste with water and add to tomato sauce in cooker. Season as desired. Stir over low heat to a clear rich gravy.

Ham with Escalloped Potatoes (Serves 4-5)

2 tablespoons butter
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 small onion grated
1 tablespoon fat
2 pounds ham slice, cut in serving pieces
5 medium potatoes, peeled and sliced

Melt butter, blend in flour, add milk, salt and pepper. Stir constantly and cook until smooth. Add onion. Brown ham until golden brown in pressure pan, then remove from cooker.

Place potatoes in bottom of cooker and cover with white sauce. Lay ham on potatoes. Adjust cover, exhaust air, and bring to 15 pounds pressure. Cook 12 minutes. Cool cooker, and serve meal at once.

DOES THE FAMILY like meltingly delicious spaghetti? Here's the easy way to cook it.

Spaghetti with Meat Sauce (Serves 6)

2 tablespoons salad oil
1 pound ground beef
1 clove garlic, chopped
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
2 medium onions, chopped
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 green pepper, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
1 (8-ounce) package spaghetti.

Parmesan cheese

Combine all ingredients except cheese in pressure pan. Adjust cover and exhaust air. Bring to 15 pounds pressure and cook for 12-15 minutes. Serve over cooked spaghetti, topped with cheese.

Wiener Schnitzel (Serves 6)

2 slices veal round, cut 1/2-inch thick
4 tablespoons flour
Salt and pepper
1 teaspoon paprika
1 cup sliced onions
1/2 lemon, sliced thin
1 cup soured cream

Cut veal into serving size pieces and dredge in flour mixed with salt and pepper. Heat cooker, add oil and paprika. Brown pieces of veal on both sides. Add onion and saute slightly. Place a slice of lemon on each piece of veal. Add sour cream. Adjust cover, exhaust air and bring to 15 pounds pressure. Cook 15 minutes. Cool cooker and serve veal, garnished with parsley.

The pressure pan may be used just as any other kettle for sauces, dressings, etc. without the cover.

If you want to cook several different kinds of vegetables at the same time in a pressure pan, select those which require the same cooking time.

To soften cereals properly and to bring out their full flavor, use the pressure pan. It saves time.

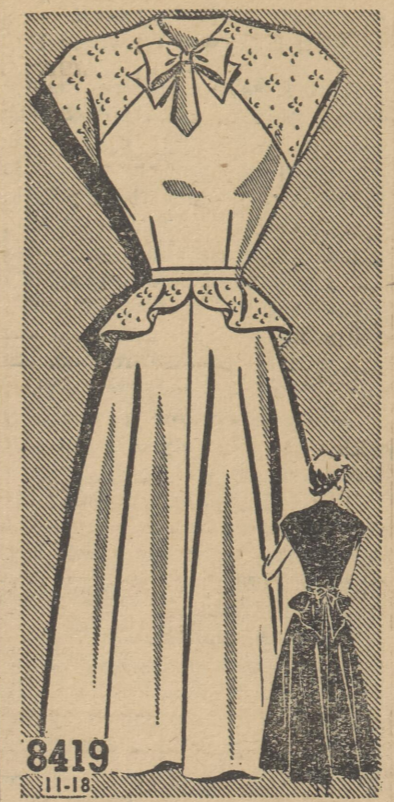

Many of the pressure pans can be used for processing fruit and vegetables for canning. Follow directions.

Soups and chowders which require lengthy cooking time are easily prepared when cooked under pressure. Their flavors, as well as nutrients are saved because they do not escape in the steam.

When fresh fruits are cooked under pressure, the cooker should be cooled very quickly under the cold water faucet.

Steamed breads such as brown bread or Boston brown bread are easily prepared in a pressure pan. The dough is placed in a buttered pan or mold and set on the rack with water.

We attended the $25.00-per-plate Jackson-Jefferson Dinner in Wilmington Saturday night. While the dinner was excellent, we've eaten $24.00 dinners that were just as good.

United States Senator John Williams declares the books of the Commodity Credit Corporation are off balance by $350,000,000. His statement should not be brushed aside, for he may know what he's talking about—he's an authority on off-balance situations—and utterances.

The solution of the Delaware budget question is quite simple—so simple that we wonder why some intelligent person didn't think of it before we did. It may sound like a nut idea, but it will work. Inasmuch as the state realizes an enormous amount of revenue from the racing events each year, why not have racing every day of the year, winter and summer, with the exception of Sundays? So "hypped" are the people of this state on racing, they'll go out even in zero weather, to watch the hoes. Who called Andrew Mellon the greatest secretary of the treasury since Alexander Hamilton?

WHAT IS REASONABLE—AND WHEN EVENTUALLY?

The phrase "Reasonable return on reasonable value" of property, in the rent bill before congress, is more than vague. What is a reasonable return and will impartial authorities decide what is a reasonable return?

It's like the statement of the National Association of Manufacturers when that outfit urged the killing of price control: "Drop control and prices will get back to normal—eventually!" When is eventually? It hasn't arrived yet. The coiners of that sophistry allowed themselves a lot of latitude, for they have all the years of the earth's existence to make that promise good.

WHY ONE TERM?

A bill to prohibit a governor of Delaware from serving two consecutive terms is to be introduced in the legislature, if some people have their way, which is an indication that they're afraid Governor Carvel can be elected again four years from now. It was all right for favorite son-in-law Buck and Walter Bacon to serve two consecutive terms—but Democrats should be elected only once.

Grant wanted to be president three times—and so did Teddy Roosevelt—but they couldn't make it. Franklin D. came along and succeeded in being elected four times and this brought about the barring of a man for a third term.

We see no reason why a man should be limited to one term in any office. Admittedly, the ablest of men are green when they tackle new offices, and it takes considerable time for them to familiarize themselves with the duties of the office. All over the country snipers are taking pot shots at the inefficiency of the office-holders and we may attribute this so-called inefficiency to the custom of limiting an official to one or two terms.

Business, they say, is more efficient than the government in conducting business. This may be due to the fact that when a business organization finds a good man, it keeps him for years—probably for a life-time. Government can profit by following this example. We believe that any person now holding office in Kent County, in Delaware, in the United States would make a more competent official if elected time after time—as long as he tries to discharge the duties of the office.

TOO MANY ORGANIZATIONS?

It has been said of Harrington, as it has been said of all other towns: "We have too many organizations in this town."

One does find it impossible to keep up with the activities of the various organizations, and a week with twenty nights would not make it possible to attend all the meetings—but what would this town—or any other town—accomplish without the clubs, lodges, church organizations, auxiliaries, chambers of commerce, etc.?

We don't care much for the professional "jiner," who joins everything in sight for business and social advantages, nor do we care for the mythical "Hallelujah" Williams, who boasted that he had joined every organization on earth and had been kicked out of more than he had joined.

Just the same, without our organizations, there would be but little money raised for the Red Cross, for the fight on infantile paralysis, cancer, tuberculosis and other scourges. There would be no Boy Scout troop in your town. There wouldn't be much of anything while, for only by organization can people learn to work together.

