

Businessmen Get Ready For Christmas Program With Committees Named

Streets Will Be Decorated in Same Sections As Last Year—Claude Cahall to Head Finance Committee

The Harrington Better Business Association will sponsor a Christmas program, it was decided at a special meeting of the organization Tuesday evening at the Ernest Raughley Insurance Agency. Committees were appointed and the groundwork discussed for the project.

Civic clubs were contacted by Ernest Killen for financial support. The Harrington Lions agreed to give $75 to the project, while other civic organizations will report later on their intentions. The American Legion had a committee at the meeting.

A tentative program calls for lights for the town in practically the same sections as last year, with bids to be solicited from electrical contractors for their erection. The City of Harrington will again pay for the current.

Ernest Killen and Edward Taylor will supervise the lighting of the streets and the procurement of a Christmas tree to be erected, with help from the Delaware Power & Light Company, at the corner of Commerce and Clark streets in front of the postoffice. Further plans call for the Santa Claus house to be located at Commerce and Fleming streets, with Benjamin Emory Jr. in charge. The date of Santa's arrival was not ascertained.

The business association would like to have Christmas carols by a combined choir of Harrington churches, with a band concert by the high school band. There is also a possibility that the Tall Cedars of Lebanon band, of Milford, would appear here.

Drawings for merchandise were discussed, with details to be worked out later. Prizes will be given for best-decorated homes.

Claude Cahall was named chairman of a finance committee to solicit businessmen for funds for the project. Other members are: Clarence Collins, William Minner, Arnold Glistadt, Dewitt Tatman, W. W. Shaw, and R. E. Giles. Sam Williams will again handle solicitation of individuals.

C. H. Burgess will be in charge of publicity.

3 Harrington Boys Arrested

Arrest of three juvenile boys—14 to 17 years of age—two of them Harrington High School students, is believed to have solved a series of robberies which has plagued the town for the past four months.

The high school boys, one 14 and the other 15 were arrested after the theft of $25 from the cash drawer in the office of the Harrington Lumber and Supply Company shortly after noon on Sunday.

State police at the Bridgeville station said that the pair had broken into the rooms of the high school on four occasions, taking money from desks of teachers; into Burton Smith's store five or six times; and the Service station of Orville Fly, once.

H. H. S. News

In April 1948, a nation-wide study of "The Habits and Attitudes of Teen-Agers Toward Breakfasts and Cereals" was made by Elmo Roper. This was one of the first scientific food habit studies made exclusively among teen-agers. The following findings are of significance to home economics teachers and students:

1. Fourteen per cent of older boys (age 16 to 18 years) and 28 per cent of older girls (age 16 to 18 years) say they often go without eating any breakfast at all—twice as many as among the younger group (age 12 to 13 years).

2. On an average weekday morning, many children do not have the time—or do not take the time—for breakfast. Forty-three per cent estimated that they were out of the house within 45 minutes of the time they had arisen.

3. Almost one-quarter of the boys and more than one-third of the girls say they are not hungry for breakfast on weekday mornings, and among the older girls this figure rose to 42 per cent.

4. Fewer of the older children, particularly the girls, subscribe to the belief that everyone needs to have a good breakfast.

Below-par breakfasts—poor breakfasts—no breakfast at all! That is the record as indicated by these additional studies:

Early in 1943 "What's New in Home Economics" magazine invited home economics teachers to participate in a national mail questionnaire survey of student breakfast eating habits.

This study revealed that 32,213 students ate inadequate breakfasts and 16,736 ate adequate breakfasts, which means that two-thirds of this national cross-section of students had poor breakfast eating habits.

A teacher summed up the need for improving breakfast habits by stating: "If more students ate an adequate breakfast before coming to school, we would see more 'A's' on the report cards and fewer 'A's' in the register because of illness."

Thanks to the following for their help in making our school project a success:

State Reserves $2,000,000 For New Dual Highway

The state is keeping in reserve $2,000,000 of highway building authorization to start construction of a dual highway from Dover to Delmar, it has been revealed, with the administration asking for bids on bonds for the largest financing operation in the state's history.

