

Sulky Slants

By Mrs. Dave (Pat) Smith

See where Charles Coburn had $100 on the nose of his horse and it won. Was heard of Coburn to say, wasn't it a shame that's all I had.

Several of the stables will be leaving for Yonkers, Lymons, Monday; Charley Sutton, April 10; Jimmy Workman, April 12 taking three. The rest of his horses will race here, so Mickey says.

Puddles, Mickey's dog, now sound and able to race again.

Dave very pleased that Nibble's Son, the more he's trained, Mrs. Robinson, the better he gets. Such a clown along with it.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vineyard and guests having dinner out at the Wonder Bar.

When you have nothing else to do some evening, just stroll out to Helen's and see the beautiful new dining room. When she took me in to see it I wanted to sit right down in the center and be served so I could gaze out the picture windows.

Patsy, her pouch, dieting on chicken. Hazel, you spoil that creature.

Teen and Archie drove out to visit the track and what did they stop by to show me? Another Manchester pup they had taken in. Sippy isn't too happy about it all. Very pouty indeed. Archie says I'm going to call it Sunday as we found it on that day. When Teen and Archie found the puppy, he was about dead where other dogs had bitten him. Well, he's got a grand home now.

Mayor Rash, when are you going to take time out from city duties and visit our track? We might even get a hand-out here for you.

Book Harrington out watching the horses. Are you trying to pick a winner so early?

Louise Burgess out to the track. I've been all winter trying to get her to pay me a visit.

Best news to me so far this past winter is that Dave is going to breed our Anna Day out of Roxanna Hanover by Guy Day, out of Sandy Flash and crossed by Great Medium, to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bower's Donald Truax. We should have a pretty good colt. Come on Roustabout, you have a load on your shoulders taking care of your stablemate, Anna Day. I have no doubt he will do just that. If it was left to me, I'd say, Roustabout, can you beat the Greyhound. I hope to hear Roustabout, by Donald Truax, winning a big stake. Day dreaming again, that's me.

I guess everyone was to Jake's sale in Dover, for out to the track Tuesday it was very quiet. Everyone in the office very busy. You know four weeks isn't too far off. Mr. Holloway, we will be glad to get started, but, again, pulling camp is always a sad affair. Harrington is a good little town where friends away from home mean the world to you.

One place that will be missed among the horsemen is Downes Drug Store. Just another landmark gone into history.

Didn't think Virginia and Walter Paskey would really ever leave Harrington, but they are California bound. Some day Dave and I are going out there, not to stay, but for a long vacation. We have been everywhere but out West.

Do you know Dave sold film for R. K. O. out in Arkansas, and we remember so well the little town of Judsonia, Ark., built on a square. Such a quaint little town with loads of trees. The theatre manager was so nice inviting us out to his country home for dinner. No hotel there, but only four miles away they had a nice one. I'm only recalling these small towns as I remember them so well. Really sad when you think there is nothing left of them. Dave says when he is tired of racing again he is going back in the film business. That I will love as I like to travel and see what the other half of the world is doing.

Guess I'll get down to earth and go out and take care of Roustabout. Maybe some day I can take him to California. Who can tell?

I'd never live it down if he flops when he races here.

Emil, was Silver Nicky running away with you? He's such a cute pony.

Harry Stout out walking around and really looking good again. Bobby Hobbs along with Jimmy Creed on a trip to Virginia, for Earl Thomas. Earl will really be a busy man soon with so (See Sulky Slants back page)

Thomas Re-elected D. H. I. A. Head

The annual meeting of the Kent County Dairy Herd Improvement Association was held Wed., Mar. 19.

Fred Warren, from Switzerland, the supervisor of Circuit No. 2, gave an illustrated talk on his native country.

Delmar J. Young, extension dairyman, gave a report of the years work of the association. Both milk and butterfat production are up this year with a tops of 13,751 pounds of milk and 554 pounds of butterfat. There were 15 herds out of 33 that produced over 400 pounds of fat per cow during the year. Many of these high herds have a low cost of production and many of the owners are in the Greener Pastures Program being conducted in this county. This fact shows that economical milk production goes hand in hand with an adequate pasture program.

Isaac Thomas, of Marydel, was made president; G. Wallace Caulk, of Woodside, vice-president; Maurice Adams, of Harrington, was continued as secretary-treasurer.

Ellwood Gruwell, of Felton, and Francis Downs, of Kenton, were elected to the Board of Directors.

Farmers Bank to Modernize Building in Dover

Work on remodeling of the bank building in Dover for the Farmers Bank of the State of Delaware will commence within the next week or two, it was announced today by William K. Paton, president of the bank. It will result in practically rebuilding the present structure and increasing the size so that it will cover the entire property.

The roof of the present building will be razed and the building increased in height to make it two stories above ground. This will more than double the floor areas for banking facilities.

Plans call for an entirely new safe deposit department, including vault, to be created in the basement, thus leaving the entire first floor for banking purposes. There will be an adequate number of individual customer booths and a conference room for groups such as executors or corporation meetings.

The first floor will be practically one large open space, with twice as many cages as at present across the south side or back of the present banking floor. An addition on the west end of the building will provide an adequate officers' platform together with a conference room for private conversations with customers.

On the second floor, the plans call for a new board of directors meeting room and a president's office, both designed and to be furnished as colonial rooms. The new large board room can also be used for community group meetings. Portraits of all the former presidents of the institution will be placed in this room. Space on the second floor will also provide for an enlarged trust department, the investment department and all of the bookkeeping and general work of the bank. An attractive employees' lounge, with a small service pantry is also included.

The entire building will be air conditioned. Elevator service is to be provided to the safe deposit department in the basement and to the trust department and other services on the second floor. The banking space will be entered from the street by doors at either end of the building. The structure, when finished, will be faced with Rockwood limestone and granite. The seal of the bank will appear over each entrance. Over the four windows will be medallions symbolical of Delaware industry and agriculture, chemistry and poultry. Across the top of the building, the name of the bank will be inscribed together with the date of its establishment in 1807.

Turner Construction Company, of New York, Chicago, and Philadelphia, is the general contractor. Massena and DuPont of Wilmington, are the architects. It is expected that the work of rebuilding will take about 15 months. During this period, arrangements are being made to carry on banking operations in a temporary location on Lockerman Street across from the present banking structure.

Coal for Mills
With the steel industry operating in excess of 100 per cent capacity during part of April, the nation's mills were using more than two million tons of bituminous coal per week.

Governor Opens In-Gathering Campaign

Warmer Weather Favors Conditions at Track

With warmer weather and ideal track conditions, the winter training colony at the fairgrounds here is getting into excellent shape, with numerous prospects promising to make a name for themselves when the seventh annual spring harness meet of the Kent & Sussex Racing Association opens here May 1 for 20 nights of pari-mutuel racing under lights.

The stables of Jack Walters, Ellis Myer, Pat Hubbard, Johnnie Amato, Leslie Simpson, Emil Adams, Wallace Stokley, Johnny Mallalieu and Pal Peacock are but a very few from a field of star performers.

Walters has five head in his stable, including the well-known Sing-Song, a six-year-old pacer with a mark of 2:05.2 as a two-year-old. The Gay Song boy, another sidewheeler, set his mark of 2:07.2 in the fall meet here, last year as a three-year-old. The Royal Napoleon colt is owned by P. H. and W. E. Thompson, of Centreville, Md. The colt was in the money 12 times in 23 starts last year.

