These men, with passports and credentials from General McArthur, here to learn American methods of railroading, were both interested and interesting. It was hard for them to comprehend the mammoth capacity of the coal dumpers on the Norfolk & Western pier which were upsetting 90 ton cars into boats at the rate of 70 cars an hour. They said the maximum capacity of their cars was 15 tons.

State Surveying Farms For Information On Beef And Dairy Cattle

A survey of farms in Delaware, under the direction of the State Board of Agriculture, for the purpose of obtaining information concerning dairy and beef cattle on the farms of the state, is reported to be progressing rapidly.

According to Charles F. Mundy, Jr., secretary of the board, more than 3500 farms in the state have been surveyed thus far for the purpose of listing the desired information concerning cattle.

These farms are located in all three counties of the state, Mr. Mundy reports, and they represent about one-third of the farms in operation throughout the state. The board secretary states that the information procured in this survey will be used, among other things, for the establishment of a livestock marketing news service and the creation of a system of rendering individual market assistance to livestock producers.

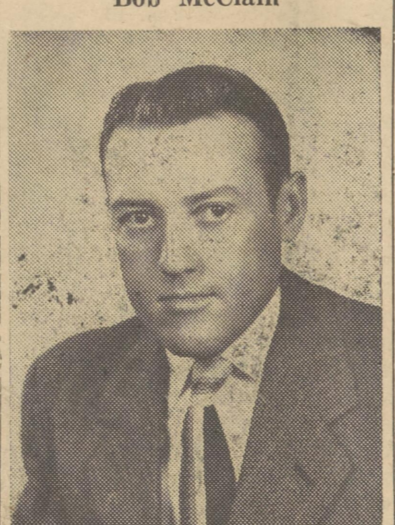

The plans provide for the Bureau of Markets to issue a weekly news letter, or a bimonthly information service, whichever is desired by the persons to be served, which will be distributed to all interested in livestock, including growers, brokers and processors.

Some of the information being procured through the survey that will be transmitted through the newsletters will be the number, age, breed, etc., of dairy and beef cattle and the location of the farms having the cattle.

Personal service will be provided by the staff of the Bureau of Markets in advising buyers where the type of cattle they seek can be located as well as keeping the growers informed concerning the needs of the buyers.

An important feature of this new livestock marketing service, which many persons connected with the business appreciate, is the choice of disease-free cattle for purchase which is sometimes not possible at public sales since they do not operate under state veterinarian supervision.

From information gathered by the persons making the survey in

Quillen Blasts Tax Program Of Administration

At a meeting of the Policy Committee of the Active Young Republicans recently, attended by a large number of Young Republicans of Kent County, Harry Quillen, president, blasted the Democratic administration's present tax program and, addressing the said group said:

"Is the present tax program put into effect in Delaware by the Democratic administration necessary and justifiable? And has the administration by its promise to reduce taxes admitted that the gross income tax was neither necessary nor justifiable?"

"These two questions contain the core of discord, driving Delaware citizens to return to the business-like methods of previous Republican administrations."

"The present program exceeded the state's needs by taking more than five million dollars in excess taxes in the first year of operation of the 'gross income' tax law. This excess cash balance together with the 7.5 million dollars cash balance on hand when the Democrats took office has now reached a total of 12.5 million dollars available for state purposes. Taxes can now be cut to this extent for the next biennium."

"The $5,000,000 excess represents the difference between the burdensome 'gross' income tax laws and the net income tax which it replaced. Said otherwise, five million dollars was collected unnecessarily under the highest state tax schedule in the nation, whereas the net income schedules taxed Delaware citizens lighter than any other state."

"Currently, promises are being made by the Democrats to reduce their high taxes. As a result of Republican foresight provision was made in the gross income tax law for its expiration at mid-the same time provision was made for the revival of the net income tax law from then on. In other words, the net income tax law is merely in a state of suspension until January 1, 1951."

"Indisputably, the current operating receipts show the results of one year's business to have unnecessarily accumulated $5,000,000 of taxes or for the two years this unjustifiable law will produce $10,000,000 of excess taxes. Unjustifiable because the cash balance on hand July 1, (Continued on back page)

J. Gordon Smith, chairman of the State Highway Department, announces that plans are now being completed for the construction of the proposed by-pass highway which is being designed to take traffic out of the present bottleneck in Bridgeville.

According to M. Allan Wilson, chief engineer of the department, the proposed by-pass will start about a mile south of Greenwood and will continue to Jacobs School, south of Bridgeville.

Mr. Wilson pointed out that the proposed highway would be a dual or divided highway and that it would be the first such highway to be constructed in Sussex County. He described the Bridgeville by-pass as a part of the proposed dual highway that will eventually extend to the Delaware-Maryland State line east of Delaware.

The plans for the by-pass highway, as described by Mr. Wilson, provide for a new single lane to be constructed adjacent to the present highway, or route 13, from a point about one mile south of Greenwood to a point just north of the Bridgeville police station.

This newly constructed highway and the existing highway now in use there, will be used to form a dual highway for the by-pass operation.

From a point north of the Bridgeville police station, a divided highway will be erected along an almost direct line to the intersection of a highway with route 13 at Jacobs School, south of Bridgeville, where the by-pass highway will rejoin route 13.

The present highway enters Bridgeville from the north on a curve and likewise leaves on the southern end also on a curve.

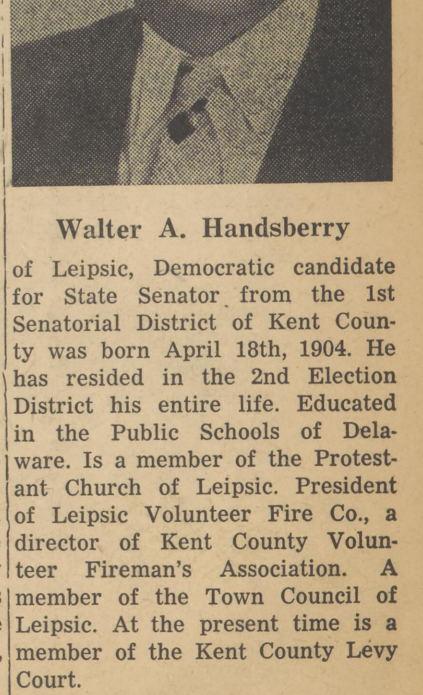

The proposed by-pass highway will not only eliminate these curves but will also provide for a steady flow of traffic on a dual highway that does not have these curves.

Mr. Wilson indicated that every effort is being made by the department to have the plans completed at the earliest possible date so that the plans and specifications can be submitted to contractors.

