State Highway Department Has 15 Projects On

The State Highway Department at present has fifteen projects in operation throughout the State, according to W. A. McWilliams, Chief Engineer of the Department.

Some of the projects were started last year and are being completed this season while others are new this year.

In addition to those now in operation, several others have been completed this year. Mr. McWilliams pointed out and added that there are several more projects for which bids have been received but on which work has not started.

The work now in progress involves almost every type of construction that come under the Department's jurisdiction, the Chief Engineer explained, with many of them involving complicated engineering details.

The projects range from such work as the complete rebuilding and resurfacing of Front street and Lancaster Avenue, a busy Wilmington thoroughfare, and the creation of the huge viaduct over the multiple railroad tracks at Elsmere, to the transformation of some dirt roads to a stabilized earth and surface treated highway.

In addition to the work on the various new projects, the Department's maintenance forces have been busy during the summer months in repairing existing hard surfaced highways and treating dirt roads, Mr. McWilliams added.

With existing projects now in operation, and those already completed this summer, being located in each of the three counties, Mr. McWilliams indicated that at various times during the summer there have been highway operations in almost every section of the State.

Mrs. L. McMullen Dies in Baltimore

Mrs. Laura McMullen, 75, formerly of Harrington, died of suffocation Tuesday in Baltimore when a small metal tube which she had had to use for breathing since a cancer operation some months ago slipped from her hands as she was cleaning it.

The accident occurred in the home of Mrs. Flossie Powell, a sister with whom Mrs. McMullen has been staying.

Mrs. McMullen had undergone an operation for cancer of the tongue in a Wilmington hospital early this year. Since then she had breathed through a detachable steel tube.

She removed it Monday for cleaning and was preparing to insert a substitute section when the tube slipped into the folds of her dress.

Although Mrs. Powell was in the house, she was unaware of her sister's distress. Later discovering her plight, she summoned a physician who pronounced Mrs. McMullen dead.

Funeral services will be held today at 2 p. m. at Berry Funeral Home here, with burial in Hollywood Cemetery.

Property Removed

Before they did so, however, they removed all property they believe belonged to Hugo Schultz, Epsom, N. H., farmer whose death the Brennans are also thought to have contrived last Jan. 10—three months after the Woodriddle slaying.

Police believe Woodriddle's body was buried in a pigsty in a barn on the 70-acre farm. They also think Schultz was killed on his New Hampshire farm, transported here in a truck, then interred beside Woodriddle.

Troopers charge that the bodies were dug up later, burned, and the remains scattered over the Dover city dump.

The Brennans are accused of having brought much of Schultz's personal belongings with them on the trip from New Hampshire to Dover. These are the articles removed for safe-keeping last Friday.

Gregg Case Ends Abruptly

The Gregg case came to an abrupt end Saturday.

Dr. Howard D. Gregg, suspended president of the Delaware State College near Dover, Saturday was entirely out of office.

The board of trustees of the college disclosed it had bought out for $9,000 the remaining four years of Dr. Gregg's contract, which ran until June 30, 1953.

Included in the $9,000 amount is $3,000 which Dr. Gregg was allowed to pay for his defense in the long, drawn-out hearings.

Dr. Gregg was announced in the long, drawn-out hearings. Litigation involving Dr. Gregg, the trustees, and the college had wound its way in the past few months into the U. S. District Court.

The entire affair, involving public hearings and an investigation ordered by Governor Carvel, was touched off by a strike of students at the college last Feb. 8.

The end of the case, and of all litigation, was announced in a statement issued by Dr. Gregg's attorney, H. Albert Young of Wilmington, and by Atty.-Gen. Albert W. James and Houston Wilson, special assistant to Mr. James, both of whom represented the board.

A total of $9,000 will be paid to Dr. Gregg to conclude his contract. Dr. Gregg's salary was at least $6,000 a year according to testimony at an early hearing.

Only one word fits it - Wonderful!

