Barber-Race Caller

Eugene Anderson

Barber Becomes Race Caller Because of Joke

When he said he could call harness races, Eugene Anderson, Harrington barber, was kidding. Two officials of the Kent & Sussex Racing Association, who overheard him, took him up, however, and now Anderson calls the races at the Kent & Sussex Raceway here where a meet opens Wed., April 26, under lights for 20 nights. The session, the fifth annual spring meet, ushers in harness racing in the East.

Getting back to Anderson, the Harrington tonsorial artist, made his boast during the spring meet last year. The next evening he was calling the races after only an hour's study of the racing program. So successful was he, that he called races at the Allentown Fair last September and during the fall meet at Harrington.

Calling a race is not easy, said Anderson, whose favorite terms are: "It's a hoss race," and "They're bunchin' up on that turn." "I know all the drivers," he explained, "and I associate their colors and the names of their horses. Of course, I study the program about an hour before each night's session."

Anderson has been interested in harness racing since the early 30's when he traveled the eastern fair circuit with driver Eddie Myer, of Bridgeville, and set up his barber-shop in the stable areas.

The caller starts calling the races when the horses move up to the starting gate and calls throughout the race, and winding up with a "And here they are."

If, during a race, the identity of a horse (usually one that comes up fast on the outside from the field) puzzles him, he reports the lineup, thus gaining time to identify the newcomer.

It's easy to make a mistake in the excitement and confusion of a harness race. Eugene recalls his favorite: When Oscar Hunt, Swedesboro, N. J. packer, was racing his trotter, Princess Ward, Anderson referred to her as May Raider, a pacer, also owned by Hunt, for the first half-mile.

Kent & Sussex Raceway fans will be interested in knowing that WBOC, Salisbury radio station, is presenting a harness racing program, sponsored by John Vickers, construction firm, Salisbury, each Tuesday at 7:15 p. m.

Technicians from radio station WBOC, of Salisbury, were here Thursday, making transcriptions for broadcasts by Mrs. Louise Munn, Leslie Simpson, Tommy Walters, and Eugene Anderson. Additional transcriptions will be made later.

The results of these transcriptions will broadcast each Tuesday at 7:15 p. m. in a 15-minute program on harness racing on the Delmarva peninsula. The program, sponsored by John A. Vickers, general contractors, of Salisbury and Seaford, is, as yet, unnamed. Mr. Vickers desires a name for it and will give $5 for the name selected, with a season pass to the races for the second and third best names.

Evva Warrington

Warrington's Celebrates Ninth Year

And now it's television chairs. Now one can witness a "wrestling" match in comfort, while Lord Carlson twists Rube Wright into a pretzel. Warrington's Furniture Store, at East Street and Clark Boulevard, Harrington, celebrating its ninth anniversary this week, has such an item.

These new complements to comfortable viewing of televised programs, have reclining backs and can be converted into a chaise longue or bed. It all goes to show one how items in furniture and times have changed since Miss Evva Warrington opened her modern store April 1, 1941.

For example, this establishment, one of the most modern and attractive south of Wilmington, sells such items as fluorescent lamps, tables with formica tops, chrome breakfast furniture, Duran all-plastic upholstery, products that were in their infancy or in the planning stage when the Warrington establishment first opened. Miss Warrington believes that modern furniture is more functional—more durable and easier to clean.

She purchased the store in 1941 from the estate of Clayton Powell, who had purchased it from Miss Warrington's father, Frank Warrington. So successful was she in the enterprise, that she remodeled her two-story building in May, 1948, to double the original space.

She attributes her success partly to the fact that the store's personnel makes it pleasant for visitors whether they buy or not. Warrington Furniture Store's general trading area is surrounded by St. Georges, Rehoboth, Denton, Greensboro, and Seaford, though loads of furniture have been shipped to buyers in Ocean City, N. J., and New York City.

Aiding Miss Warrington in her business are Mrs. Nora Dean and Mrs. Janet DeVroy, and her brother, Romie, who makes deliveries.

Governor Compliments Podolsky On Payment of Vets' Bonus

Following is a letter in which Gov. Carvel compliments the chairman of the Military Pay Commission for the successful work of that body:

April 3, 1950
Mr. Paul Podolsky, Chairman
Delaware Veterans' Military Pay Commission
P. O. Box 1871
Wilmington, Delaware
Dear Mr. Podolsky:

It has recently come to my attention that your Commission has completed a major portion of the task assigned to it and that you have effected a drastic reduction in force. The interest of you and your Commission in performing your task with utmost efficiency and economy has been most gratifying to me. Your action in reducing your staff to the bare minimum necessary to complete the remaining work before you is to be commended.

When I appointed you as Chairman of the Veterans' Military Pay Commission which was charged with the responsibility of the impartial implementation of the Veterans' Military Pay Act, I requested that your Commission send out at least 22,000 checks to the veterans before Christmas. You, your Commission and its employees improved that goal. By Christmas you had sent out over 23,000 checks, and now it is my understanding that approximately 29,500 checks have been delivered out of a total of some 31,000 odd claims.

The few remaining unpaid claims, I have been informed, represent claims of an irregular or doubtful character and will either be paid or rejected as the individual merit of each is determined.

Your Commission has achieved this remarkable record by constant and sincere application to this important work. I have evidence of the fine way in which your Commission has handled the applications because out of the 31,000 applications which you have received and processed, I have not had a single complaint from any veteran.

I wish to send to you, your Board and its employees my hearty congratulations for a job well done. The people of Delaware have every right to be proud of the recognition they have given our veterans and the way their Commission has handled this important business.

Cordially yours,
Elbert N. Carvel
Governor

Railroad News

T & S Maintenance Freddy Pegelow is the proud father of a 9 lb. baby girl, Kay Frances, born at Milford Hospital Tuesday.

March issues of Geographical Magazine and the Railway Age show the Budd Diesel RDC-1 passenger car which we had all of last August making trial runs on our division, and which we hope to see again some day in revenue service.

We are all interested in this car and for the benefit of our readers who are still asking questions, we quote the following from last month's Railway Age:

Western Pacific Tries Budd Car In Revenue Service

RDC-1, Budd Company's Diesel rail car, received its first trial in revenue service on the Western Pacific from January 18 through January 27, when it substituted for standard steam trains Nos. 1 and 2 on the 607-mi. portion of their runs between Portola, Cal., and Salt Lake City, Utah. For the demonstration runs, the forward part of the car was stripped of seats and used for head-end traffic, loaded through vestibule doors. For the duration of the tests, the Railway Express Agency cooperated by diverting oversize and livestock shipments. As an outcome of the experiment, the Western Pacific promptly placed an order for a car with a 17-ft. baggage compartment and seating space for 70 passengers, designated by the Budd Company as RDC-2. (See Railway Age of February 4, page 87).

In the test, the single rail car served as a complete train and proved to be an adequate substitute for the usual steam-powered two-car consist of trains Nos. 1 and 2. Operational costs were about one-half those of the steam train equivalents. In 6,000 mi. of service, the car averaged 2.8 mi. per gallon of Diesel fuel, at a cost of slightly more than three cents a mile. Comparative fuel costs for the steam service averaged 22 cents a mile. The terrain over which the tests were conducted includes a crossing of the Sierra Nevada at Beckworth pass, the Nevada desert country, and the descent from the plateau lands to the floor of Great Salt Lake.

