

Frear Expresses Concern Over Conditions in China In New Year's Message

Says Burma, Siam, Indo-China, Philippines Are Potential Targets Of Chinese Communist Armies

United States Senator J. Allen Frear, Jr., Tuesday night called on all Americans to work unceasingly for conditions leading to a just and lasting peace. In a New Year's message on the eve of the new session of Congress Senator Frear declared that world order is the most important objective toward which the Congress can strive in 1950.

Mr. Frear said that another principal obligation on the part of the lawmakers during the coming year is to encourage the continued healthy state of our domestic economy, which he said is essential to our own welfare and that of other nations with whom we are allied.

The Delaware Senator expressed the belief that 1950 would be a "relatively prosperous year" in the United States. However, he warned that serious industrial disputes, particularly in key industries, could have an adverse effect on the nation's economy. "When such disputes occur," he said, "the channels of arbitration should be continually employed in an effort to bring about an agreeable settlement. Both management and labor," declared Mr. Frear, "have a clear-cut responsibility to the American public in this regard."

Senator Frear, who spent a month in Europe last fall, expressed the belief that a reduction could be made in appropriations for foreign lands. He cited as evidence the rapid recovery which Western Europe has already made as a result of the Marshall Plan and pointed out that American assistance has enabled western democracies to hold the line against communism.

In contrast, however, Mr. Frear expressed increasing concern over conditions in Asia, where Nationalist resistance on the Chinese mainland has all but collapsed. He warned that Burma, Siam, Indo-China, and even the Philippines are potential targets for advancing Chinese Communist armies.

The Delaware Senator indicated he approved of President Truman's policy of reviewing our position in the Western Pacific area, in light of the present military situation there.

Senator Frear also announced his opposition to recognizing the new Chinese Communist government in Peking. He declared that the Chinese Reds have so far failed to keep obligations, not only to their own people but to those of other nations; and he indicated he would not favor recognition "unless and until the Chinese Communist government carries out its responsibilities." As an example of that government's attitude, Senator Frear cited the instance of the two American servicemen who have been held incommunicado by the Communist forces for many months after being seized when their plane came down in occupied territory.

On purely domestic matters Senator Frear declared that in his opinion no further increase in taxes is necessary, and he again called for a cut in federal expenditures as a means of balancing the budget. He also expressed the hope that Congress would remove excise taxes on items classified as necessities, and announced that he favored the removal of existing federal taxes on oleomargarine.

Mr. Frear also urged the full implementation of Government Reorganization Plans in the interest of greater efficiency at less cost to the American taxpayer.

In conclusion Senator Frear expressed the hope that the new year would bring "the kind of success and satisfaction that comes from being a good American. Let us look to the future," he said, "with confidence in Almighty God and with the determination to perform our duties for the best interests of our fellow men as well as ourselves."

Business Ass'n. Looks to the Future

The Harrington Better Business Association is starting the new year on the right foot—at its regular monthly meeting Wednesday night it reported another successful Christmas program and "okayed" payment of all bills.

The Christmas program progressed smoothly, with members hearing many compliments. Paul Porter said that, from the air, Harrington was the best-decorated town from Wilmington to Salisbury.

Clarence Collins and Mr. Giles were appointed to a committee to determine the feasibility of having a trade day within a short time. The duo will canvass the leading merchants of the town to get their reaction.

Fulton Downing was named chairman of the New Business Committee. There are a couple of prospects for new industries, employing men, for Harrington.

Smith to Show 1950 Chevrolet

Tomorrow's premier showing of the new 1950 Chevrolet here will feature a number of "firsts", it was announced today by F. B. Smith, local dealer.

Likewise, it was announced that the 1950 car will be available in 14 models, with a choice of 14 color combinations.

At Saturday's new car showing here, residents of the district have been invited to attend the "open house" first day events as guests of the local dealership.

Chosen Friends Lodge No. 35

Chosen Friends Lodge lost to Rehoboth in their dart ball game last Thursday evening.

It seemed all our boys had sore arms from winning from Georgetown the week before.

Wednesday they were back in form and won from Camden at Camden, winning the first game 1 to 0 with Hopkins hitting a home run. The second game was won with a little larger margin 4 to 1. This makes Harrington winning 3 games and losing 2. The winning team at the end of the season that wins the most games in the league will receive a trophy.

So come out boys and play or watch your team win.

