

Delmarva Film, "America's Eden," To Show Here

"America's Eden," a sound and color motion picture of the Delmarva peninsula, will be shown at the Reese Theatre at 5 p. m. Sunday. The show will run 45 minutes. Admission is free.

"America's Eden" is the film story of the Delmarva peninsula—its history, industries, education, religion, agriculture, and recreation. Scenes such as early American churches, the little courthouse at Eastville, Va., and harness racing at Harrington are depicted, with the thorough filming of the poultry industry from eggs to dressed chickens.

The seafood industry also comes in for considerable attention, the recreational aspects, quail shooting, duck hunting, horse racing, beach sports, aviation and others.

The picture was sponsored by the Exchange Club of Salisbury, with other civic and business associations, including the Harrington Better Business Association and Harrington businessmen, as part of an extensive program to attract industry to the peninsula.

McDowell Questions Wisdom Of Republican Attacks On State Improvements

Secretary of State Harris B. McDowell, Jr., who is also Democratic State Chairman, issued a statement this week in which he questioned the wisdom of attacks by Republican spokesmen on the recent improvements undertaken in this State. The statement follows:

"Within the next three months the two major political parties in Delaware will hold their State Conventions for the purpose of nominating their candidates for national and State offices, and adopting a platform which will set forth the policy of their parties for the election campaign this year.

"While at this time there is very little information available concerning possible candidates for these offices, some trend towards the policy of the various parties in the campaign to come has already taken shape.

"The Democratic Party, represented by Governor Elbert N. Carvel and his administration leaders, has just completed a series of meetings held in each county, during which the affairs of the State Government, particularly financial matters, were explained to the public, and the attitude of the public learned through a question and answer period at each of these meetings. This was the first time that a State administration, after its first year in office, had brought the results of that year of stewardship to the people for their analysis.

"The outline presented at these meetings was, in fact, a continuation of the Democratic policy begun in the campaign of 1948 and continued throughout the 1949 session of the Legislature, when Governor Carvel, on numerous occasions, went before the Legislature and outlined his policy and program in a factual presentation. The Governor also made numerous talks on the radio at that time, further explaining the State's fiscal problems, along with suggestions to formulate an active, progressive program.

"In contrast to this action on the part of the Democratic Party, an apparent about-face of the policy of the Republican Party has taken place, at least that is the attitude offered by some spokesmen for that party in public statements made in recent weeks.

"When it is remembered that the legislative program providing for school improvement, through increased teachers' salaries and allocation of State funds for new buildings or additions to present buildings, as well as improvement in State services along other lines, were enacted by a Legislature that had a Republican majority in both Houses, even though the program had been recommended by the Democratic State Administration, it is hard to understand why Republican spokesmen are now attacking this program.

"Through recent weeks persons representing various groups of the Republican Party in Delaware have issued statements or made public addresses in which they attributed new taxes and public expenditures to the Democratic State Administration—yet none of these would have been possible had it not been for the votes of the Republican members of the Legislature.

"It will easily be recalled that during the legislative session there were frequent utterances concerning the fact that many matters believed to be for the general betterment and welfare of the people of the State were receiving consideration on practically a non-partisan basis, since they were being recommended by a Democratic Administration and enacted into law by a Legislature with a Republican majority.

"In view of this situation, many political observers in the State are having difficulty in understanding the attitude of the Republican spokesmen who in recent weeks have been making statements that could only be interpreted as attacks on the actions of their own party's representatives in the 1949 session of the Legislature.

Baltimore Raceway Under Construction

A trotting and pacing "dream plant" is gradually taking shape approximately nine miles from downtown Baltimore as workmen go about the task of erecting the fourth of Maryland's harness tracks... the $1,500,000 Baltimore Raceway.