EASTER'S MESSAGE OF FAITH Each Easter we witness the miracle of resurrection as Nature brings forth triumphant new life from the cold tomb of Winter. Yet, Easter's message of hope is not alone of life eternal; it is a living promise for today and tomorrow to a world struggling for release from ignorance, injustice, poverty and oppression—that in God's own time the stones which now block humanity's progress into the light, will be rolled away. ELECTRIC POWER IN HARRINGTON DATES BACK TO 1906

Early in the 1900's electricity was very much of a luxury and much more of a curiosity. Not many people were sold on the idea of lighting their homes with such a mysterious commodity, nor could many afford such a luxury.

To those who desired this startling discovery and could afford it, it was necessary for them to construct individual companies to furnish the power needed for home lighting purposes. As the small towns grew and the importance of electricity became apparent and desired by many more individuals, it soon became evident that the most efficient way to serve these people with the best in electric service was by one dependable co-ordinated electrical system.

The town of Harrington followed very much this same pattern. On August 30, 1905, a franchise was granted by the Town of Harrington to Harrington Light, Heat, and Power Company, to construct an electric generating system to serve Harrington. A clause of the franchise stated that the plant must be in operation by November 2, 1906, otherwise the franchise would become void. The company failed to construct its plant by this date and the Phoenix Company was granted a franchise to construct an electric generating system to serve Harrington.

Phoenix Company purchased three grist mills in the vicinity of Harrington, which were operated by water power. Electric generating equipment was installed in each of these mills and interconnecting lines were constructed, as well as a line to the Town of Harrington. Electric energy was generated during the latter part of 1906.

These three mills were located on McColley's Pond (sometimes known as Holcomb's Pond), Wilson's Pond (sometimes referred to as Burnt Mill Pond), and Tharp's (sometimes called Thistlewood's) Pond. Both Wilson's and Tharp's ponds went dry when their dams burst.

These three ponds were on Brown's Branch, so named because Daniel Brown obtained 300 acres along it in 1680. Streams making up part of the Branch are the ditch running past Hollywood Cemetery and the ditch going through Wheeler's Park. Sections of the Branch nearer Harrington are sometimes called Jackson's Ditch.

Scharff's "History of Delaware" gives description of McColley's and Wilson's ponds. The history mentions that on October 6, 1740, at Isaac White's millpond, there were surveyed 303 acres for the heirs of William Jacobs. The survey shows three houses on the bank of the pond above the dam. White's pond probably occupied the site of the mill owned in 1887 by William Wilson.

McColley's Pond was started in 1746. The original owner was Thomas Muncy for whom two acres were condemned for a grist-mill. Thomas Ogle purchased the property from Muncy. On May 25, 1785, James Douglas purchased of John Slayton, sheriff, "all that lot of ground or millseat with part of a mill thereon on the south side of Brown's Branch."

A very large merchant mill was erected by Douglas, which was known as "Mordington Mills." In 1816 it was in possession of his son, Walter Douglas.

Clarence Shockley, of Harrington, formerly lived near Wilson's Pond. He says that he bought 12½ acres of the light company's land in 1919 or 1920 and that Dick Hope took over Wilson's Pond on the sale of the Kent County Electric Company. Hope also had an interest in Killen's Pond light equipment. Shockley says that the light company also got power from Killen's and Coursey's ponds.

S. L. Sapp says that the original light company here had a building on the site of Vane's Cannery. The first house in Harrington to be wired for electricity was the Ora Sapp home on Commerce St. The first homes in Harrington were wired free, Mr. Sapp said.

Although the Phoenix Company went into receivership on May 20, 1907, it continued to serve the Town of Harrington and expanded its facilities to serve nearby towns until November 1, 1916. On this date the Kent County Electric Company, which had been incorporated on October 27, 1916 for the purpose of acquiring the Phoenix Company, began operation.

Kent County Electric Company served the Town of Harrington with electricity until October 27, 1927, when all of its property and assets were conveyed to Eastern Shore Gas and Electric Company, which name was later changed to Eastern Shore Public Service Company.

In the latter part of 1943 the Eastern Shore Public Service was merged with the Delaware Power and Light Company, which serves the town with electricity at the present time.

The Eastern Shore Public Company of Maryland manages the Southern Division of the Delaware Power and Light Company, from its main office in Salisbury, Md. This Delaware operation comprises one division office located in Harrington, and five district offices located in Harrington, Laurel, Georgetown, Millsboro and Rehoboth, both to bring the best in dependable electric service to the 52 towns served in Kent and Sussex Counties.

Dairyman at 81 Has 12 Children

"My children have been after me for the past four or five years to try to get me to sell the cows and quit working with them," remarked Charlie Meredith of Federalsburg. "I have got to do something to occupy my mind or else go crazy if there is nothing to do, and I like to piddle around with cows."

Meredith will be 81 July 30. He has been on the present farm for 46 years and has farmed all his life. Due to the lack of help, the land consisting of 110 acres is now rented out.

Meredith has been shipping continuously, with the exception of one year, to the Pet Milk Plant at Greensboro. He started approximately 26 years ago when the first milk route was established in his territory.

At the present time he is milking four mixed grade cows all by hand, and has been doing this chore for the past ten years without any help.

It is believed that Mr. Meredith is the oldest active patron shipping to the Greensboro plant at the present time. He and Mrs. Meredith have 12 children, all of whom are living.

To The Correspondents

Just when we thought we had lost Mrs. Frank Porter as a correspondent at Marvel's Crossroads (Porter's Store), she comes in with a nice letter. Mrs. A. M. Taylor, recently appointed, wrote us a dandy, to which our editorial testified. Famine and plenty seems to be the case when applied to news at Marvel's. Well, we would like to have them both.

Masten's, Hughes Crossroads, Willow Grove, and Staytonville were our regular correspondents who didn't report last week. We would like to hear from them if, for some reason they cannot send in a letter. Please us collect and we will get the letter.

We had an additional Houston letter for two weeks. We would like to continue to receive it. The correspondent will receive the usual compensation.

And now for some more on compound words. Use the hyphen in any compound word which is so long or unusual as to be confusing otherwise, as "post-revolutionary, extra-judicial, ultra-fashionable, anti-aircraft, co-worker."

The shorter the words, the more likely they are to be combined without the hyphen, even if the meaning is the same as that expressed by the separate words. This applies especially to compounds of two monosyllables.

Such prefixes as "demi, semi, bi, tri, pre, re, sub, super, inter, intra, ante, over, under," are usually joined to a word without a hyphen; thus: "semiannual, co-education, readjust, intercollegiate."

Note these exceptions: Use the hyphen if the prefix ends in a vowel and is followed by the "same" vowel as in "pre-empt, re-echo, co-operate." Use the hyphen if the prefix is followed by a proper name, as in "pre-Raphaelite, ante-Christian." Use the hyphen if it is needed to distinguish a word from another of different meaning, as in "co-repondent, re-cover" (to cover again).

