Democrat Ticket Named Without Opposition

Boyce to Run Again For Treasurer; Baker, For State Auditor; Ferguson For Insurance Commissioner

Delaware Democrats Tuesday rallied behind a unanimously named ticket for state and national office and a platform which they roundly endorsed at one of their most enthusiastic state conventions in years.

Four Approved

The ticket they approved for the November general election consists of:

For U. S. representative — Henry McComb Winchester, Sr., of Brandywine Hills.
For attorney-general — Thomas Cooch of Wilmington.
For state treasurer — Willard D. Boyce of Dover, incumbent.
For state auditor — James W. Baker of Georgetown, incumbent.

For state insurance commissioner — William E. Ferguson, Bridgeville, editor of the Bridgeville News.

No Opposition
The successful candidates all were without opposition.

The delegates adopted an 18-point platform without dissent.

Plank Added
The convention added an Americanism plank which "reaffirmed the party's support of the United Nations and the stand of the United States therein."

A section of the proposal on reorganization of the executive branch of state government was revised and now urges "a consolidation of many executive agencies to produce a more efficient and economic administration of the state."

In "earnestly advocating" repeal of paragraphs 4066 and 4070 of the Revised Code of Delaware, 1935, the convention favored for "minority groups."

Other planks advocated: A state income tax law permitting numerous deductions and a net income levy instead of the gross income tax law; creation of a state department of labor and industrial relations; reform of election laws; expansion of the soil conservation program, and a law to provide a four-member partisan state liquor commission.

Convention speakers attacked the Republican platform and policies.

Tunnell Hits GOP
The keynote, James M. Tunnell, Jr., of Georgetown, said the Republicans "conduct in the Legislature departed from their 1948 platform."

"We see that now even their promises are not particularly attractive," he added. "Their platform's best feature is that it several times says, 'me too.'"

Appealing for clean elections, Mr. Tunnell said:
"The books are full of laws imposing penalties for election frauds but nobody ever thinks of a prosecution. The attorney-general's office certainly appears to be content, for people of my age, who cannot remember a Democratic attorney-general, also cannot remember a case where the attorney-general took action to try to enforce even the election laws we do have."

Calls Times Solemn
He prefaced his keynote address by saying he was departing from the "polite invective" tradition for such speeches, to cite the gravity of the world situation.

"This is a solemn time, and thinking people are in a solemn mood," he said. He said he saw nothing in the Korean war on which honorably to base a "political dispute."

Reviewing the GOP platform, Mr. Tunnell termed the rival party's platform for adequate school teachers' salaries "strange language," and challenged the sincerity of the planks on labor reforms and conservation.

Mrs. India Edwards, vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said the "story of Republican nonpartisanship on Korea, unfortunately, has not been a pretty one."

Boggs Accused
Mrs. Edwards added that between 1946 and the Communist invasion of Korea last June the United States provided $523,000,000 in economic and military assistance to South Korea. This was

Educational Resources to Be Mobilized

A committee for the mobilizing of the resources of education is being formed by Dr. George R. Miller, Jr., State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The functions of the committee, according to Dr. Miller, will be to plan for a State meeting of educators to discuss the problems incident to such mobilization. In addition, the committee will study the resources that are available in Delaware's schools and will plan an organization for the utilization of these resources.

"The role of education is a significant factor in any widespread emergency," Dr. Miller stated.

"The facilities and services in our schools should be evaluated and organized in such a fashion that their availability is immediate in case of need. While we sincerely hope that no crisis develops, we cannot overlook our responsibility to be prepared," Dr. Miller added.

Those who have been asked to serve on the committee include R. W. Heim, State Director of Vocational Education; Dr. Ward I. Miller, Superintendent of the Wilmington District; Robert L. Durkee, Executive Secretary of the Delaware State Teachers Association; J. C. Messner, Superintendent of the Harrington Special District; H. E. Eddie Myer Drives Leo Hanover In 2:04.1 For Md. Track Record

Racing is the word at Ocean Downs and with half the meet finished, Eastern Shoremen are coming from all directions for a night or two with the trotters. It's been very nice for some of them with daily doubles going as high as 170 odd dollars and some very comfortable long shots paying off.