"Growing Up" Theme At Rotary Club

"The biggest mistake one can make is to judge a man by his college degree," said Rev. J. Harry Wright in his address to the Harrington Rotary Club Tuesday evening.

"In most sections of this country, particularly in New England, where they have so many excellent colleges, the general public accepts a man as something special just because he has a degree or two. That in itself is tragic enough, but the pitiful part of it is that the holder of the degrees accepts himself in the same manner. With this high opinion of himself, which he does not attempt to conceal, imagine his amazement when he finds himself outdistanced by men who do not have a high school education—outdistanced in business, art, literature and in many other fields."

To illustrate his point, the speaker quoted the bit of verse: "I sometimes think there are three of me, I and myself and my Phd."

Such a man, believes Rev. Wright, by his demeanor, is an example of self-praise. "Then comes a drab anti-climax when the man realizes that while he may have been the bright, particular star of his university, he is not the bright particular star of our universe. Then we have self-pity."

Rev. Wright substituted a thought of his own for the last line of the verse when he said: "I and my authority."

"People with real authority use that authority, if ever, only on rare occasions. The fellow with little, if any, authority, pops up on all occasions and tries to impress people with the use of something he does not possess. When you say to a person: 'Be your age', you are trying to assert your authority; you are giving an exhibition of self-superiority."

Some people never grow up, according to Rev. Wright, while others approach that state at a very early age. He closed his splendid address with another bit of verse:

"Thank God, a man can grow; He is not bound With earthward gaze to creep Along the ground." Howard Williams was program chairman for the evening.

Firemen's President

Jehu Camper

Camper Installed As President of Fire Company

The Harrington Fire Company at its meeting Monday night installed Jehu Camper, president; Paul Neeman, vice president; Frank O'Neal, Sr., secretary; L. Gooden Callaway, financial secretary; Lewis Clymer, treasurer; George Johnson, fire recorder; Douglas Mills, chief; Walter Messick, Eugene Anderson, and O. T. Roberts, directors; Horace Hamilton, first assistant; Thomas E. Brown, second assistant.

The Harrington Fire Company answered alarms to protect property valued at $211,730 last year, with a loss of only $27,770, according to the annual report released this week by Fire Recorder George Johnson.

The company answered 29 city and 63 rural alarms. It laid 10,860 feet of 1" hose; 5000 feet of 1½" hose, and 3100 feet of 2½" hose. It raised 890 ladders, traveled 826 miles, and expended 1360 man hours. Average number of firemen attending the fires was 18.

The company put out a grass fire on East Street late Monday morning without loss. Fire was caused by burning trash. Twenty-seven firemen attended the first fire of the year.

Farm Outlook Favorable Here

Delaware's agricultural outlook appears to be favorable when compared with that of other regions of the country, as well as the nation as a whole, according to George M. Worrirow, Director of the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service.

"Delaware is one of the few states where cash farm income for 1949 was greater than for 1948, says Director Worrirow. Our gross income increased from $99,000,000 in 1948 to $105,000,000 in 1949, while the national agricultural income declined about nine per cent."

Worrirow points out that both prices received by farmers and cash receipts from farming for 1950 may average about 10 per cent below last year. Meanwhile, farm operator's net income is likely to drop somewhat more than cash receipts. This is because farm production costs and prices paid by farmers are expected to decline less than their cash receipts in 1950.

"Efficiency of production on the farm," concludes Worrirow, "will be even more the key to successful farming in 1950 than it has been in the past."

Street Is No Place For Coal Ashes

A recent survey of the streets of the City of Harrington discloses that certain property owners are depositing coal ashes on city streets in violation of City Ordinance No. 13, adopted May 20, 1924, and which provides a fine of Five dollars for the first offense and ten dollars for subsequent offenses. City authorities have made every effort to keep our streets clean and presentable but this cannot be done without co-operation from our citizens.

It has been suggested that all violators remove such ashes promptly and avoid the payments of fines and costs.

To The Correspondents

Do not use "anticipate" when you mean "expect." Consult the dictionary for the meaning of "anticipate."

To "effect" means to bring to pass or to accomplish. Do not use this word when you mean "to affect."

Things "occur" or "happen" without being arranged in advance. An explosion "occurs," or an accident happens, but a wedding "takes place."

Do not use "burglarize, enthruse," or "gents."

