

Democratic State Committee Re-elected

All officers of the Democratic State Committee were re-elected at an enthusiastic and harmonious meeting of the committee held in the Legislative Building, at Dover, Monday evening. The members of the committee were chosen at the recent Democratic State Convention.

The officers re-elected were: Chairman, Secretary of State Harris B. McDowell, Jr., of Middletown; vice-chairman, Mrs. Anne Maher, of Wilmington; secretary, Mrs. Mary Cahalan, of Wilmington; and treasurer, Magistrate Charles A. Neugebauer, of Clayton.

In accepting the office of chairman, Mr. McDowell delivered a short address in which he said in part: "There has been no attempt on the part of a few persons to control the affairs of the Democratic Party and because of that policy the party can go forward."

"Because the Democratic Party is the party of the people, I feel that the voters of the State of Delaware will show confidence in the leadership of the Democratic Party and that we will have victories at the polls in 1950 and 1951."

Mrs. Maher urged women to be exceptionally active in this campaign and take the message of democracy and the party's program for the people into the homes.

Gov. Elbert N. Carvel, who was present at the meeting, congratulated the members of the committee on their selection of officers and paid tribute to the work of Mr. McDowell as state chairman.

Lieut.-Gov. Alexis I. duPont Bayard commented on the spirit of harmony within the ranks of the committee, which he said indicated that individual members of the Democratic Party can be big enough to subordinate individual desires to get across a program by the party that is very much worthwhile.

Former Senator James M. Tunney, Sr., urged the committee members to take the Democratic program to the people since the things that are still needed must come from the Democratic Party if the people are to be benefited.

Lewes Museum Open Monday

The Zwaanendael Museum at Lewes will be open to the public on Monday, Sept. 4, for the Labor Day weekend visitors in this resort area, it was announced yesterday by the curator, Miss Catherine C. Maull. While the museum is open other week-days and Sundays, it is normally closed on Mondays. The visiting hours will be those of the usual week days, 10 to noon, and from 1:30 to 5:30 p. m., and on Sundays from 12:30 to 5:30.

Approximately 1,686 persons visited the museum during July, the first month of the new fiscal year, the curator reports. There have been nearly 1,600 so far this month, with 167 tourists visiting the museum one day recently.

For the Labor Day and early fall visitors many new relics have been added. Mrs. G. Clifton Maull Jr., has lent a rare Sandwich glass cup plate, and a glass bread tray commemorating The Lord's Supper. Mrs. Percy Vickers' loan is an Apostle jug made by John Ridgway in 1830, bearing the molded figures of the twelve Apostles. The museum's permanent collection includes an Apostle teapot.

Mrs. William T. Spooner of Lewes has placed in the museum for an indefinite loan a Richard Pryor Farmer's Arms Jug, circa 1790. These "Arms" jugs were made for the various trade guilds of London.

A pair of glazed china vases, said to be "snuff jars" were lent by Miss Ella B. Twilley of Lewes. Some authorities believe that they may be cologne bottles, as almost similar pieces in the Chester County Historical Society's museum in West Chester are marked "cologne bottles" made by Thomas E. Tucker, an American potter, who had pottery works in Philadelphia around 1830. An interesting Godey's Lady's Book, published in 1850, has been lent to the museum by Mrs. Henry R. Higgins of Rehoboth Beach.

Railroad News

The flat lands of the Delmarva division are again being used as proving grounds for bigger and better equipment. The test train we have seen through town the past few days is making high speed braking tests between Greenwood and Bridgeville.

Notices put out by Supt. Goodfellow regarding the operation of the train are as follows: The Budd Company, of Philadelphia, will begin to run a Special Test Train consisting of K. 4, S engine, 2 P-70 coaches and the Budd Research car, between Wilmington and Seaford; test to be known as "Resilient Wheel Test."

Test train will run 2 or 3 weeks. The first day of operation Tuesday, August 22, 1950.