YOU know how it usually is—slow and steady is the rule in automotive progress.

But every now and then it happens. Along comes a car that's new all over—like this one—and headlines sing the news.

Take the styling of it—fresh and smart and really exciting from its non-locking bumper-guard grilles to the jet-plane look of its fenders.

Take the outward size of it—handy in traffic, easy to garage, actually more room and a sweeter ride in fewer over-all inches.

Step inside—and stretch yourself in the biggest interiors ever found in a Buick Special, with a full twelve inches added to rear-seat hiproom.

Try the power of big 110 or 120 hp high-compression Fireball engines—sample the restful levelness of a ride that sets the standard for the industry.

Check controls—and note really big news: The luxury of Dynaflo Drive*—newest, simplest and smoothest of all modern transmissions—is optional equipment, available now at the lowest price level yet!

Finally, look at the price tag. Measure its figures against others—and see if any car, even in the lowest-price field, gives you so much of what you want for each dollar you invest.

Tops in style, tops in room, tops in lift and life and traveling ease, a trip to your Buick dealer will show you this is wonderful in value too!

For the biggest buy of this year—and many a year to come—better go now and get your order in!

*Optional at extra cost

THE HARRINGTON JOURNAL

Office of Publication, 207 Commerce Street, Harrington, Delaware

Entered as second-class matter August 16, 1946, at the Post Office at Harrington, Delaware, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

It CAN happen here.

Rudy Vallee, 48, mamma's idol of the roaring twenties, has applied for a license to marry Eleanor Norris, 21. We don't blame the old fox if he can catch the fat young pullet.

The fall meet of the Kent & Sussex Raceway will help to strengthen the winter training colony here. Stables can now come here, get quarters for the fall meet, stay for winter training, and participating in the spring meet here which, incidentally, is the first harness meet in the East. Three birds with one stone.

We would like to have columnists for our newspaper. We have our fingers crossed, however, for it is an easy matter to get a column started, a hard matter to keep it going, and, once it is going, a harder matter to get it stopped. Anyway, we are interested in the following columns—nature studies or outdoor life, agriculture, harness racing, letters to the editor, reminiscences.

The Harrington Journal is still in the Burgess family, after 32 years, but it is now owned by W. C. and C. H. Burgess, sons of J. Harvey Burgess. The deal was consummated last week. We will continue to improve the newspaper. We hope the erstwhile publisher will continue to write us an editorial or two when he feels in the mood. He certainly has a way with words. We would also like to have some of his humorous writings. Mr. Burgess now writes humorous material for The Morning News. In the Tuesday morning issue he referred to Harrington as "Hossington."

Occasionally, in the gustatory firmament appears an eating place which, we feel, deserves revealing as a public service. Such a place is the Fairview Inn, operated by Mrs. Morris Savage, at Bowers Beach. Here's what we had Sunday for $1.25—three pieces of fried chicken, two pieces of trout, four clam fritters, two saucers of fresh beets, a cereal bowl of stewed potatoes, a cereal bowl of giblet gravy, a cereal bowl of baby lima beans, sliced tomatoes, deep-dish apple pie, and coffee.

For little clams on the half-shell, we believe the Clam Bar, at Rehoboth, is unusual. A dozen small clams on the half-shell cost only 50c when we were there two months ago.

One pays for what one gets at The Lotus Gardens, north of Dover on U. S. 13, but their T-bone steaks are tops and about the largest we have encountered in these parts.

Moore's Restaurant, Frederica, serves a complete meal, or $1.25. Besides the meat dish, Mrs. Moore also serves a side order of clam fritters.

Getting back to Fairview Inn, we are reminded of two restaurants we encountered in the Ozarks of Missouri a couple years ago which are "out of this world." At the town of Ozark, Mo. (population, 914), near Springfield, we visited Smith's Hotel. Though it was but 11 a. m., we waited at the end of a line that extended from the hotel across the street and onto the courthouse lawn.

