The traditional carols will be sung by the glee club of 60 voices augmented by the Children's Choir with the same number of voices. The brass quartet, composed of Edward Hobbs, John Langrell, Billy Shaw, and Richard Wilson, will again announce the service from the roof of the elementary school with appropriate carols.

Among the selections by the glee club will be "The Song of the Angels" by Morrison, "Carol of the Bells," and "Cantique de Noel," directed by Melvin L. Brobst.

School Board Visits Schools Elsewhere

Members Inspected Field Houses, Cafeterias At Four Places

Members of the Board of Education of Harrington Special School District visited several schools Monday to inspect their cafeterias and field houses. Those making the trip were T. Brinton Holloway, Ellwood B. Gruwell, Hayward Quillen, Robert Nelson and J. C. Messner, superintendent of schools and secretary of the board.

The party visited Seaford, Millville, Lewes, and Dover, and afterwards attended the special session of the General Assembly.

The group was particularly interested in the field houses, since one is called for in the current school-building program and no plans have been drawn for it. Plans have been drawn for the elementary building and cafeteria, however. In inspecting the cafeterias at other schools, the group was particularly interested in placement of kitchen equipment, this being important in the saving of labor.

The Board of Education will meet this afternoon at the high school with George R. Miller, state superintendent of schools, to reorganize the school-building committee. The group will include all members of the local Board of Education, two members of the State Board of Education; Mr. Miller, who will be secretary of the committee, and J. C. Messner, who will be his assistant.

DuPont Executive To Address Dover Rotarians

James Q. duPont of the E. I. duPont de Nemours & Company of Wilmington, will be the speaker at the Dover Rotary Club at the Dinner Bell Inn Tuesday.

Mr. duPont, manager of the Atlantic district of the extension division, joined the company in 1940. He has had a variety of job experience, extending from that of machinist in the Johnstown, Pa., Traction Company shops to engineering duties on the atomic energy program which the duPont Company carried out for the government during World War II.

A native of Johnstown, Pa., Mr. duPont first worked as a steam-roller operator and garage mechanic during his summer vacations from the Johnstown public schools and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. After his graduation from M. I. T. in 1926, with a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering, he went to work as superintendent of bus maintenance for the traction company's bus fleet in Johnstown. About 1932 he went into business for himself, operating a commercial and industrial photographic service there.

When he joined the duPont Company, his first job was with a construction crew, of the engineering department, then building a new cellophane plant at Clinton, Ia. Upon completion of that construction he served as project engineer in the cellophane manufacturing operations there until 1942 when the Remington Arms Company, a subsidiary of duPont, asked for his transfer to a plant at Kings Mills, O.

In 1943, Mr. duPont was transferred back to the duPont Company for instrument work on the atomic energy project at the University of Chicago. From that time until the end of the war he worked with the atomic energy project at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and the Hanford Engineer Works, in the state of Washington.

When the duPont Company's major part in that program ended in 1946, Mr. duPont returned to the company's engineering department and was moved to Wilmington for the first time. He joined the extension division of the public relations department in 1948.

Harness Racing To Be Replaced By Rodeo at Fair Next July, Directors Decide at Meeting

Decision Was Made Because Officials Thought Fall and Spring Meets Dictated Different Entertainment For Fair

Memorial to Honor Green Valley's Sire

The bones of Single G, one of America's greatest pacers of a generation ago, have been exhumed from an unmarked grave and sent back "home" to Cambridge City, Ind., says a dispatch in a Syracuse (N. Y.) newspaper.

The bones of the famous campaigner will be buried beneath a memorial erected by interested Hoosier horsemen. Single G began his long harness racing career at Cambridge City.

He began racing in 1915 and continued until the late 1920's. His record for a mile of 1:58 1/2 was set at Syracuse. The late Ed Allen, of Des Moines, Ia., was the driver, said Benny Morrison, who gave The Journal a newspaper clipping about Single G. The horse made his record at 13 years. He died about 11 years ago.

Circuit Judge C. W. Mount, of Tipton, began a campaign in 1950 to raise funds for a memorial.

Single G was the sire of Green Valley, pacer and trotter, who died here June 8, and who is buried in the infield of the Kent & Sussex Raceway. Green Valley, named for "the green valleys of Indiana," was owned by Harry Stout.

Choirs of Trinity and Asbury Methodist Episcopal Churches will sing Christmas Eve from 9 to 9:30 o'clock at the Santa Claus house in the business district, according to Samuel A. Short Jr., president of the Harrington Better Business Association. Short added that candy and

There is gloom in Harrington this week! Despair has settled on this peaceful little community, the center of the harness racing industry for the peninsula. For the first time, since its inception 33 years ago, the Kent & Sussex County Fair will have no harness racing at its session next July.

The decision, the result of a meeting of the directors of the fair association here Friday evening, was made, according to T. Brinton Holloway, general manager of the association, because the directors felt that, due to the pari-mutuel harness meets here in the fall and spring, that many of the patrons of the event would prefer a different form of entertainment. In fact, Mr. Holloway added, many persons sided with this view.

A contributing factor, continued the general manager, was the fact that the fair race meet was concurrent with harness meets on the Maryland circuit.

Taking the place of the harness meet will be Col. Jim Eskew's JE Ranch Rodeo. The performance will begin Monday evening of fair week, (supplanting the auto thrill show) and will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons. Auto racing will take the spotlight Saturday afternoon, but the rodeo may possibly be staged Saturday night, the final night of the fair, with the Hamid Show. The show will be staged Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday nights.

