

City Has Difficulty Filling Three Posts; City Manager And Assessor Resign

Two Auditors Needed; Humes Fills Assessor's Post After Killen Resigns on Press of Business

Things are still in a turmoil at the City Hall, with the new city government experiencing considerable difficulty in securing capable persons to perform those duties necessary to municipal functions.

For example, as this was being written (Wednesday evening) there were no auditors, the posts having been declined by Howard Wagner and Leonard Horleman, named by the City Council at a special meeting last week, because of the pressure of other duties.

It was the desire of the Council to have the city's books audited before the new city clerk-city manager, H. M. Deputy, had assumed his office. However, Mr. Deputy resigned the post this week after thinking it over. The position had not been filled Wednesday.

William Humes and W. A. Nichols started a general assessment of the town this week, with the former replacing Ernest Killen Jr., who resigned because of the press of other duties. Killen had also been appointed by the Council at the special meeting last week.

Howard Rust assumed the post of extra patrolman this past week end. Rust, residing on Reese Avenue, replaces Charles Price Jr., who resigned.

Viola Woman Found Drowned

Mrs. Mary Smith, 46, of Viola, was found drowned Friday afternoon several hours after she had sent a note to state police of the Dover troop by a taxicab driver explaining that she was tired of living and had gone to Barker's Landing to end her life.

State Police recovered the body at 4 o'clock in St. Jones River at the Barker's Landing Bridge on U. S. 113, about seven miles south of Dover, following nearly three hours of grappling. She left her shoes, coat, and pocketbook on the bank of the stream before leaping into the water, police said. The cab driver, William Collins, Dover, arrived at the State Police station about 12:30 o'clock and turned over to the police the note the woman had given him. The police first attempted to contact the bridge house by telephone to warn of the woman's threat with the purpose of having the assertedly planned suicide frustrated but the bridge tender, Selby Raughley, was off duty for lunch, according to police.

Police raced to the bridge with grappling irons and found the woman's shoes, pocketbook, and coat immediately to the east of the bridge. No one, police said, saw the woman leap into the stream. The woman's note to police gave her name and age.

Mrs. Smith, police learned in their investigation, asked her daughter, Louise, to have a taxicab sent to take her to Dover as she wanted to shop. This was when the daughter was leaving to go to work at the International Latex Corporation plant, where the woman's husband, John, also is employed.

The woman, however, directed the cab to Barker's Landing bridge where she alighted and gave the note to the driver with instructions to deliver it to the police, which he did, not suspecting Mrs. Smith's intentions. Police were of the belief that the woman lost no time in entering the water after the cab driver had left.

Railroad News

Ernest Dean is home and coming along nicely after an operation at Milford Hospital. Norman Smith is also back from the hospital and on the road to recovery. Bill Jester is still on the sick list at home on Delaware Ave. The writer and Fulton Downing visited Ted Angus in his home at Baltimore last Saturday where he is coming along very nicely and able to move around from room to room on his own power. We found Ted enjoying a Lacross game on his new television set.

The trip to Baltimore was made by plane leaving Harrington at 2 p. m. and arriving at 3 p. m. The return trip was made in 35 minutes, leaving Baltimore at 4:30 p. m. and landing in Harrington five minutes after five.

Airplanes, like hungry horses, seem to be able to travel faster when headed for home, especially when getting close to sundown.

The trip also developed that air travel is not nearly as hard on pilots as on co-pilots. The pilot seemed to realize this and asked said co-pilot how he was feeling. The reply was, "I must have eaten something that did not agree with me," but the sum and substance was, I had a real dose of aeroplane poison realizing that it only took one drop to kill me.

Three Men Helped Shape Life of Lincoln, Rotarians Hear

J. Harvey Burgess, who recently spent a week in and near Springfield, Ill., in a study of Abraham Lincoln, was the speaker at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Harrington Rotary Club.

"Ask anyone to name a self-made man," said the speaker, "and nine times out of ten, remembering the dire poverty of his childhood and young manhood; his lack of opportunity, his early failures, he will name Abraham Lincoln. He wasn't a self-made man, because there is no such thing as a self-made man." In the village of New Salem, where his formative years were spent, there were three men who in no small degree helped shape the career of Abraham Lincoln: Mentor Graham, an old schoolmaster; Judge Bowling Green, a lawyer, and Jack Kelso.

"My guess is that New Salem held no exalted opinion of Jack Kelso, because he was not one of the 'go-gitters.' He was a fisherman and trapper. Still, he was the greatest inspiration of Lincoln's young manhood, for Kelso was a philosopher and a student of the classics. Through him the unschooled Lincoln learned the charm of simple, direct language.

"Lincoln, at the age of 22, considered entering Mentor Graham's school, but the teacher advised against it. Instead, he sent Abe to borrow a grammar from a friend who lived nine miles to the north. The former president studied grammar only two weeks in all his life—by the light of the burning shavings from Onstot's cooper shop."

Mr. Burgess spent part of two days in the restored village of New Salem—the official name of the postoffice is "Lincoln's New Salem, Illinois"—and it is, down to minute detail, the same as it was in the period 1830-1836. The postoffice is for sending out mail only, because no one lives there.

"One of the largest cabins in the village," continued the speaker, "is the Rutledge Tavern, which was operated by Jack Rutledge, father of Ann. Lincoln boarded there two years. "Of special interest is the Berry-Lincoln store. This business failed and was sold to satisfy creditors in the spring of 1833. Lincoln took upon himself the responsibility of the firm's debts and paid off the last of them in 1848. Failure of the business, it was said, was the result of Berry spending so much time drinking and Lincoln spending just as much time telling stories."

Mr. Burgess visited the grave of Ann Rutledge, two miles from Petersburg, late one afternoon. The stone marking her grave, he said, is a modest one and upon it is engraved, from Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River Anthology" the following poem: "Out of me unworthy and unknown The vibrations of Deathless Music; With Malice toward none, with Charity for All; But of me forgiveness of millions toward millions And the beneficent face of a nation Shining with Justice and Truth. I am Ann Rutledge who sleep beneath these weeds, Beloved of Abraham Lincoln— Wedded to him, not through union, But through separation. Bloom forever, O Republic, From the dust of my bosom." January 7, 1813 August 25, 1835

Implement Co. Plans Expansion

John W. Andrews, Massey-Harris farm implement dealer, has a building program underway at his establishment on U. S. 13 between Farmington and Greenwood. An addition, 30x100 feet, is being constructed by Harrington Lumber & Supply Company of concrete block with aluminum roof and overhead trusses to eliminate support columns. The structure was designed by the builder to give a maximum of floor space with freedom of movement for tractors and machinery. Andrews plans to complete the building about March 1. This will approximate the time farmers in this area begin active planning and work for the coming season. The addition, with the present building, will give Andrews better facilities to care for his work peak and provide greater storage space for the protection of new equipment.

Taber Addresses Avon Club

The Avon Club of Felton met Wednesday, Jan. 18, with Mrs. Walter H. Moore presiding. A splendid report was given by Mrs. J. A. Jester of the Welfare work done in our community for the year 1949.

The club voted to make a contribution to the March of Dimes Also to the Gov. Bacon Health Center.

The subject of the program for the day was "Conservation" in charge of Mrs. Edgar Killen, assisted by Mrs. Charles Bostick, Mrs. Louder Harrington and Mrs. William Hammond. The speaker for the afternoon was Mr. Taber, State Forester. Mr. Taber gave an interesting talk and showed films on forestry. Mrs. Louder Harrington gave a reading. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Joseph Gerow, of Frederica, was a guest of the club.

The next meeting Feb. 1st, will be on "Safety," with Mrs. Albert Warren as chairman.