When this section of new highway is completed and placed in operation, it will mark the first time that the State of Delaware will have dual highways in use in all three counties.

Want a ride that's "out of this world"?

Better Buy Buick!

WANT to be free from that nervous tensing up for a jolt every time a rough spot looms in the road ahead?

Want to enjoy the relaxing feel of a sure-footed car beneath you, that stays level even when the road doesn't?

Well, sir, ease into a Buick and see how such matters are cared for.

See what a wonderful difference in level buoyancy coil springs can make when you have them on all four wheels, not just the front ones.

Note what firm and solid steadiness is yours when a full-length torque-tube drive is your keel—how smoothly you stay on course when the rear wheels can't help but run true.

See what big, low-pressure tires and Buick's wide rims can do to pillow your course without jounce or sway.

In other words, sample this two-ton beauty for over-all stance and balance—and the cradling comfort of its roomy interiors.

And while you're at it, get the very special thrill of its mighty Fireball power plant, plus the free-as-a-bird-in-flight bliss of its Dynaflo Drive.*

It's an experience that you owe yourself—and it's yours for the asking. The thing to do is get in touch with your Buick dealer—and discover the ride that only Buick owners know.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT—This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replace- able, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

WHEN THEY WERE VERY YOUNG

We believe the Very Activated Young Republicans of Wilmington pulled a monumental blunder when they resurrected that old remnant of a car from the junk heap and hauled it around on a truck, claiming that the motor vehicle department (which, of course, is operated by the Democrats) had issued license for the car.

The vehicle under discussion had no lights and no horn, and no automobile without lights and horn has ever been licensed by the department, whether Democrats or Republicans were in power. It just isn't done. The young Activators, with the zeal of inexperience, thought they were pulling a clever stunt—but they overplayed it and made themselves the object of ridicule.

Why did they attempt this? No experienced politician would have tried such a trick. The answer is that these boys are young, far too young, to know anything about finesse. Their exploit has acted as a boomerang and will help, instead of hindering, the Democrats.

THE INDEPENDENT INDEPENDENTS

We were astonished—probably astounded would be the better word—when the independent Wilmington dailies this week announced that they were supporting the Republican candidates. Seems like, being independent, they would find two or three Democrats worthy of their support, but, no, when they exercise their independence they are independent all over.

Practically all of the papers in Delaware are independent, so independent that they keep on proclaiming their independence week after week. Most of them, though, come out for the Republicans. Some of them, to convince the skeptical public of their independence, announce the names of the candidates they are supporting and they list, say, ten Democrats and ten Republicans. That's cutting independence down to the finest measure. The giveaway is that they select Republicans for the more important jobs and Democrats, for the most part, for the smaller jobs.

In addressing the Delaware teachers, Dr. H. A. Lane, of New York University, urged them to bolster the children's self-respect. Just as essential, we believe, is for children to bolster their respect for other people.

A former teacher secured something like $50,000 in Detroit by forging checks. A janitor in New York was arrested for forging a check for $40.00. Thus we have another demonstration of the fact that higher education pays.

Big business all over the United States has been yelling "Free Enterprise" and complaining that the government's restrictions are strangling their business. This seems silly in the light of the published financial statements issued by these big boys. The DuPont Company made more money during the first nine months of this year than it made during any twelve-month period in its entire history. Its NET income—and that takes care of taxes and all side dishes, for the nine months of 1950 was $218,627,999. If this be strangulation, we wouldn't mind having the coil around our neck for a few seconds.

Health board inspectors in the city of Wilmington have found all polling places clean. They'll be plenty dirty on election day.

A Wilmington radio station's announcement says that Bob Hope is the greatest thing for gags since adhesive tape. We can agree with the announcement—Hope makes us gag every time we think of him.

HAVE KEPT THE PLEDGE

In 1948 the Democratic party in Delaware advocated the improvement in our educational system. There can be no denying that the Democratic State Administration has carried out the wishes of the people in this respect.

The Democratic platform this year pledges: A continuation of the present high standard of education and the establishment of tenure law for school teachers.

Changes in election laws concerning the number of ballots printed for each election, reducing the number to one ballot for each voter and that to be used inside the polling place. Discard the present permanent registration and provide for registration every four years.

Expansion of research facilities in agriculture and support all measures designed to keep agriculture on a parity with labor and industry.

Creation of a Department of Welfare by merging several present commissions to prevent the existing overlapping of effort in this work.