There's a pre-Civil War story to illustrate our point. A colored coachman was taking a man to the station. The coachman was highly skilled in the use of his long whip. He could split a horse fly in half at every attempt and cut weeds down twenty feet away. Finally the coach passed not far from a hornet's nest and the passenger, in jesting mood, asked the coachman if he could cut it down with his whip. "No, suh," shuddered the coachman, "them boys is organized."

SAFETY CONTEST LISTS MARCH JOB-OF-THE-MONTH

Rural folks in Delaware who are taking part in the Farm Safety Contest will find that their April "safety job of the month" is to inspect and repair the hay rack.

According to William Calvert, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware, old hay racks that are in need of repair cause many injuries during the haying season. He recommends that farmers repair or replace loose, rotted boards in the hay rack; that they inspect and repair ladder rungs, pulleys and ropes, and that they provide a safe place to keep forks. He mentions also that rubber soled shoes will help prevent falls from slippery hay wagons and ladders.

This is the third month that the state-wide contest has been underway, and it will continue through next October. Sponsored by the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service and the Delaware Safety Council, its purpose is to reduce accident hazards around the farm and home, by encouraging farm people to remove the danger spots. Safety chairman in home demonstration and 4-H clubs and other organized farm groups are keeping records of inspections made and hazards removed by club members.

Final winners in the contest will be determined on the percentage of club members participating, total number of hazards removed, and a report of the club's activities in spreading safety information.

When Darning at Night
If you have to do your darning at night, get into the habit of mending the socks over a lighted flashlight. This will relieve some of the strain on your eyes.

Hunter's Precaution
Never climb a tree or a fence with a loaded gun.

Where Tall Corn Grows
There are more telephones per capita on Iowa farms than anywhere else in the world. Iowa's 933 towns and cities are electrified. More than 160,000 farmers, or 80 per cent of all Iowa farmers, have electrification, while 99.9 per cent of the urban population of Iowa has electrical service available. There are 16 independent power companies operating in Iowa, which serve more than 90 per cent of the urban population. In the smaller communities there are 85 municipally owned electric plants and 53 co-operatives serving the rural parts of Iowa, as part of the R.E.A.

Uruguay's Economy
The economy of Uruguay is based on cattle and sheep raising. This country supplies 15 to 18 per cent of the world's exports in these fields.

New Head Lettuce
A new variety of head lettuce which is resistant to tipburn has been developed by scientists of the U. S. department of agriculture and the New Jersey experiment station.

Tungsten Carbide
Before the war, says a Twentieth Century Fund survey, cartel agreements increased the price of tungsten carbide, an alloy of diamond-like hardness used on the cutting edges of high-speed machine tools, 800 per cent over the prevailing price in the United States market in 1927. Its market value was 1.5 times the value of gold.

DIAMOND STATE TELEPHONE COMPANY The Diamond State Telephone Company is now spending approximately $100,000 to provide additional cable facilities between Dover and Seaford, passing through Harrington, it was announced by Theodore W. Collins, local manager.

Approximately $20,000 of this sum will be spent in the Harrington exchange area, Mr. Collins said.

The new cable line will not only provide additional toll facilities but will also be available for local subscriber lines in many places. This means, the manager said, that new lines will be available to connect subscribers with the central office in the eastern end of the Harrington exchange area and up and down the main highway.

It is expected the entire project will be completed in July, Mr. Collins said, but it is hoped that sufficient of the work will be completed in late May or June so that additional toll and long distance circuits can be made available between Harrington and Dover.

These new circuits, he added, will improve virtually all long distance service here, as practically all such calls are routed by way of Dover.

LEADER TRAINING SCHOOL

A total of sixteen Home Demonstration Clubs of Kent County were represented at the Leader Training School on Tuesday, March 29 held in the Chestnut Grove Community Hall according to Mrs. Violet N. Funds for the drive, known as Ingathering, will help support a system of 167 medical institutions and 290 colleges and secondary schools, and other projects being carried out by missionary doctors, nurses, teachers, and ministers located in 226 countries, the pastor said.

Many of the medical and educa-

ional institutions are located in areas otherwise beyond the reach of civilization, he said. "Among the scores of projects to be carried out are: equipping of the surgery department of a sanitarium-hospital in Rio de Janeiro; supplying of medicine to be dispensed by a mission motor launch fleet to natives living along the Amazon River; and enlargement of an African leper colony."

The ingathering goal for the local church has been set at $921.20. The over all goal for the drive is two and a half million dollars.

Dr. P. N. Biggers, D. D. S., will be chairman of the Ingathering campaign for 1949.

Seventh Day Adventist

Seventh-day Adventist will launch a drive for funds to carry on their world wide humanitarian work, April 2, it was announced today by Elder Vernon Rees, pastor of the local Seventh-day Adventist Church.

This will mark the 41st, consecutive year that Adventists have conducted a house to house solicitation campaign for contributions to aid medical, education and missionary projects in all parts of the world.

Funds for the drive, known as Ingathering, will help support a system of 167 medical institutions and 290 colleges and secondary schools, and other projects being carried out by missionary doctors, nurses, teachers, and ministers located in 226 countries, the pastor said.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Remember How We Talked?

It went like this at the Hooper's the other night. Hap's eighteen-year-old daughter is talking about "a real gone guy—solid—out of this world, but def."

"Now what kind of language is that?" Hap barks. "Can't she speak English?"

"I'll translate it for you," Ma Hooper says, "in the language of the twenties, when you were about twenty years old. She simply means this fellow is the 'cat's whiskers.' Remember how we used to talk sometimes?" Hap went back to reading his newspaper.

From where I sit, it's easy to criticize the other person when we don't take a good long look at ourselves. Sure, there'll always be some differences. I'm fond of a temperate glass of beer and maybe you would prefer ginger ale—but let's just live and let live. Because when we go out of our way to find things to find fault with in others, chances are they can find a few in us, too.

Joe Marsh

Frederica

Last Thursday, Mrs. Gerow, as chairman of the local Cancer Drive, was present at the Dover luncheon given for the solicitors.

The same evening she attended the University of Delaware Band Concert at that city.

Mrs. Gerow urges the community to respond freely to the worthwhile cause.

Tomorrow evening (Friday), the W. S. C. S. holds its regular monthly meeting. Although the covered dish supper has been postponed, it is desired that the members make a good attendance record.

Mrs. Virginia Tatman, Mrs. Pearl Schrick, Mrs. Frieda Wilcutts, Mrs. Ella Betts and Mrs. Annie Clendaniel represented the local Auxiliary at the Kent County Auxiliary meeting, held in Cheswold, last week.

Robert Morris, of near Newark was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Clittoy Gross.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morris, Jr. and brother, Paul, were dinner guests of the Gross's.

Tuesday, Arthur Melvin, Jr., Denton, was the visitor of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Melvin, Sr.

Postmaster Zora B. Tatman and family were Wilmington visitors on Sunday.

Mrs. Joseph C. Gerow attended the bridge luncheon given by Mrs. Mildred Adkins and Mrs. Irene Wilson, in Milford. Six tables were at play.