The club is making plans to crochet an afghan for the new Veterans Hospital. Anyone wishing to help or contribute yarn, please contact the club president.

Greenly Sells Marion Direct

Fred Greenly recently sold Marion Direct, 5-year-old pacer by Billy Direct out of Calumet Evelyn, to R. C. Larkin, Poplar Hill Farm, Lexington, Ky., at an undisclosed price. Greenly also sold Sarah Chief, in foal to Knight Dream, to Larkin.

Calumet Evelyn is the world's champion double-gaited mare, with a record of 1:59 1/2 on the trot and a similar mark on the pace, which gives Marion Direct a natural speed inheritance of 1:57 1/8.

There are only three mares in the United States with that natural speed inheritance, said Greenly. These are the full sisters, Evelyn Direct, Marion Direct and Royal Blood, the latter a two-year-old filly bought by Greenly at the Harrisburg sale last fall. Billy Direct has the world's harness record of 1:55.

Sarah Chief is by Chief Abbedale, 2:00, out of Hollywood Sarah, 2:01 1/4, by Hollywood Prince.

Earl Faulkner Heads Election Department

The Kent County Department of Elections reorganized Tuesday afternoon with the selection of Earl N. Faulkner, Rising Sun, as president to succeed Howard M. Buckson, Dover, who was president from the time of the creation of the department in 1942.

The new president, a member of the department when created and a large realty holder in this area, is the holdover Democratic member of the department while Mr. Buckson, who continues as a member, is a Republican.

The third member is Walter Paskey, Jr., Democrat, Harrington, who was recently appointed by Gov. Elbert N. Carvel to succeed Howard J. Thistlewood, Republican, Houston.

Dawson G. Minner, Republican, Magnolia, secretary of the department since Nov. 1947, was reelected to that post over William C. Paradee, Democrat, Magnolia, who was placed in nomination by Mr. Paskey. Mrs. Josephine K. Faulkner, Rising Sun, was reelected chief clerk.

The election of Mr. Faulkner and Mr. Minner is for terms ending the fourth Tuesday of January, 1952.

Journal to Run Historical Features

Eddy Washkill, of Philadelphia is promoting a page of historical features, to run ten weeks in THE HARRINGTON JOURNAL. A similar feature ran in this newspaper a little more than a year ago with considerable success.

The page will carry a history of Kent county, with historical sketches of Harrington, and sketches of Felton, Frederica and other nearby towns up to 1888. The newspaper will be glad to publish historical pictures if readers will send them in.

Advertisers are asked to support Mr. Washkill in this project, for it is only through them that much of the history of this area will be recorded in this newspaper for posterity.

The date of the beginning of the feature will be announced later.

Boy Scouts to Canvass City for March of Dimes; Legion Also to Assist

Mrs. Edward Collins Is Chairman For Farmington; Mrs. Harry Stout Will Solicit Race Track Colony

March of Dimes Chairman

Earl Sylvester, state chairman of the March of Dimes campaign now under way. Mr. Sylvester was the first March of Dimes chairman in the United States to accept the post when the program for aid to polio victims was instituted years ago.

'49 POLIO EPIDEMIC SET MARK

Unprecedented costs of last year's worst infantile paralysis epidemic in history were disclosed today, as Kent County responded generously to the urgent appeal of the 1950 March of Dimes. The drive opened on January 16, and will continue through January 31.

Mr. Earl Sylvester, chairman of the Kent County Chapter, said that medical care costs alone in 1949 totaled more than $31,000,000 in March of Dimes funds, and continued care for thousands of these victims during 1950 will come to another $20,000,000.

"Epidemic aid-funds of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis were wiped out by last year's toll of new cases," he continued. "We do not know what this year will bring, but we must be prepared for any eventuality. No victim of this disease will be denied necessary medical care for lack of money. Only our dimes and dollars in unprecedented amounts will assure this."

Half the funds contributed during the March of Dimes remains with the local chapter, Mr. Sylvester said. This money is used to help pay for that part of medical care which a patients family cannot afford and, in emergencies, to supplement national epidemic aid.

The other 50 per cent is sent to National Foundation headquarters to be used for research, education of professional personnel and epidemic aid to communities whose chapter treasuries became exhausted. It is this fund, he explained, which was depleted by 1949's unusually severe epidemic.

Mr. Sylvester explained why costs were so high last year.

"First, there were many more cases than in any other year of our history," he said. "But even more significant, these cases were spread over section of the country. In past years, there had been a series of sharp, concentrated outbreaks. But last year, 40 states had more cases than in 1948."

"More iron lungs, more hot pack machines, more nurses, doctors and other highly-trained personnel naturally were needed. In past years, we could borrow them from areas where there were no epidemics. But in 1949, with so many areas affected, personnel and equipment were needed everywhere."

"Yet not one call for help went unanswered. If an iron lung was not available, the National Foundation bought a new one. And iron lungs cost $1,500 each, plus transportation. As of mid-October, 2632 nurses were recruited through the American Red Cross and sent to 38 states; in addition, 180 physical therapists and 37 resident physicians were sent to critical areas—all, including the nurses, at National Foundation expense."

The 1949 epidemic really did not stop on December 31, 1949, he continued. The cost for medical care will stretch through 1950 for thousands, and even longer for some, he said.

Boy Scout Troop No. 76 of this city will make a house to house canvass of all residences Saturday, January 28th, for contributions to the March of Dimes, according to Scout Master Calvin Simpson. Each scout will be in uniform, and this will eliminate any illegal collections.

In addition to mailing 150 personal letter requests to citizens of Harrington, Farmington and vicinity, the local C. K. R. T. Post No. 7, American Legion Committee, has distributed 400 March of Dimes Cards in the City with a letter enclosed requesting that they be returned with subscription and name of donor to J. Leonard Horleman, at the First National Bank.

In the event any of these have not been returned, they will be accepted by the Boy Scouts and added to their total collections. Earl Sylvester, chairman of the local Legion Committee, announced today that Mrs. Edward Collins of Farmington, is chairman of Farmington and vicinity, and that Mrs. Harry Stout will solicit the residents and employees of the Winter Horse Training contingent at the Kent and Sussex Fairgrounds, to give them the opportunity of helping this great cause.

In the 1949 Drive, Harrington and vicinity contributed $1296.95 and the committee urges every person to contribute as liberally as possible in order that we may at least equal this figure and help meet the Kent County quota of $8,000. The Legion Committee is much concerned regarding this, as some of the sources of receipts last year, are not available, and replacement must be found by additional and larger individual contributions. Please have your contribution ready for the Boy Scout who comes to your door Saturday. He is doing this because he wants all his boy and girl friends to have the best medical treatment available, in the event Polio strikes in this territory. Following shows contributions as of Tuesday noon, January 24th. Additional names will be shown in the next issue of this paper.

Frear Speaks On Rebuilding Postoffice Department

United States Senator J. Allen Frear, Jr., said Monday night he intended to continue his efforts toward reorganization of the post-office department and the Civil Service Commission which were undertaken last year. Senator Frear, chairman of the Subcommittee on Government Reorganization, called attention to the interest of President Truman, former president Herbert Hoover, and many other distinguished Americans in having these recommendations carried out as fully as possible. The Senator's remarks were contained in his weekly report on congressional activities broadcast over WDEL.

Mr. Frear also praised the action of the Senate in repealing the federal taxes on oleomargarine. On matters of particular interest to the State, the Senator expressed the hope that Congress would approve his bill authorizing the issuance of a commemorative coin for the New Castle Tercentenary which, he said, is an event that should be noted with great interest by the people of Delaware and of many other states as well.

In his remarks Senator Frear also paid tribute to the memory of General "Hap" Arnold for his great efforts in developing the United States Air Force during the recent war.

