Sulky Slants

By Mrs. Dave (Pat) Smith

From beautiful Saratoga. What a day. Opening of the 36th meeting of the Saratoga running track. This afternoon the crowd will cry, "They're off." In the most historic spot and considered one of the most beautiful running tracks in the country.

The crackdown of gambling up here seems to be helping business at the harness and running tracks.

Just started to town. The traffic was terrible.

But tomorrow afternoon I'm crossing the road to see the second day of the opening of the runners.

Most of the trainers and owners from harness tracks will dash over to watch the bangtails go.

We have been down here for part of two weeks. Outside of Harrington, I'll take Saratoga; our sixth year up here.

Bill Harvey with 17 head moved in from Buffalo Raceway today. Peter Pan, also with 11 head. Several others from Hamburg are coming. Don't know what happened they didn't go to Batavia Downs.

For one thing here the racing secretary, Frank Woodland, tries to put your horses in where they can race, giving everyone a chance. But one thing, you better have a good behaved horse or you'll be sent to the barn and be put on the steward's list. No bad actors on this track. But it's such a beautiful setting you can overlook strict rules.

About every evening two or three colt races on without betting, giving nine good races.

Mr. Holloway, can't we have sandwiches and coffee in our paddock this fall and spring? They have a stand where you can buy ham and cheese and plain ham, (no hot dogs), good coffee. Also programs go on sale about 4 p. m.

Course, up here we can't get in and out of the paddock. Once in, you're there. But it is nice for us, anyway.

Harrison Hoyt, owner of Demon Hanover, has three horses next to ours. Demon's winter trainer, just told us Demon won the big stake in Detroit.

Well another year has gone around for the big race at Goshen, the Hambletonian. Dave will take in that Wednesday. I'll stay and take care of the horses.

We took a wonderful trip up through the mountains. The little town of Lake George, a summer resort, then on to Ticonderoga and on up Lake Champlain almost to Montreal and back through Lake Placid over the Adirondacks where all the dude ranches in northern New York are located.

Atop Bloomer Mt., 2228 feet, is the most beautiful blue-green lake. Really out of this world. In fact, you don't have to go far without seeing a lake on either side of you.

Really a very historical place up above Saratoga. Only 12 miles to Old Saratoga battleground and villages. If you can remember your history, you would enjoy it. Then at the little town of Warrensburg, the might ole Hudson starts winding its way toward ole New York. So wide and peaceful, nestled between the mountains. On the other side of the road coming into Saratoga is the Mohawk River, with its large barges on their way to join the mighty Hudson at Albany. It is really a sight at night, coming along the mountain on one side, the small towns lit up along the Mohawk Trail. The river following the course of the mountains. That drive is really what kept me awake for 85 miles back to Hamburg about five weeks ago.

Well, it won't be too long until time to go back to Harrington and I won't be sorry. However, this summer has been so short. And boy, was it a cold Saturday night? Down to 44. Really cold yesterday.

Have a wonderful location for my trailer here. Can see the racetrack and hear the race broadcasts without going, if I like it or not. Tell you a long time and it will be my first trip in the grandstand over there.

You can see a lot by looking through the fence but I'll buy a ticket and enjoy it from the start.

Anyone who can get away, this is really a vacation spot. Never a dull moment.

Runners in afternoons. Trotters at night.

The Rev. and Mrs. George Whetstone

From Our Living Room To You!

The above picture is that of George and Jane Whetstone (Rev. and Mrs. George Whetstone), of Harrington, who by way of radio come from their living room to your home each morning Monday thru Friday, at 8:30 a. m., and Sunday afternoons at 3 p. m., all these broadcasts coming over WDOV, Dover, 1410 on the dial.

This feat is done by using an amplifying system which sends the sound thru a telephone connection here in the home, and at the radio station. Some have asked, what kind of telephone line? It's just a private line with a termination, this being the radio station at Dover.

Similar equipment, including microphone, etc., as used at the radio station is set up in the living room of George and Jane. This program of favorite hymns is designed for the benefit of the public, with many times your neighbor having a favorite hymn sung for them, or their friend.