Kent Homemakers Elect State Council Representatives

Mrs. Francis Raughley of Dover, was elected Kent County Delegate-at-Large to the Delaware State Home Demonstration Council at the County Council meeting in Dover, March 28, according to Mrs. John S. Farrow, of Magnolia, county president. Mrs. Paul Zartman, Dover, will serve as alternate.

Nineteen clubs were represented at the session.

The county council also set November 9 as the tentative date for the County Achievement Day, and made plans for the State Home Demonstration Meeting May 4. According to Mrs. Violet Goodwill, home demonstration agent, the latter will be held at the Caesar Rodney High School at 10 a. m.

The Cee-W-Dee Homemakers Club of Dover will be hostesses for the State Meeting and the Oak Grove Club will be in charge of decorations. Mrs. Zera Richards, Mrs. William Sterling and Mrs. Wilmer Aist are responsible for the luncheon. The St. Jones Homemakers' Club is in charge of refreshments.

The county council also made plans for the celebration of National Home Demonstration Week, April 30 to May 7.

Local Poultrymen To Discuss Turkey Raising

The Camden-Dover-Wyoming local of the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association will meet at the Caesar Rodney High School at 8:00 p. m. Thurs., April 13. According to John L. Crothers, Jr., assistant county agricultural agent, part of the program will be devoted to turkey topics as a result of interest shown and requests made by local poultrymen.

Featured speaker on turkey breeding and flock management will be Harold Esray of Spar Hill Turkey Farm, Kenneth Square, Pa. He will be followed by Prof. Karl Seeger of the University of Delaware research substation at Georgetown. Seeger will discuss turkey research at the substation with special emphasis on control of Blackhead disease and on feed efficiency tests.

Prof. Tom D. Rannels of the agricultural experiment station at Newark will speak on poultry nutrition and its relation to flock health. Latest information on the different vaccination programs for broilers and layers will also be discussed and the poultrymen will see a motion picture on turkey production in Delaware.

The Willing Workers Club, the Smyrna Bucking Bronco Club, and the Kenton Klubbers will all meet with the Clayton Clodhoppers, April 25. The new Hartly Boys Club will meet with the Oak Grove Club, April 28.

Maurice Pierson will be the leader in the Youth Meeting at 6:30 p. m. in the Church annex.

At 7:30 p. m. our Junior and Youth Choirs, under the direction of Mrs. Oscar Nemesh and Mrs. George B. Potter will render their Annual Easter Service of Sacred Music. We believe this service too will be a crowded one. Better plan to be present early.

Tuesday evening: The regular monthly meeting of the O. U. R. Class.

Friday: 3:45 p. m. Membership Class.

Hobbs

An Easter program will be rendered in the church here Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The public is cordially invited.

Mrs. O. H. Henry spent three weeks with relatives in Dover and Wilmington.

Mrs. F. L. Stafford spent Tuesday of last week with Mrs. John Oros.

Ralph H. Wothers was a recent guest of the Rev. and Mrs. L. E. Wimbrow, of Bridgeville.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Thomas were last Sunday afternoon guests of Mrs. James C. Hardesty and son, Carlton, of rural Harrington.

Mrs. Frank Beauchamp was also a guest.

Mrs. L. N. Murphy spent Monday of last week with Mrs. Harry Willis, of near Andersonstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Scott visited in Pennsylvania recently.

Mrs. Eva Spencer, of Denton, was a last Sunday guest of relatives here.

Mrs. F. L. Stafford, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stafford, to visit the Federalsburg relatives last Thursday evening.

Lewis Butler spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Butler, of Tuckahoe Neck.

Marvels

Easter is almost here, a time of promise, of new life and hope. All nature is in time with the spirit of Easter. Fruit trees are opening their blossoms in a promise of beauty and a bountiful harvest. The few warm, sunny days are bringing forth the lilac and dogwood buds. Everything appears to be rushing to make up for the late cold weather we have been experiencing.

Gardens are being planted in anticipation of the many good things the earth gives us. (And don't forget to plant a few flowers, too).

The Phoebe arrived last week with their friendly little call. For years they have lived here during the spring and summer and built their nests of mud and grass under the eaves, and raised their families. They are such friendly little birds. The belong to the flycatcher family and spend their time diving for insects from a perch on the electric wires. It would be amazing I am sure if we knew the amount of insects they devour.

Yesterday I was awakened by the soft liquid notes of my mocking bird. He was singing his first song of spring. Mendelsohn never wrote anything to compare.

He did not come for his breakfast. Of course, it can mean only one thing. He has found a mate and was serenading her with his song. He came at noon for his food, so I forgave him. I keep wondering how long I can interest him.

Johnny Taylor reported to me that his daddy saw about fifty wild geese land in Mr. Legates' field. They probably landed to feed. Wild geese have been flying north for some time now. They will fly ahead of a storm at times. I don't believe they nest this far south, but somewhere in the Great Lakes region and Canada, to the Arctic circle.

Law's Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Jester Gray in Frederica Tuesday.

The state highway is still hauling sand and gravel. This time on the east end of Paradise Alley road.

Some of the farmers in this community have been top-dressing their grain and pasture fields.

Those who are planting peas are plowing their ground and getting it in readiness for sowing. Spring is coming with a rush.

23 Nominated For Golden West Trot

Twenty-three free-for-all trotters, including every leading contender for the diagonal-gated crown of 1950, have been nominated for the $50,000 Golden West Trot at Santa Anita on June 10, Bernard Kearney, general manager of Western Harness Racing Association announced today.

The fifth renewal of the mile-and-a-quarter Golden West Trot co-feature of the 40-day meeting opening April 21, will be the first major test of the season for the aspirants to the throne vacated by Rodney's retirement to stud at the close of last season.

Twice-conqueror of Rodney at Hollywood Park last fall, Dunbar Bostwick's Chris Spencer, winner of the 1949 Golden West Trot is returning to defend his laurels.

Saunders Mills' Egan Hanover, full brother to Rodney; Ralph Verhurst's Proximity, the Queen of the Trotters; and Harrison Hoyt's Demon Hanover, winner of the 1948 Hambletonian, all are strong contenders for the Golden West crown.

Egan Hanover set a world's record for a mile and an eighth at Hollywood Park, going the distance in 2:15 4/5 to defeat Proximity by a neck. Demon Hanover probably turned in the most impressive performance of last year's meeting on closing day when he went on a bad break at the start but recovered to make up almost 100 yards and win in the track record time of 2:33 1/5 for a mile and a quarter, 3/5 of a second below the winning time in the Golden West Trot.

Two of last season's finest sophomore trotters, Saunders Mills' Bangaway and A. L. Derby's Martha Doyle, take their first major test with free-for-all horses in the Golden West Trot. Bangaway was the leading money-winning three-year-old trotter in 1949, but Martha Doyle defeated him in the $10,000 Western Trot at Hollywood Park.

California hopes in the Golden West Trot will be carried by Harry Dorman's Dutch Harbor, Sol Camp's Frontiersman, A. S. Nyland's Anderson Hanover, and Carla Lee DeVries' Vita Lee.

