

Former Harringtonian Held in Automobile Theft Ring in Wilmington

Clarence W. Graham Held on Charges of Transporting Stolen Automobiles; Sentenced for Manslaughter in 1926

Clarence W. Graham, 57, formerly of Harrington and until recently a used car dealer on Hazel del Avenue, Minquale, was arrested Wednesday by Wilmington detectives and FBI agents, on charges of transporting stolen automobiles interstate.

The arrest of Graham was the result of investigation conducted over the past three months by Wilmington Detective Bureau, Delaware State Police, Pennsylvania State Police, investigators of the National Automobile Theft Bureau, and special agents of the FBI.

This investigation involved an automobile theft ring that has been operating in Delaware and Pennsylvania over the past several years.

Cars stolen by this ring have been traced to a garage operated by Graham at Minquale, and were later sold to dealers from different states.

Stolen cars have been recovered by FBI agents in Delaware, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Connecticut. When recovered, many cars were found to have been repainted, motors switched, chassis welded, and parts interchanged in many ways to make identification difficult.

The investigation was carried on by FBI agents working out of the Baltimore office which is headed by C. H. Carson, special agent in charge; Capt. Edward S. Rich, of the Wilmington Detective Bureau, and Capt. Carl Schnetter of the Delaware State Police.

Owners of stolen cars from Pennsylvania and Delaware have identified their vehicles, stolen in some instances, over a year ago, from various unusual marks placed on cars, and, in one instance, a thorough search of a car recovered by FBI agents, and handled by the ring revealed the registration card of the owner behind the ash-tray on the dashboard where it had been placed by the owner prior to its theft.

On the basis of information developed through the investigation, FBI agents and Delaware State Police searched a garage formerly operated by Graham at Minquale under authority of a federal search warrant.

This search, they say, revealed numerous sets of dies which are used to stamp motor numbers, many serial plates of automobiles, and property which is identifiable with that in stolen cars handled by the ring.

This garage, the FBI says, had complete equipment for switching motors, welding over auto parts numbers, and repainting stolen cars.

Graham was arrested on the basis of a federal warrant issued by U. S. Commissioner Albert F. Polk on Jan. 16, which charged Graham with transporting or causing to be transported, a 1948 Chevrolet sedan, the property of the Whitehead Metal Products Company, Philadelphia, from Media to Wilmington on or about April 5, 1949, and also with transporting a 1948 Hudson the property of E. Nole Weaver, Malvern, Pa., from Malvern to Wilmington, on or about June 16, 1950, with knowledge that these cars were stolen. The Chevrolet was recovered by Wilmington detectives and FBI agents, and the Hudson at Bridgeport, Conn.

While a resident in Harrington, Graham was convicted in 1926 of manslaughter, and was sentenced to a term of imprisonment for 20 years. However, he was released on parole in February, 1936.

Harrington Has New Restaurant

Irene's Restaurant, on U. S. 13, opposite the Ace Manufacturing Company, opened for business this week. Harry and Irene Adams, who have operated five other restaurants in town at various times, are the new proprietors. The eating place, in a building owned by Emil Stubbs, has one of the most attractive dining rooms in this area. In addition to the usual business, the establishment will cater to banquets and private parties.

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, it is the conviction of the United Council of Church Women, in fellowship with all those who seek the divine guidance of our Creator, that the many problems confronting us today can be solved only with the help of Almighty God; and

WHEREAS, World Day of Prayer has been designated on an international, interdenominational basis to join the peoples of the world together in furtherance of the doctrine "The Lord is Thy Keeper"; and

WHEREAS, it is order for the church to fulfill its important role of exerting practical witness to the fact of God's purpose in human affairs, thereby advancing the international cause of peace on earth, it is necessary that we be ever mindful of the vast power of prayer in furthering His word and His work and in combating the forces of evil that surround us;

Abraham Lincoln said: "I have been driven many times to my knees by the overwhelming conviction that I had nowhere else to go; my own wisdom and that all around me seemed insufficient for that day."

NOW THEREFORE, I, E. B. Rash, Mayor of the City of Harrington, do hereby proclaim Friday, February 9, 1951, as

"WORLD DAY OF PRAYER" in the City of Harrington, and call upon the people of Harrington to observe this day as an individual invitation to attend a specific World Day of Prayer meeting; and, if the duties of some are such as to make this impossible, I urge them to pause in their work for one minute of prayer at High Noon, to ask that God give us light to guide us, courage to support us, and love to reunite us. I further urge every church having bells or chimes to ring them once or twice at 12:00 noon for the observance of the minute of prayer.

Carvel Appoints MacCollum To Accident Board

The State Senate Monday confirmed seven appointments made by Gov. Elbert N. Carvel—one of which placed Dr. Isaac J. MacCollum of Wyoming on the Industrial Accident Board and apparently ended a controversy which has involved this post for the past two years.

Dr. MacCollum, former lieutenant governor, was named to the three-man board effective Dec. 30, 1950. Confirmation of the appointment brings the board under Democratic control for the first time since 1941. John L. Barr of Georgetown, a Republican, is president, and James Mullin of Wilmington, a Democrat, are the other two members. Francis D. Republican, is secretary.

