Gebhart, Smyrna, and Mr. Terry. Dr. Miller is secretary of the building commission board, with J. C. Messner, superintendent of Harrington schools, as assistant secretary.

Architect Walter Carlson and contractors of the proposed building have also been invited. The latter are as follows: general contractor, John E. Healey & Son, Wilmington; plumbing and heating, Weldon & Son, Wilmington, and electrical equipment, Miller Electric Company, of Salisbury. Local ministers and presidents of civic organizations have also been invited.

The approximate building cost of the elementary school building, to be situated just north of the high school is $522,500, of which $352,000 is for the general contractor; $112,700 for plumbing and heating, and $48,097.25 for electrical equipment. The building will house the elementary grades, a cafeteria, kitchen, and administrative offices.

The next item on the school-building program is a field house. Plans have been made for the structure, but advertisements for construction bids have not been placed.

Rev. Wright Tells Rotarians All About St. Patrick

"History's pages are replete with the achievements of great military figures, said the Rev. Harry Wright at Tuesday evening's meeting of the Harrington Rotary Club at the Wonder Bar, "but great men of peace also live in our memories.

"Saint Patrick, a man of peace, is revered after something like 1500 years have passed. We have some facts about him—and much legend. It seems that he was born in what is now known as Scotland. As a boy he was captured by the pirates and taken to Ireland, where he was held as a slave. He was a shepherd, in charge of the flocks of the pirates, but after several years he made his escape and entered a monastery in southern France. After 20 years of study there, he decided to return to Ireland, the land where he had been a slave.

"Ireland at that time was a pagan country but after the missionary work of St. Patrick, not one pagan was left in all Ireland. Broadly interpreted, a pagan is one who does as he pleases, anytime, anywhere, with no regards for the rights of others, and I regret to say that we have many pagans in the world today."

Edwin Markham, the great poet, was mentioned by the speaker as another outstanding man of peace whose fame will

$500,000-order For Piles Received By Local Lumber Company For Largest Order in Its History

Contract Calls for 16,000 Piles From Quillen Bros., Which Operates Murphy & Hayes; Company Notes Other Orders

Railroad News

Spring is just around the corner. So are diesels and like the bluebirds we'll be seeing and hearing them soon. We are told deliveries will start next month and by the last of August, 28 all-service type diesels will take over where 79 steam locomotives left off. Excepting of course, the belching of smoke and cinders, starting grass fires, etc. Nor will they require engine houses, inspection pits, coaling stations or water plugs.

Housewives and property owners along the right-of-way can rejoice in the change. So can the stockholders as diesel power definitely represents the survival of rail transportation.

An example of some of the economics to be realized was the test run made last spring when a diesel engine hauling 85 cars out of Harrisburg went all the way to Cape Charles, took on oil and went right back with 100 cars. A job that would have required six steam locomotives with resultant delays making the changes at Edgemore and Delmar.

Other changes happening fast on the division is the turn over of trainmasters in the past six months. When Russ Spore went to Altoona, Paul Rider took over for two months then went with the I. C. C. Bob Blosser, who replaced Rider, has now gone to Altoona replacing Spore, who has been made assistant superintendent at Toledo.

The new trainmaster, George Sargent, comes from Waverly yard, NS, on the New York division. Jim Moore, recently promoted to supervisor of structures at Pittsburgh, was presented a handsome leather brief case by his Delmarva friends while home over last weekend.

Dave McKibben, who took over as supervisor of structures here on the first of the month, also visited his family in Buffalo over the weekend. Dave says he knows now why they call this the garden-spot. He wanted to bring his car back along but the snow was too deep to get out of Buffalo.

The Elisha Lee steamer will go into drydock March 30 for overhauling. The steamer Accomac has been chartered from the Virginia Ferry Company for two weeks to take the place of the Lee.

Speaking of steam power; a student was asked by the professor to describe the mechanism of a steam shovel. "Don't try to kid me," said the student, "you can't shovel steam."

Neither can you shovel smoke, but the stokers on steam locomotives can sure leave in the stuff to make it.

The writer reminded the engine crew on No. 453, the other day, that diesels would soon eliminate the nuisance they create in our town. The next day the same crew wanted to know if Uncle Sam was going to dieselize the post office as a heavy cloud of black smoke was rolling out of the stack.

Howard Williams, who will be eligible for a 40-year button Monday, says he thinks he has aged that much in the past year getting his house and landscaping done.

Next week's column will have full details on diesel picture.

Layton Bennett, all of Milford; and Mrs. Reese Thistlewood, Mrs. Kenneth Aiken, Mrs. Thomas Brown, Mrs. Roland Hitchens, Mrs. Robert Holloway, Mrs. Stanley Wyatt and Miss Salem Wyatt, all of Harrington.

Murphy & Hayes Company, operated by Quillen Brothers, of Harrington, last week reported receiving one of the largest orders for piles in the history of the firm.

H. E. Quillen said the contract was for more than 16,000 piles, entailing a cost of $500,000. The piles will be used by the Gulf Refining Company, of Philadelphia, in an expansion movement.

The pine timber will be 50 to 80 feet long and 14 inches in diameter two feet from the base. All piling producers on the peninsula are making deliveries on the order which will be filled in six months.

Mr. Quillen said that his firm was experiencing about its busiest period since the close of World War II. He added that it had just received a sizable order from the New York Ship Company, Camden, N. J., for piles to be used in connection with the construction of battleships. Other recent orders include one for piles from the DuPont Company, at Linden, N. J., and one for piles building a pier at Salem, N. J.

The scope of the operations of the local firm is extensive. It has a yearly contract for furnishing the Bush Terminal Company, in Brooklyn, with all the piles it uses in keeping up all its piers, etc., in and around Brooklyn. This is one of the largest concerns of its type in New York harbor.

The firm also has a contract for furnishing material for perpetual upkeep of Pennsylvania Railroad Company piers in New York harbor.

Murphy & Hayes also furnished material for the base on which the Delaware Memorial Bridge is built, the slips on both sides of the Delaware River for the Chester Ferry. The concern also furnishes piles for the upkeep of Boston harbor.

Sulky Slants

By Mrs. Dave (Pat) Smith

Just to start you off right, don't try going to Philadelphia with a dog in your car. Anyway, if you intend to park on any lots up there. We spent an hour trying to find a parking lot that we could leave our pek locked up.