Anderson Hanover won five straight races at Hollywood Park last fall, and the half brother of Rodney and Egan Hanover is capable of holding his own in the toughest trotting competition. Vita Lee didn't reach the Golden West Trot last fall because of lameness, but she was fired during the off-season and now is training in good style.

The four previous presentations of the Golden West Trot have produced four different champions. Kaola won the inaugural in 1946, Algiers trotted home on top in 1947, and Rodney won the 1948 classic. Chris Spencer is the only former winner in this year's field.

Wire Production
 Wire is produced from rods or coils by drawing the metal through dies, further reducing its diameter and increasing its length. In the smaller sizes diamond dies are used. Wire is coiled or wound on spools or reels after the final reduction to size. Copper wire may be drawn to a diameter finer than that of human hair. In this size the wire made from one wire bar would reach from New York to San Francisco and beyond.

Domestic Rabbits
 Wild animals of several kinds, including wild rabbits, are frequent victims of tularemia, but domestic rabbits apparently do not contract it. Squirrels, rats, field mice, skunks and beavers are among the animals that are susceptible to this disease, which is sometimes called rabbit fever. Certain biting insects are believed to spread the infection to human beings, although most human cases are due to contact with wild animals or water contaminated by these animals.

Turquoise Color Scheme
 A room in which the woodwork is well-proportioned and the windows and doors are well placed can be made most attractive by painting the walls off-white and the woodwork a lovely shade of turquoise blue. Dark brown combines well with the turquoise and burnt orange and copper tones can be used effectively for accent in accessories and fabrics.

Modern Kitchen Colorful
 An attractive modern kitchen has shelves and cabinets enameled in soft salmon-rose. The walls against which these cabinets are placed are coated in the same color. End walls are a light fern-green and the same color used to coat the drawer linings. Linoleum and work counter surfaces are brown, while door frames are dull silver to match the edging on the work counters.

Bentonitic Clay
 Arizona ships out more than 100,000 tons a year bentonitic clay, essential to the manufacture of high octane gasoline, and in Gila county contains the only notable source in the West of chrysotile, the most useful asbestos fiber.

SHORT STORY

Garden Sequence

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

BRYANT DREAMED a dream. He was in a garden. A beautiful girl sat on a white marble bench, and smiled at him across a pond filled with goldfish and pond lilies. Bright sunshine filtered down through shade trees and reflected the gold in the girl's hair.

Bryant knew that, according to all good dreams, he was supposed to do something—possibly to walk around the pond and bow gallantly before the girl.

He began to wonder if he didn't look somewhat like an idiot standing there.

It was then that he heard footsteps on the flagstone path that connected the garden with the wide, screened-in porch of the house. He looked up to find Laura, his sister, coming into the garden. He was glad that Laura had come. For Laura knew all about dreams and could tell him what to do.

"Bryant!" Laura exclaimed, stopping on the pool's edge, and looking from him to the girl, "whatever in the world are you standing here for? Why, you're positively rude. Doris must think my brother is stupid!"

Oh, yes, that was it. It was all working out fine now. Laura had asked her college roommate, Doris LaPlante, down for the week-end. Of course, that was she. How stupid of him.

So Bryant walked around the pool and was introduced. He looked deep into the twin black pools that were Doris' eyes, and apologized. His voice sounded odd, but that, of course, was because he was thinking that here was the girl he had been waiting for.

Then he almost groaned aloud. Doris had looked up and said it was quite all right and she really should have introduced herself, but he added so much to the scene, standing over there so straight and silent. It was the sound of her voice that made Bryant groan; for he remembered that it was all a dream and that Doris would soon be gone.

Then suddenly it was night, and they were once more in the garden. There was a full moon and a gentle breeze and music drifting down on the still air from somewhere back of the marble bench.

A week, two weeks, had gone by—Bryant wasn't sure which—since the first meeting in the garden. He had a dim recollection that they were glorious weeks of riding and golfing and swimming and dancing—all with Doris.

IT WAS ONLY OCCASIONALLY now that Bryant remembered it was all a dream. The dread of waking up didn't affect him quite so poignantly. That is to say, it didn't affect him until this night when they were alone in the garden. Then he was seized with a sudden panicky sensation.

And so quite abruptly Bryant turned and said without preliminaries: "Doris, darling, I love you. I know this is all a dream, therefore I'm telling you now before I wake up. I've waited all my life for such a girl as you. It seems cruel that you'd come to me only in a dream."

And Doris turned up her face to his, with the moon making shadows of her eyes, and said: "I love you, too, Bryant, and I'm glad you waited for me. I hardly know what I would have done had I discovered you belonged to some one else."

Bryant thought this over and decided that the dream had turned out just the way he would have ordered. He'd better wake himself up, he thought, before he did something to spoil it. But before he could pinch himself, which was the conventional way of waking oneself from a dream, Doris laid her head on his shoulder.

Bryant looked down at the golden head. "Doris," he said brokenly, "this is all a dream, and in a minute you'll be gone and I'll find myself alone. You're not real."

But Doris laughed softly, and snuggled closer. Bryant slowly put his arm about her slim shoulders. She was there, close against him. Her lips were upturned, and as Bryant bent to kiss them, he knew that when again he opened his eyes, she'd still be there—and would always be there.

Delaware Park Slants

J. Simpson Dean, vice-president and treasurer of Delaware Park, concluded a winter of riding to the hounds with the recent grand finale of Vicmead Hunt Club. Mr. Dean, who won the Intercollegiate Golf championship while at Princeton University in 1921, still keeps his hand in the golf course in addition to serving as Master of the Hounds. He is a member of the Wilmington Country Club and of Pine Valley in New Jersey and shoots in the low seventies.

Although Delaware Park's traditional spot in the eastern racing picture is still May 29 to July 4 with 32 days of continuous racing, the Delaware contribution got underway with the inaugurals at Laurel and Jamaica. The Maryland opener found Laurel renting Delaware's own Santa Anita gate to start the horses in their quest for gold and glory.

John Tigam, Wilmington sportsman, returned from a winter in California. His star of the stable, Double Jay, was placed in stud last year.

Mrs. Allison F. Fleitas has returned from Florida. Her horses run under the name of her farm at Centreville, Del., Winloch, and are trained by Henry S. Clark. Adopt and Mark Up are among the better Winloch group. Trainer Clark also conditions horses for Russell D. Ketcham and J. S. Dean, Jr., who own the Pontiana Stable.

Donald P. Ross, president of Delaware Park and president of the Thoroughbred Racing Association, attended the meeting of the Jockey Club in New York. His stable, the Brandywine, shipped its string of horses to Jamaica for the opening of the long New York Campaign, and Mr. Ross received the latest report on his Kentucky Derby hopeful from Trainer Bud-dy Raines. The horse is the stretch running Greek Song, who won the Bowie Endurance Handicap last fall and trained exceptionally well at Camden, S. C., this winter.

Helen Stairwalt, assistant to the general manager at Delaware Park, has begun her advertising campaign for the 1950 Delaware Park season of 32-continuous racing days of May 29 to July 4, and will submit plans to the Delaware Park executive committee for final approval.

