

Sulky Slants

By Mrs. Dave (Pat) Smith

This week leaves me with only a trunkful of memories. I lost my Roostabout last week when he jumped a shadow and broke his leg very badly. Dave had him destroyed right where he fell. We were so lucky Dr. Churchill happened to be right there when it happened. No one will know how I cared for the little fellow.

Poor Dave, he had carried him along so easy so as not to knock him out, had him up to a good mile ready to race. He, too is very sad. The day he was killed I had traded stall guards with Earl Thomas. Was so happy as it was a beautiful two-tone gelding. He never got to use it. Everyone has been so nice and don't think at a time of loss in any stage of losing something you cherish is not appreciated. At the height of my grief when I couldn't come out of the trailer, Warren Holmes was the first to come over to Dave and me. To me, I had lost my best animal friend. Warren made me go down town to get me away while they took him off the track. I don't know if I can ever thank him enough. He really talked me out of some of our sorrow. Warren kept saying, Pat, it could have been Dave. Dave was thrown high and shaken up pretty badly, but says he feels alright now.

I hadn't had the heart to take the things out of his stall so Mr. Holloway told me not to worry he wouldn't take the empty stall. But they say everything happens for the best, but it's a hard thing to believe. I was feeling pretty low last Saturday and would work in the stalls taking care of the other horses with tears in my eyes, was about finished for the day when Dave asked me, "Pat, would you like to go to Yonkers?" We did go, along with Ben Wilson, of Houston. Was a wonderful trip, warm enough for you to enjoy the races outdoors. I think everyone that could get away from Harrington was there. I was glad to get up where all the bright lights were for I love all the lights, noise and big time.

Guess that comes from traveling so much. Now Ben said, give me the small towns. He doesn't like so much confusion.

Pat Hubbard certainly did some good driving up there Dave said. Oh, yes, Ben was lucky on the long shots, think he ended up close to a hundred. That trip helped me more than anything just to get away from it all for a while.

Mildred Cain's old dog, Cocoa, that was 21 years old, and the oldest so the vet said in Delaware, died. Mildred had him a long, long time. She is very thrilled over her Mr. Oakie, a white-headed Hereford. Wonder where he got that name? Well she won a bet on Mr. Oakie's horse, took the money and bought the calf. Darn good investment on bet money.

Bobby Hobbs has made a trip along with Jimmy Cruise to West-bury for a load of horses. Bobby felt pretty bad as he was training Regal Comet along with Dave that day. Bobby is trying to learn all he can and he really likes it.

Certainly enjoyed our breakfast at the Wonder Bar along with Mr. Rudnick, Fount and Dave. Course, Hazel chatted with us when she had time. Hazel telling me how Patsy, the pooch, begs for chicken, won't have anything to do with you if you don't have chicken. Some Patsy!

Tina and Sippy out to visit Ruth and Johnnie Amato. Frankie, Lillian (Doodles) and little daughter, Charlotte, Sarah also out looking the horses over. Frankie and I were standing together on the rail the day Rousty was killed.

Ann Collins back with her sister who has the Bridle Bit. Dave and I have been invited to go fishing with Mr. Smith, who has the sandwich shop downtown. Will let you know how I come out next week.

Mrs. Crowley says this is her last week to run the restaurant out at the track. Seems to be real glad to get a few hours to herself.

Fritz, enjoyed the coffee and doughnuts. Between tears it really was a help.

Genie Anderson out to the office getting ready to give out with the races. Oh yes, Genie, I swear you are as good as that announcer at Yonkers. With the lights being turned on the track (See Sulky Slants back page)

The Ninth District Gets Recognition

The Democratic organization of the Ninth Representative District achieved renown Saturday night at the Jefferson-Jackson Day banquet in the Wilmington Armory when Vice-President Alben W. Barkley was photographed with a banner from the district advocating the candidacies of "Barkley, Bert, and Bayard."

The banner-bearer, Calvin Simpson, of Harrington had the banner made by Dan Queen, of Dover. The sign was painted by Robert Thomas, of Leipsic.

Mr. Simpson carried the banner to Wilmington and erected it by his table. As the evening wore on, a newspaper photographer asked to be permitted to take the sign upon the speaker's platform for photographing. Calvin replied that "he would carry the sign." He then took it to the platform, met the vice-president, and was photographed with Mr. Barkley and the banner. It was reported at the Simpson table, and not denied by Mr. Simpson, that he had asked Mr. Barkley to move over a little so he could get in the picture.