Ended up having to tip a $1 which was worth it after going so far to see "The Greatest Show on Earth." To begin with, as well as we know Philadelphia, we took all wrong roads, rode all over town, and at times only a couple blocks from the theatre. Oh well, I really know ole Philadelphia now. Anyone wanting to know where all the Italian spaghetti places are, we know them now.

After reading about all those crime waves around there, it makes you feel rather odd when you wait for a stop light out late at night. Makes you wonder when anyone hails you for a ride. Well, anyway, it was a wonderful picture, worth seeing whenever you can.

Speaking of Scrapy, my pek, he wanted a hamburger, then we gave him ice cream, then just like a kid, he yipped, he wanted a drink and so on. What a trip. But we are ready for another. Already planning for the opening night in Yonkers. That's the Smiths. No dog this time.

Bobby Hobbs certainly enjoying learning to train horses. You know Bobby owns Dudley Spencer. He helps Dave every day job, and they train together. Little by little Bobby is getting everything together for Dudley. He also has his driver's license to drive three races in parimutuels. If he does okay, he will get his extended card. He's pretty happy about it all.

Didn't I tell you, Sarah, you were in the hoss biz? First thing you know Purr will be teaching you.

Has anyone noticed the beautiful new dining room with the picture windows out at the Wonder Bar? Helen has it done so very pretty. Oh, well, when Helen does anything, it's done in a big way.

And did you know Marie, at the Wonder Bar, has added a little fox terrier to their new household?

Tina Marshall and Sippy out to look the horses over. Is it true, Tina, you are buying a horse? That's what a little bird told me.

Mr. Brown, of Baltimore, a visitor to Mr. and Mrs. Clukey's stock farm. Clukey has his horses. Ned, you're a very busy young man these days.

Ruth Davis back from the hospital. Looked good to see Ruth and little Judy with Olin. First thing Ruth, with Judy, had to look the horses over.

Little Billy Carter telling me what he wants for Easter. He's a very proud little fellow, so all he wanted was a complete new outfit, his mom like I do, Billy, you'll get them.

Paul Vineyard able to drive around now at the track, but not out on track. That constant jogging won't do him any good.

Glad to see you, Paul, even if you tried to run over me! I'll get you one of these days. Do you worry Mrs. Vineyard that way? Paul now has Carl Roark for second trainer.

Pop Heller all by his lonesome sitting out in the sun watching the horses work out. You know, he has three.

Jimmy Sivers from Saratoga has purchased the mare, June Time Volo, from Ellis Myer.

Dave won the first race she ever won in Saratoga. Pretty nice mare.

Walked my Roustabout over to Mr. Holloway's office after his workout and was I pleased. As usual Brit was very busy, but not too busy to come out and see the little devil, and that's what he is. So much life. That's what makes a good manager at any race track. Never too busy to say hello. And if Roustabout should win a race here I'll walk him to the secretary's office for his check. I have loads of faith in this Donald Truax colt.

Jack Walters has been ill in bed with the virus, but able to be out again.

Russell Kirby and Mr. Holloway out looking their horses over at Polly Sipes' barn.

Dupe going to Buffalo this weekend on business. Wish I were making the trip.

Roland Herrington's horse certainly looks fine. Course Mrs. Herrington on hand to see that everything is done okay. Heh! Heh! Roland.

Julian Young says his two horses are working very good.

Dolores and Ray's wife out with Dolores' two babies. Pretty cute pair.

Homer Kelly's son a visitor to his stable from Salisbury. Homer works from sun up to dark, about the hardest worker out here.

Mickey Workman and Fuzzy Tail getting ready for the big time. Mickey when are you going to turn Puddles out? Isn't he lame, poor dog.

Elmer, the clocker, Wilson training Frisco Pat and doing okay.

Mrs. Pal Peacock down for a visit.

Amato's have Ann O'Day back in training again. She lost her little colt down in Berryville, Va., at Mr. Black's stud farm. Ruth is very happy to have her home.

Mr. Jewett looking world's better since he came from the hospital.

Mr. Lyons really getting ready for the opening at Yonkers.

Ole Symbol Lewis looks so sad watching the horses going and coming. Wonder what's in his poor old mind. Wouldn't it be wonderful to have a white pad-dock on the highway an enclosed glass stall with his racing equipment, his sulky, blankets, etc., saying, "the home of Symbol Lewis." That would stop many a car.

I think Carl Goslin will, in time, do that.

Irene, do you ever stop to take a good breath. Always in a hurry. Certainly were crowds the other night when we came back from Philadelphia. The Moose Hall, the Chicken Basket, Helen's Wonder Bar and the Legion Hall. Gosh, where did they all come from?

Virginia Tucker dashing to Dover and then to Baltimore. Where do you get all the pep, Ginny?

Sam Short's songs, I hear, are really on the up trend. One of these days, Sam will have a hit. He is coming out with a book and should be on the market before long.

The new bakery on the highway is certainly putting out wonderful baked goods.

Was down to Ocean Downs last Sunday. Not too many in training there. But everything kept up grand. Then on to Lewes Beach and Rehoboth. I love the beaches.

Mr. Brittingham was very nice to Dave and me. Took us and showed us all the offices and the grounds.

A. L. Dixon, of Pinehurst, will have King Brew, Hasty Heart and Worthy Volstadt and Jenny S. Anderson to start here. Eileen writes me they have a nice bay colt foaled Mar. 4 by Donald Truax.

Quote—Harness ovals outnumber flats by plenty.

Mr. Jandak sporting a new grey paint job on his Buick.

Here is something rather quaint for a birthday instead of a cake. Jackie Cotter baked an apple pie and put the candles on that for Wade's birthday. He doesn't like cake.

Retia and Joan dashing around, now where were you going?

Mabel Walters now working in Laurel.

Betty Myer and Ellis Jr. out looking the horses over. Wonder if Jr. is going to take off like a bird? Doug Smith able to be back to track after being ill for nearly a week.

There are nearly 600 race tracks in the U. S. over which trotters and pacers perform. Less than 90 thoroughbred courses in the nation hold racing. Little wonder harness racing is fast becoming one of the leading equine industries.

