The Harrington Journal Pace Won By Flo While Mont Wins Both Heats of Wonder Bar Trot

Rainmakers are not needed around Harrington: all one needs to do is to schedule a harness meet. Rain cut the spring meet short five nights and played havoc with the meet last fall.

The Kent & Sussex Racing Association scheduled the present fall meet approximately earlier than last year, and still rain.

As the Journal goes to press, we have had just two nights' racing since the meet opened Friday night. Saturday night's session was canceled at the last moment. By dint of much work on the track races were held Tuesday night. A wet track also prevented racing Wednesday night.

Work to Start Next Month On Elementary School In Harrington

Expansion Program Includes Enlargement of Gymnasium Facilities; School to Cost $339,000

Parking Prohibited On East Side Of West Street

The City Council, at its regular monthly meeting Monday night, voted unanimously to prohibit parking on the east side of newly blacktopped West Street. Signs will also be erected calling attention to the speed limit, 25 miles an hour in town.

It was disclosed at the meeting that the State Highway Department, responsible for the construction and maintenance of West Street, is planning to seed the sides of the street in grass.

The Council also agreed to secure prices on blacktopping Short and High Streets, Liberty Street as far as Dickerson Street, and re-topping of South Street.

Alderman Frank O'Neal reported $190 in fines collected last month.

Parker to Run For Levy Court

William F. Parker, of Burrsville, will run on the Republican ticket for Levy Court commissioner from the second Levy court district, it was announced last week. His opponent, on the Democratic ticket, will be Amos Minner, operator of a grocery store at Masten's Corner.

Construction will begin next month on a new $339,000 one-story brick elementary school in Harrington, and on an enlargement of existing gymnasium facilities to meet community needs.

Details of the structure to be built adjoining the present High School were disclosed today by J. C. Messner, superintendent of the school district, and by Walter Carlson, Wilmington architect who worked with the school board in planning the expansion program.

Bids on the project are due Oct. 4, and work is expected to get under way by mid-October, for completion in time for the 1951 fall school term.

The gymnasium project may be completed before that, it was pointed out, to provide urgently-needed space for activities of both students and townspeople.

One side of the existing gymnasium will be knocked out to make way for the enlarged facilities to include bleacher seats for 200 spectators; showers and locker rooms for boys and girls; separate offices for instructors of both groups; and an equipment storage room.

The proposed new school will be a far cry from the building now in use by Harrington students.

Present School Built in 1912 At the present time the lower classes of 373 pupils meet in a 38-year-old, two-story brick structure which has no shower or locker rooms, and where the cafeteria is actually the basement boiler room.

Plans for the new classroom wing show 14 rooms, each measuring 28 by 31 feet, with daylight admitted on both sides. Each of the six lower grade rooms will have individual toilet facilities, and eight other classrooms will be provided with two central toilets.

One of the most practical factors about the Harrington school, and most of the others now being planned under the state board's program, is the element of future expansion which is always considered.

At Harrington, for example, the superintendent and architect made an extensive study and decided to build at the north end of the present high school and remodel the present elementary building into a (Continued on page 8)

Farm Short Course Offers New Courses

Practical use of modern weed killers and hormones offered in 1950 term.

An announcement from the University of Delaware horticulture department reports that there will be a new course on "Weed Killers and Growth Regulators of Horticultural Crops" offered at Farm Short Course this fall.

This course is designed to give students detailed and up-to-date information on chemical weed control in vegetable crops, the use of hormones in fruit setting, retarding dormancy, blossom thinning, and the rooting of cuttings," says E. P. Brasher, head of the horticulture department. Professor E. M. Rahn will teach the course. Rahn has done extensive research in this field using both contact and hormone type weed killers.

"Small and Garden Fruits," taught by Chester W. Hitz, is another horticulture course offered for the first time. For commercial and home gardeners, the course includes production and management practices of all small fruits grown in Delaware and vicinity, plus the use of dwarf trees.

These and other courses on vegetable production for the canner and fresh market, soil fertility, and insect and disease control, are open to horticulture majors, and as electives to other students at the short course.

The second annual Farm Short Course begins November 13. Students can choose from courses in dairy, poultry, crops, livestock, farm business, and farm machinery. Experts in the various fields from the school of agriculture, experiment station, and extension staffs will teach the classes. The short course is open to men and women 17 years old and over, from Delaware and other states, who are interested in practical training in agriculture. Catalogs and application blanks are available from W. C. Skoglund, Agricultural Short Course Office, University of Delaware, Newark, Del.