They are also seeing top-notch racing with the photo-finish camera being relied on in event after event to help the judges give the decision. Many of the races being won or lost by a nose.

Records are going up all over the track too and the first one to hit the racing headlines came when Joe Hylan drove Shamrock Joe around for the mile at a pace in 2:04. Not to be outdone, Olin Davis paced Cash York for the mile and sixteenth in 2:16 4-5 with Eddie Myer on the night before bringing in Victory Red Stone for 6 1/2 furlongs in 1:43.

The trotters are also having cracks at the records and Flo Napoleon under the practiced hand of Tom Lewis now has a track record of 2:15 2-5 for the mile and sixteenth and Corita Hanover was timed at 1:45 1-5 for 6 1/2 furlongs when driven by George Michel.

Leo Hanover, of course, is the big news of the day. State trotting records went down with a bump when Eddie Myer trotted Leo Hanover around the track for the mile in 2:04 1-5.

Owned by W. J. Collins, G. C. and H. D. Kelley, of Salisbury, Md., Leo Hanover got away from the start in fourth place, moved into third and took second behind Jenko Hanover who held the lead at the half and stretch. In a rush that ended in a photo finish, the two horses came under the wire almost together.

Busy Stables

Two midwest stables are having a very busy season and consequently are forcing citizens of the harness world to sit up and take notice.

The Hayes Fair Acre string, Du Quoin, Ill., led by the brilliant trotter Lusty Song, winner of this year's richest Hambletonian and including such outstanding horse flesh as Pronto Don, aged gelding who just trotted the fastest race mile of the year for his gait this week at Springfield, Ill., when he covered the mile in 1:59 4-5 to equal his record.

Add to these ace performers such names as Scotch Pal, Mighty Grattan, Shipshape and Dudley Hanover and success for the year can be spelled out in bold letters for the Illinois string.

The other highly successful band of sulky pullers hailing from the midwest this year is the stable of Ralph Kroening, Milwaukee contractor. The Badger state owner has been enjoying the victories of Lord Steward, third place winner in the recent Hambletonian and a very lucrative campaigner so far this year with a total earning mark for the current season of over $24,000. This fast stepping three-year-old is coupled with the fleet pacing mare Highland Ellen another big money winner along with Henry Mc, Socrates and Par Crusader.

A Rarity

In a recent race at Sportsman's Park, Chicago, a seven horse field finished in chronological order—from one through seven. This feat is comparable to drawing a perfect hand in bridge or pulling a royal flush in poker on the first deal.

Most horsemen claim this perfectly aligned finish will happen only once in a life time.

Fast Miles

The 1950 harness meetings staged at the Illinois State Fair may go down as one of the record breaking programs of all time for the annual Grand Circuit meeting over the mile track for fast miles. Already three miles have been raced in better than two minutes during the one week stand. The first horse to turn the trick was Pronto Don, the speedy gelding owned by Hayes Fair Acres Stable. The following day Scottish Pence racing under the colors of Castle Farms did it on two occasions. Pronto Don a trotter negotiated the distance in 1:59 4-5 while Scottish Pence, winner of the recent Nassau Two Mile event covered the distance twice in below two minute time with tours of 1:58 3-5 and 1:58 4-5.

There has been only one other two minute mile in a race this year and that was made by Jerry The First during the Santa Anita meeting sponsored by the Western Harness Racing Association.

New Counting System
Guy Crippen, veteran Wisconsin reinsman, who piloted Highland Ellen, classy pacing mare, in the recent Two Mile Nassau Pace over Roosevelt Raceway's half mile oval was asked how he kept account of the number of laps in the marathon event. Crippen, known for his quick wit and ready humor remarked, "I put four peas in my mouth at the start of the race and each time I passed the wire I spit one out, when I had only one left

I knew it was the last lap." Semi Retirement

Sep Palin, veteran harness reinsman hailing from Indianapolis and holder of the record along with Hugh (Doc) Parshall for driving "Two Minute Horses" has gone into semi retirement.

The cagey Sep, who for years outguessed and out drove the best, is tapering off by building an extensive farm program.