And here is another thing I would like the Harrington Journal readers to see. I don't quite get it. Quote from Washington News which I have permission to use: "N. Y. Bill Would Screen the Track Operators, Too." A bill designed to safeguard harness racing from all criminal influence has been introduced in the Legislature. The measure requires officials and operators of harness race tracks to meet the same moral standards as presently required of drivers, handlers and other track associates. Under existing law the horsemen must not associate with or be bookmakers, touts, or criminals. It does not include track management and officers. Another bill introduced in the Legislature yesterday amends the Wicks measure which would have given New York State sole licensing powers in harness racing.

Slip Cover Factory To Locate at Milford

Final arrangements were completed Monday morning which assures a new industry for Milford with an annual payroll of approximately $225,000, according to the Delaware State Development Department.

Lady Linda Covers, Inc., completed negotiations to lease the Milford Roller Rink through Harvey G. Marvel, real estate broker. The building is owned by Charles S. Ingram, according to Col. C. B. Shaffer, development department industrial chief. Contracts were signed in the office of Tunnel & Tunnel at Georgetown.

The firm will manufacture slip covers and expects to employ more than 50 seamstresses as soon as machinery can be moved and placed in operation.

Officers of the organization are Harry Swartzman, president in charge of sales, who maintains an office in New York, and Daniel Friedman, vice-president and secretary, who will be in charge of production in Milford. Friedman expects to move there shortly with his wife and four children, he said this week.

Lady Linda Covers, Inc., has been in operation in Freeport, L. I., for more than five years. Since the organization was formed the plant has been expanded twice. Increased business caused the company to consider further expansion. This was impossible at the Long Island site, according to Friedman.

About the time of reaching a decision to expand, the Delaware Memorial Bridge was opened and this focused the attention of the executives on Delaware's advantageous location in respect to receiving raw materials and the proximity of northern and western markets.

Milford was selected, after looking over other Delaware sites, because of its central location, the fact that a building was immediately available and there was a sufficient labor market. The question of labor held up a final decision for some time. However, Mr. Marvel arranged for employment interviews in Milford City Hall Saturday and more than 300 applicants signed up for work, he reported.

Shipment of equipment and machinery to the Milford site will get under way immediately, according to the officials.

Dover YMCA Basketball Tournament

With the quarter-finals finished after a stellar battle between the Harrington Legionnaires and the Laurel Owls last Saturday night at the Dover High Field House, the fifth annual Dover YMCA Invitational Basketball Tournament, began to head down the home stretch this Saturday night with the playing of the semi-finals. Featured in this semi-wind-up will be four of the outstanding teams in the state flanked by the cream of Delaware talent.

In this week's opener at 8 p. m. Rocco's, New Castle's star-studded aggregation, gets the long awaited chance to tangle with Jim McGonigal's Delaware Steelers, Wilmington Industrial League play-off winners. Rocco has been seeking a meeting with the Steelers since the season began but only the semi-finals of the "Y" tournament could accomplish the feat. As a result the cage fans that crowd into the Dover Field House will be witnessing not only a contest to see who will play in the finals on the following Saturday but will also be watching a real scrap to see who has the best quintet from the two encampments. Leo "The Point" Marshall, also known as "The Eye" since his recent appointment as a state detective; Earl Burns, Gene Schaan, Frankie Albers, former Delaware captain; Tom Yetter, Joe Givens are some of the array of talent in the Rocco line-up. Marshall, Yetter, Burns and Schaan have all hit in double brackets in their first two games. Delaware Steel has an equally impressive line-up led by Jimmy Joyce, former Temple ace, who has copied scoring honors in the CYO League and the Wilmington Industrial League this year. Ace Hoffstein, former Delaware cager and present Goldey-Beacon coach; Boots Reed, Franny Sullivan, Walt Mateswki, and Paul Golden play a prominent role in the Steeler's combine. Joe Hawezski, one of Delaware's basketball greats a few years back, pilots the Steeler's while Phil Gordon directs the Rocco quintet. Both teams have built up a following by their play in the tournament so far and this week the attendance should reach its peak.

In the second part of this week's semi-finals Coach Bill Minner's Harrington Legionnaires, pennant winning Eastern Shore League five, will be carrying the hopes of the down-state followers as they clash with a fast breaking and sharp shooting New Castle Air Base Minutemen club to see who will fight it out in the finals against the winner of the Rocco-Delaware Steel game. Harrington will be the favorites of the lower shore to carry their hopes all the way. The Legionnaires have a heavy scoring aggregation that has swept through the season with unusual success. Anyone of the Harrington cagers can hit in the double brackets consistently and their scoring punch, experience, and height looms as a big factor in their chances of staying till the finish.

Paul Martin, Dover lad; Bob Snowden, Joe Griffith, Carl Prentice, Jack Dill, Tom Shalley, Bill Betts, and Bob Roberts all are well known throughout the lower shore and their need of introduction to the cage followers of lower Delaware is hardly needed. As for the Minutemen they have captured the fancy of the tournament followers with their clever passing combination as well as deadly shooting. In their two previous tournament appearances they have eliminated Playtex and Newark A.A. Walt Hatz established this year's individual high scoring effort as he racked 29 points against Playtex while Spike Berouth, Jack Guinn, Jack Spicer and Andy Cranford have hit for double figures.

Both games appear as real naturals and cage fans are in for a big night.

In last Saturday night's play Harrington Legionnaires nipped the Laurel Owls in a real thriller that had the fans on the edge of their seats from start to finish. Harrington triumphed 74 to 66 but were hard pushed to the final whistle. The Legionnaires jumped off to a great start to lead at the quarter, 20-7. Laurel closed the gap to 33-25 at half time and at three quarters the score read 55-44. They came within 5 points of the winners in the final quarter but the Legionnaires spurred to hold off as the Owls closed strong after Harrington had lost both Dill and Shalley by the personal foul route. Harrington's attack was well spread with five cagers hitting for double figures led by the 17 point shooting of Paul Martin and Bob Snowden. Cal Prentice hooped 15 with Joe Griffith racking 12 and Jack Dill 10. Towering Carleton Elliott, Green Bay Packer's stellar freshman end, was a standout performer for the Owls as he found the range for 27 points to cop scoring honors. His work under the boards, both defensively and offensively, was one of the big factors in keeping the Owls within range. Tommy Whaley, who was the big gun in the Eastern Shore scoring race this year, got off to a slow start but found the range in the second half and totaled 23 for his evening's work.