Situated just a stone's throw off the Pulaski Highway and the Martin Boulevard on route 40, the new track promises to take its place among the nation's best. Officials of the Baltimore Trotting Races, Inc., expect to have the entire plant ready by June 15—a month in advance of the opening, July 14. With three rain dates allowed the track, which is situated four miles each of the city line, its 20 allotted nights of racing could extend until August 9.

The grading of the 170-acre site is practically completed. The grandstand, with its back toward Pulaski Highway, will be able to accommodate 5000 persons. However, it can be expanded to take care of 10,000.

The grandstand and clubhouse will be of steel construction. Diners for about 650 can be handled by the clubhouse dining room. The ramp, 473 feet long by 100 feet wide, increases the total capacity of the Baltimore Raceway to the 20,000 mark.

There will be stall space for 510 horses in the track stables. Parking space for 6000 cars is being provided and bus accommodations are convenient. The track, as is the case of most harness plants operating at night, will be half mile, with a lighting system offering a daylight appearance to assure the patrons a complete view during the eight-race card each night.

Ex-G. I. Has Faith In Dairying

William Bullock, Harrington, really believes in the future of the dairy industry according to "Pet Dairy Chats."

Before the war he made plans with his father to construct a dairy barn and milk house. Their plans were interrupted however, when William was called into the Army. He spent over three years in the Army, two and one-half of which were overseas.

After Bill was discharged from the Army, they immediately started to work on the dairy barn and milk house. This was in January, 1946.

With the exception of the ship-lap used for siding, all the lumber used in the buildings was cut from timber on their farm. The 18,000 board feet of red and white oak used for construction was cut according to carpenter specifications. By utilizing their own materials the cost of construction was cut in half.

Their efforts have resulted in the erection of a very fine gothic or oval-type barn.

This 60 by 36 foot barn, with a capacity of 25 stanchions arranged so that cows face outward, provides ample space behind the cows to permit the use of a manure spreader for cleaning the stables daily.

Four dual-purpose maternity and calf pens were also provided. The roomy loft has a storage capacity of over 100 tons of hay.

The new 12 by 14 foot concrete block milk house was constructed adjacent to the stable.

The Bullocks' present herd consists of 23 head of mixed grade Holsteins and Guernseys. The boarders are all culled out and beefed.

Elmer Bullock, William's father, is just as enthusiastic about dairying. When asked what he thought about it he replied, "We want to make money, and dairying is a big help in doing this, and both of us like to care for livestock."

Save Woods from Cows

Pasturing livestock and growing a woodlot just do not go together. The two operations should be separated. Grow the woodlot without livestock, and pasture the animals on improved pasture outside the wooded areas.

CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN COMING TO NEW MILFORD SUNDAY

Clifton Webb has taken a rest from the Belvedere roles, but not from making wonderful movies. The hero of "Sitting Pretty" and "Mr. Belvedere Goes To College" scores his greatest hit in "Cheaper By The Dozen," the new Technicolor film which opens at the New Milford Theatre on Sunday. Along with Jeanne Crain and Myrna Loy, Webb romps through one of the most delightful stories of our times, the true story of a family of twelve children based on the recent best-seller, "Cheaper By The Dozen" is the uproarious tale of the shenanigans that go on in this oversized family. It is also a moving and compelling story of how a lovable American family meets life's problems. Fresh from her triumph in "Pinky," Jeanne Crain makes a most lovable and appealing 16-year girl who rebels against her father's Victorian ways.

Another outstanding stage show is scheduled for the New Milford on Sunday, May 14th, when Henry Busses and his famous orchestra will appear in person. This versatile band was featured in Warner Bros. "Rhapsody in Blue" and other movie hits, they've broken records at the nation's leading theatres and hotels, and appeared on many major network radio shows. Tickets are now on sale at the New Milford box office for this exceptional stage show.

Marvels

Did you remember to set your clocks ahead an hour Saturday night? Or did you arrive at church or other appointments an hour late? It seems such a senseless way of fooling ourselves. But it doesn't fool the chickens or cattle. So our work with them is made later, by the clock, and our evenings are not any more.

