

Felton School Board Asks Approval of Appeal For Construction Program

Adequate Cafeteria Service Essential—Elementary School Enrollment Increases Classroom Facilities Are Inadequate

A Report to the School Building Program Board regarding the Need For Additional School Plant Facilities At Felton.

submitted by the Board of Trustees, Felton School No. 54, Felton, Delaware.

Mr. Walter H. Moore, Pres.; Mr. W. W. Wood, Mrs. Louise Ludlow, Mr. Charles Bostick, Howard E. Henry, Sup. Prin. and Clerk.

The Board of Trustees for Felton School requests approval of its appeal for state assistance in financing construction of a cafeteria and two elementary classrooms to be added to the existing school plant. State aid in the amount of $12,630 is needed to supplement $40,000 to be raised by the local school district.

Improvised Cafeteria Facilities

At present almost three hundred students and teachers are served each day through improvised cafeteria facilities. The school has no cafeteria, but stoves, tables, refrigerators, and storage facilities are housed in the 14 x 39 home economics room. About seventy high school pupils eat cafeteria lunches in the English classroom adjoining the home economics room. Approximately two hundred elementary and high school pupils eat lunch in their own classrooms, trays being carried from the home economics room. Teachers and guests eat lunch in the home economics room or in the classrooms.

Unsatisfactory Arrangements

Since the school population is largely bus-transported, adequate cafeteria service is essential. The arrangement at present is unsatisfactory for four reasons:

1. Food must be prepared and dishes washed in the home economics room while classes are in progress. The elementary school pupils must be served prior to dismissal of high school classes; consequently the home economics program operates under a serious handicap of noise and confusion, aggravated by inadequate space.
2. Transporting trays to classrooms causes broken dishes, spilled and wasted food, and insanitary conditions.
3. It is impossible to eliminate a certain amount of untidiness when classrooms are used as lunch rooms.
4. Lack of adequate serving facilities results in long lines of pupils waiting to be served and an excessive delay in obtaining food. For this reason some pupils prefer to buy lunches at restaurants near the school. The expected increase in school population will aggravate this problem.

Inadequate Classroom Facilities

The increase in school population, especially in the elementary grades, during the past five years made it necessary to secure some additional classroom space this year. To alleviate overcrowded conditions a former storehouse of the State Department of Public Instruction was moved to Felton and converted into two classrooms for high school use. It now houses the music and industrial arts departments. Previously there was no room available for teaching music, either vocal or instrumental.

The transfer of industrial arts to the annex enabled us to convert the former shop into two small classrooms, each suitable for not more than twenty-five pupils. The year before an elementary school room was likewise converted into two rooms by erecting a partition, and each of these small rooms (4x19) now houses twenty-five pupils. This year the overflow from the first and second grades make up the enrollment in another room made available by the addition of the annex.

These measures have served to keep the number of pupils taught by any elementary teacher to less than forty. However further reduction in size of classrooms by erecting partitions is undesirable, for hiring an extra teacher does not change the fact that each of the small rooms thus created is far too small to accommodate the pupils properly.

Veterans Owing May Lose Part Of Dividends

more than a half million veterans who owe the government money as a result of overpayment on subsistence allowances or other veteran benefits or credits on loans guaranteed by veterans administration may find all or part of their share of the forthcoming special dividend payment on NSLI deducted to cover their debts, veterans administration said today.

veterans administration estimated that somewhere between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000 of such debts may be collected from the NSLI dividends.

All of the individuals concerned are aware of their indebtedness to the government, and know that it is deductible from other Veterans Administration payments to which they may be entitled, the agency said.

Some 600,000 veterans are currently indebted to the Veterans Administration for a total of about $70,000,000. The bulk of this amount constitutes overpayments on subsistence allowances for veterans taking educational courses or training under the GI Bill. Other types of indebtedness are overpayments on pensions, compensation or readjustment allowances, and losses made good to lenders on defaulted GI Loans.

A considerable number of veterans are now repaying indebtedness by having deduction made from their monthly checks. When the overpayment is wiped out, as it may be by the dividend deductions, there will be no further monthly withholding.

Railroad News

The Delmarva express, one of two express trains operating daily between Wilmington and Norfolk, was discontinued at midnight Tuesday of last week in both directions for the duration of the coal strike, according to William N. Pippin, division passenger agent for Wilmington.

This leaves only one express and one local daily between the two points.

The curtailment schedule is in line with a Pennsylvania Railroad announcement that passenger service throughout its steam route-live lines would be cut 50 per cent at midnight Tuesday.

The Delmarva express reached Harrington at 12:40 p. m. on its southbound run, and at 4:46 p. m. on its northbound run daily.

D. K. Chase, assistant to the general manager at Pittsburgh was in town Monday visiting his father who is very ill in Milford hospital.

Vice-President, J. C. White; stores manager, W. I. Oswald; general storekeeper, Don Byham and engineer maintenance of way, Paul Geary paid a visit to Clayton, Harrington and Delmar last Thursday, making a general inspection of material yards.

Automatic crossing gates were placed in service at the main street crossing in Fruitland, Md., Thursday. This is the thirteenth crossing equipped on the division, and like the Greenwood crossing, was given preference over others under construction, as a result of fatal accidents.

Two years ago, a prominent member of our town gave Bill Hurley two bucks saying he played a like amount at the races on "Old Bill" who came through Ok a few days before. Hearing this story from Bill himself, the writer passed up the chance to play the same horse last week, thinking the horse, like the switchboard operator, might have slipped badly in the ensuing two years. But he had not, and came in first paying $17.30. Names are sometimes deceiving.

The new division engineer at Cape Charles is Kenneth A. Warden, who replaced Ralph Utts, on the first of November.

Many other officials have been shifted and replaced as a result of consolidations due to the coal and steel strikes.

On November 1st the Williamsport and Wilkes-Barre divisions were consolidated and named the Susquehanna division.

The Monongahela division was taken over by the Pittsburgh division.

The Cleveland division absorbed the Erie and Ashtabula division.

The Logansport division became part of the Chicago Terminal division.