The annual stockholders meeting of the fair association will be held Monday evening, Jan. 7, at the new firehouse at Seaford. A banquet and a show will also be held.

Felton Holds Its First Community Christmas Program Before Big Crowd

Business Firms and Civic Clubs Sponsor Event Including Tree, Parade, and Santa Claus

Between 500 and 600 persons attended Felton's first community Yuletide program Monday evening in front of the recently completed firehouse of the Felton Community Fire Company. The program was sponsored, for the most part, by Felton business firms and civic clubs.

The program started with a parade from Felton High School through the business district and thence to the firehouse. Santa Claus rode on the fire engine in the parade which was headed by the Felton High School band, under the direction of John Bunnell, music director.

Starting the program at the firehouse, Howard Henry, principal of Felton High School and master of ceremonies, introduced Richard Bennett, feed merchant and miller, calling him "an outstanding civic benefactor and booster of Felton." Mr. Bennett had the honor of turning on the lights of Felton's first community Christmas tree. He told the crowd how glad he was to be there and that he hoped the Christmas program would become a community custom.

Mr. Henry then talked in a similar vein, saying: "We hope this will become an annual event, the purpose is to unite the people of Felton in a demonstration of community spirit and pride. It is fitting that this season of brotherly love and mutual rejoicing serve as the occasion for such a demonstration."

The crowd, accompanied by the high-school band, then sang Christmas carols. Then Santa Claus, with the aid of the firemen, distributed candy and oranges to the children.

The Felton Avon Club will award three prizes for the best-decorated homes in the community. The judges will be selected and the judging will take place during Christmas week.

WE'LL put it up to you! There must be plenty of good reasons why more people buy Chevrolets than any other car.

Here are some things to think about.

There's the way Chevrolet looks. Nice clean, curved lines—like cars in the high-price field! Chevrolet's Body by Fisher sets the pace among low-priced cars.

There's the way Chevrolet rides and handles. The smoothness and big-car comfort of Uni-tized Knee-Action. Bigger brakes—biggest in the field—for safer, surer stops. Finest no-shift and standard driving at lowest cost with Powerglide or Synchro-Mesh transmission.

There's the way Chevrolet saves. Chevrolet is the lowest-priced line in the field and the savings go on and on with low operating costs.

There are plenty more reasons why Chevrolet is America's favorite. Come in and let us show them to you.

Chevrolet's time-proved POWERglide automatic transmission

Finest no-shift driving at lowest cost. Combination of Powerglide Automatic Transmission and 105-h.p. Engine optional on De Luxe models at extra cost.

We guess it must have been a couple weeks ago that we carried an item about a feller getting caught on the tracks at the Clark Street crossing because traffic had stopped to wait for a car to make a left turn into Delaware Avenue. Well, we got caught on the tracks last Friday, but we didn't wait for the train to run over us; we passed the line on the right.

We do not believe in bribing children to do the right thing, but we see nothing wrong in offering them an incentive to do the proper thing. We give one little boy in town 10c for each arithmetic lesson and 10c for each spelling lesson in which he gets 100. He has missed getting a dime on but one lesson in two weeks. The dimes he is getting now are but a drop in the bucket as to what he will get in later life from his studies.

We thought it would be nice to help the same little boy with his table manners, so we made a game out of it. At each meal we put ten pennies on the table. If the little fellow makes no mistakes, he gets all the pennies. However, he is discounted one penny for each error. In all fairness, he is informed as to various rules of etiquette. However, he is told but once; then he is subject to lose the pennies. In a week's time he has lost but three cents.

This incentive plan has but one drawback: the boy watches his tutor constantly and thus the teacher has to be on his toes so that he does not set an example by making mistakes.

To feel important is a valuable asset to anyone. It does something for you. It relieves you of that inferiority feeling, a feeling that no one cares and nothing matters.

There is a way to feel important by having a good opinion of yourself, not so much as to be socially unaccepted, but to the extent of demanding the highest esteem of others.

The little dog barks, but the big dog knows he is a big dog and the little one goes unnoticed. If people could and would only get the idea that they are somebody, maybe a lot of this world's trouble could be avoided.

Northern Lights
Do the Northern Lights have any effect on the weather? No. The northern lights, or aurora borealis, appear at heights of 60 miles or more above the surface of the Earth, while the highest clouds, are never more than about six miles high. The aurora, therefore, is far above the lower and denser regions of the atmosphere where weather is determined.

Sadness fell over this town Sunday morning when Mrs. Elva Turner Gross, 58, passed away at her residence here. Although she had been ill with a complication of diseases since she became an amputee more than a year ago, she had been steadfast in her belief that she would regain her health and made every effort to face recurrent illness with faith and hope for future recovery.

Mrs. Gross was the wife of Charles Hoey Gross, and she came to Frederica shortly after her marriage. She had remained here since and she had gained the respect of the entire community. When illness visited the town folk she was one of the first in the community to send a cheer card or to telephone and inquire about the afflicted. Until a week before her death she had telephoned her friends at the usual times and had offered others who were ill the comforting words of "We all have our dark days so don't give up hope."

Mrs. Edith Smith is leader of troop 1 and Mrs. Clara West of troop 2. Mrs. Woodrow is secretary; the assistant leaders are Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Ernie.

Now who would want a battered old watch that hasn't kept good time for ten years? Seems odd that Jimmy values it so highly. But really it's not odd at all. For you see, this watch belonged to Jimmy's dad.

