

Band Concert Tonight

The Harrington High School Band, under the direction of Melvin L. Brobst, will give its only program this school year when it presents its spring concert tonight at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium.

On its program will appear several Sousa marches, including the "Stars and Stripes Forever," a group of Jerome Kern favorites, "The American Folk Rhapsody," by Grundman, a new arrangement by Harold Walters, a Mambo, called "Si! Trocadero," the ever-favorite "To A Wild Rose," by MacDowell, and even two hillbilly favorites, "Jealous Heart" and "Guitar Polka."

Special numbers during the program will include a tap dancing routine by little Bonita Porter to the music of Irving Berlin's "Easter Parade."

Another attraction will be the appearance of the Asbury Chancel Choir in three of their favorite anthems, "O Lord Most Holy" from the "Mass in F," by Concione, the "Holy City of Adams," and "Praise the Lord O Jerusalem," by Maunder.

The public is cordially invited to attend this program, and tickets may be secured from any member of the band, and will be available at the door.

Foster Parents To Be Honored At Party

The Kent County staff of the Department of Public Welfare is honoring parents caring for children living in foster homes in the county at a St. Patrick's Day party in Grace Fellowship Hall of Wesley Methodist Church, Dover, Monday evening. All foster parents already caring for children and others expecting to, as well as those interested in providing homes for children, are invited to attend. Other guests will include doctors, school administrators, nurses, ministers, court workers, and Department of Welfare Board members.

The staff of the Child Welfare Service Division, assisted by the public assistance staff, is planning a special program of both serious and light entertainment, topped off with refreshments. Provision has been made for some high school girls to care for small children during the program, so that all foster parents can attend. A special feature of the evening will be the award of certificates of merit to foster parents who have rendered outstanding service in the care of children during the last 15 years this program has been carried on by the department, formerly the State Board of Welfare. In addition, gifts for all active foster parents will be presented by the International Latex Corporation.

Construction for Harrington's new elementary school building was awarded Wednesday afternoon to the lowest bidder in the three categories comprising the program.

John E. Healy & Son, Wilmington, was awarded the general contract, with a bid of $352,000. Weldon & Son, also of Wilmington, was awarded the plumbing and heating contract, with a bid of $112,700, with Miller Electric Company, of Salisbury, being awarded the electrical equipment contract, with a bid of $48,097.25. The low bids totaled $522,500, which leaves $152,500 from two bond issues and state appropriations for the Harrington school building program.

Terms Tightened On Business Loans On Vets' Autos

Veterans Administration is tightening the terms under which it will guarantee business loans made by private lenders to World War II veterans for the purchase of passenger automobiles.

Under the amended regulation announced by VA, the maximum term of a GI business loan for the purchase of a new automobile cannot exceed 30 months, and for the purchase of a "used" car, 24 months. Under former regulations, a loan for a much longer period could have been negotiated.

VA said the new maximum terms are considerably more liberal than are permitted under Regulation W of the Federal Reserve Board. The maximum maturity for an automobile loan under Regulation W is 18 months, whether the car is new or "old."

Regulation W also prescribes a minimum down payment, whereas VA regulations for a GI automobile loan do not. The new VA amendment also tightens requirements for GI business loans to finance automobiles for use by veterans in part-time employment carried on in addition to their regular job. From now on, such loans will be screened by VA's Central Office in Washington, D. C., as an addition to the screening by local offices. (See Terms Tightened back page)

Two Found Guilty In Gasoline Theft

Two persons were found guilty of the theft of gasoline Monday in the court of Magistrate Gooden L. Callaway here. Virgil Leroy King, of Lincoln, was fined $100 and costs. Norman Bennett, Milford RD, was fined $75 and costs, on the same charge and, in lieu of payment of the fine, was sentenced to 45 days in jail.

The pair were charged with the theft on March 7 of gasoline from the establishment of J. H. Wilkerson, on Truitt Ave., Milford. King had been previously arrested three times in Kent County.

Daniel Hobbs, of Burrsville, Md., was fined $5 and costs Monday by Magistrate Callaway on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was apprehended by Patrolman Walter Voss on Clark Street.

Army Seeks H. H. S. Grads

High school graduates by the thousands are vitally needed today in our fast-growing Army, according to M/Sgt. Carl Killmon, local Army and Air Force recruiting sergeant.

"The army offers many of these young men a chance to continue their educations at some of the finest technical schools in the world," he said.

"High school graduates are needed now more than ever before," Sgt. Killmon continued, "because operating a modern army requires highly technical skills and the high school graduates have the intelligence and education it takes to learn these skills rapidly."

After basic training, he said, many high school graduates will find themselves studying such interesting subjects as communications, radar operation and maintenance, photography, electronics, transportation, and hundreds of others. Emphasizing that army technical schools are run by excellent instructors, he mentioned that the men who go through these schools will come out of the army qualified for good jobs in business or industry.

Vet News

Q. I realize that, since the GI Bill cut-off date is past, I'm not allowed to change courses except for certain reasons. But does this restriction also apply to changing schools, where no course change is involved?
A. No. So long as your progress and conduct are satisfactory, and the new school will give you credit for the work you've already completed, you may change schools without changing the course.
Q. I intend to buy a house with a GI loan. Where do I get the necessary forms to fill out?
A. Lenders generally have the forms and other necessary papers, and will fill them out for veterans. If your lender does not have the forms, you may obtain them from your nearest VA regional office.

Railroad News

Six hundred employees attended the safety rally and oyster party at Salisbury Saturday evening celebrating the winning of the safety award for best safety performance on the system for the eighth consecutive year.

Assistant General Manager J. D. Morris presented the awards. Mr. Morris was at one time supervisor at Harrington and was highly pleased to be among us again. Jack has gone a long way since leaving the division and the reason for his success and rapid advance was obvious. He is "one of the boys," a man among men and a leader who makes one feel honored to know.