"Following" has the sense of "pursuing." Don't use it when you mean "after." "Before" usually is better than "preceding." "At the same time" is easier to read than is "simultaneously."

CAPITALIZATION

In case of doubt, use lower-case rather than capital letters.

Capitalize a title preceding and attached to a name, but lower-case the title if it follows the name or stands by itself. But "President," of the United States, always is capitalized.

Notice these examples: Chief of Police Smith the chief of police Prof. Jones William Jones, professor of economics Gen. W. A. Black the general said President Truman Harry S. Truman, President of the United States King George

The fact that a title precedes a name does not "always" mean it should be capitalized. Note such cases as: "Payments should be made to the treasurer, Jacob Jones."

"Former, ex-," and "elect," when used with titles, are not capitalized. For instance: "former President Taft, ex-President Taft, Governor-elect James (former) is preferred to "ex-".

Capitalize "Union, Republic," the "States" when referring to the United States but do not capitalize adjectives such as "national, federal," etc. Do not capitalize "government, administration," or "nation."

Do not capitalize "state."

Chicken Best Buy For Homemakers

With the recent slump in the poultry market, chicken has become the most economical meat that homemakers can buy, according to W. T. McAllister, Marketing Specialist at the University of Delaware.

"Poultry is now far enough down in price," McAllister points out, "that it can be used more times each week by the average family. From the nutritional standpoint, use of more chicken can mean great savings in the family food budget. Chicken is one of the best foods we have."

Since chicken can be broiled, fried, roasted, or used in any number of types of special dishes, it lends itself to use several times during the week. For tips on selecting the best chicken, as well as some of America's favorite chicken recipes, write or call your local Home Demonstration Agent for a copy of the illustrated booklet, "Let's Eat Chicken."

Church World Service, Lutheran World Relief and Catholic Rural Life; and all contributions made in this area will be gathered together for carload shipment to ports. The boatloads of foods will be handled by established church organizations, and all distribution abroad will be done through the church authorities. In this way, those who contribute to CROP can be sure that their gifts reach the proper people—and are not taken over by foreign governments or permitted to get into the black market.

CROP is doing two big jobs at one time. It is collecting foods for those who need them most in foreign lands—and it is relieving farm surpluses here at home.

All who wish to participate in the farm-to-farm canvass, or make special contributions to CROP are urged to contact their local church or the County Agent's office for special information.

THIS IS YOUR CITY

Two days that should be of extreme importance to the citizens of Harrington will probably pass by unknown to the majority. Today, Fri., Jan. 6th, a small group of citizens will meet at the Fire Hall, at 8 o'clock in the evening and two candidates for City Council and one or more candidates for Mayor will be selected to assist in the government of this City. Petitions will be presented signed by not less than more than 25 qualified voters for each and every candidate for the Council and the candidates for Mayor will be selected from the floor. Regardless of the ability or business experience or lack of business experience and other qualifications or lack of qualification, no change can be made after this meeting is adjourned in accordance with the Charter of Harrington. That makes it very important that all civic-minded citizens attend this meeting. (Less than 20 persons attended last year.) Affairs of the City and financial reports are presented and should be thoroughly discussed. This is an opportunity for constructive suggestions for consideration of the City Officials in the coming year, and to ascertain how your money was spent in 1949.

The other day of importance is Tues., Jan. 10 between the hours of 12 a. m. and four p. m. This is City Election Day.

In the event of a contest it is the civic duty of all eligible voters (no tax delinquent is eligible) to participate.

This City is a corporation with an assessed valuation of $2,200,000, with a water and sewer system with a replacement value of $300,000, making total assets of two and one-half million dollars, and the management of such a business should not be taken for granted. It takes time, industry and business ability to conduct any business. Why should the business of a city be any different? Attend the meeting tonight and help select the proper persons.

EPIPHANY or "OLD CHRISTMAS"

No feast of Christ's nativity was held in the Christian Church until sometime in the fourth century. By the second century, Jan. 6 had been observed as the date of Jesus' baptism. But probably about the beginning of the fourth century, this date was regarded in the East as the time of Christ's birth also, by reason of an interpretation of Luke 3:23 which states that Jesus was about thirty years of age when He was baptized by John in the Jordan.