March of Dimes Contributions

The following are the names of persons who have contributed to the March of Dimes drive now in progress throughout the nation. Fifty million dollars is the national goal and of this amount Harrington, Farmington and vicinity have been assigned a quota of $1300. This community contributed that amount in 1949 and $1050 in 1950. If we are to meet our obligation in this very necessary project of fighting infantile paralysis it will be necessary to "forget" "dimes" and contribute "dollars". H. E. Quillen made the initial contribution and Mayor Rash made the second.

Need For a State Family Court

Hundreds of cases where juveniles are concerned come before the courts of Kent and Sussex every year, Judge Ernest V. Keith, of Dover, told Harrington Rotarians Tuesday night, and there is no adequate agency to make the proper disposal of these cases.

Children, in such filthy condition that their very presence is nauseating to others close by, come to some of our schools, and yet the father is making $30.00 per week and has a $400.00 radio set.

Irresponsible parents, said Judge Keith, bring their children to the court and want them placed in some institution, thus relieving the parents of any semblance of responsibility.

Little children have been brought to the courts, not with marks or scars upon their bodies, but with festering sores, as the result of inhuman treatment by their parents. Children have thrown bricks through windows, not with malicious intent, but with the hope of being arrested and sent somewhere away from the sordid environment of what is mistakenly called home.

"Only hundreds of cases are called to our attention," continued Judge Keith, "but thousands of cases are lying out yonder unreported."

The judge is urging support of a bill to come before the legislature which will create a State Family Court. This is no vision, something, no leap in the dark, but a basically sound reform patterned after the New Castle County Family Court, which has been in successful operation some six or seven years. The New Castle County Family Court is operated at a cost of $120,000 per year, $60,000 of which is paid by the county, the remainder by the state. It more than justifies its existence, as the States Government collection of $398,342 in only one year, direct and indirect obligations, notes, and debentures, 1,121,747.02 warrants, 203,675.21.

Mayor Explains Program For Current Year

To me, to love and to be loved by your neighbors and your City, is a greater gain than building bigger barns. Many of the complaints brought to us are petty things between neighbors. As Mr. Burgess stated in his January 5th editorial, in a small city all are neighbors.

Mr. McVey made a clean fight and accepted his defeat like a true sportsman. He congratulated me when one-third of the votes were counted. He offered his full support and cooperation.

Taxes We have adopted a policy of rigid economy and a two year plan of City affairs. 1951—Pay the balance of the old debt at local bank. 1952—Reduce the tax rate. All supplies and labor are costing more, and there are times when we have to say "no"; but we do consider all petitions presented to us. As you well know, when Mr. Sylvester was elected mayor, he not only found the cupboard bare, but also a huge local debt of $23,000.

Parking Meters We invite the public, especially the business people, to give their opinion on parking meters pro and con. The income would be used to help lower taxes.

Civilian Defense We plan a reasonable civilian defense program and keep an eye on world conditions. All such programs require time and some money.

New Charter There would be some advantage in a new and more modern Charter; however, it would not benefit us a great deal during the next two years. We shall have very little money to spend beyond the necessary operation of the City's regular business.

I wish to thank my many friends for their support in my work in the administration of City affairs. They are good men, the men you elected, and they serve you with the utmost integrity.

Election for mayor was for two years to conform to Charter. Consequently, from now on mayoralty election will be on even years, instead of off-years, as formerly.

Civilian Police to Be Organized at County Meeting

There will be a public meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Social Hall of Dover High School for persons interested in civil defense, and especially for those interested in civilian police.

Col. Harry S. Shaw, head of the Delaware State Police, will address the gathering on "The Importance of Civilian Police," while Sgt. C. C. Seitz, also of the state police, will talk on "Importance of Civilian Police Training."

Sgt. Seitz has been assigned to Kent County as training officer of the Kent County Civilian Police.

A movie, "A Tale From Two Cities," will be shown.

Both men and women are invited to the meeting, at which time civilian police chiefs for the county will be appointed.

ALL-STAR LINE-UP FOR '51!

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

Y. Your first eye-smacking look at the line of lovelies pictured here tells you that they've got what it takes in visual charm.

But the fellow who said a picture speaks louder than a thousand words wasn't talking about these superbly able 1951 Buicks.

Sure, they're smart to look at—smart in style and smart in dress.

But they're also smartly powered—smartly engineered—smartly priced. And it would take a book to describe in full their deep-down goodness.

What's been done for '51 is to take the best automobiles that ever bore the Buick name—and top them.

There's the SPECIAL which can accurately be titled "the newest car in the world"—new in structure, new in power, new in dimensions, new in thrift—and potent in price appeal.

There's the SUPER—that looks and is a smart new edition of its "best seller" forebear.

Then there's the ROADMASTER—that coddles your anatomy on luxurious new fabrics and cloud-soft cushions—pampers your pride with its lordly bearing—shoots a delicious tingle right up your spine by the exuberance of its power and action.

We could go on and on. This is the car that "breathes through its nose." This is the car that sports a brand-new front-end styling. This is the car with new high-visibility instrument dials, more easily read at night. This is the car with glare-and-heat-reducing glass† and a host of other news-making features you can't afford to miss.

So your No. 1 date this week end is with your Buick dealer. It won't take you long to conclude that he's offering the smartest buys of the year.

Little Known

Selenium, a metal little known outside the industrial field, has a unique role in the manufacture of glass. It neutralizes the green color caused by iron impurities, and when added in sufficient quantities, turns the glass to a ruby color.