Holly interlocking tower was closed Monday causing the following changes in block operations: Ben East displaces George Vincent at Harrington, 1st trick; Rube Outten displaces Charley Hopkins here on 3rd trick; Charley takes over 2nd trick displacing Eddie Garret.

Rotarians Hear Foreign Students

Last Tuesday evening the Harrington and Milford Rotary Clubs met in a joint inter-city meeting and dinner at the Wonder Bar, with Mr. Fulton Downing in charge.

The high spot of the evening was the panel discussion which followed the short talks by Mr. M. Tirado from the Foreign Languages Department, of the University of Delaware, and two students of the Foreign Students' Club, Mr. Panayotis Lambropoulos of Greece, and Mr. Mohammad Soltani from Persia.

Each speaker spoke briefly of conditions in his country and gave what he thought was being done by this country to alleviate conditions brought on by the last war. The students, neither one having been long in this country, made a lasting impression upon the members of both clubs with their simplicity and understanding.

Mr. Tirado, in charge of the students, gave a short impression of his native Puerto Rico.

Mr. Frank Richardson of the Delaware Apple Commission, and a member of the Dover Rotary Club, treated the clubs with cider and apples.

Mr. Melvin Brobst is president of the Harrington club, and Mr. Harry Mayhew of the Milford club.

Church to See Deep-Sea Film

Discovery that the "silent deep" is not silent after all forms the basis for a scientific color film, "Voice of the Deep", to be shown in Collins Hall of Asbury Methodist Church Friday, November 4, at 7:30 P. M.

Contrary to the age-old belief that there is no sound under the sea, "Voice of the Deep" reveals that fish have a definite language of their own. Their aquatic conversations in the film resemble the peculiar quacks, grunts, whistles, and cucks of a barnyard. A congregation of snapping shrimp sounds like a cracking forest fire, while a school of Chesapeake Bay cookers was once mistaken for an invasion of enemy snips.

This is the first time that fish sounds have been recorded in a film, according to Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, producers of "Voice of the Deep". A special moody representative will show the film here.

"To achieve the unusual scenes in "Voice of the Deep," a scientific expedition was sent out from Los Angeles to the coast of southern California. Delicate sounding devices were used to determine where to tune in the hydrophone, or underwater microphone, to find the most noisy fish. Then a diver was lowered into the sea with a specially outfitted camera.

Thirty minutes of colorful marine drama were the result. To climax the film, preacher-scientist Irwin A. Moon links the new discovery to man's need of God. "For centuries man could not hear fish sounds because he did not have the proper equipment," Dr. Moon declares in a short review of the scientific principles behind underwater sound. "But now that the hydrophone has been invented, we know that our previous conclusions were wrong."

"The same is true of the spiritual world," he adds. "Some people do not believe that a spiritual world exists, but only because they are not properly equipped to recognize it. Faith in God provides us with the key to spiritual world, just as the hydrophone gives us the key to the underwater world."

"Voice of the Deep" is one of a series of sound-color films being produced by Moody Bible Institute in an effort to link science and religion. Two previous productions, "God of the Atom" and "God of Creation", have been shown to four million people in schools, army camps, churches, and hospitals. Plans are also being made to distribute them abroad.

No charge for admission, but a silver offering will be received.

Horace E. Quillen Helps Promote Youth Center

Horace E. Quillen's generosity has again come to the fore. The Business and Professional Women's Club of Harrington has contracted Mr. Quillen in its effort to find a suitable building for its proposed Youth Center for the town. Mr. Quillen has graciously consented for the young people to have the use of one of his cement block warehouses in the rear of his office building on Commerce St. It is the building that was formerly occupied by the Delaware Power and Light Company for storage of trucks and equipment before its hut was constructed.

Plans are being made for sufficient gutting in the driveway and entrance to the building from both Commerce and Hanley Streets. Some carpentering repairs and painting will have to be done before the equipment for the various games and amusements can be installed. The club has planned to have shuffleboard, ping-pong, music, checkers, books and cards available for the enjoyment of the young people.

Mr. Herman Minner has already volunteered his services as a carpenter to oversee the repair work. Mrs. Minner is one of our interested club members and as parents they are happy to see the progress of the youth project. Mr. Horace Quillen has also donated lumber. Other citizens in town are offering their services and contributions. The club is very grateful to everyone who is lending an effort to make their project a success.

The twister then truck the home of Herman West, in the same vicinity, removing the front porch, leveling a barn and garage and damaging cars and farm machinery.

Tree limbs were blown through the upper story of the Raymond Tucker dwelling about a mile distant when eight trees in front of the house were blown down. Three tractors were damaged and a number of chickens killed.

Chickens were also killed and the chicken house demolished on the farm of John S. Isaacs, tenanted by Charles Lofland.

In Ellendale, trees were blown down across the houses of Ernest Coverdale and Ford Jones, damaging both severely.

The storm was accompanied by a heavy downpour.

State police, summoned by telephone, rushed to assist the property owners in most cases.

All fled from the small two-story house. None was injured.

The storm is like one that struck the Milford area two years ago. It was confined only to a narrow area. Residents of Milford and state police said that while the wind was blowing at Georgetown and at Milford, it did not appear to have unusual velocity.

Milford Man Convicted of Fatal Assault

Convicted of a charge of assault by a jury in Court of Oyer and Terminer Monday afternoon a trial in which he was charged with the more serious offense of manslaughter, Stewart Hill, Milford, was sentenced to two years in the Kent County Jail.

The state accused Hill of fatally beating Robert Ross over the head with a rifle in Northeast Front Street, Milford, last Aug. 5. The defendant claimed self-defense.

Hill previously served a one-year sentence on a charge of assault with a revolver on Police Chief Samuel G. Powell, Milford, in 1946, and had a record of a number of lesser offenses, Deputy Atty. Gen. Henry J. Ridgely advised the court.

The 1946 assault case grew out of the man's shooting of the officer's hat off with a revolver when being placed under arrest.

Sentence was imposed by Chief Justice Charles S. Richards who, with Judges George Burton Pearson, Jr. and Caleb R. Layton III, presided at the trial. James H. Hughes III was attorney for Hill while Mr. Ridgely prosecuted the case.

Freak Wind Razes 6 Homes Near Ellendale

Six dwellings, several barns and chicken houses were damaged when a twister struck the town of New Market, near Ellendale, this week.