The calculations of Hippolytus, one of the most learned Christians of the second and third centuries, have generally prevailed over the West. He fixed on March 25th for the Annunciation to Mary concerning the birth of Jesus. Then he reckoned the Saviour's life as being thirty-two years, from B. C. 3 to A. D. 29. Therefore, by counting nine months, he arrived at the date of Dec. 25 as the day of the Nativity of our Lord.

It was the general belief in the third century, that the universe was created "on the ninth day before the kalends of April—the vernal equinox—and that the sun was created on the fourteenth day of the moon occurring after the ninth day before the kalends of April." The Montanists, who were Christians hoping for the speedy return of Christ, and who believed that the end of the world-age was close at hand in the second century, were among those who accepted these popular beliefs. The Montanists always celebrated the Passover "on the sixth day of April, when it falls on the day of Resurrection." Otherwise they would celebrate it on the following Lord's Day. They probably thought that Jesus died on April 6, because they believed that "the Passover of Christ, being the true Passover, must fall due at typical maturity reckoned from the origin of the world." By reckoning nine months from the sixth of April, on the same reasoning as that of Hippolytus, one arrives at the date of sixth of January.

The Winter solstice, December 25, when the sun begins to turn, was celebrated by the heathen world as the birthday of the Mithraic "Sol Invictus," and a great festival of the sun was held on that day. It is quite possible that when, in the fourth century the Christians began to observe the Nativity as a festival, they seized upon the coincidence between the day as calculated by Hippolytus and the heathen feast-day, in the attempt to Christianize the latter as the birthday of the true Sun of Righteousness, and showed a good example to the heathen world by making the day a true holy day.

At all events, the celebration of December 25 as Christmas Day first appears in Rome in the fourth century. From Rome it spread to the East, being introduced into Constantinople in the latter part of that century. It reached Alexandria at the beginning of the fifth century. From its beginning, Christmas became one of the great festivals of the Church.

In the East, the Baptism of Jesus, with its manifestations, is now emphasized on January sixth. The Armenians still observe only that day as the Nativity and the Baptism of Jesus. But in the West, since the days of Saint Augustine early in the fifth century, the coming of the Wise Men to seek the new-born King is commemorated January sixth. Christmas Day and Epiphany are distinct events in our Western celebrations.

A Breath of Clean Air

(Reprinted from The Sunday Star of December 25, 1949)

The National Labor Relations Board at Baltimore, reviewing the charges brought by the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union against the International Latex Company, has decided that the union had no cause for complaint, and ordered it to withdraw its action.

The NLRB, which has often been described as pro-labor in such controversies, has thus justified the Sunday Star's conclusions regarding this important Delawarean industry. It has also vindicated (if vindication were needed) A. N. Spauld, chairman of the board of International Latex, whose forthright liberalism on national issues has earned him worldwide respect.

Unions * * * still have much to do in many areas and in some industries. But when unions strike out for political or purely selfish, dues-collecting reasons, as was the case in Dover, they should be called to order.

This newspaper, after a thorough investigation of the I.L.G.W.U. "charges" in its paid newspaper space, did not hesitate to expose the union's unfounded claims in its editorial of November 20 entitled "When a Union Smears." In that editorial it was shown, among other things, that not a single Latex worker had joined the union.

Very few, if any, of the I.L.G.W.U. "union shops" enjoy the advantages granted labor by the International Latex Company. That Latex employees appreciate this is evidenced by the fact that they did not heed the high pressure and heavily-financed I.L.G.W.U. attempts to "organize" them.

The most unfortunate episode of the campaign, however, was the union's attempt to smear the company's fine reputation. Instead, I.L.G.W.U. should have pointed to the International Latex Company as an example of the kind of plant which would make unions unnecessary were that Company's practices universally observed. But perhaps that is asking a bit too much these days.

This newspaper is known for its sympathies to all labor. It was therefore the more clear from the beginning that the I.L.G.W.U. campaign of smear was a distinct disservice to labor and even to this particular union—and we said so, freely. Now the government agency, the National Labor Relations Board, has passed final judgment by declaring that the union complaint lacked merit even as it lacked the evidence to support its "charges." It was then that the union withdrew its "complaint."

Delawareans will welcome this breath of clean air!

Save the Surface America has become a nation on wheels. To keep those wheels spinning requires a whole range of special coatings to furnish beauty and protection. The finishes on streamline trains, buses, street cars, tractors and trucks, must be tougher than the working conditions the vehicles encounter. They must be as rugged as the machines they protect.