$9,000 Damage In Dover Blaze

Fire damage to a building in the heart of Dover's business section early Monday morning, from which one occupant jumped from a second-story window and another, affected by smoke, was borne down a ladder to safety by firemen, was estimated Monday at about $9,000 by Fire Chief Ralph H. Boyer of the Robbins Hose Company.

The fire broke out in the second-floor apartment over the Peterson restaurant and taproom on Lookerman Street, a short distance east of Governors Avenue, busiest corner in the city, about 12:40 o'clock Monday morning.

Woman Drops 18 Feet

Mrs. Evelyn Peterson Fairless, who operates the business, dropped about 18 feet to the ground from the window of her bedroom in the rear, suffering injuries which necessitated her being taken to the Kent General Hospital in the hospital ambulance.

Armstrong (Dick) Cullen, who is connected with the operation of the restaurant and taproom, was aroused by smoke in his bedroom in the front of the building. From the window where he supported himself by an outside sign, he was taken down the ladder to the street by the rescuing firefighters.

Chief Boyer gave tentative damage figures of $1500 to the contents and from $7500 to $8000 to the building. He explained that while the cause of the fire had not been definitely determined, the blaze started in the rear bedroom occupied by Mrs. A. Fairless.

Second Alarm Sounded

When the firemen arrived, the rear of the second floor was enveloped by raging flames and Chief Boyer directed the sounding of a second alarm. Combating the fire with streams of water from the ground and from a roof of another building at the rear, they got the fire under control in comparatively short time, however.

The flames gutted the two rear rooms of the second-floor apartment and burned through the roof. Firemen succeeded in confining them to that section excepting a small hole burned through a partition into the kitchen of the living quarters on the second floor of the State Restaurant, which adjoins the Peterson establishment on the west. The blaze did not get through to the J. C. Penney Co. store on the east of the building. Firemen had to cut holes in the roof of the Peterson building to allow the dense smoke to escape and firemen entering the structure had to wear smoke masks.

Reduce Losses of Foals

Some of the horses that are romping home ahead of the field today owe their victories—and their lives—to new scientific discoveries. According to veterinarians at the University of Kentucky, losses of unborn and new born foals due to infections have been reduced 20 percent in the bluegrass area of Kentucky within the past few years. Better means of diagnosing ailments of foals and improved disease-fighting drugs are cited as principal factors in the loss reduction.

Dairy Cattle Disease

Mastitis is the most costly disease of dairy cattle today.

Harold Brown, of the U. S. Navy, has been transferred to Little Creek, to the Seabees. He was home recently.

Mr. James D. Singletory, 236 Oak Street, tree trimmer for the Superior Co. in Louisville, Ky., thinks that keeping one's self in a good humor is about the most valuable asset a person can possess, and when your job requires personal contact with many different types of people, being good humored is not only being pleasant with one's self, it's an absolute necessity in business.

Here is Mr. Singletory's statement: "Before I started taking HADACOL there wasn't a person in the world who could get along with me—seemed like the least little thing would upset me. I was tired all the time and it really affected my work. I had a hard time sleeping—just roll and toss and eat nap all night long. I didn't eat properly either. Then one day I heard how other folks with the same trouble I had were being helped by HADACOL. I tried it and noticed an improvement after the first couple of bottles. Now I feel good—get along with everybody—I'm not a bit nervous—sleep like a log, and appetite why, I can't hardly support myself. I eat so much. Yes, sir—HADACOL is really fine and I recommend it to all my friends."

Many Thousands... are praising the wonders of HADACOL—folks whose systems lacked Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin. HADACOL is wonderful in the way it builds up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when iron is needed) to carry these great Vitamins and Minerals to every body organ—to every part of the body.

Now Is the Time... to give HADACOL a chance to help you, as it has helped others whose systems lacked Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron. Remember, there are no substitutes for HADACOL. Always insist on the genuine HADACOL. No risk involved. Buy a bottle of HADACOL, either the trial size, $1.19, or the large family or hospital size, $3.39, and if HADACOL does not help you, your money will be refunded. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order it direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana.

CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

The Saturday Evening Post called him a great editor, and he was all that and more. Editor of papers in the big cities of the Middle West, he came to New York and became editor-in-chief of the McNaught Syndicate, the greatest literary syndicate in the United States. In this position, he edited every word ever written for the syndicate by Will Rogers, O. O. McIntyre and Irvin Cobb.

When O. O. McIntyre died, at the request of Mrs. McIntyre, Charley became the conductor of the McIntyre column, the most widely read in the world, "New York Day by Day."

He was the author of many novels, among them "Pieces of Eight" and "Kansas Irish." He was the final authority on the lore of the famous pirates of earlier days. He is listed in "Who's Who in America," and has won world-wide acclaim in the field of letters.

He was born on a Kansas farm, near Wichita, hulled black walnuts and carried them to town to sell for a pittance in order to have a little money of his own. By his own admission, he served as a waiter in the best 15c-restaurants in order to pay his way through school.

In these days when so many phonies attain affluence and boast of the prestige of family, Charley Driscoll's candor is refreshing. "I have no respect," he said, "for the person who is ashamed of his family or the place where he was born. My father arrived here from Ireland without a pair of shoes and with only one dollar in his pocket. My mother was a domestic servant."

