

Emalou Hanover and McManus Tie for Trophy In Shaw Memorial Pace

Each Takes A Dash, with Official Time 2:06 for Record For K. & S. Racing Association

Emalou Hanover and McManus furnished the fastest racing in the history of the Kent and Sussex Racing Association here Saturday night when they shared the trophies of the B. I. (Pete) Shaw Memorial Pace.

The first won the fifth race, the first dash of the pace, in 2:06, the record for the racing association, with McManus a close second. In the seventh race, the final dash, official winning time was the same, with the horses reversing positions. The trophy blanket, given by Green Valley Turf Goods Company, was photographed on both horses, both of which will receive a blanket.

Racing at the current meet at the Kent and Sussex Raceway went into its eighth night, with fans still getting their money's worth.

Patsy Highland won both dashes of the Warren T. Moore Memorial Trot Friday night.

Volo Hal, driven by Harry Craig, won the K & H Provision Company Trophy Monday night in a sea of mud. Volo Hal won only the first heat, however, with Archie Hanover paying $26.50 to win the second dash.

Guam, owned by Holland Webster, of Elizabeth City, N. C., won both heats of the Reese Theatre Trot for $1000 Tuesday night.

The chestnut gelding won the first heat, the fifth race, in 2:11 and paid $17.60. He won the second heat, the seventh race, in 2:10.2 and paid $8.20. The trophy blanket was presented by Reese Theatre, Harrington, and was donated by L. B. Harrington and Mayor Earl Sylvester.

Special races scheduled are: Tonight, Green Valley Memorial Trot and Pace; tomorrow night, J. Morris Harrington Memorial Pace; Monday, Killen Feed Company Trot; Tuesday, R. H. Stafford & Sons Pace; Wednesday, Direct Express Memorial Pace; Thursday, Wonder Bar Trot.

Tommy Walters drove Lord Clinton, owned by Walter Farlow, Pittsboro, N. C., in first in both dashes of the Ernest Raughley Memorial Pace, Wednesday night. This was the first time the event had been staged. Mr. Raughley's son-in-law, Arnold Gilstad and Mrs. Gilstad donated the blanket.

There will be nine races Saturday night, with the first starting at 8:15 o'clock. Mutual windows will open at 7:55 o'clock.

Evergreen Forest To Hold May Ceremonies Wed.

With the National Convention in Atlantic City on May 19-21 in the offing, Evergreen Forest No. 49, T. C. L. will hold its May-Ceremonial at the Community Building in Milford on Wednesday night, May 11, 1949. As the date of the Convention draws nearer the activities of the Forest are being stepped up in preparation for the big parade.

The band and Rangers have been drilling the past two Sunday afternoons at the Georgetown airport and drawing much interest from spectators. The spacious apron at the airport was built by the Navy during the war and provides plenty of room for two units to drill together. The drill last Sunday was dressed up by two high stepping drum-majorettes from Lewes and one from Seaford. These girls are expecting to go to Atlantic City and participate with the units in the parade. The final rehearsal was held at the Georgetown Armory Thursday night of this week.

The Ladies Night Committee met in the recreation rooms of Temple Lodge No. 9 A. F. & A. M. on Tuesday night and completed plans for Ladies Night at the Georgetown High School on May 26. This committee is working diligently and hopes to make this a gala affair.

The business meeting of the May Ceremonial will be opened by Grand Tall Cedar H. Edward Maul and his officers with the invocation by Chaplain Joseph M. Lank. A class of candidates will be obligated and the degrees conferred by the Rangers in their usual great style. The Rangers under Captain Roy W. Palmer are in top form and doing a bang-up job.

The drawing of the lucky winner of the combination radio and record player that the Band and Rangers have been selling chances on will take place at this meeting. The units have put on this sale to buy uniforms and help defray convention expenses.

Art Jordan of Taylor and Smith in Philadelphia will present an enjoyable show for entertainment and Norman Collins, Chief Steward, will provide the refreshments. Join us in an evening of fun, frolic and fellowship.

Peck Jr.; Supply Work, Mrs. Roy Porter; Literature and Publications, Mrs. Fred C. Powell.

The following delegates and alternates were named for the Peninsula Conference Meeting in Salisbury on May 13: Mrs. N. C. Adams, Mrs. Lucy Jones, Mrs. A. B. Parsons, Mrs. E. W. Dean, Mrs. Chas. Peck Jr., and Mrs. Guy Winnebrenner. Plans for the summer school were also discussed.

A very interesting program was presented with Mrs. Howard Wagner acting as chairman.

2 Restaurants Are Entered

Two Harrington restaurants were entered early Tuesday morning, with money and merchandise taken from one place.

Archie Marshall, of Marshall's Restaurant, reports that 18 fifths of whiskey, three fifths of wine, 10 cartons of cigarettes, some cigars, and a change bag were stolen. Entry was gained by breaking glass in the back door. Marshall estimated the theft took place after 4:15 a. m. as a bread man, who had made a delivery at that time, said that he had observed no broken glass then.

The Chicken Basket, on U. S. 13 a mile north of Harrington, was entered between 1:30 a. m. and 2:00 a. m., according to Howard Tucker, Tucker said Wednesday that he had observed no losses, though the cash register had been carried outside.

James William Labaw, a hanger-on at the racetrack, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the Kent County Jail by Alderman Elmer Thomas. If he does not pay the fine, Labaw must spend 30 additional days in jail.

Labaw was charged with the theft of the pocketbook of Mrs. Harry S. Stout from the Stout bus in the grandstand during the races Tuesday night. The charge was petty larceny.

Chief of Police Frank Morgan apprehended Labaw along the railroad tracks between the fairgrounds and town. Mrs. Stout recovered the contents and the purse itself, the latter item being found on a manure pile at the fairgrounds.

HOOF BEATS

The Dagsboro Bag Company, of Dagsboro, will give $50 to the driver of the fastest dash on a trot and $50 to the driver of the fastest dash on a pace.

The long shots came in Friday night. Parma Hanover paid $28.70 in the first race; Anna Day paid $17.90 in the second; Mike The First paid $16.30 in the fourth. Incidentally, Les Simpson, of Harrington, drove the winner. Sir Dennis returned $15.60 in the sixth.

Taylor-Murphy Bridal Held in Dover Church

The marriage of Miss Louise Adele Murphy, daughter of Mrs. James Gordon Smith of Dover, to Frank Martin Taylor, son of Mrs. Harry Vandom Taylor, of Wilmington, took place Saturday afternoon in Christ Church, Dover. The ceremony was performed by R. V. Paul A. Kellogg.

The bride, given in marriage by her step-father, James Gordon Smith, was gown'd in an imported white silk satin dress, fashioned with an off the shoulder yoke of silk net, a fitted bodice and long tight fitting sleeves and a bouffant skirt. Her veil of full length French tulle, was arranged in a coronet effect, bordered with heirloom lace from her paternal grandmother. She carried a cascade bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Charles Dure Murphy Jr., sister-in-law of the bride was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Diane Smith, sister of the bride, Miss Eleanor Townsend, Mrs. Jack Hine, Mrs. Robert Mayer, Miss Mary Elizabeth Cooder and Mrs. James Orton Marshall Jr. Their gowns were of white marquisette, made with portait neckline, fitted bodice terminating in a bouffant skirt. They wore hats of white horsehair with streamers of green velvet and short white gloves. They carried fan-shaped bouquets of coral geraniums, tied with green streamers. The flower girl, little Miss Sandra Scott, wore a long dress to match those of the bridesmaids, a white horsehair bonnet with green streamers and carried a miniature flowered fan. The best man for Mr. Taylor was Samuel Reid Russell and the ushers were, John Mullin, Samuel Hedin, William Metten, James Orton Marshall Jr., and two brothers of the bride, Charles Dure Murphy Jr. and James Gordon Smith Jr.

The brides mother wore a gown of gold crepe with low round neck trimmed with matching bold beads. With this she wore a brown mullin hat encircled with filmy French veiling. Her shoes and gloves were also of brown and she wore a corsage of yellow orchids.

The groom's mother was gown'd in imported champagne lace with a matching basket weave straw turban, lined in mullin and edged in gold beading, interlaced in the straw. Her flowers were pink tinted carnations.

Following the reception at the bride's home, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left for Bermuda on their wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside in Wilmington.

