SCD Supervisors Convene in Dover

The annual meeting of the State Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors was held Monday in Dover, with Lynn D. Caulk, Sr., the president of the association, presiding. The conference opened with a discussion of the use and cost of operation of heavy equipment owned by the three soil conservation districts in the state. William Henderson, county agent of Sussex County, discussed equipment problems in the drainage area of Sussex and Kent County and Levis Phipps of Centerville, Del., led the discussion which followed.

Miss S. Frances Staveley, third grade teacher, at the Commodore McDonough School at St. Georges, presented her program of conservation education in public grade schools. Miss Staveley has made considerable progress in integrating soil and water conservation in her teaching courses, and her accomplishments are being observed with keen interest by public education officials and teachers throughout the state. It was announced that Dr. Miller, State Superintendent of Public Education, has appointed a committee to develop a program for conservation education in our public schools.

Dr. John Lamb, research representative of the Soil Conservation Service regional office at Upper Darby, Pa., pointed out the benefit which could be derived by the Soil Conservation Supervisors from research conducted at the various experimental stations under Soil Conservation Service supervision.

Harrington rolled to its 14th straight Eastern Shore League victory Monday night, trampling Dover under a 37-goal barrage, 82-55 here.

Except for the second period, when Dover outscored the loop leaders, 20-17, the visitors never were in the contest.

Jack Dill, Bob Snowden and Paul Martin all hit double figures for the winners, while Bob Archer, Bill Scabala and Walt Shields did likewise for the losers.

At Seaford, the tail-enders, were handed their eleventh defeat in a winless campaign as Laurel's Owls came through, 55-44.

Power-Steering Chryslers

A half-billion miles of owner driving of Chryslers equipped with power steering have proven its safety and efficiency, reports J. A. O'Malley, general sales manager of the Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation.

"More than 40,000 1951 and 1952 power steering equipped Chryslers are now on the road," O'Malley said.

"The demand for power steering continues to increase as enthusiastic owners tell acquaintances about its contribution to safety and comfort through the elimination of fatiguing wheel fight on long drives and especially over rough roads, ruts and in heavy snows."

O'Malley pointed out that the manual effort required is only one-fifth of that previously needed with conventional steering. Even at a standstill the wheels can be turned with finger-tip pressure, he said, a feature gaining great favor with women drivers.

"The important thing about Chrysler power steering is the fact that it is in operation 100 per cent of the time," O'Malley said. "For this reason the ratio of manual to hydraulic power remains constant through all driving conditions and therefore, more closely approximates unaided steering and a natural driving 'feel.'"

Power steering is standard equipment on Chrysler Crown Imperial models and is available as optional equipment on Imperial, New Yorker, Saratoga, Windsor and Windsor DeLuxe models.

Sewer System to Be Extended Some 500 Feet on Vernon Rd.—Pumping Station Needs Attention

Railroad News

Superintendent Lingenfelter and his staff attended the district safety and loss and damage meeting at Harrington Monday; Delaware Tuesday, and Clayton Wednesday. In addition to the superintendent's address, a safety film was shown by Tom Lyman, safety-man in the master-mechanics office in Wilmington.

Short talks were also given by Division Engineer Kirk Warden; Trainmaster, Bob Blosser; Supervisor of Safety, Paul Siple, and Supervisor of Personnel, Norman Patterson.

Mr. Lingenfelter praised the Harrington boys for their good safety performance and the part they played in helping the division win the eighth consecutive award for the best safety record in their class on the system.

He and Mr. Frew also complimented John Porter for suggesting a closer check be made on damage to lading at points where goods are transferred from car to trucks.

The annual safety rally and oyster roast will be held March 8 in the Armory at Salisbury.

Details on transportation and committee arrangements will appear in the next issue of this column.

In an effort to encourage discussion, at the meetings, the boys were asked to come into the next meeting with something to report on unsafe conditions they might have observed.

Ernie Homeowd says he is going to tell them about a rat-trap job brought about by Olin Perry.

It seems that Perry purchased a new-fangled trap that resembles a spring clip as we use on bulletin boards, and set it on the floor near his desk where a mouse had been chewing up erasers, postage stamps, etc.

Ernie found out what it was after he picked it up and says his blood pressure is back up again.

Perry says he caught the rat. Days are getting longer and diesels getting closer every day. So hold your complaints on the smoke nuisance and your patience might be justly rewarded before the blue birds are through singing.

Four new houses have been built in town during the past year by the following railroad men: Howard Williams, Bernard Siems, Olin Perry, and Slim Ryan.

Harrington Firm Installs School Heating Systems

One of Harrington's newer firms, the Mid-State Home Improvement Company, under the aegis of B. J. Dougherty, has been taking a prominent part in the installation of heating systems in rural schools in Delaware.

The company, which also has a Wilmington office, has completed projects at Plymouth School, Viola; Union School, between Felton and Frederica; at Mt. Olive School, near Little Haven, and at Reeves Crossing School between Harrington and Felton.

The firm located here in the former quarters of Taylor Motor Company on Clark Street near U. S. 13, in September when it was putting in the hardwood floors of Harrington grade school. This is not the first visit of Mr. Dougherty to Harrington, however, since he aided in the construction of Reese Theatre. He also put in hardwood floors at a Streets, lights, and sewers occupied the limelight of the February meeting of the City Council Monday night, with water mains being given some attention.

The Council agreed to pay for water pipe and sewer pipe on Dorman Street, northward from the home of L. Dickrager to two lots where residences will be built by Clyde Tucker and a friend who will provide the installation without cost to the City.