Tests will be made at various speeds, ranging from 20 to 70 MPH, between Wilmington and Seaford. On certain days train will operate Wilmington to Harrington and then make Breakaway test between MP 73 and MP 76. Test Department Representative Wertz will advise what test to be made each day.

Train will operate turnaround service, Wilmington-Seaford. Engine and Train crew to be ordered Turnaround Service.

Engine crew report and get engine at Edgemoor, pick up train at Wilmington Shop.

Conductor and one brakeman to report at Edgemoor and get train at Wilmington Shop.

Division engineer will furnish crossing flagmen at grade crossings between MP 73 and 76 on days that the Breakaway tests are made.

Assistant Road Foreman of Engines or Special Duty Engineer to accompany engine during these tests.

Train will leave Wilmington Shop 9:04 AM, Wilmington Station 9:50 AM, operate to Seaford where train will be turned and take lunch, then make straight run to Wilmington. On days that Breakaway tests are conducted, train will make straight run to Harrington, clear for 455, when permissible proceed South on No. 2 track, cut one car off South of the Fair Ground Crossing and proceed to MP 73 where the Breakaway tests will be made, after tests train will back to rear car, couple and move back to the Interlocking, turn train on Wye at Harrington and proceed North.

Close to 1100 attended the picnic at Cape Charles last Sunday, 800 riding the special train and the rest coming by car, bus and boat from Norfolk and the lower end of the peninsula.

The popularity of this annual event has increased by leaps and bounds since its inauguration by Superintendent Goodfellow three years ago and from all indications will require two trains, two boats and an extension on the dock next year.

Everybody had a good time and came away happy after meeting old friends under such pleasant surroundings and seeing good entertainment on the boat which made a three-hour cruise down the bay past the new Kiptokee dock.

The holder of the lucky number for the door prize was trackman Rosco Crawford. Other prize winners were as follows:

Oldest employe of Delmarva Division, retired passenger conductor John Sturgis, 84.

Youngest child, Virginia Johns, 4 months, daughter of trackman. Largest family attending, freight conductor John Porter, 6.

Employe traveling farthest, passenger conductor Howard West from Washington, D. C.

Popcorn and soft drinks were passed out on the train.

Wayne Barry, professional snare drummer and accordion player, entertained on the train and boat.

Wayne was also master of ceremonies for the floor show in the main saloon on the Elisha Lee steamer, which included Miss DeMarco, accomplished tap dancer and sand painting artist, Jack Palmer, musical comedy, and Marie Capri, singer. The troupe was in charge of Art Cliffords, pianist.

Ed Zacharias formerly of these parts, now stationed at Freedom, Pa., on the Eastern Division near Pittsburgh, has been spending his vacation here and along the water front. Zack was not having much luck fishing until Ernie Home-luck set him straight on the tide. He says all he has learned about

Felton Schools To Open Sept. 6

Three Faculty Changes Made; Building Renovation Extensive

Classes of the Felton Schools will open the 1950-51 school year Wednesday, Sept. 6, with teachers reporting the previous day for faculty meetings and preparation for receiving pupils.

The introduction of vocational agriculture into the curriculum has necessitated the employment of an additional teacher. Mr. Ralph P. Barwick, honor graduate of this year's University of Delaware class, will instruct the vocational agriculture classes and also teach junior high school science. During the past summer he has visited the homes of his students and conferred with them regarding plans for the coming year. Mr. Barwick is a native of Greenwood and achieved an excellent record in the School of Agriculture at the University of Delaware.

Miss Elsie Clark will replace Mrs. Barbara Warrington as teacher of high school English and will also inaugurate a remedial reading program and direct school publications and dramatics. Miss Clark has had 25 years experience in these fields in both public and private schools. She holds a Master of Arts degree from New York University.

Miss Betty Lou Rinehart will instruct home economics classes in the junior and senior high schools, replacing Mrs. Virginia C. Harrington. Miss Rinehart was graduated from Drexel Institute last June with a Bachelor of Science degree in home economics.