There were no serious injuries, but total damages was reported by state police at $16,500 around the area.

Herbert Pettyjohn, 24, a farmer, and his wife, Frances, 22, were injured when their house was demolished by the gale. Their baby, Francine, escaped injury. Pettyjohn's father, Oscar, 59, working in outside storehouse, also was unhurt.

Herbert Pettyjohn was taken to Anford Memorial hospital to be X-rayed for possible injuries. His brother, Lemuel, escaped without serious injury despite being dragged 200 feet when a door he was holding was blown off its hinges.

In another house, occupied by Mrs. Mary Hale, and a widow, Mrs. Clarence Beatty, and the latter's four small children, all six occupants escaped injury. The house also was destroyed.

A horse and mule were injured when the barn on Pettyjohn's farm collapsed from the force of the wind. The house of Harmon West, also of New Market, was damaged by the gale.

The gust came suddenly at about 7 o'clock. The Pettyjohns fled their home as it began to fall apart.

Mrs. Hale, Mrs. Beatty, and the latter's four children were up at the time. The children were preparing to go to school and finishing breakfast when the house was blown apart.

The twister then truck the home of Herman West, in the same vicinity, removing the front porch, leveling a barn and garage and damaging cars and farm machinery.

Tree limbs were blown through the upper story of the Raymond Tucker dwelling about a mile distant when eight trees in front of the house were blown down. Three tractors were damaged and a number of chickens killed.

Chickens were also killed and the chicken house demolished on the farm of John S. Isaacs, tenanted by Charles Lofland.

ARE THERE GHOSTS?

Are there ghosts? Are houses haunted? In time scientists may discover the answers to these questions. We understand a house out in the country is empty because it is "haunted."

With this as a starter, we will repeat several tales we heard last week-end. Strange as it seems, all were born in "the horse and buggy days." In several cases, a calf played the leading role.

A man said his father, who lived adjoining a graveyard at or near White's Church, tells this tale:

As he arrived at the barn one night, his horse shied at a black object resembling a calf. The animal was lying on the ground at the stable door and as the horse and buggy approached, it got to its feet and stretched itself. The driver got out and pursued it into the graveyard where it disappeared into thin air. None of the neighbors, the next day, reported wandering livestock.

Several boys on horseback and in horse and buggy reported seeing an animal, resembling a black calf, rear up in front of the vehicle on a road near Houston. They pursued the animal but it also "disappeared into thin air."

A Harringtonian and his wife report going in horse and buggy from Masten's Corner to Blades Crossroads years ago at night, when the horse shied at an object resembling a black cow which, however, disappeared into the woods without making a sound. The driver had to lead his horse past this spot on this and on subsequent trips. Two other men reported seeing a similar apparition in the same spot.

The late Albert Welch said he saw a headless calf at the corner of the grove back of the schoolhouse. Others reported seeing the same thing.

In a Harrington barbershop Saturday night, these tales were told. The narrator said, when a young man, he was employed at the farm of the late Ebenezer Hill near town. While in bed one night, he was attracted by the fluttering of a pigeon-sized bird at the window. He let the bird in and it perched at the foot of his bed. The windows were closed and the door was shut, but the bird had disappeared next morning.

One night, the narrator continued, he heard the stairs creaking as if someone was coming up them. He cried out, "Ebe, is that you?" No answer. "Maude, is that you?" No answer. As the sound approached the door, the narrator grabbed a curtain-rod and drew back. Just then something fell in the attic and jarred the whole house. The narrator stayed in bed. Next morning he investigated the attic and could not find so much as a slip of paper in it.

Every other Sunday, the teller of the above anecdotes would stay at home to do the chores. One Sunday he started to play an organ when a noise resembling that of exploding firecrackers was heard in a corner back of him. He stopped playing. The noise stopped. He started up again, the noise started up. The farm hand left his job.

Mrs. Bankson Holcomb, former resident of Mordington Mills at McCauley's, or Holcomb's pond, told this tale to J. Harvey Burgess; the famous author, Gelett Burgess, and the writer:

Mrs. Holcomb told of a mulatto servant, living in the house in antebellum days, who had committed suicide by jumping from a window when her master had mistreated her. Mrs. Holcomb then added she had seen the ghost of the girl the night before.

The Journal would be interested in hearing similar accounts of the supernatural. Names will be omitted on request.

The Journal carried an article recently on a famous "pitch-til-you-win" restaurant at Ozark (pop. 972), Mo. The restaurant served three meat dishes, 15 kinds of vegetables, drink, and apple pie for 60c. James Cahall, Kesler Farrow, and Julius Cooper, on a recent western trip, decided to investigate. "It was all you said and more too," said Mr. Cahall, "but the price now is 51c. After the main meal, they brought up each a quarter of an apple pie." When the writer visited the restaurant a couple years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, the proprietors said they served as many as 800 persons on a Sunday. Mr. Cahall said the number now is 1000 to 1200. Aside from Springfield, Mo., eighteen miles north, the restaurant is in a sparsely settled area. One must go 20 miles west to find a railroad, and 50 or more miles south or east.

DEFINITION OF AN EDITOR

The cynic, Ambrose Bierce, gives this definition of editor in his book, "The Devil's Dictionary":

A person who combines the judicial functions of Minos, Rhadamanthus, and Aeacus, but is placable with an obolus; a severely virtuous censor, but so charitable withal that he tolerates the virtues of others and the vices of himself; who flings about him the splintering lightning and sturdy thunders of admonition till he resembles a bunch of firecrackers petulantly uttering his mind at the tail of a dog; then straightway murmurs a mild, melodious lay, soft as the cooing of a donkey intoning its prayer to the evening star. Master of mysteries and lord of law, high-pinnacled upon the throne of thought, his face suffused with the dim splendors of the Transfiguration, his legs intertwined and his tongue a-cheek, the editor spills his will along the paper and cuts it off in lengths to suit. And at intervals from behind the veil of the temple is heard the voice of the foreman demanding three inches of wit and six lines of religious meditation, or bidding him turn off the wisdom and whack up some pathos.