Trinity Methodist Church Notes

Are you availing yourself of the many privileges offered by the church? Are you doing justice to God, your town, and your fellowmen when you do not support some church by your presence? Would you want to live in a town where the mayor, town officials, the banker, the doctor or the merchant did not deem it necessary to attend some church? Then why not start this Sunday?

We have a class of your age group, which meets every Sunday morning at 9:45. Elwood B. Gruwell is general superintendent.

At the 11 o'clock morning service, the pastor will preach on "Some Marks of A Christian"; 1 Corinthians 15:58; and on "The Power of Christ" at the 7:30 p. m. evening service.

Gives Dust Brush-off At high airplane speeds, atmospheric dust used to ruin the finish on aircraft. Industrial finish engineers developed an extremely hard finish which was smooth enough to eliminate shock waves at high speeds and durable enough to withstand blasts of dust.

First Visual Messages Probably the earliest method of visual communication between far-separated points was by beacon fires. Homer wrote of a chain of flaming beacons spreading the news of the fall of Troy, in the 11th century B.C.

Someone just came by, wanting me to go across the road to catch some of the running races, so next week I'll tell you if I like it or not. Been here a long time and it will be my first trip in the grandstand over there.

You can see a lot by looking through the fence but I'll buy a ticket and enjoy it from the start.

It was a well played game as Harrington posted its fourth win against five attempts with Ellendale. It was Harrington's second shutout of the season and both have been against Ellendale by the score of 2 to 0 and 1 to 0.

Both pitchers worked hard, Barrett striking out 13 and giving up 3 passes. Emory fanned 9 and walked 3.

New Kent County Judge Takes Oath

Arley B. Magee, Jr., became judge of the Kent County Court of Common Pleas for a four-year term Monday afternoon when he was administered the oath of office by Resident Judge Charles L. Terry, Jr., of the Superior Court.

The courtroom, where the ceremony took place, was crowded with many officials and friends of the new judge. Among those attending was Col. John P. LeFevre, who was the second to hold the judgeship of the 20-year-old court.

Former Judge Ernest V. Keith, whom Judge Magee succeeds, was out of the city on business and sent regrets at being unable to be present. The first judge was the late Earle D. Wiley. Judge Wiley and Judge Keith served two four-year terms and Judge LeFevre, one 4-year term.

Mayor William J. Storey, Deputy-Gen. Henry J. Ridgely and State Senators Walter A. Handsberry and W. O. Cabbage were among the numerous officials present.

Judge Terry, before administering the oath of office to Judge Magee, pointed out that the underlying purpose of the act creating the court was to relieve the case load both of the Superior Court and the then Court of General Sessions.

3 Judges Served Court "The past has given to this court three judges," Judge Terry cited. "Each has administered his trust in a judicial manner, and his sincere effort to carry out the legislative intent in the creation of the court made the court into an important segment of our judicial system."

"And now, the fourth judge is about to take his oath of office. Gov. Elbert N. Carvel has appointed to this judgeship Arley B. Magee, Jr., of Dover. Mr. Magee has been engaged in the practice of law in this county for the past 25 years. His practice has been general in character which should assist him immensely in the administration of the many and varied problems that will confront him."

"He is not only qualified to perform the duties of the office to which he has been appointed but in addition possesses a marked sincerity of purpose in that which he undertakes, and in his decisions in this court, I am quite certain, will reflect not only considered thought on his part, but also, his amiable personality as well."

Sadness, Happiness Ahead Judge Terry mentioned to the new judge that he "will experience from time to time both sadness and happiness in the discharge of his new responsibilities," adding:

"Your happiness will be assured in the main by the conscientious effort that you give to each case in the light of your judicial vision. You have my very best wishes for a most successful tenure of office."

Judge Magee named Mrs. Elizabeth F. Hayes, Dover, as clerk of the court, succeeding Mrs. Myra G. Kerin in that capacity.

Use of the courtroom for hearings is shared by him and Judge W. Marion Stevenson of the Juvenile Court for Kent and Sussex Counties.