Building renovations during the summer include installation of Sloan flush valves in all lavatories; painting of halls, auditorium, lavatories, nurses and faculty rooms; installing acoustical ceilings in the second floor hall and two classrooms, and refinishing the gymnasium floor.

Beginning pupils who were not registered last May and new pupils who have moved into the district are urged to register at the school office prior to the opening day of school.

Church of Nazarene To Dedicate School Annex

The Church of the Nazarene of Harrington announces that Sunday at 2:45 p. m. it will dedicate a new Sunday School annex. This annex will take care of five departments with equipment necessary for each department.

The speaker will be the Rev. E. E. Grosse, Hanover, Pa., district superintendent for this district of the Church of the Nazarene. Special singing will be furnished by a girl's trio from Wilmington.

The Rev. John (Daddy) Donaldson, pastor of the local church 25 years ago, will be present. The Rev. Donaldson will also remain over for the 7:45 p. m. services and be the speaker for the evening.

James Anderson

James Henry Anderson, 84, died at his home on Dorman Street, Harrington, early Saturday morning after a few weeks illness.

Charles H. Wagner

District Governor Visits Rotary Club

The philosophy of Rotary is far older than the Christian era, declared District Governor Charles Wagner, of Camden, N. J., on the occasion of his official visit to the Harrington Rotary Club Tuesday night. He quoted the ancient Greek philosopher, Aristotle, who lived some three centuries before Christ, who described true happiness as the employment of one's moral, physical and mental powers to help others.

Some men, said the speaker, when they die leave their wealth almost where they found it—and are forgotten, while others, though not the possessors of wealth, live in the hearts of the people because they gave tirelessly and unselfishly of their time and their talents for the betterment of their fellowmen.

In Bradford, England, prior to World War II, an English non-Rotarian said to Mr. Wagner: "Although I regret to say so, another war is on the way and will be here soon. Although I am not a Rotarian, I'm glad that you are, for organizations such as Rotary, world-wide in their scope of activities and understanding, can accomplish more than any other agencies. Business men, each granting a concession here and there as they do in business, are better fit than the so-called statesmen to bring peace to the world."

Cancer Center at Georgetown

Appointments are now being made for free cancer detection examinations to be given at the Georgetown Health Center on September 8 and 22 it was announced today by Dr. John F. W. King, Medical Director of the Delaware Cancer Detection Centers.

The centers offer free specialized examinations for the detection of early cancer in women who presume they are entirely well. Appointments for examinations at these centers may be made by calling Georgetown 2319.

The examinations are designed to find early cancer even before symptoms discernible to the patient have appeared, it was explained by Dr. King who said that when cancer is discovered early the chances for cure are extremely high. The Delaware Division, American Cancer Society recommend that women 35 years of age and over—who are the only ones eligible for the examination—make appointments twice a year for cancer detection examinations at the Centers or through their own physician.

Delaware Colony Is Crowded

The Commission for Delaware Colony has been conducting a survey of all cottages at the Institution at Stockley to determine the available space for beds in an effort to provide for as many as possible of the eligible applicants on the waiting list. Some of the applicants are in urgent need of institutional care.

Howard T. Ennis, the superintendent, pointed out to the members at the last meeting that the beds in the cottage wards are only 15 inches apart which allows just enough space for a small chair between each bed. In one cottage the beds are so close together that the patient has a chair at the foot of the bed, space between the beds not being sufficient for a chair. Ennis advised the commission that the classification plan consists of male and female, white and colored, idiots, imbeciles and morons, old and young and that further classification is applied to behavior problems, those with different degrees of neurosis, psychotic tendencies, etc. This results in over-crowding in some classifications and a waiting list, while in other classifications, there may be unoccupied beds, but the proper classification is essential for the health and welfare of the patients. Others are absent with permission on probation in their own homes, or in other approved homes.

The monthly population report shows the enrollment to be 468. (The following changes have occurred since the last report) two new admissions, one returned from A. W. P. and one home placement.

The plant for pasteurizing milk is completed and operating. The colony herd is producing about 450 quarts of milk per day. The aim being to produce a quart of milk per day per patient.