The long range forecast from Washington for the month of May is warmer than usual weather for the Eastern coast. Let us hope they have made no mistake. Warm, sunny days with in-between showers would be welcome to all the farmers and gardeners. But despite the cool, backward weather birds arrive on time. Our whip-poor-will came back this weekend. Last year there were two pair in the woods and their call from different sections made every evening enjoyable. They stayed later than usual in the autumn not leaving until well into Nov. I think they stay as long as the supply of insects, upon which they feed are available. A custom handed down by Indians was to postpone the planting of corn until the arrival of the whip-poor-wills. They thought warm weather always followed the arrival of these birds. I wonder?

Ruth Holleger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Holleger, of this community, was the winner of the spelling bee conducted by the Milford School. This made her eligible to compete in the Delmarva spelling bee held in Salisbury Friday evening, April 23. Ruth stood up until twenty-fourth. She competed against thirty-one. The winner of the contest, a pupil from Cambridge School, will represent the Delmarva Peninsula in the national finals to be held in Washington some time this month.

This is an excellent idea. Spelling is a subject that seems to have been more or less neglected in the schools these last few decades. The Spelling Bee's of our grandfathers days was a social event eagerly looked forward to by the young and old alike, where everyone in the community took part. Spelling was a fine art in those days.

This week is National Home Demonstration Week. Clubs everywhere are celebrating the event in various ways, with open house, attending church in a group or by staging a display of their work, are a few popular methods. Law's Club has an exhibit of their work in the windows of Fredeirca Town Hall this week. If you are in that town stop and see it.

Both choirs gave special music and the chancel was decorated with spring flowers. Only a few members were late on account of the Daylight Saving Time.

Alas, the farmers have to endure this so-called Daylight Saving Time for the next five months. It may be all right for some folks, but not for us farmers. I wonder sometimes what the birds think of Daylight Saving, and the chickens and other farm animals. Nature's time is theirs.

Lee Dewey, whose 9-16 mile mark of 1:07 3-5 is the track record for trotters, heads a colony of nearly 200 harness horses daily working out awaiting today's opening at Maywood Park, the Chicago area's pioneer trotting track.

Owned by Norman C. Towne, Libertyville, Ill., and driven and trained by Buck Minniear, Lee Dewey became one of the River Road oval's top trotters and a favorite among the fans. The 10-year-old brown gelding accounted for $6,970 in winnings last year.

Another Maywood favorite to arrive recently was Mrs. Forrest Burright, 66-year-old woman driver who brought a stable of five, headed by Pokadot, four-year-old.

SARATOGA SPRINGS — Canadian trotters and pacers will be more numerous than ever at Saratoga Raceway this year.

The Raceway stake book for the 60-night summer meeting, June 19-Aug. 26, includes 191 nominations from stables north of the border. These entries come from 20 owners and represent 37 horses. The owners hail from three provinces — Ontario, Quebec and Nova Scotia.

Although the Spa harness track always has been popular with Canadian horsemen, their entry for early-closing events this year shatters all previous standards. Last summer, seven Canadian stables accounted for 91 nominations involving 17 horses.

Two score topflight Canadian horses are entered in the rich "early closers" at Buffalo Raceway for the current season opening May 22, according to an announcement by Race Secretary C. S. McLean Jr. The early closers will shoot for $75,000 in purses and the total purse distribution for the 60-night session will exceed $300,000.

Outstanding among the Maple Leaf entry is, of course, the great Dr. Stanton, p. b. g. 9 by Bonnycastle, winner of $100,900 for his owner, Lindy Fraser of Forest, Ont. Dr. Stanton is shooting for the $7500 Great Lakes Free-for-all to be run June 24 at Hamburg. Alex Parsons' London, Ont. flier, The Diplomat, p. 2:01 4-5 b. h. 7 by Volomite, winner of $33,000, also goes in the Great Lakes.