Mrs. Taylor attended Hannah Moore Academy in Maryland. Penn Hall School, Chambersburg, Pa., and graduated from Connecticut College for Women.

Mr. Taylor graduated from Wilmington Friends School, Peddie School, Hightstown, N. J., and Lehigh University.

Merrymakers To Attend Church

The Harrington Merrymakers Home Demonstration Club will observe National Home Demonstration Week on Sunday evening, May 8th, when they will attend the evening services at the Asbury Methodist Church at eight o'clock. This will be part of their annual program to bring to the public eye the purpose and aims of the Home Demonstration Clubs of America.

In connection with the "Go to Church" Sunday, the Merrymakers, under the direction of their president, Mrs. Millard Cooper, will be hostesses to a group of young women in Harrington, who might be considered as prospective members of the club. The affair will be in the form of an Open House held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth McKnatt on Clark Street, Harrington, on Wednesday, May 11th from 8:30 to 10:30 in the evening. It is hoped that all of those who received invitations to the Open House will drop in during the evening to talk with the members of the club and find out what the organization has to offer them. Anyone who did not receive an invitation, but who is interested in the Home Demonstration work is cordially invited to be present, also.

Mrs. Charles Peck, who is chairman for the evening, has promised an enjoyable party, with refreshments and a delightful time for both the guests and the hostesses.

Mayor Sylvester Named On Industrial Accident Board by Gov. Carvel

Lee Layton Jr., Earl Tull, and Willard Springer Named to Delaware State Hospital Board

Mayor Earl Sylvester of Harrington and John J. Pierce, business manager of the Electricians' Union, Local 313, Wilmington, have been appointed to the Delaware Unemployment Compensation Commission, it was announced Tuesday night by Gov. Elbert N. Carvel.

They succeed J. Wallace Woodford of Dover and Robert J. Quillen of New Castle, whose terms expired on April 30. Both appointees are Democrats.

Mrs. Blanche Cahall who was recently elected president of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Harrington.

The positions carry salaries of $2,800 a year and the responsibility of directing the administration of the state's unemployment compensation law. Members of the commission set the policies of the state agency which provides unemployment insurance and also operates the public employment offices. In addition, the commission sits as a board of review, hearing cases appealed to it from lower appeals bodies. These cases involve decisions on rights to benefit payments and on liability for tax payments.

The commission meets regularly every two weeks, and holds additional special meetings as required.

Mayor Sylvester is a well-known Kent County Democratic leader. He served as minority floor leader in the state Senate at the 1939 session, and is a former member of the Industrial Accident Board.

The mayor served as commander of the Department of Delaware, American Legion in 1926, and was a member of the legion's national executive committee the following year.

He is director of the Harrington Building and Loan Association, a director of the Kent and Sussex Fair and a member of the Harrington Fire Company.

State Hospital Trustees
Earlier Tuesday, Governor Carvel announced the appointment of L. Lee Layton, Jr., of Dover and Earl Tull of Seaford as members of the board of trustees of the Delaware State Hospital at Farnhurst, and the reappointment of Willard Springer, Jr., of Rockland. Mr. Springer has been a member of the board since 1934, and its president for the past five years.

Mr. Layton succeeds U.S. Senator J. Allen Frear, Jr., of Dover and Mr. Tull succeeds William F. Longendyke of Seaford.

Mr. Springer and the two new appointees are Democrats. Mr. Longendyke is a Republican. All the terms are for three years, effective April 26.

Gets New Post
Miss Madeline Klaes, of Dover, president of the Capital City Club, gave a talk entitled "Our Federation", explaining the background of the Federation of Business and Professional Womens Clubs.

Mrs. Mary Jones, State Treasurer, with members from the Capital City Club, the Sussex County Club, and the Devries Club, and representatives of the local service clubs were all present.

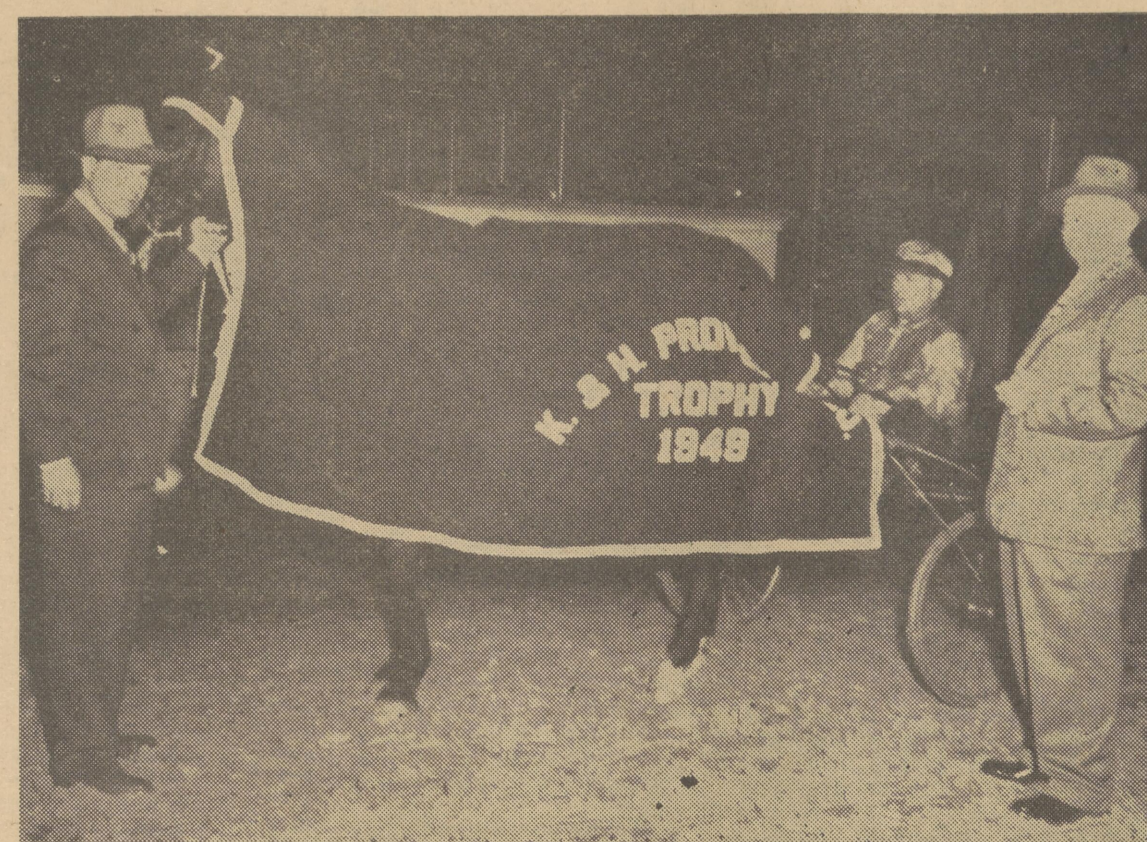

The Harrington New Century Club was represented by Mrs. Elizabeth Rogers Club president, Rotary Club by Samuel Williams club treasurer, Lions Club by Mr. Douglas Mills club president. The benediction was given by Rev. Harry Wright.

Arrangements for the dinner, decorations etc, was prepared by the Hospitality committee, with Miss Evye Warrington as chairman. The club colors of Green and Yellow were completely carried out in the color scheme of the decorations. Music for the evening was arranged by the music committee, with Mrs. Jeanette DeVroy as chairman.

Mr. Layton, 59, is in the wholesale grocery business in Dover and until recently was for almost 20 years a writer for newspapers of that city. He has not previously held any appointive post.

Mr. Tull, 52, is in the feed business, and is Delaware representative for the International Harvester Company. He is a director of the First National Bank, a member of the Seaford Kiwanis Club and of (Continued on back page)

'Point Four'

THE 81st congress is soon to receive something tangible on President Truman's 'point four' proposal...

You will remember that the 'point four' proposal was the application of this nation's modern technological know-how to the up-building of underdeveloped nations...

It has been heralded, as this Reporter has previously pointed out, as dwarfing the European Recovery program in its scope...

And it is upon this matter of expense that opponents of our international policy may focus their attack...

Men Who Found Kathy Remembered by Mail

The men who dug for little Kathy Fiscus, 3-year old who died in a California well shaft, were being remembered all over the nation.

