Now that the Seniors have completed work on their yearbook, The Echo, plans are being made for their commencement program and trip to New York City. The class with their advisers, Mrs. Warrington and Mr. Bowers, will leave by bus for New York on June 1 and return on June 3. Reservations have been made for rooms at the Hotel Victoria and the three-day tour will include the Statue of Liberty, R. C. A. and Radio City, The Empire State Building, the Museum of Science and Industry, The Museum of Natural History and the Hayden Planetarium. The commencement program this year will be entirely in the hands of the members of the Senior Class. Early in the year, the group gathered material for compiling a history of Felton and the Seniors are using this as the theme for their program. Various members of the class are going to relate to the audience, the story of Felton, its past and present.

A battery of tests has been given to the pupils in the ninth grade recently. The results are being tabulated by Mrs. Umphlett and Mrs. Wallace in connection with their course in guidance under Dr. Ostrom, State Guidance director. The findings from these tests will be used in guiding the pupils to select the curriculum best suited to their needs.

On Tuesday evening, the Physical Education Class presented a demonstration in the gymnasium for the parents and the general public. The program included acrobatics, tap dancing, rope jumping and marching. The entire evening was enjoyed by everyone.

Through the courtesy of Mr. R. W. Bennett, feed dealer, the shrubbery around the school has been sprayed. This spraying will be done for the school periodically throughout the summer to arrest the bagworms.

For the benefit of those persons and property owners who might be interested, the chemists at the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggest using lead arsenate and hydrogen lino on shrubs sprayed periodically.

Winter Book Odds Not All Fair

By GRANTLAND RICE

THE WINTER BOOK on either racing or baseball hits you with a chunk of low-priced odds on many favorites that seem far from inviting.

The Winter Book, as you know, is supposed to offer advance odds on horses or teams that give you a better break than if you wait until the race gets underway. They are not giving anybody a better break in making Cleveland 6 to 5 and Boston's Braves 7 to 5.

Col. Ed Bradley, the departed horseman and gambler, whose advice was highly valued, used to say it was 4 to 1 or maybe 5 to 1 against any certain nominee even starting in the Derby. Out of more than 100 early entries, only 10 or 12 go to the post. Who can say what fine horses will or will not be present on the big day?

Sun Briar never went to the Derby post. Starchand didn't, when he apparently had the big race sewed up on the Tuesday before the race. Ocean Wave didn't, after wrecking the Derby Trial.

Getting back to baseball's Winter Book, I would say the Braves, Cardinals and Dodgers are extremely close—that the Pirates have a good chance—that the Giants are not clearly out of it, but not too threatening either.

The Braves, Dodgers and Cardinals are all ranked well over the Giants by Florida-trained ball players who remember the Giants from last year—and can see little or no improvement.

I still think the Cardinals are the best ball club in the National League by six or seven games. But no one can say how many Cardinals will be on the ball field, and how many in the hospital, after mid June or early July. They are an eight-year-old club, dating back to 1940, 1941 and 1942.

They have many more good ball players on their roster than either Braves, Dodgers, Pirates or Giants. I mean such stars as Musial, Slaughter, Marion, Brecheen, Pollet, Schoendienst—maybe Kurrowski and Mungler. But they have too

Wisconsin Grower Wins Barley Test Contest Conducted In Seven-State Area

Vernon H. Moore, of Rock county, Wisconsin, was named winner of the 1948 malting barley test contest conducted in seven midwest states by the Midwest Barley Improvement Association.

As an award for his accomplishment, Moore received $1,000 in cash, a handsome trophy, and a special ribbon of honor, as well as an all-expense trip to Minneapolis.

Vernon H. Moore (left) of Clinton, Wisconsin, winner of the 1948 malting barley contest conducted in seven midwest states by the Midwest Barley Improvement Association, receives his awards from Herbert H. Ladish, treasurer of the association, in ceremonies held in Minneapolis.

In addition to the regional award, Moore received the first Wisconsin state prize of $500, a county prize of $25, and state and county trophies. In the final judging, Moore's Barley competed with samples from more than 125 carloads of the grain grown by contestants in the seven-state area. The prize-winning barley was of the Kindred variety, and was grown on 50 acres of Moore's 188 acre farm.

The prize-winning barley was selected by a committee of judges which included representatives of the U. S. department of agriculture. Each farmer taking part in the competition was required to enter a full carload of barley, or to join with not more than four other barley growers in making up a carload shipment. Only varieties of barley approved for malting purposes in each of the seven states was accepted in the competition. Samples from contest cars were used as the basis for judging the grain.

Sons or daughters of cash prize-winners who assisted in growing the crop and who were between the ages of 12 and 21, received special farm youth award prizes equal to 10 per cent of the cash prizes won by the parent.

... one person darkens the scene ... Pamela's schooling and teeth-straightening and clothing are expenses upon which Helen didn't count.

As for those unhappy women who are being blackmailed—and there are more than you might imagine, their thoughts as the sneaking triumphant figure goes his way, with their money in his pockets, can be easily imagined.

Yes, Marcella, everyone, at one time or another, finds herself saying "if only she would die." Death ends everyone's story, and there are certain stories to which we want to write fins. We find ourselves thinking of the freedom of the inherited money, of the office with its head; of the relief of not having to send John's first wife that enormous check every month, of the easier household without dead old Uncle Peter or John's critical old mother.

Courage to Endure

But wiser than waiting for a dramatic change is the character and courage that accepts the utterly unacceptable and endures the completely unendurable. As long as there are young households, there will be fumbling, troublesome old persons in them. As long as there are offices at all, the higher-ups will step right over the claims of faithful old workers and put raw college sons and nephews into positions of trust. As long as girls do indiscreet things for just a temporary loan, there will be sneaks about who will cash in on these secrets later on. And in the too-common story of divorce and remarriage there will always be children drifting about to come between the grown-ups problems with acute problems of their own.

So do what the bees do. When they find a foreign body in the hive, they rapidly wall it away in sheets of clean wax and go merrily on storing honey in the cells all about. Wall away your problem with philosophy and good sense. Don't let any one other individual spoil your life. Don't wish anyone dead; it's a sort of murder to begin with, and it's perfectly futile anyway. Time works inevitable changes here as everywhere.

Fruit Jars Usable In Fumigant Spray

If the garden plot is small, J. C. Ford, Auburn Polytechnic Institute extension service garden specialist says, the correct amount of fumigant per row can best be applied by using a fruit jar.

A 10-or-20-penny nail hole should be made near one margin of the jar lid through which to pour the liquid. A somewhat smaller air hole is necessary near the opposite side of the lid.

New Chicks Should Feed Soon As Taken to Home

The North Dakota agriculture extension services advises that new chicks should be fed just as soon as they are taken home. The bulletin adds that the chicks should be given food and water immediately.

It is recommended that a good starter mash of at least 20 per cent protein and plenty of vitamins A, D and G be fed the chickens, and this continued eight weeks.