PRICES TO RISE UNDER NEW LAW

Anti-rollback and additional cost allowances in the new Defense Production Act will increase the price of thousands of articles and add substantially to the cost of living, it was predicted by Joseph J. McBryan, regional director of the Office of Price Stabilization.

"We hope the public will understand," said McBryan, "that when OPS issues orders permitting such increases it will be doing so only because the new law gives OPS no alternative.

"We are hopeful that Congress will write some amendments to strengthen the law. Meanwhile, OPS will make the control regulations as strict as the law will permit, and it will enforce the regulations to the limits of its resources.

"Careful study of the effect of certain changes made by Congress will be necessary before we can say just how much those changes will cost the consumer. We know that one item alone, elimination of beef rollbacks, the estimated loss to the housewife is 630 millions of dollars; other roll-forwards undoubtedly will add far more.

"We are hopeful that we will be able to stabilize prices, even if it has to be at a new and higher level. At worst, we will use the powers given us to fight a delaying rear guard action against continuing increases.

"We expect that higher prices will bring with them demands for higher wages and that we will again be embarked on an inflationary course in which price rises and wage demands will chase each other up the inflationary ladder.

"Such a situation, at a time when the defense program is moving into high gear and providing further inflation problems, is not a happy one either for OPS or for the American consumer."

Sister's Advice Proves Helpful To Mrs. Macaure

Mrs. J. P. Macaure, 408 Radiance St., New Orleans, La., can't imagine a person not taking HADACOL who is sick and run down due to deficiencies of Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Niacin and Iron. She says she continually praises HADACOL to all her friends. HADACOL is Read what doing for conditions which may have been caused by deficiencies of Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Niacin and Iron.

Here is Mrs. Macaure's own statement: "I have taken at least 8 bottles of HADACOL. Before I took HADACOL I was very nervous. My family was affected too, because I was so irritable. Then my sister suggested I take HADACOL and I started taking it immediately. After the second bottle I felt like I had taken all the troubles of the world off my shoulders. My nerves are now as steady as ever. My family thinks HADACOL is wonderful because my disposition is 100% better and I am not the least bit irritable. That's because I always have a bottle of HADACOL on the kitchen shelf. HADACOL is the most wonderful product on the market."

Buy a bottle of HADACOL, either the trial size $1.19 or the large family or economy size, $3.39 and if HADACOL does not help you, your money will be refunded.

D. P. I. A. To Present Award

Ernest F. Smith, Jr., of Kenton, president of the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association, shows the trophy which will be given to the winner of the Junior Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest to other DPIA officers. The award will be made at the Georgetown School on Sept. 19. Looking on, left to right, are Lee Hoffecker, of Bear; George Ely, of Wilmington, RD, and Frank Gordy, extension poultryman at the University of Delaware.

Experiment Farm To Be Dedicated

The University of Maryland Experimental Farm on the Quantico Road near Salisbury is to be dedicated Aug. 11.

Among the dignitaries to attend will be Dr. H. C. Byrd, University of Maryland's president; the board of regents of the university; state senators; members of the House of Delegates, and university department heads.

The 100-acre tract of land was purchased by the University of Maryland in December, 1947. These departments are located there: The livestock laboratory; vegetable research farm, and broiler experimental farm.

The laboratory, with Dr. Irving M. Moulthrop in charge, was completed June 20, this year at a cost of $65,000.

The vegetable research farm began its operations in the spring of 1948 and has been especially helpful to farmers seeking research on various crop conditions, packing in sweet potatoes in particular.

The broiler experimental farm which cost $40,000, put in the first chicks January 29, this year. First research was done in nutrition. Day old chicks will be put in the day before dedication.

Open house will be held at 11 a. m. and Dr. Byrd will speak during a noon-day luncheon.

During the afternoon beginning at 1:30 there will be a tour of the vegetable and broiler farms. Claude C. Phillips, Wicomico County Farm Bureau president, is chairman of the open house and field day.

Sussex Growers Fear End of Rich Cantaloupe Market

Delaware's once-profitable cantaloupe market appears to be going the same way the state's peach market disappeared—pushed out of existence by products of California.

