Fire Company Wins $175 In Chicken Festival Parade at Capitol

Mrs. Elmer S. Cain Fourth In National Chicken Cooking Contest; Wins $50 and Range

Harrington's place on the map was strengthened last week when Mrs. Elmer S. Cain and the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company distinguished themselves at the third Delmarva Chicken Festival at Dover.

Mrs. Cain, sponsored by Harrington Grange, took fourth place in the national chicken cooking contest, bringing home $50 and a range for her efforts.

Winner of the event was a 51-year-old widow of Lamar, S. C., Mrs. Taleie J. Howell, with her recipe for barbecued chicken. Her prize was $250, a new cooking range, and a trophy of the Poultry and Egg National Board.

Mrs. Sarah H. Beckett, Dover, librarian of Dover High School, was second with her "Aunt Sallie's Chicken Pie." Her prize was $100 and a new cooking range.

Mrs. Rose E. Smith, Monkton, Md., placed third with her chicken salad recipe, winning $75 and a range.

The Harrington Volunteer Fire Department was outstanding in the portion of the parade devoted to volunteer fire companies. It won $125 for the best appearance, and $50 for the company having the most men in line. Smyrna won $75 for second place in best appearance, with Ellendale earning $50 in the show position. In the auxiliaries, Salisbury cashed $50 to win, with Greenwood placing for $25.

There were 37 fire companies in the parade.

The local company was accompanied by the greatly improved Harrington High School Band under the direction of Melvin Brobst.

The band and fire company will parade in New Castle Wed., June 28; at Newark, Tues., July 4, and at Camden, Wed. July 12.

Parade Closes Festival

The festival ended Thursday night with a parade which required more than an hour and one-half to pass. In it were 45 floats, 35 fire companies, and 20 bands in addition to groups of Future Farmers of America, 4-H Club members, Boy Scouts, veterans organizations, the Savings Bond Drive Liberty Bell, military equipment, including guns; decorated automobiles, clowns, homemaker groups, Grange members, and other groups.

In every section of the parade, Delmarva Chickens was the theme. Miss Delmarva III, with her two attendants, Miss Maryland and Miss Virginia, rode on a gold and white float with Miss Delmarva seated on a throne.

A slight drizzle during most of the parade failed to disperse the estimated 15,000 persons from all sections of the peninsula who watched from the sidewalk.

Home Repair School Thursday

W. A. Calvert, extension engineer of the University of Delaware, will conduct a repair school for homemakers in Sussex County Thursday. The meeting will be held at old Labor Camp Building near Georgetown, beginning at 10 a. m. and ending at 3:30 p. m.

During the morning session, Calvert will discuss the selection of good home tools. He will also give a demonstration on sharpening scissors and repairing electrical equipment. Members attending the class may bring an electric cord to be repaired and the afternoon session will be devoted to working on those items.

Anyone interested in the repair of home equipment should contact Maybelle Ligon, home demonstration agent, Georgetown, and make plans to attend this meeting. As this is an all-day meeting, Miss Ligon advises members attending to bring a box lunch.

Louise Gray Made Queen Of Strawberry Festival

Louise Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gray, of Farmington, was made queen of a strawberry festival Friday evening. The affair was sponsored by the Methodist Youth Fellowship classes of Salem Methodist Episcopal Church, Farmington, and Prospect Methodist Episcopal Church, Vernon.

Runners up were Marie Hopkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hopkins, of near Vernon, and Fay Langford, daughter of Emerson Langford, of Farmington.

The festival was considered a success.

Adamsville

Mrs. Charles Drummond is in Temple University Hospital in Philadelphia for a checkup. She has been in ill health for a year or more.

Army Worms did negligible damage around Adamsville. Farmers are getting set for Japanese beetles but they have not shown up yet.

The boys still fish from Marshy Hope bridge. Returns are mostly in recreation, rather than in fish. Years ago, there used to be a commercial duck farm on Marshy Hope Creek which begins near Vernon, goes through Federalsburg, and into the Nanticoke river west of Seaford.

Harold Outten is raising some grade and purebred Whiteface cattle. He sells off the calves. Quite a few Whiteface, or Hereford, and Angus cattle are being raised in Kent and Sussex Counties. It was not many years ago when not a single head was entered in the beef cattle exhibits at the Kent & Sussex Fair.

Quite a few lima beans are being raised around here for canneries. Frank Beauchamp, of Big Pine, has probably the largest acreage.

Most broilers in this area have been sold. The houses are being refilled.