Members of the commission expressed themselves as being pleased with the condition of the institution and with the progress being made in the care and training of the children.

Boys' Crusade For Freedom

Willard B. Boyce, chairman of "Crusade For Freedom," urgedly requests all Delawareans tune to the national radio hookup Monday at 11 p. m., carrying the formal opening of the national campaign for the crusade. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will speak from Denver to the American public urging the co-operation of everyone in the fight against Communism. Plans are being made to solicit volunteer workers in Delaware to man stations, which will be set up in various public places to allow everyone the opportunity to join this great movement.

Mr. Boyce states that this is the first opportunity where the individual can join with their government in making a contribution toward the fight against our great enemy, Communism. Symbol of the "Crusade For Freedom" is a large bell that will soon tour the country. The Freedom Bell, Mr. Boyce states, will probably be the Liberty Bell of the world.

The national committee for a Free Europe Incorporated has been on the air several months broadcasting to these millions of people. Exile religious and political leaders, who have been fortunate enough to escape, have been working with the committee in arranging daily broadcasts.

The Freedom Bell after touring America will be placed at a site at the Templehof Airdrome in Berlin. The scrolls will be collected and placed in the foundation of the Freedom Bell.

Headquarters for the "Crusade For Freedom" are located at the American Legion Building, South State Street, Dover.

Mr. Boyce states that his various committees are being set up and that the names will be made public soon.

Truman Nominates Killen Revenue Collector For Delaware District

He Will Succeed Norman Collison, Bridgeville; Post Pays $9000; May Take Post in October

The nomination of Ernest E. Killen, 36, for Collector of U. S. Internal Revenue for the District of Delaware, was announced last week. Mr. Killen, a feed dealer and broiler raiser, is a member of the Kent County Democratic Committee and is Democratic committeeman for the Ninth Representative District.

Mr. Killen, whose name was recommended to the President for the appointment by U. S. Senator J. Allen Frear, Jr., said this week he would probably assume the duties of the position in Wilmington next month.

He will succeed Norman Collison, of Bridgeville, who has been collector for the District of Delaware for seven years. The position pays $9000 a year and the district has 76 employes, most of them in offices occupying most of the third floor of the Wilmington Post Office Building.

Mr. Killen was born near Felton and attended Felton schools and Goldey College. He resides on Delaware Avenue, Harrington, and operates a feed business near the fairgrounds and raises broilers near town. He is married to the former Miss Emily Schwartz, of near Farmington. Previous to going into the feed business, Mr. Killen was in the life insurance business 12 years.

He is a member of Harrington Lions, a director of Harrington Building & Loan Association, and a former president of the Harrington Better Business Association.

Mr. Collison was appointed to the post by the late President Roosevelt in July, 1943, to succeed James H. Latchum, of Milford. He is a former member of the Industrial Accident Board and has been active in Democratic politics in Sussex County for many years.

NO JUVENILE DELINQUENTS

Back on the debating team at the old-time academy, we had this subject one night: "Resolved that Heredity Is A Greater Influence Than Environment." We represented the affirmative—and lost—not, we are convinced, because our speech was less eloquent and less logical than that of the negative, but because the son of highly respected parents had that day been convicted in circuit court for the heinous offense of fishing on Sunday!

Today we hear, over and over, the band and misleading statement: "There are no delinquent juveniles—only delinquent adults." This is the rankest sophistry ever uttered.

This has been brought into focus by "Mr. District Attorney" of radio fame who, the other night as a guest on another program, gave utterance to the same thought.

No juvenile delinquents? Have you had little hellions deliberately break your windows, puncture your automobile tires, tear up your property, steal your chickens—after the kids had sneaked down from their bedroom windows by means of improvised ropes—and their parents, in rooms below, thought they were asleep?