Dover Bulldogs pulled a real surprise as they played Delaware Steel in an exhibition tilt brought on by the withdrawal of St. Joe's. Playing their inspired action of the season the Bulldogs shaded the Steelers 60-59. Bolstered by the addition of Ed Athey and three other Washington College cagers the Bulldogs couldn't be stopped and except for the 12 point of Athey it was the regular Bulldogs that showed the best. Bill Reed and Walt Shields, two former Dover Highlets, ran hot with eight and nine points respectively, with Steve Skabla and Allen O'Neal hitting when needed. Jimmy Joyce poured through 26 points for the Steelers.

In the open contest of the three game bill Dover Guards tripped Camden-Wyoming, 52-44. Reds Moore with 14 and Nolan Cooper with 10 led C-W, while Jim Shockley dumped 17 for the Guardsmen.

The following poem was a result of the study of the fox by the second grade.

The Fox
The red fox sleeps in a hole all day
And prowls around all night.
He catches chickens and rabbits,
Too
Then quickly runs from sight.

Straight to his den with food he goes
For the baby foxes there,
Hungry, greedy, and anxious to grow
They quickly eat the tasty fare.

FACTS REBUT FAKES

Listed below are some facts which are still trying to catch up with lurid propaganda alleging wasteful Defense Department practices involving coffee, paint and electric light bulbs. The propaganda is in the left hand column, and the truth is printed to the right.

COFFEE

Propaganda
Recently for almost a week newspapers and radio commentators repeated the coffee story. It was said that 67-cent-a-pound coffee was used as a compound for sweeping barracks at the Carswell Air Force Base in Texas.

The Facts
The Air Force made a careful investigation of the report that coffee was used as a sweeping compound. No basis whatsoever was found for the story. It was discovered to be completely false.

PAINT

Propaganda
Last summer Rep. Francis P. Bolton (R., Ohio) charged that the Army wasted hundreds of thousands of dollars by buying six million gallons of paint in quart and gallon cans instead of five-gallon containers. The story has been repeated many times since then.

The Facts
The Army buys no paint. The Army purchases paint for all the armed forces. The Army did request the Navy to buy six million gallons of paint for it. All most all of the paint was in five-gallon containers. A tiny fraction of the six million gallons was delivered in quart and gallon cans for use on small repair jobs at Army camps.

LIGHT BULBS

Propaganda
The GOP claims that identical 25-watt light bulbs cost the Army Corps of Engineers 11 cents apiece and the Army Signal Corps 37 cents each.

The Facts
The 37-cent Signal Corps light bulbs were specially made and packed and required individual handling because they were for 30 "spotting sets" used in anti-artillery practice. In all, 111 light bulbs were bought at 37 cents each, making the total cost $41.07.

PROSPERITY

The fact that farmers, wage earners and business and professional men have enjoyed a high level of prosperity ever since the end of World War II is an important asset of the political party in office. Clearly the Republicans view this continuing prosperity as confronting them with a difficult political problem in the 1952 campaign.

The nature of the GOP dilemma is demonstrated daily in the anti-Administration press in the contrast between news stories which reflect the economic well-being of the country, and doleful editorial page dirges on the twin themes of "socialism" and "bankruptcy."

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which is violently partisan in its opposition to the Democratic Administration, has now attempted to meet the "prosperity issue" head on. The result is a tortured and self-contradictory essay in the February issue of the Chamber's publication, Economic Intelligence.

The article is headed: "BETTER OFF THAN EVER BEFORE?" The question mark is interesting in view of the two sentences which follow immediately:

"Most people today are better off than they ever were before. This is true not only in terms of the dollar incomes, but also in terms of their real incomes."

After that conclusive and factual statement, the Chamber of Commerce author gets to the point that seems uppermost in his mind:

"This prosperity theme will be the rallying cry of the Administration in the coming months preceding the November elections. But would it be wise to attribute that prosperity solely to the Administration in power?"

From that introduction the article goes on for four columns in an effort to prove that the prosperity which is conceded at the start is really "illusory" after all.

Well, let's get back to the role of government in national prosperity. What do the facts show?

The last 12-year period of Republican rule in this country was dominated by the "trickle down" philosophy—by the belief that if the interests of wealthy men and big corporations were safeguarded everyone would benefit.

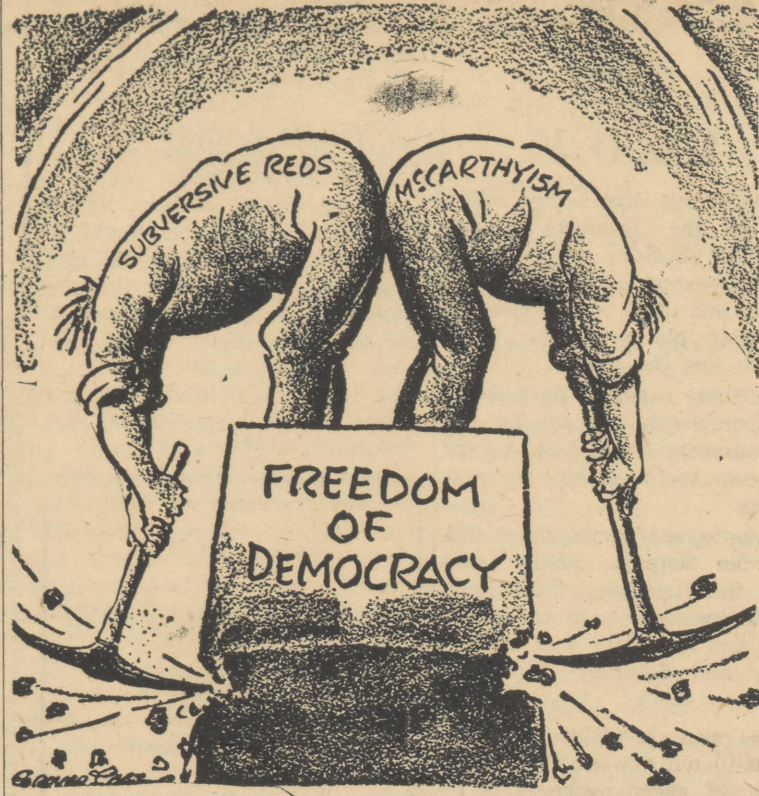

That era as marked by the Fordney-McCumber and Smoot-Hawley tariff bills, by tax reductions for the wealthy, by uncontrolled speculation in stocks and commodities, and by studied neglect of the legitimate interests of farmers and wage-earners. And it wound up in the most colossal and devastating economic crash in history.