Incidentally, Mr. Barkley gave no hint of presidential aspirations. Lt.-Gov. Alexis I. duPont Bayard, did not appear displeased when he was announced "as the next United States senator," and Gov. Carvel didn't appear to mind being announced as "the next governor of Delaware."

Kent & Sussex Harness Meet Opens Next Thursday Night Numerous Horses on Hand

No Feet On The Ground

Bibeau Explains Role Of Caretaker In Racing

The race is over and the driver of the winning horse is doffing his cap to the grandstand. Meanwhile, another hero, the caretaker, is little noticed, though, to a great extent, horses are made in the stable as well as on the track.

In the stable of Polly Sipe is caretaker Joe Bibeau, an expert in his field. Joe explains that a caretaker is a harness horses' valet—he is around day and night, and always at his beck and call. Using one of his trotters as an example, Bibeau who came east from Ana, Minn., in 1930, recites his duties in caretaking at the Kent & Sussex Raceway here, where the sixth annual spring meet gets under way Thurs., May 1, for 20 nights of pari-mutuel harness racing.

About 6 a. m., Bibeau feeds the horse three quarts of oats and all the clover and timothy hay he'll eat. He'll get only oats at noon, and oats and hay in the evening. Water is before him all the time. After breakfast, the stall is cleaned and the horse is brushed. If he is to race that night, the horse is hitched by the caretaker and jogged a couple miles by the trainer or driver. Afterwards, Bibeau sponges the animal and walks him five or ten minutes, according to the weather, to cool him off, before putting him back in the stable until race time.

If the trotter is in the first race, Bibeau puts boots and harness on him and takes him to the paddock at 6 p. m. The trainer or driver works the horse four mile heats, 20 minutes apart. In the interim, the caretaker waters and sponges the animals, cleans his boots and puts a blanket on him.

After the race, Bibeau strips, or unhitches the animal washes him with two or three buckets of water and walks him from an hour to an hour and 20 minutes to cool him off. After the first 20 minutes of walking, the horse is rubbed down. After cooling, he is bandaged. The bandages are taken off the next day and the trotter is walked five or ten minutes in the grass. He is idle until the next day when he is jogged about 3 miles. The third day after racing, the horse is back in training in around 2:20. The Minnesotan says the fastest horse he ever took care of was Singapore, who had a record of 2:00 1/4.

Rotary Inter-City Meeting

Dr. Alexander Cairns enthralled an audience of Rotarians and Rotary Anns from Selbyville, Georgetown, Camden-Wyoming, Milford, Smyrna, and Harrington in a recital of "Laughs and Lyrics" at a meeting here Tuesday evening, April 15.

Dr. Cairns has committed to memory more than 500 poems and he makes them vibrant with life. And in between the poems, bubbling with the cadence of a bromo seltzer on the morning after a Bowers Beach Big Thursday of long ago, was an inexhaustible fountain of Irish humor.

Brief addresses were made by President Harold McDonald, of the Harrington Rotary Club; Mayor Edward B. Rash, of Harrington, and William Matthews, of Smyrna.

Myrtle Day, concert singer, with Mrs. Robert VanCleaf as accompanist, won enthusiastic acclaim with three numbers.

Invocation was given by Rev. Robert VanCleaf. Sam Williams was song leader, with Melvin Brobst as accompanist. J. Harvey Burgess was toastmaster.

The following evening Dr. Cairns delivered his world-famous lecture, "The Man of Galilee," at the school auditorium. This marked the fourteenth address given by Dr. Cairns in Harrington. The first one was in 1919.

Don't Plow the Shoulders Highway Department Acts

The State Highway Department is again making a plea to farmers who have fields along improved highways not to plow out to the dirt shoulders along these highways while working in adjacent fields.

They point out that when the plowing continues from the field across the dirt shoulders that it is necessary for maintenance crews to repair the damage to the dirt shoulders and create new ditches between the fields that were worked on and the roadways.

equipment. The painter must have his paints, his brushes, etc., and the musician must have his instruments, but the poet has only the luminous moment when he captures an inspiration.