GREYHOUND

It was with this spirit she held fast until she fell into a coma two days before she passed away. She had been a member of the Sunshine Society and she had brought much sunshine to others. She was a past president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the local fire company and she took an active part in the town organizations when suppers, bakes and other activities were in progress. In case of an emergency she was willing to deliver a telephone message at any hour or to call at a home and aid in anyway she could.

Since Mrs. Gross' illness permitted her to sit by the window, she derived much pleasure in talking with passers-by. Her home was opposite the post office and the community building, also, those going to and from the bus made it a habit of stopping to chat. It was she who gave the cheer to those who hurried to and from town and to those who as well, spent all their time in the town.

Death has again taken a person who not only lived in Frederica, but who loved Frederica and was loved by Fredericans.

Besides her husband Mrs. Gross leaves three daughters, Mrs. Willis Rogers, Milford; Mrs. Horace Culver, Lewes; Mrs. Clifford Rentz, of town; one granddaughter, Mary Ann Culver, Lewes; a sister, Mrs. Charles Morris, of Newark; a brother, Lowell Turner, of St. Louis, Mo. Although another brother had passed away in St. Louis on the preceding Monday, Mrs. Gross had had the information kept from her by the family, who feared that she would suffer more deeply due to her condition. He was Frank Turner.

Friends viewed the remains at the home Tuesday evening of this week and funeral services were held at Barratt's Chapel Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Roy Jones, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, here, officiated. Interment was in the adjoining cemetery.

Friday evening the Girl Scouts, Troops 1 and 2, will have a semi-formal dance at the Frederica School. Some members of the Caesar Rodney band will furnish the music. There will be prizes for the usual awards and refreshments will be served. All girls will be accompanied by escorts.

Mrs. Edith Smith is leader of troop 1 and Mrs. Clara West of troop 2. Mrs. Woodrow is secretary; the assistant leaders are Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Ernie.

FARM NEWS AND REVIEW

Home Talk

By: Eleanor R. Cavanaugh

Last week, a young group of homemakers met at the home of Mrs. Robert Stevens in Smyrna. They met to discuss the possibilities of organizing a new home demonstration club. They all agreed that they would profit by joining together. The name of the new club is "The Busy Homemakers Club" and are planning to meet the third Wednesday of each month in the Smyrna Youth Center. They will meet in January to elect officers. The charter members are 19 in number and live in Smyrna and vicinity.

The members are Mrs. Ronald Grier, Mrs. Burrill McCoy, Mrs. William Hutchinson, Mrs. Thomas Kennedy, Mrs. William Short, Mrs. Allen Robinson, Mrs. Franklin Hutchinson, Mrs. Harry Jackson, Mrs. Edward Schabinger, Mrs. Gilbert Lury, Mrs. Robert Stevens, Mrs. Harley Bodley, Mrs. Gerald Niles, Mrs. Medford Potter, Mrs. John Schaefer, Mrs. Robert Mills, Mrs. Joseph Jefferson, Mrs. Wallace Powell.

Christmas parties are now in season with the home demonstration clubs. Last week the Harrington Club had a big turkey dinner at one of the restaurants near Harrington. They exchanged gifts, sang carols and had lots of fun. Mrs. Philemon Harrington is the president of the club.

The Friendly Homemakers Club of Dover were guests of Mrs. William Rowe, Division Street, for its annual Christmas party. Many children accompanied their mothers to the party to see Santa Claus in person. He gave each child gifts, and also the club members. A grand time was had by all. Mrs. William Nelson is president of that club.

The Millwood Club also held a party last week at the Millwood Community Hall. Mrs. William Michel, Lynch Heights, is president of the club.

Andrewsville Club, too had a Christmas party last week. Mrs. Thompson acted as hostess, and a big turkey dinner was enjoyed by all. Mrs. Raymond Dean, of Harrington, is president of the Andrewsville Club.

To help you with ideas for that Christmas cookie jar, here's another good recipe which was which was used at the Cookie School.

Plain Christmas Cookies

1 cup butter or other shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
2 teaspoons vanilla
3 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt

Cream shortening and sugar together until light and fluffy. Beat in egg and vanilla. Sift dry ingredients and work gradually into creamed mixture. Chill, divide into two portions and roll out about 1/8 inch thick on lightly floured board. Cut into desired shapes with cookie cutters. Bake in moderate oven, 350 F., 12 to 15 minutes.

Poultry Manure

Can poultry manure be used as a fertilizer successfully?

Yes, if handled correctly, says E. M. Rahn and C. W. Hitz, of the horticulture department, University of Delaware. Rahn and Hitz reported on poultry manure research to fertilizer dealers at a recent University short course.

Experiments show that poultry manure can definitely be beneficial when used properly and when applied in combination with commercial fertilizers high in potash. Poultry manure is slowly available, especially its nitrogen, its most valuable element. Commercial fertilizers are readily available to plants.

For vegetables and strawberries they advised applying poultry manure in the fall or winter on the cover crop, then plowing under with the cover crop in spring. If poultry manure is applied in the spring, the ammonia can be toxic to young plants. And because of the litter, which needs nitrogen to decompose, the nitrogen supply may actually be short at first.

The practice of using superphosphate on poultry manure to save more nitrogen was not recommended. Superphosphate fertilizers are in tight supply, they said and research figures show that a $1.60 worth of superphosphate saves only 90 cents worth of nitrogen. The phosphorous in the fertilizer becomes fixed (changed into a form not useable by plants) when added with the poultry manure, further cutting the actual benefits of the practice.

