Railroad News

Mark your calendar Sunday, August 14th. Delmarva Division Annual Picnic, at Cape Charles, Virginia.

Features: 1. Special train, Wilmington-Cape Charles and return. 2. Boat trip on Chesapeake Bay. 3. Music. 4. Swimming. 5. Golf. 6. Contests. 7. Prizes. 8. Picnic tables, soft drinks, and coffee on the deck. Fun For Everyone. All Delmarva Division employees and their families are invited.

The windup of the Fair, removal of the carnival train and the morning and evening passenger trains No. 462 and 463, all happening at the same time, seems to have cast a shadow of gloom over the bustling railroad activity of last week.

The 31 car train carrying the Endy Brothers carnival moved out Sunday to Mansfield. The crew handling the train from Harrington to Edgewater was in charge of Conductor W. H. Carey.

The Sperry rail testing car laid over in Harrington last Friday evening until Monday, after testing all of the 100-lb. rail on No. 2 track from Wilmington. It continued on south to Delmar on Monday. The crew in charge leaving Harrington was Conductor J. E. Porter, Engineman D. H. Hitchens.

Another feature providing work for extra crews is the transportation of National Guardsmen to encampment at Dover. This started on July 9th, with the Air Corps units from Ohio and Kentucky, consisting of three 19 car trains. To avoid congestion through the city of Dover, the trains were unloaded at Wyoming and continued on down to Harrington, turned on Wye and deadheaded back to Wilmington. Each unit remains at the camp two weeks. As the Ohio and Kentucky guard moved out on the 23rd, the New York Guard moved in. This will continue until late October. Some of our railroad boys living in the vicinity of the air base say the extra air activity interferes very materially with their television reception.

Arrangements are under way for the annual picnic at Cape Charles, on Sunday, August 14th, and it is hoped that every railroad man and his family can be available.

Committees arranging for the affair are as follows: M. M. Quinn, General chairman.

Transportation: R. W. Windsor, Chairman, J. E. Powell, H. C. Mitchell, W. H. Carey, H. D. Williams.

Luncheon and bathing facilities: Wade Mitchell, chairman, J. E. Zullinger, C. T. Gratan, J. E. Burton, M. C. Joyce, H. P. Bull, Paul Wilt.

Program: H. A. Frew, chairman, W. C. Miller, vice-chairman, J. G. Robins, R. R. McClain, M. B. Sherwood, F. R. Bull, C. R. Vincent, Wade Ryan, J. E. Bridges, G. W. Douth F. N. Clark, C. E. Moseley, and J. E. McClaine, Jr.

Refreshments: S. C. Churn, chairman, F. V. Hebrun and W. F. Cobb.

Publicity: C. M. Stewart, chairman, C. E. Hastings, W. E. Taylor, N. F. Merritt, C. T. Redden, E. B. Daugherty, L. P. McKnatt, George Templeton, G. E. Ballard, J. T. Davidson, C. B. Daniels, E. L. Coffin, N. M. Hudson, J. H. K. Hudgins, J. R. McLernon, W. E. Baker, A. C. Eby, C. L. Lee, Elliott Richardson, G. R. Whisler, W. H. Long and W. E. Harper.

Aggricultural exhibits, on the other hand, were well received, with the superintendents of practically all departments claiming more and better entries than last year.

George Hamid's snows and Joe Basiles Band again furnished the entertainment in front of the grandstand during the afternoons and evenings, with fireworks at night winding up the day.

A thrill show opened the week Monday night, with Children's Day Tuesday. Thursday was Governor's Day, with a large number of politicians of both parties present.

The governor attended a memorial service in the afternoon preceding the harness races. The service was for deceased members of the Fair association. A bronze memorial plaque was placed on the west end of the grandstand. The names inscribed were those of Ernest Raughley, Ora C. Sapp, B. I. (Pete) Shaw, Warren T. Moore, and C. D. Murphy. The memorial service was for Mr. Raughley, J. Morris Harrington, W. H. Cahall, and Joshua Smith, directors of the Fair association.