Wheeler's Community Park Attendance Increases Each Week

The roads leading to and from Wheeler's Community Park have been scraped and widened which was very much needed.

The attendance is getting larger each week and the parking facilities have been increased for your convenience.

A good place to go to rest your dogs and roast them all at one time.

Delaware Graduate

Melvin C. Luff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Luff, of Harrington, was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree with distinction in agronomy at the recent commencement exercises at the University of Delaware. Luff, a graduate of Harrington High School, was a member of the Air Corps during World War II. He is married and the father of two children. At the university, he was a member of the honorary fraternity, Alpha Zeta, the Agriculture Club, and the Committee on Student Publications. He was co-editor of the Home Ec-Ag Club magazine, "The Needle and Haystack."

The Rev. Whelstone recorded the Tuesday morning session for broadcasting on his Wednesday Evening Hymn Time program over WDOV.

Trooper Hurt As 7 Vehicles Are Piled Up

A state trooper was injured, two police cars wrecked, and three trucks and a third car were damaged Tuesday night in two accidents occurring only 10 minutes apart at the same intersection in Greenwood.

The injured police officer is Trooper Edward M. Smith, 29, of Greenwood, who suffered possible hand fractures, lacerations of the right leg, and contusions of the right foot when his patrol car was demolished in a head-on crash with a truck.

The accident, state police reported, occurred at the intersection of the DuPont Highway and Route 16 at 7:45 o'clock.

Ten minutes later and before the wreckage was cleared, the four other vehicles piled up.

Smith Headed South

State police said Trooper Smith was driving south on the DuPont Highway and as he came to the intersection at the crest of a hill, a northbound truck driven by Nathaniel White, 31, of Bloxom, Va., tried to pass a car.

The car, driven north on the highway by Jacob Hatfield of Greenwood, was preparing to make a right turn onto Route 16. White's truck and Trooper Smith's car collided head-on.

A second state police car was dispatched from Bridgeville headquarters to investigate and assist in direction of traffic at the accident scene.

The second trooper, whom the Bridgeville station would not name, parked his car at the entrance to a service station and left a red blinker light to warn oncoming traffic.

Milford Theatre To Note Second Anniversary

Tomorrow, Sat., June 24, Schine's New Milford Theatre will celebrate its second birthday. It was on June 24, two years ago, that the New Milford opened its doors to the public for the first time. During the first two years of operation the New Milford has offered not only the finest in motion pictures but also such leading personalities in the entertainment world as Tex Beneke, Gene Krupa, Charlie Spivak, Claude Thornhill, and many others have appeared in person.

Ronald Annett, a freshman in agriculture at the University of Delaware, is spending the summer with his father, John Annett. When interviewed, Ronald said he worked in the fields but that he was taking care of the store for the afternoon. When asked if he didn't carry a jug of water to put in the shade, he said he didn't get thirsty. Ronald is one of the head coaches on the fencing team at Delaware. He learned the sport at Augusta Military Academy in Virginia.

John Annett is getting ready to pick stringbeans. Recently he returned from Florida where he had gone for 50 pickers for his some 200 to 300 acres of yellow waxbeans. Before the season is over, he will be employing between 100 to 150. Annett sells his beans to a canning factory.

Army worms were conspicuous by their absence in this area.

Downing Heads School Board

Fulton J. Downing was elected president of the Harrington School Board, with Robert Nelson, vice-president, at an installation meeting Monday evening. Members were installed were Cabbage Brown and Hayward Quillen who gained the posts at the school board election May 13.

The new board will request $25,000 from the state's emergency fund for schools for a new oil heating system.

J. C. Messner, superintendent of schools and, by virtue of the post, secretary of the school board, said that prospects were that there would be no difficulty in filling teaching positions next fall.

The posts of English, Home Economics, and that of a fifth grade teacher are vacant, but applications have been received.

The next meeting of the board will be the first Tuesday in July.

Ambulance Fund Donors Lags

During the past 2 weeks, 22 more civic minded citizens donated $195 more to the Ambulance Fund. This, plus a previous total of $889 gives a total to date of $1,084. This is about 1/5 of the firemen's goal.

Remember, this Fire Company of Harrington does not have any carnival or any other way of raising money except by public subscription. If they did have a carnival, about 60% of the money you spend would go away from your community. Some of the people of Harrington are of the opinion that we cannot support an Ambulance. If towns like Milton, Bridgeville, Denton, Seaford, Laurel, Frankford (pop. 260), and many other towns can make money with an ambulance, so can Harrington. So lets all get behind these firemen and help them as generously as possible.

