

Santa Claus Will Arrive Tomorrow, Giving Kiddies A Preview As Yule Season Gets Under Way

Kris Kringle to Arrive at 1 P. M. to Distribute Treats; City Is Decorated; Prizes to Be Awarded For Best-Decorated Homes—Needy to Get Baskets

A manifestation of the spirit of Christmas will take actual form tomorrow afternoon when Kris Kringle will parade through the business district, heralding the advent of the Yuletide, before distributing treats to children at the Santa Claus house at Commerce and Clark Streets.

The harbinger of the winter holiday season will arrive at 1 p. m. Every Saturday evening Santa will cavort through the business section from 6:30 o'clock to 8:30 o'clock, according to the Harrington Better Business Association, sponsor of the annual Christmas program, though his hours Christmas Eve are still in doubt as he may have to leave early to fill stockings, etc.

The streets are again gaily lighted under the supervision of Edward Taylor and Ernest Killen, with Satterfield & Ryan again putting up the lights and laurel. Through the efforts of Messrs. Taylor and Killen a large Christmas tree is again at the corner of Commerce and Clark Streets in front of the Postoffice.

While the business association is sponsoring the program, civic organizations and individuals are aiding the project. Callaway-Kemp-Raughley-Tee Post of the American Legion will furnish oranges and apples for the kiddies, while the Lions Club will furnish baskets for the needy.

Charles L. Peck Jr., general chairman, has appointed Benjamin Emory Jr., and Mrs. Eva Raughley on the committee to arrange the distribution of gifts to the children.

Drawings this year will be held at 7:30 p. m. Sat., Dec. 10 and 17, and Christmas Eve at 2:30 p. m. To be eligible, one must make purchases at Harrington stores.

Prizes of $20, $10, and $5 will be awarded to the best decorated homes. Tharp Harrington was named chairman to appoint the committee on awards at a special meeting of the business association Monday night.

The group also agreed that stores should stay open Wednesday afternoons until Christmas, and to remain open nights until 9 o'clock, beginning Thurs., Dec. 15. The hours of closing on Christmas Eve, however, will be decided later.

The business association will hold a special meeting Wednesday evening at the Ernest Raughley Insurance Agency.

Harmon Finds Old "Record"

Locked in two vestibule coaches of the new electric line of the West Jersey & Seashore Railroad, 70 persons met awful deaths when the train plunged from the bridge over the Thoroughfare into 35 feet of water this afternoon in Atlantic City. Thus reads "The Philadelphia Record" of Monday, Oct. 29, 1906. The old newspaper, selling for one cent, was found recently by George Harmon between the walls of an old house. Which gives us an idea—Why not put newspapers and relics between the walls of your new house, for posterity?

Other items reveal the following: Czar Nicholas (Russia) was to have two battleships built. A goat went into the First Baptist Church Sunday School in Camden, N. J., and ate the hymnals. Clark County, S. D., had a fine poorhouse without occupants. A pro-Russian meeting in Naples, over which Maxim Gorky presided, was loudly acclaimed.

Gabrielle D'Annunzio, famous Italian poet and playwright, encountered a poor reception in Rome when his famous, "More Than Love," was soundly hissed.

Fire Damages Burgess Home

Acting fire chief, Horace Hamilton, reported three fires Wednesday. Early two grass fires were extinguished with no damage. Wednesday evening the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Burgess on Grant Street was damaged at an estimate of $800 to $1000. The fire started in the kitchen and was confined there. The property is owned by Samuel Johnson, Houston.

Fire Destroys Biggs Service Station Near Felton With Estimated Loss Over $15,000

Firemen Hampered by Explosions of Oil and Gasoline Drums During Two-and-a-Half-Hour Battle Against Flames

Fire apparently caused by a faulty wood stove swept through a service station about a quarter of a mile north of Felton early Saturday, causing damage estimated at more than $15,000.

Firemen were hampered during the two-and-a-half-hour battle against the flames by explosions of oil and gasoline drums stored in an adjacent building.

The gas station and its attached storehouse were owned by J. Franklin Biggs, of Felton.

Passerby Sees Blaze The blaze was discovered by a passerby and the alarm was received at the Felton headquarters at about 3 o'clock. The fire was not extinguished until about 5:30 o'clock.