More than 2,200 letters had been received by the Kathy Fiscus rescue fund from virtually every state in the union.

Donations ranged from 10 cents to $50. It was pointed out that if the average continued, it would mean a total of more than $11,000 for the men who worked for 52 hours to reach the child who fell to her death 92 feet down the well pipe.

AID BILL: Has Truman Okay

A bill to give 5.58 billion dollars to the European recovery program over the next 15 months—with one billion available at once—was signed by President Truman.

MR. TRUMAN, as is a quaint capital custom in such matters, signed the bill with several pens—eight, in fact. Even Mr. Truman, himself, was moved to observe jestingly that 'this will probably look like forgery, but it really isn't.'

There was a check and balance in the bill, however. With the billion dollars to be made available at once, aid could be kept flowing to the Marshall plan countries of western Europe until congress votes the rest of the cash later.

FARM SURPLUS: May Hasten Subsidy

The administration's farm experts weren't being too subtle in a movement to hasten payment of direct subsidies to farmers.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said he already had discussed such a proposal with the President. At the present time the government is committed to support prices of those commodities by buying surplus and taking it off the market.

Meanwhile, the agriculture secretary said consumer prices on pork and milk probably would fall if the administration was allowed to make direct subsidy payments to producers.

Despite much sentiment to the contrary, Brannan said his department has had a 'quite favorable' reaction to the proposed farm program which, briefly, would let farmers find their own price level through supply and demand.

The Washington Merry-go-round

Recess Is Refresher

DESPIKE TALK about the boys behind the 10-day Easter recess of the house was that Speaker Sam Rayburn and majority leader John McCormack sent their charges home for a 'refresher' course.

Rayburn and McCormack were chiefly concerned over another G. O. P. Dixie coalition against repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law, and they thought some elbow-rubbing with the folks at home might be the best preventive.

Meantime, local AFL and CIO leaders were planning to give the returning politicians a stiff workout during the 10-day 'vacation.'

Rayburn and McCormack are keenly aware that the Taft-Hartley vote will be a crucial test they can't afford to lose, if they are to keep northern city Democrats in line for other administration measures.

Ever since the G. O. P. Dixie coalition against rent control, there has been talk of a northern 'revolt,' or a coalition-in-reverse, in which northern Democrats would gang up with Republicans to block southern farm bills.

Rumbles of Revolt

At a dinner meeting with North and South freshmen Democrats last week, Rayburn and McCormack heard increasing rumbles of 'rebellion' against southern coalitionists. This wasn't all cloakroom whispers. Quite a number of big-city Democrats, who believe in carrying out Truman's campaign promises, have spoken out openly.

Among them are freshmen Democrats Anthony Tauerello of Buffalo, N. Y., and Earl Wagner of Cincinnati, who angrily told McCormack the time had come to 'stop appeasing and start hitting back' at southern opponents of the Fair Deal program.

'I've had enough,' bluntly asserted Tauerello. 'I was elected on the Truman program, and I believe in the whole program. I'm tired of seeing the program delayed and undermined by members of my own party. A lot of us think it's time to start retelling.'

At the dinner, Rayburn and McCormack made strong pleas for harmony. Since then the grumbling has somewhat subsided.

G.O.P. Hope
Oregon's bushy-browed Sen. Wayne Morse, considered a black sheep by old guard Republicans, nevertheless has a strong though secret following in congress.

This group not only takes its political cues from Morse, but is quietly boosting him for the vice-presidency in 1952. He is the only Republican, they feel, who can take votes away from the Democrats in their greatest stronghold—labor.

Leaders of the Morse movement include such congressmen as John Phillips of California, H. R. Gross of Iowa and James Golden of Kentucky—all progressive Republicans. Morse, himself, didn't learn of their support until he was invited to talk off-the-record the other day before a gathering of about 20 Republican congressmen.

With characteristic bluntness, Morse tore into the ills of the Republican party.

'I speak only of the senate,' he declared, 'but in the senate, we have a few who hold policy meetings. The rest of us read about it next morning in the papers and are called together at 10 o'clock to confirm it.'

He accused G. O. P. leaders in congress of playing turtle during the last election.

'It wasn't Dewey's job to defend the 80th congress,' said Morse. 'It was up to our top leaders in congress. A lot of them suffered political laryngitis.'

As for the G. O. P stand on labor, Morse snorted: 'We've got an anti-labor label on our party, and we'll keep it until we liberalize the Taft-Hartley law.'

Barkley Humor
Vice President Alben Barkley brought down the house with his story at President Truman's 'harmony' dinner with freshmen congressional Democrats. Here is the Barkley story:

A minister sermonizing to his flock on the virtues of friendship inquired if there were any members of the congregation who could honestly say they had no enemies. An aged man with a long beard arose in the rear of the church.

Adults Taught Child Writing To Save Money

NEW YORK—March 8.—Teaching grownups to write like children is the job of a pretty girl from Georgia.

The purpose is to save dollars for retail stores by making sales slips so plain and clear that no mistake can be made.

If a department store ever sent you a 'skirt' instead of a 'shirt,' you know the value of plain writing.

The girl in her early 20's is Madeline Rose Hosmer Brenner, and she's from Atlanta. The system of writing—or rather, print-writing—was started by her mother, Madeline Flint Hosmer. She developed her system of teaching while with the Atlanta division of the university system of Georgia.

Applied to Retailing

It was applied to retailing when one of the south's largest department stores in Atlanta got Mrs. Hosmer to teach their clerks to write. They liked it. They still use it. Saves money.

War interrupted commercial expansion of the teaching, and after the war Mrs. Hosmer died.

The young daughter, who became Mrs. Brenner recently, took over. There was a long interval of preparation until she introduced it on a nation-wide scale at the last convention of the National Retail Dry Goods association in New York.

But a word on what it is. The Hosmer print-writing system is based simply on bold straight lines and circles with only slight variations. An 'O' is a circle. A 'C' is a half-circle. A 'P' is a straight line with a half-circle. It's that easy for either upper or lower case.

Taught to Children

It is the way they teach little children to write at first. There's nothing fancy about it like a flowing Spencerian hand, but you can read it. Merchants whose clerks use it seldom send a 'ball bat' instead of a 'bath mat' to a customer.

The simplicity is what amazes most people. Mrs. Hosmer during the war taught the system to soldiers who could read, but had neglected, for one reason or another, to learn to write at all. One soldier, after learning print-writing, told Mrs. Hosmer in all seriousness: 'If I'd known writin' was just like readin', I'd learned to write a long time ago.'

That same simplicity amazed the daughter when she started writing a booklet on the subject at the end of the war. Although she 'just grew up with mother's print-writing,' it took her 11 months of writing and re-writing to perfect a straight-forward explanation of a 38-page booklet of instructions.

That booklet is the basic tool in the retail teaching system. Mrs. Brenner reduced to the clinic level the task of teaching thousands of employees in a single store. She selects a maximum of 60 employees for training, usually supervisors.

Norway Dresses Up Whales In Many Tasteful Menu Bits

OSLO, NORWAY.—A hval in Norway dresses up in more disguises than the Scarlet Pimpernel.

A hval may be the whipped cream in your coffee; or the steak on your plate.

A hval is so tasty in seven flavors as an ice that children scream for it. As soap, it enhances the fair skin of Nordic beauties.

A hval—a whale, that is—gets made into almost anything in Norway.

You can scrap your old notions of whaling as romantic John Barrymore roving after the elusive hulk of Moby Dick. That's how Barrymore did it in a movie, once upon a time.

Norway has turned whaling into a cordly scientific industry with a payoff of 60 million dollars a year. She has over 50 million dollars tied up in floating factories that sail each winter to the antarctic and return in the spring with 100,000 metric tons of whale oil plus refrigerated steaks.

Meantime, local AFL and CIO leaders were planning to give the returning politicians a stiff workout during the 10-day 'vacation.'

Rayburn and McCormack are keenly aware that the Taft-Hartley vote will be a crucial test they can't afford to lose, if they are to keep northern city Democrats in line for other administration measures.

Ever since the G. O. P. Dixie coalition against rent control, there has been talk of a northern 'revolt,' or a coalition-in-reverse, in which northern Democrats would gang up with Republicans to block southern farm bills.