Charley was a friend of ours, one of the best we ever had. He and Gelett Burgess came down here one night in May, 1938, to be the speakers at our Rotary Club, and it was the most outstanding Inter-Meeting and Ladies' Night ever held on the Eastern Shore. Neither would accept one penny for their services—neither would accept expenses.

We attended many of his famous literary parties, usually given between the 12th and 20th of December, at his beautiful home in Yonkers. There we met the literati of America, there we became acquainted with such notables as Dorothy Thompson, Amy Vanderbilt, Homer Croy, Dale Carnegie, Gen. George Warburton Lewis, Wythe Williams, Jed Kiley, Charles Morrow Wilson, Bernie Hogarth, George Matthew Adams, Harry Carey—and many others.

Tuesday afternoon the sad news came that a great writer would never again pick up his pen, that a grand gentleman and a treasured friend had departed for fields immortal.

A POW'FUL RICOMMEND!

As the late Senator Joe Bailey of Texas was entering an outdoor audience where a candidate for office was spouting about his virtues, he met an aged Negro leaving the gathering. "Who is that speaker, uncle?" Joe asked. "Ah doan know just who he is," responded the aged Negro, "but he sho' do give hisself some pow'ful ricommend!"

This incident came to our mind one day last week when we visited a Wilmington service club. There, for the first time, we heard a speaker lose an audience inside of two minutes; there, for the first time, we heard a speaker invite nothing but disgust within three minutes—and leave every member of the audience with that sick-at-the-stomach feeling—by unadulterated bragging about himself and his alleged achievements.

"Yesterday at Lancaster," began this shy, modest creature, "I spoke to an enormous audience and my speech was broadcast by all radio stations." How many stations does Lancaster have? "It was published in all the newspapers," he continued, patting his back with both fragile hands. (The Wilmington newspapers didn't even mention his address in that city.) "Then I began to think"—this in itself was bragging—"am I right in what I think and say, I, who can sway the opinion of so many people?"

"And I extricated myself only by my ability and courage," he crowed, as he applauded himself.

"In the Philippines," said the violet, "the natives came to me and said: 'Americans are crooks. You are the only one we can trust.' I, by the way, arranged for President Roosevelt's last conference.

"You have never heard one person lift his voice—with the exception of this speaker," he bashfully proclaimed. We knew he was lifting his voice, he was lifting it about himself.

"I will shape the course of this nation," he yelled. If he does, it will be in a hell of a shape.

At the conclusion of his eulogy about himself, the club members stood to sing. The song leader, Charley Southwell, led them in the stirring "America." However, it seemed to our sensitive ears that there was a discordant note; it seemed to us that the self-acclaimed genius was singing a ditty popular some twenty or so years ago: "I Love Me!"

The speaker claimed to be a graduate of the Wilmington High School away back in those halcyon days of yore, and he further claimed to hold three degrees from the University of Michigan. If this statement be correct, both the Wilmington High School and the University of Michigan do not—or did not—teach courses in modesty and humility.

Variety of Hort. Exhibits At Farm and Home Week

Five horticultural exhibits on vegetables, fruit, forestry, weed control, and plant deficiencies will be on display in Wolf Hall, Newark, during Farm and Home Week, Jan. 30-Feb. 2.

To give Delaware apple growers a clear picture of what the changes in federal apple grades mean, the horticulture department has planned an exhibit using actual fruit. It will illustrate the changes by comparison. New Irish potato varieties will be shown.

Professor L. R. Detjen is preparing an exhibit on useful woods from native Delaware trees. The ways in which these woods are used will be shown by actual examples.

Weed control in strawberries is the subject of still another exhibit.

"Hunger Signs in Tomatoes" will show various nutrient deficiencies in tomato plants. Farmers can check the appearance of these plants against their own tomato fields next summer. Correction methods—fertilization—will be given for the different deficiencies.

Tomato Plant Exhibit To Show Effects of Lack Of Trace Elements in Diet

Tomato plants, sick from lack of certain elements in their "diet," will be on exhibit at Farm and Home Week at the University of Delaware, Jan. 30 to Feb. 2.

Bill Tarbell, Kent County agricultural agent, told about the exhibit to be set up by the horticulture department.

"The exhibit will feature actual tomato plants grown in the greenhouse so as to show deficiency symptoms. Some of the deficiencies can be found in the tomato fields in Delaware," said

James R. Wheatley, assistant in horticulture, who is growing the plants for the exhibit.

"We are trying to show symptoms resulting from lack of eleven different elements. These elements are nitrogen, potash, phosphorus, copper, boron, zinc, calcium, magnesium, manganese, sulfur, and molybdenum. We will also have one healthy plant for comparison," he said.

The exhibit is part of a complete program on the tomato industry in Delaware, and will be in Wolf Hall on the campus of the University, during Farmers' Week.

Vo-Ag Boys Attend Pennsylvania Farm Show

Twenty-eight Vo-Ag boys and five adult leaders attended the Pennsylvania Farm Show at Harrisburg, last Fri., Jan. 12. Almost every type of new farm machinery and a wide variety of livestock and farm produce were on display. Most of the judging activities and the demonstrations were completed by Friday, although the group was able to see the judging and sale of beef cattle and fat lambs.

The group traveled in the "Armyworm" school bus and in three cars with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hobbs, Archie Feagan, Melvin Luff, and George Vapaa.