Projectile 2:04 b. h. 8 by Protector, winner of $25,000 for his owner, Armand Plouffe of Montreal, Que. is staked into the Hamburg Chamber of Commerce stake for $3,000.

The largest opening night attendance in history at a mutual harness racing track was 23,371 which turned out for Roosevelt Raceway's first night performance last year.

The most money ever won by a harness horse in a single season was $74,438 banked by Saunders Mills' Bangaway, three-year-old trotting champion of 1949. And the colt was out of the money in the richest stake he raced for — the $69,000 Hambletonian classic.

The Horseman and Fair World magazine has launched a campaign to transfer the remains of the gallant old pacing champion, Single G, from the Float Jolly Farm in Tipton, Ind., to Cambridge City, Ind., and erect a monument to his greatness at the new grave. Single G, winner of 262 heats in 14 years of racing died in 1940. The campaign is tagged "A Dime for the Horse of All Time."

Goldsmith Maid, who raced from 1865 to 1877, is recognized as the biggest money-winning harness horse of all time with earnings totaling $206,462. Proximity, current trotting queen, has earned $160,204 and is still going strong at eight years.

Greyhound, holder of the world trotting record at 1:55 1-4, won 55 of 65 heats during a five year racing career (1934-38), and was out of the purse money only once in his career. He was unbeaten in his last two seasons, and was selected as the "Horse of the Year" in 1938, over thoroughbred contemporaries. The "Grey-Ghost," a gelding, was purchased for $900 as a yearling. He is still living in luxurious fashion at the farm of his owner, Col. E. J. Baker, St. Charles, Ill.

Trainer Eddie Cobb has entered his double gaited star, Hodgen, in both the $25,000 trot and $25,000 pace at Yonkers Raceway. Originally trained as a trotter, Hodgen was an outstanding pacer during the last two seasons, but is now training on the trot in California.

Clint Hodgins, popular Canadian reinsman, won $184,108 in purses on the sulky circuit last year to set an all-time money-winning record for a harness race driver in a single season. Frank Ervin, 43, of Aiken, S. C., is the second biggest single-year winner, copping $183,656 in purses last year.

Proximity, Ralph and Gordon Verhurst's trotting queen from Victor, N. Y., won 20 of 28 heats last year, but failed to cash in either of the four richest races in which she appeared—the $50,000 Golden West Trot, $50,000 Roosevelt Trot, $25,000 American Trotting Championship, or the $20,000 McConnell Trot at Roosevelt.

Sixteen pacers and four trotters will start the 1950 harness racing campaign with records of 2:00 or better to their credit. One of the lot, W. N. Reynolds' Lorraine, earned a pacing mark of 1:59 last year, but will compete at the trotting gait this season.

Grand Circuit President Octave Blake of South Plainfield, N. J., is sending three horses from his Newport Stock Farm stable, the trotters Princess Scotland and Mighty King and the pacer, Intangible, to Yonkers Raceway for the New York track's spring meeting. His ace pacer, Alemiti, will go to California for a shot at the $50,000 Golden West Pace at Santa Anita, June 17.

The first preview test for 1950 Hambletonian hopefuls will be the $10,000 Western Trot at Santa Anita, Calif., May 24. Six Hambletonian eligibles have been named for the event, including the well liked Lord Steward, Nenoma's Song and Yankee Miss.

State Beekeepers Set Annual Meeting Date

The ninth annual meeting of the Delaware State Beekeepers Association is scheduled for May 20 at the home of Dr. D. M. Gay, Hockessin, announces Edward Krewatch, Seaford, president of the association.

Convening from 2 to 5 p. m., the group will hear John M. Amos, extension entomologist and plant pathologist, Virginia Extension Service at Blacksburg, in a talk on "Swarm Control."

A panel discussion on problems in beekeeping is also included under the leadership of Dr. G. H. Latham, former president of the association. Beekeepers from Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and Pennsylvania will participate.