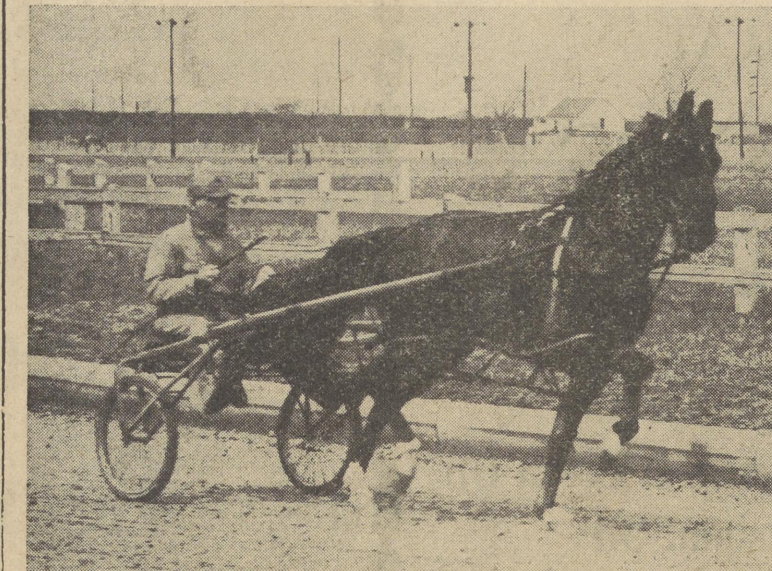

"To illustrate that the poetry of the past becomes the philosophy, then the politics of the future, probably the greatest social reform of the past 100 years," continued Rev. Wright, "was brought about by Markham's first famous poem, 'The Man With The Hoe,' written in 1898."

The speaker, a close student of Markham, recited many of the great poet's better known works. It was one of the most highly appreciated programs of the year. Howard Williams was program chairman of the evening.

"On this day, April 22, 1952," said Rev. Harry Wright at Tuesday evening's meeting of the Harrington Rotary Club, "an atomic bomb was set off out in a western desert. Many of you witnessed this spectacle through your television sets and others heard of it over the radio. This is for our defense against communism, but it also marks the destruction of the beauty created by God.

"On April 23, 1852, at Oregon City, Ore., was born Edwin Markham, destined to be one of America's greatest poets. It has been said that the poetry of the yesterdays may become the philosophy of today and the politics of tomorrow. Poets are not sissies. Poetry is the highest form of art, for it is the only type of artistry independent of physical

Inside the Bookmobile

By a Bookworm
Tuesday I found the doors of the bookmobile open for it was quite warm inside, but the unit is equipped with fans for your comfort.
Rev. Wright was browsing around. I see him there every other Tuesday afternoon. We discussed Ethel Water's "His Eye is On the Sparrow." He agreed with me that she had known the heights and the depths in her struggle in the limelight of show business. Mrs. Finch came in and asked for it, so it seems the book is remaining in Harrington.
Mr. Wright showed me a book by Cooper and Treat on "Man O' War." I imagine a lot of the horse lovers in town would enjoy that. Then there were books on pottery making, rug making, hand decorating and many others on the same line. Then for the baseball fans, there's the story of Connie Mack, grand old man of baseball.
I withdrew "Time to Remember," by Lloyd C. Douglas, a story of his life. He wrote such notable books as "The Robe," "Disputed Passage," and "The Big Fisherman." "20th Meridian," a novel by Robert Travers, and "Jubilee Trail," by Bristow, were the other books I took out.
I don't know whether many would enjoy reading "Tongue of the Prophets" by Robert St. John, but I found it interesting and educational. It was on a subject I knew nothing of, the true-life story of Eliezer Ben Yehuda, who spent a lifetime reviving the Hebrew language which had been dead for 2000 years, also helping to build the new state of Israel. He realized that Jews could never have any country of their own, or any national entity, unless they had a common language. He died in 1922 his great work, the compiling of a Hebrew dictionary, still unfinished, but most of the material for eleven posthumous volumes of his dictionary had been collected. Hebrew was spoken freely in Palestine, and Zionism had become firmly established in the political thinking of the world.
"Vain Shadow," Hartzell Spence, was a romantic biography of the discoverer of the Amazon, Don Francisco Orellana, Spanish conquistador. After reading of the hardships encountered in the jungles, food problems, and the ever-present diseases, poisoned arrows from the natives, and deceit from his fellow adventurers, you can almost feel what Orellana must have felt.