The boys who went were: Harry Reed, Donald Jarrell, Charles Baker, Frank Bradley, Paul Chvostal, Charles Cain, Wayne Cooper, Gary Harrington, Gary Homewood, Edward Hobbs, Allen Hickman, Eugene Porter, Edwin Seward, Everett Warrington, Walter Voss, Bobby Yoder, Leon Minner, John Langrell, Robert Shultie, Frank Quillen, Randall Smith, James Hopkins, Charles Reed, Preston Beauchamp, Billy Bowdle, Raymond Welch, Duane Bloom, and Jimmie Martin.

Five boys and their advisor of the Harrington FFA Chapter attended the annual state FFA leadership training conference and banquet last week at the Caesar Rodney School.

Billy Bradley was awarded a $10 prize as a winner in the Efficient Milk Producers Contest sponsored by the National Dairy Producers Corporation. The award was made by Dr. E. C. Davenport following the banquet. Billy was one of nine boys in the state to receive a prize in this contest.

The leadership training program followed the banquet and it was conducted by the various State FFA officers. Each explained the duties of his office and told what local officers can do to help improve his chapter. There were 130 boys from chapters all over the state at the conference.

Social Security

Queries Answered

Questions relating to Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance will be answered in this paper or by mail. Address all queries to Social Security Administration, Old Customs House Building, 6th & King Street, Wilmington, Del.

Q. Can a woman over 65, who retires from employment receive Old-Age Insurance benefits for her dependent mother over 85 as well as for herself?

A. The Social Security Act does not provide for old-age insurance payments to dependent parents of living wage earners. Payments can be made only to a wage earner age 65, his wife age 65 or over and his unmarried children under 18. However, in case of death of the wage earner, it is possible under certain circumstances, to pay monthly benefits to the dependent parents over 65 of the deceased wage earner.

Q. I have been working under social security for the past seven years. I have just taken a position with the Federal Government which is not covered by social security. Is there any way that I can continue payments into the Social Security Fund until I become fully insured?

A. No. Under the present law there is no provision for voluntary contributions to the Social Security Fund. However, if in the future, you return to a job covered by social security, the wages you then earn will be credited to your same account and will continue to build up your record towards a fully insured status.

Q. If a person who is receiving social security benefits dies, what becomes of his social security payments? Does his wife who survives him collect said payments in addition to her half?

A. In the situation above, the widow would not collect the deceased's payments in addition to her half. Her benefit would increase from one-half of the amount the deceased was receiving to three-quarters of that amount.

Kindest Praise

There's been a lot of kind things said.

Both of the living and the dead. Things that memories will hold And cherish 'til the days grow old;

Things that touch a pride-filled heart, And make the happy flutters start. But here's the kindest praise I've heard,

"I need no contract; just your word."

"Your word is good enough for me, In years gone by; in years to be, And what is more, it's nice indeed, To know your word is all I need."

FARM NEWS AND REVIEW

Cain's Identify Farm and Use Farm Stationery; Raise Angus

Mr. and Mrs. George Cain believe in identifying their farm and use farm stationery. On the Frederica nine-foot road, they have an attractive sign, "Fair View Farms."

The sign, painted by Arthur Sipple, of Camden, is an advertisement for the Cains' purebred Angus, more of which will be sold later.

Fair View Farms, composed of three farms, also have its own printed letterheads, envelopes, and statements. After all, farming is a business and should be conducted as such.

Cain recently purchased a purebred Angus bull and also has 25 cows of Blackbird and Epionian bloodlines. He has handled Angus a year and a half. The cattle run on a mixed pasture of ladino clover, alsike, and redtop.

The Cains reside on a farm on which Albert Stout lived until he lost his life in a fall from the top of a windmill. The late Phil Shultie also once lived on it. Mr. and Mrs. Cain market from 25 to 27 thousand broilers every three months. While a substantial number are crossbreds, some 11,500 are New Hampshire Reds. Cain says the dressing plants claim the straight breeds dress out a little better.

Son Charles Cain is interested in purebred Hampshire hogs. The senior Cain also has 1000 spruce trees under way for Christmas trees.

We will write an article later on the trees.

Mrs. Cain has several old maps and deeds concerning the farm and the millpond pond, known as Thistlewood's pond. We will write an article on this pond and the farm and publish pictures of the maps at a later date. In case we forget, we would like readers to remind us. About dogwood time, we want to take a picture, too, of Butler's Branch and the home of D. E. Handley in the background.

Collison Believes In Jerseys

Ray Collison, Harrington, on Dan Link's 1000-Road, has been shipping milk to Pet Milk Company's Greensboro plant for the last 12 years. The Collison farm is located two miles northeast of Burtsville.

Long before Ray started farming his father had bred and raised an exceptionally fine herd of Jerseys. So naturally, since childhood, Ray's interest and preference has inclined toward the Jersey breed.

Ray started producing milk in 1949. He has a fine herd of 25 Jersey cows, mostly of the 1949 and 1948 models. He has a fine herd of 25 Jersey cows, mostly of the 1949 and 1948 models. He has a fine herd of 25 Jersey cows, mostly of the 1949 and 1948 models.

pared with other electric and standard brooding methods. One of these is an electric conducting plate of glass. It is suspended in a hover above the chicks, and radiates heat. Another radiant type brooder has heating cable buried in a concrete floor.