More information on using poultry manure may be had from your county agricultural agent, or the horticulture department at the University.

Gordon Willis Made Honorary 4-T Member

Gordon Willis, vice-president of the Farmers Bank of Dover, was made an honorary 4-H Club member last Thursday at the Kent County 4-H achievement banquet at Camden.

Wyoming Wildcats Club was presented the trophy as the most outstanding 4-H group in the county for the second consecutive year during the banquet in Caesar Rodney School. Vernon Honey Bees Club was presented the dairy judging contest trophy, awarded by the Farmers Bank.

Margaret Webb, Kent County farm extension agent of the University of Delaware, lauded Mr. Willis as "one of the outstanding friends of Kent County farm youths."

Helen Samendinger, of Newark, Delaware's delegate to the International Farm Youth Exchange, who spent the summer on a German farm, told of her trip.

Individual award winners for the annual county competition were:

Mrs. Dorothy Robb Downs, Kenton, canning; Cynthia Metz, Wyoming, clothing; Earl Rambo, Houston, field craft; Beverly Short, Smyrna, frozen foods; William Chambers, Harrington, home ground beautification; Gene Short, Smyrna, leadership; Bruce Maloney, Milford, meat animals; John Clary, Clayton, gardening; June Golder, Dover, home improvements; Marvin Davis, Milford, dairy; Kenneth Richter, Harrington, poultry; Peggy Ann Adams, Harrington, and Teddy Yerkes, Houston, public speaking; Beverly Short, food preparation; Phyllis Bell, Dover, girl with best record; Byron Williams, Dover, farm and home electric.

Now Best Time To Control Orchard Mice

Mice damage fruit trees on a year around basis, but fall is the best time to work on controlling them.

It's a good idea to go over the orchard tree by tree, looking for mice, advises T. L. Bissell, University of Maryland extension entomologist. Circle the tree, walking in toward the trunk in several places, looking for signs of mice or mice damage.

Pine mice are the hardest to detect. They burrow down to the roots, gradually eating them away, until the tree leans over with the wind. If there are pine mice in your orchard, you'll find breather holes on the surface of the ground anywhere under the spread of the branches. Most of the damage to trees is done in the winter and spring, during the mice breeding season.

If you find matted runways about three fingers wide in the grass, you can suspect meadow mice. The runways will be clear of green grass and will be littered with droppings and bits of straw. The underside of fallen apples may be cut with very fine tooth marks, noticeably finer than rabbit tooth marks. Pull the grass away from the base of the trunk to look for damage to the bark, where mice may have begun to girdle the tree.

If only a few trees are involved, the mice can be controlled with common mouse traps, Mr. Bissell says. Place traps baited with apple in the runways. If grain or oatmeal is spread on each side of the trap the mice will slow down and not jump over the trap. Cover the trap with a handful of dried grass. If many mice are encountered, poison will be the best method of control. Your county agricultural extension agent can supply zinc phosphide poison and complete instructions for using it.

Aberdeen-Angus Sweep Honors at International Livestock Show

A grand sweep of the six major divisions of interbreed competition was won by America's Aberdeen-Angus breeders at the recent 1951 International Live Stock Exposition held in Chicago. The overall win was the 13th for the breeders since the inauguration of the show in 1900. The last grand sweep for the Angus was in 1938. Angus is the only breed ever to capture all major awards at an international show.

Grand champion over all breeds was an Angus steer called Toby, shown by Iowa State College, Ames. The 1240-pound steer, which was reserve grand champion of last year's show, set a precedent when he returned to be named grand champion of the 1951 International. This was the first time in the 52-year history of the show that a reserve grand champion has returned to capture top prize. Toby was exhibited by Herdsman George Edwards, 50, who has been showing cattle for Iowa State College for the past 25 years.

Iowa State College captured another Angus honor when it exhibited the grand champion group of three steers. The junior steer champion was taken by a Texas-bred steer, Bell Boy. He was exhibited by Howard Brown, 17-year-old F. F. A. youth from Chickasha, Okla. The young exhibitor's entry was named winner of the senior calf class, was top of his breed, and finally won the grand champion of the junior show. A. D. Weber, judge of the steer show, was highly impressed with the junior exhibition and termed it the greatest he had ever seen.

The purple award for the grand champion carlot show was presented to John F. Mommssen and his sons, Wayne and Glen, on a load of mediumweight Angus steers. The Mommssen's, whose farm is near Miles, Iowa, topped 102 other loads entered. The competition for top honors was keen but the Angus carlot proved to be superior. Mommssen has had two grand championships and a great number of blue ribbons. During all his years of competition, he has fed nothing but Angus cattle.

This year's International inaugurated a new phase of competition in the carlot show, that for short-fed cattle. The grand championship was won by Warren H. Ahrens, Bennett, Iowa, on his load of lightweight Angus.

An exceptional record has been maintained by Angus in the carcass division of the exposition. For the 44th time in 46 International contests, an Angus carcass has taken grand championship. The winning carcass, shown by B. F. and Howard Held, Hinton, Iowa, was from the same steer that had earlier won the grand championship award for best carcass steer on hoof. The reserve grand championship was also an Angus steer carcass, exhibited by Mathias Kassnel, Elk-horn, Wis. The University of Kentucky, Lexington, consigned the reserve champion carcass steer on hoof. All other winning carcasses were from Angus steers. Toby, the grand champion steer, sold for $6.75 per pound. He was purchased by Triangle Packing Company for Dave's Market in Millburn, N. J. The total price was $8,167.50. Mommssen and Sons' carload sold to High Low Foods of Chicago for $57.50 per hundred. The load averaged 1222 pounds. The price was the lowest paid for a champion load since 1943. Onstead's Market of Lindsey, O., purchased the champion load of shortfeds for $38.25 per hundred. The load averaged 953 pounds.