The donors for past two weeks are:

Penn. R. R. Co., Del. Power & Light Co., A. Decker, J. Louis Hopkins, Wayne Rawling, C. Fred Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Martin K. Crier, Ediz. W. Shaw, Clayton Killen, Ralph Coubourne, Wm. E. Taylor, Elmer R. Betts, Claude Neuman, Carl C. Roork, Mary H. Doby, Quillen Brothers, Harrington Grange No. 55, E. M. Pruet, Fred Thomas, Heba Baker, Houston Wohaus, Bennie Draper, and Wm. H. Taylor.

Coon's Forays in Chicken House Ended

Bert Lake, colored, shot a coon in a chicken house on the D. E. Handley farm, northeast of town, Monday night while it was feeding on one of two chickens it had killed the previous night.

The marauder had destroyed 19 birds another night in a Handley broiler house. The coon, a female weighing more than 12 pounds, had escaped twice from traps in the chicken house of Tom Reese, who lives in a bungalow on the Handley farm. He had killed 16 birds, leaving two toes in one of the traps as payment.

The coon will not be eaten as it had eaten seven poisoned eggs.

Liberty Bell Replica Shown At Bond Drive

Francis X. Gallagher, public relations specialist and radio columnist, told the story of the making of an exact replica of the Liberty Bell shown here Friday morning as the symbol of the current "Save for Your Independence" bond drive.

Mr. Gallagher, a former professor of speech at the University of Delaware, represented A. D. Cobb, state director, Savings Bond Division, United States Treasury Department. He is also chairman of the Delaware Citizens Committee.

The speaker said the replica of the bell weighed 2 tons and that it was cast in a valley in France by the firm that cast the original. He explained that the bell housing was made from oak from France, same as the original housing, and that the bell is the same size as and rings with the same tone as the original Liberty Bell.

The Rev. D. T. Pritchard, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, opened the meeting with a prayer. The Harrington High School band, directed by Melvin Brobst, played several numbers. At the end of the ceremony, Mayor E. B. Rash spoke a few words and, with the help of Mr. Gallagher, rang the bell three times.

After the bell tours the state it will be presented to Governor Carvel for permanent display.

Ocean Downs Promises to Have Quality Entries

Past performance fans are gathering a few more statistics from the recent harness meet at Roccroft for future use to put them in the money when the season opens at Ocean Downs, Aug. 10.

Picking from here and there, one of the most interesting tidbits is the new track record at Roccroft set by Quick Reward, owned by J. M. Davis, Clayton, who did a mile and sixteenth, pacing in 2:13 2/5. Olin Davis drove for the winner's laurels.

A couple of the other Roccroft winners from local owners who are expected to be entered at Ocean Downs include Reaping, owned by Samuel R. Smith, Annapolis, Md., and Hedgewood Fingo, owned by Penuel & Holloway, Frankford.

Exmore, Va., was represented in the winners' circle by Dr. Richards, owned by M. J. Duer & Son, who are also owners of Miss Congress. Bermuda was another Davis winning entry from Clayton.

Dusty Harmony, owned by Donovan and Shockley, Bridgeville; Hero, racing for Jacob Rudnick, Dover; Dean Scott, from Oakland Farms, Onancock, Va.; Pepper's Express, owned by Pepper Brothers, Selbyville; Bertha Roccroft, owned by James and Hurlcock, Cambridge, and Dagsworthy York, owned by Truman L. Campbell, of Dagsboro, are also among the winning peninsula horses who will probably get a sniff of ocean breezes while working at Ocean Downs.

Young John Belote of Birdsneest, Va., who was recently credited by a sportswriter with helping put his hometown on the map, will also carry his string of followers who will be closely watching his entries.

H. P. Swain Retires As Principal of Columbus, Ohio, High School

H. P. "Pete" Swain, a Farmington native, will retire this month as principal of North High School, Columbus, O. He was the brother of "Dutch" Swain, a Delaware schoolteacher, and Mrs. Samue A. Short Sr. Following is an article from a Columbus newspaper about Swain:

H. P. Swain will retire as principal of North High School this June.

Keen-eyed, spare and straight, with no trace of gray in his hair, the retiring principal believes in the appearance of the forty-odd years of school teaching and administration behind him. It may be his philosophy that accounts for that. "I think the principalship of North High School is the best in the country — always have thought so," he declared. "Fine people to work with; a fine bunch of students."

He dreamed of being a doctor once, as a boy in Farmington, Del., but he sees teaching now as "a satisfying life, with ample reward in the association with young people."