This party does a lot more than build morale and promote good public and employe relations. It is the best advertisement for the biggest industry on the peninsula doing big business in a big way.

The army is used every evening for some sort of entertainment and the preparations are more or less routine. The people that see this every day were dumbfounded Saturday to see the railroad boys erect tables, floodlights, stage, speaker system, safety signs, and 600 chairs.

There has been an acute shortage of oysters the past two months and it is impossible to get them on the half shell at any of the popular eating places. You can imagine their amazement when one of our dump trucks dumped two tons of them on the concrete and shoveled them in the window like so much coal. Then to see 600 men move into town at 5 p. m. and out at 9 is no wonder the general expression heard by many of the town folks was, "When the railroad does something, they don't fool."

STOLTZFUS-KAUFFMAN

The marriage of Miss Ruth Stoltzfus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. L. Stoltzfus, of Harrington, to Timothy Kauffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Kauffman, of Parkersburg, Pa., took place Sat., March 8, at the Greenwood Mennonite Church.

The ceremony was performed by Brother Nevin Bender of Greenwood.

Attending the bride and groom were Miss Pluma King, Lawrence King and John Kauffman, Jr., all of Parkersburg, Pa., and Miss Martha Yoder, of Greenwood.

Following the ceremony a reception for relatives and friends was held at the home of the bride.

The couple left Monday for a brief trip in the South. Upon their return they expect to reside in Pennsylvania where Mr. Kauffman will continue his previous occupation of farming.

S. D. A. Church To Solicit For Needy

Saturday afternoon, between the hours of 2:30 and 5:30, members of the Harrington Seventh Day Adventist Church will begin a canvass of all the home in Harrington. They will be working for the church welfare, or Dorcas Society.

If anyone has second-hand or surplus food, clothing, or furniture, that could be used for helping local folks in need, when such need arises, please be prepared to give it to the representative that calls at your door. If you have something to give but are not prepared at the instant, please indicate that fact to the one who questions you.

At present the society is helping a family in Felton which lost its income when the father was struck by an auto and had both legs broken.

Who knows but that accident or fire might overtake you and cause you to be in real need. If enough can be gathered these ladies will see that no worthy case is turned down. Remember though, first the things must be on hand. Your help will be greatly appreciated.

Journal Awarded Safety Plaque

The Harrington Journal was awarded a plaque last week by the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission "for outstanding contribution to the safety program" of Maryland.

The beautiful plaque, signed by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin and Paul E. Burke, director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, read in part: "During the first three months of 1951 traffic deaths in Maryland increased 26 per cent over 1950. The generous response you gave to our appeal resulted in the reduction of the loss of life on our highways 39 per cent for the last three months of 1951 over the same period of 1950. We know not whose lives were saved but the State of Maryland is forever grateful to you for helping to make this possible."

PRR Employees Safety Record Best in Eleven Years

The employe safety record on the Pennsylvania Railroad for the last six months of 1951 was the best in 11 years, with a rate of but 7.21 accidents per million man-hours worked, J. T. Williams, manager of safety, announced today. A reduction of 6.7 per cent in the accident rate was achieved compared with the same period of 1950.

For the year 1951 the maintenance of equipment department reduced its accident rate by approximately 21 per cent below 1950, he added, while the station department cut its rate by more than 20 per cent.

In comparison, industrial accidents generally increased 7 per cent in 1951 as against 1950, according to latest estimates of the National Safety Council, Mr. Williams said.

The railroad's Eastern Region, comprising the lines east of Altoona, Pa., achieved top honors in the railroad's 26th annual Employe Safety Contest in 1951 by making the best showing of any operating unit for the seventh successive year, President Walter S. Franklin sponsors the contest.

The dates of the 33rd annual Kent & Sussex Fair, at Harrington, have been set for July 21-26, inclusive, it was announced this week by T. Brinton Holloway, secretary and general manager of the association.

The plans call for a gala opening Monday night, with Col. Jim Eskew's famous rodeo, featuring riding, roping, bulldogging, and Wild West comedy, with more than 250 animals. The rodeo will also be presented Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Other features of the fair, sometimes referred to as "America's largest smalltown fair," are numerous.

Tuesday will be designated as Children's Day, with free admission to all children of primary and secondary school age. Children will also have reduced admissions to all shows and rides.

Thursday will be Governor's Day. Gov. Carvel and his staff and all members of the Legislature will be invited to attend. The livestock parade, featuring the Shore's prime entries, will strut for the official party.

Friday will be designated as Firemen's Day and the fair will be host to all the fire companies and their auxiliaries. Some $900 has been allotted for prizes.

Saturday will feature AAA auto racing on one of the fastest half-mile tracks in the East.

Beginning Tuesday night and continuing throughout the week, a complete revue, of more than 100 persons, consisting of dancing girls; comedy, aerial, and animal acts; music, singing, and the most elaborate display of fireworks ever witnessed here, will round out a show for grandstand patrons lasting two and a half hours.

Monetary awards will total $10,000 in the 4-H, FFA, women's department and in the art, agricultural, livestock, poultry, and floral divisions.

Mr. Holloway said the fair board is maintaining admission prizes at the 1951 level.

Sulky Slants

By Mrs. Dave (Pat) Smith

"Simpson just flies around." Quote—This I think is real cute. I found it in the Trot News from Yonkers.

Last fall his daughter was asked, along with other students in her class, what her Daddy did? Remembering his heavy schedule of plane trips to drive in big stake races around the country, she said: "My father flies around and around and every once in a while comes home."

That sounds just like one of his little red headed daughters. More and more it looks like the opening isn't too far off. As for the time of these steeds, wouldn't really do any good to tell their time. Some good, some terrible. What you have to do is get your stop watch try and clock them.

Funny thing about the trainers, most of them will tell a little white lie and say, "Oh, I'll never be ready." Look out for that stable when man says go.