The $2,000,000 for the proposed extension of the dual highway, which now runs from Wilmington to Dover, is not included in the current financing. It was disclosed as one of the items accounting for the difference between the $28,369,000 of bonds to be sold, and the $37,111,173.84 authorized by the General Assembly this year.

Secretary of State Harris B. McDowell, Jr., explained the new financing included only $7,000,000 of highway bonds although $9,000,000 worth was authorized by the legislature. The $2,000,000 authorization, Mr. McDowell explained, is being withheld to provide for the beginning of the dual highway south from Dover, on Route 13.

He said the $7,000,000 to be provided in the new bond issue has been allocated by the State Highway Department, and will use all federal matching funds currently available. It is hoped that additional federal funds, to be used for the dual highway project, will become available in the next fiscal year, starting July 1.

The $2,000,000 is one of several items accounting for the difference of $8,742,173.84, between the amount of bonds authorized by the legislature and the amount to be issued.

THANKSGIVING

"Praise God from whom all blessings flow, Praise Him all creatures here below."

Compare, if you will, the First Thanksgiving Day and Thanksgiving Day 1949. Though their hardships were many, the pilgrims gave thanks for their newly founded freedom from religious, political, and personal persecution.

Most of all we should be thankful that we are Americans. No country on the face of the earth has been more richly blessed than our own United States.

In this Land of the Pilgrims' Pride, we Americans thrill when we reflect upon the accomplishments of the early pioneers. We marvel at this amazingly developed country that has preserved complete freedom for every citizen.

On this Thanksgiving Day, then, let each of us pause and give thanks for the many blessings that have been bestowed upon us. Let us forever remember that many sacrifices have been made, and many lives lost so that we might enjoy living in a land of plenty where there is liberty and justice for all.

The Indian summer we are having now is concocting some puzzles in the plant world. Wild honeysuckles are blooming near Lebanon. A state conservationist reports buttercups and violets in his yard.

Wintercress, big enough to eat, has been noticed in the fields. Home-grown tomatoes are still seen at roadside stands, while sweet peppers are still in the fields.

On the other hand, some winter berries are noted. For a month now we have seen holly tree with red berries on the Clendaniel farm on U. S. 13 between Canterbury and Woodside.

POTTER'S FIELD

We're very sorry that there will be no column this week, because our editor wants this column on the hook Monday morning and here it is breakfast time Wednesday and we can't think of a darn thing to say.

Henry L. Mencken said, "All successful newspapers are ceaselessly querulous and bellacose. They never defend anyone or anything if they can help it; if the job is forced upon them, they tackle it by denouncing someone or something else."

Newspapers are a boon to mankind; everybody knows that. You can't have a newspaper without an editor (darn it), therefore editors are a boon to mankind also, even if it's a baboon.

We really like to talk to you readers every week, even if you don't like to listen, but sometimes we find it hard to talk about anything at all on Monday morning; and on Sundays we like to talk to our family, so you see this week we will just have to leave this column out entirely, because its too late now to get it in the paper.

Of course, if some of our correspondents didn't wait until we were tearing our hair out on Thursday morning, trying to make the mail, before they brought in their news, (No, No, we don't mean we were trying to get the paper out before they got their news in.), then we could have more time to rack our so called mind for something to write about.

Our boss says the way to write is to apply the seat of your pants to a chair and start writing.

We write with the other end of our anatomy, and can't apply it to a chair, or anything else for that matter, at times.

So, we apologize for not having any column this week, but if you get your news in sooner next week maybe the editor will give us more time to think.

We certainly missed you this week but hope to see you next. O. K.?

LIONS CLUB

The Lions Club held its regular meeting at the Wonder Bar, Monday with 95 per cent of members present. A brief outline of a movie featuring the Delmarva Peninsula was given by Sam Short.

During the business meeting a turkey dinner was planned for all Lion members and their ladies on December 12.