The Democrats scorned the "trickle-down" theory, by which favors for special interests were justified, and proceeded on the sounder principle that national prosperity of the individual producer and consumer.

Under Democratic Administrations since 1932, the nation has adopted policies which include social security, unemployment compensation, bank deposit insurance, farm price supports, minimum wage and maximum hour legislation, establishment of collective bargaining, promotion of international trade through reciprocal agreements, regulation of speculation in securities and commodities and taxation genuinely based on the principle of ability to pay.

All of these measures have served to broaden purchasing power and to maintain individual confidence in the fairness and stability of our economic institutions. How can anyone doubt that these measures have contributed greatly to the broad base on which our present unprecedented national prosperity rests?

MURPHY & HAYES DOES BUSINESS IN A BIG WAY

A local concern has been awarded a contract for a large number of piles for extension of the Gulf Refining Plant at Philadelphia.

Murphy & Hayes Company, operated by Quillen Brothers, seems to be exceptionally busy. It has been awarded one of the largest contracts in its history calling for over 16,000 piles on the peninsula to be delivered on this job. It has also received a large order for piles for expansion of a plant for DuPont Company at Linden, N. J. It is also furnishing material in connection with construction of naval ships at New York Shipbuilding Corporation, Camden, N. J.

We do not believe the average Harringtonian realizes that this local concern did such a varied business. We understand Murphy & Hayes has a yearly contract for furnishing the Bush Terminal Company in Brooklyn with all the piles it uses in keeping up all its piers, etc., in and around Brooklyn. This is one of the largest concerns of its type in New York harbor.

The local firm also has a contract for furnishing material for perpetual upkeep of Pennsylvania Railroad Company piers in New York harbor.

We should feel a certain amount of pride to know this local concern furnished material for the base on which the Delaware Memorial Bridge is built. Should you cross the ferry at Chester, you will see slips on both the Pennsylvania and New Jersey side built from material furnished by this company. Murphy & Hayes even ships piles as far as Boston for upkeep in that harbor. It is hard to believe that a local concern, about which you hear so little, should have such far-flung activities.

LEAD ON

By Samuel A. Short Jr.
Lead on O Spirit Divine,
Let fortune shine on and on.
While bells ring with their jubilant chime.
For peace and harmony in every song.

Lead on O Spirit Divine,
While we tread our weary paths.
No word can be said so fine,
As this when victory comes at last.

We know you've not forgotten,
With the tumult that stirs the air.
We rejoice that we'll not be forsaken,
But are worthy of Heaven in our daily prayer.

Lead on O Spirit Divine,
We greet you with a happy smile.
With laughter and repose of time,
That has accumulated so worthwhile.

Trinity Methodist Church Notes

Continuing our thought of last week on contrasting past with the present views of the church, we point out how people use to decry "Churchianity" over against the present glorification of the church. Looking back now, it seems to us that such a decrying must have had for its purpose the making of a wider cleavage between the church and Christianity. The Christian Church is to Christianity what the pipe-line is to the reservoir. Are you showing by your presence every Sunday that you also believe so?

SIGNS OF SPRING

A song-sparrow sang in the willow tree,
In the gleam of the rising sun;
'Twas a song of trust, it seemed to me
When the morn had just begun.

A robin trilled in the walnut tree
His red-breast aglow in the sun;
'Twas a cheery chant of faith and glee,
When the day was almost done.

Blithe feathered creatures of the air,
In the sun and rain you sing,
Your trust in the Heavenly Father's care;
Your clear songs bring signs of Spring.

Cold blasts of winter soon will be o'er,
There'll be days of sunshine and rain;
Daffodils, tulips will bloom once more,
Welcome Spring will be here again.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

It Isn't the Heat—It's the Hide!

Big discussion after the Grange meeting Friday night. Tik Anderson was arguing that hogs were lots more affected by the hot weather than cattle. Skeeter Morgan declared that it wasn't so—that he never saw any hogs bothered by the hot sun like his cows were.

I was glad when Rusty Robinson stepped in.

"Boys," he says, "don't get so riled up. It all depends on what color the livestock are. Hogs or cattle, the ones with light-colored coats absorb less heat from the sun's rays than animals with dark coats. So you're both right!"

From where I sit, so many useless arguments could be avoided if a person would remember he doesn't have all the right on his side. Reminds me of folks who insist that coffee, for instance, is the only drink, forgetting that other people have a right to a glass of beer now and then. If we wouldn't get so "het up" about our prejudices—we'd all be better off!

WHAT ARE TODAY'S FACTS ABOUT NEW CAR ENGINES AND POWER STEERING?

LAST YEAR Chrysler introduced its new FirePower V-8 engine, and America's first passenger-car full-time power steering. Both new ideas "took hold" in a big way.

Today, others are announcing "new engines" and "power steering" . . . but with some basic differences worth keeping in mind if you're buying a new car.

First: about "new engines." The fact is, a really new engine design happens only once in a great while. It did happen in the FirePower V-8. Its 180 h.p. was only incidental to its basic new design. Its key idea is a hemispherical combustion chamber, which makes even non-premium gasoline develop more usable power than other designs can get from premium fuel.

Only Chrysler engineering has so far mastered this design. Several cars do have some power increase, in terms of previous designs. The important fact is that FirePower is not a "warmed-over" engine, but brand new in performance, construction, and efficiency.

In power steering, too, there are basic differences.

Chrysler uses hydraulic power, always in effect, to do two things. First, it does 4/5 the steering work as you turn the wheel. Second, we've cut the amount of wheel turn needed by over 1/3.