Pat Hubbard has a stable of 18, including Bluejacket and Hi-Lo's Forbes. The latter was quite a sensation here last year as a three-year-old. The Frisco Forbes black colt, owned by Earl M. and Wilma Wagner, Landover Hills, Md., made a mark of 2:06.4 on Aug. 28, last year, when he won a $2500 purse at Yonkers. The pacer cashed in $7665 last year in 33 starts, being in the money 20 times.

Johnnie Amato has 16 head in his stable, which includes some good colts. Ellis Myer has 20 head; Les Simpson has Mont, a 2:07 trotter, in the money nine times in 16 starts last year; the popular Strastorm and Attorney Cabbage Brown's Wilson Hanover; Emil Adams has 20 head, including horses owned by Earl Koons, Millersburg, Pa., and Claire Weaver, Harrisburg, Pa. Wallace Stokley, runner-up driver here last fall, has 20 head.

Johnny Mallalieu has eight head, with Pal Peacock, five. Both drivers are among the oldest drivers in the field today.

T. Brinton Holloway, general manager and secretary of the Kent & Sussex Racing Association, said this week that all service men, in uniform, would be admitted free to the spring meet.

Salisbury Redlegs to Stage Beauty Contest

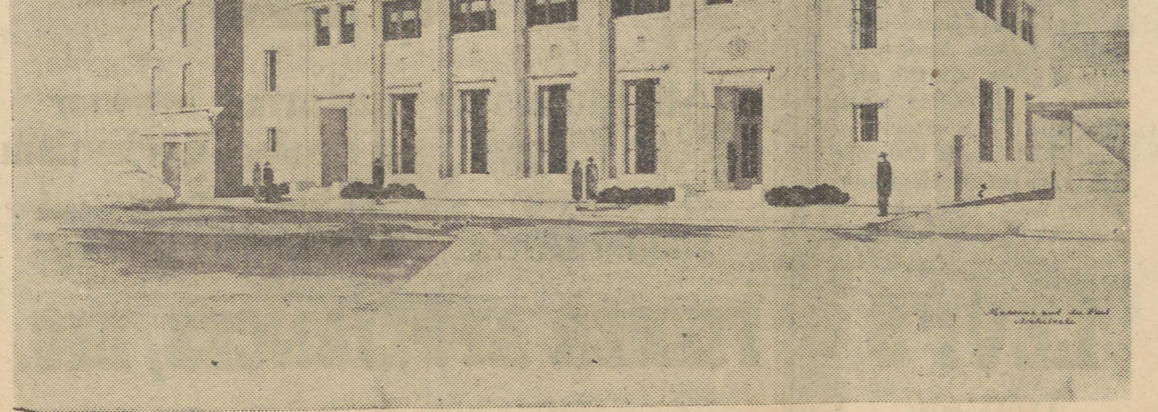

During the 1952 home season of the Salisbury Redlegs, a "Miss Baseball of the Eastern Shore" will be chosen, it was revealed this week. The queen will eventually be placed in competition with seven other beauties for the "Miss Interstate League" honors.

Winner of the Salisbury contest will receive $100 and a wardrobe, with clothes of her own choosing.

There will be three elimination rounds during the first week of May, June, and July. Each contestant requires sponsorship by a civic organization, service club, or business firm.

Each candidate must be 16 years of age or over by Aug. 15, 1952. All entry blanks must be signed by parents or guardian. Previous beauty contest winners on the Eastern Shore are not eligible. Only residents of the Delmarva area will be acceptable. Entry blanks will be ready for distribution April 12. They will be placed in business houses in eight counties.

The project is supervised by John A. Vickers, chairman of the Salisbury Baseball Club's board of directors.

FARMERS BANK AFTER REMODELING

Dover YMCA Basketball Tournament

Rocco's and the New Castle Airbase Minutemen overcome strong obstacles in the fifth annual Dover YMCA Invitational Basketball Tournament semi-finals last Saturday night to advance to the finals which will be played this Saturday evening.

The championship clash this week brings together two quintets that feature the same style of play, a fast break as well as deadly shooting from the outside. Rocco's fast breaking had a telling effect in eliminating Delaware Steel in overtime 85-79, while the Minutemen broke fast in the opening quarter to pile up a lead that held to the finish as they tripped Harrington Legionnaires, 67-61.

Both of the finalists have caught the fancy of the large turnouts that are witnessing the tournament nightly and this Saturday night they are looking for one of the hardest fought games of the event. Rocco's have three cagers, Leo Marshall, Earl Burns and Gene Schaen, that can hit consistently in double brackets with Tom Yetter also a possibility. The Minutemen are not to be overshadowed in this department with such cagers in their array as Jack Spicer, Spike Barouth, Andy Cranford, and Walt Hatz. The set shot work of Jack Spicer has been a standout in their three appearances in the tourney.

The consolation game at 8 p. m. will have lots of class as the Delaware Steel five tangles with Bill Minner's Harrington five, who hope to be at full strength with Jack Dill back in the line-up. Snowden, Martin, Griffith, Shalley, Dill, Roberts and Cal Prentice can prove rough going for the Steelers who are flanked by such topnotchers as Jimmy Joyce, Boots Reed, Ace Hoffstein, Fran Sullivan and Danny Katz.

Saturday night's attractions will give the down-state cagers their last chance of seeing such star-studded arrays in action this season. Following the championship game trophies will be awarded to the various winners. Awards will be made to the winner, runner-up and consolation game victor. Individual awards will go to the winning and runner-up coach, as well as the tournament high scorer and individual game high scorer. In addition to the awards each of the four semi-finalists receive 10 per cent of the gross gate for travel expenses.

President Bob Reed will represent the Dover "Y" at the final festivities while Al Cartwright, Journal-Every Evening sports editor, and George Frick, WDEL-TV sportscaster of the Sporting Scene, a nightly program at 6:45 to 7 p. m. The latter will make the trophy awards.

Harrington Auxiliary Entertains Officers

State officers of the American Legion Auxiliary of the Department of Delaware were guests at the regular monthly meeting of the Harrington unit Tuesday evening, March 18. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Mary Tucker.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Marian Moore, who talked on "Youth Activities," in connection with the month's topic of Community Service. Mrs. Moore is director of the Harrington Youth Center.

Announcements were made of the following important dates to be marked on auxiliary members calendars. They are: April 19—Child Welfare Conference and Luncheon to be held in Smyrna; June 23 to 27—Girl's State to be held in Dover; May 8—Annual visit of National Auxiliary president, Mrs. I. Campbell, in Dover, and June 18 and 19—state convention.

State officers who were present for the evening and who spoke to the group were: Mrs. Ida J. Malarkey, state president; Mrs. John Longbotham, vice-president, fourth county; Mrs. Mary Burton, fourth vice-president; Mrs. J. Harvey Dickey, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Elwood Short, Americanism chairman; Mrs. W. Francis Lindell, chaplain; Mrs. Paul D. Lovett, national committeewoman, and Mrs. Baker, Pan-American studies.

The nominating committee appointed for the next meeting is Mrs. Mary Tucker, Mrs. Charlotte Beauchamp, Mrs. Harriett O'Neal and Mrs. Kate Peck.

The unit voted to remodel the kitchen in connection with the remodeling work that the Legion will do in the home.