Hormones Help Dairy Research By Bringing Cows Into Production

New results from research on treating dairy cows with hormones, show that modern science is on the right track to saving non-breeder cows for good milk production.

Success with two hormones has opened the way. John L. Crothers, assistant county agricultural agent, quotes results from a study done in Michigan.

Two sterile Guernsey heifers were the first animals studied. Tablets of two hormones—progestosterone and diethylstilbestrol—were implanted in the shoulders of these animals. One heifer began producing milk on the 64th day, the other on the 97th day. Neither had ever calved. Both heifers produced milk for more than 300 days, and both produced more than 6000 pounds of milk and over 320 pounds of butterfat. These are equal to normal first-calf Guernseys.

The scientists tried another idea, says Crothers, and used the hormones on older cows which failed to settle. Two four-year-old Holsteins were implanted with the hormone tablets. Production started when the tablets were removed. One cow produced 80 pounds a day, the other 45. After four months of milking, the first was still giving 50 pounds per day, the second 35 pounds daily.

Both of these cows would have been discarded, without hormone treatment. The scientists believe that they might settle when bred again because the treatment gives the reproductive organs a chance to rest.

A lot of research is yet to be done, Crothers states, but with more such results the treatment might someday be practical for the average dairy farmer to use on his herd.

4-H Dairy Club Organized For County

First county-wide 4-H Dairy Club started in Kent County announced Margaret Webb, 4-H club agent, Wallace Caulk, Woodside, will serve as leader for the dairy club with Francis Downs, of Clayton, assisting. This county-wide dairy club is an outgrowth of the old Woodside Dairy Club of which L. D. Caulk, Sr., Wyoming, was the leader.

Officers elected for the group are: President, Purnal Friedel, Jr., Viola; vice-president, Wilson Reed, Wyoming, and treasurer, Lee O'Day, Felton.

Delmar J. Young, extension dairyman and Sam Gwinn, state 4-H club leader, University of Delaware, helped with the planning of the dairy program for the year. The club will meet the fourth Monday of every month at the farm of Wallace Caulk, Woodside. Their next meeting will be Jan. 28, at 8 p. m. at which time the 4-H dairy project books will be distributed and fully explained by the extension dairy specialist.

Any boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 21 interested in dairy may attend the meetings or join the club. All meetings are open meetings and specifically on dairy project work.

New Walk-In Farm Refrigerator

A walk-in-refrigerator-freezer that can be built on the farm is a new U. S. Department of Agriculture development.

Earl Crouse, agricultural engineer with the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, says the walk-in has won the approval of both the farmer and his wife. It can serve not only as a place to keep the family food supply, but as a two-temperature refrigerator for keeping meat, eggs, vegetables and other products before marketing.

The design of the walk-in is planned as a separate structure or as part of another building. The farmer can do his own construction work, but Crouse recommends getting technical help to install the refrigeration equipment. Cost of construction, at late 1950 prices, is about $1200, says Crouse.

The entire unit is 10 foot, 7 inches long; 8 foot, 8 inches wide; and 8 foot high. The chill room has a 250 cubic foot capacity. The freezer room has about 100 cubic foot capacity.

Working drawings for the two-temperature walk-in may be had by writing to Earl Crouse, Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, University of Delaware, Newark. A leaflet giving more detailed information may also be had from his office.

Stalk Rot Cuts Corn Yield

Stalk rot of corn not only makes mechanical picking harder—it also reduces yields. The same fungi that cause stalks to rot and break over cause premature ripening and rotting of the ears. This gives stalk rot three chances to cut your corn yields, according to Dr. L. O. Weaver, plant pathologist at the University of Maryland.

What can you do to control this disease which will also affect your cereal crops, such as wheat, barley and rye?

Crop rotation and plowing under crop residues is part of the answer given by Dr. Weaver. The spores that cause the disease develop in crop residues on the surface. Root and stalk rots become evident soon after pollination and increase in severity until the crop matures. The wind carries spores to increase ear infection. So plowing stalks and straw under will bury the spores and reduce their chance of infecting next year's crop.

Some corn hybrids are more resistant to rot than others. Dr. Weaver suggests finding out which hybrids give the best yields and resistance to rot in your part of the state before ordering seed.

Planting disease free kernels, and seed that has been treated will prevent seed infection and seedling blight, but won't control stalk and ear rots, Dr. Weaver says.

Mulch Gives Plants Winter Protection

You don't mulch shrubs, perennials or trees to keep them from getting cold during the winter, points out Dr. Conrad B. Link, University of Maryland floriculturist. The whole idea behind mulching is to keep the plant cold—not warm.

Dr. Link explains it this way: A mulch is desirable to keep the soil from constantly freezing and thawing, which is so common under Maryland conditions. This action tears and breaks the roots, in some instances killing the plant.

Mulching is especially good for newly planted ornamentals, even if they are of a hardy type, Dr. Link says.

Almost any loose material will make a good mulch. Straw, hay, leaves, tops of garden plants, and corn stalks are all suitable for insulating the soil and keeping it cold or frozen.