This, at least, is the opinion of Sussex County farmers who forecast the end of the Laurel Farmer's Auction Market at the close of this season.

Citing sales figures which prove a disastrous drop from the almost $1,000,000 business of 1943, to a total of $96,273 in the 1951 season so far, officials of the farm cooperative market claim the end of Delaware's 'loupe market is inevitable.

The few buyers on hand at the auction block last week were bidding from $1 to $1.50 per crate for the melons brought in for sale. At the same time they were paying $6 a crate for California cantaloupes.

The quality and looks of Delaware 'loupes have not matched melons from the western state, buyers said. Oldtimers recalled the days when Delaware peaches—once supreme—fell by the wayside as California put on the market peaches of greater size and beauty.

In 1943, when total payments at the Laurel auction reached $942,095, there were sold: 221-

325 packages of cantaloupes; 75,593 of cucumbers, and 920,092 watermelons. In 1947, a record number of tomatoes sold reached 291,087 baskets.

In the week beginning July 26 and ending Aug. 1, the once bustling farm auction at Laurel, sold 12,792 bushels of cucumbers, 8,029 loose 'loupes, 151 bushels of green peppers, 215 watermelons and 264 baskets of tomatoes.

Payments at the Laurel auction block in the last five years have averaged between $400,000 and $500,000. The present season, still below the first $100,000 in sales, has only a few more weeks to go.

Szelestei's Formula for Good Pasture: Lime, Good Seed, and Fertilizer

A firm believer in good pasture is Steve Szelestei of Hartly, says Pet Dairy Chats. He is convinced that the most economical way of producing milk and improving his soil is through good pastures.

"For a good pasture, it is necessary to use lime, good seed, and fertilizer," says Steve, "and good pasture is essential to profitable milk production."

He has 65 acres of tillable land which consist of 30 acres of pasture, 11 of hay and 24 of grain. The pasture is Ladino clover, orchard grass, red top, reed canary grass and timothy. This year he has two acres of sudangrass and soybeans for supplementary pasture.

Mr. Szelestei applies stable manure to the pasture in winter and top dresses with superphosphate in the spring. Lime is applied every fourth year. Other good management practices which he follows are rotation of grazing and clipping. His pasture is so lush that he gets quite a lot of hay from the clipping.

Mr. Szelestei had one of the two best pasture programs in Kent County in the 1950 Greener Pastures Contest. He was also commended by the Soil Conservation Service as a "Soil Saver," that is, a person who is reclaiming land that others have abandoned.

Steve, whose milk comes to the Greensboro plant by way of Ed Laramore's 3000-Route, started shipping milk in 1944 with 6 cows. Today he has 10 cows which last year produced 80,000 pounds of milk.

"I was always interested in dairying," says Steve. "I am still working to build up a better herd by artificial breeding. At present I have three artificially conceived heifers which will be in production soon."

Steve always has water and salt available to his cows. He keeps his cows on pasture 24 hours a day, as he believes this is necessary for bloat prevention.

Steve is assisted in his farming by his son, Steve, Jr., who is a member of the Hartly Hawke 4-H Club and is raising a calf as a project. "I hope he will be as interested in farming and cows as I am," says Mr. Szelestei.

Carpenter Switches to Dairying

After being in the carpenter trade for 25 years, John Daffin, of Easton, decided to try farming.

In 1945 he moved on a 200-acre farm located in Miles River Neck near Bruff's Island. He began shipping milk to Pet's plant at Greensboro in May the same year.

His grade Guernsey herd has increased from 12 animals to a fine herd of 23 cattle. He is trying to improve his herd by using purebred sires. "I like to milk cows, especially when they give lots of milk," remarked John.

Mr. Daffin has put his carpenter experience to good use on the farm. Three years ago he built a portable hay rack and has used it steadily ever since. John says he likes the rack so well that he doesn't know what he would do without it. "Hay is kept in it every day, and I believe it helps prevent bloat," John added.

John is elated over being on the quality honor roll the past two years. He takes a great deal of pride in producing high-quality milk, and has had only two cans of milk sent back in the past six years.