In dual fashion the shroud of bereavement visited this community last week, when in reality only one person passed away here.

Mrs. Etta Smithers died at the Palmer Home, Dover, after a comparatively sudden illness and confinement. Although Mrs. Smithers had been a member of the Palmer Home family for several years, prior to that she had been a life long resident of this community.

Before advanced years demanded that she relinquish her church interests, its activities were considerably vitalized by her efforts.

For many years she was the alto singer at Trinity Methodist, and for as many years she was a Sunday School teacher. When the contemporarily termed "old-fashioned class meeting" was as much a part of the church as the mid-week prayer service.

Mrs. Smithers' personal testimony and prayers were superiorly reverent. She was a faithful steward of all the church organizations, and she husbanded the Christian Fellowship to its finer expressions. Her alto voice was deep with rich emotion and filled with tender feeling.

As a young woman, Mrs. Smithers attended Darlington Seminary, Pa., while other town ladies were students.

She was known and loved by the community as an active Methodist throughout her life.

Each summer she spent one or more months at Ocean Grove, N. J., and daily attended the convention meetings.

The deceased was the widow of the late Caleb Smithers, a prominent, retired merchant, the father of Mrs. Lester L. Carlisle, Sr.

Mrs. Smithers leaves several nieces and other relatives, her father, J. Sipple, a sister and brother are deceased.

Vivden P. Ashmead, 72 years, a retired druggist, passed away at his home here on Wednesday of last week. The deceased had been in poor health when he, with his wife, Mrs. Mary Ashmead, and sister, Miss Emma Ashmead moved to the community 19 years ago.

Mr. Ashmead, a graduate pharmacist, had carried on the family tradition in conducting a Philadelphia drug store. His mother was a prominent druggist in that city.

The deceased had been seriously ill for more than a year, and even though impaired health had been his burden since he first knew this town, he walked to the Post Office, shopped in the stores and visited as he walked. He was intelligent and courteous and gained the admiration of the youth and the respect of the aged.

This, then, is a tribute to the deceased, for one who comes to small community in his retirement, and fits into it with easy acclimation, is truly a gentleman. Mrs. Ashmead was a devoted wife and helpmate and she, too, is admired.

Mrs. Ethel P. B. Leach, artist, is a relative.

Funeral services were held from the Bery Funeral Home, Milford, Saturday, at eleven o'clock in the morning. Interment was at Barratt's Chapel Cemetery.

COUNTY AGENT OUTLINES
 DETAILS ON 1949 COUNTY
 EXTENSION PROGRAM

The Kent County 1949 Program of Extension Work is putting into gear a broad plan of educational activities for the people in this section of the state.

In announcing details of this current year's educational plans, County Agent William E. Tarbell points out that it is a continuation of a long-time program of helping people to help themselves.

Taken as a whole the extension program for 1949, is a fourfold one, Mr. Tarbell said. It is designed to meet the needs of the agricultural producers, of homemakers, of youths and to aid with community problems and situations.

The program provides for new projects and the continuation of several projects which have been under way for one year or more.

Among these are the projects in poultry improvement dealing with factors influencing mortality in broilers and egg producing flocks, proper feeding, remodeling of old and construction of new buildings and for general assistance along other lines for poultrymen. Cooperation with the County Local of the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association will be continued as in past years.

Dairy, herd improvement work will follow along the lines of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association and the county unit of the Delaware Artificial Breeders' Cooperative. Dairy schools on feeding and management will be continued as well as a dairy cattle breeding school.

Fruit and vegetable projects will cover insect and disease control, development of adequate fertilizing programs, the use of new chemicals in weed control, and demonstrations of production equipment for vegetables will also be conducted. A program for the improvement of pastures throughout the county will be conducted under the title of "Grow Laido Clover." Soil analysis to assist the farmers in determining the proper and adequate amounts of fertilizer and lime to use will be carried on as usual.

The County Agent with the assistance of the Extension Farm Engineer will help farmers and homemakers with remodeling and construction plans for farm and home buildings.

In the homemakers' field, the extension studies this year bring information on budgets and family spending, according to Mrs. Violet N. Goodwill, Home Demonstration Agent, clothes for little boys and girls, quick breads, modern use of sewing machines, home storage problems, how to be well dressed all the time, pastries and pie fillings, and holiday refreshments incorporated in home demonstration club programs. Included in the 1949 schedule are such project schools as etching on metal, slip covers, leather gloves, footstools of reed and Hongkong, and cooking.

Homemakers' programs at Farmers' Week, Short Course at the University of Delaware, State Home Demonstration Meeting during National Home Demonstration Week, and an Officer's Training School will highlight the program.

Major attention also is being paid to Kent County's youth, Miss Margaret Webb, 4-H Club Agent said. She stressed that the extension program in the fields of 4-H club work and with older youths always has been one to receive major attention. This branch of the extension work will receive greater emphasis in 1949.

Among the points in the county program dealing with youth work, Miss Webb cited the following as being of most importance.

Developing leadership is one of greatest importance in the 4-H club program. Boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21 may belong to a 4-H Club in their community. Each member carries one or more projects during the year and must complete at least one project to receive credit for a year's club work. It is the members responsibility to care for a dairy animal, pig, chicken, rabbits, bees, or raise a garden or crop, such as tomatoes, corn beans, etc.

Some members do a project in better methods, finding better ways of doing the job, or keeping a record of all expenses and income. Clothing and foods projects are popular with the girls, with frozen foods becoming more popular each day. Canning records are still kept.

Beautifying the home is done through yard improvement projects and room improvement records. Safety and health projects are carried by both boys and girls interested in better living.

The theme, "Better Living for a Better World" for the 1949 Club program is advanced not only through project work, but also through special activities. Some of the activities are: dairy judging schools, clothing schools, Leaders' Training Meetings, County Dairy Show, Achievement Program, Community Shows, room improvement tour and luncheon, Parent's Night, picnics, and annual banquets.

Members will also participate in the State and National activities such as: Short Course, 4-H Club Camp, Achievement Day, Kent and Sussex Fair 4-H Exhibits, Judging Contest, and Livestock Shows, National 4-H Club Week, 4-H Club Sunday, National 4-H Camp, Safety Week, and National Club Congress.

A club is not complete unless it is under the leadership of two adults or older youth. There is an urgent need for more adult leadership in many communities.

AMERICA'S FINEST MEN
 Choose U.S. Army Careers!

Here's why 191,910 civilians selected Army careers — why 75,082 soldiers re-enlisted — in 1948

- 1 Unlimited advancement. A new system of rewards and promotions based on your initiative and ability.
- 2 Free technical training. The Army maintains the world's greatest schooling system, with over 200 courses.
- 3 Regular promotions, better pay. You can qualify for automatic advances in the lower grades and world-wide pooling of top grade vacancies means a more certain future in the career Army.
- 4 Liberal retirement benefits. Twenty years' service means optional retirement at ½ pay — 30 years' at ¾ pay. And 30 days paid vacation every year!
- 5 Exciting travel and adventure. Peace-time overseas duty among age-old cultures in colorful and historic lands.
- 6 Sports and recreation. Benefit from the Army's splendid conditioning program and the Army's emphasis on team competition.
- 7 A proud profession. A great esprit de corps, a hearty pride and loyalty, characterize the soldiers of today's Army.