Councilman George Vapaa reported that Fred Gunner Jr., asked for a streetlight in front of his home on East Street. Gunner also asked for information about a proposed water line on the street. The Council said that the line was being held up until the price of pipe was more reasonable. The request for a streetlight, with a similar request from Mrs. Amy Stone, of Commerce and Mechanic Streets, was referred for investigation to a lighting committee of Councilmen Charles Peck Sr. and Mr. Vapaa.

The Council agreed to extend the sewer system some 500 feet on Vernon Road to the farm implement establishment of Taylor & Messick. Councilman Edward Taylor, a member of the firm, agreed to buy the pipe for the City at wholesale rates and provide $350 of the installation costs.

With the heavy rainfall of recent weeks, the shortcomings of the two pumps, installed 16 years ago, at the pumping station became apparent, causing the Council to agree to ask the city manager of Smyrna to come down and check on them. The pumps, which have been working day and night in recent days, have not been able to take proper care of the sewage.

A delegation from Harrington Manor put in a request for lights, zoning, surface drainage, and road improvements in the manor. The request was referred to a committee composed of Councilmen Peck, George Graham, and Leonard Harrington.

The City Office will remain open from 12 to 12:30 p. m. during the week, but will be closed all day Saturday. The new schedule was made at public request.

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows asked and received the Council's approval to publish a street directory of the City.

Chas. Peck Attends Baltimore Conference

Officials of Southern States, from central headquarters in Richmond, presented talks on seed, feed, fertilizer and farm supplies.

Three Wilmingtonians are employed here by the firm, as follows:

Francis Gold, sheet metal foreman, who was in charge of heating installation in the Chrysler plant at Newark; William Eskridge, metal worker, and Benjamin Henderson, carpenter foreman.

The Mid-State Home Improvement Company works on large and small projects.

One of our town ladies, with her husband, went to the city quite recently to visit relatives and perhaps do a little shopping on the side. On arriving at the home of her relatives, the lady left her hat and coat on a chair in the reception hall and went with her friend into the living room for a little visit. It seems the friend was an owner of a small puppy dog and it seems in his wanderings around the house, he espied the lady's hat in the hall, and part of the brimming on the hat was a bird. The dog must have been a bird dog for when he saw the bird he made for the hat, and oh my! what a hat, when the dog had finished the bird. The relative was greatly distressed about the affair, but Rose, the owner of the hat, didn't mind her loss too much as the new spring bonnets are on sale and she will probably be getting herself one very soon.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Experienced Hand Wanted

Cappy Miller's back from visiting relatives and tells about a big snow storm that knocked out the electric power for miles around. Naturally, the local power company was doing everything possible to restore service but folks kept calling in and one woman gave them a new twist.

"I don't mind not having lights," she grumbled, "but I've got 20 cows in my barn and they all have to be milked by machine. Nobody around here knows how to milk a cow by hand any more."