The Mary-Del Volunteer Fire Company is planning to hold its third annual carnival Thursday evening, Aug. 31, and extending to and including Labor Day, Sept. 4. On Friday evening at 7:30 p. m. there will be a parade in which fire companies and their auxiliaries will participate. On Saturday evening entertainment will be provided by Michael Lepore, a youth who has appeared on television programs and will shortly be included on Paul

Atkins, woodwork; Mrs. Doris Cohee, kindergarten; Miss Ethel Porter, primary; Misses Daneen McKelvey and Meryl Heinele, and Col. C. H. Thompson, recreation; Miss Dorothy Carman, assistant director; Mrs. L. H. Collison, music; Miss Janet Heather, assistant. The interior of the Ellendale Methodist Church is being redecorated. No services are being held during the month of August. The Ellendale Volunteer Fire Company received two awards in the parade held at Milton Friday evening—the most men in line and best appearance. The community is highly pleased with its fire company, comprised of a group who have their hearts in their work as termen. Neatly dressed in their dark blue, yellow striped uniforms and white gloves they have been loudly applauded and highly praised by citizens everywhere, as they marched in step in various parades since early spring. They have received many best appearance awards recently.

When you attend a firemen's parade we ask you to watch for the Ellendale boys. In any kind of competition some time and effort must be devoted towards preparedness in order to win. Our boys are being rewarded as they continue to receive awards. Congratulations, boys, on the awards you received Friday evening at the Milton Firemen's parade, marching, every man in step and representing only a small community—Ellendale!

THE IVORY TOWERS WILL REMAIN TENANTED

Senator Margaret Chase Smith, of Maine, told the Republican Convention, in her keynote speech, that the Republicans must tear down their ivory towers and get down to the level of the people if they expect to win again.

A sensible but impossible request. Too long have the ultra-ultra of the G. O. P. dwelt in ivory towers, gazing down upon the neat homes of the middle class in the valley. The stairway leading from one sector to the other is long, with many hazardous steps for unfamiliar feet.

We used to know a banker, a young man. His family was very wealthy and socially prominent. He was the boss, a small town dictator. He never smiled or even looked pleasant.

The bank collapsed during a depression. He had nothing left. He started out on the road as a salesman, but who would buy from an iceberg? He tried to change his personality and be genial, friendly fellow, but it was impossible. He died broke and almost friendless.

The ivory towers will remain. Alexander Hamilton, John Adams and the others were skilled craftsmen. They designed the ivory towers to stand for a long time—and they will stand—but their tenants will be fewer.

A writer to Westbrook Haggler's indigestible column is from Vermont and claims that state is the most patriotic one in the Union because not once has it voted other than Republican. We can refer him to any number of states where they've never voted Republican—and they're just as good—and as bad, as Vermont.

On the ocean side of the Belhaven Hotel at Rehoboth is a large sign proclaiming "Republican Headquarters Sussex County." A few feet under this sign is another, in smaller lettering: "Blarney Ball—Three Balls 10c." What a heck of a way to raise campaign funds!

One newspaper in its mention of the Republican Convention at Dover, said: "The cactus opened—." Did it mean cactus or caucus? There were several bristling verbal exchanges, so we're not sure that it was a typographical error.

One plank in the Republican platform called for "a complete reorganization of our state government in order that efficiency and economy in the administration of state affairs may be obtained." Not much tact was used in shaping this plank, for it's an admission that efficiency and economy have not been in effect in the past—and who has been in power for many, many years? These same Republicans. Why didn't they effect these reforms during their long period of complete domination? What makes us believe they would effect them if they were restored to power?

Start a rumor that green persimmons are scarce and a lot of people will buy up all the green persimmons in sight.

Where Clark Street intersects Route 13 many motorists, faced with a red light, cut in just below or above the light. This is as dangerous as crossing when the light is against you, and we're not sure that it isn't just as illegal.

We thought of Joe Stalin the other day. We would not, of our own wish, think of Joe, but something reminded us of him. The driver of a car had come to an intersection. The red light was against him. He had come to a complete stop, but kept edging up, probably expecting to get the jump on the light when it changed.