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

Well this is the news, Philco has done it again! Just think of a refrigerator with a freezer across the top selling at a price that is hardly imaginable. Not a six foot but a seven-foot refrigerator at $189.50 and this includes excise tax and 5 year warranty.

Now if you have been waiting for prices to come down, you don't have to wait any longer as this is a new 1950 model at a new 1950 price. If this is a little small for you and you want a nine, just add $80.00 and a nine is yours. If you are left handed then we can also furnish it with either a right or left hand door.

Yes the fight was on last Monday night on television. I guess I shouldn't say fight, but wrestling. Well if you can see where two women can wrestle without fighting is more than can be expected and last Monday night was a scream to see those two women wrestling.

Of course, now if you didn't have a television set, then that is something else. But don't let so many things pass you by when for such a few dollars, you can now have an entertainment that is almost unbelievable.

We have several television sets on hand most all the time and we install our own aerials which is needed in this locality. Prices we have on the floor now are from $199.50 to $429.95.

I have often wondered why Philco didn't make a freezer about the size that the average home needed and sure enough along they come with a 12 cubic foot lift top freezer for $349.50. This will save you what it cost in a year's time. Would you accept something for nothing? That is the same thing, come in and let me explain more fully. The price of course includes a 5 year warranty.

Let's talk ranges a little while. Did you know that Westinghouse is now making an apartment range that is a real buy and to satisfy the young couple of today this range was made and is it going over?

Well sales are mounting, that is the answer. While we are talking on ranges, we have them, no better at any price and much better than some.

Single ovens, double ovens, four burners or six burners. Come in and look them over.

All gas stoves installed and gas delivered either in bottles or metered.

All of our wall paper for spring is now here, not a few rolls but thousands and surely the prices are as you expect for 1950, a little lower. Come in and make your selections now.

Anything can be bought from our store on credit if desired. Payable in weekly or monthly payments.

Yes! We Do Commercial PRINTING

Strange as it seems—occasionally someone asks us if we do printing. The answer is "Yes." Commercial printing enables us to utilize our equipment and personnel in slack periods. In fact, most weekly newspapers (and ours is no exception) could not be in business if it were not for commercial or job printing. IN OTHER WORDS, WHEN YOU GIVE US AN ORDER FOR PRINTING, YOU HELP KEEP THE NEWS-PAPER IN TOWN.

THE HARRINGTON JOURNAL is a quasi-civic organization. Its owners and its employees spend most of their money HERE. When there is a call for donations or funds, THE HARRINGTON JOURNAL will not turn you down. We pay Harrington taxes. If we do not pay OUR share, YOU will have to pay more.

We have the latest equipment and the most competent personnel to help with your printing problems. We print a variety of items including:

State Council To Meet

The Delaware State Industrial Development Council will hold a general meeting in the Social Hall of the Dover High School Thurs., Feb. 16 at 8:00 p. m., it was announced by the executive committee of the Council following its meeting in Dover January 19.

Dr. W. R. G. Bender, psychologist, of the DuPont Company, will be the principal speaker. More than 300 business leaders throughout Kent and Sussex counties are expected to attend.

At this meeting the executive committee will also recommend to the Council that it be incorporated and that the name of the organization be changed to "Industry for Delaware, Inc." As explained by W. G. Davis, vice-president, Dover, this is shorter and more descriptive name of the purpose of the organization and also will avoid confusion with the Delaware State Development Department, which is a department of the State.

E. Preston Rutter, who is the director of the Delaware State Development Department, was present at the meeting in Dover.

The Council now boast of over 100 members and is beginning to expand its activities to promote new industries for the State.

The executive committee appropriated money to be used in advertising in the New York area to generate inquiries for industrial location in Delaware.

At the meeting January 19, 18 new members were elected.

Social Security Queries Answered

Questions relating to Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance will be answered in this paper or by mail. Address all queries to Social Security Administration, Old Customs House Building, 6th & King Streets, Wilmington, Del.

Q. I am a widow receiving monthly insurance payments for myself and two children. If I remarry will I lose these payments?

A. If you remarry, your payments will stop. However, you will continue to receive payments for your two children if they remain with you.

Q. I last worked two years ago and at that time secured a social security number. I expect to go to work again in several weeks. May I use the same number I obtained two years ago or must I get a new one as I probably will not work for the same employer?

A. You should use the social security account number you now have during your whole working life. It doesn't make any difference how many different employers you have or how long you work for any employer, you should always use the same number. If you lose your number, apply for a duplicate of that number and never for a new one.

Q. When are Old-Age and Survivors' Insurance benefits paid?

A. Retirement benefits are payable to the insured and his family when the worker retires at 65 or later. Survivors' benefits are payable to the insured wage earner's family when the worker dies, no matter at what age this occurs.

The congregation was also told that ancient Sunday Blue Laws are still on the statute books of many states. "Their use from time to time denies complete religious freedom to Catholic, Jew and Protestant alike." Sunday law prosecutions during 1949 were recorded in at least ten states, reports revealed. Arrests involved

Felton School News

The officers of the Student Council—Lewis Harrington, Robert Voshell, Virginia Steele and Lenora Hughes attended the Kent County Student Council Organization meeting at Dover High School Friday evening. Four schools—Smyrna, Dover, Caesar Rodney and Felton—were represented by their council officers.

The newly elected officers for the Kent County Organization are: President, Frank Suroin, Dover; vice-president, Lewis Harrington, Felton; secretary, Dorothy Warren, Caesar Rodney.

The purpose of the organization is to co-ordinate student activities in the Kent County Schools and to discuss problems which may arise in these schools. Milford and Harrington Schools have been invited to join and are expected to do so later. The next meeting will be held Fri., Feb. 10, at Caesar Rodney High School.

On Friday evening after the basketball game with Caesar Rodney, the Junior Class sponsored a dance, the proceeds of which were donated to the March of Dimes.

Mrs. Wallace's chemistry students will present an assembly program of two short skits Wednesday. One skit is "It Shouldn't Happen To a Dog," written by the chemistry class around the theme of what might occur in any Activity Period. The characters are: Roberta Stewart, Roberta Barium; Kathleen Greenlee, Kathleen Propone; Connie Reed, Connie Cobalt; Ann Moore, Ann Nickel; Joyce Powell, Joyce Platinum; Reita Reid, Reita Rubidium.

Another skit is a dialogue between two students and illustrated by chemical experiments entitled "A Bunch of Non-Scents." Teacher, Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Tungsten.

The next meeting of the Felton P.-T. A. will be held in the school at 8 p. m. Thursday, S. Marston Fox, president of the Delaware Congress of Parents and Teachers, will be the guest speaker. His topic for the evening will be "Today's Child, Tomorrow's Citizen." It is hoped that attendance at these meetings will continue to show an increase as it has done so for this year. Last month the third grade won the attendance banner away from the senior class.

An architect has submitted preliminary plans and sketches for the additions to the building and these are under consideration by the Felton School Building Commission. The bonds for defraying construction expenses will be offered for sale in the near future. H. Ridgely, legal advisor to the Building Commission, is preparing these bonds to be advertised.

Harness racing interest continued its upward trend in 1949 with increased purses, mutual handles, crowds, speed and sales prices. Although the increase was not at a tempo registered last year the sport still showed a gain to maintain its reputation as America's Fastest Growing Sport.

Total prize money this year has quasi officially reached very close to the 11 million dollar mark and increase of better than a half million dollars over 1948 to be split among drivers and owners in the sulky game. Richest purse of the season was the Hambletonian dividend which amounted to $69,791, the second largest purse ever accumulated for the famous three year old trotting stake. The winner's share went to Miss Tilly, fast stepping filly owned by Charles Phellis.