A check of $50 was presented to Mrs. Moore for the work at the Youth Center.

County Firemen Interested In Accepting Radio Outfit From Civil Defense Dept.

In Monthly Meeting Here, Group Named To Check Details—Companies Plan to Zone Area of Operations on Fire Calls

Chosen Friends Lodge No. 35

I. O. O. F.

Thursday evening was an election of officers meeting. Installation will take place Thursday evening, April 10, instead of the dates given last week.

The rummage sale scheduled for today and tomorrow, will be postponed and the date announced later. The group will collect old newspapers and magazines the first Wednesday in each month with the first collection slated April 2. Monies will go toward the building project in the future. It is asked that they be tied in bundles to facilitate handling. In case of rain, they will be called for the following Wednesday.

Meetings have been very well attended and it is hoped all members will attend future meetings.

The Kent County Volunteer Firemen's Association, at its monthly dinner meeting in the Fire House here Wednesday evening, March 19, showed a willingness to go along with the Kent County Chiefs Association in accepting radio equipment from the State of Delaware Department of Civil Defense to be used in civil defense.

Before signing a certificate of acceptance, however, the firemen agreed that installation should be withheld until the other county fire companies had agreed on the project. The members also suggested that the certificate be amended to allow for this provision.

On the suggestion of Ralph Boyer, chief of the Robbins Hose Company, of Dover, H. A. Helms, president of the firemen's association and Civil Defense director for Kent County, appointed a radio committee, to work with the chiefs association, with the following members: George Cahall, Sheswold; Charles Jester, Camden; Judge Marion Stevenson, Frederica; Newlin Wood, Hartly, and W. C. Paradee, Magnolia.

Backed by federal-state allotments, the state Civil Defense Department, it was said at the meeting, would like to provide equipment for a state-wide fire communication network composed of the following:

a. A base, or net control station, for each county, and a mobile radio transmitter and receiver for one truck in each fire company in the county.

Before receiving equipment, the fire companies must agree to the following:

a. Equipment remains the property of the State of Delaware.

b. 75 per cent of fire companies in the county must take part in the program.

c. That persons delegated to use equipment shall be trained and licensed by the State Department of Civil Defense.

d. Equipment shall be made available for inspection by the Civil Defense Department upon prior notice.

One of the original conditions for the granting of radio equipment required the fire companies to pay for installation and maintenance. However, Gov. Carvel on Thurs., March 20, directed the State Department of Civil Defense to undertake the general maintenance of radio equipment for the proposed state fire communication network.

The meeting opened with an invocation by J. C. Messner, superintendent of Harrington schools, followed by an address of welcome by Mayor E. B. Rash.

The dinner was served by the auxiliary of the local fire department.

During the busy evening, the February report of Grover Lord, county fire recorder, was read.

President Helms asked members to attend a memorial service for members in Dover at 2 p. m., Sun., May 4, and added that the services would be held in Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church if the weather were stormy.

In reporting on a zoning program, to define the territories to be covered by companies in fire calls, it was pointed out that the program was well under way and that Newlin Wood, of Hartly, had been appointed to make the maps.

Among the persons introduced at the meeting were State Fire Recorder Granville White, of Seaford; Elbert C. Bailey, treasurer of the state firemen's organization, of Laurel, and Winfield Person, who is spending three weeks inspecting the fire protection set-up at the Seaford DuPont plant.

The next meeting of the county association will be held at 7:30 p. m., Wed., April 16, at Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis spent the weekend in Philadelphia with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williams spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Bunting, of Berlin, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvel, of Frederica, spent Thursday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Richardson.

Mrs. Reba Smith has been ill with the virus.

Magazine Article Shows Circular From Shadowlawn

The March issue of Locker Management, of St. Louis, the official publication for the frozen food locker industry, contained a two-page spread in which was reprinted an advertising circular put out several months ago by the Shadowlawn Frozen Food Lockers of Denton, telling of the services and benefits to be derived from using this locker plant. The circular was headed "Live the Locker Way—Eat Better For Less."

Tuesday morning the home-class of Caroline High School visited the Shadowlawn Frozen Food Lockers at Denton. The class is studying meats at the present time and Mr. Rue cut a hind quarter of beef and told of the various cuts to be obtained. He also showed other wholesale cuts of beef and told what could be obtained from them.

Hoof Beats

Duke of Lullwater, winter book favorite for the $90,000 Hambletonian Stake and the harness racing sport's biggest money-winning 2-year-old, will race for approximately $300,000 in purse money in 1952. The Duke's stake schedule was forwarded to The United States Trotting Association this week by owner Walter T. Candler, of Decatur, Ga.

The trotting son of Volomite-Duchess Hanover will open his 1952 campaign June 18th at Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, L. I., and present plans call for him to race through Oct. 2 at Lexington, Ky., where he will wind up the season in the $70,000 Kentucky Futurity.

In his freshman form last year, the Duke won 14 of his 16 starts and notched two seconds while banking $59,270. His only defeat was a two-heat setback suffered at the hands of Hit Song at Good Time Park, Goshen, N. Y., in August. After that he reeled off ten victories in a row and will be working to extend that skein in 1952.

The brown trotter first takes the word in the $10,000 Old Westbury at Roosevelt and then goes to Goshen, N. Y., for the $10,000 Historic-Dickerson July 2. He races in traditional Grand Circuit features at Saratoga, N. Y., July 7 and 14 and then takes a three-week layoff while trainer Johnny Simpson primes him for The Hambletonian to be raced at Goshen's Good Time Park August 6.

After that the Candler colt joins the Grand Circuit caravan with major stake stops scheduled for Springfield and Du Quoin, Ill., Sedalia, Mo., Indianapolis, Reading, Pa., Delaware, O., and Lexington.

An unlikely sweep of all major 3-year-old stakes would shoot the Duke's bankroll up around the $200,000 mark, a good $75,000 more than any harness horse has earned in his first two seasons at the races.

Three California harness horses were recently exported to Japan, the first to go to that country since 1931. Ben Torgeson, San Diego, sold the standardbreds B. J. Miss Highway and Torpedo to Shrimpie Shirai, of Tokyo, Japanese sportsman.

Hambletonian impresario Bill Cane's yearling filly by Hal Dale-On Time has been named Next Time in keeping with the names given earlier foals of the same mating. The first was the sport's leading money-winning pacer, Good Time. After him came the fillies Our Time, My Time and Your Time.

One of the best harness racing youngsters in training at Del Mar, Calif., is B. Star by Star Etawah, who cost owner Neal Boardman $1.03. Owner Sol Camp offered to give the colt to trainer Boardman who expressed a liking for him but the latter insisted that the transaction be legalized and forked over a dollar plus three cents sales tax.

When Pronto Don was accorded Harness Horse of the Year honors in 1951 he became the first gelding to gain the title. Previous winners had been either stallions or mares.

The Little Brown Jug, world's richest race for pacers, is only seven years old. It was instituted by two Delaware, O., horsemen, Joe Nevills and Hank Thompson, who never dreamed the purse would hit $68,000 as it did in 1951.

Greyhound, world champion trotter, observes his 20th birthday this year. The gelding is living in retirement on the estate of his owner, Col. E. J. Baker, St. Charles, Ill. Greyhound's sire, Guy Abbey, is still living in Kentucky at 27.