Say, Genie, someone tells me you were out behind your barber shop practicing. Come, Genie, come on out here where we all can hear.

Gooden Callaway rushing down that small lane into his office. Just couldn't enjoy a cup of coffee in peace.

Who said Booty Morris wouldn't get back in the horse business. Booty has just purchased Dotty Allure, 4-year-old filly from William E. Clark, of Ridgely, Md. I think this is the filly that won her last three races here last fall. Anyway, Booty was very much thrilled when he showed her his bill of sale. Only thing is he only wants one at a time. Now, Booty, do you know what you want? Booty, why do you want to sell that nice little filly? She can trot, don't do nothing wrong. Guess you only like one at a time. Some Booty!

I asked George Dumont, his trainer, about the filly. Why don't Booty keep it too. So what answer do I get. When Booty makes up his mind, he would sell his grandmother if he didn't want her.

Speaking of George Dumont, he seems well pleased with his charges of Reese's all doing okay. Olin Davis a very busy fellow. No time to lose these days. Ruth was taken to the hospital in Elkton, Md., Mr. Griffith tells me she is coming along fine. I know how Mrs. Griffith loves to have little Judy over to her house, so Judy is in real good hands.

Paul, we are all glad to see you out around the track. You know you and I have a date to paint this trailer, the color that's your guess.

Virginia, didn't it seem odd dashing around from barn to barn getting different ones to the phone? You don't know how you miss a PA system til it goes on the blink.

Roland Harrington working Tracer Bulletin. He is a picture going horse. Puts his head down, looks like he means business.

Mrs. Harrington, what did you have in that pie pan? Isn't she cute with those red braids and that cap, but a darn good worker.

Had to go to Dover to the awning place of Mr. Richardson's, so what do I come home with? The flying squirrel. But he sleeps all day and plays all night. Now what do you do with something like that. Dave says here I go again looking for nuts all over the country. So he has peanuts, pecans, a walnut, apples from Booty, hickory nuts, almonds, all in a pan. Think he won't starve. My cats think it's a rat so will certainly keep him in his cage.

Another thing, last Sunday when we were out for a stroll we took the back roads from Harrington. I love to look at the farms. All at once I noticed what I thought at the time was a small red dog bounding out from a farmhouse, and right across in front of our car. I let out one loud yell, oh, Dave, look at the pretty fox. We rode only a short distance when the prettiest pack of fox hounds you ever saw, about 25 or 30, were on his trail. Dave and I stopped to see them. Dave led the pack to where the fox had crossed the road, and there wasn't too long before there were several trucks and more dogs. I would have loved to follow the pack, but Dave wouldn't even let me go in the woods. Said I couldn't keep up. I wonder? And they were all beautiful dogs. That was something that only happens once in a life time. That's why I would rather ride the country roads than the busy highways.

Bea Smith out to the track and to see the white Persian. Says she thinks Ralph will have a week-end pass from Ft. Knox, and not the mint.

A little bird tells me Phyllis Horner has a new diamond, and it will be next fall. The fellow, Melvin Pyatt, who works for Mr. Clukey.

Another visitor to the track, Edward C. Binneway, who is with the Long Island Press, New York Times, and The Herald Tribune.

Mr. Stout out again looking better than ever.

Polly Sipe slipping off to Felton. No wonder, Polly, you are putting on weight. Don't go the back way, Polly, don't you know little birds fly that way too?

Say, Mrs. Reese Harrington, don't you ever get to the track anymore? Or is all you do sell tickets? Come out more often.

Ben (money bags) Wilson able to visit out to the track again after his illness.

Elmer, the clocker, never jibes about the time working Frisco Pat, doing okay too.

Lillian Stafford, I'm coming over to get all the dope on your winter cruise. I know it must have been wonderful.

Dave having some ice cream the other evening ran into Mr. Burgess Sr. having a glass of milk at Pennsupreme. They sat and chatted and when Dave came home he told me that was the smartest, the wittiest, young chap he ever talked to. When are you going to be toastmaster again, Mr. Burgess? I want to be there.

Madalyn Tharp was so nice to come out and invite me to the meeting. Well, Monday night found me ill in bed with a terrible cold and at this writing just able to sit up again.

Say, Mr. Jerread, why all the changes? About the time you know where to get something, boom, it's moved. Just like an old woman, can't stand things in one place too long. No fooling, each change makes the newsstand better. Nice place.

Ken, how's the new manager's position coming along? Okay, I bet. Have heard several I know to say you're tops.

Booty, Curley, Stokley, Harry Littleton all in caps out here and who gets my coffee, Curley, as usual, no nickel. Some day I'll have a penny for parking and a nickel for coffee. I wonder?

Well, after all the rain, the sun is out full blast. So watch the horses go from here. Guess the stables from Orlando will be leaving, or probably gone for the opening at Santa Anita Mar. 14. Wish I could be there to see it.

Mr. Enslin very busy man these days. It isn't too long before we will be worrying him too. He's good natured so he can take it.

I'll bet Mr. Holloway also has a lot of complaints, but he's the type that is a good sport and that goes a long way at one of the training centers.

Three cheers for Mr. Brit Holloway, some manager. If something's wrong, he will say, let's talk it over first.

Dover YMCA Basketball Tournament

As the field narrows down the Dover Y cage tournament interest is mounting and this Saturday night's play offers basketball fans throughout Delaware an opportunity to see rivalry at its best with the playing of the two final quarter-round games.

In the opener at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the Dover Field House two top Wilmington quintets, Delaware Steel, Industrial League play-off winners, and St. Joe's, strong CYO five, tangle with one another to see who gains the semi-finals and the right to meet Rocco's. In the other part of the twin bill two arch Eastern Shore League rivals, Harrington Legionnaires and the Laurel Owls fight it out to see who will take on the New Castle Air Base Minutemen in the semi-finals on March 22.