Protection

Two different methods of application are employed in protecting equipment with strippable coatings—contour application and package application. In one method of package application, the equipment is placed inside a waterproof paper or canvas bag. The protective film is then sprayed over the entire outside surface of the paper or canvas covering to seal all seams and pores through which moisture might enter. In contour application, the material is sprayed directly on all metal surfaces of the equipment. It can be easily peeled off at the proper time.

MEMORIAL

In loving memory of William Henry Webb, of Greenwood, who departed this life April 27, 1950: When the evening shadows are falling And we are sitting all alone In our hearts there comes a longing If you only could come home. Off and oft our hearts do wander To you, grave so far away Where we laid you dear father Just two years ago today. Sadly missed by son, Henry W. Webb and family. 1t 4-25-8

Trinity Methodist Church Notes

Recently I heard of a young man who was deeply in love. He had written to the object of his love a passionate letter, in which he affirmed that to get to her he would "scale the highest mountain"; to be with her he would "pass through fire and flood"; and to live in the sunshine of her smile he would "abandon all he had." There was a modest postscript to his letter. It ran like this: "I will be seeing you on Sunday night if it doesn't rain." Does the weather or your feelings ever interfere with your devotion to your church?

This Sunday is the last one in this conference year. All our services will be at the usual hour with this exception—they shall be at daylight time.

9:45 A. M. Sunday School.

11 A. M. Morning Worship. The Senior Choir will sing; and the pastor will preach on "God Intoxicated"; using Isaiah 11:9.

"TO A SUMACH TREE"
J. Harry Wright

"O lovely, lonely sumach tree,
Growing tall in the yard,
Does your absence from the forest,
Make living here seem hard?"

"Although I'm far from the forest,"

Said the lone sumach tree,
"I think of the pleasant privilege,
Nature has given me."

"Some trees make up forest verdure,

They grow in glen and glade,
And seem to crowd one another,
To make the sombre shade."

"But few people ever see them,
In the deep forest gloom;
Growing so close to each other
Some trees lack enough room."

"While I grow here in the garden,
In Winter, Spring, Summer and Fall,
People seem glad to notice me,
I'm glad to see them all."

"I've learned to love my dwelling-place,
As seasons come and go.
My task is not to fret and whine,
But to stay here, and grow."

Harness Meetings for 1952

A harness racing season that opened auspiciously on the west coast a month ago spreads to the East and Midwest next week with indications pointing toward banner seasons in both areas.

The Yonkers spring meeting will continue through May 24 under sponsorship of The Yonkers Trotting Association. The Maywood Trotting Association goes until June 21.

The Yonkers opening April 15 signaled the beginning of seven full months of harness racing activity in the metropolitan New York area.

From now until Nov. 15, when the Yonkers fall meeting ends, either that track or nearby Roosevelt Raceway, at Westbury, L. I., will be open. For two weeks in August both tracks will operate. The picture is much the same in the Chicago area with three associations conducting meetings at two tracks over a six month period.

Two days after the Maywood meeting ends, Chicago Downs opens a 59-night stand extending through Aug. 9, at Cicero. The Fox Valley Trotting Club then goes at Maywood from Aug. 11 through Oct. 18. Scene of the Fox Valley operation has been transferred this year from Aurora, Ill.

In the New York area, Roosevelt opens May 26, two days after the Yonkers spring meeting ends. Roosevelt then operates through Sept. 27 with both The Nassau and Old Country Trotting associations sponsoring meetings. The Yonkers summer meeting is carded for Aug. 18-30 with the fall meeting there opening Sept. 29 and continuing through Nov. 15.

The 1952 harness season opened March 14 at Santa Anita Park under the Western Harness Racing Association banner. A sparkling early mile in 2:00.4 by movie actor Charlie Coburn's Rush Hour and increased attendance and pari-mutuel handle figures have highlighted the meeting to date.

The Western harness meeting goes through May 10 with the California Horse Racing Association taking over for a 29-day stay at Bay Meadows May 13 through June 18.

Ohio Is Leading Producer Of Harness Race Horses

For the fifth straight year the state of Ohio ranks as the nation's leading producer of harness horses.

Ohio breeders and owners registered 703 Standardbreds with The United States Trotting Association in 1951, 76 more than a year ago, according to U. S. T. A. registrar Ken McCarr whose annual report was made public.

Registration with the U. S. T. A., parent body of the sport, reached an all-time high of 4879 in 1951.