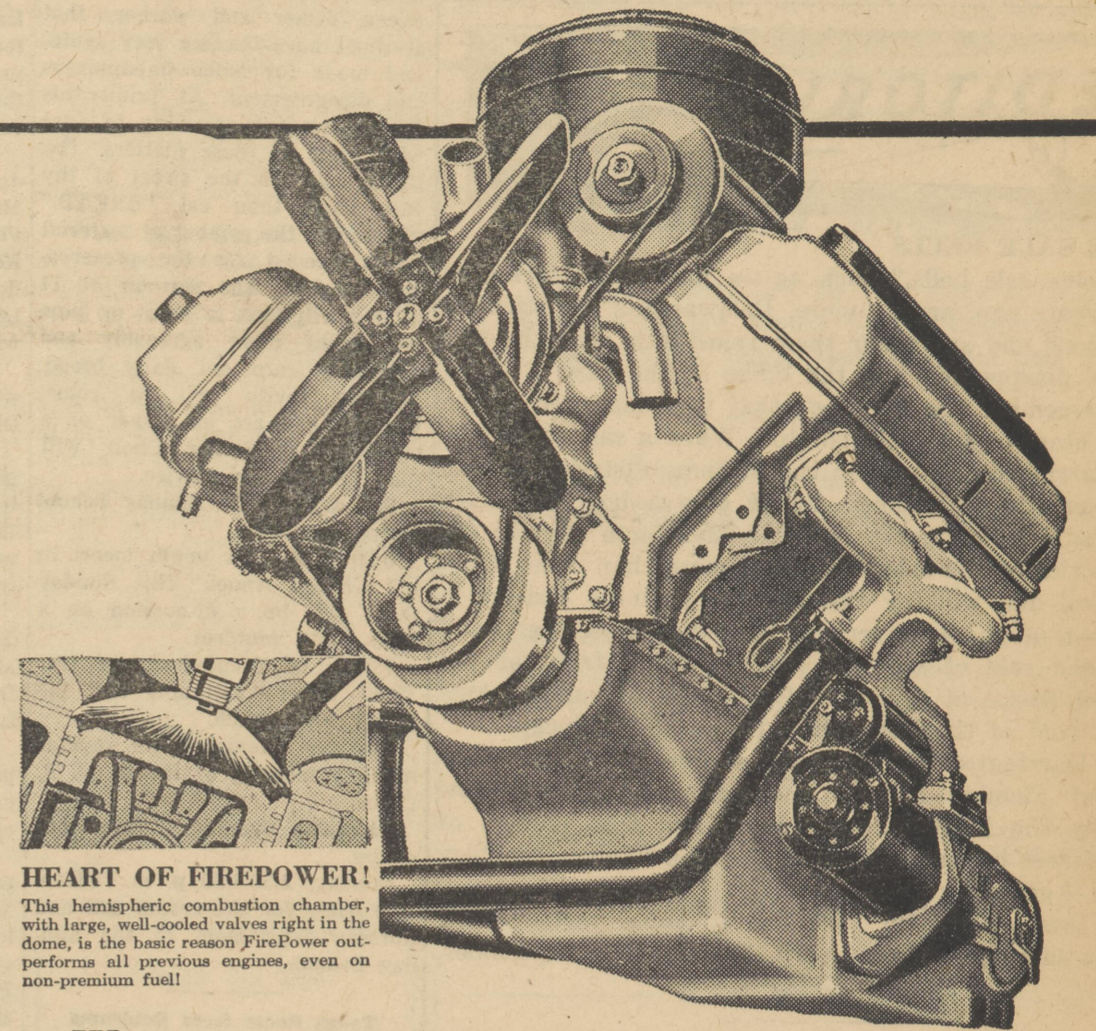

From where I sit, it's only too easy to forget how to do something—even as simple as milking a cow—if we don't keep at it. And that goes for practicing tolerance, too. Like forgetting our neighbor has a right to decide for himself whether or not to enjoy a temperate glass of beer. If we don't keep the other fellow's point of view in mind we're all liable to get "snowed under" by intolerance.

BEFORE YOU INVEST IN ANY FINE CAR... COME DRIVE THIS

CHRYSLER V-8 ENGINE!

HEART OF FIREPOWER!

This hemispheric combustion chamber, with large, well-cooled valves right in the dome, is the basic reason FirePower outperforms all previous engines, even on non-premium fuel!

WHETHER you plan to buy a Chrysler or not, we cordially invite you to drive this revolutionary Chrysler FirePower V-8 engine. Only FirePower performance can possibly tell you what it is like. We want you to have that experience. The FirePower engine is a basic new design so advanced it can meet rising performance needs for years to come. Today it delivers 180 horsepower, even on non-premium fuel, and when desirable with simple changes in manifold, compression, and carburetion the horsepower can be raised to 250... or over 300, as in the experimental Chrysler K-310 car. Naturally, others will imitate this Chrysler achievement, at least in part. We honestly believe that the FirePower engine will outperform any other car in America... and we invite you to learn the new standard in engine performance Chrysler has set by driving it yourself.

YE OLDE SALE BELLS

"Ye olde sale bells," such as we heard in Harrington some 25 years ago, are no more. Delawareans are sticklers for traditions and surrender them reluctantly, but the sale bell finally disappeared into the limbo of the past.

We remember the hand-bell that was deposited in the hardware store of Book Harrington. When a sale was to be held in Harrington, usually in the business district, the late John Baker, the auctioneer, would give a boy a quarter (which was a lot of money in those days for a boy) to cry out the notice of the sale. We did it more than once. Ringing the bell and walking through the business district in the manner of the town crier of colonial days, we would cry: "Public sale of valuable real estate in front of the Harrington House at 2 o'clock. Public sale of valuable real estate in front of the Harrington House at 2 o'clock."

The Harrington House stood at the corner of Commerce and Fleming Streets and occupied the site now covered by the First National Bank and that portion of Fleming Street between the bank and the Ernest Raughley Insurance Agency.

The town crier still functions in some parts of the world. We saw one, in gay livery, in Corsica in September, 1944.

In making a plea for industries for the community, one should not overlook the advantages of the smaller ones. For example, a comparatively new one in Harrington, the Mid-State Home Improvement Company, is of immense help to the community.

Under the leadership of B. J. Dougherty, this firm has eight local men on its regular payroll and several on the extra list. In addition, three Wilmingtonians are on its payroll and these men spend most of their time and money here.

The firm handles large and small jobs and does roofing, spouting, installs heating and air conditioning. It also installs hardwood floors, cornice work and sheet metal work.

The advantages of having numerous small industries in the community are obvious. It is not usually well to have all your eggs in one basket.

HAVE YOUR CATTLE BEEN TESTED?

Cattle purchased by Delaware cattlemen from other states must have been tested and found free from tuberculosis and Bang's disease, according to Charles F. Mundy Jr., secretary of the State Board of Agriculture.

Mr. Mundy told The Journal Monday that the law applied to both dairy and beef cattle, regardless of the purpose for which the cattle had been purchased. Delawareans buying cattle in other states should request a certificate showing that the cattle have been tested and found free from the above-mentioned diseases. The certificate then goes to the state board of agriculture in the state in which the cattle were purchased. The certificate is then forwarded to the Delaware State Board of Agriculture.

Cattle purchased within the state should also be free from TB and Bang's disease.

Trinity Methodist Church Notes

One of the main social problems that confronts all of us today is that pertaining to employer and employee. While many modern devices have helped man in the earning of his bread, yet many questions have risen between owner and worker, that at times have become very acute, and made for much unhappiness and disagreement. At Trinity this Sunday we are planning to deal with some of these matters. The Bible says "In the sweat of thy face shall thou eat 'BREAD.'" "Bread" is the symbol of material goods, needed for the preservation of life. The sermon at 11 o'clock will seek to point up how we might more agreeably and profitably earn our daily bread. So we invite you to come, whether you are an owner or a worker. Our Senior Choir will also sing at this service.

9:45 a. m. The Sunday School convenes.
6:30 p. m. Our youth meets in the Church Annex. This Sunday there will be a discussion on a vital youth problem.
7:30 p. m. Evening service. Our Mens' Chorus will sing and the pastor will preach.

Tuesday Evening: The regular monthly meeting of the O. U. R. Class.
Thursday Evening: Rehearsal of choirs.

Sunday, 2:30-4:30 p. m.: Valentine party for the cradle roll and nursery department of the Sunday School.

Takes Room from Doldrums
A bright color—vermillion, for instance—draws your eye when it's used in the decoration of a room. A dull one, such as a deep tone of red, stays quietly in its place. The brilliant colors which provide positive accents of color are sometimes needed to give life to an otherwise dull room.