Bontrager Grows What He Eats And Eats What He Grows

Ezra Bontrager, of near Willow Grove, grows what he eats and eats what he grows.

His farming operations are centered around 10 grade Guernsey cows, though he also has seven head from yearlings to two-year-olds. He has no bull but anticipates buying one this year from his neighbor, Henry Meller, that is from a cow that gives 50 pounds of milk a day.

Bontrager, a former Kansan, has about 12 acres of pasture, with timothy, white clover, and lespedeza predominating. His horses and his dairy herd provide much needed manure.

The Kent County farmer, seen at Spence's Bazaar at Dover, Friday, said he tried to use all his feed on the farm. He raises corn for silage and grain and grinds and mixes winter oats, corn and wheat for a dairy ration. He figures this is better than selling the feed and buying it back again in a commercial ration.

 on party-line telephones, too

Little courtesies, like Mike's stopping traffic to let Gramps cross the street, help to make life happier.

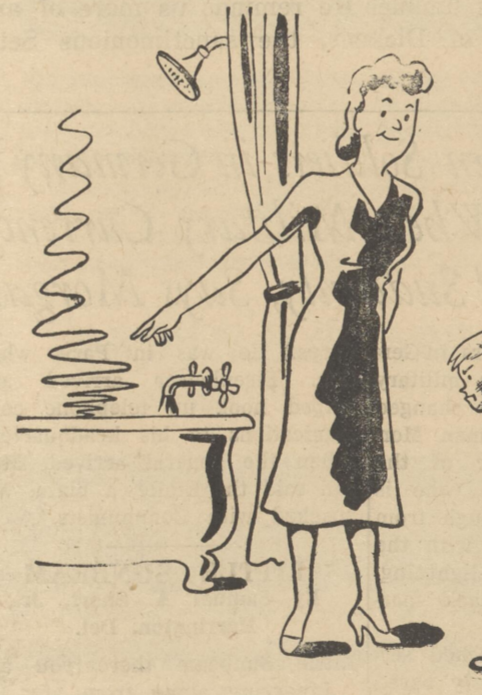

Consideration for the other fellow is the basis of good party-line telephone service, too. If you are always courteous on the telephone, you're sure to find your party-line neighbors the same. Remember the three R's of party-line courtesy—Relinquish the line as soon as possible when you hear others try to use it; Replace the receiver gently when you find the line in use; Regulate your calls so that others may use the line in-between.

"The proper study of mankind is man," said Alexander Pope - - and ever since we read that we've been searching for one.

Contrasts: The gentle patter of the twilight rain - - and the abrupt knock of the income tax collector upon your door.

The most gnawing of all starvations is intellectual starvation. We do not speak from experience - - that's just what we've heard.

A startling headline in the newspapers would be: "No One Escaped From Farnhurst Today!" They claim these escapes are due to the overcrowded condition of Farnhurst. Well, it's not as overcrowded as it was!

In a debate over postal rates this week, one congressman referred to weekly newspapers as "gimlet" papers. When the congressman comes up for re-election he may discover that gimlet papers can bore.

It's easy to know when a national election is not far away. Then Little Orphan Annie of the comic strips starts writing political editorials.

Most of America's truly great men were born in humble circumstances - - and frankly admit it. The greatest of these admit it, even though they are not candidates for office.

We suggest that the papers keep some of the congressional activities off the front page. It doesn't make good reading for the rest of the world to discover that with most of the nations of the earth straining at the leash, congress is frittering away its time trying to reorganize baseball. We doubt that some members of congress ever heard of the sacrifice hit.

We are not coining a brilliant phrase when we say that times do change—we're merely quoting the Colonel from Covington to illustrate how much they have changed: "I was down in Maryland with my dog, Whitey, and I knew that Whitey was hungry. I stopped at a meat market where they had a pile of scraps on the butcher's block. I told the butcher I'd like to buy the scraps and he said: "Them ain't called scraps any more, mister. We now call 'em t-bone steaks and you can have 'em for $1.50 per pound.'"