Fire Chief Clifford Milbourn of the Felton Company said his men lost control of the blaze for a while due to the high winds and lack of water.

He explained that more than 20 tankloads of water were poured on the roaring blaze, in addition to many gallons of chemicals. The fire grew so intense, he added, that he was forced to call for help from the Harrington, Camden-Wyoming, and Frederica Fire Companies.

Station Complete Loss The chief said the service station, the storehouse, and a number of automobile accessories were a complete loss.

There are no streams nearby, he added, and each fire company was forced to make a number of trips to Felton to fill water tanks.

The storehouse was a one-and-a-half-story structure in which Biggs had formerly resided. Just recently he had the building converted as a place to store his accessories, and moved into Felton to live.

Tatman Finds Old Public Ledger

PENNSYLVANIA AND OHIO TRANSPORTATION COMPANY—The proprietors of this line will commence running their daily line from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh, via the Union and Pennsylvania Canals, and Portage Railroad, on the 20th of March, or as soon as navigation will permit.

Thus reads an ad in "Public Ledger" of March 25, 1836. The paper, tabloid size, was published in Philadelphia. The issue is Volume 1, No. 1, a rarity discovered by Dewitt Tatman, of Harrington, some 15 or 20 years ago in the second story of Harrington Hardware Company. The paper is in excellent condition. It sold for a penny.

Probably the most interesting items in the paper were the police news. For example: Miles Carver, found lying in an alley, by the watchman, between 11 and 12 o'clock—upon being aroused, he made use of threats, and was about to accompany them with illustrations thereof, when the spring of the rattle brought up other guardians of the night, and he was domiciled in the watch-house. After a cautionary lecture from his honor, he was discharged.

John Morgan, a genteel looking man, but who last night did not act very genteely, was brought up for drunkenness. The watchman found him in Vine street, between 12 and 1 o'clock this morning, and ordering him home, proceeded on his route—passing along again the same street he saw Morgan on the opposite side, and he then forthwith escorted him to the watch-house. John Morgan was fined.

Tractor Driven By Lad Kills Farmer Close To Andrewville

W. E. Joseph, of Near Greenwood, Falls Under Trailer Carrying Load Of Wood and Soybeans

Wilbert Edward Joseph, 57, farmer, of near Greenwood died of a fractured skull Thanksgiving when he fell beneath a trailer being pulled by a tractor driven by his 11-year-old nephew on Road 309X, the Greenwood-Andrewville dirt road about four miles northwest of Greenwood.

According to the state police at Bridgeville who investigated the fatality, Joseph was sitting on the home-made trailer, which carried a load of wood and soybeans, with his feet resting on the tongue of the vehicle attached to the tractor.

The tractor was operated by 11-year-old George E. Pittman, Jr., also of Greenwood.

May Have Suffered Dizzy Spell Police surmise that Joseph suffered a dizzy spell and slipped from his seat to fall beneath the trailer or that the load on the vehicle may have shifted, striking the victim and knocking him from the seat.

One of the wheels of the trailer passed over Joseph and a U-bolt of the tongue, beneath the vehicle, struck him in the head fracturing the skull.

Police said the boy told them he looked back on one occasion and saw his uncle who seemed to be weaving from side to side in the seat. A few minutes later he said he felt a thud and, looking back, saw his uncle lying in the road. There was some wood lying in the roadway also.

The load of wood and beans was being taken to the home of the boy's grandfather, George Beck, who lives on the road, police said.

The death brings the highway toll to 79 for Delaware this year.

Mr. Joseph was the son of the late James and Cleasay Marshall Joseph of near Greenwood. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Edna Joseph; a daughter, Mrs. Elaine Jones, Greenwood; three brothers, Raymond Joseph, Greenwood; Roy of Slaughter Beach, and Arthur Joseph, Laurel, and one sister, Mrs. Estella Reynolds, Georgetown.

Funeral services were held at the Hardesty Funeral Home, Bridgeville, Saturday in charge of the Rev. Grier Baker of Harrington. Interment was in Hollywood Cemetery.

Railroad News

Howard and Blanche Williams are spending their vacation in Florida.