Next in line to the Goshen Classic for top honors in the prize list ratings was the Kentucky Futurity, staged each year over the "Red Mile" at Lexington, Ky. The 1949 melon amounted to $58,922, breaking all records for purse size in the oldest of all trotting events. Third place laurels for purse money went to the Little Brown Jug, fast growing three-year-old pacing feature raced each September at Delaware, O. This year's third renewal of the Buckeye banner attraction was worth $58,281 setting an all time record for the hobbie classic as well as establishing a record purse for any pacing event in the history of modern harness racing.

For the third consecutive year the Trotting Horse Club of America conducted its annual poll to select the Harness Horse of the Year with the co-operation of the nation's sports editors, radio commentators and turf writers. Good Time, 1:58 4/5, diminutive son of Hal Dale-On Time, was voted king pin of the harness world by a two-to-one margin over his closest rival, Proximity, fast aged trotting mare. This marked the first time that a pacer has been so honored and the first time for a three-year-old.

Track records fell by the way-side at most every meeting. This season there were 13 Standardbreds that entered the "Two Minute Mile Circle." This tops last years total by two. Rodney, 1:57 2/5, broke his own record at Lexington when he went the regulation distance in his record time. His previous mark was 1:58. Pacing speed laurels were evenly divided between Good Time and Alemite, free-legged pacer from the Newport Stock Farm. Both had identical marks of 1:58 4/5. In following the patterns set during the past few years pacers led the way in miracle miles by a three-to-one ratio over their trotting cousins.

Among the two-year-old pacers in 1949, Our Time, full sister to Good Time, walked off with money won honors when she broke her fleet brother's 1948 record by a couple thousand dollars. In the speed department two other fillies captured titles. Tassel Hanover by Dean Hanover and Beryl Hanover by Nibble Hanover, each covered the mile distance in 2:02 in time trials for a Mexican standoff over a mile track.

Holding up the colt end of the speed carnival was Rush Hour, a two-year-old by Brookdale who stepped the mile in 2:03 3/5. Other kindergartners deserving of mention are Poplar Tom, Fernan Hanover and Chief Long.

In the two-year-old trotting class blue ribbons were more or less evenly divided between Lusty Song, a Volomite colt racing under the colors of Hayes Fair Acres and Florican, a neat going youngster by Spud Hanover wearing Arden Homestead colors. Both colts tangled throughout the year in some extremely tight races. Crowding these two for top ranking for fame in the kiddie class were Honor Bright, Nenomas Song, Lord Steward, Dalzell and Stars Pride. Lusty Song set a new world's record for the mile in a race for two-year-old trotters with a 2:02 1/5 mark.

Best of the three-year-old pacers of course was Good Time who won about everything ask of him. His main competition came from Vestas First, Romola Hal, Prince Jay and White Mountain Boy another two-minute juvenile.

Bangway, pride of Saunders Mills string, copped top billing among three-year-old trotters even after losing the Hambletonian on a bad day. Best of his class on an overall record without a doubt. He didn't win the champion's medal in his class without a tough fight from Miss Tilly, Martha Doyle, Red Chuck, Volume and William Wells.

This year proved to be an open scramble for the title chair among aged pacers. To select anyone individual horse would be inviting trouble. The name Alemite, fleet son of Volomite-Alma Guy, must be mentioned for in addition to winning his just share of races he hung up five "two minute miles or better." Indian Land, Jerry The First, Grattan McKlyo, Riley Hanover, Noble F. Lorraine, Guinea Gold, Jimmy Creed, Atomic Bomb, Brother Harmony, Hodgen, Dr. Stanton and a host of others must be included in the list of aged pacing stalwarts for through the year each faced the starter against the other and at some time or other won over the field.

Duplicating the situation among aged pacers was the lot of aged trotters. If a nod were to be given for outstanding performance it perhaps would have to be given to Proximity, well mannered mare owned by the Verhurst Brothers, Victor, N. Y. She earned the title of "Queen of the Half Milers," this past campaign by her sterling performances against all comers and has come within reach of the all time money winning record of the famed Goldsmith Maid. Her earnings to date are near the mark of $200,000. Rodney drew his share of praise for several top drawer performances as did Egan Hanover, his full brother, Pronto Don, surprise winner of the Transylvania, also turned in a mark of 1:59 4/5 to keep his hat in the ring while Chris Spencer, winner of the $50,000 Golden West Trot and the $25,000 American Trotting Championship race along with the David McConnel Trot gave all he fast a rough time for the Bostwick Stable. Add to these the names of Demon Hanove, Voluptuous, Moses, Laurelite, Far Cry, Vita Lee, Full Bloom and Anderson Hanover and you have the cream of the crop in aged trotting talent.

In addition of lush purses and exceptional speed performances during the past year another phase of the sport enjoyed a highly lucrative existence—the sales.

A total of two and one half million dollars changed hands at the various sales held at Delaware, O., Lexington, Indianapolis, Harrisburg and Columbus.

Harrisburg again topped all sales figures with a total of $1,182,225 realized in the sale of 717 head. This breaks the record of last year when the total went to $1,024,550. Along with this record breaking handle the all time high figure for a Standardbred at auction was set when Imperial Hanover, full brother to Rodney and Egan Hanover was knocked down to Sep Palin, Fred Egan and J. J. McIntyre for $72,000. This surpassed the former top figure of $70,000 paid for Algiers in the fall of 1947.

Other high priced Standardbred flesh at this falls sales were Steelway (Volomite-Miss Greyhound) and Ableway went to Col. E. J. Baker, St. Charles, Ill., for $22,000 and $15,000 respectively. Two Gaits Farm, Carmel, Ind. went to $20,700 for Scotch Rythm another Volomite yearling, while Castleton Farm, Lexington, Ky. paid out $17,000 and $15,000 respectively for Odella Hanover, a bay filly by Nibble Hanover and House of Lords, a Volomite get.

In the private sale market Dunbar Bostwick, wealthy Vermont horseman sold his popular sire Nibble Hanover to the Hanover Shoe Farm for a published price of $100,000. Charles Coburn, well known movie actor and harness fan shelled out a cool $17,500 for Rush Hour, the fast stepping Brookdale colt.

Overflowing purses and swollen sales coffers were augmented at the mutual windows of the nations betting tracks. For the third consecutive year harness racing via the tote windows had a million-dollar handle. The original million-dollar track was Hollywood Park in 1947. Last year Roosevelt Raceway came up with three million-dollar handles. This year, although the Westbury, L. I. track had only one night exceeding a million, their nightly average held very close to that of 1948 with a little increase.

With the general trend throughout the country on the down grade as far as betting is concerned harness racing did not suffer too much as did other sports. It is not possible at this time to give the exact handle figures but according to a "preclosing study" betting as a whole will hold rather steady. Tracks in various sections showed a steady increase over 1948. Those on the upgrade were Buffalo Raceway, Hamburg, N. Y.; Saratoga Raceway, Batavia Downs and Foxboro, Boston, all with eight per cent or better to show on improvement. In the Chicago area, Chicago Downs, the new Windy City half miler came through with a nightly average of $229,878 while Rosecroft Raceway, located outside Washington, D. C. also came through with a respectable figure for its first year of operation.

Aurora Downs, west of Chicago increased its handle from a nightly average of $107,137 in 1948 to $122,945 in 1949. This was due in part to a change in dates for the Kane County plant from the fall to spring and summer.

Honey Bee 4-H Club News

The Jan. 14th meeting of the Honey Bee 4-H Club was called to order by our president, Raymond Welch. The minutes were read by the secretary and were approved as read. Miss Webb then took over the meeting and gave us some pamphlets on Bang disease of cattle. Miss Webb, our club agent, then read over these pamphlets and explained them.