YOUR TREASURE

By Samuel A. Short Jr.
Don't say you'll do this and that. By thinking you'll better succeed.

Remember there are others like that.
That will take you job you so badly need.

If you can't talk in a kinder way, To your friends that put you there.
Just try to wait for another day, To be able to be more fair.

If you don't think you can do this, To make life more pleasant for all.
Just don't try to take advantage, Or you may miss your call.

You won't be sorry when your day is done, Your hopes and plans will be pleasures.
With these new friends you've won, Just richness of honors your treasures.

Letter to the Editor

Harrington, Delaware
Feb. 3, 1952

Editor,
The Harrington Journal:
It is rather surprising to the writer that very little, if any publicity is being given the current Red Cross drive in this vicinity and, as far as I know, no committee or organized effort is being made in Harrington to collect contributions for this urgent and necessary project. Harrington has civic and service clubs, fraternal organizations, patriotic and veterans' groups and many organized societies, any or all of whom could sponsor this drive and see that our residents have an opportunity to contribute and to let Harrington have the credit rather than some of the surrounding communities.

It is possible that no request has come from a state or county level to any of many organizations to assist America's largest humanitarian agency, the Red Cross. It is more or less a reflection on our community to be placed in this position and the same condition existed in 1951.

This year's annual Red Cross fund raising campaign is an event of unusual importance because of a new kind of role the Red Cross will be called on to play in this atomic age. The Red Cross must be on hand to meet any disaster and in addition to earthquakes, hurricanes, explosions, fires, and famine, it must take a leading part in measures providing for rescue work in cases of actual enemy attacks on civilian populations. The blood donor service, which it has organized on a nationwide scale, must be expanded in the days ahead.

The Department of Defense and National Security Resources Board have assigned to the Red Cross well over three times as many duties as during the second world war. It must train millions of men, women and children in first-aid methods, home-nursing techniques and as nurses aids. The people of Harrington are liberal in their contributions if the opportunity is presented to them. The writer has no knowledge as to where the fault lies but believes the condition should be corrected as we may be one of the first to need help. The city authorities could call an immediate meeting of representatives of our many organized groups and form a volunteer group or committee. There may be many better ways to handle this urgent necessity but at all events let's meet this call for action and at once.

Sincerely yours,
Interested Citizen

Different Color Treatment

A distinctive and different effect can be obtained for the exterior of a white-painted house by using shutters on the windows of the upper floor, but not downstairs. The shutters may be white, trimmed with maroon, with the window sash painted white. The lower floor windows—with no shutters—can echo the color by having the sash painted the same maroon.

Highest Belt

AG Scholarships To Be Awarded To U. of Delaware

Two scholarships having an annual value of $1000 each have been established for freshmen in the School of Agriculture at the University of Delaware by Townsend, Inc., of Millsboro, and O. A. Newton and Son Company, of Bridgeville. The scholarships were announced by President John A. Perkins of the University of Delaware.

The Paul L. Townsend Agricultural Scholarship and the Newton Scholarship will be awarded to two beginning freshmen for the year 1952-53 and will be awarded annually for four years to the same students, provided they make satisfactory progress in their college work.

Any Delaware resident, who is interested in contributing to the further development of Delaware agriculture and who believes his future is in Delaware agriculture may apply for one of these scholarships.

The awards will be made on a competitive basis and will be based upon scholarly attainment in high school, evidence of growth and leadership, and interest in the development and expansion of agriculture.

In commenting on these new scholarships, George L. Schuster, Dean of the School of Agriculture, said, "There are not enough competent young men entering the agriculture profession. Delaware agriculture needs young men who possess the qualities of growth, leadership, and scholarly attainment. The foresight of the two donors in providing these scholarships further emphasizes the importance and the need for trained men to develop our agricultural resources."

Application blanks for these scholarships may be obtained from high school superintendents, the county agricultural agents, or the Dean of the School of Agriculture, University of Delaware, Newark, Del.

Delmarva Broilers As Handker See Them

From 7 per cent of the total poultry sold 30 years ago, to 68 per cent of the poultry sold in the Philadelphia area today is the story of Delmarva broiler production and its effect.

This is an outstanding success story, but Herman D. Cook, a buyer of poultry and meat for a Philadelphia chain store concern, warns Delmarva producers that they are now in direct competition with other meats.

"Broilers," said Cook, "are no longer a novelty. And as in all cases where products attain a wide acceptance, there develops in producers a tendency to relax and indulge in the luxury of complacency."

He advises more attention to proper handling, and even more progress in lower production costs than in past years. He also says that on the buying end, he has noticed a tendency on the part of some growers to sell broilers before they reach best market stage. This reflects on the market as a whole, and could spoil the consumer acceptance which is based on a standard high quality product.

Another suggestion is that in breeding meat-type birds, more attention be paid to the "flesh to bone ratio," rather than the present emphasis on feed conversion.

Cook gave his views on the handling of Delmarva broilers at the University of Delaware Farm and Home Week broiler sessions.

Trench Silo Helps Lorsong

Leonard Lorsong, of Henderson, Md., producer on Harvey Wall's 3900 route to Greensboro, has wanted a silo ever since he started shipping milk. The cost of a conventional type silo was prohibitive because of the small size of his operation but recently the use of a trench silo was brought to his attention; the plan appealed to him and he decided to try it, says Pet Dairy Chats.

He excavated a trench 36 feet long, five feet deep, 8 1/2 feet wide at the bottom and 9 1/2 feet wide at the top. A bulldozer pushed the earth out, and piled it along the sides. This made it possible to get the five feet depth without actually going that far underground. The sides of the trench were walled up with a two-inch plank to prevent the earth from washing in. The lower end of the trench is opened out to a lower part of the field which permits drainage. It took only an hour's work with the bulldozer.