There was no change in the makeup of the top ten states. Two states climbed a notch in the national standings and eight of the ten showed increases in keeping with the healthy trend prevailing in the sport.

Biggest increase was credited to Illinois which climbed from third to second place with 501 registrations, 141 more than last year. Indiana, which dropped from 399 to 393, landed in third place.

Principal reason for the big jump in Illinois' annual total was the establishment of four state-sponsored colt races for two and 3-year-old worth an estimated $150,000. Only Illinois-bred horses are eligible to these stakes.

New York (377) and Pennsylvania (346) rounded out the top five. Kentucky (290), California (225), Michigan (170), Wisconsin (161) and Iowa (148) trailed in that order. All except Michigan, which dropped from seventh to eighth place, showed registration gains.

Although no Ohio nursery is as large as those in Kentucky and Pennsylvania, the Buckeye state has emerged the national leader every year since 1947 when state by state totals were first compiled. Scores of small farms are located in Ohio and many other Buckeye State horsemen raise a colt or two each year.

Comparative annual registrations of the ten leaders are as follows:

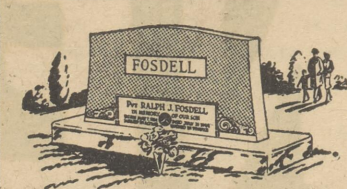

State	1951	1952
1. Ohio	703	627
2. Illinois	501	399
3. Indiana	399	360
4. New York	377	318
5. Pennsylvania	346	312
6. Kentucky	290	209
7. Michigan	225	209
8. California	170	185
9. Wisconsin	161	145
10. Iowa	148	95

Leslie Simpson Prepares For Spring Meet

In his first race, four years ago, Harrington's popular Leslie Simpson, was ignominiously thrown off the sulky right in front of the grandstand. He didn't let it get him down, however, and when he donned the silks in later sessions, he won his next three races.

The lean, taciturn reinsman, whose cud of chewing tobacco is as familiar a trademark as is Churchill's cigar, has been training and driving harness horses only five years, yet he has made a name for himself in the sport in the east.

After starting out with Carlton Goslin, he had charge of the Fred Floyd stable. This year, for the first time, he has a public stable with 11 head, most of which will participate in the annual spring harness meet of the Kent & Sussex Racing Association which gets under way Thurs., May 1, for 20 nights of parimutuel competition.

Included in the stable are three Simpson horses—Strastorm, Ashcroft Hanover, and Bold Venture. The first, a trotter, by Peter Ahr, has a mark of 2:10. Last season the diagonally gaited gelding garnered 8 wins, 12 seconds, and 7 thirds in 39 starts. The second, by Spencer Scott, is a nine-year-old trotter with a mark of 2:11.3. The third, Bold Venture, is a freelegged pacer by Spud Hanover. He has a mark of 2:11.2, but hasn't raced in two years.

Simpson says, "I haven't had him too long, but he looks all right and I may start him a couple times during the last part of the meet."

Other stable entries are as follows:

Symbol Diane, 5, green pacer, by Symbol Green, brother to Symbol Louis, owned by Ted Daniels, Middletown, superintendent of Delaware Memorial Bridge. She's ready to start, says Simpson.

Wilson Hanover, 13, 2:11.4 trotter by Sandy Flash, owned by Cabbage Brown, Harrington. He won a race here last fall in 2:12 and another at Batavia in the same time. "People at the track say he looks better than he has ever looked in his life," Simpson sums it up.

Bertie Majesty, green pacer, 4, by His Majesty, owned by E. P. Bolt, Painter, Va. "She'll be ready for the spring meet."

O. P. Newsom, of Winston-Salem, N. C., has three head in the Simpson stable, namely:

Eddie Truax, 3, p, by Eddie Havens. "Looks like he will be all right but do not know if he will be ready to start during first part of meet."

Pluto Law, 9, br g. p, 2:08.1, by Peter-at-Law. He was in the money eight times out of 18 races last year before he became ill. "Looks like he is all right now."

Uncle Johnnie, 3, gr. t, by Daniel Hanover.

A popular member of the Simpson retinue is Mont, a trotter with a mark of 2:07. The nine-year-old bay gelding, owned by T. J. Tipton, of Marionville, Va., was in the money nine times out of 16 starts last year before going lame.

The same owner has Glendale Calumet, 4, by Earl's Playboy. He is a green trotter.