She then told us the winners of the best two 4-H Club markers that she had judged and the first prize went to Peggy Adams and second prize, Walter Draper.

It was then brought up and decided to give a prize to the person who gave the most new members to join our club.

The next meeting will be at the home of Ellen Ann Draper. The meeting was then closed and refreshments were served.

P. R. R. Announces War Against Careless Autoists

T. M. Goodfellow, Superintendent, Delmarva Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, during a discussion of the recent highway crossing accidents on the Eastern Shore, stated that he viewed with alarm the rapidly increasing number of such occurrences, and stressed the fact that there were four such accidents in less than one month which resulted in five deaths. Two occurred under similar circumstances in that the vehicle and train were traveling in the same direction and the vehicle suddenly turned off the highway directly in front of the approaching train. All four incidents occurred during daylight hours, at crossings with which the drivers were familiar, and at which a good view could be had of approaching trains. In each case the consensus is that each accident could have been avoided had the drivers been educated to "Stop, Look & Listen." Superintendent Goodfellow announced that an immediate campaign will be instituted against careless driving over railroad crossings on the Delmarva Division; which, it is hoped, will have the support of local police authorities, newspapers, schools, civic organizations and the general public in co-operation with railroad personnel.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is proud of its outstanding safety record, both as regards employees and the handling of passengers; consequently, is vitally interested in preventing accidents which are so costly in pain and suffering on the part of the individuals involved as well as their families, also the needless destruction of their property. Another side of the picture which the average individual does not consider is that there is always a possibility of train derailment with great risk to the lives of railroad personnel and passengers. Review of the recent accidents developed that each of the trains involved were operated by men born and reared on the Eastern Shore; family men who have had long years of service and experience on the railroad. All members of the train and engine crews have had many years of training in the operation of trains, and they are particularly alert to the importance of sounding proper signals when approaching crossings; it being their only means of protecting themselves and passengers as well as warning others of their approach. However, when a vehicle turns on to the track directly in front of them while traveling at from 60 to 79 miles per hour, they can only make an emergency application of brakes and hope that the vehicle will pull clear of the tracks in time.

Mr. Goodfellow is hopeful that everyone concerned will join wholeheartedly in the promotion of such a "Safe Driving Campaign" throughout this community toward curbing this needless loss of life, great suffering and property damage.

Paris Sharp Converts Farm To Dairying

Six years ago Paris Sharp of Milford, made up his mind to convert his farm to dairying, but along came the alluring prices for grain, corn, and butterbeans which overruled his dairying venture says the January issue of "Pet Dairy Chats." All went well for a while until government support was changed and a rapid price decline occurred.

This season found Paris in a position of many farmers today. Should they continue being grain and truck farmers with the present outlook of farm prices, or should they convert to a more diversified farm program which would have as its main crop, milk? Since the cow is able to convert raw materials into finished, salable product from which a regular monthly cash income can be derived, many are reconstructing their farm programs to include dairying, using their own farm products to support their cows.

In November, Mr. Sharp constructed a new milk house, made the necessary changes in his barn, purchased his milking equipment, and started the long-delayed venture of dairying with four grade cows. Today his production from these cows averages over 100 pounds a day.

Mr. Sharp intends to have a well rounded pasture and hay program, and raise the necessary barley, corn, oats and soybeans to provide his own grain. As his plans progress he hopes to increase his cow numbers gradually, in proportion to the farm's ability to support them. The milk is shipped on Paul Carey's load to the Pet Milk plant at Dover.

ONE of the grandest things about your Buick is the way you can ignore the season—chew your way through gravel and dust alike, splash through the wet stretches, snug and secure even on slippery pavements.

But bear this one thought in mind . . .

Rough road conditions call for special attention to your lubricants. Tires should be checked for correct inflation—for deep, clean tread that bites on a slick surface. Brakes won't stop you with a sure and gentle touch if the master cylinder needs more fluid, or if an air-bubble has worked itself into the line. These things, and more, should be checked to keep your Buick at its best.

If that sounds like more than one thought to bear in mind—just drive into our shop and tell the man, "LUBRICARE, please."

Our winter Lubricare treatment covers all these points—with specially trained mechanics following factory specifications as they go over your car from end to end.

Drive in this week, why don't you? The price is surprisingly low. The peace of mind is priceless.

Back to The Farm For Ebe Bishop

Ebe J. Bishop, Little Creek, believes in the adage, "You can take the boy out of the country but you can't take the country out of the boy," says the January issue of "Pet Dairy Chats."

Bishop was born and reared on a farm, and at 21 moved to the city. He went into the clothing business which proved to be quite a successful venture, but his heart was still in the country, and he longed for the day he could own a farm.

After spending 15 years in the clothing business, Bishop purchased a 93-acre farm near Little Creek in April, 1942. In the last seven years the Bishop farm has seen many improvements which include the renovation of the farm house, repair of the farm buildings, construction of a new milk house, and the removal of hedge rows.

He started raising dairy heifers, and in March, 1949, he started shipping milk to the Pet Milk Company plant at Greensboro. Bishop is quite interested in his dairy operation, and at present is milking a fine herd of 16 Guernsey and Holstein cows.

"I believe that dairy cows will pay me more than anything else I could have on my farm," says Bishop. "I plan on making dairying the main enterprise here, and a new, modern dairy barn is one of the projects in my plans for the future."

Bishop's son, Maurice, is just as enthusiastic about dairying as his dad. He graduated from Dover High School in 1948 and since then has devoted his full time to the farm.

1950 Handbook Issued By Delaware Poultry Group

The 1950 Delaware Poultry Handbook, published by the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association as one of its annual activities, has just come off the press, reports J. Frank Gordy, secretary of the Association.

Five thousand copies of the handbook are being distributed to poultry growers throughout the state, to all colleges in the United States and to all D. P. I. A. members and advertisers.

This is the biggest, most complete handbook yet, according to Earl Hawk, Greenwood, chairman of the handbook committee. It contains more informational articles, more pictures and more advertising than in previous years. Featured on the cover is a picture of the 1949 winner of the "Miss Delmarva" contest, Miss Jane Mustard, Georgetown. Articles appear on topics such as functions of the D. P. I. A., recent developments in poultry housing and equipment, poultry nutrition, review of research, outlook for 1950, purpose of the Delaware State Poultry Commission, and 4-H and FFA activities.

Also listed are hatcheries cooperating in the National Poultry Improvement Plan, results of a survey of consumer preferences in chicken, and pictures and recipes from the National Chicken Cooking Contest. Numerous other items of interest to poultry raisers are also contained in the handbook.

Copies of the handbook may be obtained from J. Frank Gordy, Wolf Hall, Newark, or from members of the handbook committee.

PMA Conducts Corn Survey

Corn growers in Sussex County were urged today to co-operate with PMA community committeemen who are conducting a survey of farms throughout the county. Frank Vibbert, chairman of the county PMA Committee, said that the committeemen are gathering reports of corn acreage planted during the past three years.

Those reports will be used to establish individual farm acreage allotments for 1950 recently announced by the Secretary of Agriculture. The allotments would be based generally on the farm's corn acreage history for 1947, 1948 and 1949.

"Any farmer who operates a farm which produced corn in any of the years 1947, 1948 and 1949, should contact the county PMA office if he has not furnished a committeeman corn acreage data for his farm," Mr. Vibbert said.

"If any farmer will be producing corn in 1950 on a farm where no corn was planted during the period 1947, 1948 and 1949, he should file a written request for a corn acreage allotment with the county PMA office. The last date for filing such a request is February 15, 1950."

Allotments for the 1950 corn crop, will apply to every corn farm in Sussex County.

The survey is particularly important according to Mr. Vibbert, because the new price support law directs that price supports on the 1950 corn crop be set at 90 percent of parity to co-operators.