Sea Water While it may someday be possible to distill sea water cheaply for general use, this method will be available only to coastal cities. The cost of transportation and piping will be still too great for inland regions.

Fish Commission Revives Hatchery At Moore's Lake

A "kindergarten" for Delaware's game fish—consisting of a fish hatchery and rearing ponds at Moore's Lake near Dover—has been rehabilitated at a cost of approximately $3,000.

Announcement that the rehabilitation project has been completed was made by Thomas N. Stayton, chief warden of the Board of Game and Fish Commissioners, who explained that there are five of the ponds.

Three of the pools are stocked with 50 pairs of adult large-mouth bass, 75 pairs of crappie bass and 75 pairs of blue gills. The remaining two ponds, he said, are now under process of fertilization, in preparation for the time when they will receive the spawn of the large-mouth bass when hatched.

The rearing pond permits the small fry to grow into lusty, young fish, fit for the bait of Delaware sportsmen in a score of lakes throughout the state.

From two to three months after being placed in the rearing ponds the fry should attain a length of from two to three inches, at which time the fingerlings will be removed to the various lakes and ponds of the State for restocking.

Through 1949 to date, there were in the neighborhood of 70,000 large-mouth bass, crappie bass and blue gill fingerlings, which were hatched and reared in the State Fish Hatchery, and released in the various lakes and ponds in the state. This was necessary because the State of Maryland, where Delaware formerly procured game fish for restocking purposes, passed a law prohibiting the shipment of game fish out of the state. Delaware then cast around for other means to secure fish for restocking. Thus, the breeding and the rearing ponds were developed.

These ponds were constructed during the depression years by labor secured from the CCC camp, at Leipsic, and supervised by John Herholdt. In 1936 they were put into operation under the supervision of Edwin M. Barry. At the outbreak of the war, Mr. Barry was called into the Armed Forces and the ponds were allowed to deteriorate and grew up into a wilderness swamp. The ramps and driveways were left intact.

Two years ago the Game and Fish Commission decided to rehabilitate these ponds and put them into operation, under the supervision of James S. Moore, game warden.

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

Is television enjoyed by the many who owns them? I have a little story that I want to relate. A few days ago in a home where there is a television set, the Singing Lady comes on the TV about the time that this family usually eat dinner. Well the lady of the house made a remark that she was never able to see this particular program as it was just at meal time. The suggestion was made why not take the table where the television set is and sure enough table, food and all was taken to the TV room and this program was enjoyed while everybody ate.

I am telling you this as TV is real and if you don't believe this ask your neighbor if they have one. Of course there is a difference in television, just as some milk is skimmed then there is milk which has cream. If you want a television set that has all the cream and some added, don't fail to get a PHILCO, I said PHILCO.

As I have said before there is nothing that you can put in your home that will give you and keep your family together better than a television set. Let me install one for you. We have them in both 12½ and 16 inch screens. We will guarantee you a picture that you will be satisfied with.

If I would tell you that prices on Maytag washers have gone down, you could hardly believe it when everything else is so high. Of course there is no drastic change but $5.00 to $10.00 is not to be sneezed at. Yes the price reduction also includes the automatics. The reason of this drop is on account of factory production in such large quantities that this can be done.

Last week I was telling you about wall paper and I still want to bring to your attention a family that has just repapered a room that had not been repapered for twenty years. This customer was so delighted with the change that it really put new life in the person himself. If this can be the outcome of just papering one room, what if the whole house or several rooms were repapered at one time? Try it yourself and get that touch of pride and it will make your home look so much better.

We have this paper for you and just long to sell it to you cash or charge. Our bins are full and we try to keep them that way but Oh Boy is it a job especially when you have about 300 bins.

Gas ranges, no not apartment size, but a full size range for $99.50. Yes apartment size for $79.50. Let us install one for you. Of course we have better ones if desired up to $269.50. All these can be bought on the easy payment plan as well as any refrigerator we sell.