CHARLES "DOC" BAKER, JOURNAL PRINTER, AND CLYDE BELL TO START NEWSPAPER

Charles "Doc" Baker, who has been a mainstay in the printing department of The Harrington Journal since December, 1949, and Clyde Bell, both of Denton, will start a weekly newspaper in Denton in the near future.

"Doc" began his career as a printer with the Denton Journal in 1924. Since that time he has also worked on other weeklies on the Peninsula. In recent years, he and Mr. Bell have also operated a commercial printing establishment at Denton.

We shall miss Mr. Baker. He was an all-around printer and pressman and was especially fast on work on the newspaper. Recently, he and Mr. Bell purchased a newspaper plant at Chatham, Va., to move to Denton.

The departure of Mr. Baker brings up a situation that is, to us, distressing: we are obliged to obtain our mechanical help from out of town. Apparently, no one wants to learn the trade around here, or, if they do, they expect a substantial salary while learning. In the meanwhile, they take up the time of their trainer. One recourse we have used is that of employing GI trainees who have attended a printing or linotype school. When these boys come to us, they have had, at least, some training. We have tried out two of these boys, both from Philadelphia, and both have been very good.

There are several openings for printers on the Peninsula right now. There is always a good opening for a good printer.

Twenty Years Ago

Helen Griffith, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Griffith, of Andrewville, is in the Lewes Hospital suffering with pneumonia.

It looks now as if March would go out like a lion, though the winter has been very mild. Flowers have been blooming in some of the yards since the first of the year.

Fire destroyed a barn on the farm of James Kates, near Masten's Corner, Saturday. Most of the stock was saved, but the barn was a total loss.

W. A. Wheeler has been selected as an authorized dealer for the Maytag washers in this territory.

Willard West has accepted a position with the American Stores in Philadelphia.

William Wechtenhiser Jr. and Nelson Grant are visiting the former's grandmother, near Johnstown, Pa.

Paul Money, who formerly lived here, died this week at his home in Washington, D. C. He was the son of Dr. Money, who at one time practiced medicine here.

Miss Helen Keyes Wright and Orville Ross Wright Jr., students at the George School, Newton, Pa., are spending their Easter vacations with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville R. Wright, near town.

Dr. Alexander Cairns will deliver the commencement address of the Harrington High School Friday evening, June 3.

Mrs. Nora Briggs, nee Hubbard, who was reared in Harrington, died this week at her home in Ohio. Interment was made at Hollywood Cemetery, here.

V. Lay Phillips, optometrist of Smyrna, is preparing to open an office in the room occupied by S. M. Williams' jewelry store.

Mrs. Elizabeth Morris, a former resident of this section, died this week in Wilmington. She was 87 years old.

Harvey Legates has received an offer of a try-out with the Allentown baseball team of the Eastern League.

Mrs. H. C. Glanville, of Felton, was recently taken to the Milford Emergency Hospital, suffering from inflammation of a tear duct.

PATCHES OF SNOW

Patches of snow in woodland and field
I saw from my chair on the train;
Symbols that winter was soon to yield
To Spring, on her way back again.

Patches of snow on pavement and lawn
I saw as I walked down the street;
Signs that winter was not yet gone,
But was just in the line of retreat.

Patches of snow all did their part,
To show how the swift seasons roll;
Spring still brings a thrill to the heart
When the years have taken their toll.

-J. Harry Wright

SPRING BEAUTIES

By Samuel A. Short, Jr.

With the grasses in the meadows turning green,
Spring is just around the corner.

With the song of the robin on its wing,
We see daffodils blooming today.

The trees in the orchards with budding have begun,
Whispers to each other as light breezes blow.

While the spider in his new web just spun,
Gives assurance we're free from the winter snow.

The violets of blue down the garden path,
With lilacs on the bush growing so tall.

Its a garden of beauty that's overcome winter's wrath,
With contentment of spring yes for all.

What more for happiness can this ever bring,
With its truth and gleam of the rising sun.

While tulips will bloom with these beauties of spring,
For 'tis wealth of God for all you've won.

Burrsville

(Last Week)
Mr. and Mrs. Omar J. Mitchell and mother, Mrs. Myrtle E. Mitchell, of Chester, Pa., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Roland T. Draper Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Roland T. Draper Jr. and daughter, Charlotte Ann.

Inside The Bookmobile

by a Bookworm

I was the first person in the bookmobile Tuesday afternoon, but I wasn't in more than a minute before there were several people inside. The librarian told me she was very pleased with the reception Harrington was giving the bookmobile.

I know one book-lover, Mrs. "Doc" Riley. She brought back four books and said, "I could read a dozen in the two week period."

Mrs. Hammond, of the State Library Commission, has asked that we write the State Library Commission, at Dover, if the library doesn't have the book we want to read. That way they will obtain the book for the library.

While looking over the shelves I saw two books by Winston Churchill, "Closing the Ring" and "The Grand Alliance." I also noticed several "How to" books—"How to Sew," "It's Fun to Cook," "Boys Book of Photography," vegetable planting and "Make It Yourself." There was also a good selection of mysteries and westerns and biographies.

I read "A Few Buttons Missing," by Fisher and Hawley. This is an autobiography of Dr. James T. Fisher, and is the case book of a psychiatrist. I found it enjoyable, easy reading, and educational too. Dr. Fisher is an amazing personality. At the age of 82 he went to Lima, Peru, to attend a medical convention, and at the age of 87, is still planning further adventures.

I also enjoyed reading, "King's Story," by the Duke of Windsor. I believe, in this case, the title tells the story. I had read the abbreviated story in "Life," but this did not spoil the book.

I have selected to read, "His Eye is on the Sparrow," by Ethel Waters, an autobiography of a Negro woman who has made a place for herself in the entertainment world, Lowell Thomas' "Back to Mandalay," and "Yankee Lawyer," the autobiography of Ephraim Tutt.

There are also many that are always good reading: "Cry, the Beloved Country," by Alan Paton; "East Wind: West Wind," by Pearl Buck; "Kon-Tiki," by Heyerdahl; "Pride and Prejudice," by Jane Austen, and many, many more.

Remember, Tuesday afternoon, April 8, is the next bookmobile date here.

Trinity Methodist Church Notes

One more thought regarding the change in our thinking of those who do and those who do not go to church. In other days a person tried to excuse himself for not attending the church with the statement "there are too many hypocrites inside the church." Now, we have discovered it is the person who DOES NOT go to church who might be the hypocrite. Invariably, such a one by his absence is not only blurring his self-sufficiency, but is saying I do not need your God, your Christ, your church. This person, by not availing himself of the spiritual healing provided by the Christian Church, is parading to be something he is not. The wise person is the one who knows he is spiritually sick, and is doing something about it.

9:45 A. M. Sunday School. 11 A. M. Morning Worship. The Senior Choir will sing, Mary Ann Barlow is the soloist; and the pastor will preach on "The Living Water," using Isaiah 55: 1.

6:30 P. M. Youth Meeting. Mary Ann Barlow is the leader. 7:30 P. M. Evening Worship. The pastor continues with the fourth discussion on the requested theme "Churches For Our Country's Needs." The soloist will be Adrianna Potter.

Monday Evening: The regular monthly meeting of the Official Board.

Thursday Evening: Rehearsal of choirs.

Next Week: Union Holy Week services.

Ellendale

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellingsworth purchased a trailer home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Willey were visitors in Bridgeville and Greenwood vicinity Sunday afternoon.