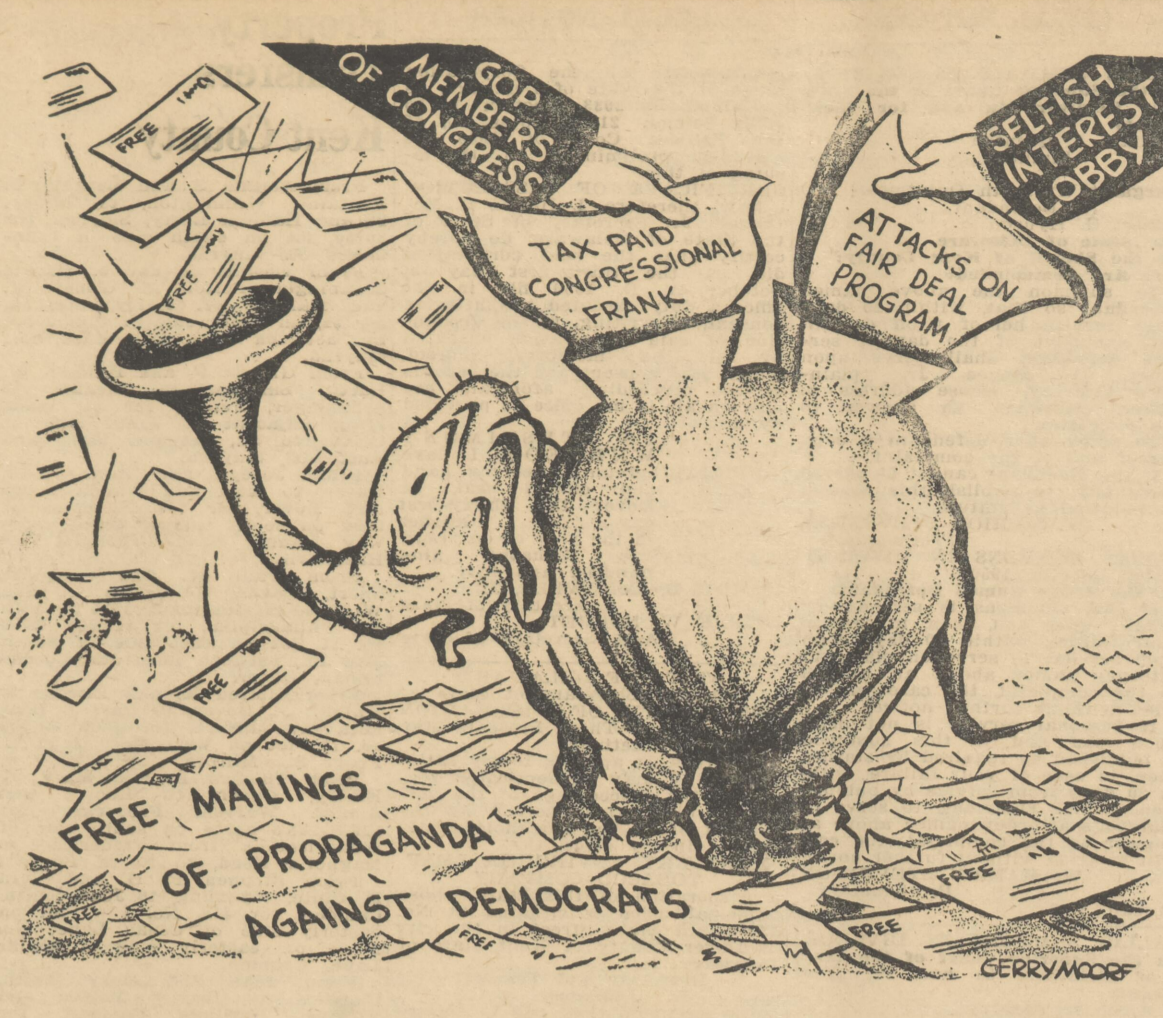

Establishment of a four-member bi-partisan liquor commission.

Advocate continued protection, conservation and replenishment of wild life and natural resources.

Advocate continued support of the Veterans' organizations through financial assistance on a State departmental basis for their service program.

All of these planks are worth-while. The Democrats kept their promises made during the 1948 campaign. They will keep them again if elected in 1950.

We think one of the best planks in the Democratic platform is the one advocating the printing of only one ballot for each voter, and allowing no ballot to be issued till the voter enters the polling place. What is the object of printing twenty or thirty ballots for each voter? The object is two-fold, to run up an enormous printing bill, the proceeds going to the printer and, it is mildly whispered, to some of the higher-ups of the party; and the encouragement of vote-buying and general fraud. Give the voter a ballot only when he enters the polling place and you've badly crippled the possibility of vote-buying.

A FEW MORE DAYS

A few more days of lying, Denying, villifying; Of fussing, musing, cussing, Of leer and jeer and sneer; Of mumbling, grumbling, stumbling, Of rumbling and of bumbling, Of grating, waiting, hating— Election day is here!

More scant anticipation, Gyration, syncoption, And speaking, shrieking, squeaking To shorten friendship's spans; Defaming, shaming, blaming, Of maiming and declaiming From Dover to all over We'll be Americans!

Felton, Del. Oct. 26, 1950

Mr. C. H. Burgess: Dear Editor:

To say I was shocked is putting it mildly, I was dumb-founded when my attention was called to the "Letter to the Editor" from "Humid Horace" in Shuck No. 8, On the Dump, South Wilmington, in your last week's Harrington Journal. I wouldn't have believed that the Harrington Journal was that desperate for news as to print such an article from a bum on Wilmington's dump and too, classifying beef, pork, lamb, veal, hamburger, chickens, turkeys, hot dogs, and beer necessities of life.

I hadn't read the article through till one of your subscribers called my attention to it. And putting such an article on the Editorial page makes it that much more significant that you favor such.

I do not stand for such and many of my friends and acquaintances are much opposed and will not stand for your paper if that sort of thing is your policy. I have tried in my Felton letters to do my best to give you letters and articles that will help you build up the right sort of publication notwithstanding items are frequently omitted that I send in my letter.

But maybe you don't wish me to continue, eh?

Sincerely, M. Evelyn Killen, Felton, Del.

The Harrington Journal Harrington, Delaware Gentlemen:

I wish to compliment you for publishing the letter from Humid Horace, who gives his address as a shack on a dump in a marsh south of Wilmington.

I read the letter twice before I realized its true import. This Horace person deplors the fact that beer has advanced in price a nickel a bottle. He says he can get along without beef, veal, vegetables, etc., but terms beer one of life's necessities. This, as nothing else I've read in recent years, shows how depraved one can be when he becomes enmeshed in the tentacles of the liquor habit.

Further, the fact that such a victim of liquor is forced to live in a shack on a dump in a marsh should convince anyone that it doesn't pay to fool with the stuff.

Again I thank you for publishing the most powerful argument against alcohol I've read in many a day.

Sincerely yours, F. Craig, Wilmington, Delaware

October 26, 1950

Dear Reader:

As some of you start to read this news letter, I am aware of the fact that you have an individual pet solution for increasing the game population in Delaware as I am certain that the sun will set in the west this evening. I will discuss predator control, the reduction of one species of birds or animals in order that a preferred group may increase their numbers. I can not erase from your mind the picture of a Cooper's hawk swooping down on a rabbit, or was it a marsh hawk going in on a field mouse?

Do you know the difference in the hawks and their varying food habits? The Cooper's, sharp-shinned hawks, goshawk and great horned owl can be harmful to game birds and animals in excessive numbers, but is the pole trap the way to decrease their population? We find the sparrow hawks and marsh hawks and others which are much more plentiful are taken rather than the predatory birds, for it is characteristic of the useful hawks to perch in the open on single poles or trees. The harmful effects of the numerous mice, rats and insects taken by these useful birds are far reaching. The harmful hawks are wiser and stay close to dense cover.

Certain specific predator control measures carried on under the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service in the west where the coyote, mountain lion and bear were taking a terrific toll of domestic livestock has been apparently successful. But predator control to be effective must not only take the annual increment, but it must cut into the seed stock of the species. For man to carry on an effective program year after year to remove that which nature has already earmarked has proven very expensive.

Any meat-eating creatures may get into an unnatural situation and develop bad habits. It is much more sensible to dispose of the individual than condemn the species. At least this is the procedure followed by man in passing judgment on his fellow man. Because a blond haired man six feet tall killed his mother doesn't necessarily mean that all men of his characteristics will do the same. Isolate him from society.

The bounty payment system has been in effect many years in several states. The results of this system has been remarkably alike. In Michigan under this system the state paid out $401,585 on 361 wolves, 23,165 coyotes, and 3,653 bobcats over a 10-year period from 1936 to 1946. At the end of the period the number of wolves taken was about the same as at the beginning, the bobcats were two-thirds as numerous, and the coyotes one and one-half times as abundant. The conclusions of the investigators are that a low bounty is a poor incentive to reduce the predatory species and a high bounty invites dishonesty and fraud.