Teaching as a profession has changed, too, he pointed out, since the time he started, back about the turn of the century.

"You used to be able to tell a teacher by his shabby coat, or his long haircut. But now — well, teachers are people. Twenty years ago, if a teacher came in for a job with her hair bobbed, I'd want to know the reason. Now, I'd want to know the reason if it isn't."

Schools themselves? They've changed, too, Mr. Swain admits, but due to the pressures of a changing age.

"When I started teaching, boys and girls went to high school because they wanted a diploma, wanted training in something particular. Now, we take them all — and the content of the school program has changed quite definitely to fit them all."

Valedictorian of his high school class, the young Swain taught four years before he started to college. He went to Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., and came directly to Columbus from there, for the opening of the fall term in September, 1907, at old North High School (now Everett Junior High).

He was engaged as a mathematics teacher and director of athletics — football, baseball and track. In that position, too, things were different then.

North High School's coach not only coached — he also planned the schedules, supervised ticket sales for games, even had charge of the out-of-town tours for fans.

"My own bathroom was the trainer's headquarters," grinned Mr. Swain, recalling the odor of liniment that once pervaded his home.

Although classroom teaching is his first interest and he still likes to take over a class once in awhile, Mr. Swain cherishes his coaching memories.

And he says to athletics: "And my relationship with boys on the athletic field, I have been able to do as good and lasting work as I ever did in a classroom."

After his 43rd and final year in Columbus schools this June, Mr. Swain will leave his home at 53 W. 4th Ave., almost immediately for his summer home at Onekama, Mich., a big home enlivened for years by his two children and, now by his three grandchildren, too.

After that, his plans are indefinite.

"I'll stay here through football," he said, "then, I think I'll just follow the sun for the first year. And, you know, one is never lonely when he has all the people in books around him."

Mr. Swain was appointed principal of North High in May, 1934, having been stationed previously at Crestview Junior High and Mound Junior High.

He served on the Ohio Education Association's Executive Committee for six years and the Ohio High School Athletic Association for 16 years. Active in community and church affairs, he was the first president and holds the same post again on the Franklin County Council of Campfire Girls.

He was moderator and member of the board of trustees of Plymouth Congregational Church for many years.

SHORT STORY

The Threesome

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

"WHAT MAN," Janice thought as she brought her roadster to a halt, "has possibilities. It can't be that he lives here."

He stood just inside the picket fence—six feet of tall leanness. Fair hair. Blue eyes. Bespeaking the easy arrogance of youth. He wore a blue cotton shirt and blue denim jeans.

"You're not Janice Burdon?" he said. And then at her expression: "Heavens, you are! Why couldn't Aunt Bertha have warned me?"

"Is Aunt Bertha your aunt, too?"

"My real aunt. You only call her aunt because she's a close friend of your mother."

That makes us not cousins," he added with frank relief.

Janice rescued her suitcase from the rumble seat. "This is like one of those things you read about," he grinned, taking it from her. He studied her with honest approval. "And I thought my vacation was going to be one of those dull, uninteresting things."

Minutes later Janice faced her Aunt Bertha in the bed chamber over the front parlor.

"Oh, Auntie, why didn't you tell me he was going to be here? I didn't bring a thing. Not a thing, except my shorts, two cotton dresses and a bathing suit."

"Who?" Aunt Bertha asked innocently. "Phil? Land sakes, don't worry about him. He dropped in unexpectedly yesterday and announced he was here for two weeks. He's a dear boy. You'll like him."

The next day Janice accompanied Phil up to the north pasture and watched him prune apple trees. "I thought this was your vacation," she said after awhile.

"It is," he told her. "I like working on my vacations—out doors." He pointed away over the fields. "Some day I'd like to see all those fields set out to apple trees."

Two days ago she wouldn't have believed him. She was city born and city bred. To her a farm had always symbolized hard work and a poor living, bugs and snakes and hot days in the sun, long lonely evenings. Even the thought of a farm had made her shudder.

She wondered about Phil. He claimed to be a law firm member on vacation. It occurred to her that for a lawyer he was mighty skillful handling pruning clippers. And his knowledge of farming was profound.

3-Minute Fiction

THE SECOND DAY of their vacation they knocked off early and went for a swim. The third day they played tennis. The fourth Aunt Bertha packed them a lunch and they drove to Mount Carter, climbed to its summit and watched a glorious sunset while nibbling delicious sandwiches.

On the second Saturday following her arrival she was with Phil. They had climbed Mount Carter again.