These two games loom as the most interesting so far to be offered in the tournament. The game means much to each team as once they become a semi-finalist they share equally in 40 per cent of the gross gate which from all indications should hit its highest figure this year.

The cream of Delaware talent will be on hand to battle in these two games. Delaware Steel has last year's high scorer, Jimmy Joyce, former Temple star, as they sparkplug along with Boots Reed, Franny Sullivan, Ace Hoffstein, Goldy-Beacom coach and former Delaware cager, as big guns in their line-up. St. Joe's, who battled to a tie for pennant honors in the CYO League, are star studded with Noah Ruffin, veteran sharpshooter, as one of their standouts. Clark and Brown also prime their attack. St. Joe's eliminated Dover Interceptors in the first round, 58-43, while Delaware Steel went by Chincoteague Rangers, 66-60.

Eastern Shore fans are well aware of the make-up of the two Eastern Shore League rivals, Harrington and Laurel. Harrington copped the pennant in the Eastern Shore League while Laurel finished third. In the first two games of the semi-finals the series stands at 1-1. Bob Snowden, Paul Martin, Joe Griffith, Jack Dill, Tom Shalley and Cal Prentiss constantly hit double brackets for the Legionnaires. Tommy Whaley, who has developed into one of the top Eastern Shore offensive men has lots of help in the Owl line-up from Eddie Conoway, Ed Callaway, Carleton Elliott, veteran Dick Cooper and Don Hershey. Elliott, who starred on the gridiron with the Green Bay Packers during the past season, is a big man under the boards for the Owls. Tom Shalley, rated as one of the best defensive men playing on Eastern Shore courts, is the balance wheel of the Harrington machine.

Considering the array of talent and the rivalry that exists cage fans that are on hand at the Field house Saturday evening are in for a big evening.

In last Saturday's play Delaware Steel won an early clash from Chincoteague Rangers, 66-60. The Steelers were pushed to the final seconds before eking out a victory over the hard pressing Sailors. Effective shooting by Jimmy Joyce and Boots Reed and the floor-work of Ace Hoffstein were the big factors in the Steelers victory. Later in the evening they played in Wilmington and defeated the Pennsy five in the deciding game of the Wilmington Industrial League playoffs.

Denton's reign as champions of the Dover tournament came to an end in the second game as they fell to a high-powered Rocco's quintet, 76-46. Five men in the Rocco line-up hit in the double brackets with honors going to Leo Marshall, who dumped 20. Denton's Ed Athey was not to be overshadowed as he racked 21 points to take game honors while Diffie had 11. Athey's play was a standout throughout the game but the backboard play of Fraak Albera, 1950-51 Delaware captain, was stellar for the victors. Although Diffie, Prosen, Athey, Wimbrow, where in the Bobcats line-up they lacked the team play of previous years when they copped the title three years running.

In the final game New Castle Air Base Minutemen triumphed over Newark AA, 71-53. The fast breaking style of play of the Minutemen had its telling effects in the late stages of the game as they piled up a commanding lead. Jack Gwinn hooped 22 points to lead the Air Force five with Jack Spicer having 16. Buddy Cataldi was high man for the Newark five as he found the range with 14, with Bill Morrow runner-up with 8.

Salisbury Prepares For Interstate League Race

An Eastern Shore-owned baseball club will be represented in the 1952 Interstate League race. Salisbury is only the playing site of the Class B team which now has the backing of the entire peninsula. Owing a piece of the franchise are nearly 300 stockholders extending from Dover to Cape Charles. The entire Delmarva area must be tongue wagging about the reorganization. That's judging from the requests for box seats. There just isn't enough reserved seating space to accommodate the heavy demand. Forgotten is last season when Salisbury finished a terrible last in its maiden Interstate fling. A fresh outlook has been kindled by new enthusiasm, a new major league tieup, a new manager, and practically a new ball park.

Last fall the baseball-minded citizens of the Eastern Shore took the broom in hand and cleaned house. New life was pumped into a sleeping situation. First to go in the ash can was a working agreement with Philadelphia A's. That was only the start. Solid backing was obtained with the Cincinnati Reds. Mike Blazo was immediately named manager. He promises to get acquainted with the Eastern Shore fans through the win column. Blazo, a bombastic, hustling type, is expected to be a crowd-pleaser. His background speaks for itself. Nine years he has managed in the Cincinnati organization, and six times produced playoff finishers.

Memorial Field is getting a $7000 face lifting. New fencing has been erected in left and right field. An electrically-operated score board is now being installed. The front row of the box seat section will be fronted with a masonry wall. All seats in the bleachers have been repaired. The press booth is being enlarged. A larger men's room is being installed. The entire layout is being given a new coat of paint. All these improvements have been made possible through the tireless efforts of the board of directors. John A. Vickers is chairman of this group which also includes W. Edgar Porter and Clarence Gassaway of Salisbury; Nelson Coulbourne, of Crisfield, and Dr. W. C. Chipman, of Harrington.

Vickers spearheaded a movement to salvage the Salisbury franchise last fall.

Cash on the Barrelhead!
In pioneer America it took cash to close a business deal. An inconvenient way, of course, but it certainly was safe, for with families trekking from here to yonder credit was an almost impossible thing to check. But now, with our modern banking system, business deals are made easier and more convenient. A check is enough to close the biggest, or even the smallest of deals . . . and then act as legal proof of payment.

AUTO FATALITIES WILL BE REDUCED

Auto fatalities will be reduced in Delaware! The present drive by the state police is, apparently, having some effect. On two trips to Dover this week, we were amazed to see not more than two trucks going 10 to 15 miles per hour more than the limit. One of these, we are sorry to say, was from Felton.

Most of the pleasure cars were operated in such a manner as to indicate their drivers were aware a "drive" was on. However, several Pennsylvania and New York cars were operated in such a manner as to back up a statement by the Delaware Safety Council to the effect that approximately 38 per cent of all our accidents and fatalities are caused by out-of-state drivers passing through Delaware.