"Humid Horace," said the Gentleman from Sussex, "went into his favorite eatery—and drinkery—down at Rehoboth the other day. A bottle of V 8 tomato catsup stood on the table. Horace picked up the bottle and began to study it. The lower half of the 8 had been torn away—and Horace drank the contents of the bottle in one gulp. He then went down to the beach to collect shells, but came back without a single shell. 'A hermit crab,' he explained, 'all tired and covered with perspiration, came up out of the sea and complained that the housing shortage is more acute than ever. He had searched for days for a shell in which to make his home—and had found none. He then asked me to buy a nice roomy shell in Wilmington and send it down to him. It seems that the denizens of the deep are not manufacturing shells any more. It's a long, tiresome process and materials are scarce. So they've given up the manufacturing of sea shells and are using a plastic shell made by the DuPont Company.'"

September 1st Deadline For Entering Corn Yield Contest

September 1st is the deadline for corn growers to enter the 1950 Delaware 5-Acre Corn Yield Contest sponsored by the Delaware Crop Improvement Association and the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

The contest is designed to encourage interest in more efficient corn production and to encourage those farmers doing outstanding work along that line.

The only requirements for entering the contest are for a farmer to be a resident of the state and to be growing five acres or more of corn. Application blanks can be secured from anyone selling seed corn or from the County Extension Office.

County winners will receive a silver pitcher suitably inscribed and the state winner will receive a very lovely five-piece silver coffee set.

Every effort is being made to encourage farmers from all sections of the county to enter and emphasis is also being placed on securing entries from all of the different kinds of hybrids and open pollinated corn.

It is the feeling of those in charge of the contest that this will give a fair and impartial picture of the corn growing practices in the county.

Plan Farm Water Systems Carefully

If the farm family expects to get the most and best use from its farm water system it will have to consider pump capacity and pipe sizes, according to Wm. H. Henderson, County Agricultural Agent.

This is a point emphasized by the Delaware Extension Service workers when helping farm families with some building or remodeling plans. Technical help on such matters, incidentally, available to farm families through their county or home demonstration agent.

Before buying the water pump, it is best to determine the capacity is needed. The proper capacity, measured in gallons per hour, depends upon the amount of water needed each day.

A good rule to follow is to figure a two-hour daily running time for the pump. For example, suppose the water needed in your home, for livestock, and the garden or lawn, runs around 880 gallons per day. This figure divided by two (daily pump running time) gives a capacity of 440 gallons per hour for the pump.

Another estimate may be made on the basis of how many faucets or outlets there are going to be.

With one-half inch faucet wide open, it takes a pump capacity of 250 gallons per hour; for two faucets, 500 gallons per hour."

Farmington

J. F. Stackhouse had the misfortune of having his barn destroyed by fire. It was full of wheat, straw and hay, also seed wheat and rye.

Mrs. Lee Tindall spent the week end at Hack Point, Md. with her brother and sister-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. David Grant and her aunt are spending 3 weeks in their summer home.

The farmers are well pleased with their pepper crops as they have begun to ripen.

Sunset Boulevard at Reese Theatre Due For an Oscar

Everybody says the next Academy Award winner is Paramount's "Sunset Boulevard," which plays the Reese Theatre, located at Harrington, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 27, 28 and 29.

Never before has Hollywood produced a picture that has the mark of greatness so clearly imprinted on it, and it's doubtful that the effort ever will be duplicated.

"Sunset Boulevard" is the incredibly fascinating story of an aging silent movie queen. It might also be described as the story of Hollywood without maekup.

"Sunset Boulevard" would be a memorable film if only because it marks the return to the screen of Gloria Swanson.

During the run of the picture, patrons are asked to cast their vote relative to the eligibility of Gloria Swanson and "Sunset Boulevard" as an Academy Award entry. As you can expect, you will witness the most unusual picture ever made.

In "Treasure Island," Long John's raucous parrot echoes the heyday of raid and fight and high darning, along the Spanish Main with his shrill cry of "Pieces-of-eight, pieces-of-eight!"

Treasure Island comes to the New Milford Theatre Thurs., Fri. and Sat., Aug. 24, 25 and 26.