After the dinner and business meeting program chairman, Ernest Killen introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Professor Melvin Brobst, music instructor of the Harrington High School.

Brobst's music training in our school begins in the third grade, but pupils are not admitted to the band until they are in the seventh grade. This gives every pupil a chance for elementary training before they are put in a band which plays a more advanced grade of music. He stressed the point that to become a musician, it requires many more hours work than the average person realizes. The Harrington High School band is made up of junior, and senior high school pupils and their practicing is done at 8 o'clock in the morning before the regular school day.

Greenwood School Notes

Rick DiSerafino has been appointed Physical Education teacher at Greenwood School. Mr. Di is the first full-time physical education teacher we have had in the history of the school.

The girls have one more game to play at Harrington the first of the week. They have completed three games. The scores were: Home—Greenwood 0, Laurel 3. Away—Greenwood 2, Laurel 3. Home—Greenwood 2, Harrington 3.

Both teams are to be complimented on their fine play since they have had only three full weeks of practice.

Greenwood is now organizing an athletic association. Students holding these membership cards will be admitted at student prices at any school in this vicinity. These membership cards cost 50 cents.

Four junior students with their principal, H. F. Cobley, attended the Sussex County Student Council meeting at Milton last month. They came back with many good ideas on why they should form a good Student Council of their own and at this time have done so. They had their first meeting last Wednesday. The discussion was about how a good Student Council can and should operate.

The problem of school and personal cleanliness was brought up and put before the pupils. This subject was thoroughly discussed but no formal action was taken regarding the needs of our school. We hope that this organization is here to last in our school.

The elementary school has received the complete flourine treatment. This series is given under the direction of the Federal and State Health Department.

On Tuesday, Nov. 29, the Mobile X-Ray Unit will be at the school grounds and all pupils 15 years old and over may have this X-Ray. We feel that the parents should insist that their children have this X-Ray so they may be sure they are in good physical health.

Mr. Michael Koziiski, of Camden, has been awarded the contract to paint the exterior of our school. He has informed us that the job will be completed in six weeks.

On November 22, the basketball teams will have their first game. There will be three games altogether that night. They are: Girls vs. Women Faculty, Boys vs. Men Faculty, Boys vs. Alumni.

On November 22, the cafeteria will serve its annual turkey dinner to all the school pupils.

The famous radio and television personality . . . Arthur Godfrey . . . has discovered many talented performers and featured them on his weekly show. One of the most outstanding is comedy dancer, Benny Desmond, the headliner of the new live-act vaudeville bill at the New Milford Theatre Friday and Saturday. Desmond was selected by Godfrey to be featured act in one of his stage units which broke records in some of the nation's top theatres. Another exceptional act on the new variety bill is Duke, Art and Junior . . . television's popular clay modeling team. Audiences are greatly amused and entertained as they make clay models at amazing speed while telling witty jokes. Other talent on the bill include Lane and Claire . . . fast stepping dance team; Harry Martin and Corpany with their unusual musical act; and Fays and Andre . . . acrobatic team.

E. S. P. S. Co. IMPROVES OPERATING VOLTAGE

Over $1,500,000 of the $23,000,000, Eastern Shore Public Service Company will spend over the next five years to assure all industries, farms, homes and stores on the Delmarva peninsula an abundant, reliable supply of electric power from the system to aid in the future development and growth of the peninsula has been spent to increase the operating voltage of the central portion of its transmission system from 44,000,000 to 66,000,000 volts. The areas effected included the main transmission switching substation at Vienna plant, the lines from Vienna plant to Hurlock, Delmar and Salisbury, and the line from Salisbury through Delmar to Laurel, G. M. Nelson, vice-president and general manager for the company announced today and will be accomplished over the week-end of November 5th and 6th.

Nelson said that while actual conversion would be accomplished over a single week the work necessary to make this change-over possible has been proceeding for more than two years and will provide approximately 50 per cent more load carrying capacity on the lines and will reduce voltage drops to less than 50 per cent of the present as has the tie line from Wilmington through Harrington and Laurel to Vienna which was changed to a higher operating voltage late in 1948.