A "drive" has a temporary connotation and that, we do not like: strict enforcement should be permanent. We have been in other states when "drives" were on, with this fact being quite forcibly brought to our attention by the list of traffic violators, their misdeeds, and their fines, in the press. We haven't noticed enough of this news in the Delaware press. In the interests of safety, however, we intend to check with our local magistrate for such intelligence and publish it.

Some enforcement ideas we had, we are glad to say, naturally, are being used by the state police. Seven pleasure cars, without markings, are now being used by the enforcement authorities. No longer should one look into the mirror and pay too much credence to the fact that "no police car" is visible: it may be the car right back of you.

The probable use of radar, in determining the speed of automobiles, should be a valuable aid in apprehending violators. No longer will it be necessary that the trooper trail his quarry some distance to time him (or her). The electrical device is portable and frequently has been placed on hoods of highway department cars and pointed at an angle across the road where it gauges the speed of approaching vehicles.

And did anyone every think of using movies to photograph the "wild-west" antics of some drivers?

We still need more troopers on the highway. Let one take a violator into the magistrate and he is off the road maybe as much as an hour.

"LOOK, WILLY! NO HANDS!" CAN MEAN ALSO, "NO LIFE"

The Delaware Safety Council today classified 10-year-old Junior and his "no-hands" bicycle stunt as a public traffic enemy ranking in menace-value to the jay-walker and the runner-from-between-parked-cars.

"Too often Junior is the show-off, irresponsible type who undoubtedly is an excellent rider when he wants to be," said Reynolds duPont, president of the Delaware Safety Council. "But instead of riding safely as well as skillfully, he weaves in and out of traffic, refuses to heed signs and signals, hitches rides, and considers himself quite a cut-up!"

National Safety Council figures, the Delaware Safety Council said, show that about 325 to 350 children are killed each year in accidents involving bicycles. Some of these, of course, are due to carelessness or irresponsibility on the part of the motorist. But far too many, Mr. duPont said, are the bicyclist's own fault.

"Knowing how to ride, and ride well," he said, "isn't enough. About one out of seven traffic deaths and injuries of children between 5 and 15 occurs when these boys and girls are on bicycles. We can only guess how many of these were brought about because the rider presumed that the laws and courtesies governing the use of automobiles do not apply in the case of bicycles."

To reduce bicycle-car accidents, the Delaware Safety Council said, the following rules must be closely observed:

1. Keep bicycles to the far right of the street and ride with traffic.
2. Ride in a straight line without weaving or stunting.
3. Ride single file.
4. Do not carry passengers on bicycles.
5. Obey all traffic laws, signs, and signals that are applicable to cars.
6. Unless essential, do not ride at night. If you must, have a good light and reflector.

GEN. RIDGWAY TELLS WHY WE ARE IN KOREA

Why are we in Korea?

General Matthew B. Ridgway, commander of all United Nations forces in Korea, gave an excellent answer to that question in a recent address in Tokyo. Said General "We have heard and we still hear at times and I regret to say from Americans referring to Korea, 'why are we there?' I think the question discredits him who asks it . . . "For my part there is not . . . any question of the validity and purpose of the American stand against deliberately planned, unprovoked aggression. To have done otherwise would have been a repudiation of every principle we had previously professed . . .

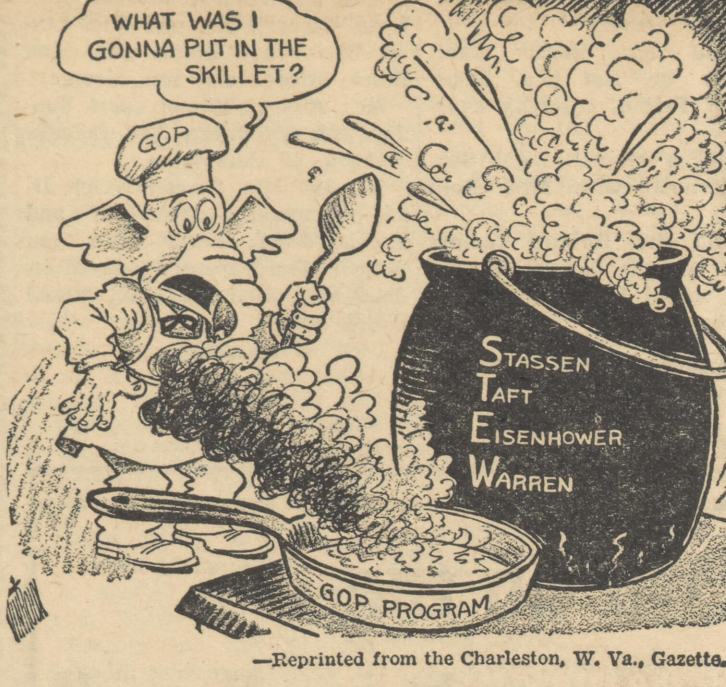

"With the pattern of communist intentions now spread across the world where even the blind can see, neither the seeming insulation of distance nor the naive born of a sheltered life, can plead the slightest excuse, nor abate one iota of our individual responsibility . . .

"To do otherwise than oppose aggression in the future, within our capabilities, will be to acknowledge as sterile every sacrifice America has made since it obtained independence . . .

"Do you suppose there were not those at Valley Forge who asked 'why are we here?'"

"Do you think that at Valley Forge, at Chancellorsville, at Gettysburg, at every mile of the bitter withdrawals in Korea and at every crisis on every American field of battle, the issue was decided by those timid few whose fears overrode their courage, whose doubts beclouded their vision, who questioned why they were there?

"Well, I don't." In a telegram to General Ridgway, President Truman said, "I congratulate you on your message as to why we are in Korea. It was excellent."

Chosen Friends Lodge No. 35

A good attendance of members was on hand to honor the Past Noble Grand night of Chosen Friends Lodge Thursday evening, Mar. 6, and the oldest member living, Brother I. W. Roe, held the chair, acting at Noble Grand for the occasion.