Complete Milking Ups Dairy Income

The expression of "good to the last drop" is an understatement insofar as milk is concerned. It's actually "better to the last drop" according to Delmar Young, extension dairy specialist at the University of Delaware.

The first milk drawn from the average cow is usually greatly lower in butterfat content than the last. For instance, in a Wisconsin experiment, the first quart tested only 1.4 per cent fat, and the fourth quart 4 per cent fat, and the strippings tested 7.6 per cent butterfat. The average of the complete output for one milking of this same animal was 3.3 per cent.

Thorough milking, Young points out, means more butterfat and more income for the farmer.

New Drive Enables Hammer Mill to Do More Work

Farmers can save time and fuel by using a new power take-off hammer mill, says William Calvert, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware. Power loss due to belt slippage is reduced to a minimum, he says.

Power is transmitted from the tractor by a conventional shaft which is coupled to a multiple V-belt drive attached directly to the hammer mill. This supplies enough power to produce the speed of 15,000 revolutions per minute which is necessary to pulverize feed. Because beltslippage and power loss are cut to a minimum, the speed of the machine is constant. Grinder capacity is increased as much as 50 per cent with the same power as before, Calvert points out.

Tractor Power Take-Offs Dangerous, Says County Agent

If you want to be here for another harvest season, keep your head up and think now says W. H. Henderson, county agent. Modern machinery has moving parts that can be dangerous. The power take-off, used in transmitting tractor power to other machines, is particularly dangerous if it is not shielded properly. This shield should be in place anytime the power take-off is in use.

There is no excuse for neglecting to use the shields now. The American Society of Agricultural Engineers has developed standard specifications for the power take-off shaft, master shield, and drawbar hitch point, says Wm. A. Calvert. Practically all manufacturers of farm machinery have adopted these standards for recent models of tractors and power implements. In addition, manufacturers have made it possible to convert most of the older tractors to the standard.

Summer Management Of Layers

High production in the laying flock is especially important in the late summer and early fall, when egg prices are highest. Getting summer eggs is largely a matter of keeping laying hens comfortable in hot weather, according to Wm. C. Sloan, Assistant County Agricultural Agent. Some ways to do this are as follows:

First, keep the birds cool. Insulate the roof. Cover with aluminum sheets, roll aluminum paint. Whitewash can be used as a temporary measure on a built-up roof. Open all windows and doors for ventilation. Open ventilation outlets or remove panels in the rear of the house. If no means for cross-ventilation are provided, cut openings in the rear of the house. Double doors at the ends of the house and removable panels in the partition walls allow good air circulation.

Second, provide plenty of cool, fresh, clean water. Use additional waterers on the floor in hot weather. Allow more floor space and roost space per bird.

Third, keep the birds eating. Reduce amount of grain, especially corn which produces heat and fat. Have some low feeders. Use supplementary feeds—pellets, wet mash, milk by-products, or feeding oil. Keep mash intake high.

Fourth, stimulate production by using artificial lights on old hens starting August 1.

Fifth, provide shade on range for pullets.

Inspector's Job: Part of an inspector's job in a sole tannery is to watch for "kiss marks"—white spots of untanned sole leather resulting when hides are in too close contact during submersion in tanning solutions.

Population in 1492: When Columbus arrived in 1492, the total Indian population of the North American continent was about 1,150,000. Of this number, 846,000 lived within the present boundaries of the United States.

The school lunch program in Delaware provided an expanded outlet for farm products last year. Farmers and distributors in Delaware received over $400,000 from the program.

This evidence of the value of the lunch program to Delaware's farmers was announced today by Ernest S. Mattiford, State Chairman of the production and Marketing Administration. It is based on preliminary reports from PMA's food distribution programs branch.

About 15,000 youngsters in Delaware's public and private schools ate noon meals under the National School Lunch Program during the last school year. This was a 10 per cent increase in the number of children reached by the program as compared with the 1948-1949 school year.

"In addition," said Mattiford, "Delaware school children received a large amount of surplus foods donated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Over 90 million pounds of such foods—acquired under the farm price support program of the Department—were distributed to Northeastern schools last year."