Earl Sylvester, Fulton Downing, and Edmund Harrington comprised the committee handling the memorial services.

SONGS

Once, many years ago, I was sitting in a public place with some friends in that most storied of all American cities, "Proud Charleston by the Sea." The orchestra began to play and into the room stole the poignantly sweet strains of "Long, Long Ago." One of our party excused himself and left the room. "That song always affects him that way," said one of the others. "It brings back memories of an unrequited love."

Come to think of it, certain songs do bring back certain memories. Just a few notes of an old-time song and the years fade away.

I thought of Jimmy Southworth the other night, little Jimmy, of Salem, Arkansas, now dead these many years—and a song brought him back to me. The first time I heard that song, when I was just a tiny boy, Jimmy was the singer. It was the most popular song ever written, Charles K. Harris' immortal "After The Ball."

Several years later, when my voice was half gossamer and half calling and I was putting goose grease on my hair and wearing celluloid collars, the Teachers' Normal School was in session in our town. One night a lawn party was given up at Uncle Whit McWhorter's and all the teachers were there. Out upon that cedar-clustered lawn a piano was wheeled and Metta Elmore of Mammoth Spring sang Paul Dresser's "On The Banks of The Wabash, Far Away." Metta was a beautiful girl, with a beautiful voice, just the type of girl to sing such a song. I hear that song occasionally, even now—and always I can see the sycamores bending over the Wabash at Terre Haute or Old Vincennes—and I can see Metta as she was that night.

I met Althea Hargrave and George Smith just once, long ago, but I'll never forget them because a song has caused them to live in my memory. It was in the little college town of Mountain Home. Althea was at the piano at a little private gathering and George sang Egbert Van Alstyne's "In The Shade of The Old Apple Tree."

Another night and there was a moon. The only vestige of a cloud was a witch's broom of fleece away off in the southwest. There was a vagrant breeze, just enough to make the bluegrass in the courtyard nod and the leaves of the maple trees whisper. With their chairs propped against the courthouse the boys began to sing: "In The Evening by The Moonlight," "She Was Bred in Old Kentucky," "When The Corn Is Waving, Annie Dear," "White Wings—They'll Never Grow Weary," "When The Harvest Moon Is Shining On The River" and "Long, Long Ago." The fabric of a dream worn thin by constant dragging back across the jagged abyss of years—and I recall the singers: Will Paden, Ozzie Talley, Jase Caldwell and Mitchell Jeffrey. I do not know that any of them had trained voices, but they poured their hearts into those songs.

Other songs bring back other scenes, other faces, other times. In 1933 Marian Davies starred in "Peg O' My Heart," and through the entire picture whispered the strains of Gus Kahn's "Sweetheart Darlin'." I was at the most beautiful hotel on the Jersey shore that August, the elegant Admiral, at America's oldest resort, storied Cape May. A tropical hurricane and a nor'easter put on a Kilkenny Cat scrap in one of the most violent storms the South Atlantic has ever known. Marooned in the Admiral by an eighty-five-mile-an-hour gale, we sought solace in music, and above the howling of the wind and the pounding of the surf Val Ernie's Orchestra played Irish melodies, the tenderest of them "Sweetheart Darlin'."

There was an entrancingly beautiful widow from Boston. Under the spell of the sounding sea and the background of Val Ernie's music, I proposed, couching my proposal in poetic language: "Wilt thou marry me?" But, dad-gum it, she never wilted!

I have heard that song many times since, in brilliantly lighted rooms, in the hinterlands far remote from what the denizens of the penthouses erroneously refer to as civilization—but no matter where I may be, when I hear that song, there comes the sullen, sombre moaning of "Old Ocean's Gray and Melancholy Waste" and from the abyssal caverns of the deep, hoary old Neptune rises and rides the foam-flecked crest and with the fury of the long-subjugated, shrieks hoarse-voiced hate as he summons his minions and sends them in serried rolls pounding upon the sea wall at beleaguered Cape May. But over and above the storm come the sobbing strains of a song, a song that must live after all storms are over: "There's a Light in Your Eyes, Sweetheart Darlin'—and it makes all the world fair and bright—like the light in the skies, Sweetheart Darlin'—when the darkness steals out of the night."