The creatures of the wild have many dangers to overcome. When we save two quail from the fox or hawks, we haven't erased possibly a more crucial situation of a hard winter and a grave food shortage. Healthy breeding stock provided with adequate food and cover for twelve months of the year will do well for themselves in fending off predators.

You, if you hunt, are a predator too; but no more significant than other predators. At the Petersburg Refuge during the hunting season of 1949 you were only able to bag 15% of a possible 200 birds on the area. You probably can understand my statement more clearly now—given adequate food and cover twelve months of the year creatures of the wild can fend very well for themselves and come through to spring with adequate breeding stock. Where predator controls appear necessary it should be a local, selective process aimed at the trouble maker.

Sincerely, Conservation Division Delaware Bd. of Game & Fish Commissioners

Ennis Reports on Medical Services Available to Delaware Colony

At the regular monthly meeting of the Delaware Commission for the Feeble-minded held at Delaware Colony recently, Howard T. Ennis, superintendent, reported to the commission concerning the medical services available to the children at the Colony.

In a review of the medical services for the children at Delaware Colony, Dr. Joseph B. Waples, Jr., chief physician of the institution for the past 20 years, pointed out that services are available by practitioners and specialists in all fields of medical practice.

Dr. Waples recommends and refers patients at Delaware Colony to doctors, surgeons and clinics for special care and treatment, according to their individual needs.

For eye examinations, patients are taken to Dr. M. D. Marshall in Milford. For eye surgery, they are taken to Dr. W. O. Lamotte in Wilmington. For skin and scalp treatments to Dr. I. L. Chipman and Dr. A. D. King, dermatologist, Wilmington. For ear and throat treatments to Dr. James E. Marvil, Laurel, Dr. M. D. Marshall, Milford, Dr. R. E. Ellegood, Wilmington, and Dr. W. G. Hardy, Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore. At the request of specialists, patients are taken for tests at the Beebe, Milford Memorial and Delaware Hospital laboratories.

The following are the special clinics for treatment:

Tuberculosis clinic: Chest X-rays are taken at Delaware Colony and read by Dr. L. D. Phillips, superintendent of Brandywine Sanatorium. Occasionally, the children are taken to Tuberculosis clinic for fluoroscopy.

Crippled children's clinic: The children who attend Crippled Children's Clinic are usually fitted for special shoes and braces. They are also recommended for X-rays, and sometimes taken to chiropodists for treatment.

Veneral Disease Clinics: When a patient is admitted, a Wasserman is taken. Sometimes, if it is positive, the child is referred to veneral disease clinic for a spinal, even though he takes treatments advised by our physician.

Mental hygiene clinic: Patients are taken to Mental Hygiene Clinic for re-examination to learn of their development; also, re-testing for the sterilization procedure.

Speech Clinic: The Speech Clinic, under the supervision of State Board of Health, is also available for children at the Colony, and they have the opportunity of Speech Therapists and Audiologists.

Endocrine Clinic: Dr. Dunn from Philadelphia is the director of Endocrine Clinic, which is scheduled for the third Wednesday of each month at Delaware State Hospital, Farnhurst. Children at the Colony are also treated by Dr. Dunn.

There are no operations performed at Delaware Colony, and if Dr. Waples feels a child should be under the observation of a surgeon, he is admitted to a hospital. Consideration is given the parents, and arrangements are made for a patient's admission to a hospital near their home in order that members of the family may visit.

If, upon admission, patients are taking special treatment, this treatment is continued, according to individual needs. These treatments consist of orthopedic, eye, ear, nose and throat care. When a child is admitted, he receives a complete physical examination. Blood Wasserman's are taken, chest X-ray examinations, cold vaccines and typhoid vaccine is given, and children under 10 years of age receive diphtheria-pertussis-tetanus immunization. Continuous follow-up treatment is given as prescribed by the doctor by the three registered nurses employed in the infirmary. Routine medication in minor cases is given by cottage employees.

New Social Security Law Affects "Regular" Farm Workers

Are you a "regular" farm worker, or do you have a helper working for you "regularly"? The new Farm Social Security Law says a "regular" farm worker must be employed continuously by one farmer for a calendar quarter and 60 days of the next quarter, and earn a minimum of $50 cash.

Only regular workers qualify for Farm Social Security, according to Willard T. McAllister, extension specialist in agricultural economics at the University of Delaware. McAllister explains that a calendar quarter is a three-month period ending March 31, June 30, September 30, or December 31. He says only cash wages are considered in the $50 that must be earned during the last qualifying quarter-year. Rent, Board, farm products, and other wages of this kind will not help farm workers qualify for Social Security.

There are other restrictions—children under 21, parents, husbands, and wives of farm owners cannot receive Social Security under the present law. However, sons of farm owners can qualify if they are at least 21 years old and are paid cash wages. Cooks and household workers on the farm can get Social Security credit.

McAllister reminds farm workers that they can be qualifying for Social Security now. If they work regularly between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31, they start getting Social Security credit when the program goes into effect Jan. 1, 1951. If workers have any questions, they should contact the three Social Security field offices in Delaware—Wilmington, Dover, Georgetown—or get in touch with their county agricultural agent.

Mrs. Ann Poling, 609 Delaware St., Indianapolis, Indiana, who was suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron, and Niacin, smiles as she pours herself another cup of coffee. Mrs. Poling says life lately is like it used to be years ago. "That is, of course, since I've been taking HADACOL." She can't get over what a difference HADACOL has made in her outlook on life.

Mrs. Poling says: "Three months ago a good friend of mine told me about HADACOL—she knew how much stomach distress I have had. Any type of food that was fried or that had acid in it I just couldn't eat. It affected my sleep, too. In fact, I couldn't have been in a worse condition. When I ate what I wanted to I felt miserable and when I didn't eat these things—I didn't have a proper diet and still felt bad. Then when I started taking HADACOL, I felt better immediately. I've got a bottle in the house now—and will continue to keep HADACOL from now on. I have told many folks about HADACOL—and they all thank me for telling them about HADACOL. They all have gotten wonderful results from HADACOL like I have. Now I eat anything I want and get a good night's sleep. I can't praise HADACOL enough."

HADACOL Can Help You, Too! . . . as it has helped thousands of others whose systems lacked Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin. Yes, even hundreds of doctors have recommended HADACOL to their patients. The HADACOL formula is so effective for stomachache, distress, nervousness, insomnia, constipation, rashes, and pains of neuritis, and a general run-down condition caused by such deficiencies.