Brother Roe has been a member of the organization for a little over 52 years, joining the lodge March 6, 1895. Also present was Brother H. C. Rawding, who has been a member for 50 years, joining the organization sometime in 1902. He joined as a member in Sergeant Custer County, Neb., and was a member there several years before moving to Delaware, where he now holds his membership with this lodge. Brother Rawding had the honor of acting as chaplain for this meeting.

It was voted to honor these two members with a 50-year pin, which will be presented at a later meeting.

Brother W. R. Wechtenhiser read the names of all persons who have been members of this lodge. We now have on record all members who have joined since the beginning of 1900.

Inside The Bookmobile

Upon visiting the bookmobile early Tuesday afternoon I found that there are the names of nearly 50 Harringtonians on the files. This is an increase of around 75 per cent over the last visit.

"It's surprising how many people here are reading non-fiction, travel and biographies," said Mrs. Bernice Hammond, librarian for the State Library Commission. "They are running nip and tuck with fiction," continued Mrs. Hammond.

I was surprised to see such a wide selection of young people's books, and as there was no school Tuesday, there were several young folk selecting books.

Continuing my listing of notable books available through the Library Commission they are as follows:

"The Sea Around Us," by Rachel L. Carson, an account of the ocean in all its aspects of scientific knowledge.

"God, Graves and Scholars: The Story of Archaeology," by C. W. Ceram, a story of archaeological discoveries authentically presented.

"Closing the Ring," by Winston Churchill. In his inimitable way, the British Prime Minister describes the events from Tehran to the Normandy Invasion.

"The Magnificent Century," by Thomas B. Costain, is a history of England in the 13th century.

I read three books during the past two weeks. The first, "To Sing With the Angels," by Maurice Hindus, I enjoyed immensely. This story takes place in Liptowitz in Czechoslovakia, a quiet town proud of Nazi occupation before World War II in the person of Jozhka Heinrich, son of the only German family in the village. The book describes vividly how the Germans took over homes, businesses, farms and farm products, and of the atrocities to those who rebelled against the Nazi Commissar. This is a novel I think all would enjoy.

"Hoss Doctor," by R. J. Dinsmore, was a very enjoyable biography of a veterinarian. Dinsmore tells of his experiences from boyhood to old age. Some experiences were humorous and some otherwise. I found it very entertaining reading.

"Tomorrow We Reap," by James Street and James Childs, was the third book I read. This novel took place in the Valley of Lebanon in Mississippi after the Civil War. It tells of how the Northerners tried to build a new South sealing off the poor whites and the Negroes with a "house still divided," a romance that held my interest until the very end.

I have taken out four more books, one of which is "The King's Story," by the Duke of Windsor, so in my next column I'll tell you who I liked it.

The next bookmobile date will be Tuesday afternoon, March 25.

SPIRIT OF LOVE

By: Samuel A. Short, Jr.

Spirit of love, come from above, Bring peace to the world four-fold.

Spread your mantling wings of love, While angels play their harps of gold.

Spirit of love, lead us each day, Lead us with thy hand from above.

Breathe on us sweet heralds we pray, While tapping your heart strings of love.

In retrospect just watch our lives unfold, No need of heartbreak will we cede this chance.

With physical handicaps of temptations old Give us human courage with this pressing circumstance.

Spirit of love, remedy our unfortunate fate, With one great victory of Divine Grace.

For our failure of ungratitude and hate, We ask thy perfect peace for every race.

Trinity Methodist Church Notes

Contrasts are always interesting. Especially, is this so in contrasting people's views of the church in days past and gone, with the present day views of the church. People in other days, many times, use to go to church out of sympathy, loyalty or pity, for someone, not usually themselves. There are instances where they had to be begged or cajoled into attending. But now, the church is seen and understood in a better light. People now realize they cannot live without the church. It has finally dawned that without the presence of the Christian Church you cannot have a christian culture, Christian ideals, Christian education, etc.

Are you among the millions who have seen this great light? Sunday begins the National Week of Lay Visitation.

9:45 A. M. Sunday School. 11 A. M. Morning Worship. The Senior Choir will sing; and the pastor will bring the final of three sermons on "It Could Happen To Us," from the 109th Psalm. The special emphasis will be "Stunned Posteriority."

7:30 P. M. Evening Worship. The Junior Choir will sing; and the pastor will bring the second of a series of discussions on the two books prescribed by the W. S. C. S.

Monday Evening: Board of Education meeting.

Wednesday Evening: Banquet of combined choirs.

Mrs. W. O. Cabbage is still confined to her bed at this writing. Dr. Neese pronounces her trouble the old fashioned gripe.

The Seman children, Alice, Henry and Margaret, are housed by cases of chicken pox and mumps.

Old man winter was playing for keeps around here lately but spring can be just around the corner. However, if weather history, like occurred in '81, should be repeated last week's cold and snow would have been just a breath of spring for sure. Only a few trees remain that were burst by that freeze.

Our friends in this area who enjoy a good fox race are getting pretty discouraged. Several times lately when the fox runs into a certain locality one of their dogs comes back long after the race is over all battered and torn by some big brute of a dog or dogs maybe. Some time or place a crazy idea was acquired about an owner being liable for damage inflicted by his or her dog or dogs, we wonder if it is true.

Use Sudan Grass For Dry-Weather Pasture, Says Bill Tarbell

Delaware dairymen can usually expect six weeks of dry weather in July and August that slow down or stop growth in permanent pastures. Now is a good time to make provisions for that mid-summer grazing weak spot, suggests Bill Tarbell, Kent County agricultural agent.

Tarbell recommends a supplemental pasture of Sudan grass, with one acre for each three or four cows. Seed Sudan at 25 pounds per acre, being careful not to cover the seed more than three-fourths of an inch. An application of 500 pounds per acre of 5-10-5 will insure vigorous growth. Don't graze the Sudan before it is 15 inches high, or after frost, Tarbell warns, to avoid Prussic acid poisoning.