We finally entered a dining-room, paneled with red cedar, in which there were a number of 30-foot tables, also of red cedar.

We were served family style. As fast as a bowl or dish was emptied, it was refilled. On the table were: chicken and dumplings, meat balls and spaghetti, roast beef, dressing, fifteen kinds of vegetables, and cornbread and biscuits. The diner could drink sweet milk, buttermilk, or coffee, or all of them. Dessert was apple pie. Price for this repast was 60c.

Mrs. Smith's hotel restaurant has served as many as 800 persons on a Sunday. She starts serving at 11 a. m. and when the chicken and dumplings run out, she closes for the day.

At Cassville, Mo., in the southwest corner of the state, at the Roaring River Cafe, we had the choice of southern fried chicken (the real McCoy, incidentally), baked chicken, and stewed chicken. This was put on our plates. On the table were bowls of vegetables, dressing, and dumplings, and these could be refilled. We also had our favorite drink. Price for all, 50c.

At a hotel at Camden, Mo., in the Lake of the Ozarks country, is a hotel that puts out a family-style meal for 75c.

Getting back to Mrs. Smith's Hotel reminds us of one of a chain of nationally known restaurants at which we stopped recently. This restaurant put more on its building than it did on the plate.

Trinity Methodist Church Notes

The world is bound to get better as the people thereof allow God to rule their lives, and as they affiliate themselves with the Church. Unless God and the Church first are put into the individual you cannot expect him to become God-ruled or Church-conscious. One of the great privileges of the Church is to somehow put the Church inside of people. With this in mind we shall consider at the 11 o'clock service for the next six Sunday mornings the general theme: "The Church In The Life of The Individual." The first sermon in the series will deal with the specific subject: "The Church In The Life of The Infant." Our Sunday School welcomes you to a class of your age group at 9:45 a. m. each Sunday morning. Then at 8 p. m. the Evening Worship Service. Monday evening: The Official Board. Tuesday evening: The Sunday School Board. Thursday morning and afternoon: One Day Session of Peninsula Annual Conference at Dover. Thursday afternoon: Memorial Service for the deceased members of the Fire Co. and Auxiliary. Wednesday, Sept. 28th: Group First Quarterly Conference. The public is cordially invited to all services.

POTTER'S FIELD

Last week, we were in a little store down state, talking to the grocer's wife, when we heard this: "Hey! Louise! How much (gulp) are these (swallow) marshmallow (chomp) cakes? (choke)."

"They're worth forty-three cents a pound now, but they won't be worth anything when you get through eating them," she snapped. Quick as a flash came the answer, "Okay we'll put them up to forty five, to make up for what I ate."

The grocer was only joking, but in those few words, said in fun, he opened the door to a lot of thought.

When you pick up your daily paper, on the front page you will see headlines like these: "Probe of '5 percenters' continues"; "Two billion dollar deficit in first two months of fiscal year, may reach twelve billion." "John Doe asked to account for $2,800,000 of government funds." Headlines like these are usually followed within a short time, by one reading, "New tax bill goes before Congress."

The two cents that the grocer said he was going to raise his cookies would mean nothing to you, but it could come out of your pocket just the same. However, when it runs into billions of dollars, even when those billions are paid by 180,000,000 people, it runs into money, that comes out of your pocket too.

This United States of ours is the greatest country in the world, and we have the best landlord in the world "Uncle Sam".

However, there is a catch in that. A man owning several apartment houses in different cities cannot possibly collect his rent, himself; therefore, he must hire agents, or managers, to do this for him. Now, if these agents or managers raise the rent, or charge you extra for incidental services without the knowledge of the owner; his only fault is that he was not careful in the selection of his agents and managers. Nevertheless, the extra money that you paid is gone; you haven't got it and the landlord didn't get it.

"That's the way it is. We are living in the most wonderful country in the world, but the rent is getting awful high, and the old landlord is not getting it all. It's about time that he hired a few new agents and managers."