With a forage harvester, Leonard cut corn. He hauled it to the trench in wagons and as the wagons were unloading, the tractor and wagons were driven over the silage to pack it.

"Good packing is very important," said Leonard, "there really should be an extra tractor to keep driving over the silage as the trench is filled."

After the trench was filled, about two inches of soil was put on top and seeded with wheat. This sod pack prevents unnecessary spoilage . . . only four inches of silage was found to be useless.

Leonard estimates that he has about 20 tons of silage. "I know of no other way to get as much feed off so few acres," he said. "The cows really go for silage," he continued, "and it saves hay. My six cows eat only about one of hay a day now."

Leonard hopes to increase his herd to about ten or twelve cows. He believes the trench silo will permit him to keep this many cows, though he has only 24 acres of tillable land.

Efficiency On Dairy Farms Behind Other Farming

"Dairying has not kept pace in efficiency improvements with U. S. farming as a whole. This is a cause for concern, particularly if a cost-price squeeze should occur."

C. P. Heisig, head of the division of farm management and costs told 200 dairymen at Farm and Home Week last week, that the greatest opportunities for better efficiency lie in improved forage programs.

"But," said Heisig, "forage improvement alone may not increase net incomes much unless accompanied by related adjustments in the care of the dairy herd, including sanitation and disease control."

In comparing dairy farm efficiency to other types of farming, Heisig said that output per man hour for all U. S. farming is now about 65 per cent higher than in the late thirties, whereas the figures for commercial dairy farms is around only 25-30 per cent higher.

The outlook for dairy farming in 1952 is generally good unless feed grains become scarcer than expected. Prospects now are that our national feed grain reserves will be at a relatively low level by next fall, which is one reason there is a drive for higher production per acre and better quality production in forage crops.

Tatman's Record—A Million Pounds To Pet

Ralph Tatman, who lives on an 84-acre farm three miles north of Burrsville, is proud of the fact that he can show all the records of his 31 years of continuous shipment of milk to the Pet Milk Company plant at Greensboro.

It was Sept. 1, 1920, less than two months after the plant first opened, that he sent his first milk to Pet.

From this initial shipment until Dec. 31, 1951, Ralph has milked more than a million pounds . . . 1,026,834 to be exact.

His herd has grown from six cattle in 1920 to 13 now. Also, he has improved it constantly by using better herd sires and saving the best heifers.

"I sent more milk in 1951 than I have ever sent before," said Mr. Tatman, "and 1951 was my best year."

His daily shipments have picked up from 57 pounds on Sept. 1, 1920 to a high of 249 pounds on July 11, 1951.

Ralph says his cows have helped him earn a good living through the years. "I want to keep on milking until my hands play out," he said.

Mrs. Tatman has been a constant helper to her husband during the years, and has done her part by keeping the milk house and milking utensils clean.

The Tatmans have sent their milk to Greensboro on Dan Link's 100 Route for nearly 30 years.

Open Letter From William E. Tarbell

This is an open letter to all farmers, farm families, and other friends in Delaware.

It was indeed a blessing to me to receive your letters, cards, visits, and telephone inquiries during the time I have been ill, away from home, and in the hospital in Wilmington and New York.

My only regret is that it is beyond my ability to express fully how much your kindness has meant to me. I am very grateful indeed.

On January 10, 1952, I was discharged from the Veterans Administration Hospital, Bronx, N. Y., and following the doctor's orders I returned to work Feb. 1. I am still following their orders by planning to work back into the job by easy stages.

John Crothers, assistant agent, will give full time to field work and night meetings and for the time being, I will do the office and paper work and gradually get back into the full swing of the job.

It feels great to be back at work again and to know that I will soon be seeing you all again. Sincerely, William E. Tarbell, County Agriculture Agent

Felton Veteran Nominated For Prize Farm

A Felton father of nine children—eight boys and a girl—is being supported as a candidate for the Veterans of Foreign Wars "most worthy veteran" contest, of which the winner will be awarded an 80-acre farm valued at $50,000 in the Columbia River reclamation and irrigation project, south of Spokane, Wash., next May.

Carl Kemp, 36, who served in World War II, is a charter member of Adams-Simpler-Ware Post No. 6009, and will have the backing of the Department of Delaware in the national contest, it was announced last week by Commander George I. Sylvester Jr.

Mr. Kemp is at present employed by a Felton lumber company during the day. In his 'spare time' he operates his employer's 70-acre farm on which he and his family live near Felton. The brood includes: Mrs. Kemp, Charles, 15; their only daughter, Eleanor, 13; Robert, 11; Walter, 9; Timothy, 8; Wayne, 5; twins Ralph and Joseph, 3, and Ernest, 2 years old.

The father of this healthy family has been a farm hand since his early youth. He had been orphaned at the age of 13 years and was forced to leave school before completing the seventh grade.

Make Coatings Tough

Paint coatings are tested carefully before they are marketed. One test reveals their ability to resist impact. A trigger on a special device trips a heavy weight, sending it crashing down on the coated panel and severely denting it. Subsequently, the effect of shock on the flexibility and adhesion of the paint sample can be measured.

Norma Jane Adams, Champion In Canning

For making an outstanding record in her food preservation project, Norma Jane Adams, 18, of "Dublin Hill Yellow Jackets 4-H Club," was named State champion in the 4-H Canning Achievement program. Experimenting with new ideas, she has broadened her knowledge of better homemaking methods through her 4-H art. Home canning also has made it easy to follow the nutrition yardstick and keep the budget low.