Many farmers in Kent County are finding that they can use the same field they put Sudan in for late fall and early spring extra grazing by planting rye. They plow the Sudan about Sept. 1, and seed rye at 2 to 2 1/2 bushels per acre. The rye is ready for grazing the first part of October, just when cool weather stops permanent pasture growth. It gives several weeks of fall grazing and can be used again the next March.

It is too late to do much about extra grazing for this spring, Tarbell says, but you can still increase yields on your permanent and rotation pasture with fertilizer. Apply 400 or 500 pounds per acre of 0-14-14, or 300 to 350 pounds per acre of 0-20-20. This should increase your forage.

Temporary Club Agent Appointed In Kent County

Mrs. Ruth Ann Voshell, of Middletown, has been appointed acting home demonstration agent for Kent County, according to Miss M. Gertrude Holloway, home demonstration leader, University of Delaware extension service. Mrs. Voshell took over her new duties March 1, and will continue in Kent County until July 1. Her office is in the Post Office Building in Dover, with the county agricultural agent and the 4-H club agent. The phone number is Dover 2621.

This month, the new home demonstration agent will attend all home demonstration club meetings in Kent County. She'll be working with the groups on kitchen arrangement.

Mother of three children, Mrs. Voshell lives at 205 N. Cass St., in Middletown. She was born and reared on a farm near Smyrna, was graduated from the University of Delaware, and also attended Pennsylvania State College. She taught home economics in Middletown from 1932 to 1942, and since then she has taught in New Jersey schools.

Negro Homemakers To Attend School

Homemade clothing saves on the family budget, and it can fit and look better than factory-made clothing, too.

The Delaware agricultural extension service is conducting a six weeks' clothing construction school for Negro home demonstration club members.

Mrs. Camille W. Jacobs, home and youth agent, Dover, and Miss Ruth E. Pearce, extension clothing specialist, will teach the class. The classes are being held Wednesday nights, from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock in Milford High School. About 20 women are starting the course.

This is the first school of its kind held for the Negro home demonstration clubs. It was requested by the women in their program planning. They will work on house dresses, but learn the details of cutting, fitting, adjusting patterns, and construction techniques.

Start Laying Flock With Good Chicks

The ability to lay eggs is determined primarily by breeding, says J. Frank Gordy, extension poultryman at the University of Delaware. Cheap chicks cost more in the long run than do higher-priced, good quality chicks.

Getting the difference between good layers and bad in dollars and cents, Gordy gives the following example. A hen laying 100 eggs a year needs 8.3 pounds of feed for each dozen eggs produced. One that lays 200 eggs a year requires only 5 pounds of feed per dozen eggs. Figuring feed costs at $5 per hundred, the 200-egg bird can produce a dozen eggs for only 25 cents. This compares against a 42-cent feed cost for each dozen laid by the 100-egg bird.

Therefore, it pays to buy chicks from a breeder who is known to have stock bred for high egg production, thinks Gordy. Good hatcherymen have stock that is the result of careful selection for early sexual maturity, good rate of lay, comparative absence of broodiness, and persistent production.

Disease is another important item in considering chicks. Whenever in doubt as to the pullorum rating of a hatchery, Gordy advises checking with H. R. Baker, state poultry pathologist, at the State Board of Agriculture offices, in Dover.
Check with other successful and satisfied poultrymen, too, suggests Gordy. This is especially helpful when you're considering new strains for your flock.

Edwardsville Dairyman Is Sold On Sulphur Dioxide Gas For Preserving Grass Silage

Merrill E. Jones, Edwardsville dairyman, is sold on the use of sulphur dioxide gas as a preservative for grass silage. Furthermore, he says his 29 Holstein cows and heifers prefer this silage to corn silage.

It all started about in this manner: Jones didn't like the odor of other grass silages, so he wrote to Penn State for information on the use of sulphur dioxide as a preservative. What he learned must have pleased him, for the last week in May last year he put in 40 tons of grass silage (Ladino, orchard grass, and alsike) with the gas. In the last week in August he filled the remainder of the 90-ton silo with corn silage.

When his cows had consumed this feed, they got down to the grass silage and production averaged a daily increase of 5 pounds of milk per cow.

Jones, who won second place in the pasture improvement contest in Kent County last year, recites several other advantages of grass silage put up with sulphur dioxide. It has no objectionable odor, he points out, and grass does not have to be wilted, as it does with other preservatives, before being ensiled. Consequently, he adds, the crop can be put into the silo as soon as it is cut.

Cost of the preservative, he comments, is only 80c for the amount needed to preserve a ton of silage.

The Edwardsville dairyman, a member of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association, found grass silage solved a peculiar problem. He had 18 acres of permanent pasture, of which Ladino was a part. He found he couldn't make hay of it in the spring for this reason: if he left it on the field to dry a few days, the Ladino in the pasture would grow up through it and shade it, causing it to retain dampness. Using the crop for grass silage, it could be taken off the field immediately.

Chicken-of-Tomorrow Junior Contest Set

The Delaware Chicken-of-Tomorrow committee meeting in Dover last week, voted unanimously to have a junior contest again this year, according to Prof. A. E. Tomhave, University of Delaware, chairman of the group.

Boys and girls who enter the contest each grow 50 broilers. These are killed and dressed in a commercial plant, and then judged for quality. Last year 160 boys and girls entered. Kenneth Coulbourn, 16-year-old Seaford boy, was the winner.

In addition to $100 in cash prizes for the top ten entrants, the winner will receive a special trophy from the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association.

It was the feeling of the group that the committee not hold an adult state contest in 1952, unless a demand develops from poultry breeders, according to Prof. Tomhave. The committee also proposed that D. P. I. A. take over the responsibility for future Chicken-of-Tomorrow activities.