Bill Jester is still improving. We were all pepped up over the "back-to-work" order received last Tuesday and several men in the track gangs and carpenter department were recalled from furlough, but the orders were changed at the last moment as a result of John L. Lewis orders to quit work again. Ten years ago the coal miners could not work unless the railroad men saw fit to give them cars.

Now the tables are reversed and the railroad men can only work when the miners see fit to give them coal. There has been a lot of reversing done in the past few years and the general tendency is to want something we don't have and, discard what we do.

For example: during the war when steel was scarce, they made filing cases of wood and painted them green to look like steel.

Now they make them of steel and paint and grain them to look like wood.

The pasture-field baseball game broke up in the third inning when a visiting runner slid into what he thought was third base.

An engineer and his fireman were watching two women near the ladies rest room at Wilmington. The fireman says: "I bet I can tell you the nationality of those ladies." The engineer says: "How can you tell that?" His buddy said: "The one going in is Russian and the one coming out is Finnish."

IT LOOKS FUNNY NOW

The hazing tactics of upperclassmen at Penn State College appear funny now, when viewed through the nostalgia and memories of 24 years. They were even ludicrous when the writer was there in 1925, excepting of course, when he was involved.

All this was brought to mind when Herman Ryan recently gave us a clipping from the State College Collegian of 1925, which he said we had sent him. It revived, to some extent our memories. The clipping read:

As a warning to their fellow classmates to adhere strictly to freshman customs, a group of wayward yearlings was censored by the Tribunal at its third sitting of the semester Tuesday night. Eleven men were accused with outright disobedience, and three others petitioned to be excused from customs.

Featuring the meeting was the case of Edward Custer '29 who, upon being requested to make a paddle for an upper-classman, retaliated by sending to this upperclassman the following letter:

Because of a preference job for Messrs. Slaney and Blop-jop, we are at present out of stock. We are glad to announce however, that we will have replenish our supply of paddles by next Tic-Tac night, when our saplings have reached a wormy maturity.

Yours 'till Heinz has 58,
Benedict Arnold.

P. S.—Needless to say, name and address are fictitious. My name card also—X (unknown).

He was sentenced to wear two signs which read, "Yours 'till Heinz has 58—Benedict Arnold" and "The sap that reached a wormy maturity. He will also be treated to a molasses bath.

Next on the program was William Stevens '29, accused of disobeying a sophomore's order to stop. He was run down and after a short tussel overpowered. He must wear a sign "I threw him off—it wasn't exactly comfortable."

We remember seeing the boy wearing the "Benedict Arnold" sign to classes. Then there was a freshman named Seligman who wore a piece of toast on each ear and carried a sign reading, "I Am A Ham Sandwich."

We remember William Stevens, too. He was a short, heavy-set, tow-headed lad from Erie, Pa. He was a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity where we waited on tables. As a freshmen, he wore the traditional dink, a pointed green cap, and reminded one of an inverted ice cream cone.

REMINISCENCES FROM A BACHELOR'S NOTEBOOK

"In my hours of reminiscences I quite frequently think of you, wondering where the tide of time has swept you, and if you might remember a little girl from Seaford, Del., whose name is .....

PAPER FLUTTERING IN THE WIND

We recently noticed a flock of sparrows in a car of feed being unloaded in Harrington. Intermittently, all would take alarm and fly from the car, only to return again. For some time, we could not ascertain the cause for their departure. Then we observed it was nothing—merely the wind blowing the paper that lined the car.

Now comes another "paper fluttering in the wind"—the Flesch test for finding out the readability rating of various publications. Its purpose is to simplify, if necessary reading material so it can be easily read by the masses.

The Flesch theory calls for short sentences, short paragraphs, the minimum use of affixes and prefixes, and the use of what is called "personal reference" words such as "we, you, my, I, ours, theirs, home, etc."

We agree with Flesch on short sentences and short paragraphs. We can also agree with him, in cases, on words without affixes and prefixes for, as Gelett Burgess says, "Short words are words of might," as any fiction writer knows or should know who desires action in his story.

On the other hand, we believe arbitrary or artificial limitations in writing makes the story or news article stilted and unnatural. We do not believe in "writing down" to our readers but in "writing up," if that is possible.