Four research workers from the University of Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station are taking part in the National Poultry Science Meeting at the University of Wisconsin, this week. E. F. Waller, head of the department of animal and poultry industry; T. D. Rannels, associate professor of poultry husbandry; A. F. Kish, instructor of poultry husbandry, all of Newark; and Kari C. Seegar, Associate professor of poultry husbandry stationed at Georgetown; are attending.

The five day meeting will feature talks by poultry research men from all over the country. Prof. Rannels will discuss the results of a Delaware research project comparing broccoli meal with soybean oil meal as protein supplements in poultry diets. He will also give the results of studies on feeding sulfaquinoxaline. Prof. Seegar will discuss research at the Delaware station on poultry disease control, and Instructor Kish will talk about a study on merchandising frying chickens.

County Agent Tells How To Have Cleaner Eggs

Clean eggs bring more money. Less work in cleaning will be required if most of the eggs are cleaned when gathered. Wm. C. Sloan, Ass't County Agricultural Agent outlines the following steps for poultrymen to produce cleaner eggs.

First, have deep, dry built-up litter so that the hens' feet will be clean and dry. Start to build up litter in the laying house as soon as the pullets are housed.

Second, use plenty of clean litter in the nests. Check weekly to clean out dirty litter and refill when necessary.

Third, use community nests—one 2x2 ft. section for every 75 to 90 laying hens. These nests will help you get cleaner eggs, with fewer eggs broken. Have wire platforms in front so that manure on hens' feet will drop there.

Fourth, collect eggs at least three times per day. If a hen does have dirty feet when she comes in the nest, there won't be as many eggs there to get soiled if they are gathered often. This will increase the quality of the eggs also.

After eggs are gathered, put them immediately in a cool, damp room to insure higher quality.

Mr. Sloan recommends that the following types of eggs should not be sold with the good eggs; cracked eggs; eggs with rough or porous shells, eggs too dirty to be easily cleaned, or eggs that are stained, and eggs that are off-color or tinted.

Animal Disease Control

German attempts to control animal diseases are reported as early as the eighteenth century. At this time, an epidemic of rinderpest was sweeping across western Europe causing heavy losses among cattle. Control measures included destruction. Between 1769 and 1773, 60,000 cattle were lost in this manner in Brandenburg Province alone.

done, she said, although Republicans in Congress were calling it "operation rathole." And all of the time that they were trying to shove every dollar off it that they possibly could the administration of President Truman was fighting to strengthen the hand of the South Korean government against Communist on the North.

She accused Congressman J. Caleb Boggs (R-Del) of "failing to support" aid to South Korea through the little ECA, adding that "he voted right along with Vito Marcantonio (American Labor Party congressman from New York)—strange company for Mr. Boggs."

Mrs. Edwards commended the administration of Gov. Elbert N. Carvel for making it possible through appointments for "so many women to share in public life."

Carvel Hails Party
Governor Carvel hailed the "enthusiastic participation" in public affairs which the Democrats have inspired in "citizens interested in the Welfare of our State."

He said the Republican charge that the administration has about $18,000,000 in borrowed funds "lying idle" is wrong as to the figures, citing the recent state financial report.

The Governor said the administration's actions in borrowing at one time, the full amount of money needed for projects adopted by the Legislature, has actually saved the taxpayers "many hundreds of thousands of dollars in interest."

This action was taken on the advice of bond counsel and of bankers both of Delaware and New York, he pointed out. He said the bond issue was floated in advance of a large number of issues known to be coming onto the bond market.

Calls Interest Low
"The result was that the Delaware issue was sold at a low interest rate of 1.35 per cent," he said.

"This issue included money for refunding bond issues," he continued, "which the previous administration could have refunded years before at lower interest rates. This refunding operation saved the state between $100,000 and $120,000."

Thomas Cooch, delegate's choice for attorney-general, charged the Republican proposal advocating a separate state supreme court has a "trapdoor."

"It does not commit the GOP to final passage of the supreme court bill, approved by the last General Assembly," he said.

Planks Contrasted
He contrasted the separate supreme court planks in the platforms of both parties and termed the GOP plank "ambiguous."