O, the Lord of Law on the Throne of Thought,
A gilded imposter is he.
Of shreds and patches his robes are wrought,
His crown is brass,
Himself is an ass,
And his power is fiddle-dee-dee.
Frankly, crankily prating of naught,
Silly old quilly old Monarch of Thought,
Public opinion's camp-follower he,
Thundering, blundering, plundering free.
Affected,
Ungracious,
Suspected,
Mendacious,
Respected contemporee:
J. H. Bumblehook

(Editor's note: Minos, Rhadamanthus, and Aeacus were gods of the underworld in Greek mythology. An Obolus was a small, ancient Greek coin.)

POTTER'S FIELD

A couple of thousand years ago, while crossing a desert, with a party of his officers, Phillip of Macedonia, decided to camp for the night.

Upon being told that the proposed site was unsuitable because there was no water available for the mules which bore the packs, he remarked, "What a life is ours, since we must live it according to the convenience of asses."

Oh, brother! Some of our recently deposed admirals, must feel much the same way.

The wholesale shelving of the U. S. Navy is, in our candid opinion, one of the most assinine moves in the history of this country.

We might be wrong about that, but you've got to prove it to us.

Ever since this nation has had two or more organized armed forces, there has been friendly rivalry and occasional bitter feeling between them. However, in times of national emergency, they worked together, each unit, in some way, dependent on the other.

Now, confronted daily, in the papers, with the possibility of a third world war, with our present inability to hold Alaska against a major Russia attack, and with the general spread of Communism in some key points, throughout the world, we find the organizations upon which our safety depends, squabbling among themselves, in what appears to us to be an effort to find out just whose brass shines the brightest in the Pentagon building.

Some of this brass has lately become tarnished and in view of recent developments, we think that some of it should be polished off all together.

We are not advocating a central command of combined armed forces, but, we are getting up on our hind legs and howling for cooperation among them.

Incidentally, Phillip of Macedonia also said, "These Macedonians are a rude and clownish people, they call a spade a spade."

We're not a Macedonian, but we're like Red Skelton's "bad little boy" we call 'em the way we sees 'em.

We would like to say more, but we're tired of ballyhach for now.

See you next week.

Animal Disease Control

German attempts to control animal diseases are reported as early as the eighteenth century. At this time, an epizootic of rinderpest was sweeping across western Europe causing heavy losses among cattle. Control measures included destruction. Between 1769 and 1773, 60,000 cattle were lost in this manner in Brandenburg Province alone.

Hoof Beats

William H. Cane, impresario of the Hambletonian trotting classic at Goshen, N. Y., came up with a "king" and a "queen" and picked up just about all the worthwhile chips in the two and three-year-old pacing division of harness racing this year.

The "king" is his three-year-old mighty midget, Good Time, who earned a record $46,433 in his first season at the races a year ago. This year Cane added the "queen"—Good Time's little sister, Our Time—to his hand, and parlayed them into a jackpot of $100,000. Roughly, that is what the two of them have won this season. Our Time, not to be outdone by her big brother, who actually is smaller than she is, earned $50,178 in her maiden year, for an all-time two-year-old harness horse record.

Good Time, so far, has won approximately the same amount in 1949, giving him a two and three-year-old total of more than $96,000. He still has a $17,000 date in the Western Pace at Hollywood Park, Calif., coming up Oct. 29, and if he takes that, his lifetime earnings will total something like $105,000.

The aggregate earnings of the pair, including Good Time's two-year winnings, stands at about $150,000.

Between them they have appeared in 31 races, won 22, finished second in the summaries five times, third twice, and fourth twice. Neither has ever been out of the purse money. Good Time has never finished worse than third in any heat, and Our Time has been as far back as fourth in only one heat.

They have raced a total of 60 heats, winning 41, finishing second 11 times, third on seven occasions, and fourth once.

Good Time was unable to win a heat in his first three races as a two-year-old, but wound up the year by taking six races in straight heats. This season he has lost three heats, but only one race, and has a string of 11 straight heat victories going at the moment.

Our Time copped 14 heats and nine races; finished second in seven heats and four races; third in three heats; and fourth once, in her two-year-old campaign which ended at Lexington.

Owner, Cane experienced one of his greatest racing delights this year when Good Time captured the Little Brown Jug classic—pacing equivalent of the Hambletonian—at Delaware, O. And he hopes to keep the Jug in the family next year with Our Time.

Both horses are by Hal Dale, out of On Time, and were bred by their owner. Their $150,000 bank account stacks up as a pretty fair return for a couple of mere stud fees.

Hanover's Gift
When the first crop of Titan Hanover foals arrived at Hanover Shoe Farms, Lawrence Sheppard, master of the farms, offered one of them as a gift to Eb Gerry, Jr., young son of E. T. Gerry, who owned The Titan in association with E. Roland Harriman. Young Gerry picked a filly and named it Hanover's Gift. The filly, now a yearling, will be off to the races next year, in company with the other little Titans which will be sold at the Harrisburg Auctions, Nov. 7-12.

Walnut Stud Tops
Walnut Hall Stud of Donerail, Ky., topped the five-night Tattersalls Standardbred Sale at Lexington recently with an average of $4,981 for 24 yearling trotters and pacers. The average is higher than that posted by any major Standardbred nursery in the country last year. Among the lot was the filly, Scotch Rhythm, a full sister to the famed two-year-old Lusty Song, who carried an all-time record price tag for a yearling filly when she was knocked down to Leo C. McNamara of Two Gaits Farm, Carmel, Ind., for $20,700.

High Cost of Sentiment
Sentiment, it seems, is a costly attribute in harness racing. Octave Blake, president of the Grand Circuit, paid $14,000 for the yearling colt, King Black, full brother to Bulwark, who was owned by Blake's father. And Col. E. J.

Baker of St. Charles, Ill., went to $22,000 to get the gray colt, Steelway, who is out of a full sister to his immortal champion, Greyhound. But, as Auctioneer George Swinebroad would say, "Both colts have some mighty kin folks." Bulwark, at present is the leading sire in Sweden.

NATIONAL LIFE INSURANCE

World War II veterans with service-incurred disabilities were reminded by John F. McDonald, Insurance Officer, Veterans Administration, of an important deadline in connection with their entitlement to National Service Life Insurance.