Rumbles of Revolt

At a dinner meeting with North and South freshmen Democrats last week, Rayburn and McCormack heard increasing rumbles of 'rebellion' against southern coalitionists. This wasn't all cloakroom whispers. Quite a number of big-city Democrats, who believe in carrying out Truman's campaign promises, have spoken out openly.

Among them are freshmen Democrats Anthony Tauerello of Buffalo, N. Y., and Earl Wagner of Cincinnati, who angrily told McCormack the time had come to 'stop appeasing and start hitting back' at southern opponents of the Fair Deal program.

'I've had enough,' bluntly asserted Tauerello. 'I was elected on the Truman program, and I believe in the whole program. I'm tired of seeing the program delayed and undermined by members of my own party. A lot of us think it's time to start retelling.'

At the dinner, Rayburn and McCormack made strong pleas for harmony. Since then the grumbling has somewhat subsided.

G.O.P. Hope
Oregon's bushy-browed Sen. Wayne Morse, considered a black sheep by old guard Republicans, nevertheless has a strong though secret following in congress.

This group not only takes its political cues from Morse, but is quietly boosting him for the vice-presidency in 1952. He is the only Republican, they feel, who can take votes away from the Democrats in their greatest stronghold—labor.

Leaders of the Morse movement include such congressmen as John Phillips of California, H. R. Gross of Iowa and James Golden of Kentucky—all progressive Republicans. Morse, himself, didn't learn of their support until he was invited to talk off-the-record the other day before a gathering of about 20 Republican congressmen.

With characteristic bluntness, Morse tore into the ills of the Republican party.

'I speak only of the senate,' he declared, 'but in the senate, we have a few who hold policy meetings. The rest of us read about it next morning in the papers and are called together at 10 o'clock to confirm it.'

He accused G. O. P. leaders in congress of playing turtle during the last election.

'It wasn't Dewey's job to defend the 80th congress,' said Morse. 'It was up to our top leaders in congress. A lot of them suffered political laryngitis.'

As for the G. O. P stand on labor, Morse snorted: 'We've got an anti-labor label on our party, and we'll keep it until we liberalize the Taft-Hartley law.'

Barkley Humor
Vice President Alben Barkley brought down the house with his story at President Truman's 'harmony' dinner with freshmen congressional Democrats. Here is the Barkley story:

A minister sermonizing to his flock on the virtues of friendship inquired if there were any members of the congregation who could honestly say they had no enemies. An aged man with a long beard arose in the rear of the church.

'Ah, I am glad to see that there is at least one among us who can answer my question,' beamed the minister. 'How old are you, sir?'

It was significant that Judge Fritz, who was ill at home, had just received notice that the city fathers, in an attempt to banish pigeons, had passed an ordinance making it illegal to feed them. However, Mrs. Pigeon stayed on the job to guard the egg she had laid, and, who knows to the contrary, with the hope that her conciliatory gesture might negate the no-feed-the-pigeons ban. It would take a mean man to overlook the gesture.

MEDICINE AND THE DERBY

Churchill Downs, one of the oldest race tracks in the land, it is announced, is to be run for the benefit of the Louisville medical college. The Kentucky Derby has left many a man sick at the finish, but this is the first time anybody at the track thought of doing something about doctors.

The track is run by the famous Colonel Matt Winn, always a man in green, seldom a man in the red and now for the first time appearing as something of a Man in White.

LET US NOT FORGET

Grace Noll Crowell
LET us not forget the ancient wisdom
With which our fathers walked their earthly days:
The saying of grace above a loaf, new-broken,
The Sabbath rest, the stars we should raise;
The teaching of our faith to these, our children,
The earnest study of God's holy Word;
The telling, again and again, the old sweet story
By which an apathetic world is stirred.

Let us not forget the ancient splendors:
The mountain-top experience that lights
The darkest valleys that our feet must travel,
Where God will be, as well as on the heights.
Let us not forget the old, old meaning,
Of the sun and moon and stars above the land.
Considering these—God help us to remember
That we, like they, are held in Thy great hand.

Star Dust

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

WHEN Eagle-Lion films decided to hold the premiere of "Tulsa" in Tulsa, Okla., they had no idea that Oklahomans would cooperate so magnificently. Gov. Roy Turner proclaimed a holiday and royally entertained members of the press whom Eagle-Lion flew from both coasts for the occasion. Walter Wanger brought "Tulsa's" stars—Susan Hayward, Robert Preston,

Susan Hayward

Chill Wills and Jess Barker, to town; 50 mayors from all over the state were on hand to join in the festivities, which lasted for a day and a half. As for the picture, it is fine entertainment, with an oil-well fire that sets an all-time high for similar screen spectacles.

Two top Warner stars began their careers similarly, by dying. Errol Flynn died in "The Case of the Curious Bride," has been killing other people in films ever since. Zachary Scott died in his first film, "The Mask of Dimitrios," has been the victim in eight out of 11 pictures since then, gets driven to suicide in his latest, "Flamingo Road."

Reuniting Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers for their 10th picture in M-G-M's "The Barkleys of Broadway" proved so successful that they will co-star in another musical, as yet untitled, which is now being written for them.

Bill Conrad, the "voice" of CBS' "Escape" series, is a fine actor, but looks like something out of a grab bag; usually wears a sack-like pair of slacks, a T-shirt, sneakers and an old leather jacket. He wears that array on "Suspense," also when reporting to the picture studios; he was in "The Killers," "Body and Soul," "The Victors" and "Sorry, Wrong Number."

Robert Sterling says he got more bumps on a horse, during filming of RKO's "Roughshod," in which he co-stars with Gloria Grahame and Claude Jarman, Jr., than he did in planes during three years as an army air force pilot.

M-G-M slated three Westerns, to be shot at about the same time, then was faced with a shortage of male stars. Eleven leading actors were needed, for "Ambush," "Devil's Doorway" and "Outriders," and just any leading actor wouldn't do.

with a little black bag in hand you were under no illusion it held pills, capsules or ointments.

It has never been recorded that he was coupled in the betting with "Dr. Kildare." Observing him as he watched the crowds pour into the Downs for the Derby, we never got the impression he was thinking about what to do for the medical profession rather than what to do for Churchill Downs.

However, it will be strictly O. K. to see horse racing advancing the cause of humanity. It will be a great conscience soother for Derby addicts. Their alibi for the long trip and the Derby hysteria can now be, "Can I help if I want to see ambitious medical students get a chance?"

He will feel better coming back from the Derby, too. If his bangtail finishes out of the money, he will have the satisfaction of realizing that Louisville medical college (by Matt Winn-Ballyhoo) "finished strong and will bear watching."

We can picture the wide influence of the school of medicine on the Derby, and vice versa. Churchill Downs will probably be redecorated in white enamel, with a nurse at every mutual window and an intern in the hot dog stands. Fans will have their temperatures taken before and after photo finishes, stethoscopes will be used to detect suppressed tips.

There will be special windows where fans may get a sedative. And if his inside information proves cold, there will be heat treatments on the mezzanine.

"Ladies and gentlemen," we can hear the track announcer say, "the horses are on their way to the post to advance the cause of medicine and correct diagnosis. You have only five minutes in which to help a student get through college."

Similarly, Louisville medical college professors will be allotted official colors or "silks," classes will be opened with "Boots and Saddles" and on the day of exams there will be a morning line and late scratches.

Life can be wonderful! But we hope no student will be flunked for bad behavior at the gate and "quitting when challenged." And let's have no dean of the medical school thrown out of training for a "popped osselet."

The Fiction STRICTLY ANALYTICAL

Corner

By Richard H. Wilkinson

THE TROUBLE with you," Barry said, "is that you're too analytical. Why don't you throw caution to the wind for once and marry the girl?"

His face took on that look of faintly aloof indulgence that he always conjured when Barry became critical. "You wouldn't understand," he said.

3-Minute Fiction

"You're too impulsive to see what I'm driving at. Let me tell you, it pays to be careful."

"Sure it does. But it doesn't pay to be overly careful. How does Valeria feel about it?"

"How does she feel? How do you think she feels? When a girl's in love she knows enough to be careful herself."

"Meaning, of course, that Val's mad about you and she's willing to wait until you get through analyzing and justifying or compensate her shortcomings in your mind."