Norma Jane's first attempt at canning was crowned with success. Exhibiting sirlion, applesauce and beets at the fair, she was awarded two blue ribbons and a red one. She also judged canning that year and won a scholarship to the 1951 Short Course.

On "Achievement Day" she won a first, second and third for her canning exhibits. Norma Jane serves as treasurer of her local club. Kerr Glass furnished funds for a trip to the 30th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago last November.

High Tomato Producers Set Goal For State As A Whole

"Yields of 28, 22, and 21 tons per acre show that Delaware can produce very high yields of tomatoes, if good practices are followed," says Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware.

Such yields were obtained among members of the Ten Ton Tomato Contest and Junior Tomato Project in 1951.

"But," says Stevens, "there is still a long way to go, when we remember that the average state yield is only 7.4 tons per acre."

Why are many farmers still producing less than 10 tons per acre in spite of improved techniques and knowledge? Stevens relates it to production practices, by comparing two groups of 1951 tomato growers.

The first group of 19 farmers had an average of 4.5 tons per acre. The second group of 19 farmers from the Ten Ton Club had an average of 17.5 tons per acre. Here is the comparison in production practices:

Cover Crops, 4.5 ton yield—8 none, 11 very; 17.5 ton yield, 17 legume, 2 none. Manure—4.5 ton yield, 14 used 5 none; 17.5 ton yield, 14 used, 5 none.

Sulky Slants

By Mrs. Dave (Pat) Smith

Johnny Goodnough is recuperating in his home at Wadesboro, N. C., after an appendectomy early in January. His address is Route 3.

Trainer Garland Garnsey, with the Kross-Ahl stable, West Albany, N. Y., has switched Ralph Up to the trot. This last season he paced in 2:08.3, his record.

Harness racing, on the ice, is being held every weekday at 1:30 p. m., at Dufferin Park, Toronto, Canada. Ladies are admitted free and a full-course noon dinner costs only 50c. We have heard that some of the horses which formerly raced here are racing on ice. Mabel Patch, once owned by Billy Shaw, is doing well, we hear.

I think it was very nice of Bubbie Price to take time out with all his busy duties at the post office to give me this information. The Harrington basketball team has won 13 straight games. How's that for a team? We should be pretty proud. They have seven remaining in which five are to be played at home. Paul Martin holds the individual league scoring record of 30 points up to the past week. The Harrington Legionnaires still hold the league game scoring record for this season of 102 points made in the game with Salisbury Vets here on the evening of Jan. 10. For those that might be overseas, here is the lineup: With Tom Shalley, captain, Bob Roberts, Jack Dill, Bob Snowden, Joe Griffith, Bill Betts, Paul Martin, Carl Prentiss and Jay Bullock. Won't everyone help boost the home team by attending the five games to be played at home. Bubbie tells me in the near future that a game will be played between our team and wheelchair vets. What a game that should be. More about that later.

Mr. and Mrs. Britt Holloway have left for an extended trip through the southern training camps, Pinehurst, Aiken, Macon Cordell, Ga., and Orlando, Fla. Except for balmy weather he will find Harrington rates with the rest of them. What we don't have makes up with a town that really seems to enjoy having the horse-men. We have trained six years in Pinehurst, 7 years in Florida, 1 year in Aiken. For Macon just a nice big town to enjoy yourself. Course, Florida, who wouldn't like it. Fishing and swimming, they're my hobbies.

Speaking of Florida, there is a small town 88 miles south of Miami called Perine. The funny thing about this place is a sign, "Where humans are caged and monkeys run wild." For 24c you can enter a large cage in the woods and the door is closed. Before you are there very long there are hundreds of monkeys hanging on the wires looking at you in the cage. It's well worth your quarter. Then on down about 75 miles further is the grave of 345 that were drowned in the year of 1934. If you happen to be on a sightseeing trip, they will stop and explain it all to you. But the slab really tells you all about it. You see there was a C. C. Camp there when a hurricane hit the Keys.

I know we were fishing off the 7 mile bridge when a terrible storm came up. We certainly hurried to a fisherman's cabin and I do mean we just made it. For anyone's information, from the time you leave Florida City you cross 39 bridges on your way to Key West. When we hit Key West I expected to see one beautiful town, but its everything but that, but it's a very lively vacation spot. If you ever make Key West, don't pass up Sloppy Joe's, or the old saying, you haven't been to Key West unless you have been to Sloppy Joe's. So much for Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Bean, of Brant Lake, N. Y., who race at Saratoga, were visitors to our stable, also Johnnie Amato and Mr. Peacock. They were on their way to visit Pinehurst and Orlando. Mr. Bean is the one who introduced the rubber hind skin boots and really has them on the market.

Edmond Harrington, of Felton, was a visitor out to the track this past week. I asked him how many hunting dogs he had. Well he has 12 beagles and fox hounds. He is taking one of my kittens.

Henry Scott and wife, of Washington, D. C., were visitors to Charley Sutton's stable. Jack and Mabel Walters are sporting a new Chevrolet from Harrington Motor Company here in town.

Isn't Mr. Bradley, of the Acme Market, one swell guy? He will certainly go out of his way to help you. Always a smile.

Have you read the Dufferin news? Ice racing in Toronto, but the best is a full course dinner for 50c. I know last summer we had chicken in the basket for 65c. Wonder why meals are so cheap? And they are good.

Mrs. Slukey over from their stock farm visiting Happy and Mel Gray.

Ann and Curley Rothwell, the blacksmith, spent the weekend in Buffalo.

Mom Stubbs has a new Philco TV. Little Gene will certainly enjoy it. Lucky one.

Enjoyed the coke with Mr. Collins at Mr. Downes' drug store. Also the coffee with Carington in Irene's.