Prior to January 1, 1950, such disabilities actually incurred in service between October 8, 1940, and September 2, 1945, if less than total in degree, are disregarded in determining eligibility under the health requirements for NSLI purposes.

This means that a veteran who might not otherwise qualify for life insurance for health reasons may reinstate lapsed NSLI or buy new or additional National Service Life Insurance up to the $10,000 maximum if they apply before the end of the year.

A physical examination is required, however, for all insurance applied for under this special provision. Such examinations are made by VA without cost to the veterans at the Regional Office in the Dravo Building, foot of Madison Street, Wilmington, Delaware.

Around the Farm

Abraham S. Beachy, a long-time producer for the Dover Pet Milk plant, solved all drainage problems in his cow yard by surfacing it with concrete. "Abe" says he spent more than the cost of the concrete on hauling in the gravel used for grading in the last few years. His interest in the cleanliness of his milk is evidenced by the fact that he has never had a can of milk rejected because of excessive sediment.

Henry F. Lindemann, Cordova, Md., became a Pet producer with three cows in 1937. Since then he has never missed a pay check or had a can of milk rejected for any cause. He gives as reasons for this outstanding quality record the regular milking of clean, healthy cows, the use of clean, properly sterilized utensils, and the immediate cooling of his milk in fresh, cold water. Mr. Lindemann says the credit for the cleanliness of the utensils and milk house goes to his daughter, Sophia, who cares for this part of the operation.

M. J. Webb, Pet producer, of Greenwood, is a big producer of Ladino clover. His 12-acre field has provided ample pasture for his 30 Holsteins and Guernseys. The field is three years old. In the past year, except for three weeks during the summer drouth, it was pastured continuously.

"The clover recovers quickly and it has certainly proven itself this year when we had almost two months of dry, hot weather during June and July," says Mr. Webb. "Ladino was really a lifesaver, and it is a good idea to have two plots and pasture them alternately over a two-week period. The pasture will thus stand plenty of tramping even in wet weather."

Mr. Webb believes that a well-prepared seed bed with the right kind and proper amount of fertilizer is essential. He sowed a mixture of Ladino, barley, and rye grass early in the fall. The barley served as a nurse crop to protect the Ladino from wind erosion. The rye grass was a good pasture the first year when the clover had not reached its full growth. Gradually the clover replaced the rye grass until a permanent stand was established.

Leonard Harrington picked two quarts of Temple strawberries last week on his farm back of the schoolhouse. This variety, a new one and one resistant to red-stele root disease, also produced a normal crop this spring. Sam Harrington also picked some Temple strawberries from his patch on Harrington Avenue.

Leonard Harrington said he was getting a good yield of soybeans, with production estimated at least 25 bushels to the acre. He said he applied 300 pounds of phosphate to the acre. He is off U. S. 13, corn, however, as earworms have damaged it badly.

J. Harold Schabinger, state harness racing commissioner, raised his soybeans in rows this year and got an excellent yield, 25 bushels per acre.

Mr. Schabinger raised an early yellow bean, Patoka, which he sold at $2 per bushel, and Black Wilsons which he sold at $1.60 last week. The vo-ag boys at Harrington High School got 28 bushels of Patoka beans per acre. Ernest Killen, a local buyer, said some farmers had got as high as 35 bushels per acre.

Earl McNichols raised a 67 pound pumpkin, Mammoth variety, this fall. Until recently, it was on display at Taylor's Hardware.

Cold Drinks
A cold drink should be tart not sweet to be thirst-quenching.

Ladino Clover

Ladino clover is the outstanding development in pasture plants during the past 10 years, according to a Cornell agronomist. It can do most for farmers on non-alfalfa land and help them to compete more effectively with farmers on the better land.

Withdrawing Nails

Factors affecting the withdrawal resistance of nails include moisture changes in the wood, kind of surface on the nail, form of the point, form of the shank, direction of driving and the use of bored holes.

Icebergs

Up in the heart of the Arctic Ocean icebergs are never seen. The reason for this is that there are few Arctic lands with glaciers large and active enough to produce giant bergs. Most bergs are "born" along the western coast of Greenland and are found in nearby waters.

Notre Dame Cathedral

The beautiful Notre Dame cathedral in the heart of Paris has many gracefully carved stone ornaments, figures, and gargoyles. Many of them are placed so high above the ground that it is said only an angel can admire their details.

When you talk about VALVE-IN-HEAD you're talking about

The Power that made Buick Famous

If you want to know what's "the newest thing" in automobile engines, look at the Buick engine pictured here, and you'll see the words "valve-in-head."

But it happens that this isn't new with Buick. As a matter of fact, the valve-in-head engine was invented back in 1902—U. S. Patent No. 771095—and immediately, Buick adopted the principle, which became the first in a long string of "Buick firsts."

Not everyone went for the idea—then. In spite of the fact that this engine "breathes" more freely—gets fuel in and exhaust gases out more easily—others hung onto their pet ideas.

Then came the airplane, with its need for maximum power from every drop of fuel—and every maker of internal combustion airplane engines adopted the valve-in-head principle.

And more recently—with the hope that higher-octane fuels will become available for motor cars—a lot of automotive engine designers are taking a new look at the valve-in-head idea.

But just for the record, we'd like to point out that Buick got there first.

And ever since, Buick has gone steadily ahead, building up a name as "valve-in-headquarters." Buick engineers reshaped pistons to put Fireball wallop in these engines. They stepped up compression ratios as fast as better fuels came along.

So perhaps you'll want to remember, when you hear the term "valve-in-head," that this is the type of power that made Buick famous.

If others want to climb on the bandwagon, we say "more power to them"—and no pun is intended.

But Buick has been doing more with valve-in-head right from the start.

And—we might add—it stands to reason that Buick is not through making this type of engine better and better.