She wondered about Phil.

had sat for long, silent moments watching the afterglow of a blood-red sunset.

Unexpectedly Phil said: "Well it's gone. And our vacation has gone. Tonight winds up the two weeks."

"There's always an end to nice things," she told him evasively.

"There doesn't have to be. Ever. Listen," he went on eagerly. "I gave you the wrong impression about myself. I'm not a successful lawyer. I never should have tried to be a lawyer. Thank heavens I realized the mistake before it was too late."

"You mean you're not leaving? You're staying here?"

He nodded. "I'm going to try and raise apples. Auntie and I are going to be partners. This fall I'll sell what we have and next spring set out new trees. He picked up her hand. "Honey, let's make it a threesome. I know it's a lot to ask," he added wistfully. "A city girl like you. It'll be dull. But eventually—"

"I could chip in my roadster," Janice cried excitedly. "It's all I have, but it ought to bring $500. How many apple trees can you buy with $500, darling?"

"Enough," said Phil, reading her eyes, "to keep from being lonesome—I guess."

HARRINGTON NEEDS ANOTHER HOTEL

There has been some agitation for an up-to-date hotel in Dover, but no one wants, or seems to want, "to bell the cat." Harrington could use a nice, fireproof hotel. The local hostels are usually crowded, especially during the fair and racing season.

We believe a modern structure would pay off if it were located somewhere on U. S. 13, near Delaware 14. There is nothing of this nature between Salisbury and Wilmington. If Harrington gets one first, Dover will not have to worry about a new hotel.

THE VOICE OF ONE CRYING

The purpose of the Delmarva Chicken of Tomorrow Festival at Dover was to promote the poultry industry on the peninsula. We do not believe the festival was any place for a political speech, regardless of party.

However, Dover's Mayor Storey, in a speech managed to get in a dig about the spending policies of the national administration. Said the mayor: "But at the same time I believe that the citizens have a right to insist and should insist upon a policy of more prudent and economical handling of our nation's finances. It is high time that official Washington, including the Congress, should give more consideration to the taxpayers and think less of finding new ways of spending tax money for purposes of political expediency."

The mayor was too much of a politician to make specific charges: he didn't want to get into a corner. We have always heard the cry of: "Reduce taxes, give us the same services as before. Economize." This has always been the spiel of the party not in office. The mayor forgets the abnormally high cost of the ballots in Kent County at the last election when he, as Delaware secretary of state, was in office. There was a difference of several thousands of dollars in the bids. But who got the order?

J. HARVEY BURGESS REPORTS

J. Harvey Burgess, Journal editorial writer, now on a lecture tour of the South and Middlewest, mailed us an envelope from Helena, Ark., with the following clipping from the "Southeast Missourian," of Cape Girardeau, Mo.:

S. E. Missouri Editor of Another Day Comes Back to See District

J. Harvey Burgess, native of Arkansas, later publisher of the Morehouse Hustler, poet, author, raconteur, historian, who in 1917 shook the sand from his shoes and joined the DuPonts in Delaware, despite the pleadings of editors and lesser lights, is in Cape Girardeau today getting set for a commencement address at Morehouse Thursday night, a Presbyterian ladies' meeting and numerous other similar occasions later, and finally to Arkansas for an old settlers' meeting. And throughout it all he admits that he has made over 6000 addresses in his time and is still a young man. "Only a Delawarian could pile up such a record," he admitted while in The Missouriian office.

Most everybody in the boot heel knew Harvey Burgess back in 1913 to 1917 when he was putting out the Morehouse Hustler, and they tried to prevail upon him not to leave the swampland, if for no other reason than that his poetic efforts would be missed, but malaria was in his bones and so he bought a weekly newspaper in Harrington, Delaware, population about 2500, where no one has ever been known to have a chill, because the DuPonts won't tolerate such things. Despite the speech making the Harrington Journal is known throughout the east as extraordinarily good newspaper. It carries the local news and has room for much literary matter.

Burgess reminded The Missouriian today that George Naeter back in 1913 swung the annual meeting of the Southeast Missouri Press Association to Cape Girardeau after a number of veteran publishers had assured the editors that Hayti could not be excelled for its liquid refreshments. Naeter urged the committee to take no chances, the assurance being that Cape Girardeau at that time had 27 saloons whereas no other town of the district had even half as many. The late Edmund Crowe, widely known editor of the Dexter Statesman, as well as being a Chautauqua speaker of high degree, swung his influence to the Cape and Naeter was victorious.