District Scouts to Meet at Dover

The annual dinner meeting of the Dover District of the Delaware District of the Boy Scouts of America will be held Tuesday, Feb. 7, in the Social Hall of the Dover Public School. The Dover District includes all of Kent County and New Castle County to the Delaware-Chesapeake Canal.

Scoutmasters, Cubmasters, their assistants, committeemen and parents and others active in Scouting or interested in Scouting will participate and the various service organizations are being urged to join with the Scouts, as many of these clubs sponsor troops or packs. The dinner is primarily for adults interested in Scouting. The boys will be having many other activities that week as it is the 40th Birthday of Scouting in America.

Dr. Charles Swope, President of West Chester State Teachers College, will be the speaker for the evening. A report on the Scout program for strengthening the arm of liberty will be made on behalf of all the Scouts in the Delaware District to Governor Carvel, and a Delaware State flag will be presented by Governor Carvel to a scout who will deliver it to the Jamboree this summer at Valley Forge, Pa., where it will be flown with the flags of all the other states and the 14 nations who will participate in the Jamboree.

The dinner will be served by the Capitol Grange of Dover and the committee on arrangements consists of George Ehinger, chairman; Dr. George Miller, vice-chairman; Paul Scotton and Paul Zartman, program; Arthur Livingston, arrangements; Lawrence Foard and Kenneth Tuller, attendance and promotion.

Poultry Topics Named For Farm and Home Week

Delaware poultrymen attending Farm and Home Week, February 7-10, at the University of Delaware, will find programs offered on broiler, egg and turkey production.

On Tuesday, Feb. 7, egg producers will hear about new developments in feeding, better egg quality, recent research in hatching egg production, labor-saving devices, and hybrids. Featured speakers will be James M. Gwin, professor of poultry husbandry, University of Maryland; Glenn O. Bressler, assistant professor of poultry husbandry, Pennsylvania State College; and T. D. Runnels, W. C. Skoglund and A. F. Kish, members of the Department of Animal and Poultry Industry, University of Delaware.

The broiler program, Thursday, Feb. 9, starts off with a discussion on marketing Delaware broilers—including competition from other areas, new market outlets, and consumer education. Recent progress in coccidiosis control, a Newcastle vaccination program for broiler producers, and panel discussion on new trends in broiler production complete this segment of the poultry program. C. A. Bottorff, poultry pathologist, Lederle Laboratories, will outline the Newcastle program. Other speakers are: S. T. Rice and W. T. McAllister, of the Department of Agricultural Economics; Mrs. Esther Alderman, urban specialist in Home Economics; A. T. Tomhave, K. C. Seegers, S. L. McHenry, A. F. Kish, J. F. Gordy, T. D. Runnels, and W. C. Lucas, of the Department of Animal and Poultry Industry, University of Delaware.

Four Delaware turkey growers will hold a panel discussion Friday, Feb. 10, as part of the session on turkey production. On the topic, "Confinement vs. Range Rearing," confinement will be defended by Howard Warren, Georgetown, and Harold Esrey, Greenville; while George Simpson, Houston, and Molloy Vaughn, Lewes, will speak in favor of ranges.

Other turkey and topic speakers are: "New Development in Turkey Disease Control," C. A. Bottorff; "Latest Research at the Substation (Blackhead, litter, feed)," K. C. Seeger and Wm. C. Lucas; "Improving Market Quality of Turkeys," H. H. Kauffman, professor of poultry husbandry, Pennsylvania State College, and "Merchandising Turkeys," Warren Johnson, National Turkey Federation Director, Nottingham, Pa.

Mark H. Plummer Enlists in Air Force

Mark H. Plummer, 18, of Slaughters Beach, has enlisted into the United States Air Force for a period of four years. He left last week for San Antonio, Texas, where he will take his basic training. At the completion of this training he will be given a 10-day leave so that he may visit with his family and friends before going on to his future assignment.

According to Sgt. Killmon, the local recruiting sergeant from Dover, Mark will either go to a technical school of his choice after his leave or he will be assigned to an Air Force Base some place in the United States for the purpose of receiving "On-the-job training" in his chosen field. He will apply for a school at this time and as soon as his turn arrives, will complete the formal technical school for his first military rating.

Mark is a good example of the type of young men needed by the Air Force and it is the policy of the Air Force to enlist only the best. For a solid foundation of training and experience the Air Force is "tops" and it would be well for the young men of the country to investigate the opportunities offered before deciding their future careers.

More Durable Enamel

Alkyd resin materials have great resistance to ultra-violet light and are consequently effective in increasing the durability of enamel.

Veterans Administration

Veterans planning to resume GI Bill training or change schools or courses in the spring term should contact Veterans Administration early to avoid delays which might result if they are required to take advisement and guidance.

Veterans Administration pointed out that regulations which became effective last November may require veterans to undergo counseling if VA determines the new course is in a different general field from their previous training. Unless they act early, veterans might not complete the advisement before the new school term gets underway.

The new regulation resulted from Public Law 266 which prohibits veterans from taking avocational or recreational training, and which will not allow VA to pay a veteran's tuition and subsistence in a school which has been in operation less than a year.

Veterans resuming training in the same school and in the same general field of study need only report to the school and register.

However, veterans reentering the school in which they previously trained, but intending to change to a different general field of study must apply to VA for a supplemental certificate of eligibility.

Veterans transferring from one school to another, regardless of whether they change to a different field of study, also must apply for a supplemental certificate. Too, a veteran who had interrupted training and now seeks to pursue the same general course in another school must apply for a new certificate.

Applications for supplemental certificates must show the name of the school the veteran plans to attend and the name of the course he wants to study. VA will make the determination of whether the course is in the same general field as the veteran's previous training. If not, VA will advise the veteran that he may take advisement and guidance to determine if he has the aptitude for and the need of the additional training.

While prior approval is not required, VA warns that no payment may be made to either a veteran or a school in cases where the application is disapproved.

VA cautioned that all information requested on the application form must be submitted. Otherwise, approval of the new course and receipt of subsistence allowances might be delayed. It is especially important that the school last attended by the veteran under the GI Bill place its endorsement on the back of the application VA Form 1905E.

YOU GIVE — THEY WALK

The child just lay there and looked at the nurse. Sweat beaded his forehead. Those packs were hot.

Down the corridor a few doors away came the rhythmic pulse of a respirator. In another part of the hospital the click of braces could be heard, the tap of canes, the splashing of youngsters in the hydrotherapy pool.

These boys and girls from all walks of life had something in common. Infantile paralysis. It reached out to strike them down last summer. But they are coming back . . . coming back, fighting hard, because you and countless other good people have given them the chance.

Your contributions to the annual MARCH OF DIMES of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis made it possible.

The polio outbreaks of 1949 are now a thing of the past. That is, for those who escaped. But it is not over for some 17,000 of the more than 40,000 children and adults stricken last summer, who still require care and treatment this year. That number does not include the still unknown thousands who will be attacked by polio in next summer's inevitable outbreak.

A dime is not very much. Neither is a dollar. But if each of us contributes a dime or a dollar more than we gave before to the MARCH OF DIMES, JANUARY 16-31, we can help that boy sweating it out under the hot packs, we can help another youngster to breathe free of the respirator, we can get other boys and girls back on their feet—alive, alert, and able to go forward in hope to health.

"PUT IT ON THE FRONT PAGE"

Every week we get a request from some individual or organization to "put this story on the front page where people will see it."

In our humble opinion, this is quite unnecessary. The average weekly newspaper is read from "kiver to kiver," to sharp contrast to the readership of large dailies whereby only certain pages are read by certain individuals.