NOW! The Highest Standards in Army History!

To win a place in America's new career Army, you must "have what it takes." Call today and find out your chances.

Tax Hurts 'Big Boys'

WHAT about the tax picture insofar as this 81st congress is concerned? This reporter has attempted to get an overall picture of what is likely to happen, and if we are any judge, President Truman's call for a tax increase is not going to hurt average individual taxpayers and neither will it hurt small business men in the Home Towns of the country.

The Big Boys, of course, will be hurt if the administration tax measure goes through, with emphasis on corporate taxes, and some media are telling the country that business will be "penalized" by the administration tax proposals. The facts are that the tax on the first $250,000 of net income will show a substantial reduction under the President's program and the corporate tax increase will not show until the first million dollars of net income is reached in the income bracket.

For instance, the present tax on corporations provides that a corporate net income of $10,000 pays approximately $2,100 in taxes. Under the Truman proposal this business corporation would pay $1,000. The corporation with a $50,000 net income now pays $19,000 while under the administration proposal the tax would be $12,000; a $80,000 net corporation income now pays $22,800 while the proposed rate would cut it to $15,500; a $100,000 corporate net income now pays $38,000 and the new rate would cut it to $29,500; $200,000 now pays $76,000 and the Truman bill would slash that to $64,500; the $250,000 income now pays $95,000 and the Truman bill would cut that to $82,000; the $500,000 corporate net income now pays $190,000 and Mr. Truman's proposal would cut it to $132,000. But, the million dollar net income which now pays $380,000 would pay about $382,000 in taxes and the two million dollar net income which now pays $760,000 would pay $832,000.

This measure is now before the house ways and means committee of which Representative Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina is chairman.

Stability or Socialism

Democratic leaders maintain that the economic stability act of 1949 which gives the President far-reaching powers is a "logical continuation of the economic achievement started by the Democratic party in 1933." The Democrats claim their leadership built the country up from 1933 to its present high-level economy and the stability act is to protect and insure "our economic good health now that we have won it back." Republicans maintain, however, that the bill is shot through with socialism and power no President should have in peace time.

Observe Centennial

The department of the interior is this month celebrating its centennial. It was in March, 1849, that President James K. Polk signed the Vinton bill creating the department with one secretary and one assistant. Today, a century later, the department has 50,000 employees and operates from the Arctic circle to Puerto Rico and from Maine to the South Pacific.

Its far-flung jurisdiction embraces the welfare of two million people in America's territories and insular possessions and the guardianship of more than 400,000 American Indians and 30,000 Alaskan natives. It is responsible for the management of more than 750 million acres of public lands, promotion of safety, conservation and development of the nation's mines, protection of the fish and wildlife, administration of 21.5 million acres of public parks and playgrounds, development of western river basin resources including great irrigation and hydro-electric projects.

It has charge of water and mineral investigations, map-making under the geological survey, operates a railroad in Alaska, and is the largest single producer and distributor of electric power through its various hydro-electric power projects.

Favor Little People

It is obvious at this juncture of the congressional session that the administration is aiming its legislation on all fronts to favor the little people who live on Main Street in America. The election brought home the fact that most of America lives on Main Street or trades on Main Street in the Home Towns of this country and it is a political axiom that no one gets hurt badly if he stays on the side of the greatest good for the greatest number.

Connally Unhappy

It was apparent that tall, white-haired Tom Connally of Texas was not happy in breaking with the administration to join with his southern colleagues in the filibuster against the senate rule changes which would permit the administration's civil rights program to get to the floor of the senate for a vote. A veteran of the senate, sixth ranking member in point of service since 1929, the Texan plainly was not at his best when he took the floor as a part of the filibuster.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Senate Debate-Curb Row Renewed; Rent Curb Bill Favors 'Home Rule'; Pit Walkout Slims Coal Stockpile

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.

FILIBUSTER:

Truce Called

The long, weary talkathon in the U. S. senate was over — but the battle over the proposed curb on senate debate was by no means at an end.

A compromise had been effected with the aid of GOP support, but the administration was committed to oppose the peace formula which had been adopted.

THE FILIBUSTER had continued 15 days over a proposed change in senate rules. There was no doubt that southern senators, who led the talkathon, had emerged victorious. The talkfest was staged to delay President Truman's civil rights bill, and it had done just that.

The provisions of the peace formula were:

- 1. Unlimited debate in the senate would be permitted only upon a motion to take up a rules change.
2. Debate on all other matters could be curbed by the "yes" vote of 64 of the chamber's 96 members.
Majority leader Scott Lucas (D., Ill.) attacked the compromise proposal as a "move to perpetuate the filibuster."

"Of course I'll oppose it," he told newsmen. "It's an effort to take the senate back 40 years."

MEANWHILE Truman Democrats were reported launching a new parliamentary move to clamp down on debate. The senate already had overturned a ruling by Vice President Barkley that discussion to take up the proposed rule change could be ended if two-thirds of those voting desired. The vote over-ruling Barkley was 46 to 41. Administration leaders hoped to find some way to another ruling and, if they could change as many as three votes, a Barkley ruling could be sustained.

Mr. Truman had proved he could win the presidency without support of the South, but it appeared it would be difficult to put through a legislative program without support of southern senators.

JOHN L. LEWIS:

Herald of Spring

To coal miners and coal-using industrialists of the nation the infallible sign of spring is neither the robin nor crocus—it is John L. Lewis' annual call for the miners to leave the pits.

LEWIS CALLED, and the miners heeded and obeyed. More than 400,000 miners began a two-week lay-off, ordered, Lewis said, as a memorial to miners killed and injured last year.

Skeptics were caustic. They saw another, more understandable reason for the work stoppage. The nation's huge stockpile of coal, some 70 million tons, was looming too large in the Lewis eye. Unless this stockpile were materially decreased soon, the president of the United Mine Workers would be in a less tenable bargaining position later on.

Another reason advanced for the layoff was miners' opposition to the appointment by President Truman of Dr. James Boyd as head of the U. S. bureau of mines. Advocates of this idea suggested Lewis' move was intended to intimidate a senate committee considering Boyd's appointment.

IF THAT WERE TRUE, the attempt was a dismal failure. On the second day of the walkout, the senate committee approved Boyd's appointment by a vote of 10 to 1—admittedly to show Lewis that its members would not be intimidated.

But the U. S. couldn't shrug off the Lewis move. Already 11 railroads had ordered 57,425 workers furloughed. Coal is a vital freight item for these roads. The payroll loss to the railroads alone would be at least five million dollars for the two weeks of idleness.

THE MINERS themselves stood to lose at least 68 million dollars in wages. In two states steps were taken to file unemployment compensation claims to take up the slack. But there was a big question whether the states would approve the claims, because so many states do not approve claims where loss of employment is caused by action of the claimant, himself—such as might be ruled to be the case in the voluntary walkout of the miners.