Color Aids Recovery
 Because hospitals are coming to realize more and more that drab or glaring white rooms are hard on patient morale, many hospitals have taken to the use of modern furniture in soft attractive colors. Besides being colorful, hard and durable, finishes for hospital furniture have to withstand the effect of such materials as mouth washes, medicines, strong soaps and cleaning compounds.

Sandboxes
 The need for "cutting off and rounding the sharp corners of sandboxes and for frequently straining the sand in them, to eliminate pieces of glass, nails, or other sharp objects which might cut or scratch the child," should not be overlooked.

Magnolia

William Storey was given a birthday surprise by his children on Sunday of last week. The house was filled with friends and relatives who gathered to wish Mr. Storey a happy birthday, and to partake of the delicious refreshments and social time which every one reported having.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wright spent the weekend with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reynolds, at Fullerton, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. George Minner, of Oak Orchard, spent the day on Tuesday with his mother, Mrs. Thomas Kennedy, and Mr. Kennedy.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Magnolia Fire Company entertained the auxiliaries of Kent County on Tuesday evening. The president, Mrs. Blanche Richards, with her committees, had arranged a very nice program. There were seven auxiliaries represented with one hundred and fifty present. Each auxiliary had a part in the entertainment and gave either a skit, musical number or some other form of entertainment. This program, and business, was conducted in the school auditorium after which they were invited to the community hall where they were served a delicious chicken salad platter.

Donald Moore, radio operator, stationed at the Norfolk Naval Base, is spending a two-week leave with his grandfather, John Houseman and Mrs. Houseman. Donald has just returned from a trip to the British West Indies, Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico.

Mrs. Ethel Collins, who is training the children in the Intermediate Sunday School room for their Easter program and also Mrs. Edna Roe who is coaching the Easter pageant, "The Great Dawn," hope that the church will be filled on Sunday evening, April 9th. It is very discouraging to the ones who have worked so hard to give a program that will be worth while to have the church only half filled. They would appreciate a good attendance, as well as the ones having the parts, and they think that you in turn will appreciate their efforts if you would come out and see this program given. Be sure that YOU are one of those present.

Mrs. Kathryn Moore accompanied by Mrs. Anna Orvis and Mrs. Walter McDonald, spent Tuesday in Wilmington. Mrs. Kathryn Hart and Mrs. Esther Moore also spent Thursday in Wilmington. Collins Davis is spending his Easter vacation from the University of Delaware with his mother, Mrs. Edna Davis, and his sister, Mrs. Eleanor Davis, at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Knight, of Wilmington, visited his mother, Mrs. Kathryn Knight, on Sunday evening of this week.

The M. Y. A. F. held its monthly meeting on Wednesday evening, March 29th, in the Community Hall with twenty-one members present. A delicious dinner, ably served by the men, with Laurence Jarrell as chairman, was followed by a very beautiful worship service conducted by Mrs. Elderdice, her subject being the well loved 23rd Psalm. After a brief business meeting, plans for a membership drive were presented by the president, Mrs. Margaret Wilcutts. The next meeting, to be held April 26th, will feature an Appreciation Night banquet. Mrs. Edna Roe will be dinner chairman and Mrs. Edna Davis will be in charge of the worship service.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Jackson were dinner guests of their children, Mr. and Mrs. Arlington Jackson, and family, at Newark, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. U. L. Harman and Mrs. Edgar Harman and daughter, Patty, were dinner guests Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Harman of Dover.

Mr. U. L. Harman is attending a three day convention of National Retailers held in Washington, D. C.

Marydel Homemakers will hold their April Pollyanna party at the home of Mrs. H. B. Logan, with Mrs. Amos Wyatt as co-hostess on Thursday evening, at 8 p. m. All homemakers please make a special effort to be present to make this annual party a success.

"For example, in the weeks to come, the Milford Theatre will show Walt Disney's "Cinderella," Bing Crosby in "Riding High," Clifton Webb in "Cheaper by the Dozen"; "The Reformer and the Redhead" and "The Red Shoes". This is certainly one of the finest line-ups of films I have had the pleasure of announcing since the theatre has been open.

"I have always been completely convinced," Mr. Gibson stated, "that the motion picture patron gets more for his money in entertainment and inspiration than is the case in any other amusement field. But I have returned from this meeting with a new feeling of excitement about the great things

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

In 1920 I sold my first radio which of course was a battery set, as electric radios were unknown at that time. Even then there were several who stated I will wait until they get better before buying one. As time went by they did get better and to think you now not only hear your favorite programs but can see them as well.

This is PHILCO television week as most of you know by now from the circular which you received. To the ones who didn't get this circular, it stated that we are giving away a television lamp with any television set sold during this week. There is also a dandy little wall shelf given free with any radio.

We have the best radio you can get today. PHILCO. See Wheelers' phone 541, Harrington, Del.

William T. McNatt, 34 Years a Dairyman

William T. McNatt, Middletown, is an ardent dairyman. After 34 years in the business, when questioned how he liked dairy farming McNatt replied, "I love it."

McNatt and his son, Charles (Mickey), are partners in the dairy enterprise. All of the feed used in the operation is produced on the 149-acre farm.

Since they raise their own replacements, a purebred bull is kept on the farm. The use of a good bull is reflected in the improved type and the increased production of the young heifers.

For the past nine years the McNatts have produced milk for the Pet Milk plant at Greensboro. Their 18 cows average approximately 400 pounds of milk.

This combination of an experienced and devoted dairyman teamed with his industrious and energetic son, has resulted in a profitable, successful business.

Ellendale Couple To Celebrate 17th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Willey, Main Street, Ellendale, will observe their 17th wedding anniversary today. Mr. and Mrs. Willey were married April 7, 1933 at Denton, in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Henry E. Uhrig. Their daughter, Jeanette, is a freshman at Georgetown High School.

Mrs. Willey was formerly Miss Jennie Lynch, a daughter of the late J. Harry Lynch a rural mail carrier, of Milford.

Mr. and Mrs. Willey and their daughter have been residents of Ellendale eight years. Mrs. Willey has been the Ellendale correspondent for the Harrington Journal for the past two years.

Careful Management of Growing Stock Stressed By H. C. Smith of Harbeson

H. C. Smith of Harbeson, believes in raising healthy pullets for flock replacements. "Continued high production and low mortality in the laying flock can only be accomplished by careful management of the growing stock," according to Mr. Smith.

Mr. Smith's program for raising healthy birds is as follows, (1) start with healthy chicks by getting them from a pullorum-clean hatchery, (2) provide a comfortable brooder house for them. Have temperature of 90 to 95 degrees at the edge of the Hoover, 1 inch from the floor when the chicks are put in. Watch the chicks to see if they are comfortable, and adjust the temperature accordingly. Reduce the temperature about 5 degrees each week, and discontinue

Heat when chicks are six to nine weeks old—depending upon the weather. Remove the chick guard from around the stove at the end of first week.

Mr. Smith says, "I try to follow my feed dealer's recommendations regarding a feeding program. Some poultrymen feed grain the first two weeks; others start feeding mash at once. Sprinkle a little grit over the mash once a day for the first two weeks; then keep grit in a separate hopper. I keep water in front of chicks all the time and clean the water fountains daily."