"Is Farm a Way of Life?" will be the theme of this year's conference. Delegates will lead the discussions and talks by Paul Johnson, editor of Prairie Farmer, Allen Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Professor Robert Clark of Cornell University's department of rural sociology, and others will highlight the sessions.

In addition, there will be workshops in recreation, folk dancing, weaving, song leading, parliamentary procedure, plus ample time for fun and fellowship for delegates, Miss Lee says. Reservations may be made at the national headquarters of the organization in Marietta, Ohio.

Rural Youth of the U. S. A. is a national conference of young people interested in the betterment of rural life. It is composed of older youth who are out of high school and now active in local rural communities or in college. Many of the young persons have grown up in 4-H Clubs, F. F. A. chapters, church youth groups, the Grange, junior farm organizations, rural Scouts or other rural community groups.

Your New Social Security Queries Answered

Questions relating to Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance will be answered in this paper or by mail. Address all queries to Social Security Administration, Custom House, 6th & King Sts., Wilmington, Delaware.

Q. Does the amount of the insurance payment depend on a worker's earnings?
A. Yes. The law in effect up to September 1950 also counted the number of years of employment and will continue to be used in many cases. Where the old system of figuring benefits is used, the benefit will be increased by a table given in the new law. Beginning in July 1952, the formula given in the new law will be used where it will result in a higher payment.

Q. How much will benefits be under the new law?
A. When the benefit formula in the new law is used, the old-age benefit amount will be 1/2 of the average monthly wage for persons with an average monthly wage of $100 or less. For those whose wages average between $100 and $300, the benefit amount will be between 1/2 and 3/4 of the average monthly wage. A newly retired worker who is entitled to payments will get at least $20 even if his average monthly wage is less than $40.

Q. What is the amount of the social security tax?
A. Until the end of 1953 the amount will be 1 1/2% each for employer and employee. The rate will then be 2% from 1954 to 1959, 2 1/2% from 1960 to 1964, 3% from 1965 to 1969, and 3 1/2% after 1969.

Scholarship to Krewatch, Outstanding 4-H'er

Robert Krewatch, 18, of Delmar, has just been announced as the winner of the $300 Allis-Chalmers 4-H scholarship for Delaware, says Miss Mary Jean Lee, state 4-H Club leader.

Robert, a member of Delmar Little Oaks Club, has completed over 20 projects in nine years of club work. He was named one of the two most outstanding members in Sussex County in 1947 and received an all-expense trip to the 1947 National Club Congress. In 1949 he was named state winner of the National 4-H Garden program. His six acres of garden supplied the Krewatch family with vegetables the year round, and helped out a neighboring family of displaced Europeans. He has also experimented with new tested varieties of seeds.

Engineering is Robert's choice of a major for his studies at the University of Delaware this September.

Livestock Parasites A Million Dollar Risk

Worms and bugs are still outsmarting men in many instances, according to the American Veterinary Medical Association, says Delmar J. Young, extension dairyman at the University of Delaware.

In a multi-million dollar game of hide and seek with livestock parasites, men are coming out second best most of the time.

Mr. Young quotes R. D. Turk, of Texas A. & M., as saying that parasites are still a major problem on all but a few American farms and ranches on which livestock are raised for milk or meat.

Seldom are the affected animals acutely ill, Dr. Turk said. Instead, parasitic infections can be compared to a chronic disease; the animal eats well, but fails to gain weight. There is a constant drain on the animal's body, since it is supporting a colony of interlopers.

Vic Vet says

GOING BACK TO SCHOOL THIS FALL? IF YOU ARE UNDER THE G.I. BILL, NOTIFY YOUR V-A OFFICE OF ANY CHANGE IN ADDRESS OR DEPENDENCY STATUS.

Worms may continue to thrive, even though an animal "is dosed with worm medicine by its owner," Dr. Turk said, because only one or a few drugs are effective against any one kind of parasite. And sometimes a dose of worm medicine does much more damage to the weakened animal than to the vigorous and healthy parasites the animal harbors.

Proper management of animals on pasture, and proper nutrition are more important than drugs in controlling parasites, says the Veterinary Association.

It says SUCCESS-with SPIRIT
First of the Fine Cars in Value

YOU can see this man has made his mark in life, and while his heart's still young.

YOU can tell he likes action for his money—that he knows a fine car needn't be the most expensive to give the greatest value.

Yes, such are the things you know of any man, when you note that his car is a ROADMASTER.