Meanwhile most miners' families prepared for a slim Easter. There would be little money to buy new bonnets or dresses.

"BIOLOGICAL WARFARE" BUGABOO

Germ as Weapons Potent but Exaggerated

James Forrestal, retiring secretary of defense, has broken an official three-year military silence on the use or discussion of the term "biological warfare" and in a formal statement characterized much that has been written about the potency of germ weapons as "exaggerated, fantastic or unduly speculative."

ENGLAND:

Medical Mecca

England was a medical Mecca. The ministry of health had ruled that foreigners visiting Britain are entitled to all the free services of the national health service. Doctors, however, didn't like the idea and were seeking to eliminate foreigners from eligibility.

The word had spread. Persons from the French channel coast area were making day trips to southern England for treatment.

Bottoms Up!

Attorney Carl J. Stephens of the Iowa farm bureau takes a swig of hog cholera virus in house of representatives in attempt to show virus was not dangerous to humans. A veterinarian declared Stephens, after drinking the virus, might be a cholera carrier for at least 19 days.

RENT CONTROL:

Home Rule Favored

The administration's legislative program was bogging down at every turn in congress.

Rent controls, vital to millions of Americans, were being prolonged, but not along lines desired by President Truman and his advisers.

THE HOUSE had passed a rent control measure, but fixed extension of 15 months, instead of the 24 the administration wanted, and provided for home-rule application, a factor opposed by the administration.

If the senate accepted this version of a rent control act, it would be well for all concerned in the nation to begin ascertaining views of their local rent control boards, for that's where authority to relax or continue rent controls would rest.

The bill, passed by a vote of 261 to 153 is now in the hands of the senate for action and administration forces are reported ready to renew their fight for more adequate rent curbs there. Action on a senate version of rent controls had been blocked by the filibuster.

CONCERNING local-option authority to do away with rent controls, Tighe Wood, federal rent administrator, expressed the opinion it might not work out too badly. He went as far as to say that "I would be willing to bet that 90 percent of the 1,100 counties where we have rent control will not lift rent control under this amendment."

Many Americans would wonder about that, and hope the housing chief was correct in his views. If he were wrong, and the senate enacted the house bill as drawn, a grave housing emergency might be created overnight.

Wood, however, saw two essentials lacking in the house bill. He termed these as criminal penalties for landlords overcharging on rent, and authority to recontrol apartments in residential hotels.

STAFF OF LIFE:

Cost Probe Due

The housewife who had read that the price of wheat and flour had gone down, but who found bread prices remaining up, had company if she had begun to puzzle about the paradox.

The senate of the United States was becoming interested, too, in this situation. And, a broad senate investigation into prices of bread—along with other things—was "ready to go," according to Senator Maybank (D., S.C.).

AS CHAIRMAN of the senate banking committee, he called on government agencies for latest data on prices—especially the spread between prices consumers pay and those farmers get for their products.

The chairman said the price investigation wants to know: Why are bread prices at their level in view of the wheat and flour price drops?

Why hasn't lard, soap and shortening prices fallen off more? American housewives also would like to have answers to those questions.

RED TARGETS:

America First?

If Russia decided to launch a war of aggression, where would the Soviets strike first?

The Kiplinger magazine has published a thought-provoking article on the subject.

Entitled "Where Would Russia Strike?" the article draws these conclusions:

THE UNITED STATES would be the first target of the attacker, for an enemy could not afford to let the United States build up its tremendous war power after shooting starts, as was done in the last war. The initial attack would come by air, probably at night, on a whole-scale scale, on many cities and centers within the single night.

This attack most surely would be by atomic bomb. Russia would not attack the continental United States without it. At present the bomb is believed to be a U. S. monopoly, but probably won't stay that way.

Two kinds of targets in this country would be attacked simultaneously by the Russians. First, the air bases from which we might launch retaliatory attacks against the Russians. Second, the places crucial to U. S. production and mobilization.

ANY FUTURE WAR probably can be won by the nation that strikes a heavy blow first. The United States, being a democracy, is traditionally averse to striking first. This conflict between tradition and the hard facts of future war might have to be resolved in due course by our national leaders. The article lists the following target areas which would be given high priority by the Russians:

Augusta, Me.—site of a B-36 base; Rapid City, S. D.—another B-36 base; New York City—seven A-bombs could wreck whole port area; Washington, D.C.—one bomb could demolish Pentagon, nation's military nerve center; Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.—demolition of canal would impose tremendous extra burden on nation's railways; Detroit—because of war conversion potential great automobile plants would be targets; Chicago; Hartford, Wash.; Los Alamos, N. M.—atomic weapons centers; Oak Ridge, Tenn.—sprawling atomic energy plants here would be certain target; eastern seaport cities—for obvious reasons.

Safety First

Martin Larson, 41, truck driver of St. Paul, Minn., has been named the trucking industry's "driver of the year." Larson was chosen because of an 18-year record of driving without an accident, combined with rescue of a motorist planned in an overturned car in below-zero weather.

BEST DRESSED:

Among The Century

Had you the intangible faculty of "ability to wear gaily-hued clothes, plus knowledge of how to get the most out of money spent on clothing," you might have wound up among the "ten best dressed men in America" as announced by the Custom Tailors Guild of America, Inc.

HOWEVER, the field was somewhat narrowed so there was really no cause for widespread anguish or concern. After all, the tailors couldn't include everyone. At any rate, here are the "10 best dressed men in America" in 10 special fields of endeavor:

Government — Dean Acheson, secretary of state; sports — Lou Boudreau, shortstop — manager, Cleveland Indians; comedy — Morey Amsterdam; society — Charles A. Munn, Sr.; screen — Clark Gable music — Elliott Lawrence, orchestra leader; education — Harold E. Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania; radio — Richard Kollmar, actor; theatre — Ray Bolger, and business — Lawrence C. Gumbinner, advertising agency head.

IT WAS NOTED in passing that another front-runner, Mr. Harry S. Truman, was barely nosed out by Dean Acheson. It seems Secretary Acheson's nomination was based on his "perfect choice of clothes to reflect his aggressiveness and poise."

However, there was a crumb for Mr. Truman. He was second best.

Crime Record Up

J. Edgar Hoover, federal bureau of investigation chief, reported there were about three times as many major crimes last year as there were minutes.

In a report on the nation's 1948 crime record, he estimated there were one million, 686,670 major law violations — "a serious crime for every 18.7 seconds." The total was 1.3 per cent greater than that of 1947.

'DOG TAGS':

For Civilians

American citizens living in Germany and Austria would soon have G.I. "dog tags" to wear, according to an announcement by the U. S. army.

The army said it would issue the soldier-type identification tags, but added civilians would not "actually have to wear them" under present regulations. The announcement said tags also will be issued to wives.

SEEKS PERFECTION

Wright Plans New Theater

HARTFORD, CONN.—A theatre where every gesture and tone of voice of the actors on stage can be seen or heard by every member of the audience. . . . A theatre where there are no "bad" seats. . . . A theatre, which in the opinion of its designer, Frank Lloyd Wright, will be so restful that it will be a pleasure just to sit in it.