We believe the function of a newspaper is to inform, in the main, and, to a lesser degree, to entertain and to strive for civic betterment. In performing these functions, the newspaper, magazine, and government bulletin also educate.

Thus, it is important that the press publishes articles of educational value; that it spells its words and punctuates its sentences correctly. Many a person has secured an education almost solely from newspapers.

While we do not believe in "dishing out big words" all time, we do believe they have their place in our complex language and that, if one is required to get the exact shade of meaning, it should be used. Language, is like business, in our opinion: it can't stand still. It will not go forward if we have to simplify our vocabulary and go backwards.

People oftentimes think more of the man who admits he is wrong, than the one who is right.

SPEAK NOW OR FOREVER HOLD YOUR PEACE

Change is inevitable. When the atomic bomb was dropped one world was destroyed and a new one was born. It was a world of ideas that had been changed. A new idea of our relations and duties of man to man was formulated and forceably thrust upon us. In this change we recognize new opportunities to do and serve.

All men come to places in their lives when it is necessary to choose what to do with the powers intrusted to them. The purpose of this article is to ask the use of your influence to help develop and maintain better educational facilities and opportunities for our youth. We have increasing evidence that education is a far more powerful force than most people are willing to admit. We know that the knowledge and ability to do indicate the power and influence of a community. You are interested and are a booster of your community and your community needs and appreciates your help.

All the material riches and all the natural resources without the know-how would leave us very poor in relation to others having this background. We must learn the better to live together and to work together. This is the big job of our school and makes for effective living.

The school is a community service agency. The school plant should be made available for organizations' use. However, this entails obligations on the user and the school of which each must assume their proportionate share.

The school should be the place where all kinds of pupils, youth and adult, are rewarded for doing well the things they can do best. To this end every community should secure and have buildings and facilities to make the school the community center where groups can meet for community activities; to provide and learn the facts and know-how for social living; to teach the use of the hands in fabricating or making or repairing things; whether it be household equipment, machinery or the construction of any desirable project; to learn to speak to and greet groups and individuals acceptably in social and business activities.

We believe that a modern school with good equipment that is up to the standards of other communities and other states will make a difference in the individual and group life within the community through its program of education.

A good school changes the way people live in a community.

The results of any organization whether it be a farm, factory or school are determined by the equipment, machinery, and tools available for use. Your school no less than you in your farm work or you in your business activities needs modern buildings and equipment. The greater the efficiency of the plant the better the output.

The Harrington and Felton Boards of Education are giving their patrons the opportunity to match state monies to procure better housing and equipment for their children. Come out! Vote on December 10, 1949. The polling places will be open from 1:00 to 8:00 p. m. Show the growing and future generation that you have an interest in and are a progressive partner in your community. Remember that your good fortune of being born or now residing in Delaware makes you the recipient of a wealth in things and people which you can never repay in full. Do your part: vote for the betterment of your schools.

POTTER'S FIELD

With the smell of Christmas in the air, we often wrinkle our noses, and furrow our brows, not in an effort to sense that particular "tang" that is peculiar to this time of the year, but in an effort to decide what in the Dickens to give so and so for Christmas.

If you're stuck, give a book.

Last Sunday afternoon we had read the Sunday papers and the magazines that we bought to read on Sunday, and were looking for something else to read, when we remembered something we saw sometime ago, somewhere, stating that, "If you were an adult and had nothing to read, read 'Treasure Island' over again for relaxation." So we dug around in the book case 'til we found it, and started in.

Whoever said that was right.

If someone had asked us if we knew Robert Lewis Stevenson's story, "Treasure Island," we would have said, "Why sure, I read that when I was a kid." So would you, but we only thought we remembered it. You are the same way. You remember the Admiral Benbow Inn, The Black Patch, The Treasure Map, etc., just a general gist of the story. It's the same way with: "Ivanhoe," "Lorna Doone," "The Last of the Mohicans," and other books that you read (or were forced to read) in school.

If you will pick up one of your boyhood or girlhood books and force yourselves to read the first two chapters (we don't mean the "Bosby Twins," or "Tom Swift"; we mean books like we have mentioned above; we guarantee that you'll love it.