Parking or cruising, you get more and easier control than ever before. In sand, snow, or ruts, the hydraulic power is always there to keep the front wheels from "steering back" at you. You get the same amount and feel of control all the time . . . full-time ease and full-time safety.

Actually, the differences, both in engine performance and in steering safety and ease are impossible to put in words . . . but just as impossible not to feel the moment you get into a Chrysler and drive it! Why not see your Chrysler dealer and do that, soon?

Pasture Program Planned For 1952

William T. Thompson, Lincoln, was elected chairman of the farmer advisory and planning committee for Delaware's Greener Pastures Program, at a recent meeting in Dover. Thompson replaces William Reynolds, of Middletown.

A new score card was approved by the group. It provides a more complete method of scoring, and a chance to do a larger educational job through the score card alone, according to C. E. Phillips, of the University of Delaware agronomy department.

The group voted to publish a leaflet, through the Delaware agricultural extension service, on pasture pointers and recommendations for Delaware, instead of combining the rules and application blank with pasture information. The leaflet will be available sometime this spring.

Enrollment in the program this year will be easier. Those interested may merely send a post-card to their county agricultural agent, saying they are interested in the 1952 Greener Pastures Program, and giving their name and address.

The farmer advisory committee includes representatives from the Delaware Crop Improvement Association, the Dairy Herd Improvement Association, and the Artificial Breeders' Cooperative. The program is sponsored by the agricultural extension service of the University.

Results Out On Broiler Strain Test

There can be as much difference between strains of one breed of chickens as there is between breeds. This is the conclusion of the researchers who conducted the latest broiler experiment at the University of Maryland broiler substation at Salisbury.

The researchers, C. S. Shaffner, P. F. Twining, G. F. Combs, and M. A. Jull, of the University of Maryland Poultry Department, last week published the results of the experiment.

Rating each of the eight strains on test on a basis of calculated return per 1000 birds, the scientists found the most profitable group, White Rocks, gave $93 more than the poorest group, New Hampshires. Another strain of White Rocks gave an increased return of $37, while a better strain of New Hampshires gave an increased return of $78.

The scientists point out that these figures represent only one experiment with 800 birds, and that they do not prove the superiority of any breed or strain. The experiment did show that the strain within the breed is more important than the breed.

The results of the test also show that there may be strain differences in feed efficiency that are not entirely explained by growth rates.

A thousand birds of each strain of breed was on test. All received the same ration, a practical type broiler ration compounded by the university. Birds raised on the Shenandoah side of the broiler house weighed more, had better feed conversion, and feathering, and had lower mortality than those grown with radiant heat. These findings bore out earlier experience in previous trials.

A complete summary of the experiment, including the feed formula, can be obtained by writing the Bulletin Room, Symons Hall, University of Maryland, College Park, Md. Ask for Experiment Station Mimeo 132, "A Study of Breed and Strain Differences in Broiler Chickens."

Cracked Eggs Are A $186,000 Loss

"Cracked eggs amount to a $186,000 loss in Delaware each year," says W. T. McAllister, marketing specialist with the Delaware agricultural extension service.

McAllister applied the results of a four year Ohio study on egg breakage to Delaware conditions.

Eggs are broken every time they are handled or moved—when they are gathered, at time of grading, at the grading station, and between the grading station and the wholesaler. Breakage is about equal in the first three processes, says McAllister, with the least amount of breakage, percentage-wise, occurring between the grading and wholesaler.

Egg producers will be interested in the following points evident from the study.

1. There is less breakage when eggs are gathered more than once a day.
2. Fewer eggs are cracked when 20 or more nests are provided for every 100 hens. Feeding oyster-shells also helps.
3. More eggs are cracked when washed with water than when cleaned with an emory cloth.
4. Eggs packed in new or good cases with new fillers and flats are less apt to be damaged in shipment.
5. Factors such as feeding grit, type of nesting material, and time of hatch had no influence on the amount of breakage.

Hans Schwarten, with Brother's Aid Has Built All His Dairy Buildings

A young farmer of Cordova, Md., has had a hand in the construction of every building connected with his dairy enterprise.

During the past ten years, Hans Schwarten and his brother, Thomas, have built a nice dairy barn and a milk house. Other kinds of equipment which Hans has built for use on the farm are a feed cart, milk can cart, and a wooden stave silo. He is quite pleased with the latter, which he built this past year.

All lumber used in this silo was cut from spruce timber on the farm. Spruce wood is considered to be very durable, and the silo should last for several years.

Logs for the silo were hauled to a nearby sawmill and cut and grooved into two-inch by five-inch staves, 10 and 14 feet in length. The iron hoops were taken from an old wooden stave silo, and re-cut and re-threaded to fit the new silo.

The silo which Hans built is eight feet in diameter and 24 feet high. It will hold about 20 tons of silage.

After the silo was completed, it was painted with aluminum paint. "All I've got in it is around $50," remarked Hans.

He is using the silage now, and says that it saves hay, the cows hold up on their milk, and that it takes the place of grass in winter.

Hans has his own hammermill and grinds, and mixes his own feed. Drinking cups were installed in the stable to provide water for his cows all the time.

Ladino clover is used every fourth year in his rotation to provide him with plenty of hay and pasture. Lime and fertilizer are applied regularly to the land

Laurel Dairyman Builds Barn

Charles West, of Laurel, recently completed a fine, new combination barn on his farm, says the March issue of Pet Dairy Chats. The main structure, 40x50 feet, is to be used for storage of hay and farm implements.

A modern, 20x50-foot one-story lean-to shed, attached to the main structure, was built and equipped to hold 14 dairy cows.

West followed the recommended floor plan which provides for a four-foot feed alley with a sweep-in type manger. The cow bed, or standing platform, measures 4½ feet from stanchion curb to outer wall. Standard gutters, 16 inches wide and eight inches deep, were built. The remaining four feet of floor space made up the walkway in back of the cows.

Being an enthusiastic dairyman, West had in mind the benefits of milking and housing his cows in a clean, sanitary stable, when he planned his modern barn. Referring to his dealings with this new enterprise, he said, "I am well pleased with the returns from the cows."

West is assisted in the operation of the farm by his father and brother. Besides cows, they also raise hay and grain, and care for 12,000 chickens.