"Buick's the Buy"

When better automobiles are built BUICK will build them

The Invitational will be the closing out highlight of a banner year at Batavia, which ends its season Oct. 29.
Foxboro Record, Fall
Bay State Raceway at Foxboro, Mass., currently is in the final two weeks of the greatest harness race meeting ever conducted in New England, from an attendance and mutual handle standpoint. Attendance is averaging close to 7,000 per night, and the mutual play is some $800,000 ahead of last year for the same number of operating nights.
Laurel Plans Stakes
Laurel Raceway at Laurel, Md., will come up with an attractive program of stake and early-closing events for the trotters and pacers on the Maryland circuit next year, according to President Dick Hutchison. Biggest of these features will be the Laurel Cup for pacers, which was inaugurated this year with a value of $3,000. The jackpot on this event will be upped considerably next year.
Down Under
Two Hambletonians will be raced in 1950. In addition to the traditional $100,000 classic at Goshen, N. Y., Australia—which is currently enjoying a harness racing boom similar to that in this country—also will honor the "father of the Standardbreds" with a Hambletonian Championship event during the inter-dominion championships at Melbourne in February.
Time Vs. $
A pair of two-year-old pacing fillies—Arden Homestead's Tassel Hanover and Sheppard and Myer's Beryl Hanover—have turned in faster times than W. H. Cane's sensational Our Time, this year. Both went against the fence in world record time of 2:02 at Lexington. But neither can come close to matching the money-earnings of Our Time—first two-year-old harness horse ever to win more than $50,000.
Added Starters
The East will come up with two and possibly three new pari-mutuel harness race tracks in 1950. New tracks are being built at Baltimore, Md., and at Georgetown, and plans are still going forward for opening of the old Empire City track in Yonkers, N. Y., as a trotting and pacing center next year.
Two-Minute Set
Three harness racing drivers have been initiated into the swanky "two-minute set" in 1949. Del Miller and Paul Hungerford joined the elite at Lexington with Lorraine and Guinea Gold, while Hollis Regur acquired membership earlier with Noble F. in all harness racing history only 66 drivers have been able to register a mile in two minutes or less. The leaders are Sep Paln and Dr. H. M. Parshall with 13 apiece.

GI Education Undergoes Change

Veterans Administration recently reminded veterans that several important GI Bill education and training procedure went into effect Tuesday.
These new procedures are made necessary by passage of Public Law 266 by the 81st Congress, which bans avocational and recreational courses, and prohibits V-A from permitting veterans to enroll in schools which have not been in existence at least one year prior to enrollment.
The procedure affect veterans who have had GI Bill training and who want additional training, and veterans planning to apply for original or supplemental certificates of eligibility for education and training.
From November 1 on, a veteran who has completed or discontinued a GI Bill course, and who wishes to take another course in a different general field, will be required to undergo advisement and guidance, to determine his aptitudes and needs for the new course.
After advisement, he will need V-A approval before enrolling in his new field of training.
A veteran, however, who wants an additional course of training in the same general field as his original educational or job objective will be permitted to enroll without having to take advisement and guidance.
V-A makes the decision as to whether a veteran's new course is in the same or in a different general field.
On and after November 1, a veteran applying for an original or a supplemental certificate of eligibility for GI Bill training will be required to list on his application the name of the course and school.
The certificate, when issued him, will be good only for the course and school specified.
Original certificates are for veterans who never before have had GI Bill training and supplemental certificates are for veterans who have had previous education or training.
The new type certificates are necessary, V-A explained, in order to comply with the law barring training for avocational or recreational purposes, and barring training in schools in existence for less than one year.
V-A emphasized that original and supplemental certificates of eligibility, issued before November 1, will be honored after that date, even though they do not contain the name of course and school.
Veterans with the unused certificates should make certain that the school in which they wish to enroll is permitted by law to offer GI Bill training. They easily can check the status of a school by calling at, or writing to, their V-A office.
V-A cautioned veterans with unused supplemental certificates of

NEW REVENUE FROM WOOD
A new freight rate has been worked out from all stations on the Penn. R. R. in the State of Delaware, Eastern Shore of Maryland, and Virginia and the Popes Creek Branch south of Baltimore, Md., making it possible for owners of woodland containing Poplar, Sweet Gum, Black Gum, Elm, Birch, Sycamore, Maple and Clear Beech Wood, to cut their own wood and receive the highest cash return from their idle labor and idle teams or trucks.
Many saw mills have cut Pine and left the above mentioned woods standing. In some sections this wood has been cut in large logs requiring heavy expensive equipment which the average woodland owner cannot afford to purchase.
This new source of revenue is possible as the wood is cut into 42 or 52 inch lengths which require only a saw and a team or truck which can be hired. The smallest end of this wood is cut 14 inches inside the bark and can be 40 inches on the small end. Only one cat face (for those who do not understand the meaning of this, a cat face is sort of a bump under the bark) and one branch smaller than 3 inches is allowed per each log; all logs must be sold, no decayed centers accepted.

year around and having idle trucks can add to their income by having their own labor cut the wood to the above sizes.
Each producer of logs measures his own production, marking the each man $7.00 per day. The cut-marking his initials on each log with a crayon. When 8,000 feet are cut the logs are loaded in cars at the railroad station nearest your location and when the agent makes out the bill of lading for shipment you receive cash on presentation of same to the agent.
You keep a record of the number of feet in each log loaded into a car and the car number. If there is any mistake, the mill, on the receiving end, will correct same. Each land owner can examine his wood stand and trees that measure 22 inches breast high in thickness will give about 400 feet per tree up to the 14 inch thickness. Thus 20 such trees would cut a car load. If you don't have enough for a car load of 8,000 feet, you can arrange to group your lot with that of your neighbor or several neighbors.
Land Owners not employing labor all year around can team up with neighbors. John Jones can team up with Wm. Smith on Jones' place one day and both work on Smith's place the next day. Where Owners have no trucks, one can be hired and the following rates of pay will apply to the satisfaction of all concerned:
Stumpage $10.00 per thousand feet, Trucking $5.00 per thousand feet, Cutting $7.00 per thousand feet.

