7,000-Year-Old Spear Discovered In Nevada Cache

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.-Anthropologists from the University of California have uncovered implements fashioned by primitive man in about 5,000 B. C., the most ancient reported so far in the western hemisphere.

Students working under Robert F. Heizer, associate professor of anthropology, discovered the prehistoric cache in a dry dock shelter at the base of an overhanging cliff near Lovelock, Nevada.

The "carbon 14" method was used to determine the age of wooden spear shafts buried under deposits of rock, dust and bat guano. Their age was fixed at 7,300 to 9,000 years

In the upper layers at the excavation site, the archeologists found basket and arrow fragments of relatively recent origin, dating back from about 2,500 years.

Lake gravels at the bottom of the site were estimated to be 25,000 years old.

From these findings and a survey of other sites in the area, scientists now believe that most of western Nevada was once covered by a fresh glacial lake about 600 feet deep.

Heizer said the area was first occupied by man between 7,000 and 9,000 years ago after the lake had receded and then was abandoned because of a dry weather cycle.

The evidence shows that the section was not occupied again until 2,500 or 3,000 years ago, Heizer said. He said the inhabitants who lived in the area during the later period were ancestors of the Piaute indians, but the identity of the earliest group was not known.

Foe of Meters, She Scorns $1 Fine for 6-Hour 'Term'

ITHACA, N. Y .- Mrs. T. R. Briggs, wife of a Cornell university chemistry professor, objects to feeding a parking meter. As a result she was sentenced to a six-hour jail term.

Mrs. Briggs objected in police court to paying a "double tax" She told Judge Edward J. Casey that as a taxpayer she already had paid once for use of city streets and that the city's action in charging her again through parking meters constituted a double tax.

"It serves my conscience better to do it this way," Mrs. Briggs said as she marched off to the brig.

Science Discovers Oldest Known Village in World

CHICAGO, Ill.—Science has discovered the oldest known village site in the world.

It is a block square village site in northeastern Iraq that is little more than a mound of dirt-called Jarmo. Chicago scientists, who tested samples from the village on their atomic calendar report it is about 7.000 years old—the oldest known village site.

An expedition from the University of Chicago's oriental institute will go there this winter to search for evidence of "the first great economic revolution in human his-

Robert J. Braidwood, associate professor of old world pre-history and anthropology, said diggers expect to find evidence of town planning—the first row houses and walls known to history.

A representative of the Iran government stumbled onto the site in 1946. Scientists made a preliminary examination of the site three years ago, finding wheat and barley grains, utensils for grinding them. flint tools and snail shells.

Chemical analysis of the amount of radioactive carbon 14 in the snail shells fixed the age of the site. All living things absorb radioactive carbon from the atmosphere in the growing and living process. This halts when the plant or creature dies and the carbon 14 then starts losing its radioactivity at a known

THE CITY COUNCIL MEETS-AT HAGERSTOWN

Evidently the little city of Hagerstown, Md., takes itself seriously. Its City Council, in solemn executive session, pondered over the fate of the world, improvised a mental Archimedian lever, pried the earth from its moorings of gravity and turned it over and over, searching for eternal truth. Then a beam of heavenly light pierced the pall of gloom. They had found a panacea for the ills of the world -they demanded that Dean Acheson resign!

Remember the time the governor of Maryland called out the militia years ago because of a condition on the Eastern Shore, and Henry L. Mencken dipped his pen in vitrol and wrote of that section: "It's the last stand of tin-pan evangelism; miles from a lemon and farther from Wartime a book." Mencken didn't mean that, but the people thought he did, and Salisburians boycotted Baltimore because the Can help us very much Sage of Howard Street's article appeared in the Baltimore When wartime comes, and sad-Sun.

Then George Jean Nathan, Mencken's writing partner, wrote an even more scathing article and it was published Must tell their boy good-bye; in a New York paper. Danged if a few people on the Eastern Shore didn't boycott New York. Bagdad on the Subway staggered under the impact but managed to survive. Somehow orother, we believe Acheson will manage to get along very well-if the City Council of Hagerstown is his most trenchant critic.

Kaiser Wilhelm was embellished with lithographs, the most ornate in the world, but he came to his end in an ash heap beside a woodpile near the village of Doorn, in the Netherlands.

The Birth Of A Year

The volume of the years Has turned another page And added to its number An extra notch of age.

Quick as the flash of lightning; Fast as the breaking morn; Another year has died; A new one has been born.

In the days that's just begun? No one knows the future For year of '51

Will there be peace and freedom For everyone on earth? Will there be tears and sorrow, Or happy days of mirth?

We will not know the answer, Till one more year has stepped aside

To let a new one live.

Miss Jovce Gruwell of Felton Wins National Honors

Long range food preservation plans won for Joyce Gruwell, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Gruwell, of Felton, high honors in the 4-H Canning Achievement program. For her fine record, Kerr Glass Company provided for her recent trip to the Chicago 4-H Club Congress.

A 4-H member for five years, Joyce has completed seven projects, and canning has been her favorite. She learned how to select and preserve fruits, vegetables, poultry and meat produced on the farm. Joyce has been able to reduce the family food bill considerably. Use of home-canned foods also provide for well-balanced meals the year round.

Although a young lady, she has established an enviable record. She canned 380 jars of food, unassisted, in 1950, and 267 with help. Joyce has written 12 articles, given seven talks, and been reporter for her club.

Friendship-Four Thousand Miles Apart

Never quite got the hang of how to play chess myself, but I'll say this for the game—it started one of the strongest friendships I know of: between Dad Wilson in our town and a fellow in Sudbury, England.

The two of them have never met or seen each other—but for eight or nine years they've been playing chess by mail together. Dad puzzles over the Englishman's latest letter, takes a couple of days to think it over, and then airmails a chart of his next move.

Dad always thinks best with mellow glass of beer beside his chessboard. And the fellow in England writes that he does the same. "Almost as if we were in the same room," says Dad contentedly.

From where I sit, you can talk about diplomacy and foreign policy, but it's often little friendly things-like a game of chess or a glass of beer-that can make for tolerance and understanding . . . between people of different nations, between folks here at home!