Ellendale:—"The Negro Church" That the Negro church possesses Extraordinary power, That it is the greatest medium For influencing our people, That it long has slept and faltered, Failed to meet its obligations, Are, to honest and true thinkers, Facts which have to be admitted.

For these reasons there are many Who would have the church awaken And adopt the modern methods Of all other institutions.

Make us more enlightened Christians, Teach us courtesy and English, Racial pride and sanitation, Science, thrift and Negro history.

Yea, the preacher, like the shepherd, Should be leader and protector, And prepare us for the present Just as well as for the future;

He should know more than scriptures, And should ever be acquainted With all vital, daily subjects Helpful to his congregation.

Give us manly, thinking preachers And not shouting money-makers, Men of intellect and vision, Who will really help our people; Men who make the church a guide-post.

To the road of racial progress, Who will strive to fit the Negro For this world as well as heaven.

Score on Fertilizer Supplies

Slightly more fertilizer will be available for agriculture in the coming year, but supplies may not meet the heavy demand, says Bill Tarbell, Kent County agricultural agent.

Since little additional land can be counted on for expanding farm production, increased production on our farms depends on using better methods and more fertilizers. Farmers should buy at least part of their needs early to keep distribution channels open, advises Tarbell.

Here is the supply outlook for the three major fertilizers: Nitrogen: Will be tight. Supplies available for agriculture are expected to be 7 per cent higher than last year. But agricultural demand will be greater than last year. Potash: Should be in good supply with 5 per cent more available than record supplies of last year. Phosphates: Expected to be tight, with about 6 per cent less available than last year. Problem is scarcity of sulfur and sulfuric acid needed to produce superphosphate.

"These shortages aren't as bad as they seem," says Tarbell. The main thing is to order and buy ahead to prevent clogging warehouse storage space, and to plan your fertilizer needs scientifically.

Spring Clean-up Program Suggested to Stop Broiler and Incubator Fires

Brooder and incubator fires are on the increase, warns the National Fire Protection Association.

The NFPA asks farmers to take advantage of the spring clean-up campaign to learn how to keep the number of brooder and incubator fires down. These precautions are recommended:

1. Fill the stove's fuel reservoir at regular hours and only in the daytime, not at night.
2. Trim wicks and clean burners daily.
3. Keep the incubator in a room where inspection of it will be convenient.
4. If the floor of the room is made of combustible material, material, cover it with metal, asbestos, or sand.
5. The ceiling should be protected by an inch of gypsum or cement on metal lath.
6. No debris such as old papers or excelsior should be allowed to accumulate in the brooder room.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture and state agricultural extension services co-operate with the NFPA in leading the annual spring clean-up farm drive.

Wet Weather Retards Farm Work

Wet weather has held up farm work considerably, said Elmer Betts, of near Felton, this week. Betts commented that the soft fields prevented, for the most part, the spreading of lime, fertilizer, and manure, and the seeding of oats.

He added that some oats had been planted on high ground only. Betts was in town to buy some Clinton seed oats.

Here's How Alvin Allen Won Kent Pasture Contest

Although Alvin Allen, of Camden, has been a dairy farmer only since January, 1951, he has already proved that a well-planned and managed pasture program can be developed in one year.

Recently, at the annual meeting of the Delaware Crop Improvement Association, he was declared Kent County champion of the Greener Pastures contest. He was awarded the silver jug trophy and a certificate of merit.

Prior to establishing himself in the dairy business, Alvin had spent hours planning, developing, and applying the recommendations of the extension service in providing a well balanced pasture program.

a productive permanent pasture, consisting of 14 acres of Ladino clover and orchard grass to support his cows as long as possible. Coupled with this, he made provisions to fill in during the summer season with six acres of Sudan grass.

Eleven acres of barley, planted early for fall and spring pastures, rounded out the complete pasture program.

Alvin was very generous with fertilizer, as he top-dressed all permanent pastures with a heavy application of 0-14-14 fertilizer in the spring.

These 31 acres sufficiently supported his 23 head of dairy cows. Clippings from the permanent pasture were baled for hay.

mals has reduced the stand. Nitrogen top-dressing is not advisable when: small grains yield better than limits given above; soil is moist and heavy; new hay or pasture seedings are more important than additional yields; land has been recently manured or in legume crops. The best time to apply nitrogen top-dressing is before spring growth starts, Bentz says. For fertilization rates, see your county agent and ask him for Agronomy Mimeo 62, "Nitrogen Top-dressing of Small Grains."

You're off in a Swirl of Power!

WE'RE willing to wager that not one person in a hundred knows what really goes on inside an automobile engine—so let's take this by easy stages.

The instant you nudge Buick's Fireball 8 Engine into action—a whole string of things starts to happen.

Eight sparks begin to crackle in well-timed sequence. Eight pistons start gliding up and down with rhythmic precision. Eight pairs of valves dance open and closed—to let fuel charges in, exhaust gases out of cylinder after cylinder.

All right, you say, what's so complex about that? Can't anyone build an engine that does this to perfection? Well, we'd better add, these things happen at the rate of more than 10,000 times per mile—and that's 100 times per second at 35 miles an hour!

So—it's important to know that Buick uses a deep-breathing valve-in-head design that shoots a fuel charge in—cleans exhaust gases out—in a hurry.

It's important to know that all the power released by the fuel concentrates its driving force right on the head of each Buick piston. (Everyone who has recently built "new" high-compression engines copied this "Buick first.")

But most important of all—Buick adds one more twist which others still haven't copied.

Every charge of fuel rushing into a Buick engine becomes a twisting, swirling, high-compressed ball that flashes with sudden, consuming completeness the instant the spark sets it afire.

And to add this all up: clean, complete combustion—10,000 times per mile—is the secret of getting more power—more miles—from each gallon of gasoline.

So we're not simply using picture words when we tell you that Buick—and only Buick—has a FIREBALL ENGINE—or that you're off in a swirl of power with one of these high-powered performers under the hood.

1952 has brought a lot of sparkling new improvements which you'll want to see and admire when you come to our showrooms.