Hugh gestured indifferently. "Figure it that way, if you like."

"Wouldn't it be a shock to you if you discovered yourself to be wrong. I mean, if Val married someone else right under your nose."

"She won't," said Hugh confidently. "Girls aren't made that way." He stood up. "I haven't been studying psychology and human behavior five years for nothing."

"But if she gets tired of waiting and marries some one else in the meantime, maybe you'll regret it."

"Don't be ridiculous. Val won't marry anyone else. I know what I'm doing."

Barry let a fortnight elapse before he again broached the subject of Val. It ramiated him, and he felt better to get it off his chest. "Hate to mention it again, Hugh, but Val seems to think you've been neglecting her lately. Can't blame her much, either."

"Cut it!" Hugh looked ugly. "I think you'd better let me tend to my own affairs, Barry. The girl loves me and when I get around to it, I'll marry her. Goodness, can't you understand that a man shouldn't jump into such things?"

"Or a woman either," Barry offered. "I happen to know Val was out with someone else last night."

"Good. Comparing the someone else with me will be the best thing in the world for her—and me too."

Hugh was annoyed. Blast it, why couldn't Barry mind his own business? Why did he always have to keep worrying about Val. It was plain as day that he didn't understand women. Val knew a good thing when she saw it. She loved him and was willing to wait. She was smart.

VAGUELY HE wondered who the other man could be she was out with. It was sort of amusing in a way. Probably Val had merely told Barry that so Barry would tell him. Childish. Why, even a first-year psychology student could tell you that was nothing but a feeble attempt on the part of the female to excite jealousy in the man she loved.

Three evenings later Hugh's phone rang. It was Barry. He sounded far away. "Can't hear you," Hugh yelled into the mouthpiece. "Talk louder."

"I say," came Barry's voice, more distinctly, "that the thing I warned you against has happened."

"What thing?" said Hugh.

"About Val. About her marrying someone else right under your nose. She's done it."

"I don't believe it," said Hugh, feeling for the first time a queer sensation of alarm.

"I saw it happen," said Barry. "I was there."

"Good lord!" Hugh was suddenly very much excited and very concerned.

"You can't say I didn't warn you," Barry's voice said, growing fainter.

"Hey! Hold on a minute, Barry! Are you there? . . . Yes, yes, I know you warned me. Guess I was something of a fool. Who was it she married? This is terrible!"

"Me," said Barry, very faintly. And then the line went dead.

Milford	2	0	1,000

If opening day attractions are indication Mar Del League fans are in for some fine baseball during the coming campaign. Camden-Wyoming, last year's Pennant winners, Greensboro, 1948 Play-Off titlists, and Milton AC, new league entry, turned in well earned victories in the opening contest last Sunday.

A six run uprising in the 4th game, Stan Mikell's Camden-Wyoming tossers, a safe lead over Felton as they went on to win 9 to 2. For the first three stanzas it was a scoreless mound duel between righthander Cliff Chambers, Felton ace, and Lefty Jack McGillen, C-W hurler. Chambers took cover in the 4th bringing in Pete Carlson, a University of Delaware lad, who hurled good ball until the 8th when he tired and had difficulty finding the plate. Behind good support McGillen had rough going, only in the 6th and 9th. In the 6th three straight singles, a fielder's choice and a slow tap to first gave Felton two runs. In the 9th two free tickets and a single crowded the hassocks, but the talented southpaw bore down and escaped further Felton scoring.

Bill Mellen, Dover, Phillie and Bradford player last season, sparkled at third for C-W. He handled six chances at third in errorless style and rifle shot throws to first nipped several Felton threats. At the plate he blasted one far over the left field wall in the 8th. Johnson and Bery each had two safeties for the defending Pennant winners. Eddie Garey, Felton shortfielder had two for 3 to pace the Vets. Jerry Neeman, yet third-baseman, reached first four times on three walks and a single. Reds Minner shoveled in eight chances at second for the victims.

A real hurriers duel featured the 2 to 1 win for Greensboro over the Rock Hall Bay-Siders. Smithson, Rock Hall moundsman, gave up 5 hits, and whiffed 4. Robinson, winning hurler, was tabbed for 6 safeties as he retired 9 via strikeouts. Bucky Johnson, ex-Houston player, paced last year's play-off winners with two hits, with Daniels, Robinson and Giannotti having one each. Robinson accounted for both the Greensboro runs, one in the 5th and one in the 8th. Billy Carroll, a Georgetown University player, laced out a triple and a single to lead Rock Hall.

Zanger and Carroll formed a strong keystone combination for Rock Hall as they handled 14 chances with one miscue. Earl Harrington Oil & Coal Inc. Daniels and Zeth Weaver were strong defensively for the winners.

A well balanced Milton AC nine made an impressive showing in their initial appearance in the Mar-Del Circuit as they eked out a 4 to 2 victory over Milford AC, also a new comer to Mar-Del realm. Milton did all their damage in the 3rd as they scored four times while Milford put one across in the 4th and their final in the 9th. Ken Mahan gave up 8 hits to Milford as he fanned five. Horace Willey hurled for Milford allowing 10 bingles and striking out five.

Jim Reed, Ken Mahan and Buzz Thompson were the big guns for the winners. Thompson had 3 for 4 while Reed chimed in with 2 for 4, with Mahan duplicating the feat. Harold Davis lashed out 3 for 3 for Milford one being a double, the games only extra base knock.

Defensively the Milton infield clicked in smooth fashion, as did the out-field. The only slip for the winners was by Mahan. A brilliant double play sparkled the Milford lineup. McCullough took a long drive in center and whipped a perfect strike to the home plate to catcher Art Gunning to nip a runner tying to score after the catch.

Opening day games presented many new faces to Mar-Del circles. Of course both Milton and Milford were new combines although most of the players are well known to central and lower Del. fans. Mlyczek, Milton, formerly played with Seaford in the Shore League. Art Gunning, Milford is an ex-Shore Leaguer, while Willey has seen service in the Mar-Del league. Carlson, Neeman and Eliason, were the only new faces in the Felton line up.

For C-W Bill Mellen, and Johnson, were having their first showing although the former is well known for his play with the Dover Phillies in 1947-48. Miller and Robinson were newcomers for Greensboro, while Smithson was on exhibition with Rock Hall for the first time.

This Sunday's attraction should hold lots of interest. Two opening day winners, C-W and Milton will oppose one another at Milton. (Continued on back page)

Miss Helen Allen, Woman's Christian Temperance National Field Worker, is in Kent County from May 2 to 13. She is a very active organizer in Youth Temperance Council work and also in the Loyal Temperance Legion work. It is hoped that while she is here in Kent County you will make every effort to meet her and have her help you getting your WCTU unions to be more active.

On May 8th, Mother's Day, she will speak to the Sunday school at the Brethren Church at ten A. M. in Farmington. Then at 11:30 she will take part in the morning worship service at the Felton Methodist Church. Sunday evening at 7:30, she will speak at the worship service in the Trinity Church in Harrington. Plan to come to hear her. She will be in Felton from May 7 to May 13th at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Bringhurst.

On May 10 she will speak on Youth at the Annual Convention of the Kent County WCTU, which is to be held in the Asbury Church in Smyrna. This convention begins at 10 A. M. Come to this convention and get your hearts filled with the burning issues of this day. Luncheon will be served, but reservations must be sent in to Mrs. Lewis Price, by May 7th.

VIOLA TRIPS PLAYTEX

The Mid-Delaware League swung into action Sunday with all six clubs playing their opening games.

Fred Willey's Playtex nine opened at Viola and fell victims to the Viola nine at the tune of 17 to 3. They were met with a 14 hit attack while they could only collect four safeties. Bidde went the route for the victors and was never in trouble after the third inning. The Viola nine had the pleasure of facing three of the Playtex moundsmen.

Merwin Kersey led the Viola team at bat with 3 for 7. Alvin Chambers collected 3 for 6, while Norman Wagner and Harry Sipple got 2 for 5. Billy Green and Chambers got the two longest hits of the game as they banged out a triple each. The Playtex nine was held to 3 singles and one double.

In the other Mid-Delaware League games, Farmington and Statonville played a very air-tight game with Farmington finally coming out on top in the ninth inning 5 to 3. Harrington took over Tower Team 16 to 6.