With Mr. Holloway with the scissors in Gene's barbershop looked like I was in for a general hair cut instead of just my neck clipped. All in fun.

Thanks Benny Moore for the nice gesture. You know what we mean.

Mr. and Mrs. George Enslin having dinner at the Bridle Bit. I'll be busy from now on as I'm going to take care of my own two horses. Anna Day and Roust about, but not too busy to slip over to the ocean. To me that is as good a tonic. Just gaze in the blue yonder and think. Sam, how's the songs coming along?

Ulcers Plague Sea Liens, According to Scientist

LA JOLLA, Calif.—The boss who snarls at his help and a sluggish sea lion are probably suffering from the same trouble—gastric ulcers. So says Dr. Arthur Louis Kelly, veterinarian of the San Diego Zoo, who is presently working for an advanced degree at the University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

"The technical literature carries several references to the presence of gastric ulcers in sea lions," says Dr. Kelly, adding that in his work at the zoo he has often found sea lions so afflicted.

In the sea lion, gastric ulcers are thought to be traceable to the activities of parasites ingested with the animal's food. There is no evidence that the ulcers are of psychosomatic origin, as is common among humans.

Working in the division of biochemistry under Dr. Denis L. Fox, Dr. Kelly is studying the chemical changes that take place in the bodies of marine mammals in accordance with residence in fresh water versus sea water, that is, under varying osmotic conditions. A facet of this investigation is an attempt to determine where the sea lion gets the water its system requires. One hypothesis is that it may come from the body fluids of the fish the mammal eats.

The transfer of sea lions from the salt water of the ocean to the fresh water of the zoo benefits them immediately in one way, Dr. Kelly says. They soon lose the external parasites (lice, etc.) with which they are afflicted in the open ocean.

noon in the Harrington Fire Company Building with Mrs. Della Harrington, president, presiding.

Mrs. Elwood Gruwell and Miss Blanche Price reported on the Farm and Home Week which they attended at the University of Delaware.

The yearly calendar prepared by the executive committee was accepted by the group and a contribution of the March of Dimes was made.

A trip to the duPont Museum, at Winthur, was discussed for the future.

There were 34 members present, including two new members, Mrs. Irene and Josephine Wecht-heniser.

The March meeting will be held in the First National Bank Building Monday afternoon, March 3.

One ride and You'll say:

"That's the Smartest Million Dollars BUICK Ever Spent"

WHEN we tell you that every 1952 Buick rides like a million dollars, we're not just slinging slang—we're talking real money—right-on-the-barrelhead cash.

A million dollars and more were poured into research and testing—design and tools—engineering, production and components—to team up the combination of ride features you'll find on a Buick—and on no other car in the world.

A million dollars and more was the price paid to work out control of end-sway and side-roll on curves—to double-check vertical "throw" with shock absorbers and big soft-acting coil springs for all four wheels—to V-brace the torque-tube keel and X-brace the frame—to cushion body and engine—and to silk out the whole operation with Dynaflo Drive.*

You may not care how the job was done, or what it cost. But we'll lay you this: You're going to say "thanks a million" to Buick engineers once you get this spirited smoothie under your hands and haunches.

Old familiar roads take on a new smoothness. Gone are the weave and wander, the jitter and jounce that you've felt in lesser cars. You ride with road-hugging assurance and level ease.

All of which only begins to tell you what really great cars these 1952 Buicks turned out to be.

Never before have style and stamina—comfort and character—power, performance and price been brought together with such satisfying skill.

The obvious thing for you to do is come in and look them over. How about taking half an hour off to do that—today?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Winter Concert, Feb. 13

The Caesar Rodney High School Band, under the direction of Edwin F. Englehart, will present its winter concert Wed., Feb. 13, at 8:15 p. m. in the high school auditorium. This will be the band's second concert of the current season. The program will include a wide variety of selections, and will contain a number of works by Harold L. Walters, an up-and-coming contemporary composer-arranger from Chicago. In this latter group will be some of his marches, a selection entitled "A Night At The Ballet," which is a collection of some of the world's greatest and most-loved ballet music, and a modern composition called "Copa Cabana," a fast-moving samba. There will also be music by Bach and Tschalkowsky, representing the "Old Masters," while Irving Berlin's famous selection, "A Pretty Girl Is Like A Melody" will be representative of the contemporary composers.

The program will contain two additional highlights. Miss Marie Brown, student director of the band, will play a piccolo solo "Nesting Time" (a concert Polka), accompanied by Frederic W. Brown at the piano. The other special attraction will be the presentation of several numbers by the Sixth Grade Chorus, conducted by Mr. Brown, who is director of vocal music at Caesar Rodney.

Modern Methods

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

There are lots of ways to save, not merely putting money in the bank but purchasing things that you know are going to help with your savings. There are many such ways in fact let's mention refrigerators.

Did you ever hear a person say I am sorry that I got rid of that old ice box and got myself a Westinghouse or Philco refrigerator? Certainly not because they know that when they put a quart of milk in an electric refrigerator they don't have to make an excuse when they find it sour and say "there must have been an electric storm and it spoiled."

Folks that is all 'whoey' because it would do the same in an electric refrigerator if that were true. No it is simply a better way of keeping and the only safe way of keeping your food from spoiling.

Philco and Westinghouse engineers spend thousands of dollars to bring you a better product from time to time and when you put your money in a Westinghouse or Philco refrigerator, you are putting money back in your pockets with a high rate of interest they will pay.

Of course there is also another way of getting something for nothing and that is by buying a Philco electric freezer. Did you know that if you put down figures for the difference you save in food that before the guarantee period is out on that Philco freezer, it will be paying you back money? In fact it will save you more than it costs and that is what I call getting something for nothing.