Men assisted in the chorus were, Webster Jolly, Solomon Daniels, Wilson Coverdale, Edmund Higgins, George Heath, William Bailey, Alonzo Taylor, Alfonso Coverdale and Ralph Higgins.

The Rev. Willie Saunders was in charge of the afternoon service which was well attended.

The president, George W. Heath, and pastor, Rev. A. W. Rothwell, wish to express heart felt gratitude and appreciation to all and especially to the following persons: Solomon Daniels, vice-president; Wilson Coverdale, secretary; Alonzo Taylor, treasurer; Mrs. Lettie Heath, organist, and Mrs. Mary Daniels, director. Proceeds were more than $100. George Matthews was master of ceremonies.

Get Pullets Off To Early Start

"The sooner pullets start to lay the sooner the flock owner begins to secure returns on the cost of feed in raising the pullets," Dr. Morley A. Jull, head of the University of Maryland Poultry Department declared last week.

Dr. Jull referred to the indications of good demand for market eggs next fall and winter, pointing out that relatively high feed prices will make careful management an important factor in a profitable market egg enterprise.

Early maturity of pullets is inherited, Dr. Jull said, but it can be retarded by inefficient management. Here are some management pointers Dr. Jull listed to help poultrymen get their pullets off to an early start on economic production:

Encourage early roosting with plenty of roosting space. Provide adequate feeder space, and make sure the pullets can get all the fresh, clean water they need. Separate the cockerels from the pullets as soon as heat is no longer needed in the brooder house. Make durable summer shelters on runners for easy moving when pullets are on range. Reduce the feed bill and improve the health of your birds with succulent poultry pasture.

Your county agent can give you information on seed mixtures for poultry pastures.

Wit of the Day
 Temptation: thy name is strawberry soda.
 My mouth is like a volcano; it always blows off at the wrong time.
 Every dog has his day, and it is a wise guy who knows when his day is over.
 A girl has to know lots of tricks these days: she has to trick a man into marrying her; trick him into doing what she wants him to do; and, the greatest trick of all, trick him into thinking that he walked into the trap of his own accord.

Local Pupils' Art Work Featured
 Three works of art by grade pupils of the Harrington schools appeared in the Wilmington Sunday Star March 9 as a part of a group of posters, paintings, and dioramas by pupils of Delaware schools being shown at the Delaware Wildlife Exhibit in Dover. The show is being held at the Armory March 13, 14 and 15 and is open to the public, admission free, from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Thursday and Friday and from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Saturday. A painting of a pheasant by Wayne Welch, grade 6, a drawing of snakes that are not harmful by Irene Sheehan, grade 6, and a painting of a fish by Kaye Moore, grade 4, were the Harrington exhibits chosen for reproduction by the Star. Since only eight were shown altogether by the newspaper, Harrington had almost half the total for all Delaware schools. H. D. Williams is instructor in art for the Harrington schools.

Felton Girls Defeat Harrington Girls

Scoring honors of the evening went to Captain Sylvester, who tallied 20 for the victors, while Jeanette Sapp scored 17 for Harrington.

Senior Personality MARIE MINNER
 Marie was born at Masten's Corner. Since there is no school there, she attends Harrington. Marie's favorite subjects are music and shorthand. Her hobbies are collecting old salt and pepper shakers and roller skating. Marie's favorite sport is basketball. Her favorite colors are blue and red.

Her ideal boy is one with a good personality who can take a joke as well as give one (not the "stuffed shirt" kind). She likes girls dressed in skirts and sweaters with small scarves to add to them. Sports clothing is her ideal for the boys. Marie's dislikes are two-faced people and bragging girls.

 Marie's special work is major-ette for the band.
 Marie's ambitions are traveling through the United States and joining the Waves, followed by the usual marriage.

Commercial Club News

An unprecedented number of students have expressed a desire to take shorthand next year. The way it looks now, there will be 28-30 students in the beginning shorthand class next year, just about double the usual amount. The large demand for skilled and trained office workers and the reports brought back by boys in the service on the many jobs doing office work in the armed forces may be the reason for the trend. The trend to shorthand is not confined to commercial students only. A number of scientific and academic students are now taking or intend to take shorthand next year. About 99 per cent of the students of Harrington High take some type of commercial training, whether it be typing, bookkeeping or shorthand.

Art Trip to Philadelphia

Members of H. D. Williams' classes in art and of the Art Club visited the Philadelphia Art Museum Feb. 21 to see the art treasures from the Vienna collections lent to the United States by the Austrian government. The trip was made by 33 pupils. Small groups were formed for the tour through the museum, and attendants were present to answer the pupils' questions. The Vienna collection, brought to the United States on a warship of the U. S. Navy, includes some of the world's finest paintings, sculptures, tapestries, arms and armor, and ornamental objects. Their value is immense. The pistols, rifles, and swords embossed with silver and gold attracted especial attention. Some of the museum's permanent exhibits, not connected with the Vienna collection, were also inspected. Among these was a completely furnished Dutch kitchen.

Pupils who made the trip under Mr. Williams' guidance were: Grace Graham, Martha Jean Sneath, Anne Howard, Billy Cluley, Donald Sapp, George Graham, Grace Grant, Anna Pritchett, Jeanette Sapp, Pauline Makovec, Randall Smith, Nancy Nelson, Peggy Adams, Charles Pearson, Bobby Rash, Nellie Ann Hobbs, Betty Lee Wix, Maurice Willey, Mary Fry, Richard Brown, Ruth Calloway, Mary Lord, Irene Bullard Evelyn Jones, Charlotte Noble, Philip Price, Paul Gray, Preston Beauchamp, Charles Calloway, Larry Austin, Robert Herring, Betty Louise Layton, Billy Callaway.

VA added that the use of an automobile merely for necessary travel to and from work does not qualify a veteran for a GI auto loan.