This is the theatre, that if all goes well, will be built here in Hartford, a city that has made enough money from its insurance and arms manufacturing businesses to afford such community enterprises. At a Hartford club luncheon this week, Wright told leading townspeople and visiting theatrical lights what the proposed building would do for them and for culture in general.

Gray But Sprightly

The Wisconsin born architect, gray but still sprightly at 79, declared that the legitimate theatre, unless it mended its ways, was not long for this world. But with playhouses such as the one proposed for Hartford scattered about the country, he went on, the stage would be given the intimacy and excitement that it now so sorely needs.

"We want to have the kind of a theatre that can belong to a community, not simply be imposed on it," he declared.

The Hartford venture, to be called the New theatre, has been commissioned by Paton Price, director for the last two years of the Canton summer theatre near Hartford, and two associates. Price plans to organize a professional resident company for the new playhouse, offering both winter and summer seasons.

As illustrated by a scale model Wright brought with him from Texas is the proposed theatre will be built on simple functional lines. The eight-sided main auditorium will seat the audience on a gradual downward slope, with the slightly raised stage at the bottom. There will be no balcony and no posts.

The stage itself will be circular, with the inner portion revolving for quick scene changes.

Viewers Enthused

Theatrical people who viewed the model were enthusiastic. Cornelia Otis Skinner, declaring that the road had been dying partly because of a lack of suitable theatres, said, "All of us are going to be keen to play in the new theatre here."

Two possible obstacles were seen by some theatre spokesmen, however. The circular stage would make different type of sets necessary, a drawback for touring companies. And the proposed seating capacity, which Wright wants to hold to about 750 to insure the "intimacy" of atmosphere he is striving for, might not be enough to attract top flight road shows.

Wright contended, however, that the smaller seating capacity—about 500 less than most Broadway playhouses—would be compensated for by simpler scenery arrangements which would require less expensive equipment and personnel.

Elderly Miner Rescued

After 10 Hours in Shaft

SHAMOKIN, PA.—A 62-year-old miner was rescued after he had been trapped for almost 10 hours by a cave-in at the bottom of a 20 foot anthracite mine shaft.

Efforts of the rescue workers were rewarded after a day-long series of trials as new coal falls threatened to take the life of Alexander Pochekilo before they could clear away the first coal slide.

The man was buried upright by a slide of coal and dirt while he and his son, Joseph, 22, worked in their independent mine at near-by Sagon. Joseph, trapped to his waist, was freed within an hour. Chinks in the coal allowed air to reach the father. To prevent further slides, the rescuers built a fence of timbers around him. Then, scooping the dirt in a five-gallon bucket and pulling it to the surface with a winch, they freed him. He was brought up with a rope.

Expert Says Man Must Turn

More to Ocean for His Food

AUCKLAND, N. Z.—Man must turn more to the ocean for food to survive, Dr. J. L. Kask of the United Nations food and agriculture organization told the Pacific Science Congress.

"The ocean is man's next frontier—it may be his last," the speaker told the congress, holding his first session here since the war.

He said that the Pacific Ocean, which covers more than one-third of the world's surface supplies less than half the world's fish supplies.

There was sufficient evidence of untouched stocks of fish to warrant the United States government in appropriating a million dollars this year to investigate the fisheries of the Central Pacific, Dr. Kask said.

Most fishing has been done in relatively shallow waters, the speaker explained. Echo sounders found huge schools of edible fish at considerable depths. He urged wise exploitation of fishery resources and elimination of wasteful, cutthroat competition.

Counterfeiting Becomes

Practice of Racketeers

WASHINGTON.—Racketeers are turning to counterfeiting because wartime "get-rich-quick" schemes have played out, U. E. Baughman, chief of the secret service has reported. The switchover was cited as a reason why merchants, banks and other victims got stuck with $190, 133 in counterfeit money in 1948, as compared with $84,712 the year before.

Supercarrier

Named 'United States'

WASHINGTON.—President Truman has approved the name U. S. S. United States for the Navy's giant aircraft "super carrier," which is to be 1,090 feet long.

The name is considered an especially honored one, having been used for only one other combat ship in the history of the Navy. The first was a frigate launched on May 10, 1797, and named the United States by President George Washington.

The keel of the new United States will be laid at Newport News, Va., according to the latest Navy estimate. It is expected that it will cost about 152 million dollars.

In revealing the choice of names, the White House said the "super-carrier" would be equipped with "the most advanced armament of her time," and the "latest type carrier planes available" would fly from her deck.

Steady Decline Seen

In Number of Persons Reported as Missing

NEW YORK.—The post-war years have seen a steady decline in the number of persons reported missing to the police, acting Capt. John J. Cronin, in charge of the missing persons bureau, said in his 1948 report to Chief of Detectives George P. Mitchell.

The bureau handled 23,516 cases of all types last year. Of these, 15,196 were hospital cases involving victims of amnesia, amnesia, fainting spells and other temporary ailments, all of which were cleaned up, Captain Cronin said. The overall total in 1947 was 27,158.

The number of adults and children reported missing from home was 6,317 as compared with 7,076 in 1947, a drop of 759. Of this total, 433 were boys and 316 girls, with the average age of the juveniles 15 years.

The youngsters eventually picked up by the police and interviewed by the juvenile aid bureau of the police department offered a variety of reasons for leaving home. Some said they skipped because they just "didn't like school," others, that they had an unhappy home life. More adventurous spirits had "a desire to see the world."

Where investigation by juvenile aid bureau discloses objectionable home environment and mistreatment of the children, the cases are docketed for the children's court and whenever possible better homes are found for them. The bureau's report shows that a number of internationally-publicized cases involving well-known figures of a decade or more ago are still being kept "open." These cases are carried because it is a rule of the bureau that until positive identification is established there is always the possibility that a person reported missing may still be alive.

New York Schools Set Up

Poolrooms for Children

NEW YORK.—Proficiency in the indoor sport of pool, which some persons used to assume was a mark of a mispent youth, now may be an indication of many fruitful hours passed in the schoolhouse long after classroom studies were over.

The board of education's division of community education, seeking to cope with the increasing problem of juvenile delinquency, has purchased 135 small-size pool tables and installed them in school community centers throughout the city for use in late afternoon and evening recreation periods.

Education officials hope this move will tend to keep boys off the streets and away from the dingy, smoke-filled commercial halls, where the sporty element is said to gather to the detriment of tomorrow's citizenry.

At the board's headquarters, 110 Livingston street, Brooklyn, Mark A. McCloskey, director of the community education division, said that a total of $5,400 was expended for the billiard tables, which "were bought centrally for economy."

He hastened to explain, however, that the funds were "non-tax money" accumulated from membership dues in the community centers. Thus, he declared, when a youngster, proud of his after-school accomplishments, speaks of "our table," his allusion is not to be taken lightly. This pride in ownership, McCloskey indicated, was an important factor in maintaining the equipment in good condition and in holding the interest of the boys.

London Sniper Has Grudge

Against Car Number '68'

LONDON.—A ghostly sniper with a grudge against streetcars numbered 68 made a no man's land of the Waterloo station-Greenwich route.