About a year later that homely widow from Boston married some fellow from Maine, probably a Republican, and some fiend invented these infernal juke boxes. Since then, music hath no memories.—J. Harvey Burgess, in Wilmington (Delaware) Morning News.

It was mighty nice of the Pennsylvania Railroad to run some Diesel engines down here a few months ago to show us how nice they were—and then take the engines back to Wilmington and uncouple the trains from them.

Quite a few years ago many of the inhabitants of the branch road were accused of coming over to Harrington just to see the trains go by on the main line. From present indications, pretty soon they can come over here and we'll all go to Wilmington to see the trains.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., who was divorced by the former Ethel DuPont in May, is to marry again in August. This completes the cycle—all of the Roosevelt children have been in the divorce courts, some of them more than once. We believe this record is without parallel among the families of America of comparable size. We admired the original Franklin D. a lot and we recognize Mrs. Roosevelt as an outstanding American—but we have nothing but contempt for their brood.

An Akron, Ohio, baseball fan, because the Cleveland Indians baseball organization refused to sell him $6000.00 worth of tickets for his friends, has transferred his affections to the Pittsburgh Pirates. Bob Hope, the scumedian, owns stock in the Cleveland club, while Bing Crosby owns stock in the Pittsburgh club. This Akron fan takes a special train of fans to Pittsburgh on Sunday and on the train is a big banner flaunting this legend: "The Hate The Indians Club. To hell with Bob Hope—Hoorah for Bing Crosby!" That's exactly what we've thought of these two fellows all along.

If Harry Truman doesn't want the presidential nomination again, how about this for a ticket: For President, Chester Bowles, of Connecticut; for Vice-President, Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois? Please remember, exactly one year before the election, this paper came out for Franklin D. Roosevelt and John Nance Garner.

Social Security

Queries Answered

Questions relating to Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance will be answered in this paper by mail. Address all queries to Social Security Administration, Old Customs House Building, 6th and King Streets, Wilmington, Del.

Q. I would like to know what to do in order to get my social security card changed from my maiden name to my married name. Where would I write to request this change?

A. Your Social Security Administration Office will furnish you with a form called "Change of Records". Upon completion of this form, a card will be issued to you bearing your married name and your original number. You should not get a new number but just request a change in name.

Q. I have lost my social security card. Could you please tell me how I go about getting a new one?

A. You should secure an application for an account number from any postoffice or from an office of the Social Security Administration; complete this application and be sure to indicate that you have previously had a number and wish a duplicate of that number. Send this application to an office of the Social Security Administration and you will receive a duplicate of your original number.

Q. I am 78 years old and a citizen. I have never worked in a job covered by social security. I did some nursing companion work but I understand this work is not covered. Am I entitled to any social security benefits?

A. Unless you have worked in a job covered by social security and were paid at least $50 in each of six calendar quarters since Jan. 1, 1939, you are not entitled to old-age benefits under the Social Security Act. If you go to work now and earn these six $50 quarters, you may become fully insured and become entitled to benefits. The nursing companion work in a private home is generally not covered and may not be counted toward the necessary six quarters.

Shrubs for Privacy
Enclosure can be achieved by man-made walls, fences, hedges or shrub borders. Walls of living green are the best and when made of evergreens they give privacy all winter.

Pasture for Pigs
Good pasture reduces the cost of feeding pigs. One acre of alfalfa furnishes enough pasture for 18 to 20 pigs throughout the summer.