Editor's Note: Many Harringtonians may remember Edmund Crowe. Many years ago he was in Harrington to deliver an address at the Methodist Protestant (now Trinity Methodist) Church. The church was packed (it was free) and Crowe got off to a good start. On the rostrum was a pitcher of water from which Crowe frequently interrupted his talk to take copious draughts. Finally, he cut his address short, saying he had indigestion from eating too many fried oysters, a delicacy not found in southeast Missouri.

YOU MAY BE SORRY, HARRY

Now, we come from Missouri, too, Mr. Truman. And we are Democrats, too, Mr. Truman. Have been all our lives. But we believe time will prove you "put yourself behind the eight-ball" by signing legislation last week permitting an additional 136,000 DPs to enter the United States.

Some 96,000 of these DPs will come from Russia by the way of occupied Germany. In this crew will be a number who will sell us out for thirty pieces of silver. Thanks to their kind, Russia now has the atomic bomb.

Dr. Klaus Fuchs, now in a British prison for admittedly having given the Russians atom secrets, came to the United States from Germany. Harry Gold, came here from Russia and showed his appreciation by selling us out.

When we were in Germany, most of the DPs we saw were Poles, Rumanians, and Hungarians. A recent arrival from Germany now tells us most of the DPs are from Russia.

We have no quarrel, however, with some persons to be admitted by the new bill. This category includes 18,000 World War II Polish soldiers who went to Britain rather than return to their Communist homeland. We met many of them during the war. In Italy they played a prominent part in taking Cassino. Also included are 10,000 Greeks and 2000 refugees from former Italian territory ceded to Yugo-slavia. There is also a special category to include 4000 refugees from Communist-held Shanghai, mostly White Russians. These may not turn out so "white."

We shall have to give Canada and South America credit: they choose refugees that will benefit their countries. Above all, we believe in preservation of the Union.

To The Correspondents

If you are having trouble finding something to write, look over "One Sunday Afternoon" in our editorial column of the issue of June 9. We like our correspondents to consider themselves as columnists. This gives them more leeway. While we are at it, did you read what Mrs. Amos Minner wrote about the army worms in Mastens? We could use more items in this vein.

The Semicolon
Use the semicolon to separate co-ordinate clauses of the same sentence when they are not separated by a co-ordinate conjunction. "This is a bad law; it should be repealed." When the conjunction between the two clauses is not unusually close, however, it is generally better to make them separate sentences.
Use the semicolon between co-ordinate clauses joined by a conjunctive adverb such as "therefore, however, so, hence, thus, then, consequently, accordingly, nevertheless," etc. Thus: "The difficulties in the undertaking were obvious; however, we hopefully began preparations."

Use the semicolon to separate members of a series when the members themselves, or some of them, are broken up by commas. Thus: "I saw the Perry Monument, which overlooks Lake Erie, where Perry won his greatest fame; the municipal bathing pavilion, which frequently accommodates more than ten thousand persons in a day; and the lagoon, where motor boats by the score are moored. (But: "I saw the Perry Monument, the municipal bathing pavilion, and the lagoon.")
Use the semicolon in a construction such as this: "Those present were: John Jones, Greenwood; Horace Brown, Felton; Mrs. W. B. Smith, and Mrs. J. H. Howard, Harrington; Dr. B. B. Simmons, Frederica; H. K. Henry, Bowers Beach." (But: "Those present were John Jones of Frederica, Horace Brown of Felton, and Dr. B. B. Simmons of Frederica.")
Use the semicolon to avoid confusion in such construction as this: "The party consisted of J. J. Lee; W. H. Winston, his secretary; Mrs. Lee; Miss Mary Brown, her nurse; and three servants." Written thus, the sentence indicates there were seven persons in the party. Readers might get the impression there were nine if the sentence were written: "J. J. Lee, W. H. Winston, his secretary, Mrs. Lee, Miss Mary Brown, her nurse, and three servants."

Eight New All-Purpose Cars Now Offered By Chrysler
Eight new all-purpose cars are now being offered by Chrysler Corporation.
In addition to the 44 models in the regular lines of sedans, coupes, limousines, and convertibles, Chrysler Corporation has designed eight "all-purpose" cars from the lowest-priced to the most luxurious.
In the Chrysler line there is a new station wagon and the new Chrysler Traveler. The station wagon provides the ultimate in luxury and utility—an estate car with yacht-like craftsmanship. It is fully weather-stripped thus eliminating all drafts and rattles. The Traveler is designed specially for sportsmen and campers. It converts in seconds from a 6-passenger sedan with all of the Chrysler luxury features into a 3-passenger sports car or cargo carrier.