He added that the work included the complete rebuilding of the transmission line from Vienna to Salisbury, the construction of a completely new switching station north of Salisbury, a completely new transformer and distribution station on School Street in Salisbury, a completely new transformer station at Hebron, a completely new transformer station in Delmar, major additions to the switching and transformer stations at Laurel, major additions and changes to the Vienna switching station, the complete rebuilding of the line from Vienna to Rhodesdale, and the extension of that line to Hurlock with the installation of a switching and transformer at Hurlock, and a new line from Hurlock to East New Market.

Nelson further stated that to accomplish the actual conversion, it will be necessary that service be interrupted for approximately two hours in the Delmar area and in the Hebron and Nanticoke and Mardela areas, with momentary interruptions in the balance of the area to permit switching operations.

Today, factories — large and small — everywhere on the Delmarva peninsula are continuing such rapid development and expansion, making greater strides in production, requiring an ever increasing volume of electricity to keep pace with the progress. Mr. Nelson added that an ample supply of electric power must and will continue to be available to meet all requirements and that this operating voltage increase which extends and expands transmission and distribution facilities to these areas will be followed by firming up the Company's system when and where needed so that the Delmarva peninsula will continue to have available an adequate supply of electric power for all its future needs.

What's YOUR price tag on happiness?

springs, a husky, steady-traveling understructure, cushions that are deep and soft and wide enough to let you spread yourself a bit.

Even that extra swelling of the chest that comes from owning a car you know everyone respects and admires.

In a word—your happiness. It's never out of our mind in planning this car—nor in making very sure each dollar of cost gives you the greatest possible benefit.

That's why we rather proudly ask you to go see—and try—this Buick SPECIAL. It's priced like a six, in spite of the fact that like all Buicks, it's a big-powered Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight.

And we honestly believe that it puts a lower price tag on your motoring happiness than any other car you can buy today! See your Buick dealer and find out about that.

The smartest bit of automobile styling on the road today? The standout beauty of tapering fenders—the sturdy protection of a wholly new front-end design?

The prestige that's in the Buick name—the solid, road-wise steadiness Buick has always stood for?

Your chance to get in on the perfect smoothness of Dynaflo Drive*—this being the lowest-priced car on which that sensational new transmission is available?

*Optional at extra cost.

When better automobiles are built BUICK will build them

They're all there, every one of those things. And for a good reason that may go a bit beyond the usual idea in designing an automobile.

For, a long while ago, we graduated from the idea that a motorcar is merely a means of getting about.

The way you travel is pretty important too. The lift that's yours in knowing there's no prettier picture anywhere on the highways. The "kick" there is in a power plant that's lively and eager and always ready to get in on the fun.

The comfort that's found in all-coil

YOU HAVE MUCH TO BE Thankful for

America takes inventory of her blessings and is thankful. No other nation can show so long a list, headed by such items as "Peace," "Security," "Abundance," "Personal Liberty".

In fact, elsewhere in the world there are many who wonder whether to be thankful even for life itself, surrounded as it is by misery, death, and destruction.

Rich or poor, in America we have much to be thankful for.

Farm-Game Project Explained

The Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration Act was approved by Congress in 1937. This piece of legislation more commonly known as the Pittman-Robertson Act, was designed to remedy the dwindling wildlife resources by restoring natural conditions so birds and animals could live and reproduce normally and provide a surplus to be harvested annually by hunters.

The farm-game project has two wildlife technicians whose duty it is to give the farmer or landowners technical advice on wildlife problems and assist him in improving his land for wildlife conditions. In addition, the state will furnish the plants necessary to provide the proper food and winter and escape cover required by farm game.

It is common knowledge to an observant person that the areas now so lush with ideal cover which harbor rabbits, quail, and pheasants is very poor and inadequate during the bleak cold days of late winter and spring. Also the now abundant food stores of weeds, shrubs and trees are noticeably absent during this critical period of February and March. These disastrous winter conditions can and are being corrected as rapidly as possible, through food and cover plantings sponsored by the Game and Fish Commissioners' farm-game program.