Some other points that Mr. Smith stresses are: Give the birds enough fresh air; keep litter dry; and block off corners to prevent chicks from piling up. If cannibalism becomes a problem, remove or use anti-pick salve on the picked birds, lower temperature, darken windows and feed some oats.

As soon as the weather permits and the chicks are large enough, I turn them out on range and keep them there until they are housed just before starting to lay."

Smyrna 4-H Clubs Plan Garden Projects

4-H Club members from the Smyrna area will meet at the home of William Comella, Smyrna, Tuesday to plan their garden projects. According to Miss A. Margaret Webb, Kent County 4-H Club Agent, members will be present from the Clayton Clodhoppers Club, the Kenton Klubbers, the Willing Workers, and the Smyrna Bucking Bronco Club.

Featured speaker will be Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware. He will discuss garden planning and the national junior vegetable growers contest.

Tarbell Offers Information For Diverted Acres

Hay, pasture, vegetables, soybeans, forest trees, and seed production are some of the uses for extra land suggested to farmers in Kent County who are reducing acreage of wheat and corn as requested by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

According to William E. Tarbell, county agricultural agent, a series of publications on these uses of land are available at his office in the Post Office Building in Dover. Copies are being distributed without charge.

Certain vegetable crops, says Tarbell, offer promise of profit to Kent County farmers who may be cutting down their acreage of corn and wheat. The kind to be grown will depend on many conditions. He suggests that farmers seek some good advice before increasing acreage of these crops.

LIKE A DUCK TAKES TO WATER—
SOUTHERN STATES VEGETABLE SEEDS TAKE TO YOUR SOIL!
Because They're Adapted!
A duck is at home in water because he has become adapted to it. The same principle applies to Southern States Vegetable Seeds. They're at home in your soil because through selection and breeding they are adapted to the climate, rainfall, type of soil and other conditions in your area.
Many Other Features
Southern States Seeds are also chosen to be free of disease. They are of known origin (you know where they come from). They are of selected parentage or pedigree. Through careful selection and processing, they are high in purity and germination and low in weed content. In addition, they are treated to control both seed and soil-borne diseases.
Try Southern States Vegetable Seeds. You'll find that these extra features make a real dollars-and-cents difference in the yield and quality of your garden. Stop by and order your needs today!

THE LIVING CHRIST

St. Luke 24:5 "... Why seek ye the living among the dead?"

The words Easter, Resurrected Christ or The Living Christ, to the Christian mean about the same thing. It was at the Tomb of Joseph of Arimathea, on the first day of the week—the day which stands for our Sunday—that women, having come very early to the tomb to prepare Jesus' body for permanent burial, were asked "Why seek ye the living among the dead?" Had they been poets instead, they could have said:

"Rich spices and myrrth,
To embalm Him we brought;
His corpse to enter
His true followers sought.
In pure cerements shrined,
'twas placed in the bier;
But, Alas! we now find
That Christ is not here."

The two Messengers of God who asked the women "Why seek ye the living among the dead," could have further stated:

"Christ is arisen,
Death hath he slain;
Burst ye your prison,
Rend ye each chain!"

Or the same two Messengers might have charted the course of these women and the millions of Christians who have lived since, with such words as:

"Songs of praise lead ye,—
Love to show, heed ye,—
Hungry ones feed ye,—
Preaching, on speed ye,—
Coming joys plead ye,—
Then is the Master near,
Then is He here!"

Two religious enterprises seemingly died with the crucifixion of Jesus Christ. The first was Christianity. This new leader Jesus and His religion were finished. The second institution which at first seemingly died, and afterwards was found to have actually died, was the Old Testament Jewish Sabbath.

But with the resurrection of Christ we find not a dead Christianity, but rather a resurrected Christianity. Now we meet men and women of confidence and joy; with their faith revived and eager for action. With the resurrection of Christ on the first day of the week we come into the New Testament Lord's Day or what we now call Sunday.

Possibly the greatest proof to the early disciples themselves, and to all who will study the evidence including ourselves, as to the actual resurrection of Jesus, is not so much the testimony of those who live in the first century, but rather the changed lives of those who were His followers. The kind and degree of change were so evident. Suddenly as it were they who had been fearful became courageous. Their steadfastness in belief and wise conduct bore fruit in a deep-seated hope. No longer did they pursue worldly ends, but followed intensely spiritual ones. Instead of expecting thrones they now anticipated persecution and even death itself. They now found they were equipped with resources sufficient to found the Church, convert the world, and establish Christianity in its purity among men.

Through "The Living Christ" we have one of the strongest proofs of the Saviourhood of Jesus, which Saviourhood might well bring us more joy and peace even than the promise of a future life. A Saviour, who was crucified, dead and buried and who remained such, was no Saviour after all. At least He could not save far enough. To come to the tomb with such things that make for permanent burial, and be met with the words "Why seek ye the living among the dead" was proof of a Saviour beyond their highest expectations. Jesus had already proven Himself a Saviour up to the grave. You will remember the two men on the way to Emmaus, when joined by a third said "We thought it was he." But now, after the resurrection He was a Saviour beyond the grave. Now He had defeated death; and was able to save "even to the uttermost."

Now after 1900 years, with our enlarged knowledge and view, the resurrection, in addition to what it meant to the first century Christians, means something more. The whole miraculous life of Jesus becomes credible to us. His divine mission in life is demonstrated thereby; for it must have been God who raised Him up from the grave. Every Easter when we celebrate the resurrection of Jesus Christ we should be convinced that our faith in Him is not in vain. It should tell us the grave does not have the last say. It is through this event we can be assured of the realities of the eternal life. Once the certainty of Jesus resurrection grips our soul, then and then only can we sing "Death's gloomy portal

Now hath He rended,—
Living, immortal,
Heavenward ascended;"

Having this experience we shall cease seeking the living among the dead; and shall seek to follow a Living Christ, who ever seeks to make a way for us in this life, and the life to come.

Veterans Attend Dairy School

Forty-five Kent County farmers, members of a veteran's agricultural class at Harrington High School, attended a special dairy feeding and management school under the direction of George Vapaa, agriculture teacher, March 22.

The school, conducted by County Agent William Tarbell of Dover, consisted of talks by specialists from the University of Delaware on hay making machinery, quality roughage, and feeds for dairy cattle. The members of the class were given several leaflets on the compounding of efficient rations for dairy cattle.

Sandtown

The Mt. Olive Ladies Aid Society met Wednesday at Canterbury at the home of Mrs. Edna Stubbs. After the business meeting and a short program arranged by the minister's wife, refreshments were served. Did I say refreshments? If you can call chicken salad by the gobs, potatoe chips, crackers, sweet pickles, and quarts of coffee just refreshments, to me it was a grand repast.

After being hospitalized for a while Jimmy Travis is enjoying the spring vacation from college this week, recuperating at home with his parents.

Miss Phyllis Turner, of Norris-town, Pa., is spending a few days here with Mr. and Mrs. Leon Travis.

Who is the attractive, dark-eyed girl you will find roller skating along the highway between Sand-town and Goldsboro each afternoon around 4:30? Could it be our Peggy, anxious to meet her husband when he comes from work, or is she just afraid to stay alone? ? ?

Mrs. Allaband has returned from the hospital with her new son, adding one more to her little brood of eight.