LET'S HAVE ANOTHER APPLICATION

From the editorial page of The Harrington Journal of twenty years ago we quote: "Since the Town Council forced the merchants of the town to tear down the old sheds from the fronts of their buildings, several of the merchants are trying to make the old buildings less unsightly by applications of paint. As a result of this, many people in the business section have become ill, having been unfamiliar with the scent of paint for twenty-five years."

Glance up and down our business section in the good year 1951 and you must conclude that it's about time for some of the people to get sick again.

THE FRIGHTFUL TOLL OF TRAVEL BY AIR

Airplanes exact a more costly toll than trains and buses combined, when we consider the impact upon the world by deaths occurring from plane crashes.

We shudder when we read of some truly great man dying in a crash, and yet the most insignificant person's life is worth as much to him as the greatest man's life is worth to its possessor. Many great men die in airplane disasters; the others die in bus and train crashes.

The average person doesn't feel that he is financially able to travel by plane. He isn't in such a hurry to get where he wants to go, and he has, or takes, more leisure in getting there. Ambassadors, scientists, inventors, great musicians and composers are geared to a different tempo. Their time is valuable, so valuable that they must get where they are going in the shortest possible time—and they go by plane.

Down through the years, from Will Rogers, Wiley Post and Knute Rockne, the world has lost many of its greatest men as the result of airplane crashes.

LITTER BUGS

This term, according to Joe Martin in his popular "Ramblin' Round" column in the Sunday Star, is applied to critters who litter up the landscape with paper cups, cigarette packets, candy wrappers and many larger articles; leave sacks and baskets of trash along highways.

More than that, says Joe, they leave sacks of beer and whiskey bottles in front of such places as the University Club and well-kept residences.

We can imagine the humiliation of a citizen who boasts that he drinks nothing but the best when he discovers bottles or cans formerly containing cheap Maryland beer scattered around his lawn in the morning.

There's another name for litter bugs and that name was supplied by Steve Steger, who has charge of all the tents along the beaches at Cape May. That term is "Shoe Boxers." They creep into an unoccupied tent and leave a mess of chicken bones, stale bread and bottles. Steve and his assistants have to go over the whole beach with clam rakes to clean up the mess.

Shoe boxers - - litter bugs in all walks of life! The people who make life a pathway of broken promises, of betrayals; the corrupt, the venal, the vulgar, the vicious, the rude, the filthy, the greedy, the selfish; the public officials who, as Ruskin would say, "creep, and crawl, and intrude into the fold for their bellies' sake," - - litter bugs, shoe boxers all!

MONSTER IN THE GRASS

The whirr of lawn mowers, a familiar summer sound, has all but faded away.

It has been lost in a new sound, the querulous sputter of the power motor. The spread of the latest labor-saving device has been phenomenal. Even the smallest lawns are being devoured by these motorized monsters these days.

This is another example of carrying a good thing too far. The use of power mowers on golf courses or other large grassy areas makes sense, but applying horse power to the one-man lawn in nonsense—and we're paying for it.

Time was when the hum of a neighbor's lawn mower was a soothing lullaby on a lazy summer afternoon. Try to relax with a one-lunger chugging outside your window.

Time was when the smell of fresh cut grass was a delight on a summer day. Now gasoline fumes stink up the neighborhood.

Time was when man was safe from the woman driver in his own back yard. Now the girls have taken over the lawn mower and a sharp rap on the shins is the penalty of the unwary.

But we grieve most for the man behind the mower. There was something about pushing the old fashioned, man-powered mower that was conducive to thought. We solved some of our most difficult problems and reached some of our most important decisions while criss-crossing a few square feet of turf. There was just enough physical exertion to stir the blood, and just enough concentration required to keep the mind from wandering to externals.

It was not without satisfaction that we recently heard a female member of The News staff berating her power mower. She had wasted the best part of an evening trying to get the mower started.

HAM AND—SOWBELLY

Having cussed out everybody else in the world, Westbrook Pegler now takes his spade, dirty with the rust of hate, and exhumes good old Will Rogers. He refers to Will as a "professional ham" and uses the word "affectation" in describing Will. There was no affectation in Will Rogers' make-up. Much of his greatness is due to the fact that, despite the heights he scaled, he remained natural. Will Rogers made millions happy; Westbrook Pegler makes nobody happy—with the exception of William Randolph Hearst.