Make Up Your Mind . . . to give HADACOL a chance to help you, as it has helped countless thousands of others. Remember, there are no substitutes for HADACOL. Always insist on the genuine HADACOL. No risk involved. Buy a bottle of HADACOL, either the trial size, $1.25, or the large family or hospital size, $3.50, and if HADACOL does not help you your money will be refunded.

Your New Social Security Queries Answered

Questions relating to Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance will be answered in this paper or by mail. Address all queries to Social Security Administration, Custom House, 6th & King Sts., Wilmington, Delaware.

Q. What changes were made in the kinds of work that count toward Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance?

A. Most jobs in private industry and commerce have counted toward social security payments since January 1, 1937. Many of the kinds of work that formerly were not under the social security law were brought under it by the 1950 amendments, effective January 1, 1951.

Q. What kinds of work are newly covered by social security?

A. Among the kinds of work which will count toward social security protection beginning January 1, 1951, are non-farm self-employment, regular farm work, and household work in private homes. Under certain conditions, employees of religious, charitable, educational and other nonprofit organizations, and employees of State and local governments may come under the law beginning January 1, 1951.

Q. What kinds of work do not count toward social security payments?

A. The owner or operator of a farm does not get credit toward old-age and survivors insurance payments from his farm earnings. Income gained from self-employment as a physician, lawyer, dentist, professional engineer and certain other professions, is not counted toward social security benefits.

cases it is self-employment that does not count toward social security. The salary of a person employed as a lawyer, doctor, etc., will count toward old-age and survivors insurance protection.

The wages paid to a child under 21 by his father or mother, to a husband by his wife, to a wife by her husband, or to a parent by his son or daughter, do not count toward social security, nor do the wages paid to a minister or member of a religious order for performing the duties required by their religious orders.

Some kinds of employment by the federal government have been brought under the law, but federal jobs covered by other retirement systems are excluded. Employment by State and local governments and by certain nonprofit organizations is not covered by the law, but some of these jobs may be brought under the law at the option of the employing organization. In the case of the nonprofit organizations, the agreement of 2/3 of the employees is also necessary.

Matinee At Pine Tree Raceway

Recently there was held a very satisfactory Matinee Harness Racing Meet, at Pine Tree Raceway, Townsend, Del. This was through the courtesy of Dr. and Mrs. Claude H. Keith and under the auspices of William Mathews, professional trainer there. Seventeen horses took part in the racing and outstanding drivers came from many places on the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula. The best time of the day was made by a 3-year-old free-legged pacer "Helen A," owned by Alfred N. Phillips, of Worsell Manor, Cecilton, Md. This was in the second heat of the third race. This promising young pacer clipped off the mile in 2:14 2/5 against older and more experienced horses. She was driven by William Mathews, who has trained her. The owner has not been able to do much driving this year due to illness in his family. The next best time of the meet was made by "Sandy H," which won both heats of the second race, finishing the first heat in 2:14 4/5 and the second heat in 2:15. Another woman-owner to enter the Harness Racing Meet was Mrs. Bertha Graham of Townsend, who recently purchased the race horse Glen A from Dr. and Mrs. Claude H. Keith. This horse finished second in both heats of the first race, being driven by Clayton Doolan, of Townsend. Weather conditions were ideal last Saturday for this meet and track conditions at Pine Tree Raceway were excellent. Because of the lateness of the

The death of a minister in Carle Hospital, Urbana, Ill., October 23, brought sadness to many of the town folk. Rev. Theodore Willis, son-in-law of the late Rev. David E. Wood, who was a pastor here for more than ten years, passed away from coronary thrombosis, after a two week's illness. The deceased had visited here for several weeks at a time, when with his wife and two young sons, vacationed at Trinity parsonage. He occupied the pulpit on numerous occasions and interpreted the scriptures with scholarly ability. His wife, Mrs. Willis is a singer and choir leader and assisted her husband in the ministerial work at the large Presbyterian Church, of which he was pastor. Mr. Willis will be buried at Portland, Ind. The family address is 403 Indiana Ave., Urbana, Ill.

Miss Lizzie Lank and her house guest, Mrs. Annie Bougy, of Philadelphia, were last week dinner guests of Mrs. Mary Kelley and Mrs. Emma Harrington.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Matlack, their son and daughter, with Mrs. Matlack's sister, Miss Helen, are on a motor trip to South Carolina, where they will visit Mrs. Matlack's mother, Mrs. Ora Collum.

Mrs. Merton Hovey is visiting at Absecon, N. J., where she is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Morgan, and her uncle, Edward L. Matlack.

Mrs. William W. Wilson accompanied her niece, Mrs. Alfred E. Hodgson, of Brookline, Pa., to Milford for the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Florian Kamorowski.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ryan and family have been the guests of Earl Ryan and other relatives.

Mrs. Frieda Wilcutts, who is in charge of the local school cafeteria, has been ill for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Burris Spurry spent Sunday at Houston with Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Warren. Tuesday Mrs. Spurry was in Baltimore.

These young girls attended the Wilmington evangelistic meetings: Kathryn Flanagan, Joy Ross, Margaret Handges, Wanda Morris, Helen Poore and Mary Sue Tribbitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Sipple, their son, George Sipple, and wife, of Wilmington; Clarence R. Sipple and friend attended the Ice Capades Saturday evening at Philadelphia.

Mrs. J. L. Rawlins and Mrs. R. L. Slaughter spent Wednesday in Wilmington. This week Mrs. Rawlins is in New York City where she was formerly employed for 15 years.

The open door and warm hand of welcome is extended to all who will visit and worship with parishioners and friends in the sanctuary of Trinity Methodist Church, Frederica, next Sun. Nov. 5, at the morning and afternoon services.

Methodism in Frederica is rooted in an illustrious historical background intimately connected with that of historic Barratt's Chapel. The records show that there was preaching in this neighborhood before the year 1780, or the building of Barratt's Chapel. As early as 1783 historical records indicate an appointment known as the "Frederica Circuit," later becoming a "Station." The present attractive church edifice was built in 1856 and dedicated by Bishop Scott in February 1857. Consequently upon the fall of the spire in 1879 and its need of repair, the church was renovated and improved at a cost of $1500 and reopened in 1880. Through many years the towering white spire of this old historic church, which can be seen for miles around, has stood majestically symbolizing mans upward reach to God.

Thus, this coming Sunday, Nov. 5, the annual Home Coming Day will be observed in the morning and afternoon services.

The choir, with Mrs. Helen Carlisle at the console, will offer special choral numbers at both services. Robert S. Rudolph, of Milford, will sing two numbers in the morning, and in the afternoon Miss Agnes Hubbard, of Cambridge, Md., will be soloist.