The folks around Sandtown have been enjoying the revival services going on at the Bethel Pilgrim

SHORT STORY

Perplexing Riddle

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

L. JEFF BOYNTON of the Union Army's Company E, second regiment, Massachusetts volunteers, wore a look of utter dejection as he entered headquarters tent, nodded wearily to Capt. Finn Lacey and slumped onto a stool. The captain stopped writing, leaned back in his chair.

"She wouldn't talk, eh?" "No, she wouldn't talk," Boynton answered. He stretched his long legs out in front of him and studied the worn toe of his boot.

"Maybe she's not a spy after all," Lacey hazarded. Boynton's blue eyes flashed as he jerked up his head. "Yes, she is! I'm sure of it."

Lacey shrugged and gestured with his cigar. "If you're so sure, we'll hold a court-martial and—"

"No!" Boynton was on his feet. "Don't do that, sir. We haven't enough evidence to convict. It will mean she'll go free and we'll lose our one chance of stopping the leak. Information is getting through somehow. Alice Struthers is responsible. We must learn her methods."

"How?" "How? That was the question that had driven Lt. Boynton nearly to distraction, had caused him the loss of sleep and wearied his brain from thinking. A week ago, basing the act on the slimmest of reasons, he had had Alice Struthers arrested, to be held for questioning regarding the leakage of information to Confederate Gen. Johnson.

"You can't hold her forever without a trial, Boynton," the older man pointed out after another week had passed in which the lieutenant had failed completely in his efforts to unearth some grain of evidence. "Miss Struthers is popular among the officers. Some swear they have known her for years and will vouch for her loyalty to the Union."

"Which makes it all the more likely she would succeed as a spy. I happen to know that all of Miss Struthers' maternal ancestors came from Georgia. She herself spent a good part of her girlhood in Savannah."

Idly he fingered a package of letters that he brought in with him. "I'm convinced that in these letters the girl is sending out the information. How, I don't know. Certainly she is using no code. I have checked every letter a dozen times. Purposely I have permitted each to be mailed. Events immediately following convince me that some how those letters are the means of conveying the information."

CAPT. LACEY picked up the letters and read them briefly. They contained nothing to excite suspicion—mere messages of love and devotion to friends in the South.

Lacey suddenly pounded the table. "By George, Boynton, I believe I have it! Obviously something has to be done, and I'm more than half convinced—though heaven knows why—that your suspicions are well founded."

"So?" "So we'll deport her. Turn her over to the Confederate army. If that stops the leakage we'll know she was the guilty party, and there will no longer be danger of its continuance."

"And it will mean Alice Struthers' complete freedom." Two days later prisoner Alice Struthers was turned over to Confederate Gen. Johnson under a flag of truce.

But it wasn't until after the war had ended that he found the answer to the riddle. One day while going through his relics of long ago battles he came upon a letter. It was one that Alice Struthers had written to her friends in the South, and which he had kept for a souvenir.

The paper was yellow, the ink faded. The postage stamp had dried and was hanging by a mere thread. As he looked at it, Lt. Boynton's eyes grew wide. For beneath the stamp were some closely written, finely penned words, obviously the cipher employed by Alice Struthers which he had tried so hard to locate.

Care of Muddy Shoes Even though dry mud comes off shoes more easily than wet mud, specialists advise against the common practice of letting it dry on before brushing it off. Mud stains leather, and the longer it stays on the worse the stain is likely to be. Scrape off moist mud as promptly as possible and then wipe the leather clean with a soft cloth. Let shoes dry slowly and then polish. Mud should be wiped off leather gloves promptly.

Saratoga Slants

An old friend of the fans and an old foe of the fast pacers will be back at Saratoga Raceway this year. He is the hardy campaigner, Sir Volo.

Although the same probably can't be said for his pacing rivals, Spa patrons missed Sir Volo last year. And well they might have, for the son of Volomite had been on hand for every previous season at the Raceway since 1942. The pride of Troy's C. A. (Con) Casey turned out other fields last year, but now he's planning a comeback over the racing strip where he earned his greatest fame.

Sir Volo, a stallion who observed his eleventh birthday January 1, still holds a track record at the Raceway. He paced a mile and a sixteenth in 2:11 1/4 back in the days when the track used to stage races at odd distances. His liking for the Spa footing also is borne out in his own record of 2:03 2/5, which he earned for the mile route in 1947.

The last two years haven't been too kindly to this time-honored performer, but reports from the Nassau fairgrounds, where Jimmy Van Deusen is training him, indicate that the old boy is going strong and showing his old zip.

If this is true, then some pacers named Bernard Hanover, Count Vonian, Dale Cash, Fanny B., Harrow Siskiyou, Memorial Dale and Senator Pointer may have to look to their laurels.

Van Deusen, who plans to transfer operations to the Raceway shortly, has three others in training. One is Rose Haven, a two-year-old pacer also owned by Casey, and the other two are Money Maid, a pacer, and Lee Ebbs, a trotter, both belonging to Austin Riley and Frank Jevons of Rensselaer.

Saratoga Raceway is constructing 96 new stalls in an effort to accommodate an expected overflow of horses for its 60-night summer meeting opening June 19. The track has 671 horses already named in early-closing events and these with overnight horses are too much for the 781 stalls currently available. The new construction program calls for two new 34-stall barns and the addition of four stalls each to seven barns.

Trots and Dashes: Pat Crocetta, Gloversville owner, has a new trainer in George Dumont of Aroostock, Me. . . Aubrey Rodney returned to the jog cart this week for the first time since he was kicked in the knee by a horse Jan. 7. . . First entries for the Raceway's fall trots came from Saratoga's Ellis Gilmour and Greenwich's Charles Kendall.

All efforts to operate trains Nos. 1 and 2 ("Royal Gorge") at a profit had failed, and an out-of-pocket loss approaching $1 million annually was resulting. (The fate of Nos. 1 and 2 was discussed in a letter to employees from Western Pacific President F. B. Whitman quoted in Railway Age of February 13, page 65.) When the Budd car is received in April, 1950, it will be placed in service between Sacramento and Salt Lake City, 789 mi., making three round trips a week.

One Can Still Homestead

Fifty-four farm units, containing an average of 130 acres of irrigable land each, have been opened for homestead settlement on the Bureau of Reclamation's Riverton Project near Riverton, Wyo., by Secretary of the Interior Oscar L. Chapman. Veterans of World War II are given preference of application.

The homestead units are in an area where irrigation farming has been carried on successfully since 1925. Most of the 6940 acres of irrigable land contained in the opening is in its native state. However, canals, laterals and farm-distribution ditches to serve the new lands have been constructed by the Bureau of Reclamation and new settlers can secure help from the Bureau and other Federal and State agencies in the leveling of the land and other work preparatory to cultivation.

Public Notice 30, which describes the new opening in detail, and application forms may be secured from the Bureau's Region 6 office at Billings, Mont., the Big Horn District office at Cody, Wyo., or the Riverton Project office at Riverton, Wyo. Completed applications should be returned to the Riverton Project office and all applications received by 2 p. m., June 26 will be considered as simultaneously filed. Applications received after that date will be considered, in the order filed, only if farms remain available after awards are made to successful applicants filing before the June 26 deadline.