Follow him on his spirited way as he pilots this lively motorcar through traffic. Even the lightweights are no match for this road-steady husky—not with the 152-horsepower straight-eight Fireball engine that purrs beneath its bonnet.

Maneuver beside him at the next stop light. Then just try to get away as smoothly, swiftly and silently as Dynaflo Drive gets his ROADMASTER going—and keeps it rolling without shifting, even automatically.

But don't waste time merely envying the man in this great car! Why not emulate him?

With all its outsize room, interior luxury and exterior grace—with all its front-rank prestige, rare performance and matchless ride—a ROADMASTER can be yours for less than some smaller cars cost.

In fact, even if you had a fortune to spend, you couldn't make a more fortunate buy in the fine-car field.

So we suggest you try a few minutes behind the wheel. We're confident they will convince you that ROADMASTER has everything you could ever ask for in any motorcar—although your Buick dealer asks a good bit less for ROADMASTER than you might pay for other top-line cars.

THE POOR FISH

Fish have service clubs. We know about one in particular and it is called the Friday Fish Club. Sam Shad was president of this club and Percival Perch, the program chairman, had arranged a program of exceptional merit. He had secured the famous Bill Blowfish as the speaker of the evening, Theodora Tuna, at the piano, was to play "The Unfinished Symphony," and Madam Adelaide Alehouse was to sing. In addition, from a nearby beach, Sandy Sandpiper an honorary member, was to play "The Sand Man" on his pipes. Added attractions were Elmer Eel, contortionist, and Jasmine Jellyfish, fan dancer.

Bill Blowfish, the orator, was tardy in his appearance, and being reluctant to start without him, they were marking time when an enormous bulk, dark and sinister, came hurtling through the sea. "Samson Shark," they screamed and fled to the safety of shallow waters.

Within that safety of shallow waters, they began to count their numbers: Horation Herring, Clarence Crab, Henry Halibut, Freddy Flounder, Oscar Oyster, Tommy Trout, Sebastian Spot, Caesar Croaker, Roscoe Rock, Daniel Drum, Marvin Marlin, Socrates Sunfish, Solomon Sucker, Bartholemew Bluefish, Mickey Mackerel, Pierpont Porgy, Jerome Jacksalmon, Lemuel Lobster, Silas Scallop, Anthony Anchovy, Bertrand Bass, Columbus Carp, George Gudgeon, Herman Had-dock, Methisthicles Menhaden, Cuthbert Cod, Pete Pickerel—these and entertainers mentioned above—with the exception of the speaker, Bill Blowfish, were present.

Suddenly a small, trembling voice was heard and Clem Clam came up out of the sand. "I had to burrow mighty deep," said Clem, "so he wouldn't see me. Samson Shark et Bill Blowfish, our speaker, because Samson wanted to be the speaker himself. He cussed something awful for a long time because he didn't catch any of the rest of us. Then he began to laugh and slap his thighs. It was a horrible laugh and here's what he said: 'Of course, I would have et 'em up—every doggoned one of 'em—but before I et 'em I intended to make a speech on FREE ENTERPRISE.'"

Somewhat or other, we miss the old-fashioned primary election fights. Then each man went out and haunted the hustings for support. You became acquainted with the candidates and formed an opinion as to their qualifications. There were disappointments and occasionally a little bitterness on the part of some of the defeated candidates, but they had had their chance and most of the bitterness soon disappeared. The people elected their men in those contests. It's different today, when three or four leaders will arrange a state convention and send for the faithful. At this convention they give you a capsule and you swallow it, half the time not knowing its contents. This is an unhealthy condition, for it's just about the same condition that existed when a man named Hitler held the Saar election.

An ex-F. B. I. man comes out in a book called "The Red Channel" and makes the naked statement that Gypsy Rose Lee is a communist. Miss Lee is bitter in her denial and asks for a complete investigation. We side with Miss Lee. Investigate as thoroughly as they may, we do not believe that they will find anything on Gypsy Rose.

New $339,000 One-Story Brick Elementary School to Be Built at Harrington

A 14-classroom building, containing also a cafeteria-dining room for community as well as student use, has been designed by Walter Carlson, Wilmington architect, for the $339,000 Harrington Elementary School. Not visible in the sketch is an expansion of existing gymnasium facilities.

Elementary School

commercial department and music school.

After saving this space, the plans allow for considerable development of the building, if needed, at the southern end.

The administration offices and cafeteria are to be located between the high school and lower grades building.