In two nights the unseen gunman put bullets through the windows of eight trams bearing the unlikable number. Trams numbered 36, 38, 70 and 74, which travel the same way, went unscathed. One passenger on a No. 68 car was cut by glass. Slugs narrowly missed several others.

B-36 Bomber Is Described

As Best A-Bomb Carrier

HOW IT STARTED

"CURFEW"—In the Middle Ages the peasants of France were required to cover or extinguish their fires at a fixed hour in the evening. A bell was rung to notify them of the time to obey the command "couvre feu"—cover the fire. The French called the bell and the time of its ringing "couvre feu" or "couver feu." . . . The Norman conquerors used it in England and the medieval English adopted it as curfew—meaning the hour and signal for all citizens to retire to their homes. Hence, "curfew," which today still is the time or signal to retire from public places.

IF ADULTS TOOK ADVICE GIVEN KIDS . . . Howya-Doon Tells How Grownups Should Behave ... THEY'D GET GOUT, RHEUMATISM, ULCERS

By H. I. PHILLIPS

HOWYA-DOON, ADULTS?

The influence of a new radio character called "Howdy-Doody" on the kiddies is the talk of the amusement world. Howdy-Doody is a puppet on the program of Bob Smith, and he has come close to taking over the American home at 5 p.m. daily. Howdy manages to work in a lot of pleas for the small fry to clean their plates, mind their health and otherwise behave themselves, and we think it might be a good idea to introduce a similar character for influencing the grownups.

Our character would be an adult puppet called "Howya-Doon," and would operate along the same pattern, as follows:

SMITH—Well here's your friend Howya-Doon, the friend of all grownups, again, folks. Golly, how nice it seems to be with you adults once more! I hope you've all been very nice adults and behaved yourselves in every way. Howya-Doon, did you clean up your plate today?

HOWYA-DOON—Aw gosh, I certainly didn't. I'm not that crazy, Mr. Smith.

SMITH—I thought not. That's fine. What happens to adults who lick their platters clean?

HOWYA-DOON—They get gout, indigestion, stomach acidity, rheumatism, double chins, heartburn and everything. Gee, their diet gets all shot to pieces. Mr. Smith, and they get fat and their clothes look awful on 'em.

SMITH—Right. So what is the proper way for grownups to behave at meals?

HOWYA-DOON—Aw, that's easy, Mr. Smith. They do just what I do, lay off any kind of food that tastes good!

SMITH—Anything that appeals to the taste, eh?

HOWYA-DOON—Sure. If it's appetizing, it's no good. All nice grownups who want their children to be proud of them will just go for carrots, beets, spinach and things like that.

SMITH—If by chance you get something on your plate that tastes swell and that isn't fattening, is it okay to eat it all?

HOWYA-DOON—Aw, no! A good little adult always carries a calory chart and makes himself pretty miserable figuring up the calories in everything he eats. I hope all you grownups do this.

SMITH—So do I, Howya. And now it's time to show the movies. We've got some wonderful ones that are right down the alley for grownups. They are from the American Medical association and show what happens to adults who enjoy eating and lead happy lives. But first, did you brush your teeth this morning?

HOWYA-DOON—Aw, sure, I took my upper and lower right out of the glass of water where I put 'em each night and gave 'em a good stiff brushing.

SMITH—And what else did you do that all good grownups should do?

HOWYA-DOON—I put my hotwater bottle and my liver pads away neatly after I got up and I made sure all the bottles in the medicine cabinet were in order.

SMITH—That's fine. And now we're going to introduce our new character Dub-a-Dab.

HOWYA-DOON—Who's Dub-a-Dab?

SMITH—He's the wonderful adult who never grunts, seems to enjoy life and ALWAYS BEHAVES SO HIS CHILDREN CAN BE PROUD OF HIM!

A Prayer for Courage

GOD make me brave for life,
Oh, braver than this!
Let me straighten after pain
As a tree straightens after the rain,
Shining and lovely again.

God make me brave for life,
Much braver than this!
As the blown grass lifts let me rise
From sorrow with quiet eyes,
Knowing Thy way is wise.

God make me brave—Life brings
Such blinding things.
Help me to keep my sight,
Help me to see aright
That out of the dark—comes light.

STAR DUST Ozzie and Harriet Switch to CBS

By INEZ GERHARD
AFTER PRACTICING fancy ice-skating figures like mad at a local rink, Harriet Nelson talked the reluctant Ozzie into taking the family to Lake Arrowhead for winter sports, so that she could show off a bit. But they arrived to find the rink there covered with ten feet of snow. That suited Ozzie, who retired to their rooms and

The FICTION Corner MR. DIGGLES ON DUTY By MARY WHITEFORD

MR. DIGGLES kept his head down as though he were studying the prescription, scarcely hearing Mrs. Tompkins' voice through the noise of blood thudding in his temples. When he tried to speak, his lips were dry and his tongue moved nervously over them. "I beg your pardon, Mrs. Tompkins, what was that you said?" "I said if you haven't a delivery boy I'll wait for the three o'clock bus, but I'm anxious to get back as soon as I can."

He looked again at Dr. Price's cramped handwriting. "Oh, I'll deliver it, Mrs. Tompkins. I'm sorry to learn Mr. Tompkins isn't well." "I told him it's just his bad disposition coming out," he told Dr. Price. "I certainly hated to drag him out in weather like this just for a stomach ache. Doctor says he'll be all right in a day or two."

Mr. Diggles took the handkerchief from the pocket of his grey alpaca coat and wiped his forehead. The moment he used to dream of years ago, was here at last. This would cost Dr. Price his practice. The pity was, Dr. Price would never know he could have saved himself, if he hadn't made it so clear that a man who mixed prescriptions wasn't supposed to know about diagnosis. Dr. Price would never know what he'd done to himself when he told Mrs. White she might as well give the twins a chocolate soda as Diggles' Own Whooping Cough Mixture. Because of Dr. Price's new ways of doing things, no one bought Diggles' Steady Rheumatism Reliever now. Shots, it was, the doctor was giving for everything. Not prescriptions.

Manslaughter, they called it. He wet his lips. Well, no one could expect Mr. Diggles to interfere with Dr. Price's prescriptions again. Not a second time.

Though it was so many years ago, he could feel the flush of anger that flooded his face remembering the day he'd called Dr. Price up, and suggested that maybe the heart medicine he ordered for Mr. Venables was too strong.

"I know what I'm doing. Just mind your own business, Diggles, and I can mind mine." He looked again at the prescription. There was no mistaking the symbol and he'd fill it as it stood. He reached for the bottle and removed the cork. Carefully, he measured out the prescribed dose.

MR. DIGGLES straightened suddenly, staring at the partly filled mortar. A feeling of nausea swept through him as he snatched it up and flung the contents into the sink. His hand, replacing the bottle on the shelf, trembled.

Outside, the wind howled and flakes of ice made a cold noise beating the window pane.

Slowly, he walked toward the telephone. After all, just as many people swore by Dr. Price as trusted Diggles.