Hoof Beats

E. P. Cray's White Mountain Boy, pride of Bellows Falls, Vt., paced the second fastest race in harness horse history over a half mile track, when he clipped off a 2:00 3/5 mile beating Grattan McKlyo and Indian Land in the $5000 Dexter Purse at Roosevelt Raceway recently.

The Rollicking Roan clipped two-fifths of a second off the former world record for age and gait, held jointly by King's Counsel (1944) and Direct Express (1947), and was a mere twentieth of a second off the all-time, all-age record of 2:00 1/2 set by Dusty Hanover in 1940.

Dusty's mark stands as the fastest race time ever turned in by either a trotter or pacer on a half mile oval. He was a six-year-old when he made it at Delaware, Ohio, in 1940. New York fans greeted White Mountain Boy's effort with a round of spontaneous applause — after letting him go off at 12-to-1.

The new four-year-old record is the fifth world mark to be written into the books this year. Others are: Proximity, 1-1/16ths miles, 2:06 2/5; 1 1/4, 2:14 3/5; 1 1/2, 2:31 2/5; and Prince Jay (four-year-old pacer), 1 1/4 in 2:15 1/5.

Both Proximity and Prince Jay will join White Mountain Boy and the other top notchers on the Eastern swing when the Grand Circuit opens at Roosevelt next week.

Do you want to buy a harness horse? Two of the nation's best looking three-year-old pacers currently are up for sale.

The two fast sidewheelers are Hal Tryax and Congress Lad, owned by their respective trainers, Sanders Russell and Henry Cyr. Russell is asking $28,000 for the Tryax colt, which raced to a mark of 2:05 4/5 recently, and is eligible to the $80,000 Little Brown Jug in September. Cyr wants $10,000 for Congress Lad, recent winner in 2:05 2/5.

Mahlon Hanover, the best looking two-year-old in the South last winter, is living up to his early reputation. In his first start the colt won pulled up for driver Sam Caton. He had a good 20 lengths over the second horse. His debut was made in a non-betting race, but his next start will be for the marbles in the $10,000 two-year-old trot at Goshen's Historic Track, July 4.

The first California campaigned harness horses to reach the East, got into action at Rosecroft Raceway Oxon Hill, Md., last week, with Nancy Lybrook, a Hambletonian hopeful owned by tobacco tycoon W. N. Reynolds of Winston Salem, N. C., winning two heats handily for Trainer Del Miller. Dean Toddler, another Hambletonian eligible, finished third behind her in the second heat.

Another of the sensational first crop of King Counsel two-year-olds became a winner last week when the W. N. Reynolds colt, Solicitor, turned in a 2:07.4 performance for Trainer Del Miller at Rosecroft Raceway. The time, over a half-mile oval, was exceptional for two-year-olds at this early stage of the season.

Imperial Hanover, the highest priced harness horse ever to go through an auction ring, is working with a thoroughbred promoter at his side during trial spins at Roosevelt Raceway. The idea is to have the promoter step alongside the youngster to keep him from loafing. Imperial, who cost $72,000 as a yearling last fall, is being trained by Johnny Simpson.

Mrs. S. A. Lynn, of Washington, D. C., spent some time with relatives and friends near here. For several years she lived in our county and was a member of our Homemakers Club, and last week she had the pleasure of meeting with us again. Everyone was glad to see her.

J. H. Dandy is in a Baltimore hospital for an operation. We sincerely wish him a permanent convalescence.

Ann Butler spent last week with Greensboro relatives.

Artley Clarke of Wilmington, spent last weekend at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Butler and children spent last Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stevens of near Burrsville. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Hendricks and children.

Harry Wooter's house was fired by lightning during the storm on Wednesday of last week. Quite a bit of damage was done to the building. Paul Oros found one of his yearlings dead in the field and supposed she was killed during the storm. Emory Breeding, of nearby Andersonstown, had a horse and mule killed.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Thomas were last Sunday afternoon guests of Lt. and Mrs. L. Hopkins Thomas and family, of Easton.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stevens in the addition of a son to their family. They have four daughters, all in school. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens lived in our midst for some years prior to buying the farm where they now reside.

Sunday School 10 a. m. H. R. Moore leader. Preaching by the pastor Rev. W. Stanley Grant at 11 o'clock. Evening meetings will start at 7:30.

The services Sunday morning were well attended. There were 119 present in Church School and the offering was $200 which amount goes to help pay on the new annex. The sermon was fine and most educational. The music was very good and most appropriate. Mr. Gott was soloist and chose the grand old number entitled, "Where We Never Grow Old," for his contribution.