Early in January, 1900 chicks were started with each system. Half are New Hampshire Reds, half are Red-Rock Cross chicks. Dr. Waller explained that fuel costs, installation costs, and other factors will be carefully recorded. At the end of the experiment, in which gas and coal stoves are being used as controls, accurate information on comparative costs will be available for the first time.

Professor Karl Seeger will supervise the Georgetown research. The Delaware Power and Light Company, General Electric, and the Corning Glass Works are co-operating with the Agricultural Experiment Station in the project.

New Bulletin on Certified Kenland Red Clover

Certified seed of Kenland, a new variety of red clover, is now available to Delaware and Maryland farmers.

And a new bulletin, "Certified Kenland Red Clover," published co-operatively by the Delaware and Maryland Agricultural Extension Services, is now available at the three county agricultural extension offices or from the Information Office, Wolf Hall, Newark.

The bulletin states that "This variety is important because on the average it will produce 60 per cent more red clover hay per acre than can be had from planting commercial seed brought into these states." It goes on to discuss Kenland for hay production, seed production, seed sources, the national foundation seed project and certified seed sources, cost of Kenland, and how to get maximum yields from Kenland stands.

Mrs. Randall Hill Likes Her Freezer

Mrs. Randall Hill, who lives on Route 13 north of town, likes her freezer. The Hills killed hogs last week and now the box, of 11 cu. feet, is filled with pork products, some chickens, and fruits and vegetables.

Mrs. Hill is not very fond of canning. That is one reason why she has the freezer. It also contains string and lima beans, corn, strawberries, and peaches. The Hills never had too much luck with curing meats, but the freezer provided the solution to this problem.

Hill sometimes conducts trapshoots on his place. Recently a windstorm demolished an aluminum shed on his place. The picture may be seen on this page.

John Abbott Jr. Believes In a Gracious Living

Mr. and Mrs. John Abbott Jr., who live on the old Saulsbury Milbourn farm on the Frederica nine-foot road, apparently believe in a gracious living and believe in getting it at home.

The Abbotts have a nice dairy herd, mostly Holsteins, with plenty of baled hay to feed it. They have a good flock of layers, mostly Rhode Island Reds; Muscovy ducks, and guineas.

Across the road from the Abbotts is a wooded ravine whence Harrington urchins picked big, black chinquapins years ago. We have never found this variety anywhere else. We wonder if they are still there?

Corn and Wheat Acreage Allotments Called Off For 1951

Corn and wheat acreage allotments have been called off for 1951, according to Frank Vibbert, Sussex County PMA Chairman. Vibbert went on to say that while the acreage allotments were off, the price support program would continue and these crops would be supported next year.

Another point stressed by Vibbert was that farmers planning to sign their farm up in the 1951 PMA program should see their community committeeman before tomorrow, and complete this phase of the work by that date, otherwise it will be necessary for them to go to the county office at Georgetown.

He pointed out that while March 31 is the last day, a farm can be signed up in the program for 1951, this arrangement had been made to enable the county office staff to render efficient service to the farmers of the county.

Vibbert urged all farmers of the county to report all practices carried out on their farm in 1950 by Feb. 15 as this was the closing date for reporting.

4-H Poultry Team To Boston

For the first time, Delaware will send a 4-H poultry judging team to the Northeastern 4-H poultry judging contest held annually during the Boston Poultry Show, Boston, Mass. The contest is today.

This was decided Thurs., Jan. 4, at the Delaware Poultry Improvement Ass'n annual business meeting. The board of directors voted to sponsor the trip for the top four 4-H winners in the state poultry judging contest held a few weeks ago.

The four boys to go are William Neal, David Elliott, Russell Layton, and either Richard Layton or Robert Whaley. All are from Laurel. They will be accompanied by Silas McHenry, assistant extension poultryman at the University of Delaware, and one of the official judges at this year's show; and Sam Gwinn, Sussex County 4-H agent.

The boys have been busy the last week brushing up on judging techniques, said McHenry. They have been attending special classes on breeding cockerels, laying hens, market birds, breed identification, and culling, with the help of John Hersholt, director, poultry division, State Bureau of Markets; McHenry, and Gwinn.

George Simpson To Speak on Labor Saving

Four poultrymen from Delaware and New Jersey will tell how they save labor on their own farms, Tues., Jan. 30, during Delaware's Annual Farm and Home Week.

Edward McIlvaine, Georgetown, of Townsends, Inc., Millsboro; George Simpson, hatching egg producer from Houston, Walter Pyle, market egg producer, Stanton, and Louis Schable, breeder and hatcheryman, Shiloh, N. J., are members of a panel discussion group on labor saving devices for laying flocks.

Some of the topics they expect to cover are: built-up litter, community nests; not using roosts; automatic feeders; feed carriers, bins, or elevated platforms; egg handling procedures; culling; and the interior arrangements of laying houses.

Following the talks there will be a general discussion, open to questions from the audience.

Egg producers will be interested in the complete Tuesday afternoon program on egg production. A. E. Tomhave, professor of animal and poultry industry, will give a hatching program for Delaware poultrymen. Clarence Woodhouse, veterinarian from the DuPont Company, Wilmington, will give an up-to-date program for the control of poultry parasites in laying flocks.