Next week will find the teams as follows: Viola at Harrington, Farmington at Playtex (Dover Park), Tower Team at Statonville. Game time will be called at 2:00 P. M. Eastern Daylight Saving Time. Let's attend these games and give these boys lots of support this year. They are playing for sport and helping to bring good clean sports to your community.

children, of Bowers Beach, Mr. Peter Hurd, of Maryland, and Mr. Norman Wilkins, of Milford.

Miss Bernice Kersey's many friends are very sorry to hear of her illness and hope that she will soon be well.

Mrs. Nancy Kersey and son, of Bowers Beach, were guests of Mrs. Robert Wright on Sunday.

Miss Nancy Wagner, entertained Miss Olive Roland on Saturday. The congregation of the Viola Methodist Church wishes to thank Mr. Charles Roland Sr., for his co-operation during the absence of our superintendent, Mr. Lowell Roland, who is a patient in the Kent General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Enright, of Wilmington, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moore on Sunday.

We are glad to hear that Mrs. Dallas Moore's condition is improving after an illness which occurred shortly after her return from Florida. She is a patient in the Milford Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hurd entertained Mr. Hurd's parents, and family, and Mr. Charles Roland Jr., on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Walters, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Collins Tatman of Felton.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter Butler, Mrs. Katie Dill and son, Raymond, of Canterbury, and Mr. and Mrs. Temple Stubbs of Felton, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burhans of Pottstown, Pa.

Mrs. Edward Burhans is the former Miss Edith Sipple of this town. The group drove to Pennsylvania in Raymond's new car.

Rev. Thomas Brinton brought to the congregation of Viola Methodist Church a very inspiring Communion Service Sunday evening. The young people were glad to have with them Mr. Norman Wilkins from Milford.

Mr. and Mrs. John Goodwin Jr. and Children, and Mrs. John Goodwin Sr., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wagner on Sunday.

The Viola Baseball Team started the season off with a victory of 17 to 3 over Playtex. Next Sunday Viola will play Harrington, at Harrington.

DEL-MAR-VA CHICKEN FESTIVAL

Directors of the Del-Mar-Va Chicken Festival, Inc., meeting in Georgetown on Monday night definitely selected July 12-14 as dates for the 1949 celebration.

Salisbury had previously been designated as the host city when the Directors accepted an invitation extended by the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce.

Alfred T. Truitt, secretary of the Salisbury Chamber and a former newspaper man, was named executive-secretary and Festival director.

Covering three days of activity the tentative schedule includes the following:

Tuesday, July 12th: A peninsula, wide chicken cooking contest with attractive prizes.

Wednesday, July 13th: Poultry and Egg Show, selection of the Festival Queen and a dance with nationally prominent figures from the entertainment world as guests and music by a name band.

Thursday, July 14th: Continuation of the show and the mammoth annual parade.

Last year's parade at Georgetown was one of the longest and finest ever staged on the Eastern Shore and with that experience to help, the group expects to out-do last year's accomplishment.

The chicken cooking contest is an added attraction over last year's program and the suggestion has met general approval among the groups where it has been discussed. Budget requirements are esti-ated at $11,750 a part of which is in hand. The remainder of $9,000 is to be raised by a Finance Committee which expects to realize $4,000 each from the Delaware and Maryland areas and $1,000 from the Virginia counties.

Dave Green, Dover, president of the festival corporation stressed the importance of the affair. He said: "We feel that this festival is well worth the effort, the time and the money we devote to it. From a local standpoint it gives the people engaged in the industry, the grower and the supplier, a certain pride in his work. It encourages him to grow a better product. And through the national publicity we receive in the consuming markets, a greater demand for chicken as a regular part of the diet is being developed."

"We definitely feel that last year's festival centered sufficient interest on the Eastern Shore production to have been a substantial factor in sustaining a favorable market level for our chickens in the past twelve months."

"We know that another successful festival such as we envision for this year will add momentum to the present demand for our product and will again be reflected in a ready acceptance of that product by consumers."

Mr. Truitt added this comment: "This Poultry industry which brings nearly $100,000,000 cash into the Del-Mar-Va peninsula is of such importance to our economy that we must not miss a trick in making this year's festival an outstanding one."

"This is the broiler growing center of the world and it is said that more broilers are produced in this tri-state area than in any other similar section. If we, the public, can encourage the broiler grower in producing fine birds and can in any manner help him broaden his markets we are not helping him alone but also help ourselves no matter what enterprise may engage our attention."

More Corn... Less Cob —
With Southern States Hybrids

Take a look at that big healthy ear on the left. The one with the deep, golden kernels and the small but well-filled cob. It's a typical Southern States Hybrid ear. And it means more corn for you to feed. And more corn for you to sell!

You see the difference for yourself — shell out a Southern States Hybrid ear and an ordinary hybrid ear to compare. You'll get more shelled corn from the Southern States Hybrid. Remember, a few dozen of these extra kernels per ear makes a whale of a difference in your total yield.

So ask for Southern States Hybrids... the hybrids that grow more corn on less cob. Double guaranteed, they're your assurance of bigger yields.

MOW DRYING SAVES HAY CROP

Farmers who are interested in obtaining high quality feed for their stock at a low cost should investigate the results of mow hay curing. According to William A. Calvert, extension agricultural engineer, of the University of Delaware, mow-drying is especially profitable in an area where it is difficult to put up good hay because of poor weather conditions.

Many farmers have found that the grain requirements of dairy cows have been cut down by feeding high quality hay. This has meant that a greater profit was gained from the herd.

This system of curing hay takes advantage of the rapid drying in the field during the first few hours after cutting. The hay then finishes the curing process in the mow where a fan and motor forces air through it.

Hay driers are not stock items, but must be tailored to each barn. For this reason, any farmer considering the installation of a drier should contact Calvert in care of the Agricultural Extension Service, University of Delaware, for free information.

DELAWARE 4-H TO OBSERVE RURAL LIFE SUNDAY, MAY 22

Delaware 4-H Club members will observe Rural Life, or 4-H Club Sunday, May 22, with group church attendance, special services and other ceremonies.

Each year, throughout the nation, the fifth Sunday after Easter is set aside to emphasize the meaning of Christianity in rural life. 4-H Club Sunday is an outgrowth of Rural Life Sunday, which was first observed in 1929.

Since its inception, this observance has become an increasing significant part of the 4-H Club program. The theme, "Better Living for a Better World", will receive emphasis in all programs planned for this Sunday, in addition to themes in keeping with the traditional spiritual significance of planting time.

Among the purpose of 4-H Club Sunday are these: to develop a deeper appreciation of the many values of rural life; to emphasize and recognize the spiritual value and character-building qualities of 4-H Club work; give 4-H members an opportunity to cooperate with other community groups, and help 4-H members realize their own responsibilities to the church of their choice.

Portrait of a Great Lady

Do you remember back when you were a small child and your mother used to tuck you in bed each night?

Do you remember the dreams the two of you dreamed, the marvelous hours she spent with you, acquainting you with the large, strange world?

Each year, we set aside one day as a symbol for the devotion and love we feel for mothers everywhere. It doesn't seek to repay . . . because it never could. It says only, in the best way we know how . . . "thank you, mother".

GRANDPA JONES AND HIS GRANDCHILDREN

The "Grandpa Jones and his Grandchildren" Hillbilly Show is coming to Palace Theatre on May 9th. The show features Grandpa Jones, a nationally known King Record Artist and former star of Nashville's "Grand Ole Opry".

The old coon-hunter will have with him the beautiful Ramona. More popularly known as "The Hildegarde of the Hills," Ramona is not only featured as the champion old-time fiddle player, but she also lends her mountain beauty and harmony to a colorful duet of the popular gospel songs.

Pete Cassell, America's Blind Minstrel, will also be on the show. Reading his poems in braille, Pete gives a fine rendition of old favorites. A strong favorite with older set, Cassell is a man who has to be seen to be appreciated. He also sets his braille aside to pick up his guitar to render such tunes as "Where The Old River Flows" and "Moss Covered Mill", both of which are favorites among his radio listeners.