VETERAN COMEDY TO HEADLINE MILFORD VAUDEVILLE

Back in the old days of "two a day" vaudeville at the famous Palace Theatre in New York a woman comedy team named Harris and Radcliff opened with very little fanfare, but in a short while word spread that they were "rollin' 'em in the aisles" with their hilarious skit and the result was a holdover engagement for many weeks. In the years since, Harris and Radcliff have earned a reputation in the nation's leading show places as being one of the funniest acts in show business. They will be the headliner on the five-act vaudeville bill at the New Milford on Friday and Saturday. Another unusual act on the bill is Cazan... the girl Houdini. She was recently featured on the popular television show, Hobby Lobby, when she was put in handcuffs supplied by the New York Police Department and placed in a packing case from which she escaped in four minutes. Sunny Bright... the glamorous comedienne will emcee the show.

On Wednesday evening as an added attraction the New Milford will present the second "Stars In The Making" semi-finals contest featuring the elimination contest winners. The winners of the semi-finals will appear in the grand final to be held soon.

Howard Warren, County P. M. A. chairman, urges all farmers interested in this program to be present and express their ideas concerning the practices that should be included in next year's P. M. A. program. C. E. Phillips, Extension Agronomist from the University of Delaware, will be present to discuss problems relative to conservation measures. Members of the P. M. A. Committee will be present to participate in the discussion and assist in any way possible with interpreting the regulations under which the program is administered.

HOW TO COMPUTE PRICES FOR RETAILING BROILERS

In recent weeks a number of folks have made calls to the Bureau of Markets, requesting information as to the method of computing a fair price to charge for dressed chicken. It is rather surprising to note that a great many folks from town prefer to go directly to the farm for their supply of chicken. Quite a number of housewives are willing to pay slightly above the retail market price for a good fresh tender chicken. In all fairness to both the farmer and the housewives, we must arrive at a reasonable selling figure.

Let's take an example to see how the system will work. Farmer Jones owns a general farm and produces a small number of broilers in addition to his dairy enterprise. In this example we will assume that the present paying price on the farm for broilers is 30c per pound. Farmer Jones has 500 three pound broilers to market, and at live weight paying prices they would have a value of $450. Some of the housewives that patronize Farmer Jones, prefer a bird dressed New York style, (blood and feathers removed). At this point, it is well to insert a handy set of figures released by the Poultry Department at Cornell University, to be used in determining the dressing loss that may be expected.

Average Live Weight of Birds under 3 lbs. N. Y. dressing loss in % 13%. Amount of Saleable chicken remaining 2 lbs. 10 oz. Full drawn loss in %, 27%. Amount of chicken remaining, 2 lbs. 3 oz.; 4 lbs., 11%, 3 lbs. 9 oz.,

25% 3 lbs.; 5 lbs., 10%, 4 lbs. 8oz., 22%, 3 lbs. 15 oz.; 6 lbs., 7%, 5 lbs. 9 oz., 18%, 4 lbs. 15 oz.

From the chart you will notice that the weight loss of the New York style dressing operation amount to 13% of the live weight of the chicken. This means that farmer Jones has 1305 pounds of chicken remaining to sell after removing blood and feathers. However, he must be paid for the loss of weight caused by the dressing operation plus his labor and overhead expenses. By dividing $450, which is the value of the live broilers, by 1305 pounds, we arrive at roughly 34 1/2c per pound for the dressed bird. However, we haven't taken care of the overhead expenses incurred in the dressing operation. Most farmers that retail their chickens add from 5c to 7c a pound to the cost. Others charge a flat rate of 15c to 20c for each bird regardless of the weight. The latter method is to be preferred as it costs no more to dress a five pound chicken than it does to dress a three pounder. If we use the former method to cover labor and overhead, 7c may be added to 34 1/2c, bringing the total cost to 41 1/2c per pound. Below is a form that may be used when figuring this type of problem.