A telegram was received last week by Mrs. Beryl Ellingsworth informing her that her son, Carroll Elzey, of the U. S. Army, had been wounded in action.

Mrs. Mary Wilson entertained Class No. 2 of the Ellendale Methodist Church Monday evening.

The Official Board of the Ellendale Church has voted to repair the church windows, the cost will be about $450. Contributions are to be given to Mrs. Davis Draper.

Mrs. Grace Smith entertained the Ellendale W. S. C. S. at her home Thursday evening.

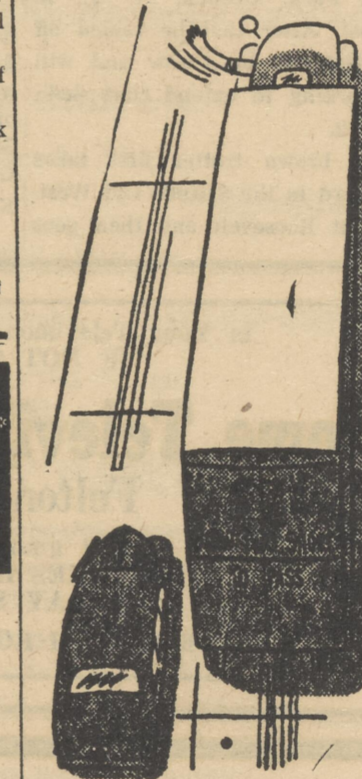

Mrs. Gwen Lynch Wootten, of near town, visited Miss Jeanette Willey Saturday afternoon. Franklin Rifenburg, of Norfolk, Va., was a Saturday evening visitor.

Sgt. and Mrs. William Holloway, of Lewes, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Ellingsworth.

The Ellendale firemen were called to a fire near Redden Monday.

Poultry Group Forms Here, With Greenly As Head

At an organizational meeting Thursday night, March 20, at the Wonder Bar, Fred Greenly was elected president of the Harrington local of the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association. Tom Peck was elected vice-president, with Guy Winebrenner, secretary-treasurer.

There were also ten other charter members, as follows: James Tatman, Reynolds Robins, Howard Williamson, George Vapaa, Charles Peck Jr., Fred Martin, Arthur H. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Swann, and Louis Kielbasa.

Dr. Wells, a poultry pathologist from Georgetown substitution, addressed the meeting on chronic respiratory diseases, while Hall Ewing, of Rehoboth, spoke on broiler turkeys.

Mr. Winebrenner said that poultrymen desiring to join the newly formed association should contact any member of the group.

New Hog Disease Found in State

The 75 farmers attending the Swine Management Field Day at the University of Maryland, March 8, heard of a new swine disease in Maryland—atrophy rhinitis. Dr. Jacob C. Siegrist, of the livestock sanitary service, described the disease, which was first reported two weeks ago.

Atrophy rhinitis has been known to exist in several mid-western states, but has been reported on only one Maryland farm. The livestock sanitary service is working with the farmer to help stamp out the disease on his place and prevent a spread to other swine herds.

The disease is infectious, causes unthriftiness, and is sometimes fatal. The germs attack the soft bones of the nose, and cause atrophy, or eating away of these bones. This results in the nose bending to one side, or turning upward. Violent sneezing is common among infected pigs.

There is no remedy known, Dr. Siegrist reported, and isolation and disposing of infected animals is the only method of control.

Feeding Experiment
Partial results of a swine feeding trial were disclosed by Malcolm H. Kerr, university swine specialist. The experiment is testing the effect of feeding aureomycin supplements in the swine growing ration.

Forty three-month-old pigs were evenly divided and half were fed a ration supplemented with aureomycin. After two months on feed, each of the pigs fed the antibiotic had gained an average of eight more pounds than the others. Feed conversion was better with the pigs fed aureomycin. Those fed the antibiotic used 410.8 pounds of feed for 100 pounds of gain. The others ate 464.9 pounds of feed per 100 pounds gained.

Both groups of pigs will be fed out to market weight, Kerr said. When the experiment is completed a detailed report will be available.

DPIA Honors Youngsters Who Know Poultry

Six outstanding 4-H and FFA poultry project winners were honored by the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association at their annual banquet today (Thurs., Mar. 27).

Delores Lloyd, Newark, is the state 4-H award winner. Harry Davis, Wilmington, received the state FFA poultry award. Other county winners were: For FFA—Kent County, Louis Palmatory, Felton; Sussex County, William Lord, Greenwood. For 4-H—Kent County, Thomas Golder, Dover; Sussex County, Russell Layton, Laurel.

Delores, a two year 4-H Club member of the Korner Ketch Club, has carried both meat production and flock management projects.

During both years Delores raised two lots of 50 chicks, and carried the pullets through the winter as flock management projects. She developed her own egg route and solicited customers for her cockerels. In 1950 Delores placed second in the state poultry and egg judging contest, and in 1951 was the first in the New Castle County scores at the Kent & Sussex Fair poultry judging contest and participated in the Junior Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest and their poultry meat judging contest. Delores' demonstration on control of lice and mites won first place at last year's county 4-H achievement fair. Delores, with her father, George Lloyd, is planning to build a larger poultry house this year so that her project may be enlarged.

Harry Davis is a member of the DuPont FFA Chapter. His principle FFA projects has been broilers, which he raises and sells, retail. All of his birds are sold ready for the pan. He dresses, draws them, cuts them up, and freezes them. His poultry projects are completely self-owned. He entered the 1951 Junior Chicken-of-Tomorrow Contest with White Cornish-White Rock crosses. His poultry project record books were judged best for New Castle County in the FFA Project Record Book Contest. For his third and fourth years in agriculture, Harry intends to enlarge his poultry projects to at least 600 broilers and build additional poultry houses.

Our chicks are also carefully culled and sired by best types, offering you finest quality. Order early. Be ready for quick spring chicken turnover or egg sales in early fall.

New Sweet Corn Recommended By Horticulturists

If you plant sweet corn on April 15, you can have corn on the cob by July 4.

Sweet corn variety tests at the University of Delaware Agricultural Experimental Station in 1951 found that two new yellow hybrids are earlier than any tested so far. They are Gold Mine and Sun-Up. Their ears are small, but still good size for the extra-early varieties. E. M. Rahn, associate professor, recommends Gold Mine and Sun-Up for home and small scale market garden plantings in 1952.

Varieties that follow these early types by about five days are: North Star, Seneca Dawn, and Golden Rocket. They are more vigorous and produce larger ears. Carmelcross, Gold Rush, and Golden Jewel mature about five days later. Then come two good new varieties: Hoosier Gold and Pilgrim.

Good late varieties are Golden Cross Bantam, Seneca Chief, Tendermost, Illinoise Golden No. 21, and Golden Bounty. Good late varieties with less quality but greater vigor are: Iochief, Ioana, Aristogold Bantam Evergreen, Goldenrain, Erie, Golden Security, Victory Golden, and Flagship.

A summary of the variety tests conducted at the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station will be available from county agricultural agents soon. Tomatoes, potatoes, snapbeans, sweet corn, cantaloupes, cucumbers, and watermelons are included in the report.

12 Belted Sows Farrow 95 Pigs

Twelve grade Hampshire sows, bred to a purebred boar, farrowed 95 pigs this spring on San Domingo Farm, St. Michaels, Md. Three more sows have still to farrow.