Mulching should be done after the plants are dormant and when the weather is cool enough so that new growth is discouraged. Leave the mulch on in the spring until the threat of cold weather is passed.

There are several other things to do for winter protection of your ornamentals.

Dr. Link recommends mounding soil six or eight inches over the main stem and base of the

Breeders Co-op Leases Bull

The Guernsey Bull Committee of the Delaware Artificial Breeders' Cooperative, has leased a proven Guernsey sire, Hill Girt Count, 342092, from Hill Girt Farm, Chadd's Ford, Pa.

The bull was brought to the bull stud, at the University of Delaware Experiment Farm, and is now on regular service. The bull will be known as G-23 in the artificial breeding records.

Count has a calculated proof of: nine daughters averaging 575 pounds fat, eight averaging 566 pounds, and eight more averaging 499 pounds fat. This is an increase over their dams of 67. The increase in milk of the daughters of Count, over their dams, is 783 pounds.

Count's sire is Hill Girt Prince, owned by the New York Artificial Breeders' Cooperative. His dam is Hill Girt Countess, with AR records of 620 and 683 pounds of fat. She has three AR daughters.

Service of the bull is available to all Guernsey breeders in the state.

branches of hybrid tea roses, particularly late planted roses.

Boxwood will benefit from a shade to shield it from the winter sun. This shade is especially important for new plants. A light framework covered with burlap will do.

Wrap the trunks of newly planted trees with burlap or similar material to conserve moisture and prevent sun scald or other injury to the bark.

Rhododendrons, azelias and other broadleaf evergreens need water during the winter. Both a soil mulch and shade are desirable to prevent drying out.

Sulky Slants

By Mrs. Dave (Pat) Smith

Anywhere you go out here to the race track is Christmas. About horses, well when you ask about them, they say; have you purchased all your gifts? Which I can say gosh no and mean that.

I hear that ole Santa is going to try and get a pony down little Billie Carter's sock. So Billie you better be real good.

Mrs. Britt Holloway gave me this information yesterday, that plans are underway for the annual stockholders dinner meeting. It will be held in the Seaford Fire Hall, January 7. It is expected to be a wonderful affair with turkey and all the trimmings. And some very popular entertainment being booked out of New York.

Will have more on this later on.

Of all things, Harry Adams was out line breaking little Emiline, Adams' tiny pony. That was really funny only wish I had a camera at the time. Wonder what big pace or trot is Emil going to start Silver Nickie? Next thing I know you will have him hitched to a sulky.

Sam the Harness man can't get going this year. No place to have the crowd sit around like he had last year. Sam has to have plenty of company to work real hard and fast.

Do you know I still have hopes for my colt, Roustabout, out of Auburn Queen, by Donald Truax. I hope he will follow after his half-brother, Pronto Don and pace half as good as Pronto Don can trot. Don't you know that Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bowers are proud of their Donald Truax?

Pronto Don is the leading money earner of this past season. In his 21 starts he had 16 wins, four seconds, and a third. He won his last 16 races in a row. Pronto Don won the $50,000 Roosevelt two mile trot, the $25,000 Gotham, the $14,000 Los Angeles and the $10,000 Arden. Making the total for Pronto Don's earnings $80,850.04 this year. He is owned by the Hayes Fair Acre Stable in Du Quoin, Ill.

So you see why I have hopes. So far so good, he's doing everything that Dave asks of him. But time will tell. Anyway he is really being trained slow and easy. Boy he's a bull dog. Would like to be real saucy if he could get by with it.

I see where Lucien Dugre, of Sherbrooke, Canada, has purchased three head of horses for Paul Laurente. He raced here last spring, the good horse being Texas. Paul was stabled next to us in Hamburg for the summer meet. Very good neighbors.

Bobby Hobbs certainly does enjoy his horse, Dudley Spencer. We are very glad Old Dudley has a good home. Sarah, did Dave have you going out to the Wonder Bar Sunday evening? Did Bobby really trade those two nice white-headed cattle for a colt? He don't put sugar in it, or if they do not enough to taste. Plenty of meat just like yours.

Here is a cutie that was given me in the Journal office, "Charlie Price Sr. visited Canton Farm, St. Michaels, Md., recently. Charlie and C. H. Burgess got confused as to directions and went to a house for information. And in a driveway was a station wagon, with open doors. At one of the doors was a colored boy. Charlie said: "Let's ask this boy." But Charlie never got the opportunity. The boy was a hitchhiking post. Now I ask you Charlie and C. H. Burgess, how did you feel?

Al Price, who works in the post office, was a visitor out to the track. Looking over the bang tails for this spring. Mr. and Mrs. Britt Holloway are going to Wilmington this week to combine business with pleasure. Anyone interested in Christmas wreaths or trees, holly, will do well to drive by Booty's home and see his displays. On sale now till Christmas.

Mrs. Booty Morris out chatting with Nettie Carter. Think she bought that beautiful singer Nettie had. I wanted it but what chance would it have with my cats. Happy Gray has purchased another house trailer for someone in their family. Did you see Old Saint Nick with his pack on his back last Saturday? He stopped in front of Reese Theatre, thought he was going to unload there for Mrs. Reese Harrington. Anyway at least Harrington has the Christmas spirit. I think the town is the prettiest that it has ever been. Certainly gives you the Christmas spirit at night, even if it has been warm.

Ralph Smith has been inducted into the army and expects to be called in about Jan. 4. Poor Bea, bet she will be lonesome.