Pillow Cases
When a bed pillow seems too firm and fails to cushion the head properly there may be a simple reason for the trouble—a pillow case which is too tight. Homemakers will find their pillow cases will wear longer and their pillows will be more comfortable if they buy large enough pillow cases.

her mother, Mrs. Sallie Smith.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Warren and son are vacationing at Oak Orchard.
Edward Gross Jr., USN, is on a naval cruise.
Thursday morning of last week funeral services for Mrs. Susan Fraiser Rogers, 85, were held from the Rogers Funeral Home, Frederica, with interment at Barratt's Chapel. Mrs. Rogers had died on the previous Tuesday evening at the Moore Nursing Home here. Reverend Diehl officiated at the funeral.
Widow of the late Asa C. Rogers, she had been in failing health for a number of years although seriously ill only a few weeks, a part of which time she had been in the Milford Memorial Hospital.
The deceased had lived here most of her life and had many lifelong friends in this vicinity. She cared tenderly for her late husband for many years, and after he suffered a stroke and was confined to a wheel chair, she arranged for friends to visit with him frequently and gained his interest in varied games and puzzles in order to have him less mindful of his illness. Patient, kindly nursing became her life. So it is that another beloved resident has been laid to rest. Her brother was the late Senator Joseph Frazier.
Mrs. Rogers leaves a step-son, Lawrence C. Rogers, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., nieces and nephews.
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Melvin, Sr. entertained at their week-end guests Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bostic, their daughter, Mrs. Robert Houchens, and her son, Sammy Lee, all of Wilmington.
Frankie Bebee and Robert Morris spent the week-end at Oak Orchard.
Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Moore entertained Mrs. Mattie Smith and Mr. George Maris, of Dover, and Mr. Floyd Moore, of New Castle, during the week.
Mr. and Mrs. Livy Clark Rogers, of Lewes, are entertaining their mother, Mrs. Mabel Rogers, of Frederica.
Miss Nancy Lee VanSant is the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. VanSant, of Felton.

FLIES IN DAIRY BARNS CONTROLLED BY LINDANE

Flies that laughed at DDT may meet their match in another insecticide recommended by entomologists of the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station.

Lindane does not have such a lasting effect as DDT—it gives good fly control in dairy barns for about three to six weeks—but it does kill flies that have developed immunity to DDT.

Insecticides made from lindane will be marketed as wettable powders containing 25 per cent of the chemical, and as emulsion concentrates containing 20 per cent.

Lindane should be applied to wet all treated surfaces thoroughly. The amount of spray required to wet surfaces in dairy barns will average 1 gallon to 500 square feet of surface.

Along with the use of insecticides sprays in dairy barns, sanitation practices are still important, say the entomologists, especially the disposal of manure and other materials in which flies breed.

DELAWARE SCHOOLS SPEND $482,000 FOR LUNCH FOODS

Delaware farmers and food dealers have a good customer in the State's school lunch program, according to preliminary figures for the 1948-49 school year compiled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The lunch program, administered locally by the Delaware Board of Education and nationally by the Production and Marketing Administration, served 12,568 Delaware youngsters in the peak month of the school year ended, with 73 schools participating compared to 11,599 children in 64 schools the previous year.

Outstanding example of items bought from local producers is milk, of which about 1,900,000 half pints were consumed along with the lunches in Delaware the past year.

The food distributed in the State by PMA came from two sources. Some of it was bought by the Federal Department with part of the 75-million dollar Congressional school lunch appropriation.

The remainder of Federal funds distributed in the State came from stocks acquired by the Department in connection with surplus removal and price-support operations.

VAUDEVILLE AND "WIZARD OF OZ" TOGETHER AT NEW MILFORD

Patrons of the air conditioned New Milford Theatre on Friday and Saturday will see the usual top quality vaudeville bill plus the famous Technicolor musical, Judy Garland in "The Wizard Of Oz."

This week's five act vaudeville program will feature Coco, Steve and Eddy, doing amazing acrobatic feats on a teeter board. Other acts on the bill include Rio and Rogers, a very unusual musical act; George Moore, the crazy juggling chef; Bobby Carr and Co., magical moments; and Betty Moore, the zany comedienne.

The screen attraction, "The Wizard of Oz" is Judy Garland's memorable Technicolor musical. One of the high spots of the picture is Judy's singing of "Over The Rainbow", a tune which has retained its popularity over the years.