But the thrill of thrills is still what you and a Buick—and a Fireball 8 Engine—can do out on the road. When do you want to try a sample?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

I missed my roll call last week as the message I wanted to pass on to you was either lost, strayed or stolen. Still I have in my mind a part of what I was going to tell you only a week later. You hear a lot about television prices being cut, but have you heard of the standard models being cut? Of course not as they will be in the business long after the get rich companies are out of business. So to my estimation you will have money in your pocket in the long run when buying a television that you will be proud to own. For instance, a Philco, Admiral or Westinghouse, are there any better?

We have in stock at this writing 15 different models to choose from and if we don't have just what you want, we will supply you with one until we do get it. Don't take a second choice. Yes, I believe I am talking to you as if you are going to purchase a television. I know if you don't have one especially if you have children, you have heard about it more than once.

I am still adding to that cob web of aerials and there is still room left for yours. I might say that I have added a collapsible aerial which uses about 55 feet when unfolded with the aerial.

If you are one who can install his own aerial then I have just what you want.

We carry all parts for aerial installations including Boosters, Tenna-Rotors, Arresters, lead wire, in fact all that is necessary to get good entertainment.

I would like to install one for you this week so after you get home from church, turn your television on and get the Colgate hour. But before you do, put on an old pair of corsets and tell your wife not to loan hers to you because when Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis come on the air they will hold your stomach where it belongs.

That is just one of the things you see and wait, don't take them off yet, as Red Skelton is due and believe me you the half hour he is before you is something. Why a television is worth all it costs and then some. How much would you give to have Eddie Cantor, Alan Young, Perry Como, Arthur Godfrey, Strike It Rich Program, Amos and Andy, and many, many more to visit you right in your own home? Well that is easily arranged and you don't even have to set out refreshments. How? Just call Wheeler's Television Center phone 541 and start to see those wonderful stars come in my home and sakes of life people, it is no more said than done. We have them in table models, console models, some open front, some with doors half way, some with doors all the way.

Walnut, mahogany and oh you blondes.

Combinations included. Of course we have some traded in models which we sacrifice at almost any price, in fact we have a combination with FM radio, which originally sold for $600. What are we asking? Well only $199.95 and you cannot tell it from new.

I could keep on talking about television a long long time but all I have to say is get one.

I guess you have all heard the spring frogs, well you know that they and house cleaning go together. Of course that means new wall paper to bring back to life that old dark and faded look.

It might have come from your oil heater, or from age, or from youngster's fingers who probably by now are grown and married, but whatever the cause you surely can get some good looking patterns at Wheelers. And if you are Scotch then it is also right in your line. Truly folks we have lots and lots of wall paper and want you to have part of it.

Those frogs are also saying hurry up, hurry up and get that new refrigerator. We are still allowing fifty dollars for your old one even if the front door is off. Why can we do it because we are overstocked and must turn them over into money. I don't mean you have to pay cash. No, far from it. Pay nothing, let your old refrigerator take care of the down payment and nothing to pay for about 6 weeks, then easy monthly payments. All I can say is stay away if you don't want to buy a brand new Philco or Westinghouse refrigerator.

Sure we sell gas and hook up any make stove or water heater whether we sell you the appliance or not.

We have several gas ranges and included in the lot are several brand new Orieles.

If you want electric ranges, go no further whether your feet hurt or not we have them.

Our young folks are all back in school as of this Monday I believe. Quite a number have been confined at home with this and that, i. e., mumps, chicken pox, virus, grippe and colds.

M. Meredith Frasher, employed at Aberdeen, Md., was a week-end visitor with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Frasher.

Our community was quite well represented at the senior class sponsored play, "Charlie's Aunt," given at Caesar Rodney Friday night. The rendition was very good; there was never a dull moment and everyone was much pleased with the entertainment.

William J. Cabbage, of Harrington, was a local visitor among relatives in this locality Saturday.

Rev. and Mrs. Walter Ott and family, excepting Miss Dorothy, of Dundalk, Md., were visitors at church Sunday morning and remained in the neighborhood for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Nichols entertained Rev. and Mrs. Walter Ott, of Dundalk, Md., and Rev. and Mrs. John J. Jones at Sunday dinner.

Milton Frasher and family were local visitors Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. True Frasher.

It was learned Saturday afternoon that Oswald Thomas has been on the sick list, quite serious, for some time. We wish him a speedy and complete recovery.

I regret very much to be obliged to report the very sudden death of Charlie Shulties that occurred shortly after 9 a. m. last Wednesday. He had been enjoying apparently good health for a man 83 years of age, but was found dead in a chair by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Anna Mae Kemp, when she visited him to learn how he was faring. Mr. Shulties moved into our neighborhood in 1904 or 1905, I'm not sure which year and was always well received and highly respected by all who knew him. Any community is proud to have people of such fine characters as he and his late wife in their midst and while we look upon their passing as their eternal reward we do feel a material loss has been suffered by our community. Such losses are most hard to replace and our deepest sympathies are extended to those who survive; daughters, Mrs. Edna Marion, of Bridgeville; Mrs. Russell Whitty, of Camden, and grandchildren, Dawson Shulties, Mrs. Roy Voshell and Jack Whitt.

Here is one for Ripley. Saturday evening Messrs Amos Hurd and Robert Semans went over to the farm formerly owned by Frank Meredith Sr. where fox hunters had located the badly decomposed body of a buck deer in a ditch. The above mentioned gentlemen recovered the antlers from the head—13 points all but one in perfect condition and it shows evidence of being worn by repeated contacts with trees or other objects that would remove rough edges of a slab.

People are getting started to plan their gardens and buy planting potatoes, onion sets, etc. Spring is just around the corner.

Watch this paper for a date for an antique tea given by the W. S. C. S. in the church. Chairman is to be Mrs. Bertha Rogers.

Mrs. Lina Flanagan and Mrs. Lulu Wilson had an opening of their restaurant Sunday. They had made the place most attractive and can and will attract folks with their delicious home cooking.

Mrs. Laura Webb is improving after an attack of la grippe.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Beebe are the happy parents of a fine baby girl born in the Milford Memorial Hospital this past week.

Mrs. Jason Reed is on the sick list. Her many friends join in wishing her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stafford were recent supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Torbert.

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Hignutt are the proud parents of a baby boy, born at Seaford Hospital Saturday night.

Several from our community attended the firemen's supper at Greenwood Friday and Saturday nights.

Mrs. Sadie Brown entertained Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Covey Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Reese Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Taylor.