Rev. Lester E. Windsor, treasurer of the Peninsula Conference, will be the guest speaker at the eleven o'clock service, and in the afternoon service, commencing at 2:30, Rev. Richard C. Hubbard, minister of Grace Church, Cambridge, Md., will be the guest preacher. The pastor, Rev. John R. Diehl, will preside. The Girl Scout Troops 1 and 2, of town, attended the morning worship service in Trinity Church last Sunday in observance of National Girl Scout Sunday and sang "Hymn of Scouting."

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Davidson spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Cahall, Philadelphia.

Mrs. William F. Hoey and daughter, Miss Mary D. Hoey, of Saranac Lake, N. Y., are expected here the third of November for a short visit.

Ponder Thomas remains ill at the Milford Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Thomas, in order to be near him, is visiting with her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vinyard, Milford.

Mrs. Lester L. Carlisle Sr. spent several days last week in Philadelphia. She was registered at the St. James Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson Denney, of Marcus Hook, Pa., were here for the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Willard Sapp, their parents. Sunday all spent the day at the Sapp cottage at Riverdale.

Thursday Mrs. James H. Morris, Sr. motored to Philadelphia. Saturday Mrs. Morris entertained her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kenton, of the Jarvis Nursing Home, Felton.

Ten Years Ago

The much unexpected snow storm on Saturday prevented many of our citizens attending the New York World's Fair Sunday.

The Willis church building, which was donated to Manship's Ladies' Aid, will be moved at an early date to the grounds of Manship Church, where it will be remodeled and converted into a community building.

Rotarians and their wives, about 200 in all, sat enthralled in Firemen's Hall Tuesday night as that irrepresible Irishman, Dr. Alexander Cairns, speaking with the rapidity of a gatling gun, served a blend of philosophy, eloquence and bubbling humor. In his timely talk, he compared past crisis in the world's history with the crisis existing today.

Miss Bernice Cain and friend, William Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Cooper, of Harrington, visited Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bowdle Sunday.

Mr. Fortney, who made his home with Bill Hammond, was found dead by John Pizzidilli, of

The farmers of this vicinity are very much disappointed with their crop of potatoes this year. On account of the dry weather, the yield has been very scant.

At the meeting at Maple Grove School, 47 votes were cast—8 for consolidation and 39 against.

A boy was born last week to Mr. and Mrs. Milton Welch. The pressing establishment of Earl Noble was broken into Tuesday night and several dresses were stolen.

FEDERAL SECURITY AGENCY NOTES

Do you employ domestic help in your home? If you do, it will be necessary for you to report their wages and social security numbers to the Collector of Internal Revenue beginning with Jan. 1, 1951.

Under the new amendment of the Social Security Act, domestic employment on a regular basis must be reported the same as a business house reports employees' earnings every calendar quarter. This will require some additional bookkeeping on the part of the housewife for she must determine whether the domestic is regularly employed under the Social Security law.

To be regularly employed the domestic must work some part of 24 days in a calendar quarter beginning Jan. 1, 1951, and be paid at least $50 in cash wages for this employment during the entire quarter.

Questions concerning the employment of domestics and duties of the housewife on reporting the domestic earnings can be answered at the office of the Social Security Administration, 6th & King Streets, Wilmington, of which Mr. Roger R. Minker is manager.

Itinerant offices of the Social Security Administration are maintained in the following cities:

Dover—Post Office Bldg.—2nd Wednesday of each month—9 a. m. Milford—City Office Bldg.—2nd Wednesday of each month—1:30 p. m. Seaford—Post Office Bldg.—last Wednesday of each month—10 a. m. Georgetown—Delaware Employment Service Office—last Wednesday of each month—1:30 p. m.

SHORT STORY
Hanging The Shingle
By RICHARD D. CARR

"IMAGINE a girl like Miss Justin getting into trouble!" exclaimed Mr. Kibb, the corporation's senior auditor. "You can't be sure about anyone!"

His young assistant, Mark Thorne, looked behind his head. "How about Dyhart, the manager?"

"Why, Miss Justin!" he said, "wasn't expecting you. Were you to work tonight?"

"No, I came to see you. I overheard you and Mr. Kibb talking about those checks and it had me worried. Is something wrong?"

"Plenty," said Thorne. "It was hard to begin. He ran a nervous hand through his black hair. 'Then you know about the checks—you cashed them?'"

"Yes, I cashed the checks because Mr. Dyhart told me to. Wait—you don't believe I took all that money!"

He saw cold, tight lines etched about her lips. "No, Miss Justin, but Mr. Kibb can't see it any other way. Didn't you suspect anything?"

"Certainly, I guess I looked puzzled, because each time when I handed Mr. Dyhart the money, he mentioned a change in the accounting rules."

Thorne jumped. "If Dyhart said that, it's plain to me. He was in on it. He disguised his signature, so that when it came to a showdown, he could blame everything on you. That's why he had you cash the checks!"

"How can you prove it?" asked Miss Justin weakly.

"Well, it's a long chance," said Thorne, slamming his fist. "If I lose and the corporation kicks me out—I've been wanting to hang out a shingle for a long time."

MR. DYHART looked surprised as he ushered them into his living room. "Just leaving, Thorne, but business before pleasure. I suppose it's something to do with the audit?"

"That's correct," said Thorne. "Dyhart," he purposely skipped the "Mr." "you had Miss Justin cash several checks recently, amounting to nearly $10,000."

"Ridiculous," smiled Dyhart. "I know nothing of any checks."

"We've practically discovered the guilty person," went on Thorne dryly, as he opened his case and removed a cancelled check. Thorne took a sheet of paper, placed the check on it, and flashed it before Dyhart's eyes.

"All you have to do, Dyhart," he said, "is copy the signature on this check!"

The manager's lips curved bitterly, but he took the pen. The only sound was the tick of a clock. The pen dropped from Dyhart's hand and plopped on the rug.

Thorne snatched the pen. "Never mind, Dyhart, that's enough. This afternoon we asked every employee to copy that signature. Not one hesitated. You did, and you're guilty. I reasoned, since the tellers passed those checks, the signature, though doctored a bit, was actually yours—disguised!"

A groan fled Dyhart's lips. "I wanted to get the money back in time," he gasped. "I didn't mean to involve Miss Justin, but she was my secretary. Don't swear out a warrant, Thorne. I'll pay it all back—"

After they were in the street, Thorne took a deep breath. It made him tingle and look up at the stars pinned on a clear sky.

"Well, you're still a travelling auditor with a job so I guess you won't hang out your shingle," said Miss Justin softly.