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS Well here we go again into another year and as I look back into 1949, I am wondering if you are one of the many who has been made happy by just changing or buying something that you have always wanted. There are so many things today that should make any woman or man happy. For instance, a woman who has been washing so long that her hands show it can now do that wash by the most miraculous washer that her hands need not even touch water. Just think of the labor and muss this will save. Now let's make a trade. I have these automatic washers and you have the old style one. I have several people who would like to have the very washer you now have so let's make a trade or in other words swap. Your old washer can be taken in for the down payment and then the balance paid in several payments. In fact you can have two years if you want. I was talking to a family this past weekend to whom I sold a television set about two years ago. They made the remark that they feel that the set is now paying them good interest as well as much pleasure. Here is how they figure it. There are 4 in the family who went to the movies about twice a week or a layout of $4.00. They have not been to the movies since getting their Philco television set and figuring 100 weeks at $4.00 per week more than pays for it. Won't you think you could also be entertained by a television set? Well let me tell you frankly if you want to go out evenings, don't get one as they will surely keep you home. There is such a variety of programs including wrestling or anything of importance or entertainment that you just pull your shoes off and get in some comfortable clothes. You will say "No, not tonight, I am staying home."

Added Beauty and Style Feature Chrysler's 1950 Models

In its 1950 line, now on display in dealers' show-rooms throughout the country, Chrysler offers new styling, inside and out, including entirely new upholstery in virtually all models; the introduction of an entirely new body style available in both the six and eight-cylinder lines; improvements in the instrument panel, larger brakes on the six-cylinder models and an improved booster on the brakes of the eights; increased visibility through a rear window that has 27 per cent more glass area; a slight increase in height, width and length, a wider rear tread on the sixes, and a refinement of numerous features introduced in the 1949 models. Nineteen body styles are listed and 15 standard body colors, eight of which are entirely new.

Appearance improvements begin at the front bumper and are carried through to the rear bumper, giving the new line distinction and individuality. Different styling features have been incorporated in the sixes and in the eights, so that one is readily distinguishable from the other at first glance. Among the points of difference between the two lines are the parking lights, the length of the molding on the front fender, the nameplate on the front of the radiator and the wheel cover.

Front-end styling features an entirely new die-cast grille, comprising three heavy horizontal bars, topped by a fourth bar that curves down at the ends. In the sixes, a new rectangular parking light is located below each headlight between the top and bottom bars of the grille. These bars extend out to wrap around the fender. In the eights, a new round parking light is installed in a chrome grille plate underneath each headlight. This chrome plate fills the space between the top and bottom bars of the grille. Seven thin vertical bars are placed between the horizontal bars of the grille. A new enameled nameplate with chrome wings is placed just above the center of the grille in the sixes. The name Chrysler in script is used on the eights in this position. There is a new hood ornament placed lower on the hood.

Front bumpers are two inches wider than in the preceding model and new-style bumper guards complement the deep-section bumper and frame the license plate holder.

Body changes include a longer rear fender, which retains its full height almost to the extreme rear of the car. The rubber grommet at the filler tube is recessed into the fender, thus making possible an almost flush mounting of the filler cap.

A new large combination of tail-light, stop-light and turn signal is flush mounted in each rear fender, thus contributing greatly to the clean and sweeping rear-end lines. Back-up lights are mounted on each side between the fender and the deck lid. A new script Chrysler nameplate and vertical lock handle ornament the deck lid. The rear bumpers, like those in front, have been made more massive. Two new bumper guards frame the license plate and the license lights are set into the inside of each of these guards. Additional box-shaped bumper guards are installed on the top of each bumper behind the fender.

Appearance of the rear-end also is improved and visibility increased by a newly-designed rear window that has an area of 684.4 sq. inches, as against 537.2 in the 1949 cars. The bottom edge of this window is extended to the belt molding, giving an attractive double molding line around the rear of the car. The window is of the three-piece type, with chrome division bars at each side. New front and rear fender moldings are placed lower down and in the eight-cylinder models this molding stops at the front door, while in the sixes it is carried beyond the middle of this door.

The instrument panel has been improved by new and larger rotary switch knobs with a vertical bar for easier control. The transparent backgrounds have been provided for the gauge dials, speedometer, radio dial and clock. In the sixes, this background is transparent brown on polished Richlow brass and in the eights it is transparent gunmetal on polished aluminum. A new concentric turn signal switch housing in the steering column creates a more compact appearance.