Say Mr. Jerread, why do you hate to have your name in the paper? After all don't you have one of the nicest newsstands (down dis away)? You know Santa might bring you something if he knows about you.

Mr. and Mrs. Tweedy spent a night here on their way to Florida. They left Brunswick, Me., with two truck loads of horses that will be trained in Longwood, Fla. Next week I will give you the horses they have.

Harry Stout's little colt coming along fine. Rest of his aged horses taking it easy for a while. Paul Vineyard out breaking a good looking colt. And who can do better than Paul? But I didn't know you liked to walk that well. Guess you are trying to get that school boy waistline.

And speaking of waist lines, Pop Heller you aren't doing too bad with that everyday walk. I don't think you lose any weight just eat more. How about it Pop? Mrs. Roland Herrington is back from California and she says she is glad to be back. From the radio report this week it was down to 32. Coldest in 78 years. I'll take Harrington or Florida.

Dave Knapp and George (Jig) Hopkins, of Snow Hill, Md., were visitors out to visit their colt they own together in Doug Smith's Stable. Hasty Don.

Tommy Walters and Mr. Farlow, of Pittsville, Md., also were visitors to the track. Here is a good one Mr. Farlow tells on Tommy, Shall I tell you as it was told to me? Gosh I better not. But here is one version of it anyway. Someone laughed and said: "No, no Pat." Anyway Tommy do you have a big deep freeze full of buck deer? But to hear Mr. Farlow tell, would have stood you on your head.

Mrs. Peacock spent the week-end with Mr. Peacock. At present she is staying at their home till later on.

Mr. Jandack, do you think that letter from the Copa, in New York, will lure you from your horses?

Will anyone having any news that you would like put in the Washington News, please bring it to me out to barn No. 3. About horses that you might know about. I am now writing the news from the track, for our race track. Everything helps for a paper.

Mrs. Earl Thomas is taking it easy this past week. She is on her vacation.

Old Symbol Lewis bucking and playing in his stall just like a colt. Fresh as a daisy. Carl's Real Maxey looking swell too.

Did I tell you last week that George Dumont has taken over Reese Harrington's horses?

Ellis Myer has added another colt to his stable, a colt out of Auburn Queen by My Birthday. A half brother to my colt. Norma Scott from Bridgeville.

Ray's stable has all the sum of eight head of horses. Which next week will put all their names in the paper.

Mr. Pratt is here with a good horse that will race this spring, Guy Hamilton.

See Mr. Miller out jogging some of Mr. Lyon's horses. John Amato and Mr. Lyons have the largest stable, I think, so far.

Virginia Holloway just told me that a Christmas tree and decorations will be put up in our general manager's office for the horsemen.

Virginia Paskey and Portia gone Christmas shopping in Wilmington. That's (Bridget and Matilda).

Portia will take off this week end for a visit to Mobile, Ala. Big Mac will take her as far as Birmingham, Ala. Mac goes on to Cullman, Ala., to spend Christmas with his folks. Boy, will they eat blackeyed peas and corn bread. Then Mac will drool over his eats for next six months. Good old home cooked meals.

For me, I think I will shuffle off to Buffalo, weather permitting.

Next week will tell you what goes on behind the scenes of trailer life at Christmas time. But I'm sure everything is the same as you will do at a home.

The postmaster, Mr. Wilson, is looking much better after his illness. Someone asked me where my big goose (Jake) was, well not till after Christmas will I bring him home. Not with him weighing 24 lbs. Too tempting for some out here at the track.

Olin Davis, Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Bowers, Emil Adams, Dave and I all chatting with Alton Downes in the drug store the other night. Just like old times. Some waiting for the phone. Others just sipping cokes.

Sure nice that Dr. Chamberlin carries such a good line of horse medicines. And about everything else you might need. Mrs. Chamberlin such fun to talk to.

Wanda Quillen dashing around mailing Christmas packages. One big one on its way to her brother in Germany.

Do you know I enjoy going up to The Harrington Journal office and chat with Louise Burgess. Say, ask Betty Myer what Ellis Jr. says about the big bird. It would be cut out here, but he is a bird himself.

The pony express has been replaced by the streamliner, plane, telephone and telegraph.

Suggestion for delivering an important Christmas "package"

Holiday greetings by Long Distance, always a welcome "package" in the Christmas season, will be as popular as ever this year.

Most of these calls will go through promptly... but there will be some delays, particularly on calls to remote points. We've made special arrangements to have an extra staff of operators at every switchboard. You can help them give you the service you want by making your calls before or after the peak hours on Christmas Eve and Christmas Morning. And whenever possible, give the operator the number of the telephone you want to reach. When you call by number your call will go through faster... often twice as fast!

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Sign of a Nice Guy

Got so around these parts that everywhere a hunter went this fall, he came up against signs saying "PRIVATE PROPERTY, NO HUNTING, KEEP OFF." But not out at Happy Preston's place!

Happy's signs say "PRIVATE PROPERTY, GOOD HUNTING, BUT BE CAREFUL."

"Don't hunt myself," Happy says, "but there's plenty of game on my property. I tell the hunters where the best spots are—away from where I'm working and where nobody else is hunting. It works out pretty well all-around."