Where the writer of the article recommended "Treasure Island," we would recommend Mark Twain's, "Tom Sawyer" or "Huckleberry Finn."

One of our greatest contemporary writers, Ernest Hemingway, said this, "All modern American literature comes from one book by Mark Twain called 'Huckleberry Finn'. If you read it you must stop where the Nigger Jim is stolen from the boys. That is the real end. The rest is just cheating. But it's the best book we've had. All American writing comes from that. There has been nothing before. There has been nothing as good since."

Hemingway always liked to end on a semi-tragic note; that's why he wanted "Huckleberry Finn" stopped at the taking of the Nigger Jim, but when a writer like Hemingway makes a statement like that, he means it.

So dig back into some of your childhood classics and read them. It will do you good. Don't be like the fellow that Mark Twain spoke of in his little known book, "The Disappearance of Literature," who said, "A classic is something that everybody wants to have read, and nobody wants to read."

Read more yourself, (oh, yes, you can find time) and encourage others to do so.

Just because, "The Scarlet Sin of Mrs. Diddleydunker," happens to be the current best seller, is no reason why you have to read it or give it to somebody else.

Read something you got a kick out of when you were a kid, and see how much good it does you.

So we repeat, "if you can't think of anything else, give a book."

Not necessarily a current novel, but something they liked when they were kids.

They'll love it.

Powdered Soap

The last particles of powdered soap or detergent in a box can be saved and the box made easily disposable by rinsing it with hot water. The soapy water can go into dishwater or laundry water. The box is easy to fold up and throw away.

Loses Its Barnacles

Seattle's deep, fresh-water harbor has saved both money and labor for the city's shipping industry. Barnacles, those pesky marine crustaceans that hop free rides at sea on ship bottoms, die in fresh water and drop off hulls of vessels.

Plain Tales From The Country

The Purnell family, of Frederica, is one that never lacks for unusual and interesting experiences.

Mrs. Thomas Henry Purnell had an unusual experience when she began to milk the family cow. It seems Mr. Purnell always took the teats on one side while a bull calf took the other side.

Mrs. Purnell tried this system and found it didn't work. "I got more milk on my feet than in the bucket," she commented. The calf kept digging at the udder, causing her to miss her aim. In exasperation she quit milking and said to the calf: "Here—you take it all."

The Purnells had some guests from the city, including a woman, 24. On arriving in Frederica, the first thing the woman wanted to see was the sow with 10 pigs. The sow flopped on her side and the pigs began to nurse. The woman screamed for help. "The pigs are killing the sow," she screamed.

Later on it began to rain and the city visitor became concerned over the welfare of the cow and the sow. "What will they do in this rain?" she inquired. "Oh, don't worry," her husband replied. "Henry will hold an umbrella over them."

Thomas Henry Purnell drives a school bus, picking up children from South Bowers and Thompsonville and delivering them to the Frederica school. One day he parked his bus on a Frederica street and went around back of his house. Finally, a cab driver called him to look out in front. The stop signal on the empty school bus was extended and back of it were three cars. The signal arm had a weak spring, allowing the wind to raise the signal and stop traffic.

LOOKS like a Jet Plane TRAVELS the same way

YOU see it quick-stepping along the highway—and you can't miss the parallel.

You glimpse a bold front end—sleek tapering fenders—flaring, streamlined roof lines—even to "double bubble" taillights, here is the look of "the fastest thing that flies."

Then you try one on the road, courtesy of your Buick dealer.

Adjectives flock into mind—"agile"—"nimble"—"eager."

You realize that here is action, swift and easy—action born of Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight power—action floated on soft coil springs that, for all their lightness, keep your grip on the road sure-footed and firm.

This you tell yourself, is traveling as traveling should be.

When better automobiles are built BUICK will build them

Comfortable—in the spacious manner of king-size interiors. Easy—in the lightness of controls, which can include even the magic of Dynaflo Drive* if you wish. Pleasurable—in the wide, wide outlook that's yours, and the inner satisfaction of having a Buick for your very own.

And we might add another thing, just by way of being practical.

It's frugal too. Frugal in a first cost that's actually less than for some sixes. Frugal in the surprising way such a sizable car gives the go-by to gas pumps.