If you want to have a biased, distorted mind, read any columnist employed by the King Features Syndicate. Anybody with a fair vocabulary can get a job with that outfit—if he will agree to cuss the national administration—ANY national administration, we suppose—because this thing has been going on since back in 1904.

Pegler has no influence—not one whit—but another writer for King, Bruce Barton, does have influence, because he is more subtle—and wears a cloak of piety. Bruce will quote the Scriptures and give you a lecturette on morals—and thread his column with political propaganda. He's for big business—the bigger the better—for, you see, he's a member of one of the biggest advertising agencies in the world, Barton, Batten, Durstine & Osborne, it used to be called. He is the Barton referred to by the late President Roosevelt in his "Barton, Martin & Fish" epic. His firm gets millions of dollars annually from these big advertisers—and they are anti-administration. The more he slyly thrusts at the national administration the more business he gets from the big firms. Of the two, we prefer Pegler—and of all the writers upon the face of the earth, we prefer him only to Barton. Pegler doesn't claim to be pious.

We do not classify Barton in the category of Uriah Heep, for Bruce isn't 'umble. He reminds us more of another character out of Dickens, the sanctimonious Seth Pecksniff.

Some American Soldiers in Germany Lost Money When Military Currency Was Changed Suddenly, Says Morgan

Some American soldiers in Germany lost money, when military currency was suddenly changed recently, says Sgt. Norman Morgan, a former member of the Harrington police force, who is home on a 45-day furlough from Paris. The move, made with the rapidity of greased lightning, was made to catch black marketeers flatfooted.

Morgan, now on detached service in Paris, is regularly based at Karlsruhe, a city on the Rhine River in southern Germany.

The day the currency was changed, Morgan said all military personnel was kept on the base without a reason being advanced. Later in the day new military money was issued to the soldiers for the currency previously in use. At evening, the military personnel was permitted to leave the base.

Black marketeers with military currency were unable to make the change and, consequently, lost heavily. Soldiers who had entrusted their money to their frauleins for safekeeping also lost out. Morgan explained that soldiers who had deposited their money in branches of American banks were protected.

Evidently American military personnel is made to feel at home in Germany. The GI reads "The Stars and Stripes" and the Paris edition of the "New York Herald-Tribune." He can buy an American or German automobile and buy 100 gallons of Shell or other gasolines at 16c per gallon. He can buy cigarettes in the PX at 10c per pack. For two packages of cigarettes and a bar of washing soap, he can have his laundry done.

Sgt. Morgan, who has been in the armed services 12 years, all told, is a member of the Signal Corps. He was in Paris when Gen. Eisenhower arrived and helped hook up telephone communications to his headquarters. When the general arrived, Morgan said the Etoile, a plaza, was "packed with Communists."

Hall sometimes wears a mustache. He leans forward at the shoulders when he walks, drinks large amounts of coffee and usually rests his elbows on the table holding the cup at lip level. He laughs easily and is described as being rather boisterous. He speaks in a husky tone but at a high pitched level. He seldom wears a hat. His eyes have a staring appearance. He likes to hunt, fish and play golf.

The Coast Artillery fort now under construction on the Cape Henlopen sand dunes at the mouth of Delaware Bay was named Fort Miles by the War Department yesterday in honor of the late Lt-Gen Nelson A. Miles.

Burnell Seaman, well known auto racer, was killed as a result of an accident at the Kent & Sussex Fair Saturday. He had won a qualifying heat and was racing in the fourth lap of the final event when he collided with another car. He suffered a skull fracture and died at the grounds before he could be removed to the hospital.

What August Means - by J. Harvey Burgess (Editor's note: We apologize for publishing the following bit of verse again, but we must publish it in an effort to frighten the beetles away:

Oh, August means that dust lies thick
Along the country road,
That fronded tendrils droop and fade
Beneath the heat waves goad;
It means that fields of tasseled corn
Are nodding in the breeze
It means that scores of katy-dids
Are singing in the trees;
It means the goldenrod now flaunts
Its tawny plumes in air - -
It also means that butter beans
Are ripe in Delaware!