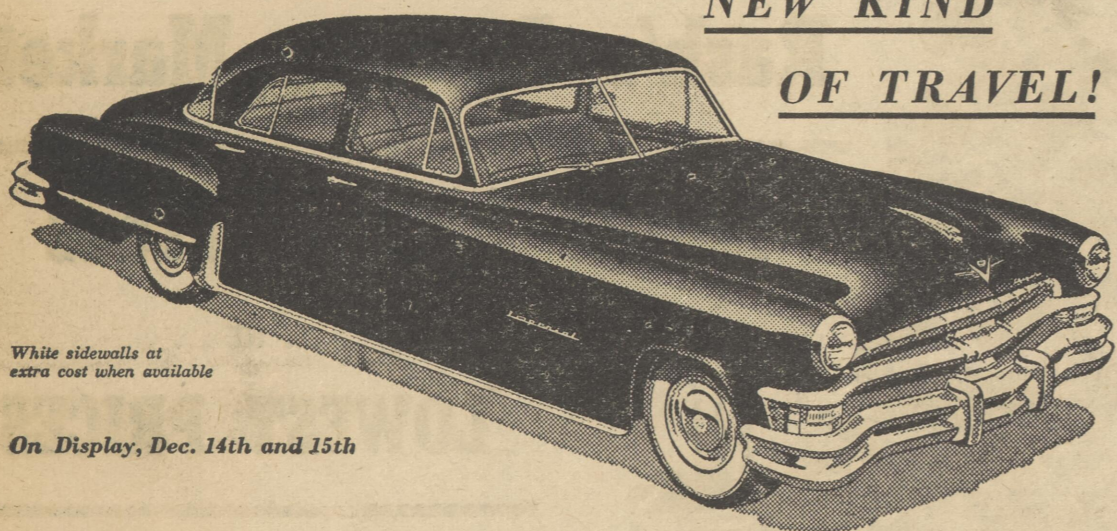

From where I sit, Happy has once again shown why he gets along with everyone and why everyone respects him. Happy's likes and dislikes might not be the same as his neighbors', but that doesn't stop him from understanding. When it comes to opinions on hunting, fishing, politics, ways of farming, or whether your favorite beverage is beer or cider, try to be like Happy and the chances are you'll be really happy!

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

Are you going to let Santa Claus come down the chimney into that living room papered like it is?

You know Santa has feelings too and would prefer a nice comfortable room to make his appearance. Of course you can dress it up some with holly and other decorations but don't you fool yourself, he and others can see back of that camouflage.

This can be easily remedied and at a very little expense. Drop in and see our new living room and patterns for any room in the house. Then when Santa arrives with that bright and glowing paper he will say well, well, well, I feel so good they have given me such a hearty welcome I am going to reach deeper in my bag.

Folks look deep in this little episode and you will see the true meaning.

Wheeler's Television Center, on Commerce Street, Harrington, is carrying just what it takes to make a home beautiful.

This is the time of year when people begin to feel their aches and pains and try all kinds of remedies to cure it. I am not a doctor and would not like to be one with all the headaches and pains to conquer that they are up against even if I do have my share of complaints, but I can tell you something that will help them.

Now realize your old mother and dad are not as young as you are and cannot stand as much so, if you want to make them happy and to feel better, buy them a Westinghouse electric health lamp, a Westinghouse electric warming pad, or a Westinghouse electric blanket, or a Westinghouse electric sheet. You'll be surprised how the old folks will be skipping around again. Don't forget it is good for you too.

I don't know whether my talk on television is helping you any or not but I will say the skyline is getting to look like a spider's web and more and more flies are getting caught in it all the time.

This web is not treacherous but one that wants you to enjoy the catch as well. Folks the fishing is wonderful and you will not only enjoy pulling in the catch yourself, but the whole family will enjoy it. Especially when Bob Hope, Eddie Cantor, Jerry Lewis and many, many others are right now nibbling and grabbing the hook.

Xmas of course is here and I wish I could promise you all a television, but I cannot. Still I do have a few on hand for the ones who act quick and will guarantee them installed for Xmas. No better gift to the whole family even if we do go in the air to get it.

Wheeler's Television Center is glad to take your order for cash or only fifteen per cent down and this includes the aerial installation as well.

Next week I am going to list the things we sell so if you are in the market for any of them, I sure would appreciate your appearance. I carry quite a large inventory and sure would like for you to help me cut it down. May I ask do you have enough comfort in your home in regards to heating?

Take a tip from me, come in and see the new floor Gas Heater, not for just one room but for the whole house. Just think a heater that sets in the floor eliminating any space entirely and just set the required temperature desired and presto there you have that heat you have always wanted.

My prediction in 5 years time Gas will be the leading fuel for heating your home.

Start early, you know the old saying? I know you are all busy now getting ready for Xmas but remember to look for the things we have for sale in next week's issue.

Wheeler's Television Center Phone 541 Harrington, Del. Talk Peace Not War. We are moving to the point where we can jump over the fence. Adv.

Is Mighty Drama of Heartbreak Hill

Remember "Battleground" of a few seasons ago. Remember the great story that kept you on the edge of your seats. Remember the dramatic impact of the big scenes. Twentieth Century Fox has come thru with a story of the greatest gang of guys who ever gave you their hearts as they broke the back of Heartbreak Hill. "Fixed Bayonets" with Richard Basehart, Gene Evans of "Steel Helmet" fame, and Michael O'Shea, which plays the Reese Theatre, located at Harrington, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 16, 17, and 18, eclipses "Battleground" in movement and dramatic impact.

Every sweetheart, every woman, and every mother's son should see "Fixed Bayonets," the biggest story in the world today, told while it's happening.