Also scheduled for the stage of the New Milford this coming week is the sixth "Stars in the Making" show on Wednesday evening between 8 and 8:30.

Frederica

(Last Weeks) Mrs. Sue Rogers has returned from the Milford Memorial Hospital, and she is at the Moore Nursing Home.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bounds motored to Ocean City, New Jersey.

Wednesday August third the M. Y. A. F. will hold its mid-summer business and social meeting in the Trinity Church lecture room, 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

Reverend and Mrs. John R. Diehl of Trinity parsonage, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Porter, of Delaware City, last week.

Rev. Diehl preaches at the Milford Neck Methodist Church each Sunday afternoon. His topic there and here was "The Beauty of An Immortal Deed."

Rev. E. N. Gault, a former Trinity Methodist Church pastor, Mrs. Gault and son, Eddie, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Melvin, Sr.

At the outbreak of World War II, Rev. Gault was stationed here. He resigned his pastorate and entered the army, and he rapidly was advanced in the service.

Upon becoming a chaplain he served as a captain overseas, and he was spiritual advisor at a base from which the bombers took off from England for the Continent.

The terrific pressures of duties broke Gault physically, and he returned to the States critically ill and with health so impaired that recovery was doubtful.

James Tingle and Teddie Donovan are spending this week at Camp Barnes, Frankford.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jester and family, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bebee, with their daughter and son, motored to Riverview Beach.

Last Wednesday Mrs. Sadie Moore was the guest of her nephews and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Boone, of Smyrna.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Rentz motored to Wildwood and Cape May, N. J. last week.

Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hayman were their friends from Easton, Md.

Mr. Clarence Jester is spending a ten day shore leave with his family.

Frederica won the baseball game, played at Lewes, on Sunday. It has become habitual to list Frederica as the winner.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Hoey entertained on Friday and Saturday, when their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morris and son, Paul, of Newark.

SOUTHERN STATES COOPERATIVE

Southern States members in this area, meeting at Harrington on July 15, heard reports on their cooperative's services for the 1948-49 year, chose members to their local Advisory Board and Farm Home Advisory Committee, and considered plans and programs for the coming year.

The meeting, attended by 175, was sponsored jointly by Southern States Cooperative and Peck Brothers Farm Supply Co., Harrington, Cooperative Agency.

Members of the cooperative throughout the six-state territory put through their organization nearly $120,000,000 worth of purchasing and marketing service during 1948-49, the largest volume in the organization's 26-year history.

This figure is an estimate, based on the record for the first 11 months of the year which was presented at the meeting. Net savings, inclusive of savings of local affiliates were approximately $1,300,000.

The cooperative now has a net worth of $18,800,000. Hugh S. Harris gave the report on 1948-49 operations.

Elected to the Advisory Board were Elmer Brown of Harrington, and William Bullock of Harrington. Named to the local Farm Home Advisory Committee were Mrs. William G. Carpenter of Felton, and Mrs. Frank Tharp of Harrington.

Melvin Brown of Harrington, was chosen to represent the community at the Southern States annual meeting in Richmond next November 17 and 18 with William Bullock of Harrington, as an alternate.

Winners in the Farm Grown Hat Contest, conducted as an entertainment feature of the meeting were: 1. Mrs. H. Cooper; 2. Mrs. S. E. Sullivan; 3. Miss Adams; 4. Mrs. Frank Tharp; 5. Arthur Theil, and 6. Mildred Capper.

Following the meeting, the Advisory Board elected William Bullock of Harrington, as chairman for the coming year. The Farm Home Advisory Committee selected Mrs. Howard Cooper of Harrington, as its chairman.

FIELD DAY

Agronomy research results to be outlined include sidressing corn with nitrogen; effects of green manure crops; soybeans fertilization; time of planting soybeans; weed control in corn with 2, 4-D; variety trials with wheat, oats and barley; and time of planting trials with oats and barley.

Studies on sprays, dusts and time of application for the control of downy mildew disease on cantaloupes will be discussed by members of the plant pathology department. In the entomology field, research is being conducted on control of tomato pests by the use of DDT and methoxychlor sprays.