Delvin Miller, 37-year-old Meadow Lands, Pa. veteran, was the leading percentage driver on the American harness racing turf in 1950. Miller, previously honored as the nation's leading money-winning driver and as the top reinsman on the Grand Circuit, posted an overall average of .501 as compiled by the Universal Driver Rating System.

The Pennsylvania star, winner of the Hambletonian and a host of other rich stakes in 1950, scored 108 victories in 309 starts and weighed in with 66 seconds and 30 thirds. Second place went to Mel Harmening of Des Moines, Iowa, who averaged .454 with 67 victories in 226 starts.

The Universal System, copyrighted by two Saratoga Springs, N. Y. school teachers, Atwell Mead and Harold Haswell, is used at most of the nation's top sulky plants. A driver must go to the post at least 200 times to be eligible for the national title. His average is computed by multiplying his starts by nine and dividing that figure into one arrived at by crediting nine points for each win, five for each second and three for each third.

Four more victories would have enabled Miller to make a clean sweep of the four 1950 driving titles. His 108 wins ranked second to the 111 posted by Johnny Simpson of Chester, S. C. Simpson was ninth in the percentage column with a .398 average.

Highest average in the nation was compiled by Lou Howell of Honesdale, Pa., who checked in with a whopping .657. Howell, however, started only 119 times and this was not eligible for the title. He scored 68 victories, 13 seconds and nine thirds.

In 1949 Miller ranked 27th in the nation with a .343 average. During that campaign he scored 40 wins, 42 seconds and 32 thirds. Trailing Miller and Harmening in the top five were Russell Rose, Salem, Ill.; Guy Crippen, Milwaukee, Wisc.; and William McMillen, London, Ohio.

Rose, with 60 wins in 202 starts, averaged .450. Crippen notched 65 victories in 200 starts for a .440 average. McMillen got home on top in 92 of 302 starts and averaged .431. McMillen finished eighth a year ago but neither Rose nor Crippen were in the top 35 in 1949.

Ranking behind Simpson and Miller as the top dash winning driver of 1950 was Joe O'Brien, the little Canadian reinsman from New Glasgow, Nova Scotia. He and the two leaders were the only drivers to post a hundred or more victories in 1950.

William E. Miller, Washington, D. C., the nation's leading percentage driver a year ago, failed to make 200 starts in 1950. Miller, a track owner and a leading amateur reinsman, scored 53 wins in 153, 1950 outings and ranked fifth in the less-than-200-starts division. He is no relation to Delvin Miller.

Among those who started less than 200 times, E. L. Lowery, Columbia, S. C., finished second to Howell with an even .500. He registered 25 firsts, 30 seconds and 25 thirds in 100 starts.

The honor of making the most 1950 starts went to Bill Harvey of Lancaster, Ontario, Canada. Competing on western New York tracks, Harvey went to the post 599 times. He scored 93 wins, fifth in the nation, 92 seconds and 97 thirds. He ranked 50th in the percentage column with .295.

Dr. Cobbs, supt. of Milford School, was the special speaker at the Milford P-T. A. meeting Wednesday evening.

Politically speaking the dinner held in the Pocahontas Hall Thursday evening by the Democrat Club was very successful and well attended. The evening was spent playing bingo and cards.

The engagement of Miss Barbara Carothers has been announced. Miss Carothers is the music teacher in the Milford Elementary School. The H. D. McColloughs also have announced the engagement of their lovely daughter, Miss Jean McCollough. Also from nearby communities we learned of the engagement of the sons from two prominent Milford families, namely, Donnell Calhoun, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Calhoun, and John J. Malarkey, Jr., son of Mrs. Gertrude Cooper Patterson, and the late John J. Malarkey.

We are looking forward to hearing all about the trip to New Orleans, La. recently enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Harwood Jamison to celebrate their 75th wedding anniversary. Joe and Doris Kemp have also just celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary.

Participating in the tap dancing revue Friday evening from Milford were the Misses Barbara Owens, Jörn Owens and Barbara Hass.

Mrs. Anne B. Downing was hostess last Monday evening to those fine group of ladies, namely, the W. C. T. U.

Those of us with an interest in music, especially the piano, welcomed the Loretta and Murray Dranoff piano concert on Sunday in the high school auditorium, and with this we will end our "news-reportin'", until next week.

Leather soles have what laboratory technicians call high "creep resistance." This means leather has a marked ability to hold its original shape when under continuous stress such as on the bottom of shoes.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Fred Parker, who passed away Jan. 18, 1946. He is the voice we loved to hear. Too quiet the laws of silence speak. But not too far for thoughts to reach. Sweet to remember him who once was here. And who, though absent, is just as near. Sadly missed by his wife, Cora Parker and children. 11-19-46

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. E. B. Stafford, who departed this life on Jan. 19, 1950. Tokens of love and remembrance to her memory will be forever. Her memory to us is a treasure; her loss, a lifetime of regret. It came shadow over our lives; it made a place vacant in our hearts which never can be filled. They say time heals all sorrows and helps us to forget. But time so far, has only proved—How much we miss her yet. So till much we miss her yet. She will live forever in our hearts. Sadly missed by her husband and 11-19-50 grandchildren.

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

It is now almost a month since Xmas and doesn't time fly? It will soon be spring again and with it comes the usual thoughts of refrigeration. It looks now that it will be more than a topic of news than it has been for a few years.