"He charged that the court plank in the GOP platform was written by the state chairman of the party. "He had an attorney's care in choosing his language when he wrote this particular plank," Mr. Cooch said.

In pre-convention caucus, Wilmington's delegation again met in its attempt to increase its strength by 15 members. The proposal was rejected by the resolutions committee and although the committee brought it to the floor, the convention took no action. John M. Conway, city chairman, urged passage of the proposal.

The Kent delegation elected Charles A. Neugebauer, Clayton, Milton Hopkins, Vernon, and Wilbert Rawley, Leipsic, members-at-large of the state committee, and three women members-at-large: Mrs. Leonard Covell, Maryland; Mrs. Jeanette Betts Dodd, Frederica, and Mrs. Daniel J. Sullivan, Dover.

Members of the state committee from Kent County by virtue of their party posts are: Mrs. James H. Hughes, Dover, national committee woman; J. Gordon Smith, Dover, senatorial committeeman; Mr. Boyce, county chairman; and Mrs. Belle Everett, Kenton, assistant county chairman.

State committee members from the five senatorial districts elected are: First, George M. Blendt and Mrs. Margaret Paradee; Second, Charles G. Moore and Mrs. Loretta Clark; Third, Howard E. Lynch; Fourth, Ernest Killen and Mrs. Evelyn Cabbage; Fifth, J. Harry Latchum and Mrs. Estelle Brittingham.

The Kent caucus unanimously endorsed the candidacy of Mr. Boyce, county chairman, for reelection as state treasurer.

Ferguson Backed
The Sussex caucus, held earlier than the other three, took action only on the insurance commissioner post, backing Mr. Ferguson. Capt. Edgar Quillen of Laurel, who was mentioned earlier as a candidate for the post, reportedly withdrew in favor of Mr. Ferguson.

Sixteen men and women were named by the caucus to be elected as the Sussex County members of the Democratic State Committee. They are, by senatorial districts: First district, James M. Russell and Constance M. Barto; second, Henry E. Kostner and Mrs. Kitty Ingram; third, J. Reese White, Jr. and Lt. Col. Nan Campbell; fourth, John H. Edward Maul and Mrs. Mildred Tunnell; at-large, James

M. Tunnell, Sr., Houston Wilson, Arthur Webb, Mrs. Doris Hastings, Mrs. Rodney Wilson and Miss Mae Kenney.
The Sussex delegates recommended the nomination of State Auditor Baker.
Norris Graham, Fred C. Bailey, and Jehu Camper were delegates to the convention from the Ninth District, with Hattie Thomas, Emily Killen, and Virginia Holloway as alternates.

Few Negroes Are Expected To Enroll At University

Plans are being made at the University of Delaware for the admission of colored students to any school of the university following the recent decision of the Chancery Court, according to Dr. Allan P. Colburn, acting president of the university. "The university administration has been requested by Judge Hugh M. Morris, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, to comply in full with the court decision. Up to the present time, colored students have been able to enter the School of Engineering, the Graduate School, the summer session, and extension courses, since these courses were not available at the Delaware State College.

"Under the new ruling, colored students will be admitted to all courses, which include, in addition to Engineering, courses in Home Economics, Arts and Sciences, Education, and Agriculture. These students will have to meet the same entrance requirements and will have to maintain the same academic standards required of all other students in order to continue in residence. This ruling, as well as the ruling two years ago which admitted Negroes to the Graduate Division and the School of Engineering, applies only to residents of the state of Delaware."

At a recent meeting of the Committee on Admissions, the machinery for handling new applications was developed and it was understood that they would be processed exactly as all other applications to the university.

The ruling of the Court of Chancery to the effect that the University of Delaware cannot bar Negroes from admission, is expected to have little effect upon the enrollment at Delaware State College, according to the following statement issued by Dr. Oscar J. Chapman, president of State College:

"Since the Vice Chancellor Collins J. Seitz, of the Court of Chancery ruled on August 9, 1950, that the University of Delaware cannot legally bar Negroes of this state from its undergraduate school, several people, including members of our faculty and student body, have asked me this fundamental question: 'What effect will this court decision have upon the enrollment of Delaware State College?'"