Traveling with this unit is Lennie Aleshire, a seasoned veteran of the Keith Circuit and who was featured with the Weaver Brothers and Elviry troupe for 13 years. Aleshire has a Conglomeration of instruments such as a bureau drawer, gaspipe, broom, door-spring and other home-made gadgets. Not content with his dance routine and music making, he teams up with Grandpa Jones in a finale that is one of the most unusual acts in the country today.

The Annual Conference begins, May 12th. All may attend who desire to do so.

Miss Helen Allen, a field worker of the W. C. T. U., will be with us Sunday evening and speak on the subject of temperance. She is from Michigan and Ohio, is a college graduate, was a public school teacher for 13 years. The rest of her life has been spent in temperance work. Let us all come to hear her Sunday evening, and we will be well repaid.

Sunday morning the church will observe Mother's Day. All mothers are invited to attend this service.

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

Sunday of course as you know is Mother's Day and on that day she should be shown how much we all love and adore her. There isn't enough we can do for our mothers, but the best we can do is to lighten her burdens. This comes to my mind while thinking of mothers. Several years ago not many white women wished for a livelihood but this particular woman washed almost every day over a wash tub to raise her boy and two girls.

Today her son is very well to do and I cannot help to think of the mothers who are living today and almost this same thing. Why not think about these things and get your dear mother a washer that requires nothing but the turn of a button and have your clothes cleaner than they ever were before. Westinghouse Laundromats are could well afford having one in each room. Think this over and save many, many steps. You know times are changing—how would it look—carrying a lamp from room to room? Be wise get another radio.

HARRINGTON HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB NEWS

The Millwood Club were guests of the Harrington Home Demonstration Club at their regular meeting on May 2nd.

Mrs. Edith Shockley, Safety Chairman gave her report for April. All members are sending their responses to this promptly.

The job of the month was 1. Repair or replace loose and rotted boards in the hay rack; 2. provide a safe place to keep forks.

Health and Nutrition chairman, Mrs. Catherine Hickman announced that the theme for May is Tuberculosis and x-ray mobile units will be stopping through various towns in Kent County for chest examinations.

The members of the club will attend the Asbury Methodist Church in a group this Sunday, May 8th. All are requested to be present and will meet in the Chapel at 7:15 P. M.

I have 2 used electric refrigerators at this writing, 1 Westinghouse and the other a Goldspot for $75.00. Take your choice.

It is remarkable how many people are buying radios this season of the year. Of course, I can see the convenience of having more than one and the many steps saved. In fact as cheap as radios are, you

Pennant Hopes Spring Eternal

By GRANTLAND RICE

IT HAS been said that hope springs eternal in the baseball player's breast until around June. Then it begins to wither and fade. At least it was springing in But hope sprang with greater alacrity in April than it has in some other places.

For example, after a rabid discussion as to whether the Dodgers, Braves or Cardinals were to be the selected sons of this season, we ran into Art Rooney of Pittsburgh. Art Rooney owns the Pittsburgh football franchise. He also has a few horses and he is also interested in baseball as a fan.

"Braves, Dodgers or Cardinals?" he said. "Listen, the entire population of Pittsburgh has picked the Pirates to win. I agree with them. Pittsburgh is much stronger than it was a year ago.

"Murry Dickson will make a difference of 10 games. Bob Cheshnes will be even better. Kliner is due to hit better. You can also make a note that Pittsburgh will outdraw every team in the National League as it did a year ago. I mean the Giants, Dodgers, Braves and Cubs.

"And I'm not being comical or funny when I pick Billy Meyer's bunch on top. I don't believe everybody in Pittsburgh can be wrong."

In the course of the next hour or so, wandering here and there, we ran into seven experts who had been in Florida. Here are their selections: two for the Dodgers, two for the Braves, two for the Cardinals and one for Pittsburgh.

The Giants? Since this crop of selectors had come up from Florida, they knew nothing about the New Yorkers. But Horace Stoneham and Leo Durocher are being quoted to the general effect that Giant pitching will be quite sufficient, coupled with the power that Giant bats have carried. This means that at least five teams have the "hope eternal" torch blazing these April days.

And you can be certain that the Cubs, Phillies and Reds will supply more trouble than usual, especially if the Reds can shove Ewell Blackwell into the picture. Even without the human pine tree, the Reds are an improved collection of ballplayers. With Blackwell and Vander Meer working, the Reds are a menace.

Here in April we had five National league ball clubs who believed they could win the flag, and three others who believed they had a chance to move up and win their share of games.

At this spot, the Dodgers, Braves, Cardinals and Pirates are closer than two Scotchmen. The Giants must show they belong with this group.

The National league mix-up this season can be one of the closest races among more teams than any scramble either league has known so far. It could be that way if you study the eight teams that will soon get down to serious work.

The Trouble with 'IFS'

The main trouble with "IFS" is that they seldom work out any too well. Bob Feller is a big IF in Cleveland, but Feller is getting along. Even Boudreau is worried over his ability to keep his curve or his fast ball burning. Lemon and Bearden have yet to prove they are 20-game winners over a period of time.

Joe DiMaggio and the Yankee infield have yet to prove they are up to pennant-winning play. This, of course, means DiMaggio's afflicted heel. To have this heel in shape all season would be a big boon to baseball in general just as much as it would be to the Yankees. DiMaggio has been too brilliant a star to be missed without mourning.

No one can say, this far in advance, that the Red Sox pitching staff will be any better than it was a year ago. Joe McCarthy's spring attitude makes you think everything is O. K., but Hughson, Harris and Ferriss still have to prove they are the pitchers they were in 1948.

Billy Meyer is more than worried over Pittsburgh's full and firm belief in a pennant year. In a race such as the National League has on hand this season, Meyer knows his team can play good baseball and finish fifth. He knows the number of good breaks any team needs to win in a race of this type.

Billy Southworth knows he will need a better Warren Spahn than the left-hander was a year ago. So many rumors of dissension will not be inclined to help his club. Any outfit that would turn against Billy Southworth can't be pennant-minded.

Tomatoes Important

While the average farmer knows the value of a garden and always sees to it that he has ample garden planted to run his family through the year, there are still some men who clean their living from the soil who don't bother to plant a garden.

The aim in gardening, at all, is to supply the household with vegetables—summer and winter; and the farmer who does this is always repaid not only with money saved and convenience of having supply immediately at hand, but also by the

New Variety of Alfalfa Officially Named Talent

The promising alfalfa variety known as French alfalfa in southern Oregon variety trials has been officially named Talent alfalfa by the Oregon state college experiment station committee on new crop varieties, and seed increases are now underway to insure early commercial release of the variety.

Talent was selected as the name in honor of the community where trials were conducted.

Concrete Blocks Need 28 Days of 'Curing'

Cracking of concrete block walls is generally caused by use of "green" blocks, poor foundation, or lack of proper reinforcement, is the suggestion of J. T. Gaillard, Auburn polytechnic institute extension service engineer.

Gaillard warns that all blocks should "cure" at least 28 days before they are used.

Every precaution, he adds, should be taken to stop cracks.

SHORT STORY

Strictly Analytical

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

THE TROUBLE with you,"

Barry said, "is that you're too analytical. Why don't you throw caution to the wind for once and marry the girl?"

Hugh sighed. His face took on that look of faintly aloof indulgence that he always conjured when Barry became critical. "You wouldn't understand," he said.

"You're too impulsive to see what I'm driving at. Let me tell you, it pays to be careful."

"Sure it does. But it doesn't pay to be overly careful. How does Valeria feel about it?"

"How does she feel? How do you think she feels? When a girl's in love she knows enough to be careful herself."

"Meaning, of course, that Val's mad about you and she's willing to wait until you get through analyzing and justify or compensate her shortcomings in your mind."

Hugh gestured indifferently. "Figure it that way, if you like."

"Wouldn't it be a shock to you if you discovered yourself to be wrong. I mean, if Val married someone else right under your nose."

"She won't," said Hugh confidently. "Girls aren't made that way." He stood up. "I haven't been studying psychology and human behavior five years for nothing."

"But if she gets tired of waiting and marries some one else in the meantime, maybe you'll regret it."