"If I could find a secretary, a good one. Miss Justin—would you—"

"Take dictation from you?" Miss Justin laughed when she said it. Thorne decided it was the pleasantest laugh he had ever heard.

"I guess you won't hang out your shingle," said Miss Justin.

He ushered a dazed but happy Ted to the door.

you handle the new plastic deal with the Denver people?"

Ted outlined in enthusiastic detail the plans he had been longing to put into action.

WHEN he had finished, the boss looked at him in astonishment. "My boy," he instructed, "Go right ahead. Call me in for a conference only if you feel you need moral support." He shifted his weight and smiled. "Come back tomorrow. We will draw up a new arrangement as well as full authority in your department."

After he had ushered a dazed but happy Ted to the door, the head of Todd and Todd drew a letter from his desk. He chuckled. "This is really good!" Adjusting his glasses he read:

"My present employer is afraid to trust me to stand on my own feet, in fact I do not believe he fully trusts his own feet."

Putting the letter back, he smiled again. "I guess young Shane will always wonder why he never received an answer to that letter. It was a good thing I made that advertisement a blind one, otherwise I might have never discovered what a tip-top advertising fireball I had right here all along!"

Domestic Rabbits
Wild animals of several kinds, including wild rabbits, are frequent victims of tularemia, but domestic rabbits apparently do not contract it. Squirrels, rats, field mice, skunks and beavers are among the animals that are susceptible to this disease, which is sometimes called rabbit fever. Certain biting insects are believed to spread the infection to human beings, although most human cases are due to contact with wild animals or water contaminated by these animals.

SHORT STORY
Blind Advertisement
By EMMIE BELL PORTER

THE newspaper advertisement read: "WANTED: Sober, reliable man to take complete charge of advertising department of large firm. Must be able to assume full responsibility. College-trained men only need apply."

Ted Clifton read it over and toast and eggs. "Mona!" he exclaimed, "Listen... this is what I've been looking for..."

"Yes, it does sound good," agreed Mona, over his shoulder.

Ted reflected, "It isn't that old Todd is a bad sort... it's just that he doesn't seem to want to give me full rein, and you know I work better with out so much supervision."

Mona raised her hand in a dramatic sweep "Onward and upward, my lad... Let's enter greener fields via this ad... let Todd feed his business to the birds!"

Thirty minutes later Ted leaned back. "Read it to me, honey... let's hear how it sounds."

"Dear Sir: If you are looking for a man with initiative, willingness to work and a capacity to handle your advertising, look no further. However, I would have it understood from the beginning that I am to have full charge and not be hindered, swayed or crippled by any supervisor, helper or owner. I am at present employed but am willing to stand on my own feet, in fact, I do not believe he fully trusts his own feet. I know what I can do and all I ask is a chance to prove it. Respectfully, Theodore Shane."

Mona's eyes glistened. "Oh, Ted, that is a good letter, but is that part bad about your boss not trusting you?"

Ted's jaw set. "All my cards are on the table, honey... might as well let him know where I stand right from the beginning."

Kissing Mona goodby, Ted whispered, "Keep your fingers crossed for luck, sweet."

AT FOUR O'CLOCK that afternoon the buzzer on Ted's desk impatiently summoned him into the inner sanctum of the Big Boss—J. Anthony Todd, himself. That illustrious individual sat stiffly erect, his halo of steel gray hair bristling excitingly.

"Sit down, Shane!" he thundered. "Sit down. I want to talk with you about that Finkle advertising deal. Just how would you handle it?"

Ted blinked in surprise. "Why, sir, I would channel it through the mediums of the small retailer for there's not enough volume to interest the large concerns."

The owner of Todd and Todd nodded in agreement. "Right! That's just what I've been telling my partner and should be done! Go right ahead with it!"

"Thanks!" agreed Ted. "That should be quite a deal if handled properly."

"By the way," inquired Mr. Todd, his eyes twinkling, "just how would

Copper Color
An attractive copper color can be obtained by mixing a chrome yellow paint or enamel with a small amount of burnt sienna color-in-oil.

Wire Production
Wire is produced from rods or coils by drawing the metal through dies, further reducing its diameter and increasing its length. In the smaller sizes diamond dies are used. Wire is coiled or wound on spools or reels after the final reduction to size. Copper wire may be drawn to a diameter finer than that of human hair. In this size the wire made from one wire bar would reach from New York to San Francisco and beyond.

Migrating Lemmings
Legend has it that migrating lemmings in the Scandinavian north move to the sea and try to swim in a vain search for the lost continent of Atlantis. Canadian lemmings are less likely to encounter water on their travels and usually perish of exhaustion or starvation. All types of lemmings, however, change from shy, timid creatures to bold, pugnacious animals on their migration march.

Snow Crystal Recorder
Science, pressing investigations into nature's every mood, has created a snow crystal recorder to "get the jump" on all types of snowstorms. Devised by technicians of an electrical manufacturing company for the U. S. Army signal corps and the office of naval research, the recorder prints on paper the geometric shape, size and frequency of occurrence of snow crystals falling in a storm.

Care of Muddy Shoes
Even though dry mud comes off shoes more easily than wet mud, specialists advise against the common practice of letting it dry on before brushing it off. Mud stains leather, and the longer it stays on the worse the stain is likely to be. Scrape off moist mud as promptly as possible and then wipe the leather clean with a soft cloth. Let shoes dry slowly and then polish. Mud should be wiped off leather gloves promptly.

Colonial Mansion
The maple drawing room in Philadelphia's famed Colonial mansion, Woodford, shows how effectively green walls can set off the beauty of fine maple furniture. The paneled dado and the cornice are painted soft fawn color while upper walls are finished in a mellow apple green that blends with the green upholstery of the sofa and wing chair. Draperies are brown and old ivory.

Modern Kitchen Colorful
An attractive modern kitchen has shelves and cabinets enameled in soft salmon-rose. The walls against which these cabinets are placed are coated in the same color. End walls are a light fern-green and the same color used to coat the drawer linings. Linoleum and work counter surfaces are brown, while door frames are dull silver to match the edging on the work counters.

What the Logger Leaves
The slash which the logger leaves has long been a problem of great concern. What to do with the tree tops has been debated throughout the entire history of lumbering, for slash is a highly combustible forest fire fuel. Fortunately, there is a growing realization that slash disposal is a necessary part of the forest protection program.

About 1,450 meteorites have been found all over the world—52 per cent of which now are represented in the collections of the Smithsonian institution.