As he waited, listening to Dr. Price's telephone bell ringing, the shop door opened. Mr. Diggles put down the receiver and went to the front. Dr. Price was on the mat, stamping the snow from his feet.

"Diggles, will you let me see the prescription Mrs. Tompkins just brought in?" "I was just trying to call you about it, Dr. Price. I felt there was some little inaccuracy."

Dr. Price nodded. "Something told me. But I wasn't really worried. I knew you'd catch a mistake if there was one. It's a great comfort to me to know that a substantial man like you is checking up on me, Diggles."

"I have to do what I can. A man has to do his duty." He smiled and stood up.

"That's right, doctor. I guess duty becomes a habit if you do it long enough." The wind screamed into the shop as Dr. Price opened the door and went out. It was a bleak, bitter day, but in Mr. Diggles' heart it was suddenly summer.

STAY YOUNG

Dancing Is His Secret

KANSAS CITY, KAS.—In this town there is a pioneer citizen who has discovered the secret of youth. "All you have to do," he says, "is put on your dancing shoes and get out among 'em."

He's Frank O. Taylor, a retired truck gardener, whose full time hobby and recreation is dancing. At 89, he spends a minimum of 16 hours a week on the dance floor, and for as long as anybody can remember he's been the dancingest man in these parts.

As a result, he says, "I'm as healthy as a kid of 16." Today, he has a twinkle in his eye and a zip in his step and has never been to a doctor in his life.

Taylor gets out among 'em at least four nights a week. He's a permanent guest at most of the regular "gay nineties" shindigs and a perennial winner of old-fashioned dancing contests.

Learns Latest Steps
But he won't be classified as a yesterday's hooper. He studies the latest steps, learns them quickly. He thinks swing music "has a good, solid beat," and says if we'd had jitterbugging in 1890 everybody would have loved it.

"That's the kind of dancing that puts you in shape," he says. "You have to have bells on your feet and oil in your joints and keep stompin' all night long to really get anywhere."

He finds two things wrong with modern dancing—musicians "who play more intermissions than music" and the tendency of young men to dance only with their own girls.

He preferred the days when a fiddle, guitar and piano pounded out the rhythm from suppertime 'til dawn and every young man made it a point to dance with every girl in the hall.

His advice to husbands is along the same line: "Take your wife out any time she asks, but do most of your dancing with somebody else's wife." That's the way they did it in his day.

Former Homesteader
Taylor arrived in this city from a homesteading venture in the west during the gay nineties, but they weren't quite gay enough for him.

So he built a house that had a big parlor with a polished hardwood floor and began to invite residents out for square dances after the mid-night curfew closed the halls in the city.

"We'd push back the furniture and roll back the rugs and have sets of squares just a-flyin' all night long," he remembers.

After the death of his wife in 1930, Frank stopped dancing for about a year. Then he got back into the swing more than ever. "I've been busy ever since," he says, "and I've never been happier than I am right today."

He works in a small garden in the mornings, then spends most of the late afternoon getting ready for that night's party. When most men his age are taking their last snooze in the sun before dinner, Frank's already on the phone lining up a dancing date with some slick chick of 65.

Duck Takes His First Swim

LITTLE FERRY, N. J.—A duck named "Dopey," which meets its young mistress at the bus, finally has taken its first swim in four years.

Miss Diane Zimmerman has been trying ever since she acquired Dopey as a duckling to interest him in the water.

Dopey demurred. But the reluctant duck finally flew through an open window, and, when found, apparently had overcome his fear of the water. He was riding serenely in Willow lake.

It took an hour to coax him out.

Mother Dies of Complications From Unattended Childbirth

STURGEON BAY, WIS.—Funeral services were held for Mrs. Myrtle Schmidt, 37-year-old divorcee, whose infant son was found buried in the yard of her home at Forestville, Wis.

Mrs. Schmidt died at a hospital of complications following the unattended birth of the boy. Her 19-year-old son and 16-year-old daughter told police they buried the baby at the insistence of their mother. The child was dead at the time, they said.

District Attorney Edward G. Minor and Coroner Calmer Nelson planned to order an inquest into the death of the child. Mrs. Schmidt died without making a statement about the child.

Toothless Boy, 12, Gets Third Set of False Teeth

DES MOINES.—Twelve-year-old Tommy Black of Shenandoah, Iowa, is having his third set of false teeth made.

The strange case of Tommy—who never has had a tooth of his own—was told at the Iowa Dental society convention by Dr. Joy A. Rotton of Shenandoah.

Dr. Rotton said he fitted Tommy with his first set of dentures when the lad was only eight years of age.

Before getting his first dentures, Tommy could eat only soft foods. "Now he eats apples, corn on the cob and anything he wants," Dr. Rotton said.

He added he never heard of another child so young with a full set of false teeth.

Clerk Gambles U. S. Funds on Horses; Loss: $40,000

LOS ANGELES.—A sad story of afternoons playing the races and nights worrying about his losses followed the surrender of a trusted postal clerk.

Andrew A. Benson, 40, chief clerk at the Inglewood, Calif., post office and a 20-year veteran of the service, acknowledged embezzlement of $40,000 in government funds to Howard V. Calverly, U. S. commissioner, with the statement, "I couldn't believe any man could lose so consistently."

Benson said he wound up "without a dime" when Hollywood park, located in Inglewood, closed. Lee Miller, postal inspector, said Benson surrendered and declared: "The horses got me. I couldn't sleep or eat. I knew the federals would pick me up some day, so after Hollywood closed I decided to give myself up and get it over with."

Married and the father of a child, Benson is held in default of $2,500 bond for a federal grand jury. In his county jail cell, he said:

"I was a $2 punter when Santa Anita opened. Gradually I increased my bets to $5 and $10 on the nose. My luck was bad, I got in the hole worse and worse. I tried to get out by playing long shots. They lost. I bet big sums on favorites. They also lost."

He said $1,000 was his largest bet, but he couldn't remember the horse's name. He did remember, however, that it lost.

The $3,900-a-year clerk said he was $22,000 in the hole at the start of the last week of racing at Hollywood park and in a desperate effort to "get even," took $18,000 more of the postal receipts and lost it all.

"I juggled the accounts to cover my defalcations," inspectors quoted him. "Now it's all gone, along with my reputation."

Farm and Home News

There are still many youth between the ages of 10 and 21 in the rural areas not being reached by the 4-H program. It is a community responsibility to make it a better community for the youth to grow up in.

Recognizing community responsibilities and problems, the recently adopted program of work provides for major attention to this field.

Mr. Tarbell emphasized that for most effective results the extension program would need to be conducted on a highly organized basis. Many leaders will make contributions, he said. Community support will be required to get the most from the various educational activities planned for the next year. He expressed confidence that when the results of this year's work are measured that substantial gains in well being and knowledge will have been achieved.

The program approved was recommended by the county extension program advisory planning council. Members of this council are: J. Edward Taylor, Harrington, W. H. Jump, Houston, George Robbins, Milford, Purnal Freidel, Viola, Robert Schreiner, Kenton, Frank Ryan, Smyrna, H. Lloyd,