Community use of the 325-person capacity cafeteria was an important consideration. The single room can be closed off entirely from the remainder of the school when used for public functions.

The kitchen is arranged for modern equipment installation; the food counter is separated from the large dining room so the cooking and service spaces can be shut off from the dining area during a speech or other social activities.

Near the main entrance of the building, by the general offices, principal's office, teacher's room, school infirmary, and nurse's room, are central toilet facilities and coat rooms.

Each classroom has a supply closet, coat rack, cabinets, work table and sink, display and chalk boards, book and magazine rack, and teacher's closet.

Class Brick Wall

One side of each classroom will be of glass block, and including ventilating units to control air intake and exhaust. The opposite side of the room will have glass block only in a panel above eye-level along the entire wall.

First and second grade classrooms will have rooms with individual outside doors leading to the garden and recreation terrace. In every classroom provision is made along one low-built window sill for indoor plant growing space.

All floors will be of colored asphalt tile, and acoustical tile on the ceilings. The walls will be concrete block painted in "eye-easy" colors. Fluorescent lighting fixtures will be used throughout.

Corridors will have glazed tile wainscoting with painted concrete block walls above. Ceilings and floors will be the same as in classrooms. On the outside the glass block windows and brick walls will show as an attractive structural combination.

Nation's Security Needs Legislation, Says Sen. Frear

United States Senator J. Allen Frear last week urged that Congress enact practical and workable legislation to protect the nation's internal security, and not a law that deals in broad generalities. In his weekly statement to the people of Delaware, Senator Frear warned against passage of legislation so drastic that it will infringe on our personal freedom. Mr. Frear declared that opinion on the pending McCarran Bill, on which the Senate will vote soon, is sharply divided, and that there are a great many proposed amendments to the measure. Some of these changes would weaken the bill while others would strengthen it. He predicted that the Senate would adopt a number of amendments.

Mr. Frear warned that "in the present critical situation we need strong realistic measures to prevent spying and sabotage by foreign agents. 'However,' he said, 'in granting such authority it is imperative that we protect the great American traditions on which this country is founded.'"

Senator Frear pointed out that the McCarran Bill has been criticized by its opponents as unworkable, and defended by its sponsors as essential in order to effectively deal with subversive elements. "I feel personally," Mr. Frear said,

"that legislation of this type should have as its primary objective the apprehension of professional agents, whose main purpose is to engage in spying and sabotage." The Senator declared that he believed such agents were far more dangerous than most of the known communists or misguided Americans, who have been duped into associating with the Reds. Mr. Frear expressed the belief that the Federal Bureau of Investigation should be permitted to concentrate mainly on actual foreign agents, whose avowed destructive ambitions are known, instead of devoting so much time and effort to keep track of the larger group of known communists and their sympathizers. "However," he said, "this element also bears watching."

Senator Frear said in conclusion that legislation to control communists and their subversives should be considered on the basis of "clear cold logic and not emotion." "I hope," he added, "that the communist control bill approved by the Senate will be one which provides effective protection of our internal security without sacrificing hard won American principles."

Frederica

Mrs. Myra McIlvaine, of Magnolia, was the weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. Burris Spurry.

Mrs. C. Hoey Gross, who underwent a leg amputation at the Milford Memorial Hospital, is so much improved that she is anticipating returning to her residence soon.

The Ladies' Auxiliary held its first fall meeting Thursday night. The M. Y. F. will resume its regular monthly meeting Wednesday evening, September 27th.

The Prayer Fellowship Hour recommences at 7:30 p. m. Thursday. Recently funeral services were held from the Rogers Funeral Home, here, for Mrs. Ida Moody, who had passed away at the Bacon Health Center. Mrs. Moody had been a life long resident of Frederica, and she had resided on West Front Street, opposite the Morris store, for most of that time. Frederica was fortunate in not having suffered from the storm, said to be the fringe of a coastal hurricane which struck nearby states earlier this week.

Mrs. Frank Burris, Mrs. Mary Remick and Mrs. Frieda Wilcutts were hostesses to the W. S. C. S. on Friday evening at the first fall meeting of the organization. Unison singing, spiritual fellowship with prayer, opened the devotions. Following the usual business meeting, Mrs. Diehl read, and music and singing were enjoyed again. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. I. W. Betts, Sr., has returned from a three-weeks-visit out of town.

P. R. R. News

Officer to returning soldier: "What's the idea of being four hour's late on a 12 hour leave?"

Soldier: "Well sir, when I got home, my wife was in the bath tub and it took my uniform a long time to dry out."