There were three baskets of beautiful flowers on the Chancel, placed there by Mr. William Coulbourne in memory of her father, Zackariah Johnson; Mrs. William Johnson in memory of her father, the Rev. D. F. McPaul, a former pastor of Houston, and the Misses Florence and Roseanne Messick in memory of their father, Serenious Messick. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Sapp in Milford Memorial Hospital June 16, weighing seven pounds and one ounce, and his name is Timothy Alan. He is the Sapp's third child, all boys. Both mother and son are just fine.

A wedding of importance took place Saturday night, June 17, when Miss Betty Jane Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pearson, became the bride of John M. Thompson, of near Milford. The ceremony was performed in Denton by the Rev. John Edward French, pastor of the Denton M. E. Church. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayes, of Milford, were the attendants. Mrs. Hayes being the sister of the groom and just the immediate families were present. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where the newlyweds will make their home. We do wish for them all the happiness and prosperity possible.

Mrs. George L. Harrington gave a party on Saturday night. The occasion was in honor of Mr. Harrington's birthday anniversary. Several friends and neighbors were present to wish him many happy returns. Also to partake of the abundance of delicious refreshments which were served.

Sandtown

We need a correspondent for Sandtown. Stationery, stamps, and remuneration will be furnished. The letter is easy to write. The editor got the following letter in five minutes from James Carroll after he had said "there was no news around Sandtown."

The army worms have been playing the devil around Sandtown, particularly on the farms of N. Sylvester and Bayard Cahall. Carroll said the insects tried to take the green shutters off one house. Some farmers have been plowing furrows around their fields to confine the activities of the pests.

"Japanese beetles haven't come yet, but they'll be here, though," said Carroll.

Mt. Olive Methodist Episcopal Church has been having good attendance, according to Carroll, who builds the fires for the church in winter.

Strawberry season is about over. Quality was good and so was the price, which averaged about 25c.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Meredith and children, of Kenneth Square, Pa., have been spending the week with the former's mother, Mrs. Lily Mae Meredith. Bill drives a truck for a mushroom company. Gets down here a couple times a year.

"There is no news in Sandtown." Henry Davis has caught 20 to 25 Cooper's, or chicken, hawks this year and has them hanging from apple trees around his place. He catches them in traps set atop tall poles at the edge of his fields and in an island, or open place, in his woods. He caught a number of hawks last year. Mr. hawk selects the tall poles for a vantage point, so he can look over the terrain for a victim. The diet of the chicken hawk comprises at least 10 per cent poultry.

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

Do you recall the first time you heard a portable radio on the beach and tried to get close enough to get your favorite baseball score? At that time probably the cost was such that only a few could enjoy owning one, but today you can have a portable that will play without even an outside antenna and of course runs on battery, for just a fraction of what they did cost. To make a vacation complete and much more enjoyable, stop in and get a portable and you will hardly miss the room it occupies in your traveling bag.

Did you know that you can use a television set even when it is storming and lightning like it was Tuesday night?

I was looking and listening to my own at my home and if you didn't see the flash of the lightning, you wouldn't know a storm was on hand in fact the the talking on sound was perfect. No distortion at all.

I am telling you this to help make up your mind for that new Philco television in case you are holding off thinking summer is not a good time for one. Truth of the matter, it is better and to prove it let me install one that other people are satisfied with.

A great invention if you care to take the advantage. Of course there is a little expense but the daily cost is practically nothing. Come in, see me.

Next Christmas you can get fresh asparagus for twenty five cents a bunch, lima beans for nothing if you grow your own. Or some of those trout you caught this summer and many other things that can be had if you will let us install a new Philco freezer either an upright or a chest type. Come in, look them over and see how easy they can be purchased.

Are you one of the hundreds that we are serving gas, if not we would be pleased to add you to our list.

Buy a stove from us or elsewhere and we will hook it up with bottled or metered gas. Our metered gas runs from an average of $2.00 to $4.00 per month, depending on the amount used. Average about $2.00 per month.

How about that new refrigerator, well we have them and not only one or two to select from but several. Yes you can have as long as 30 months to pay for one. Down payment, well we will leave that up to you.

This is the time of year that most of us have company and especially during the fair. Have you papered those rooms you have talked about. We have the paper, border and paste, even patching plaster. So why wait? Your credit is good at Wheeler's. Phone 541 Harrington. Talk Peace Not War. We are gaining. Adv.