Again I want to stress a full 7 cu. foot refrigerator with freezer all the way across the top for only $189.50. Of course it is a PHILCO. Come in, see Wheelers, phone 541.

Mrs. Rash operates the eating establishment, while Ora Derrickson assists in other departments of the market. Phone number is 284.

Spelling

In cases not covered by this column, consult "Webster's New International Dictionary" or "Webster's Collegiate Dictionary." If more than one spelling is recognized by the dictionary as being in good use, give preference to the shorter and simpler form.

With words of more than one syllable, a final consonant preceded by a single vowel is usually doubled on adding a suffix, except when the final syllable is accented, as "traveler, traveling, kidnaped, marvelous, jewelry, benefited"; but "hotter" (from "hot"; one syllable), "planned" (from "plans"; one syllable), "beginning" (from "begin"; accent on final syllable).

B. Frank Anders Has Fine Herd Of Ayshires

B. Frank Anders, Queenstown, Md., who ships milk on the 2700-Route operated by Rufus D. Hutchinson of Hillsboro, has been raising purebred Ayshire cattle for nearly 40 years.

The Anders' herd was started in 1911 with the purchase of two heifers and a bull. A year later three more heifers were the foundation stock of the present herd which consists of 17 purebred milking cows and several heifers not yet in milk.

Mr. Anders' herd shows the results of good breeding, severe culling, and proper feeding and management over a long period of years.

While talking to Mr. Anders, one is impressed by the affection he shows for his cows and the pride he portrays as he explains the merits of each animal.

"I believe in feeding my cows all the hay they will consume," says Mr. Anders.

The major portion of the income derived from the 330-acre farm is from dairying. Mr. Anders has shipped to the Pet Milk Company at Greensboro for the last 11 years.

Coccidiosis Control

New drugs for coccidiosis control have removed one of the major problems in raising chicks, according to William E. Tarbell, County Agricultural Agent. Since 1944, when sulfa drugs were first used to control this disease, rapid progress in research has been made. Preventive or treatment doses of sulfaquinolaxine, nitrophenide, and sulfamethazine are widely used now among Delaware poultrymen.

Results of experiments recently conducted by Karl Seeger at the University Substation in Georgetown show the relative value of the different drugs, when fed as a preventive in broiler mash. According to these tests, nitrophenide at ½ lb. per ton concentration gave the best control. At ¼ lb. per ton, sulfaquinolaxine and sulfamethazine gave better results than nitrophenide. Records were kept of average weight, feed efficiency, mortality, and profit. Broilers were fed the drugs from 7 days of age until a few days before marketing.

Flock replacements that are fed a preventive dose of the drug may have an outbreak of chronic intestinal coccidiosis when the drug is discontinued. For this reason, it is usually best to feed pullets the drug only when an outbreak of coccidiosis occurs.

A treatment dose is fed intermittently—feed two days, skip three days, feed two days. The drug may be fed either in the mash or drinking water.

Many poultrymen give a treatment dose a few days following vaccination.

Discovery of Coffee

Americans, it is recorded, began drinking coffee in 1602. But coffee was originally discovered about 865 A. D., according to legend, in Arabia. Because of its exhilarating effects, it was used as a medicine and also, pulverized and mixed with fat, as a food.

Ohio's Electric Power

Among the most important industrial advantages of the state of Ohio are its electric power resources. Ohio's electric power industry has developed during the past seventy years, since 1879 when Charles Francis Brush demonstrated the first practical electric lighting system, at Cleveland, until it represents an investment of nearly one and one-half billion dollars.

Albert Rim

Albert Rim in southeastern Oregon's lake county is described by geologists as one of the largest exposed faults in the world. Where the earth slipped vertically ages ago, the fault rises 2,000 feet above the eastern edge of Albert Lake with an 800 foot lava cap which ends in a sheer precipice.