I hope you will get a new one if needed but chances look slim for all. The early bird catches the worm and not only will catch a good refrigerator but will also catch the best quality.

I have refrigerators of quality, as you know PHILCO is known for quality the world over. Westinghouse, another line I carry is no new number to any of you, so if you are going to purchase a new refrigerator, I can supply you at this time with almost any size you want. Fifteen months to pay and 5 years guarantee. Come in now and make a payment on yours and your refrigerator trouble will be over.

Television is the talk of the town and the talk of this town is PHILCO. Why not when two-thirds of all the TV sets in town are Philco? Why? Ask anyone who owns a PHILCO and the reason then will be simple. Of course a TV costs a little more but you must remember a pound of coffee or beef costs plenty also. The TV will be used for many years to come and the upkeep is so little that you save money in owning one. You will really stay home when otherwise you would be burning gasoline and many other things that cost plenty but when you stay at home you save.

You not only save yourself but your children will have the up to date knowledge on current events. There are many schools today who are installing televisions so that the students can learn many things that can only be taught by television.

Of course everybody cannot own a TV any more than an automobile but if there is any way you can get one my advice is get it. I will sell you one that is leading them all PHILCO with one-fourth down and fifteen months to pay the balance. What are you waiting for?

At this present time I have several PHILCO televisions on hand and you will not have to wait for the very one you have wanted for so long.

This time of the year we are thinking about stoves and some means of keeping warm. Well you know I sell oil heaters, coal and wood ranges, gas hot water heaters and electric heaters.

This is also a good time to be thinking about a new gas or electric cooking range. Come in and see the most up to date ranges sold anywhere.

If we don't sell you a gas range, we will be glad to hook it up for you and furnish you bottled or metered gas which ever you prefer.

While speaking of gas, how are you farmers and raisers of poultry heating your chicken houses? The trend is toward gas and we have several already using gas. Could you change them back to any old way of heating, not so you can notice it.

Be wise get in the swim and it will help you reach your goal.

Those who have read and liked the writings of Sinclair Lewis will be sorry to hear of his death in Rome, Italy. Some critics thought "Main Street" as his best book, but his later books appealed to me more.

The past week's visitors in Mr. and Mrs. Silas Layton's home were: Mr. and Mrs. William Melvin, Magnolia; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Layton, Farmington; Mrs. Lillian Saxton, Wyoming; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garrett, of Burrsville. Silas Layton the past three weeks has been ill, glad to report somewhat better.

The Rev. McGinnis, of St. Paul's Church, Dover, is to be married this today in Milford, to Miss Margaret Saunders. We wish them much happiness and a long life. I think some of the people who like to cruise up and down the Potomac River would be worth cruising if they would cruise on one of the big ships to Korea and help our poor boys to fight. Our young men have my sympathy. Only God alone knows what they are going through. They have our prayers.

When you wish to give new beauty to a metal waste basket, be sure that the basket is clean and completely free from rust before you begin to apply a new coating of enamel. If all traces of it are not removed, rust will continue its destruction—even though it's covered with paint—just as decay will continue in a filled tooth.

Rising Polio Tide Cited as All-Out Dimes Drive Opens

The 1951 March of Dimes began January 15 in Kent County and throughout the United States as a massive attack against the only epidemic disease known to man that is still on the increase—a disease that in the last three years has stricken more than 100,000 people and cost the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis an unprecedented $58,000,000 for patient-care alone.

Earl Sylvester, county director of the campaign, said today every phase of community life was represented among the volunteers who started the drive with the avowed intention of raising more money than ever for the fight against polio during the two weeks of the drive ending January 31.

"The need confronting us," Mr. Sylvester said, "is the greatest in the history of our 13-year-old battle against polio. The costs of the last three tragic polio years have left the National Foundation's epidemic aid funds exhausted.

"Many thousands of men, women and children left crippled by past epidemics depend upon the March of Dimes for a fighting chance to achieve some degree of normalcy. And we must face the inevitable outbreaks of 1951, with their unknown number of new patients."

Reviewing last year's accomplishments of the National Foundation, Mr. Sylvester estimated that caring for polio patients in 1950—when well over 30,000 people were stricken—had cost the National Foundation approximately $20,000,000 with millions in unpaid bills still remaining.

Research Pressed

He said more than 1900 Red Cross nurses had served on National Foundation assignments, and that 100 physical therapists had been sent into the field. In addition, 40 physicians were added to hard-pressed hospital staffs or served as consultants in the field at the request of the National Foundation.

Since the National Foundation was established in 1938, it has authorized $28,567,233.51 for programs of research, education, and non-epidemic medical care, he declared, adding that $2,716,987.69 of this amount had been allocated in 1950 alone. He characterized this three-pronged attack against polio and its after-effects as "our only hope of some day eliminating the disease and of

$1,000,000 in Equipment

During the year, more than $1,000,000-worth of respirators, hot-pack machines and other essential equipment was shipped by plane, truck and rail to all parts of the nation. This included more than 450 respirators, 300 hot-pack machines, 250 cribs and beds and 2,000 pounds of wool.

The year also marked a high point of co-operation between the National Foundation and the nation's expanding armed forces. With patient care costs for servicemen and their dependents defrayed by the March of Dimes—the Army, Navy and Air Force have transported emergency equipment to and from many parts of the world where Americans have been stricken with polio.