And if you have Dynaflo, frugal even in many upkeep costs you can forget about—such as clutch troubles, transmission maintenance, even many engine servicing costs.

*Optional at extra cost.

Why not put yourself into one of these jet-lined beauties right now? It's more easily managed than you might imagine—as you'll see by talking to your Buick dealer.

Hoof Beats

Three trotting stars, and no less than four young pacing stallions familiar to harness racing fans from coast to coast, have been retired to stud in recent weeks as breeding farms in the industry scramble for new stud prospects in order to meet the ever increasing demand for Standardbred racing stock.

Foremost among the retired stars are Rodney, harness horse of the year in 1948, who will stand at Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Jenney's Walnut Hall Stud at Donerail, Ky., and Chestertown, winner of the 1946 Hambletonian, who has been added to the stallion roster at Gage B. Ellis' Village Farm in Langhorne, Pa. The three-year-old Arden Homestead trotter, Farory, likewise has joined the stud ranks at Ben S. Wood's Hopkinsville, Ky., farm.

R. C. Larkin recently retired his Grand Circuit pacing star, Poplar Byrd, at Poplar Hill Farm, Lexington. Walnut Hall Farm at Donerail has secured the services of the speedy Goose Bay. And Hanover Shoe Farms has added Octave Blake's consistent Forbes Chief, and Cleo Young's Billy Direct stallion, Norris Hanover, to its string of sires.

In addition, Hanover has also leased Bill Gallon from David R. Johnston's Whitehall Farm, Charlotte, N. C., and Walnut Stud has annexed Tryax, who has been standing at the L. E. Brown farm in Alabama.

Both Bill Gallon and Tryax already have shown promise of greatness at the stud, even though they have not had the high calibre of mares which they will get at their new stations.

The feverish bid for outstanding new stallions is prompted to a large extent by the fact that two of the greatest of the stallions currently in service, Volomite and Scotland, have reached an age at which they are rapidly nearing the end of the trail. Volomite will be 24 next breeding season, and Scotland 25.

Trotting in Brazil

The next country to experience a boom in harness racing may be Brazil. Representatives of Brazilian interests currently are contacting breeding farms in the Eastern U. S. A., in search of breeding stock to be shipped to their country. Sulky racing has proved extremely popular with Brazilian fans at that country's lone trotting track at Sao Paulo.

Miss Tilly Retired

Miss Tilly, winner of this year's Hambletonian trotting classic, has been retired to the broodmare ranks at Walnut Hall Farm, Donerail, Ky., and is scheduled to be bred to Volomite next spring.

Another Prize

One of the most sought after yearlings at next year's Standardbred horse sales undoubtedly will be a colt out of Earl's Princess Martha, dam of Rodney, Egan Hanover and this year's $72,000 yearling, Imperial Hanover. The youngster, now at Hanover Shoe Farms, Hanover, Pa., is by the $100,000 stallion, Nibble Hanover, sire of this year's Hambletonian winner, Miss Tilly, and Knight Dream, winner of last year's Little Brown Jug pacing classic.

Haughton Joins Two Gaits

Twenty-five-year-old Billy Haughton of Fultonville, N. Y., who piloted Dunbar Bostwick's Chris Spencer to victory in the $50,000 Golden West Trot at Hollywood Park last week, has been signed as second trainer for Leo C. McNamara's Two Gaits Farm racing stable next year, giving the McNamara stable one of the county's top young trainers. Head man in the outfit will be Ralph Baldwin, 33, of Aurora, Ill.

Hanover First

Songwriter Ross MacLean, who penned the hit song, "Too Fat Polka," is an ardent harness racing enthusiast and plans to break into the sport with the purchase of two trotters next year—provided his newest song, "Rain or Shine" is a hit. MacLean, who operates the Roosevelt Field Inn, Mineola, L. I., wants to buy a Hanover yearling so he can satisfy a long-standing urge to rename one of the famed Sheppard youngsters Hanover First.

VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

Nearly half million World War II veterans who did not complete grade school before the war have been given the chance to further their education through the GI Bill, Veterans Administration said Friday.