Applications from eligible World War II veterans received before June 26 and which are complete will be entered in a public drawing at Riverton late this summer to establish a priority by which the applicants will be considered for the available farm units. After the drawing, applications of veterans who qualified for the drawing will be reviewed by an examining board and if the applications are in order and the applicant can furnish the necessary supporting documents to meet all requirements, he will be allowed to select a farm in the order established at the drawing. Each successful applicant must pass a personal interview before receiving a farm unit.

Minimum requirements for the Riverton Project farms provide that the prospective homesteader must have had the equivalent of at least two years of full-time farming experience after reaching the age of 15, have $3,000 in cash or its equivalent in useful assets in excess of liabilities, must be of good health and character, industrious, and able to meet the requirements of the homestead and reclamation laws.

Construction work is now under way or planned on the Riverton Project to make possible the opening for homestead settlement of about 60 irrigable farm units in the spring of 1951, and about 120 units in 1952 and 1953.

Further information can be obtained by contacting the Regional Office, Dravo Bldg. attention Contact Section, Wilmington.

Stoltzfus Makes Record at Nanticoke

Before a record breaking crowd last Sunday at the Nanticoke Raceway, at Bridgeville, 38 stock cars competed for a purse of $1200. Johnny Stoltzfus driving car 49 made the fastest qualifying time of the afternoon by turning the half-mile oval at 29 4/5 seconds. Stoltzfus established a new record for time trials at the Nanticoke Raceway with his 29 4/5 seconds. The following are the race winners and their times:

First Heat—Tucker, Patterson, Williams, Smith, Time 4:25 4/5. Second Heat—Walker, Renault, Ewing, Carter, Time 4:16 1/5. Third Heat—Stoltzfus, Synder, Mundorf, Atkins, Time 4:16 3/5. Semi—Raughey, Bennington, Regan, White, Taylor, Reed, Time 8:26 3/5. Feature—Mundorf, Atkins, Walker, Carter, Tucker, Synder, Time 11:49 2/5.

Coffee Prices

The lowest wholesale coffee price reached in this country in modern times—for green, that is, unroasted, "Santos 4s," a basic representative quality—was 3 1/2 cents a pound in midsummer, 1940. The highest was in mid-November this year, 5 1/2 cents. (The trade points out that green coffee loses 16 1/2 per cent of its weight in roasting, which is, of course, a factor in determining consumer prices.)

Choice of Monarchs

All through history ice cream has been associated with adventure and famous people. The early Roman emperor, Nero, may have ordered the first ice cream. He had fleet-footed slaves bring snow from the mountain tops. His cooks mixed it with honey, fruit pulp, and juices. The result: a simple fruit ice to us, a rare delicacy to the Roman monarch.

Frederica

Special Easter services will commemorate the day of Resurrection Sunday. New members will be received on profession of faith and by transfer. The evening service will be conducted by the M. Y. F., with music by the choir.

Friday the public is cordially invited to attend the three hour service at Calvary Church, Milford. Frank Burris, 83, died suddenly at his home here last week. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from the residence. The Rev. J. R. Diehl, of Trinity Church, town, and the Rev. Stanley Grant, of Houston, officiated. Interment was at Lewes Cemetery.

The deceased, a native of Houston, had resided here for a number of years. Before his retirement he had traveled extensively for large corporations, and his assignments took him principally to the far and Mid-West.

Following his retirement from business he became active in the Democratic party and he was well known throughout Kent and Sussex Counties for his political activities. Another side of his interest was manifest by his numerous contributions of columnist material to the Wilmington Sunday Star, and despite his staunch Democratic affiliation he wrote with truth and candor—as he saw the issues.

Mr. Burris leaves his wife, Mrs. Mary Burris, of town; one sister, Mrs. Amanda Lofland, of Houston. Other relatives include Mrs. Thelma Warren, niece, and Mr. T. Burris Spurry, nephew, of Frederica.

Friday the W. S. C. S. met at Trinity Church, when 20 members and five visitors attended. Mrs. Edith Melvin, the president, presided. Mrs. Jean Rogers conducted the worship service, and Mrs. Margaret Reynolds gave a very interesting missionary lesson.

The hostesses, Mrs. Lenora Langrell, Mrs. Clara Couley and Mrs. Ina Hughes had an enjoyable program: piano solo, Ruth Ann Johnson; trumpet duet, Joan Conley and Tabitha Rattray, with Mrs. Ina Hughes at the piano; reading, Mrs. John Diehl; piano solo, Mrs. Madeline Bennett, of Felton.

Continuing the spirit of the very essence of the faith and hope of all Christianity, the Christening of infants was observed at Trinity Church. This interspersing of the naming of the infants by the grace of God, at a time when the community is conscious of the Resurrection of the Christ Child, is an appropriate custom and an inspiring tradition from generation to generation.

These parents had their children christened on Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. James Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Betts, Mr. and Mrs. Ezekiel Dill and Mr. Lloyd Wilcutts.

Friday the 4th grade gave a play "Life In The Middle Ages." Mrs. West, the second grade teacher, sang two songs.

Miss Carol Langrell attended the Saturday birthday party of Alban French, of Milford.

George Sipple, of Wilmington, spent Thursday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sipple. Mrs. William Palmer Thomas has returned from the Kent General Hospital, where she underwent an operation. She is the former Miss Edna Mae Fisher, R. N.

Wilson Catts, of Wesley Junior College, is spending the Easter vacation with his mother, Mrs. Emma Catts.

Friday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gross were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morris, of near Newark. A birthday dance was given in honor of Mr. Lawrence Hill in the community building Friday evening.

Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hayman moved to a place near Smyrna. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marker are to reside in the home vacated by the Haymans. Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Cahall and children spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Davidson. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Briggs, of Washington, D. C., were the weekend visitors of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Briggs.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lorentz and Mrs. Hettie Palmer, of Lansdowne, Pa., were Saturday visitors here. Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jester were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Russell, of New Castle.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Melvin Sr. had Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Emory, of Dover, as their Saturday visitors. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Moore entertained over the weekend when guests were Mrs. Mattie Smith, of Dover, and others from out-of-town.

During the weekend the Moore's attended a birthday party given at Harrington in honor of their son, Benjamin Moore, Jr.

Miss Ruth Ann Stevenson, of the University of Delaware, is the Easter holiday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Marion Stevenson.

Joseph C. Gerow continues to improve and he is now able to be up for a part of each day. Mr. and Mrs. George Tiger, of Pitman, N. J., returned home with Mrs. Daisy Lilly and Clarence Salevan, and spent the weekend with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Langrell entertained Mr. and Mrs. Edward Parvis, of Norwood, Pa., over the weekend. Little Miss Kay Garey, of near Camden, has been quite ill at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. H. Morris, Sr.

Thursday evening the Rev. R. M. Green was the guest minister at the Holy Week service. Today the Rev. Diehl will interpret the message of the Cross.

Hornflies are controlled nearly as well with sprays containing toxaphene as those containing DDT. When used as a 0.5 per cent spray at the rate of about two quarts per mature cow, the period of protection afforded by toxaphene is about three weeks.