The farm is managed by Louis Duncan and owned by Frank Johnston, New York advertising man.

Mr. Johnston said Saturday he had purchased a purebred Berkshire pure pig from Peter Thompson's Dorsey Farm, near Easton, and that, when mature, he planned to use the boar on 15 gilts from this spring's crop. This herd will be sent to another Johnston farm.

The New Yorker has two combinations for permanent pasture and is studying a third. One set-up calls for timothy, orchard grass, bluegrass, red clover, and Ladino, while the formula of the other is bluegrass, timothy, alsike, and Ladino.

Beef Field Day at U. of Md., April 5

One of the things farmers will see when attending the beef cattle feeders' and breeders' field days at the University of Maryland, April 5, will be a demonstration of beef herd classification.

Buildings and equipment for beef; the beef cattle situation and outlook; a research report; the place of forages in the beef feeding program; and a report on beef pasture experimental work with suggestions for pasture improvement will be other topics covered at the field day.

According to M. E. Gannon, extension livestock specialist who will put on the type classification demonstration, there are already over 1000 beef animals in the state which have been classified. The advantages of classification, Gannon says, are:

1. It gives the herd owner a permanent record of body conformation of the animals in the herd.
2. It shows the owner the owner the opinion of qualified livestock judges.
3. It gives the beef breeder a guide for culling the herd, and planning the breeding program.
4. It gives the beef breeder a means of proving the dam or the sire's ability to transmit type.
5. Using animals from the university's beef herd for the demonstration, the extension specialist will place and score them for type. Calves of the females, all sired by the same bull, will be brought in for a two-generation comparison, to show the relative influence of the dam and the sire.

45 Angus Average $1004 At Spring Quality Sale

Forty-five Angus averaged $1004 at the annual Maryland Spring Quality Sale at Frederick, Fri., March 14.

Four bulls averaged $1406, with S. E. Lankford & Sons, of Pocomoke City, Md., paying a top of $2000 for a Wilmae Farms product. A. L. and C. M. Cochran, of Middletown, purchased a bull for $875 from Linden Manor, Cecilton, Md. Fair Promise Farm of Betterton, Md., sold one for $1250 to Brookside Farms, White-marsh, Pa.

Forty-one females averaged $964, with a top of $2500 for a purchase by Joe E. Sherman, of Hawthorne, from Alan McGregor & Son, of Worton, Md. The grand champion female was sold at the same price to Elk Hill Farm, Forest, Va., by Cold Saturday Farm, Finkburg, Md.

Females, bought or sold by cattlemen on the peninsula, also included: $500 by Bryan's Manor Farm, Salisbury, to Paul Myers, Spring Grove, Pa.; $550 by Bryan's Manor Farm, to Harry Dukes Jr., Millville; $450 by Canton Farm, St. Michaels, Md., to Mt. Pleasant, Gaithersburg, Md.; $575 by Canton Farm to Brookside Farms, Whitmarsh, Pa.; $1000 by Fair Promise to Brookside Farm; $775 by Glenangus Farm to Bryan's Manor; $1000 by Good Luck Farm, Westminster, Md., to Swan Point, Rock Hall; $550 by Linden Manor to Underhill Farm, Shadwell, Va.; $600 by Linden Manor to Grabbill Farms, Owings Mill, Md.; $750 by Linden Manor to Stockton Farm, Phoenix, Md.; $500 by Linden Manor to Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Harvey, Earleyville, Va.; $600 by Linden Manor to Stockton Farm, Phoenix, Md.; $800 by Medford Farm to Swan Point, Rock Hall; two head at $750 each by Monocacy Farms, Frederick; to Collie Cove Farm, Worton, Md.; $1025 by Wilmae Farm to Harry Dukes, Millville, Del.

Poultrymen Can Lower Feed Costs With Pastures

Poultrymen will have less cause for concern over the "squeeze" between egg and chicken prices on one hand and feed prices on the other in 1952 if they make good use of poultry pastures. This is the advice of Wade Rice, University of Maryland extension poultry specialist.

A good pasture for young chickens over 12 weeks of age may well supply 12 per cent of the protein, and 100 per cent of the vitamin A and D and riboflavin requirements for good growth. Rice says this means that more straight grain and less mash can be fed to birds on good pasture, resulting in substantial savings in feed costs.

Layers Benefit

Breeding hens can be moved to pasture in April and similar savings in feed costs made if range laying shelters and equipment are available. Such flocks may remain on pasture until September if not sold before then. Laying flocks on such a range will produce eggs with deeply colored yolks. This may reduce prices received for their eggs, but Rice feels the feed saved by ladino clover pasture may more than offset this penalty. Rice gives these directions:

Seeding Directions

"Spring seedings of ladino clover may be made in fall soon small grain between March 15 and April 15 in Maryland. Use 1 to 2 pounds ladino and 2 to 3 pounds alsike clover per acre. If preferred, a straight ladino seeding may be made for chickens. On many soils a mixture will provide a more dependable pasture in which event, one to two pounds ladino clover, two to three pounds alsike clover, and seven to nine pounds smooth brome grass per acre is advised. Three hundred chickens per acre is a fair ratio for good pasture.

Canton Farm Has Lend-Lease On Beef Cattle

Canton Farm, of St. Michaels, Md., has inaugurated a novel lend-lease arrangement on eight cows from its registered herd of Angus.

Owner Frank S. Bache has sent the animals to Erik Nelson's Porter's Pride Farm on the following basis:

The cows are to remain on the farm at least three years, with upkeep furnished by Nelson. Bache is to get half of the calf crop and is to get his choice of animals. Nelson hopes to get some heifer calves with which to start a herd.

Fall Freshening Cows Give More Milk

Cows that freshen in late fall and early winter produce from 500 to 1200 pounds more milk annually than cows calving at other times. They also give a greater income over feed costs because their milk output is least affected by hot weather.

But the problem, says Bill Tarbell, Kent County agricultural agent, is how to do it.

The extension service recommends a planned program of feeding and management. For example—heifers dropped in winter can be bred when 12 to 13 months old to bring them into the herd as fall fresheners, if they are fed well and well-housed.

Calves dropped during March, April and May can be fed sparingly on concentrates so that they do not get too fat, and bred at 18 to 20 months of age. Since about one heifer should enter the herd each year for each five cows in milk, this plan offers a way to maintain a yearly milk flow with the least seasonal variation.

Tarbell advises delaying re-breeding two or three months after the cow has freshened. This prevents the drop in milk production which often occurs after breeding. Since older cows bred in the winter are often hard to settle, a special effort should be made to breed heifers, too, to offset any milk production loss from the older cows.

Another good management point is to give heifers which are bred to freshen before they are two years old a dry period of two months before they are bred back.

Mileage
More than 17,000 miles of cotton cloth are turned off the looms daily by your county agent and is essential to good results.

"Fall sown pastures can usually be grazed by poultry beginning in mid to late April, while spring sown pastures should not be grazed until late June or after the clover becomes established.

"Rotational grazing by regular moving of range shelters and feeders for young chickens and turkeys is the best way to encourage grazing as well as prevent killing the stand of plants, thus utilizing the forage supplied by the pasture to best advantage. This practice also promotes sanitation and spreads manure over the field, thereby saving cleaning.

"Good pastures offer possibilities of lowering costs which many poultrymen have not yet touched."