500 Number of broilers, 3 Average weight per bird, 1500 Weight of entire flock, $450 Value of entire flock (live weight times 30c), 1500 Weight of entire flock, .13 % dressing loss obtained from chart, 195 Weight loss from dressing (1500 times .13 equals 195 lbs.) 1305 Weight of saleable poultry 34 1/2c Selling price necessary to recover dressing loss ($450 divided by 1305), 41 1/2c Selling price necessary to cover overhead (34 1/2c plus 7c).

Plant Barley, Oats In October, Says Sloan

Tests conducted at the Delaware Agricultural Sub-station near Georgetown show that Oct. 1-15 is the best time to plant oats and barley in Sussex County for greatest yields, according to Assistant County Agent, Wm. C. Sloan.

The test with oats has been underway for five years with ten varieties being tested. Plantings were made on Sept. 15th, October 1st, and October 15th. The average yields for all ten varieties were as follows: Sept. 15th, 38.9 bushels; October 1st, 46.2 bushels; October 15th, 47.8 bushels.

The three leading varieties were Lee, Forbeeder and Winterturf. Other varieties in the test included New Jersey, B-2-2, Pioneer, Letoria, New Jersey A-2-2, Fulwin, Wintox and Fulgrain.

Results with barley tests over a three-year period show that the October 16th planting gave highest yields. Plants were made on Sept. 18th, October 7th and 16th. The average yields for the four varieties used in the tests were Sept. 18th, 20.8 bushels; October 7th, 27.4 bushels and October 16th, 29.8 bushels.

Kentucky No. 1 has given better yields than other varieties during this three-year period. Other varieties used in the test were Wong, Tennessee Winter and Kentucky No. 20.

LATEST CLUE—It is not the end of the trail—the lost coin was not the treasure. Day by Day, week by week, the treasure looms greater. Time is fleeting. Will I succeed, because many important duties will need my attention. Like a man by the side of the road, I am standing at the L in the trail. When young, the same condition contributed much to my life. As the trail gradually turns, I can see a huge sign with the letter T looming ahead. Should I go east or west? Time is fleeting—I judge—my trail should head due north.

The total attendance was 291,430—an average of 5,024 nightly—and the mutual handle soared to $7,818,079, an increase of nearly half a million dollars over the previous year.

Driving laurels at the summer meet were won by Aubrey Rodney with 29 wins, 17 seconds and 21 thirds for an average of 424. Youthful Billy Houghton surpassed Rodney in number of wins with 41, but was second in the average with a mark of 378.

The popular Spa oval will re-open for a 30-night meeting to be conducted by the Orange County Driving Park Ass'n., Sept. 12-Oct. 15.

LUSTY SONG, PROXIMITY BOW

The final two major undefeated harness horses in the country, Lusty Song and Proximity, were knocked out of the perfect record class within the last week. Lusty Song, two-year-old trotter from the Hayes Fair Acres Stable of DuQuoin, Ill., bowed to Arden Homestead's Florican in the $30,000 Castleton Farm Stake at DuQuoin, while Ralph and Gordon Verhurst's Proximity was beaten by Harrison Hoyt's Demon Hanover in the $50,000 Roosevelt Two Mile Trot at Roosevelt Raceway after previously winning 16 straight heats this year.

BIRTHDAY PRESENT

A victory for Miss Tilly, the Hambletonian winner, in the $60,000 Kentucky Futurity Oct. 7, would come just in time to serve as a birthday present for her veteran trainer-driver, Fred Egan. Groo, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, will outline activities for the coming year.

Dr. Carlisle P. Knight, Acting Director of the Division of Maternal and Child Health, State Board of Health, today urged that mothers review immunization records once more with determination to remove diphtheria from the list of menaces to their children.

Diphtheria is a disease resulting from neglect, because children immunized against it are, in most cases, safe. It is dangerous and catching. Children are most defenseless under 5 years of age. The very young child is in greater danger because not only is he more likely to get the disease, but also he is more apt to die than the older ones.