The position of an article to attract most interest is a vacillating and ephemeral thing. Certain inside pages are FAR better than the front page, as a rule. For example, the classified page is an excellent location. Research has revealed that, in the country weekly, at least, classified ads are second to what the editor deems the leading news article in reader interest.

In THE HARRINGTON JOURNAL, believe it or not, the editorial page would be an excellent position. We have found that our editorials are almost universally read, and we believe that to be the case in most weekly newspapers. We do not believe that to be true of daily newspapers.

The insertion of news stories on pages containing the work of columnists and "Letters to the Editors" assures them of more than average attraction from readers, in our opinion. One of our columns, "Potter's Field," was well read before it "went the way of its occupants." The "letter to the editor," by Harry Farrow Sr., two weeks ago attracted unusual attention. Suppose your story had been placed on an inside page next to this letter?

It is better, therefore, to say, "Give this story a good spot," rather than "put it on the front page."

END OF CHAPTER

THE U. S. Supreme Court ruling on the Baltimore "gag" rules, and the ousting of Detroit's Police Commissioner, Harry Toy, bring to an end another chapter in the perpetual battle to prevent encroachments upon the free press.

The Supreme Court denied the petition of the State of Maryland to review and reverse the decision of the Court of Appeals holding that the rules of the Criminal Court of Baltimore governing publication of crime news were repugnant to the guaranties of the First and Fourth Amendments.

In the original case several radio stations were cited for contempt for broadcasting information concerning the confession of a murderer. The rules of the Baltimore court restricted publication of such news. The radio stations were convicted and subjected to fines.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association intervened in the case and filed briefs. The American Society of Newspaper Editors, National Association of Broadcasters and the American Civil Liberties Union also intervened. The Maryland Court of Appeals reversed the decision on the ground that the power to punish for contempt is limited by the First and Fourteenth Amendments and that the rules promulgated by and invoked by the Criminal Court were also repugnant to the guaranties of the First and Fourteenth Amendments.

The State of Maryland appealed to the Supreme Court which has just upheld the lower court's decision. The ANPA was the only intervening party to file an opposition to the Maryland petition in the Supreme Court.

And so ends the story of the Baltimore "gag" rules. Out in Detroit, the new mayor was responsible for ending the saga of Commissioner Toy who for awhile was the center of another prominent controversy involving the free press. Mr. Toy tried to force newspapermen assigned to police headquarters to sign a non-Communist affidavit as a prerequisite for obtaining press cards. A battle royal developed.

Newspaper associations, unions, editors in all parts of the country, and Editor & Publisher attacked Mr. Toy's proposal as being undemocratic, unAmerican and in violation of free press principles. He was tampering with the free collection and dissemination of public information.

Now that story is also ended. The case histories of these two developments offer valuable testimony on the outstanding job newspapermen and their associates perform in protecting the Bill of Rights for the American people.

If it were not for the vigilance of newspapermen in such cases there would be a progressive whittling away of basic freedoms. And that doesn't always come through subversive planning. It comes, as in these two cases, from well-meaning but misguided and misinformed men.

There will be other attempts, as there have been in the past. But newspapermen can be counted on to continue to act as the watchdogs of freedom.—Editor & Publisher, Jan. 14, 1950.

THE GENTLEMAN FROM SUSSEX

"Before the automobile made the country and city stand at the altar and say 'I do,'" said the Gentleman from Sussex, "there was a heap of rivalry between the city dweller and the country feller. I don't remember hearing the word 'hick' in those days, but I do remember hearing times without number the term 'Country Jake.' That was applied to anyone who lived as much as three miles from town. On the other hand, if you lived as much as three miles in even a village, the countryman referred to you as a 'Town Dude' and when you went out into the country, some farmer boy licked you.

"This cleavage was particularly impressive at election time. A town fellow couldn't get the country vote and a country fellow couldn't the town vote. That's how narrow they were, and how each contingent would press an advantage over the other.

"Ever hear of Purnell, the cavalry leader? Chances are that you haven't, because he was only a minor cavalry leader in the Confederate army.

"The town of Harrington not being much at that time, the Confederates were short of horses, and Purnell's Cavalry was sent north to recruit some of the animals. It made a sashaway through southern Pennsylvania and gobbled up a number of horses from an organization known as Pilot Knob Mining Co. Each of these horses had a 'P. K.' burned or branded on his hips.

"Two of these horses went lame down in Kent and Purnell's Cavalry left them in a farmer's pasture, at the same time taking two of the farmer's horses. The farmer nursed these horses along until they were well, and he was mighty proud of them.

"A neighbor of the farmer, a member of a rival lodge, church or something, informed the Pilot Knob people of the whereabouts of their horses and then sent a Philadelphia lawyer down to represent them. He was a fashion plate and this wasn't in his favor down here in the homespun country.

"A country lawyer represented the farmer, and considering his country background, he was what you might term a Si-cologist. He made the most of the country's dislike for the city.

"Gentlemen of the jury," he began, "I've heard of Philadelphia lawyers, but this is the first specimen I've seen on exhibition. He has come down here wearing a high silk hat, kid gloves and patent leather shoes and seeks to persecute, not prosecute, an honest horny-handed son of toil—and right in the middle of the harvest season when those horses are necessary to save the crops for which our friend has toiled like a slave, night and day, in order to gain a meager living for himself and his loved ones.

"And, gentlemen of the jury," he cried, his voice ringing with scorn, "upon what does he base his claim to these valuable horses? This is the most ridiculous thing in all the history of the world—he claims that the P. K. brand on these horses stands for Pilot Knob!"

"With withering sarcasm his voice continued: 'Since when, I ask you, has it been customary to spell Knob with a K? You know, I know—and he should know—that the P. K. on those horses stands for Purnell's Cavalry.'

"The farmer won the case and the Philadelphia lawyer was fined for contempt of court and perjury."

To The Correspondents

We repeat: "Mrs. Jones entertained Mrs. Smith AT dinner, and not TO dinner."

In our property transfers recently we had the word, "moiety." It means one of two equal parts or shares; half; a very small quantity. We thought it unusual as it contains three consecutive vowels.

We have heard there are twenty English words ending in "mb." Can you name them? Someone once told Churchill there was only one word in the English language in which "su" was pronounced "shu." Britain's wartime prime minister replied: "Are you sure?"

Capitalize and quote titles of books, plays, poems, songs, speeches, etc., as "The Scarlet Letter," "Within the Law," "The Man With the Hoe," "The University and the State." "The" beginning a title must be capitalized and included in the quotation. All the principal words are to be capitalized, no matter how short. Prepositions, conjunctions, and articles are to be capitalized only when they contain four or more letters, thus: "at, in, a, for, Between, Through, Into." The same rules apply to capitalization in headlines but not to scriptural texts or formal subjects for debate, in which only the first word is capitalized, as "Resolved, that cities . . ."

In titles of books, plays, etc., and in headlines capitalize prepositions that are closely connected with verbs: "He Was Voted For by His Party—He Was Started At by the Crowd—He Was Operated On."

Capitalize the first word after a colon in giving lists of officers, thus: "The following were elected: President, William Jones; vice-president, Frank Smith."

With the arrival of Rev. and Mrs. Taylor Sunday came a lovely church service Sunday evening. Miss Geraldine Nichols gave a beautiful rendition of "The Ninety and Nine." Harry Voshell and Ernest Long in a saxophone duet, and Mrs. Lee Currey played a lovely accordion solo. Everyone is invited to come to our special service each Sunday evening at 7:30.

Robert Semans and Amos Hurd have been setting nets at the beach and are catching a few rock, plenty of perch and butter fish. Bunkers prove quite a nuisance.

RUSSELL HAYE'S CELEBRATE 12th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hayes 12th wedding anniversary a turkey dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. John B. Case of Harrington.