Did you say Television is a luxury? Certainly it is if you put it away in a corner like you do a traveling bag or such. But I'll guarantee you won't do that. In fact anything that keeps the family intact like a television is certainly a most luxurious thing. I only wish I could place one in each of your homes and say there you are, take it and use it and enjoy the most wonderful thing today bringing in a true picture out of the air.

Finances do not allow me to do this, but I'll say when you get a television you will forget about what it costs and will be more than glad you got it.

I have not been able to secure all the televisions I can sell even if you do hear of so many for sale on the radio. Before you buy, shop around and you stop listening to the ballyhoo you hear about getting a TV for $50.00 or more. Keep away from them, buy the latest at a reasonable price and you will be more satisfied knowing you have the best.

I sell of course Philco and Westinghouse and will soon have some Admirals which should be in by the time this goes to press. Stop in, look them over and take your pick.

Just a little down puts one in your home and also includes the aerial installation. The band wagon is going by, don't cry after it is gone but crawl upon it and enjoy the music and other programs.

I have been telling you time after time about getting a little wall paper to make that room look right. If it is prices that are holding you back folks you are going to need a cane before they begin to fall. Steel works are on the march again and take my word for it. Steel is hard and will never let prices fall as long as these conditions are with us.

Get your paper now, our prices are as low as we can mark them and retain a stock that has patterns for all. Think of paying enough for steak for one meal when the same amount would buy enough paper for a room. Do you call that high?

Call us for 24 hour service on television. Talk Peace not War. King George was a good man, Queen Elizabeth will be merciful but what we now want is—you name it.

Scientist Studies Region of First Landing in America

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Archeology and ethnology of the region where Columbus made his first landing on the mainland of the Americas in 1502 has been studied intensively during the past six months by a joint Smithsonian Institution—National Geographic Society expedition led by Dr. Matthew W. Stirling, director of the Bureau of American Ethnology.

The country concerned is northwestern Panama and contains the drainage system of three rivers between the Canal Zone and Costa Rica. Largely because it is a land of dense rain forests and is quite difficult of access, the region has remained almost unknown to anthropologists; little has been written of its people since Columbus' original description.

By and large, Dr. Stirling, who was accompanied by Mrs. Stirling, was able to confirm the observations of Columbus, although the great navigator may have exaggerated a trifle when he wrote of Indians wearing plentiful gold ornaments. Stirling found none of these.

The Spaniards were impressed by the fact that these Indians did not live in fairly large settlements, as did those with whom they had been in contact before in the West Indies, but in isolated huts in the forest. Dr. Stirling did not find any village sites but plenty of single house sites, which were excavated.

From the Atlantic coast the country is extremely difficult to enter. There are no harbors. The rivers empty into the sea between beaches and high, rocky cliffs. Small banana boats anchor a mile off shore and natives bring out their produce through the surf in dugout canoes. It is possible to enter on foot over high mountain trails from the Pacific side—much the safest and easiest way.

At the mouths of each of the three rivers visited, the Rio Salud, Rio Indio, and Rio Cocle del Norte, there are small Negro settlements. The Indian inhabitants are encountered about 5 miles up these streams, and practically all their contact with civilization is across the mountains.

Police Captain Confesses Spent Time Shooting Bull

PADUCAH, Ky.—Police captain Gerald Stewart was quick to admit to townfolk that he spent a whole morning "just shooting the bull."

A large bull escaped from a local packing company and left a trail of wreckage and frightened people for several blocks. Police were called.

Stewart shot the animal, but the bull continued to charge him. He started to fire again, but found he was out of ammunition. Dodging the mad rushes of the infuriated animal, the police captain began to reload his pistol. Another officer rushed to his aid. After some time and nine "bull's eyes" they managed to kill the animal.

Crippled War Vet Hopes For Wheel Chair Vacation

LONG BEACH, Calif.—A crippled war veteran from Tennessee, here for a checkup, intends to prove to the people that "paralytics can't be counted out until they are dead."

The 30-year-old veteran served in the infantry for almost five years without receiving a wound and was injured in a tractor accident on a farm in Tennessee. He once hitchhiked from his home in Monterey, Tenn., to Venice, California, where he now lives. The trip was so easy he did it three times, in fact.

He intends to cross the country after his checkup, rolling his wheel chair "just to show people that we are not helpless."

ent, having accomplished its purpose.

In giving the market picture, Dr. Davenport said prospects in the Philadelphia milkshed, in which this section is included, "looks very bright." He explained that the new steel mills on the Delaware River north of Philadelphia would bring in 30,000 families to the section and that Supplee intended to get its share of the resultant dairy business. Nationally, Dr. Davenport pointed out "that everything suggests, for the foreseeable future, a very good demand for milk." He added that he saw no reason why the price shouldn't remain steady.

Reviewing the market picture for 1951, he commented that 1951 was generally pretty satisfactory, with the price steady. On the whole, he pointed out, the relation between supply and demand was pretty well balanced. He added that these factors, affecting the nation as a whole, was reflected also in this area. He mentioned that there was a gradual reduction of shippers in the nation but this had been counteracted by increased production. Supplee lost some 85 shippers but bought seven million more pounds of milk in 1951 than in 1950, he cited, as an example.

The supervisor of fieldmen said that 1951 sales figures were not in, but that he estimated a 2 per cent increase for the year, on a national scale, with an increase of 1.8 per cent for Supplee. The increase in sales, however, did not agree with the increase in population, and this presents a challenge to the seller.

Figures on Supplee profits, for 1951, would soon be made available to the dairymen, Dr. Davenport said. Though actual figures are not available yet, he believed it would be less than 3c on a sales dollar.

M. T. Harris, supervisor of the eastern district of the dairy company, presented the speakers.