Dormant Sprays Should Be Applied Now

It's time to spray trees to control peach leaf curl, scale insects, certain aphids and mites. That's the advice of the extension entomologist and plant pathologist at the University of Maryland.

Now, while trees are still dormant, spray materials can be used that would be harmful if used later, when trees are growing.

Leaf curl was a serious problem in 1951. Dr. L. O. Weaver, extension plant pathologist, says it is likely to do much damage in 1952 unless peach growers spray now to control it. A single spray, carefully applied, will control leaf curl. The spray should be applied to the dormant tree before growth starts in the buds.

A thorough application is needed for control, and good coverage of the wood and buds is necessary. Commercial growers should use lime-sulfur 5-100 or bordeaux 6-6-100.

For home orchards with only a few trees, the plant pathologist suggests using 5 pints liquid lime-sulfur in 5 gallons of spray. Should dry lime-sulfur be used 2 1/2 pounds in 5 gallons in required.

Scale Insects

Some peach trees are also infested with terrapin scale. This insect is about one-fourth as large as a pencil rubber and brown like the bark. In the summer the terrapin scale grows larger and produces sticky honeydew which stains the fruit and leaves. If you have terrapin scale, T. L. Bissell, the extension entomologist, says to use a combination of copper sulfate, 2 pounds; hydrated lime, 3 pounds; and superior oil emulsion, 3 gallons to each 100 gallons of spray. This will control both scale and leaf curl.

Apple trees should be sprayed now with dinitro to kill the aphid eggs on the twigs. Spray flowering cherry trees with liquid lime-sulfur (12 gals. per 100 gals.) to control scale. Eucyonium shrub should be sprayed with 3 per cent oil emulsion to control scale.

Montana's Wealth

Copper, gold, silver and natural gas are Montana's minerals.

Grass Silage High In Vitamin A, Helps Shy Breeders

"Shy breeding and fall freshening is often a problem with dairymen. A good roughage program including high quality grass silage may help this situation," says Delmar J. Young.

Young, dairyman with the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, says that shy breeding among older cows in the herd may be lessened by feeding plenty of roughage rich in vitamin A. Five pounds of grass silage supplies a 1000 pound cow with an adequate amount of this vitamin.

To provide the same amount of vitamin A, 18 pounds of corn silage, 22 pounds of average legume hay, or 141 pounds of low grade mixed hay must be fed daily.

Another angle is that a good dairyman tries to balance his milk production the year round by breeding part of his cows to freshen during the late fall and early winter. As more and better hay and silage becomes available for winter feeding, the percentage of conceptions during the winter months may increase.

This connection between better roughage and pasture programs, and better herd management, is one that dairymen can follow up to advantage, Young suggests. One way to evaluate and improve your pasture program is to join the 1952 Greener Pastures Program. County agricultural agents are now enrolling interested dairymen throughout the state in this program.

Spring Clean-up Needs Controlled Burning If Any

Field fires that get out of hand are destroying more and more farm property, says the Kent County Agricultural Extension Office. The extension service is joining with the National Fire Protection Association, in suggesting these ways to keep field fire under control.

1. If there is a fire lookout in your area, notify the towerman when and where you intend to burn off a field. If there is no towerman notify your local fire officer. Get a burning permit if the law requires one.

2. Clear off, preferably by plowing, a six-foot-wide lane around the field to be burned. This won't be wasted effort because the whole field probably will be plowed later anyway.

3. Have fire-fighting tools handy.

4. Don't leave the field until the fire is dead out.

5. Burn against the wind. Start the fire at the downwind fire lane or at a natural barrier such as a road or a creek.

6. Avoid burning on a windy day. The safest time to burn a field is late in the evening.

The fact that field fire sparks can be carried long distances by the wind is reason to roof buildings with fire-resistant material such as asphalt shingles, asbestos, slate, or metal, the association says. None of these materials will catch fire from sparks or fire brands.

Plans For Festival Announced

Activities for the annual art festival will get underway at 1:30 p. m., April 25. The art festival for the first time is to be combined with the Student Council carnival which was formerly held at a separate date, and will be sponsored jointly by the Student Council and the faculty of the school. The program of events have been outlined by a committee of the faculty, composed of all the teachers of special subjects. Serving on the committee are:

Chairman, H. D. Williams, art; George Vapaa, agriculture; Louis Kish, shop; Melvin Brobst, music; Leon Hart, athletics; Mrs. Jean Miller, athletics; William E. Miller, dramatics; Mrs. Kathleen Pollitt, dramatics.

The opening activity will be the carnival. This will consist of brightly decorated booths, each sponsored by a class, where games, refreshments, and other entertainment can be enjoyed by all. The carnival will start at 1:30 p. m. and proceed through the afternoon while other events are taking place on the athletic field. The carnival will be held in the drive between the school building and the agriculture building. The carnival will close around 8:30 p. m.

Also scheduled to start at 1:30 are playground activities which will include relay races, etc. This will be terminated at 3 p. m. when a baseball game will take place. In this game Harrington will play a team to be selected on the baseball diamond. After this game nothing will be in session except the carnival until 8 p. m., when folk dances will take place with music supplied by the German Band. The folk dances will end at 8:30, when instrumental selections will be presented in the auditorium by the string orchestra.

The highlight of the day will be presented by the dramatic group. This presentation is consisted of two scenes from Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar." The play is under the direction of Mrs. Kathleen Pollitt and W. E. Miller. Scenery for the production and stage details are being worked out by H. D. Williams and his stage craft club.

The cast of characters for the play is: Antony, Donald Sapp; Marcus Brutus, Russell McCreedy; Caesar, Ralph Carpenter; Casca, Richard Brown; Trebonius, Lelia Wilson; Cinna, Shirley Larimore; Servant (A), Elwood Brown; Servant (O), Mary Smith; Artemidorus, Viola Vanderwende; Soothsayer, Marlene Raughley; Decius, Patsy Baker; Publius, Mary Fry; Popilius, Joyce Gruwell; Metellus, Robert Larimore; Casca, Betty Layton; 1st Plebian, Carole A. Tharp; 2nd Plebian, Aline Stratton; 3rd Plebian, Pauline Welch; 4th Plebian, Deanne Shultie.

At 9:30 p. m., after the play, the queen and king of the carnival will be crowned by the president of the Student Council, Bob Willey. After the crowning, entertainment in the form of song, dance, and clowning will be presented as the final climax of the day.

Marie Hopkins Winner in Spelling Test

Marie Hopkins and Bertha Belle Jarrell led their classes in the annual spelling test sponsored by the Goldey Beacom School of Business, given to members of the Junior and Senior classes in the school cafeteria Friday morning, March 21.

Described by officials of the school as "a very difficult list," the test consisted of a 100 words, including such spelling demons as miscellaneous, likelihood, psychology and accommodate.

Miss Hopkins missed only three words, while Miss Jarrell missed five. The first three in each class will be designated spelling champions by the Goldey Beacom School, will have their names inscribed upon a permanent list of peninsula spelling champions by the school, and will receive suitable inscribed certificates. The champions with their scores are: Seniors, Marie Hopkins, 97; Elizabeth Ann Greenly, 96, and Patsy Ann Billings 94; Juniors, Bertha Belle Jarrell 95, tied for second place, Sylvia Breeding and Edward Lane, 94, and Irene Bullard 92.