We've seen parents give their children every care—and some of the children turned out to be heels. We've seen kids whose parents were nothing to brag about emerge from sordid surroundings to become truly great. Kids born on the wrong side of the railroad tracks have built bigger railroads than their home town ever knew. Children born and reared in sordid squalor are listed among the immortals, while others with backgrounds of decency, listen to Arthur Godfrey and read Westbrook Pegler. Know your history—and recant!

We still believe that environment is the greater influence—but heredity has a mighty pull. Don't ever come to Harrington and say that heredity means nothing; Harrington, where everyone from three years to one hundred and three can tell you the pace of the horse ridden by Lady Godiva and the speed of the steed ridden by Tam O'Shanter. Don't come into Harrington and say: "This is a farm hoss, one of the best plow hosses in the world. For generations his ancestors have been good plow hosses—but the tractor has put him out of a job—and I want you to let him associate with your best harness hosses for a year or two, and he'll be one of the fastest harness hosses in all the world."

Say this, and stock to it—and we'll give you one of the most beautiful obituaries we've ever published.

COURTESY—AND CLAMS

Usually these two are not associated, but they were last Friday at Wildwood, N. J. A clam is a strange critter, an isolationist, more or less, who cares nothing for publicity and shuts up on any and all occasions. His number is numerous along any fringe of the seashore, but as scarce as an orange without the "Color Added" label at any shore resort restaurant—if you like them steamed.

We had come up from Cape May for steamed clams. Some well meaning person sent us to Lou Booth's. Lou had a lot of other things, but no steamed clams. Then a kid told us that we could find plenty of them at Karl's, in North Wildwood. We inquired of a bus driver and he told us he went by Karl's place. He let us off at a place where they sold nothing but raw fish, away up in Anglesea. The fish dealer told us that Karl operated down at the other end of the island, several miles away, but he wasn't sure that Karl served steamed clams.

Finally, we went to the Public Information booth on the boardwalk and told them that we craved clams all "steamed up." The two very pleasant and efficient ladies in charge of the booth smilingly told us that they would see if they could get a response to our yearning. They began to phone. There must be a lot of seafood places in Wildwood, for they kept phoning for a long time. They didn't find any place serving steamed clams, but they gave us something to remember in the way of conscientious effort.

We hadn't eaten in many, many hours, and weak from hunger we limped toward the bus station. Then we noticed a small clam bar, the Town Square Stand, at Atlantic and Shellinger Avenue, and in weakened tones told the attendant of our fruitless quest for the elusive steamed clams. "I will prepare them for you, sir," he politely replied. "My boss tells me to let no one leave this stand until he is satisfied—if that is humanly possible—and to go all out to satisfy him."

Within a few minutes steamed clams, as tempting and delectable as anything ever served by Escoffier, were placed before us. We ate—and ordered more—and more—and more!

To Edith Gallagher and Phylis Rode, of the Information, Bureau of the City of Wildwood, N. J.; to Eddie Carney, in charge of the Town Square Clam Bar, to Eddie's "boss," whose name we neglected to obtain—but who must be the right kind of man—a former clam-hungry stranger humbly expresses his appreciation.

THE HARRINGTON JOURNAL SPONSORS CHANNEL SWIM

This paper is sponsoring a swim across the Atlantic from Cape May to Lewes.

A Wildwood, N. J., paper, likewise, is sponsoring such a swim. It's contest, scheduled for two weeks ago, was postponed because a tropical hurricane, gamboling somewhere in the South Atlantic, created a rough sea between Cape May and Rehoboth. When our man gets ready for the swim, no tropical hurricane, no matter how intense, can stop him.

The swimmer we have selected for this prodigious effort is no other than the redoubtable Truthful James—not from Table Mountain. He is being trained and coached by the Gentleman from Sussex and the Cynical Old Cuss from Claymont, both of whom have qualified for this high honor by making non-stop, round-trip swims across the broad expanse of Jackson's Ditch.

No definite date has been set for the swim, but when our man feels that he is ready to go—he'll go—and succeed. Complete details will appear in next week's issue of the Journal.