The figure is based on a V-A sampling which disclosed that eight per cent of the 6,000,000 veterans who so far have taken GI Bill training did not have an eighth grade education at the time they started their GI courses.

The sampling was made as of June 1, 1949.

The 6,000,000 total includes 2,200,000 veterans who were in training on June 1, and 3,800,000 who had previously been enrolled but who were not taking training on that date.

Of the veterans enrolled under the GI Bill at that time, 10.8 per cent or 240,000, had not then finished elementary school when they started.

Of those not then in training, 6.6 per cent, or 254,000 veterans, had had seven years or less of schooling.

Nearly one-third of the 254,000 veterans taking institutional on-farm training on June 1, or 30.9 per cent had not completed the eighth grade when they entered their courses.

On the same date, 15.8 per cent of the 447,000 on-the-job trainees and 7.7 per cent of the 1,371,000 veterans in educational institutions had gone no further than the seventh grade at the time they began GI Bill training.

Thousands of veterans are attending grade school under the GI Bill as a stepping-stone to further education and training, V-A said. Some of these plan to go on to high school, while others hope to take training on-the-job, on-the-job, or in trade and vocational schools.

A number of states have established programs of adult elementary education for veterans under the GI Bill.

The programs—generally accelerated to permit a veteran to complete an entire grade school education in a matter of months—age conducted through state public school systems.

Courses are open to all eligible veterans without an eighth grade education—even those who never have been to school one day in their lives.

W. F. Oliphant Elected to Industrial Council

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Delaware State Industrial Development Council held in Dover, W. Franklin Oliphant, of C. C. Oliphant & Sons, Inc., Laurel, was elected a member of the Committee to succeed Thomas G. Hanley of Milford. Mr. Oliphant is recognized as a leading contractor on the Delmarva Peninsula, and is highly enthusiastic about the work of the Industrial Council.

In making the announcement of Mr. Oliphant's election, James E. Goslee, Jr., President of the Council, stated that the members of the Executive Committee thought that they were particularly fortunate in Mr. Oliphant's acceptance to the Committee. Mr. Goslee said, "Mr. Oliphant brings to the Committee a wealth of experience in business and his enthusiasm for the accomplishment of the objectives of the Council will go a long way toward making the Council a success."

It was also announced that Colonel C. B. Shaffer, former mayor of Rehoboth Beach, was appointed membership director of the Council. Colonel Shaffer will have charge of all matters relating to membership in the Council, and is making an active canvass of reputable concerns and individuals throughout Kent and Sussex Counties for memberships in the Council.

It was reported that the Council has already been successful in obtaining four new industries for the State, the latest acquisition being the Belber Trunk & Bag Company who purchased a building containing 35,000 square feet from the Wilson Cabinet Company in Smyrna. This concern will employ 200 persons in the production of hand luggage and their employment has almost reached this figure.

Other concerns who have located are the Penn Garment Company at Lewes. In this instance the business men of Lewes have constructed a building for their use on a long term lease.

There is under construction at Middletown a building for the Delaware Textile Company who will employ about 75 persons in the manufacture of nylon cloth.

Middletown also obtained the plant of Cotton Towne, Inc., manufacturers of women's dresses. Employment has already reached 75 and the expectations are that this will be doubled in the near future.

TO THE CORRESPONDENTS

We said recently that "about the only correspondent who printed names when writing in long-hand" was White's Church. Mrs. Collison of Andreville, was kind enough to remind us that she, too, prints names. Furthermore, she said we changed her singular possessives to plural possessives, or was it vice versa? Anyway, we will try to correct any such errors. We want to thank her for taking an interest in her work.

We received the deskbook of the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri Saturday. Its proper title is "The University of Missouri Bulletin, Journalism Series, 105." The bulletin was written mainly to help students of the journalism school in reporting for "The Columbia Daily Missourian," but it contains much to recommend it to correspondents. If any of you come in town, we will be glad to show it to you. Meanwhile, we plan to publish material of interest from it from time to time in this column.

This week we have general instructions:

1. Accuracy, terseness, and fairness are requisites of a good news story; and the greatest of these, for without it all other good qualities are as nothing, is accuracy.

2. Accurate writing presupposes accurate observation and clear thinking. Be sure the facts are plain to you before you try to tell them to others.