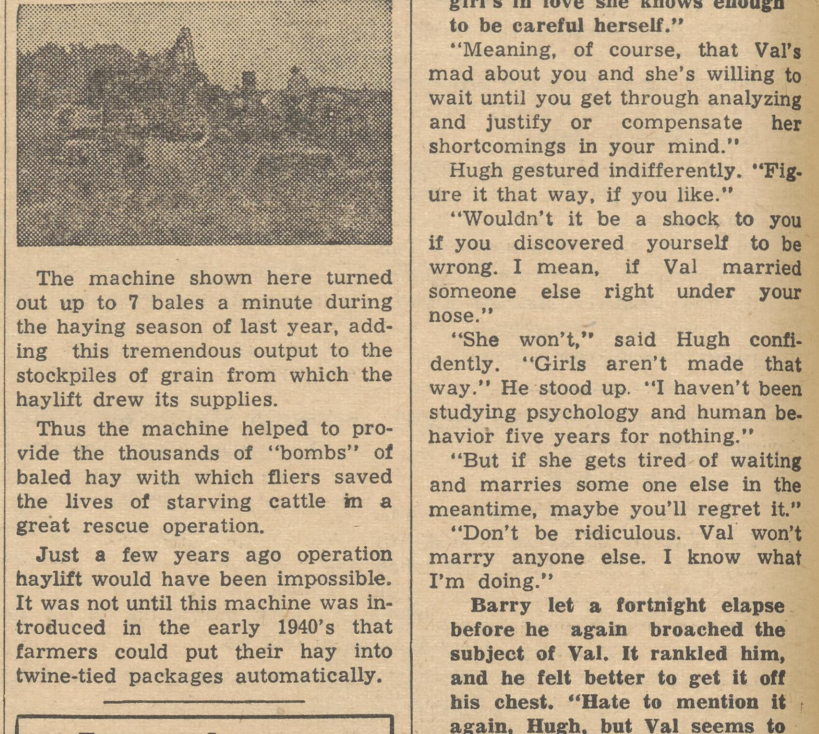

"Don't be ridiculous. Val won't marry anyone else. I know what I'm doing."

Barry let a fortnight elapse before he again broached the subject of Val. It rankled him, and he felt better to get it off his chest. "Hate to mention it again, Hugh, but Val seems to think you've been neglecting her lately. Can't blame her much, either."

"Cut it!" Hugh looked ugly. "I think you'd better let me tend to my own affairs, Barry. The girl loves me and when I get around to it, I'll marry her. Goodness, can't you understand that a man shouldn't jump into such things!"

"Or a woman either," Barry offered. "I happen to know Val was out with someone else last night."

"Good. Comparing the someone else with me will be the best thing in the world for her—and me too."

nourishing value of home-processed foods.

As family sizes and needs vary as much as individual tastes, the garden should be as variable as anything could be. Thus a garden becomes such an individual matter that the seed list for each must be individually worked out.

However there is a principle involved that is general and that is "planning." Here is an example:

The tomato is among the most versatile of vegetables to prepare for the table and returns the most for the garden space occupied. So, there must be tomatoes. Properly handled, harvesting may start July 1 and tomatoes may be had fresh until several weeks after frost, or for about 120 days. At one and one-half servings a day, the fresh tomato amount should be about three and one-half bushels, as a serving for five persons is that needed to can a quart, a bushel canning 17 quarts.

For the remaining 245 days, the tomatoes must come from cans and, allowing two servings weekly, 70 quarts are needed, or five bushels more. The total becomes eight and one-half bushels, or 510 pounds. A correctly-tended plant yields 10 pounds and 50 plants are needed. Of these, 15 should be early (Break O'Day), and 35 late (Rutgers).

Other crops may be worked out as carefully based on family likes.

"A girl in love knows enough to be careful herself."

Hugh was annoyed. Blast it, why couldn't Barry mind his own business? Why did he always have to keep worrying about Val. It was plain as day that he didn't understand women. Val knew a good thing when she saw it. She loved him and was willing to wait. She was smart.

VAGUELY HE wondered who she was out with. It was sort of amusing in a way. Probably Val had merely told Barry that so Barry would tell him. Childish. Why, even a first-year psychology student could tell you that was nothing but a feeble attempt on the part of the female to excite jealousy in the man she loved.

Three evenings later Hugh's phone rang. It was Barry. He sounded far away. "Can't hear you," Hugh yelled into the mouthpiece. "Talk louder."

"I say," came Barry's voice, more distinctly, "that the thing I warned you against has happened."

"What thing?" said Hugh.

"About Val. About her marrying someone else right under your nose. She's done it."

"I don't believe it," said Hugh, feeling for the first time a queer sensation of alarm.

"I saw it happen," said Barry. "I was there."

"Good lord!" Hugh was suddenly very much excited and very concerned.

"You can't say I didn't warn you," Barry's voice said, growing fainter.

"Hey! Hold on a minute, Barry! Are you there! . . . Yes, yes, I know you warned me. Guess I was something of a fool. Who was it she married? This is terrible!"

"Me," said Barry, very faintly. And then the line went dead.

(PORTER) (Continued from page 1) He is also survived by his father and one other sister, Mrs. Brooks Colestock, of Harrington and one brother, John W. Porter, Pottstown, Pa. Porter, known here since boyhood as "Fodder," a commercial fisherman was pronounced dead in the Milford Memorial Hospital at 5:15 o'clock last Sunday after sustaining burns in a fire which destroyed a small cottage at Slaughter Beach in which he was sleeping.

Porter spent Sunday with William Calloway at the latter's cottage. He was found unconscious on the floor at about 5 p. m. yesterday. Led by Harvey Poore, a group of neighbors broke into the house when they were called by Calloway. Porter was taken to the hospital in a vain effort to save his life. The Milford Fire Company sent its fire apparatus and ambulance to the scene. Stae police at Georgetown said Calloway and Porter, who had been fishing Saturday, rested Sunday. They made coffee on a small oil stove and then went to separate rooms. Calloway was awakened by smoke. He leaped through a window then called on neighbors to help get Porter out of the cottage. Calloway was uninjured.

George Simon Ohm German physicist George Simon Ohm (1789-1854) formulated in 1827 the law of electrical resistance that underlies all modern electrical theory and measurement. Science scoffed at him for 15 years. Recognition brought him out of long retirement and into overwork that hastened his death.

Delmar Young Talks on 4-H Club Projects

The beginning of a 4-H Dairy Club Project is when the boy puts his arm around the neck of the dairy animal and learns to love that animal, stated Mr. Delmar J. Young, Extension Dairyman, at a recent meeting of the Kent County Local Leaders held in the board room of the Agriculture Building, Dover. Also on the program was Mr. Sam Gwinn, Sussex County 4-H Club Agent, who spoke on "Recreation, a Vital Part of the 4-H Slub Program."

The Dairy Club program as outlined by Mr. Young has two parts: the project and the boy, and the dairy activities. The boy should begin with a calf, raise that calf through to the time it drops a calf and continue until the calf has grown and dropped its calf. This boy is then eligible for Junior Membership in the particular National Breed Association and has started a dairy herd of his own. The grade calf will give the boy the same experience as a registered calf, but the value of the animal and the herd raised from the grade calf is considerably lower than that of registered stock. One raises the value of any herd when just one breed exists in the complete herd. With all knowledge of good dairy management the success of the boy and the project depends on his love for that animal in the beginning of its life.

Judging contests gives the boy an opportunity to learn to select good dairy animals, learn the parts of the animal, and the correct wording of the parts. Contests exist on club, county, state, and national level. Fitting and showing the animal should begin with community round-ups, giving the boy experience in leading the dairy animal and preparing him for the show ring. Then he should begin to show in county and state dairy shows. Having a community round-up at a regular club meeting in the early part of the evening is the best way for the 4-H club member to show their animals with their parents there to see them and to see the pride of the boy as he shows his own animal.

Tours by the club members and their parents to outstanding dairy herds in the county and even out-of-state places of interest are of great importance to his dairy knowledge. There are many things learned by an educational tour, many friends gained, and the interest of the whole family and community is aroused in that boy and that club.

To better the club program planned recreation is recommended by Mr. Gwinn. Mr. Gwinn gave many helpful ideas to the Local Leaders on quiet games, active games, and ways to have successful outdoor meetings in the summer. Scavenger hunts and backyard treasure hunts are popular and of great interest to club members. Outdoor club meetings with a weiner roast, vespers, and short business meeting gives every club member a part in the program. Getting everyone into the activity means a good time for all and a happy and better relationship of the club members and leaders.