The trucker loads the logs with the assistance of two cutters; this speeds up loading and a truck can load 2,000 feet per load by placing two logs end to end on truck two tiers high. In this way he can make four trips a day and load a car in two days or one day.
Two men on a hand saw can cut 2,000 feet per day and this pays number of feet in each log and ters don't have to snake the logs through the woods as these logs can be rolled to the roadway like barrels, where they can be loaded to a truck. A railroad car must be loaded in 48 hours—this is a law established by the Interstate Commerce Commission.
When 8,000 feet of these logs are cut, a car can be ordered from the Station Agent and loaded.
The number of feet in a log 40 inches with a 2 inch trim cut 42 inches long the Doyle Log Measure is as follows:

desiring to become Wood Agents can apply with references by writing their age, experience and education to J. Ward Penn, 2339 E. Boston Avenue, Philadelphia 25, Pa. Persons who can cut and load their own wood will receive $25.00 per thousand feet loaded in cars. A 2-inch trim is required in the wood is seldom cut square in the woods and the mill has to square up the logs; this leaves 40 inches on a 42 inch log and 50 inches of usable wood on 52 inch log.
In locations far away from railroad sidings, such as Gum stands on edge of deep Creeks or Rivers, where an Oyster Boat drawing 5 feet of water can navigate, it would be useless to haul this wood long distances upland, then to trucks and railroad cars. Such wood stands will net the owner more by cutting them and rolling them to bunching stations at river's edge of 50 logs each spaced 200 or 500 feet apart in such accessible manner that an oyster boat can throw its loading boom to the edge of the shore and load the logs on the boat. In such locations the wood owner pays only for cutting and rolling to edge of Creek or River, the boat does its own loading.
This would only apply to Elk, Sassafras, Chestnut, Choptank, Gunpowder, Nanticoke, Wicomico, Manokin, Pocomoke, Susquehanna, Tuckahoe, Patuxent and Potomac Rivers and adjacent Bays and navigable water inlets. A boat load takes 10,000 feet per load and such amount would have to be cut before a boat is sent to pick up the wood from River's edge.

When a tree is sawed down you can measure up to the 14 inches small end to determine what length of logs will give you the most feet per log from each tree. You can make two measuring sticks, one 42 inches long, another 52 inches long and laying them on a tree you might find up to the 14 inch small end what lengths to cut. It may be 3-25 inch logs and 7-42 inch logs, or any combination. To get the most out of the tree they can be all 42 inches long or all 52 inches long, or any combination. Wood that has been paid for as a whole by cash of $750 has paid the owner over $1300 when cut by this method. Wood Agents receive $3.00 per thousand feet for gathering the wood and persons

Home Coming Services To Be Held At Historic Frederica Church

Trinity Methodist Church in Frederica will observe Home Coming Day next Sunday, Nov. 6, with morning and afternoon services. In the morning service beginning at 11 a. m. the choir will offer special music and the pastor, Rev. John R. Diehl will deliver the sermon. Mr. Robert Rudolph of Milford, will be the guest soloist in this service.

In the afternoon service beginning at 2:30 p. m. the choir will again offer special music with Mrs. Julia Camper, soloist. Rev. E. S. Gault of Baltimore, Md., and a former pastor, will be the guest speaker.

Methodism in Frederica dates back as early as 1800. In the year 1812, a congregation was formed and worshiped in the parlor of a house owned and occupied by one Curtis Anderson, with Reverend Asa Smith and Maning Force, preachers in charge. A little later a meeting house was built and formally dedicated to the use and worship of Almighty God. Later, in the year 1836 this church was sold and another building was erected in which the congregation continued to worship until the year 1855, when the present attractive and commodious church edifice was built and later dedicated by Bishop Scott in February, 1857.

Consequent upon the fall of the spire in 1879 and its need of repair, the entire church was renovated and improved in 1880 at a cost of $1,500. Continuous services have been held in this old historic church from the day of its dedication to the present. The town of Frederica and Trinity Church are very closely identified with the illustrious history of the "Cradle of Methodism"—Barratt's Chapel, which is located just one mile north of the town.

Before the year 1780, or the building of Barratt's Chapel, there was preaching in this neighborhood, for Judge Barratt owed his conversion and the subsequent building of the Chapel to it. It is quite probable that as early as 1773, this territory was connected with Baltimore Circuit and served by Francis Asbury, Robert Strawbridge, Abraham Whitworth, and Joseph Yearby. In about the year 1779-1780, this entire territory embracing the State of Delaware was designated the Delaware Circuit and the preachers were; Francis Asbury, Caleb B. Pedicord, Freeborn Garretson, Lewis Alfrey, the Mecajah Debruler, and Joseph Cromwell. In all the records where different circuits are mentioned, in from Baltimore down to Frederica Circuit and subsequently a station all the preachers of that period are mentioned as pastors of Frederica. We are indeed justly proud of our illustrious Methodist heritage.

 auditorium must also serve as a study hall for junior and senior high school pupils. When the gymnasium is used for one of these purposes, it cannot serve in either of the other two capacities. Consequently two or more classrooms must be used as study halls when the gymnasium is used for its original purpose, and teachers must either teach or supervise study halls during the entire school day. The gymnasium is unsatisfactory as a study hall, and the physical education and visual education programs are handicapped. Addition of a cafeteria would provide space for a single study hall offering improved study facilities.

Two Additional Classrooms Needed
 By building two additional elementary school rooms the immediate need for classroom space will be met.

Increasing Elementary School Enrollment

Paralleling the growth in first-grade enrollment, the number of pupils in the elementary school has risen from 177 in 1941 to 222 in 1945. This is an increase of 26 per cent, yet the building space available for these pupils has remained unchanged. This condition will become even more acute each year because of the anticipated increase in the number of pupils entering our first grade.

At the present time we have two sections in seventh grade, fifth grade, second grade, and first grade. Accommodations for the extra sections have been provided as previously explained. It is self-evident that the expedients used theretofore, while reducing the number of pupils taught by one teacher, do not increase the amount of space available per pupil and therefore do not relieve overcrowded classrooms. Within the next five years it seems inevitable that two sections for each of the six elementary grades must be provided. To accomplish this four rooms should be added to the present structure, but such an expansion of facilities is impossible at this time because of the limited amount of funds which can be raised locally for that purpose.

It is believed that construction of two additional elementary school rooms will meet enrollment requirements for the next five years, although it may be necessary to divide two more rooms into smaller units. In any case the larger rooms will be assigned to the primary grades, for it is in the lower grades that pupil activity is most essential and therefore demands greater classroom space. Some high school classes are smaller than elementary school classes, and sub-dividing classrooms in the high school section will not work such a hardship on pupils. Such a procedure was followed this year, and the results seem quite satisfactory. Small high school classes are scheduled for these small classrooms.