Mrs. Hayes has always said, she could never get enough ice cream. This is one time she had to eat her words, for besides such a nice dinner, 12 quarts of home made ice cream and a nice anniversary cake was eaten.

Guests were: Mrs. Ethel Case, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hatfield and son, Harold, Felton; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hayes and family, Hous-ton; Martha D. Case, Wilmington; George Covallaro, Philadelphia, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Quill, Wilmington.

Two Women Enlist in W. A. C.

The Misses Muriel Pryor, 21, and Eleanor Davidson, 19, of Dover, have recently enlisted into the Womens Army Corps. They were enlisted by the Dover Recruiting office and are now undergoing basic training at Camp Lee, Va.

Miss Davidson is a graduate of Dover High School and is well known by the people of Dover and the surrounding area. She has lived in Dover most of her life.

Miss Pryor attended school in Smyrna, but moved to Dover shortly after to seek employment. Both girls were employed by the telephone company in Dover at the time of their enlistment.

Sgt. McNulty of the Dover Recruiting Office says there are more vacancies for young women living in the area who wish to apply for either the Womens Army Corps or Womens Air Force. The basic qualifications are: 18 years old with parents' consent if under 21, single with no dependents, high school graduate or pass an equivalent examination, and have a high character rating in the community.

For further information write or visit the recruiting office at 109½ Lookerman St., in Dover or telephone Dover 4048.

The installation of the officers of the M. Y. F. took place Sunday morning in the Church School. They will hold a meeting in the church every two weeks Sunday nights.

The Rev. Brinton took as his subject Sunday morning, "How the Church Lives." The Junior Choir sang. Next Sunday Rev. Brinton will preach from the text, "And When He Came Unto Himself." A good attendance is urged.

At the meeting last week of the Avon Club Mrs. Jester reported the Welfare work of the year in the Felton community. The club voted to make a donation to the March of Dimes and to the Gov. Bacon Health Center. Conservation was the topic of the program in charge of Mrs. Edgar Killen, State Forester. Mr. Taber was the guest speaker. He showed films on forestry. A reading was given by Mrs. Louder Harrington. Refreshments were served. Plans were made for making an afghan for the new Veterans Hospital.

Cobalt
Cobalt has come to be regarded as an important element in the nutrition of sheep and cattle. Results of recent tests in New Zealand showed that those animals grazing in pastoral areas which were treated with slight amounts of cobalt maintained higher live weight and had a greater yield of wool than those which grazed on fields not treated with cobalt.

From where I sit . . . by Joe Marsh

Give Us Back Our Sidewalks, Slim!

I wrote that over an article in the Clarion last week, but I didn't like doing it. After all, the man it was aimed at—Slim Henderson—is a good friend of mine.

Slim came into quite a windfall last month, and bought the old Clarke place. The deed gave him title to all the land—right down to the street. Then Slim started to take up the sidewalk to make his lawn look better.

I felt it wasn't fair to the town and said so in my article. Next morning Slim comes around and wants to know what I mean—getting folks riled against him. I felt ornery myself, and we had quite a set-to over the whole business.

From where I sit, that was foolish. Once we'd cooled off (over lunch and a bottle of beer at Andy's Tavern), Slim decided the sidewalks should stay—for the common good and I promised next time I'd take a good look at the other fellow's point of view before writing any articles about him!

SHORT STORY
Hanging The Shingle

By RICHARD D. CARR

"IMAGINE a girl like Miss Justin getting into trouble!" exclaimed Mr. Kibb, the corporation's senior auditor.

His young assistant, Mark Thorne, looked at him thoughtfully behind his head.

"How about Dyhart, the manager?"

"Why, Dyhart's been with the company for years," scoffed Mr. Kibb, as he left.

"Besides, you've got to admit she endorsed each check."

"Mr. Thorne," said a voice behind him as Mark studied the personnel files.

"Why, Miss Justin?" he said, "I wasn't expecting you. Were you to work tonight?"

"No, I came to see you. I overheard you and Mr. Kibb talking about those checks and it had me worried. Is something wrong?"

"Plenty," said Thorne. It was hard to begin. He ran a nervous hand through his black hair.

"Then you know about the checks—you cashed them?"

"Yes, I cashed the checks because Mr. Dyhart told me to. Wait—you don't believe I took all that money!"

He saw cold, tight lines etched about her lips. "No, Miss Justin, but Mr. Kibb can't see it any other way. Didn't you suspect anything?"

"Certainly. I guess I looked puzzled, because each time when I handed Mr. Dyhart the money, he mentioned a change in the accounting rules."

Thorne jumped. "If Dyhart said that, it's plain no one else was in on it. He disguised his signature, so that when it came to a showdown, he could blame everything on you. That's why he had you cash the checks!"

"How can you prove it?" asked Miss Justin weakly.

"Well, it's a long chance," said Thorne, slamming his fist. "If I lose and the corporation kicks me out—I've been wanting to hang out a shingle for a long time."

MR. DYHART looked surprised as he ushered them into his living room. "Just leaving, Thorne, but business before pleasure. I suppose it's something to do with the audit?"

"That's correct," said Thorne. "Dyhart," he purposely skipped the "Mr.," "you had Miss Justin cash several checks recently, amounting to nearly $10,000."

"Ridiculous," smiled Dyhart. "I know nothing of any checks."

"We've practically discovered the guilty person," went on Thorne dryly, as he opened his case and removed a cancelled check. Thorne took a sheet of paper, placed the check on it, and flashed it before Dyhart's eyes.

"All you have to do, Dyhart," he said, "is copy the signature on this check!"

The manager's lips curved bitterly, but he took the pen. The only sound was the tick of a clock. The pen dropped from Dyhart's hand and plopped on the rug.

Thorne snatched the pen. "Never mind, Dyhart, that's enough. This afternoon we asked every employee to copy that signature. Not one hesitated. You did, and you're guilty. I reasoned, since the tellers passed those checks, the signature, though doctored a bit, was actually yours—disguised!"

A groan fled Dyhart's lips. "I wanted to get the money back in time," he gasped. "I didn't mean to involve Miss Justin, but she was my secretary. Don't swear out a warrant, Thorne. I'll pay it all back—"

After they were in the street, Thorne took a deep breath. It made him tingle and look up at the stars pinned on a clear sky.

"Well, you're still a travelling auditor with a job so I guess you won't hang out your shingle," said Miss Justin softly.

"If I could find a secretary, a good one. Miss Justin—would you—"

"Take dictation from you?" Miss Justin laughed when she said it. Thorne decided it was the pleasantest laugh he had ever heard.

Care of Muddy Shoes

Even though dry mud comes off shoes more easily than wet mud, specialists advise against the common practice of letting it dry on before brushing it off. Mud stains leather, and the longer it stays on the worse the stain is likely to be. Scrape off moist mud as promptly as possible and then wipe the leather clean with a soft cloth. Let shoes dry slowly and then polish. Mud should be wiped off leather gloves promptly.

Buys Most U. S. Rice

United States exports of rice to Cuba during the period August, 1948 through April, 1949, the first nine months of the crop year, amounted to 435 million pounds, milled rice equivalent, or 59 per cent of total rice exports from this country, according to the United States department of agriculture.

Enemy of Oats

Outstanding disease of oats in most of the oat-growing area of the United States in 1946 and 1947 was the helminthosporium blight. Though only known for three years, it causes 25 to 100 per cent loss in fields of oat varieties having Victoria parentage.

Ladino Clover

Ladino clover is the outstanding development in pasture plants during the past 10 years, according to a Cornell agronomist. It can do most for farmers on a non-alfalfa land and help them to compete more effectively with farmers on the better land.