Interior styling has been given additional touches of elegance in all models. In the Royal and Saratoga, there are new horizontal lines and a new arm rest on the door panel. In the Windsor and New Yorker, the door panel has been improved by the addition of new horizontal lines, a new type arm rest and a chrome molding strip below the door handle. Horizontal lines have been added to the front seat back. In the New Yorker, the improvements noted for the Windsor have been made, plus refinements in the rear-seat cushions and backs of the sedan models. These cushions now have a narrow center pillow, with wide pillows on each side. A center arm rest is provided by dropping the center pillow in the rear seat back. On the front-seat back a new horizontal and vertical line effect is introduced, with buttons at the line intersections. This treatment is also applied to the door trim panels.

Upholstery options have been increased and finer fabrics are offered. In the Windsor, there are three two-tone trim combinations and one of nylon in a waffle pattern; in the New Yorker, all fabrics are new and a choice of several patterns of striped broadcloth is available, together with nylon. New fabrics also are used in the Royal and Saratoga in chain striped broadcloth. Upholstery in the convertible models is striped Bedford cord combined with leather, or all leather at a slight extra cost, with a choice of four colors.

To complement the trim selected, the purchaser is offered a choice of three distinctive steering wheels made of hard plastic in variegated colors. This matching of steering wheel and upholstery creates very rich and attractive effects.

One of the important mechanical changes is the adoption on the six-cylinder models of 12-inch brakes. This brake replaces the 11-inch type used on previous models and it provides 15 per cent more lining contact area. The overall result is lighter brake pedal pressure and greater reserve. The new Chrysler self-energized disk brake will be standard equipment on the Town and Country "Newport" and the Crown Imperial models.

Improved brake action also is produced in the eight-cylinder models and the Royal and Windsor eight-passenger sedan and limousine by a new booster. Smoother and more positive brake feel is accomplished as a result of the smoother booster action resulting from the use of external valving instead of internal valving. The new booster causes the brake to take hold quickly and at the same time makes the action smoother throughout the operation of stopping the car. Brake pedals, as well as clutch pedals, now are square.

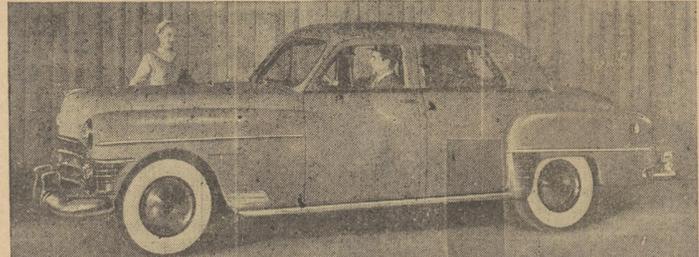

Easier servicing of the Prestomatic Fluid Drive Transmission has been made possible by minor changes in design.

The 1950 line comprises the following body styles, divided among six models:

Royal (six cylinder)—Four-door sedan, club coupe, station wagon, eight-passenger sedan.

Windsor (six cylinder)—Four-

Completely new and distinctive styling, producing added beauty inside and out, features the 1950 Chrysler line. Among the important improvements are a new grille, longer rear fenders carried to their full height almost to the rear of the car; a new and artistic grouping of tail light, stop-light and turn signal flush mounted in each rear fender; giving sleek, graceful rear end lines; a new rear window with 27 per cent more glass area; changes in the instrument panel; and larger brakes on the six-cylinder models. Nineteen body styles are offered in the Royal, Windsor, New Yorker, Saratoga and Crown Imperial series.

Newport Model Is New

There is a slight increase in exterior width, length and height. Interior dimensions remain unchanged, retaining the generous head room, leg room, chair-height seats and ease of entrance and exit that have proved so popular in the 1949 models.

One entirely new model, the Newport, has been introduced. This is known as a special club coupe, but in effect it is a hard top convertible available on both six and eight-cylinder chassis. It offers the sleek lines of a standard convertible, with the added safety provided by a fixed steel top. Chrysler's new self-energizing disk brakes are standard equipment on the Town and Country Newport, as well as on the Crown Imperial models.