A total of 21 research projects are currently being carried on at the Substation. All Delaware farmers and others interested in agricultural research are invited to visit the experimental plots and hear the discussions of various projects.

Washington, Weatherman The amateur weatherman has flourished in the United States since colonial days, notes the National Geographic Society.

In a diary for December, 1799, one of them wrote painstakingly day after day of Virginia's weather conditions. Notations ranged from "morning, clear and pleasant, with a light wind," to "morning, snowing and about three inches deep."

The weatherman-diary—George Washington, the last weather entry was dated December 13. He died December 14.

Car Record Office Every railroad maintains a car record office, by means of daily reports, keeps a complete record of the movements not only of all freight cars on its own lines, regardless of ownership, but also of its own cars on other railroads.

High Jumper The kangaroo holds the world's record for the standing high jump. If frightened it can leap as high as seven feet. The long hind legs of this animal enable it to bound away from its enemies to safety.

New York's Agriculture New York state agriculture was, almost a billion dollar business in 1948. Gross receipts by farmers from the marketing of the products were estimated at $946,521,000.

Useful Tool A broom handle can be a very useful tool. Hammer or screw a hook into the end and it will be very helpful in reaching and pulling down unbreakable boxes of supplies and elusive window-shade cords.

Cleft Palate Course

A program of instruction and clinical training in the care of cleft palate children for specialists in a variety of professions has been established by the University of Illinois.

Energy Potential Among the potential sources of energy, hydroelectric—the work in which watershed development is specially interested—ranks first in most of the world. Present output in kilowatt hours is only 4.3 per cent of that potentially available for development. These resources are greatest, and yet least utilized, in the less-developed area of the world.

For instance, Africa, with 41 per cent of the world's total potential hydroelectric resources is utilizing a negligible amount of this potential.

Rodent Poison Risks in using compound 1080, a rodent poison, on range areas over which sheep and cattle may be herded are pointed up in a report in the American Journal of Veterinary Research.

Experiments at the Colorado experiment station showed that sheep, and probably cattle, can become fatally sick by consuming small amounts of 1080-poisoned bait intended for prairie dogs and ground squirrels.

Feed containing the compound was unpalatable to sheep, but in spite of that, they ate enough of it to be seriously affected.

Loss from Forest Fires Forest fires are an ever-present national menace. More than 30 million acres of forest are destroyed by more than 200,000 fires each year. The annual loss is 38 million dollars.

What the Logger Leaves The slash which the logger leaves has long been a problem of great concern. What to do with the tree tops has been debated throughout the entire history of lumbering, for slash is a highly combustible forest fire fuel.

Fortunately, there is a growing realization that slash disposal is a necessary part of the forest protection program.

Hand-Shake A woman's hand-squeeze averages about 45 pounds and a man's about 80.

Colorful Arizona Because of its gorgeous colorings and ideal photographic conditions, Arizona has become increasingly popular as a shooting location for Hollywood motion picture companies.

Mexican Duck Kill Annual kill of ducks in Mexico is estimated as less than the take on opening day in the United States.

Late Grassfires Late summer burning is particularly bad from a game standpoint. At this time of year almost every grassland fire burns alive nests of helpless baby rabbits. These same grasslands harbor the homes of ground-nesting birds and even a fast moving fire will invariably destroy the nest and its contents.

Bicycle Registration In cities having bicycle registration ordinances both bicycle thefts and accidents are greatly reduced, the Bicycle Institute of America reports. Registration of bikes with police departments offers the same protection and proper instruction in safety as car owners receive from their registration of the family automobile.

T.V.A. in Africa British Uganda and the Egyptian government have launched one of the world's largest irrigation and electricity generation schemes. The project will make possible an increase in the cultivable area of Egypt from 5.9 million acres to about 7 million. In the Sudan (which is jointly administered by Britain and Egypt), the irrigable area will be increased from 862,000 acres to 2.5 million acres.