On the basis of the facts presented here it is requested that the School Building Program Board approve our request for state assistance in constructing two elementary school classrooms and a cafeteria which will meet the needs of pupils enrolled in the Peiton School.

COMMAND PERFORMANCE ACT ON NEW MILFORD VAUDEVILLE BILL

An act so outstanding that it was presented a few months ago at a "command performance" for the King and Queen of England at London's famous show place... the Palladium... will headline the five-act vaudeville bill at the New Milford on Friday and Saturday. It's Marie Louise and Charles... with their sensational acrobatic aerial act. This is the first act of its kind yet presented at the New Milford and patrons are assured of many thrills as they witness this team's amazing feats. Other talent in the new stage revue include the Reis Brothers... billed as "The Song Maniacs"; Patrice and Russell... youthful dance team; Black and Dundee... with their riotous comedy skit; and Jimmy Leeds... comedian and emcee.

Inspired by the square dance sequence in the new motion picture hit, "Roseanna McCoy", the management of the New Milford is staging a Square Dance Contest as an added stage attraction this Sunday evening at 8:30 P. M. Some of the area's best square dancers will participate in this very novel contest and they will dance to the music of a real Square Dance Band. Prizes will be awarded to the winning couple. The New Milford management invites you to grab your lady... do-si-do with a gent you know... and everybody come on down for the time of your life.

Motherless Baby's Father Thanks A. N. Spanel

November 1, 1949

Mr. A. N. Spanel International Latex Corporation Dover, Delaware

My dear Mr. Spanel: You and I have never met, but you have proved yourself the best friend my family ever had.

I am the father of a motherless baby who was born in September. My wife, Bernice, died in giving birth to this child. When my wife passed away I was faced with the heart-breaking problem of raising my motherless baby. Because I am a working man, I had decided to have my baby raised by someone other than myself. I am sure that you, with your great understanding, can realize how difficult this decision was for me to make, in my moment of deep sorrow. I know you can realize how heart-breaking it was for me to make a decision which meant depriving my only child of a father's constant attention, to say nothing of depriving myself.

Today I received a check from you for $500, in trust for my baby, Bernice Beverly. My wife had left your employ 6 months before her death, and since she had voluntarily resigned and had allowed her insurance to lapse, we were both under the impression that her free Playtex life insurance policy would naturally have expired.

When I was notified that you had arranged to extend this policy, even though it meant taking the money out of your own pocket instead of from the insurance company, it was as if a tremendous load had been lifted from my heart. Your great concern for the welfare of all your employees should be an inspiration to business men everywhere. I am only a working man, but I know from experience how, in a single moment, one's whole world can fall apart. How wonderful it is for all the men and women at Playtex Park to know that in time of personal catastrophe you and the management of your company are there to give them support, advice and guidance, in the true spirit of brotherhood.

Only a few days ago my baby's future was dark and gloomy. Now, because of your deep concern not only for present employees but for people who once worked for you, my baby, Bernice Beverly, has a trust fund set up for her, which will insure her education.

Mr. Spanel, I am not an author, and it is hard for me to write in words that I feel in my heart. My baby will grow up to be a fine upstanding American citizen, because of the support and the encouragement you have given me. As I said before, we have never met, but you have gone far beyond the limits of an employer when you took so much time out of a busy life to not only worry about the orphaned child of a former employee, but to personally do something about it. If all American business men exercised the human leadership that exists at Playtex Park, there would be actual brotherhood of man in our country. All I can say is thank you.

Yours very sincerely,
 Lawrence J. Boone

Peacetime Rail Haul In peacetime, the railroads haul about two-thirds of all the freight of the nation

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

Do you realize that Xmas is 7 weeks away and that seven will soon roll by. Take a head from me with two little words, buy now. Your trouble and pleasure combined can be solved if you remember those words buy now.

Yes we have started laying away the things that some folks are going to be sure and have when Xmas comes.

At this writing we have lots of electrical appliances of the better kinds, something that anyone will be pleased to receive. This will then make you happy for giving and the third party myself for your buying. That makes 3 in 1 happy.

Have you seen it? Well it is now on display at my store, and that is something! I am sure you have been wondering why doesn't Maytag make an automatic washer. Just received this week a medal from the Maytag Co. of Newton, Iowa, celebrating the production of their 6th millionth washer.

Can you realize a company coming up to that figure and how they could do it. Well their washers are made to make you satisfied and when six million people buy one make of washer, surely is a sign of satisfaction.

Stop in and look it over. Of course it can be bought on monthly payments. While speaking of Maytag, we also have their gas ranges on display. Their moderate priced range is included.

Speaking of gas ranges we are now in a position to install any range whether you buy from us or not, with either bottled or metered gas. Of course we would like to sell you our range if you haven't already purchased. Think of a full size cabinet range—installed for only $129.95. Better take advantage of this offer while it lasts and right now would be a good time to think about the wife for a Xmas present.

Radios is my trade name almost and has been for about 30 years, and today as always I carry a stock that gives you a good selection. Not only small ones, but consoles and television. If you are going to purchase one for Xmas, let me lay it aside for you. A small down payment to protect you with delivery and price. Only this past week I have had notice effective, Oct. 24th, of three models advanced in prices. One as high as thirty dollars. As I said before buy now.

Is your home ready for the holidays fast approaching? Wouldn't it be mighty nice if you have that room or all the house redecorated with a different color than you have had for several years? Really it makes one feel better and not only you but all the family to come in a room that is bright and cheerful.

How about the daughters or sons bedroom? Brighten it up while they are growing up with new paper, radio and anything else along that line that will be always remembered by them in the years ahead. It is up to you to keep them pleased and happy.

Are you going to get that refrigerator or freezer by Xmas, if so drop around and every upright freezer I sell by Xmas I am going to give a brand new bicycle which retails for 50 dollars and every refrigerator a set of dishes. Why do I offer those inducements, simply because they don't move as fast in cool weather as they do when the weather is warm and