Appearance improvements begin at the front bumper, which is wider and more massive, and are carried through to the rear bumper. Different

try. This car is designed for those who want the sleek, racy lines and unrestricted visibility and ventilation of a convertible, with the added safety provided by a solid steel top. This new Chrysler offering is in effect a hard-top convertible in appearance. It can be opened up to the same degree as a convertible by dropping all the side windows flush with the top of the body, while a huge rear window, with its sides curving into the steel roof, interferes virtually not at all with the illusion of a completely open car.

The "Newport" is the only car to be built in the Town and Country line this year. With an all-steel body set off by artistic white ash trim and a solid steel top complementing its graceful lines, it promises to be extremely popular with those who are anxious to possess the utmost in motor-car swank.

Wheelbase, interior dimensions and horsepower throughout the line remain the same as in the corresponding models of the 1949 line.

MacCormick To Address Prisoners' Aid

Austin H. MacCormick, executive director of The Osborne Association, Inc., will be the guest speaker at the annual luncheon meeting of the Prisoners' Aid Society on January 16th at the Y. M. C. A. The speaker, who has surveyed every prison in the country, has been the chief consultant on correctional problems for the U. S. Army since 1942.

From 1929 to 1933, he served as Assistant Director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, the agency which has just completed a survey of the New Castle County Workhouse at the request of Attorney-General Albert W. James.

Mr. MacCormick was Commissioner of Correction of New York City for 6 years. Following World War II, he served as vice chairman of the War Department Clemency Board which viewed 35,000 general court-martial cases. He has been chairman of the Army's Advisory Board on Parole since 1946.

The Osborne Association is a national organization with headquarters in New York City, whose aim is to raise standards in the correctional field. Its program deals with all aspects of delinquency and crime; helping in the planning and operation of preventive projects; surveying institutions for both adults and juveniles; supplying information and counsel on the national, state and local levels; and, at the other end of the scale, assisting released prisoners get a new start in life.

Mr. MacCormick has directed or worked on surveys of approximately 50 state training schools for juvenile delinquents. In the last two years the Osborne Association has surveyed all the institutions, both adult and juvenile in Indiana, the Alabama Prison System, the California State Prison System, and the Massachusetts juvenile institutions.

The association also has launched a campaign against the practice of confining children in county jails.

In World War I Mr. MacCormick was executive officer of the U. S. Naval Prison at Portsmouth, N. H.

He is the author of "The Education of Adult Prisoners" and many other works in this field. He is a graduate of Bowdoin College, of Columbia University, and the holder of several honorary degrees.

He has twice served a voluntary prison term in the course of his investigations, once at the Maine State Prison in 1915, and once at the U. S. Naval Prison at Portsmouth with Thomas Mott Osborne.

The topic of his talk will be "The Community's Responsibility for Its Prisons." The 12:15 luncheon meeting is scheduled to conclude at 1:30 p. m. The public is invited.

Wilson Named Chief Engineer Of Highways

M. Allan Wilson of Dover was appointed chief engineer of the State Highway Department at a special meeting Thursday week ago in the home of J. Gordon Smith, chairman of the department, in Dover.

He succeeds Col. W. A. McWilliams who, on Jan. 1 became assistant to W. W. Mack, engineer in charge of construction of the Delaware River Memorial Bridge. Mr. Mack, also a former chief engineer of the Highway Department, will retire next year.

Following the meeting, which was preceded by a luncheon in the home of Mr. Smith, the department chairman said:

"The appointment of a new chief engineer is a part of carefully studied plans for the reorganization of the activities of the State Highway Department, based upon an all-out effort to increase the efficiency of the department. No further changes in key positions are contemplated."

In accepting the appointment, Mr. Wilson said that he did so with humility and had but one desire: To serve the citizens of the state of Delaware to the best of his ability and to maintain the high standards of the State Highway Department which had been so well established over the past years.

The new chief engineer, who has been with the department for 18 years, is presently employed as assistant chief engineer in charge of the division of tests, the division of design, construction and maintenance.

Members of the department, in announcing the selection of Mr. Wilson, explained that they were following a policy of long standing in procuring the chief engineer from the existing staff of the department. This policy, they pointed out, has been followed since the department has been in existence.

Mr. Wilson is a civil engineer, a registered professional engineer and a registered land surveyor in the state of Delaware.

Born in Sussex County, on October 14, 1909. Mr. Wilson later moved with his family to Kent County. He was graduated from Caesar Rodney high school in 1927 and one year later from Wesley Collegiate Institute in Dover.