Balzac was another enthusiast. He laid much of his success as a writer to coffee. "When one drinks coffee," he said, "ideas come marching in like an army." As for William Dean Howells, he, too, certainly admired "the cup of happiness." "It makes you think of all the pleasant things that ever happened to you," was what he said about it.

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

I was just wondering what the topic of conversation is today. I suppose of course it is the coming election and before it comes along, wouldn't you like to see the person you are voting for? Well there is one way of doing it and that is have us install the most modern, most up to date, most successful TV today, PHILCO.

If color is holding you back from purchasing one, I am afraid you are going to have a long wait. Then again Philco is always a jump ahead as the modern TV's are equipped so color can be added at such a time as it is available which will be at least 2 years or more.

I am selling several of your neighbors televisions and I don't see why you don't get yours.

Of course you may have to wait just a little while until the kind you want is available as TV is not only going over with a bang but has gone. What do I mean by that? Simply that the Philco television has improved so rapidly that they are so much in demand. The factory is working day and night trying to make them for you but you just won't let them get a stock built up and as far as I am concerned they leave my store almost as soon as received. Put your order in now, one-fourth down and 15 months to pay.

I am almost in a frame of mind to stress fans for you to cool yourselves but I will still stick to the idea that stoves are the thing to remind you about now even if the temperature this week has been almost ninety. This unseasonable weather means I have more oil heaters on hand than usual so if you are thinking of getting one, drop around and see the new styles we have. Yes they are made so you need not worry of a down draft on the flame.

Prices as I said would rise and sure enough you can figure on paying about ten per cent more for most anything you buy.

I am making an exception on my wall paper as each roll was marked at the time it was placed in our bins and those prices are final. So if you want to save ten per cent on wall paper, come in and make your selection. We are still going to charge 2 cents a yard for our border regardless of it costing us much more.

Just received over half a ton of that paste that sticks and sticks and of course it doesn't show yellow.

We have plenty of it for you when you need it one, two and five pound bags.

It is only seven weeks now till Xmas and I again want to stress the point of not putting off buying the things or laying them away for the most loved people in the world, your family. Think of them now and they will think of you later.

I am putting in quite a stock of the things that would make any woman happy and for the man, if you want to keep him home, get him a TV if you want to keep him away don't get one. Talk Peace Not War. Your help is almost accomplished.

1949 with the receipts under the net income law, gas and cigarette tax laws would have been sufficient to meet the state's expenses on the increased base demanded by the Governor.

"It seems crystal clear that the income tax increases were neither necessary nor justifiable and equally clear that promises to reduce taxes are useless since the tax law itself provides for reduction by return to the net income tax law.

"Now, let's review the long term debt saddled upon the state by the present administration. Here, too, the largest per capita state debt in the nation resulted from the administration's effort.

"The present administration must take the blame for the increase from $8,000,000 to $38,000,000 in Delaware's bonded debt. Previous Republican administrations had advocated 'ear-marking' inheritance taxes to the sinking fund to liquidate a reasonable debt. The present excessive debt makes such a fiscal action even more desirable. This is especially true and was urged upon the present administration in view of the large amounts anticipated, and since realized from this source.

"It is now obvious to all taxpayers, Democrats and Republicans that these facts and conclusions stand the tests of logic beyond refutation. The administration has admitted as much, has even adopted an apologetic and appeasing attitude. Its promises of reduction are intended to mislead, since they know the reduction is already provided for by law.

"The unnecessary collection of state's taxes should be studiously avoided in view of the increased need for federal revenue to de-fray the costs of preparedness now."

Demon Hanover, winner of the 1948 Hambletonian Stake, will form the one-horse nucleus of a new harness racing stable which is being built by Harrison R. Hoyt, Bethel, Conn., hatmaker.

Hoyt, only amateur ever to win the Grand Circuit classic, is disposing of four of the five head in his present stable and will launch the 1951 campaign next April with The Demon and a pair of untried 2-year-olds.

The 39-year-old Connecticut reinsman has no particular program in mind for his new string.

"I just thought I'd get rid of what I had," he said yesterday, "and concentrate on The Demon and the two yearlings I bought at Lexington."

That means that a trio of 1950

2-year-olds and one 3-year-old will be disposed of. All are slated to go on the auction block during the standardbred sale in Harrisburg next week.

On of the 2-year-olds, the pacer Mighty Chuck, has compiled an enviable record at Saratoga Raceway this season where he has been one of the top juveniles. The others are the pacer, Mr. Counsel, the trotter Dear Song and the 3-year-old Snappy Spencer.

For the past three years Hoyt has been traveling from coast to coast to drive Demon Hanover, one of the best of the present free for all brigade. In addition to the 1948 Hambletonian, Demon has won the $50,000 Roosevelt Two Mile Trot and a host of other rich events to make him the sport's leading money winning trotting stallion with a bankroll of approximately $150,000.

The newcomers to the Hoyt stable are the trotting filly Princess Decca, a $1400 buy, and the trotting colt Clockwork who cost $1000. Both are by Phonograph and both will be kept eligible to the 1952 Hambletonian.

Chris Spencer, the trotting pride of the state of Vermont, has returned to his home farm at Shelburne for a deserved rest after a strenuous 1950 campaign. The gelding, owned by Dunbar W. Bostick, a U. S. Trotting Association director, will run out in pasture there for two months before going south to begin preparation for his 1951 campaign.

The 8-year-old son of Spencer wound up his 1950 season in a blaze of glory by knocking off a pair of $25,000 stakes in the last two weeks of the campaign. He won the Gotham at Yonkers and then the Toledo Times at Toledo, O. in the space of seven days. The trotting mare Proximity and the great Pronto Don were numbered among his victims in each race.

Chris Spencer has won approximately $168,000 making him the sport's leading money-winning gelding. Only the two mares, Proximity and Goldsmith Maid, have won more.

Two Canadian-born trainers, Lorne Tolhurst and Al Winger, have signed contracts to train private harness racing stables in 1951.

Tolhurst, 37, will handle the Peter Pan Stable of Canton, O., next year. Dave Resnick of Canton and Washington, Pa., owns the Peter Pan horses which are usually prominent on the Grand Circuit.

Driving principally at Buffalo Raceway and Batavia Downs in Western New York, Tolhurst has compiled an excellent record since he came here at the end of the war.

This year he accounted for the two fastest miles at Batavia with the trotter Silver Riddle and the pacer Cardinal Priest. Silver Riddle gained a measure of fame by beating Proximity in one heat at Syracuse, N. Y. with Tolhurst at the helm.

Winger, who is 30, will train horses for the Poplar Hill Farm of Lexington, Ky., next season.

He wound up the 1950 campaign by establishing a season's record for three-year-old trotters with Darn Flashy at Lexington last month.