Oh, August means the gold and gleam
Of days all burnished bright,
Of stars a-glitter 'way up in
The vaulted blue of night;
It means we hear, beyond the wood,
Close by a magic rill,
A sobbing, wistful tenderness - -
The lonesome whippoorwill;
That sun and sea paint roses on
The pallid cheek of care - -
It also means that butter beans
Are ripe in Delaware.

The natives of the Blue Hen State
Are not inclined to roam - -
They much prefer to linger near
The blandishments of home,
But when, perchance, some reckless son
Throws caution to the wind,
Cuts off the ties of home and leaves
The placid bays behind - -

The August moon brings no surcease of sorrow and despair - -
Because he knows that butter beans
Are ripe in Delaware

From the editorial page - - Bananas sold at 25 cents per wagon load in Baltimore the first of the week and several steamers dumped thousands of bunches in the Chesapeake. Had this happened ten or twelve years ago, we would not have been tortured with that silly song.

The average salary of college professors in the larger American colleges is something like $3000 per year. The official dog catcher of Nassau county, N. Y., receives more than $17,000 per year. Is there a moral to be drawn from this? If so, what is it?

The sudden appearance of what is believed to be a large school of sharks has caused considerable alarm among bathers and fishing parties at Slaughter Beach. Sharks have been sighted in the waters of Delaware Bay off Bowers Beach for several days by fishermen. Fishermen succeeded in hooking three large sharks, one weighing 183 lbs. and measuring eight feet, four inches.

Bowers Beach observed big Thursday yesterday with an attendance of 4000 people at North Bowers and 2000 people at South Bowers. Automobiles from Pennsylvania, Maryland Georgia and other states were noticed on the beach.

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

Fair is over and the show is gone and now let's get down to earth again and see the things that are escaping our thoughts every day.

One of them is the fact that we are faced with a problem that is the worst challenge we have ever experienced. That, of course, is to hold our freedom. By that we are going to have to sacrifice many things we were accustomed to have and use. There will be many substitutes to take place of the ones that were much better, that of course, we are willing to do.

A few months ago I bought quite a large stock of refrigerators to have a supply on hand to take care of my demand. Today, I find that I have more than I thought I would have at this time of the season. Now if you want a refrigerator that was made before the critical materials were held back, we have them.

A full allowance of $50 will be made on any new refrigerator we have in stock, either a Philco or Westinghouse, and still if you have a little extra refrigerator we will give you a check in addition to the $50 allowance, enough to make your payments for a couple of months or more. Prices start at $209.50 which means with this offer there is nothing to pay down and only about $10.00 per month thereafter. I know many of you need a new refrigerator, and may I suggest, now is the time to get one that is not only built for the guarantee period of 5 years, but will last from 15 to 25 years.

I have used refrigerators from $25.00 up. Of course, they are in working order. $25.00 for a General Electric, $25.00 for a Frigidaire, $40.00 for a better Frigidaire, $50.00 for a still better Frigidaire, $40.00 for a Cold-spot and many others that we have taken in on our new ones.

If you need a refrigerator, come in and see me and I am sure you and I can do business. Money talks, so bring it along.

Most of you, I am sure, saw our display at the fair and many items displayed were received so well that we are entirely sold out and it will take some little time before we can get more. One of those things are Ironites and I am sorry to disappoint so many who wanted them. If you are still in the market for one, place your order now and very soon you will be owning the only ironer that has two usable ends. Ask your neighbor who has one, they are the ones who say my Ironite is one of the things that give me so much more time and nothing to lift. Remember the name Ironite, and you will say they sure were right.

This, of course, is the season when we are thinking about the inside of the home and worrying how we are going to spend the long winter evenings. Well, to start it off with, paper your home with a different pattern even if you have only had it for 10 or 15 years and see how it brightens not only the home, but yourself as well. Then to top it all off, and what a top, not a hat, not icing, not an appetizer, but the thing that today is tops of all. That is