He was graduated from the University of Delaware, with a B. S. degree in civil engineering, in 1932, and from the Soils School of the Public Roads Administration in 1939. Later that same year he received a civil engineer's degree from the University of Delaware.

Following his graduation from the University of Delaware, Mr. Wilson became employed by the State Highway Department. In 1932 he worked with a survey group, becoming chief of the group. In 1933 he was inspector of highway construction and became chief inspector of construction work in Kent County a year later.

From 1925 to 1933 he served as assistant to the Kent County division engineer in charge of construction and at the same time assisted in creating the soils testing laboratory for the department.

In February, 1938, he became testing engineer for the department and served in this capacity until March, 1947, when he assumed his present duties as assistant chief engineer in charge of the division of tests, division of design, division of construction and division maintenance.

Motorists Should Notify Vehicle Dept. On New Addresses

Since a large number of persons usually move their residence around the first of the year and thereby have a new address, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Henry E. Koster this week warned those persons moving that their new address must be filed with the Motor Vehicle Department in event they have a registered motor vehicle in Delaware or a Delaware operator's license.

In this connection Mr. Koster quoted the following excerpt from the law which will be found in section 145, page 117, motor vehicles laws of Delaware:

"Any person holding an operator's or chauffeur's license issued to him or her under the laws of this State, or having motor vehicle or tractor registered in his or her name under the laws of this State, and shall fail or neglect, within one week after any change of his or her address, to notify the Department of any such change of address, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor."

Persons with motor vehicle registrations in their name should, when notifying the Department, give the number of their registration and their old address as well as their new one, stated Mr. Koster.

The Commissioner stated with respect to operating licenses that persons with yearly licenses can mail their new address, with the number of their license and their old address, to the Department. Persons with permanent operating licenses should appear at a branch office of the Department and receive a temporary license while a new permanent license card is being prepared for them.

CHEVROLET CONVERTER

A simple example of the basic principles of Chevrolet's new Powerglide transmission may be furnished by a lump of sugar in a cup of coffee. The sugar can be spun by stirring the coffee, even though it is untouched by a spoon. The force of rotation came from the liquid.

To overcome the initial inertia of the liquid and the sugar, the spoon must be rotated rapidly. But as the sugar begins spinning, less manual effort is required. A direct drive through coffee is achieved when revolutions of the sugar equal those of the spoon.

With an automobile the spoon would represent the engine's crankshaft and the sugar the propeller shaft which turns the rear wheels. Unfortunately for automotive engineers, however, a lump of sugar offers far less relative resistance than a propeller shaft. Faced with a comparable problem the engineer would have to introduce agents which would exert a far greater force on the coffee than possible with a spoon.

To develop the Chevrolet Powerglide engineers contrived a compact arrangement of spinners and paddlewheels. The spinners, respectively linked to the crankshaft, face each other in a bowl-shaped housing filled with oil. They supply the fundamental flow of power.

The paddlewheels are nested between the spinners to increase the force of the flow. Their primary function is to get the automobile underway. After initial resistance has been met, the paddlewheels ride free and become part of the revolving mechanism. Since they operate independently, one picking up when the other loses effectiveness, the paddlewheels accomplish the same result as gears in the conventional transmission by permitting the speed of the engine to diminish.

Richard A. Haber of Dover, has assumed the position of Kent County division engineer of the State Highway Department. He succeeds John B. Carson in the position.

Mr. Haber, a former design engineer in the Highway Department, has been acting division engineer for Kent County since Dec. 15 and officially became the head of the county office on Jan. 1.

Leslie L. Maxwell, succeeded C. C. Reynolds as New Castle County engineer and Maj. Justus B. Naylor will succeed Edward V. Rose in Sussex Feb. 1.

Following the announced custom of the Highway Department, Mr. Haber was selected from the present staff, having served for 12 years in various positions. He joined the Highway Department upon his graduation from the University of Delaware and, with the

On or before April 30, 1950 residents of Delaware and non-residents employed or engaged in business in Delaware are required to file a return and report their income for the entire year of 1949. After computing the tax they should subtract therefrom the amount of tax withheld by the employer and pay the balance due. If the balance due amounts to more than $10 it may be paid in quarterly installments. The first installment is required to be paid when the return is filed.