Others who attained a mark of 90 or better are: Senior, Betty Bradley 92; Juniors, Mary Lord 91 and Pauline Makovec 90.

Members of the English and commercial departments in Harrington High School have expressed agreement on the importance of spelling in the modern world and are gratified with the outstanding performance of Harrington pupils in this difficult test.

Kent County Band and Chorus

The Kent County Band and chorus visited Harrington Thurs., Mar. 20. The band and chorus have members from six schools of Kent County. The schools represented were: Dover, Smyrna, Caesar Rodney, Milford, Felton, and Harrington.

Visitors who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Brinton Holloway, Mrs. Ada Pitlick and Mrs. William Shaw.

Typing Speeds

The following is a list of typing speeds in the different classes. Owing to the large number of pupils the ten highest in Typing I were picked, and only five in the others.

Each pupil may not make more than five errors on a ten minute test and their speeds represent net words per minute. There is a penalty of ten words for each error.

Typing I: Ruth Moore 54, Joyce Gruwell 49, Betty Layton 44, Joann Dumont 44, Marthia Gruwell 43, Janet Collision 41, Millie Miner 39, Phyllis Sherwood 39, Walter Voss 38, Charlotte Noble 38, Eugene Porter 37, Johnny Langrell 37; Typing II: Mary Lord 56, Pat Holloway 56, Pauline Makovec 50, Jeanette Sapp 49, Harry Morgan 42, Billy Bowdle 42, Reba Smith 41, Ruth Callaway 41; Senior Commercial Students: Betty Bradley 67, Shirley Hudson 55, Marie Hopkins 55, Audrey Billings 53, Catherine Anthony 52.

Numbers denote words per minute.

Boys Baseball News

With baseball season in view Harrington high had its first workout a couple of weeks ago. The turnout was fairly large. Among the turnouts, five are veterans, and only one veteran pitcher, Elwood Brown. The opening game will be April 8 with Caesar Rodney, away.

The schedule is as follows:

FFA Chapter News

Conducted among the boys now is a rat and mouse control campaign.

Each Ag boy will use at least one pound of rat bait, which has been prepared at school. The campaign will be conducted by displays, demonstrations, and publicity.

Group displays were conducted at Taylor's during FFA week.

Members who have prepared demonstrations are: Dale Sullivan, Wayne Brown, Duane Bloom. The chapter is also conducting a cooperative garden-seed and seed-potato program to raise funds for chapter activities.

Sunday Star Shows Sculpture Display

Upon opening the pages of the Sunday Star of Mar. 23 to the magazine section the reader is confronted with the cover picture of the magazine. Under this picture the caption reads, "The Moose, above, is one of the products of a sculpture class described on pages 6 and 7." The sculpture classes mentioned were held in the art room of Harrington High School under direction of the art instructor, H. D. Williams. The article, written by Robert Hagy, discusses how the class progressed from the time when, they first pinched clay between two fingers to produce small organic forms to the making of life masks of the boys and finally to the large abstract or organic forms conceived from the plaster. The article, entitled "Does the Form Please the Eye and Stir the Imagination?" is accompanied by seven photographs, including the cover page, showing the boys of the senior art class around their pieces of sculpture. These photographs were taken by Frank Herzog. The first picture shows George Graham and Instructor Williams discussing an exercise: "Clay is pinched to the scale of two fingers" to produce the organic form. Picture B features Donald Sapp and George Graham with a chair made of papier-mache. The chair of modern design was modelled to fit the body of Mr. Williams.

In the next portrayal Randall Smith was photographed sitting before a large abstract form consisting of a plaster center with a wooden framework over which colored string is strung. Randall said this form reminded him of a "tree trunk in the early morning mist."

Pictures D shows a dipped-cloth form, made by George Graham. The piece has been given many names by the boys, including, "Sails," "The Nightmare," and "Fighting With Blankets." Next "The Moose," created by Donald Sapp, is transported by Bob Willey, Randall Smith, and Ralph Carpenter while Donald Sapp, George Graham, Jeanne Lander, and Mr. Williams look on. In the final picture Maurice Pearson, Mr. Williams, Bob Willey, and Ralph Carpenter are stationed beside four life-masks of themselves.

Senior Personality

Lois Louise Langrell

Lois was born in Harrington September 13, 1934. She is a member of the Band Club and sings soprano in the Chancel Choir. She is also secretary of the M. Y. F. of Asbury Church.

Lois says she likes boys and girls dressed in clothing that is neat and comfortable.

Her hobbies are skating and attending the movies. Her favorite subjects are shorthand and book-keeping.

Lois' ambition is to attend Goldey Beacom for two years to study to be an executive secretary. She plans to live in Wilmington or Philadelphia after college.

High School Primary

The Junior and Senior American history classes held a straw-vote of candidates for president of the United States. They voted as follows:

	Jr.	Sr.	Total
Kefauver	4	6	10
Truman	5	7	12
Eisenhower	11	5	16
MacArthur	7	4	11

Caesar Rodney School Notes

Amateur Show Held
The annual amateur show sponsored by the Student Council was held in the auditorium Wed., Mar. 19. A total of 25 entries were approved by the tryout committee.

The winners were: Mary Ellen Parker, Lawrence Carter, Timothy Townsend, Rose Ann Ross, Claire Hertz, Patsy Rattray, Shirley Stoddard, Sofia Vatik, Alice Krafft and Glenda Smith.

Members of the faculty who served as judges were: Miss Rita Donahoe, David L. Williams, and John J. Ryan.

Arrangements for the show were made by the Student Council Ways and Means Committee including: Marie Brown, Tommy Webb and John Yokos.

W. Calvin Wood was the faculty advisor in charge.

Sophomores Held Carnival
The Sophomore Class held a carnival Friday evening, March 21, in the gymnasium.

The committee chairmen were: Art, Betty Ann Clute; refreshments, Shirley Cox; advertisement, Olive Roland; tickets, Mary Sue Tribbitt; entertainment, Kaye Brown.

Several features included in the carnival were: baseball throw, basketball throw, dancing, refreshments, grab bags, weight guessing and fortune telling. Prizes were given to the winners of various games.

The USS Sophomore Show Boat featured the Trumpeters, Donald Gehrman and Edward Willis. Olive Roland as the famous Madame Sophie, from Paris, predicted the future with her miraculous crystal ball.

The carnival was well attended. John J. Ryan and James E. Gledhill were the faculty sponsors.

Seventh Grade Dance Club Held Party
Members of the seventh grade dance club tried out their party manners and beginning dance steps at a party held in the cafeteria Saturday evening, March 22, from 7:30 to 10 o'clock.

The club, open to all seventh graders, has been meeting bi-weekly during the school activity period. Mrs. Dorothy B. Townsend, guidance counselor, organized the club at the request of the students.

Mrs. Townsend reports that students of the junior high school age are eager to learn correct manners and simple dance steps including square dancing. It is believed that an opportunity to be one of a group at this age is highly important to the normal social development of the individual.

The party featured mixing games and dances and included refreshments.

Parents who attended were: Mrs. Henry Mitchell, Mrs. Fred Gray and Mrs. Ila P. Saunders. Committees were: Program, Joyce Neidig, June Voshell, Susan Fritz, Patsy Saunders; refreshments, Joyce Kesselring, Yvonne Fifer, Russell Harvey, John Barrett.