3. Read your own and rival newspapers. Read them line by line—local news, telegraph news, editorials, departments, and advertisements. You cannot expect to write . . . intelligently unless you know what has already been printed on the subject.

4. Any reporter (correspondent) finding unexpected news or news of an unusual importance should telephone the office at once. (Harrington 206).

5. Watch names. Do not be afraid to ask how names are spelled. What you think is "Brown" may be "Browne."

6. In taking names over the telephone insist that letters be clearly indicated; "s" and "f," "b" and "d" "m" and "n" sound alike over the telephone. To distinguish them, use words, beginning with the letters in question, thus: "s" as in summer, f as in Frank, b as in boy, d as in dog, m as in match, n as in nothing."

7. Remember that "A good reporter gets the stories he is sent after; a first-class reporter gets stories that he isn't sent after." A good way to attract favorable attention from the city editor is to volunteer news stories or suggestions for news stories.

8. Keep your eyes open for feature-story picture possibilities.

9. Courtesy pays. Remember this is answering inquiries over the telephone.

10. Cultivate a feeling of personal responsibility for your story. Never be content with getting a thing "almost right"; get it "right." And Always—

11. WATCH NAMES.

CAHALL'S GAS SERVICE COMPANY

Open Evenings Until Christmas

HARRINGTON, DEL.

WHEELER RADIO
STORE NEWS

Doesn't it make you feel good to see someone happy? There are so many ways of making people happy, one for instance is giving the wife or your daughter something that will be useful for the rest of her life. A Free-Westinghouse sewing machine, as advertised in nearly all leading magazines, is the best made and just think it not only sews but does many other things as well. You can even get an attachment for making button holes and best of all, these machines are guaranteed for twenty years. When not in use, they close up and take up less room than chair. A wonderful gift for any woman.

Now speaking of gifts, may I say that two or three years ago anything could be sold as electrical appliances were hard to get as manufacturers were making other things for Uncle Sam. But today, you can buy the best and more modern than ever.

I would like for you to take a look at our store window and see the many practical and beautiful gifts that we have on display. Some of these items were fortunate in securing as some standard articles are still hard to get. The goods we have displayed are standard products and fully guaranteed. It will make you proud to be the donor of any of these gifts.

Just received the new 7 foot Westinghouse refrigerator, just the right size for these new married couples or for that matter any family which is not extremely large. We also have Eight, Ten and Eleven foot refrigerators which will fill the bill for anyone.

How about that Freezer that you have promised yourself for so long? Well now is the time to buy. We have them and if you buy one between now and Xmas, I will give that boy of yours a full size $50.00 bicycle absolutely FREE. Yes, it is red and what a beauty!

We have Maytag ironers, washers both wringer type and automatic, also gas ranges. See us if you want any Maytag products and you will not be sorry.

I have a store loaded for Xmas and that includes Westinghouse and Philco televisions. If you have set your mind on giving certain items, I am sure we have them especially in the appliance line. Come in and see what we have, you are always welcome, buy or not.

There are still a few of you who do not have electric and I haven't forgotten you. I have the very latest battery radios in stock.

These sets work so well that some of our customers who have been fortunate enough in getting electric have tried both electric and battery radios and still stick to their battery set. Why not, it is a PHILCO and when you say PHILCO that is the answer.

A couple of weeks ago if you remember, I was speaking of wallpaper and the wonderful change it makes in any room. Well several have taken advantage and have papered and may I ask this question have you heard anyone say I wish I had left the old paper on? Well that just goes to show you that anyone can see so much difference that they are just delighted by having it repapered.

Now think of your own home for instance, it is as pretty and as bright as you would like to have it? Maybe not, but I can say this, if you redecorate with a different pattern for instance a lighter shade of paper, you will really see the difference. Repaper now, pay us later.

Don't forget an item under $50.00 can be bought on open or weekly or monthly basis. Over $50.00 a small down payment is required and as many as 24 months to pay. This is at Wheeler Radio Store, Harrington, Delaware, phone 541.

Beginning December 7th, our store will be opened on Wednesday afternoons until after Xmas and will also be opened during evenings from December 12th until Xmas. Come in and look around, we have just what you want.