Cover is being provided through the use of conifers, an excellent winter cover for all forms of wildlife, and by multiflora rose. (Evergreen plantings may be utilized by the landowner as a source of revenue through Christmas trees while at the same time these trees undoubtedly increase the cash and esthetic value of the land.) The rose in a few years forms a dense wall of vegetation and with its numerous thorns provides the game with protection from their natural enemies. The rose, too, makes an excellent living fence which will turn cattle, sheep, and other farm stock; thus this plant serves a double purpose by furnishing protection for wildlife and provides the farmer with a living, low-maintenance fence.

Food plants being used include a shrub-type lespedeza (Lespedeza bicolor) which is utilized by bob white quail, pheasants, rabbits, and songbirds. A row of this plant will average 8' in height and 10'-15' in width; the seeds are profusely borne and available to birds during the fall and winter. Rabbits feed upon the plant's bark and tender twig ends. A border of bicolor along a woods margin also tends to reduce the invasion of weed trees into fields. Another lespedeza-sericea is valuable in rabbit management but to a lesser degree for birds. This food is taken by rabbits by their eating the tips of the stems, and at the same time the cottontail is afforded some cover by the sericea.

The plants mentioned are those which, in the opinion of local game technicians, are best suited to the needs of Delaware's farm game and to the climate and geographical position of the state. Research is constantly underway in various state and federal agencies to improve and obtain new plants to meet the requirements of our wildlife resources, but the plants now being distributed under the farm-game program are the best that science has thus far discovered.

Nearly every farm has the need for wildlife improvement plantings and the land which could be devoted to such a purpose. Odd pieces of a field, fence rows, woodlot borders are just a few of the areas which could be devoted to a covey of quail, a brood of young pheasants or a family of rabbits. Such work is done on land which is a waste zone or unproductive to the farmer. For example, the margin of a field bordering a woodlot is relatively unproductive because of shade and water competition between the trees and the crop. Here the crop is stunted and it is often a waste of the farmer's time, effort, and money to attempt to fertilize and cultivate this piece of land. However, if this area were to be planted to shrub-lepedeza or sericea it would furnish the farmer with a turn row, would enhance wildlife conditions, and retard the migration of undesirable trees as red gum, cherry, sycamore, etc., into his field. Many farmers are coming to realize the soundness of such a procedure both from an economic viewpoint and from the added game which his farm is capable of supporting. Many farmers and their families enjoy the grand sport of hunting, while those who do not indulge in this pastime get pleasure from hearing and occasionally seeing wildlife around their home.

If any farmer, landowner, or sportsman's group is interested in improving a portion of their land for wildlife, all they need do is contact the Game and Fish Commission, Dover, giving their name, address, and description of the farm's location for ease of contact by the wildlife workers, and a technician will visit the person requesting assistance. If the farmer has a Soil Conservation District agreement or is about to get such cooperation he may contact his local Soil Conservation District, and this agency will inform the wildlife technician of the farmer's wishes. The farmer and the technician will go over the land and decide what can best be done for wildlife. All the necessary planting material will be furnished the farmer to be planted by him in the spring. These services and materials are free upon request, and the landowner is not obligated in any way. The only request on the part of the state is that the plantings be not destroyed or removed for a minimum period of five years. Where necessary to protect the wildlife plantings from grazing animals, the farmer will be furnished the required fencing material; this fencing to be reclaimed by the wildlife technician at the time of maturity of the plantings—usually three years. Such a farmer-cooperator may have safety zones established around his farm buildings; the signs to be furnished by the Game and Fish Commission. A safety zone prohibits the discharge of firearms by hunters within 200 feet of occupied buildings.

The farm-game program is 100 per cent in coordination with the best soil conservation practices and cooperates with the state Soil Conservation Service agencies. It is a program designed to preserve for future generations the wholesome sport of hunting and perpetuate one of our most valuable of natural resources—wildlife.