U. S. Senator John J. Williams complains that pressure groups are behind much of the voting in congress, that many of the members yield to this pressure because of the big power of said groups. We agree with Senator Williams' statement. The urge to survive, whether economic or political, dominates most of the human race. We would remind Senator Williams that he introduced several amendments to the price control bill now before congress. We find no fault with these amendments, as we consider them good ones inasmuch as they seek to protect the broiler industry in Delaware. However, we would remind Mr. Williams that the broiler industry is a pressure group and that he himself is a broiler raiser and a broiler feed dealer.

In the "Letters To The Editor" department of a newspaper last week, a writer came out for universal military training. He cited the case of mountainous Switzerland where universal training is responsible for a standing army of 500,000. This, the writer asserts, explains why Switzerland is never invaded. A better answer would be that Switzerland has nothing of enough value to justify conquest. About the only things the country produces are watches, cheese, yodels and echoes—and who would go to war for these things?

Letter to the Editor KAPITAL KOMENT

Dear Folks: You no I tole you I had sum more news bout that convenshun of ourn an sinc then I heard a lot more.

Maybe you heard too that Boss Harvey and his folks wanted Uncle Bill to run agin for his job but the Big folks from Wilmington they wanted sumpin else an got it as usual.

An too they wanted Ed for the lawyer and they just didn't git nuttin like it soze they wuz a smilin and bowin an shakin hans till they busted up an went home but a lot of you folks no Boss Harvey.

Now you recoilect last sesshun of them law makers that big man, with perty brown eyes and black hare, what runs sum farms an has im a factory er sumpin down to Cannon er sum place clos by, he wanted to be what that woman wuz in the Senate an we had a site of trouble mongst our side to get goin an atter all there talk them Democrats just razed . . . an put a brick under one corner of it an the durn brick wuz on its end an we ain't got it out yit.

I went over to my naybor's tother evenin an we wuz atalkin bout this er doin an he sed you be just rite Joe caus I heard yesterday how that same man be still perty mad bout the hull doins an on top of it all he is helpin a big lot with monie an all to fite that woman just bout ever way he can do it on the are and I specs at the lection on Saturday. Then he sed sumpin bout everbody a preechin piece an harmyin an what hav you an now I heard he be goin to fite that truckin man from Milford what wuz cumin for Senator an it be the folks over there's turn to lect a Senator. I tell you Joe we just ain't got the rite folks ruin our show. I tole you just before them Democrats pulled that fast un if this here same feller an that Skule Board feller wuzn't so conuntry they'd wuz kinda pulled up open urn an we want to here what Boss Franks stooge will hav to say bout the hole thing an he sed it'll all be in the Journal.

I red this over to Emmy an she sed Joe. "I be wonderin fer a spell bout these here papers. Pears to me I heard how the Journal wuz kinda of a non partisan paper but it seems to me that air paper is a site like that tow what Mar the red bout to us one time, way up high up butt don't fall down. Nobody seems to no what holes it up caus the stable of equi sumpin is off kelter an I think the Journal be just like that tow, it leans perty hevie on our side butt that's the way our folks up to tenth an Market wants it I spoz."

Anernias just cum in an sed, "Joe they've dun it shor null, they've dun beet that woman for fare. Didn't you hear it of the radio?" Now our radio ain't a play-in soz I didn't heer nuttin bout the primaries.

My naybor set a spell and then he begun talkin sum more bout what that air man what sells groceries down to Dover sed over the air a while back bout Jim Collins an his licker store down to Woodside ceptin it is at Willer Grov stead of Woodside, now just bout everbody round Dover arter be happy seein as how Hays and Jim got em a job dun maybe an Jim Collins he be living in sum other deestricst now butt he wuz back home workin agin that woman. We heard they even had Mr. Tue he's sorter cheerman er sumpin of there gang over in the same deestricst out a haulin voters to the places an we heard that feller on the air on Kapital Komment wuz a sayin he hoped the Democrats wud keep out of these doins.

Ain't lov grand butt in politicks you git sum of the quarest lovin from your friends.

I'll tell ye bout our conflag this Sunday on there platform next week.