Personnel of the Simpson stable includes Walter Adams, caretaker and second trainer, and Roy Brakebush and Andrew Mason, caretakers.

Top Stables at Delaware Park

At least seven of the 10 leading money-winning stables of the country for the first quarter of the 1952 thoroughbred racing season are expected to be represented during Delaware Park's coming meeting of 33 days, opening May 29. They are: Brookfield Farms (Harry Isaacs), the leader; William G. Helis, Jr., Alfred G. Vanderbilt, Brookmeade Stable (Mrs. Dodge Sloane), Clifford Mooers, John C. Clark and King Ranch (Robert J. Kleberg).

Delaware Park's Richest Race

Delaware Park's 33-day meeting, May 29 through July 5, will again feature one of the world's richest stakes restricted to fillies and mares—the $50,000 added, mile and a quarter New Castle Handicap, to be run closing day.

The event took on classic proportions last year when its added money was doubled and the distance increased from a mile and a sixteenth. That running went to Ogden Phipps' Busanda, which netted $42,600 of the race's $60,700 gross value.

Delaware Park Leaders Returning

The leading owner, trainer and jockey of Delaware Park's 1951 meeting are expected to participate in the Stanton track's 1952 season, which opens May 29 and continues through July 5. They are the Green Tree Stable of John Hay Whitney and his sister, Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson; James E. Ryan, who trains the stables of Mrs. Esther duPont Weir and Richard K. Mellon's Rokeby Stable, and Nick Shuk, who dead-heated with Frankie Bone for riding honors with 16 winners. Ryan has led the trainers for the past two years.

Gilbert Back to Delaware Park

Johnny Gilbert, who led the riders at Delaware Park in 1950 with 26 winners but had to give up riding as a result of suffering a broken neck in a spill at Santa Anita in January of 1951, will be back at the Stanton track this season—as a trainer. The one-time saddle star is currently conditioning horses owned by E.

O. Stice and C. H. Jones, of California, and one for himself.

Little courtesies, like offering your seat to a lady, help to make life happier.

Consideration for the other fellow is the basis of good party-line telephone service, too. If you are always courteous on the telephone, you're sure to find your party-line neighbors the same. Remember the three R's of party-line courtesy — Relinquish the line as soon as possible when you hear others try to use it; Replace the receiver gently when you find the line in use; Regulate your calls so that others may use the line in-between.

Give the little lady a hand

THIS ad is addressed to husbands — Husbands who've yearned for the thrill of sitting behind a broad hood packed with horsepower—and the pride of rolling down the street in a car that tells the world, "Here's a man who knows the finest thing on wheels."

But husbands have wives. And wives have been known to say, "No big cars for me. They're too hard to handle."

Well, we have an answer for that one. It's a ROADMASTER with Buick's new Power Steering.† And Power Steering takes over any time the steering gets tough—works like a helping hand—reduces the effort of turning the wheel of a car at a standstill to about the same effort it takes to pick up a mink coat.

BUT out on the open highway—with a clear straight stretch before you—your hands still have command of the wheel—you can feel that sure, firm, easy and eager responsiveness that's a part of the fun of driving.

The rest of the fun is in something else that's new this year—the highest horsepower that a Buick Fireball Engine has ever delivered — and an Airpower carburetor that lets loose an extra reserve of power when needed, and still adds extra miles to your cruising range on each tankful of gas.

So we suggest a family demonstration. You'll both like the hushed and restful silence of this superbly able traveler. You'll like the harmonious beauty of its interior, and the deep and luxurious softness of its seats.

You'll like the velvet-gloved grip of its Wide-Band brakes, and the most capacious trunk in Buick history.

You'll like the smooth surge of Dynaflo Drive, and you'll like—but why waste time talking, when you could be finding out more than we can ever tell you? How about making a date to do that right now?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. White sidewalls optional at extra cost when available. †Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster only.

Oil in Turkey Feed Teaches Poults to Eat

Corn oil added to turkey starter mash will quickly teach day-old poults to eat. Mix in five pounds of corn oil for each 100 pounds of feed, suggests Dr. C. S. Shaffner, of the University of Maryland poultry department.

Turkeys usually are slow to start eating, but the odor of the corn oil will attract them to the feed trough and get them off to a quick start. The oil should be added to the feed for only one or two days, just long enough to get the poults trained.

Once they start eating, you'll find that turkeys don't have very good table manners. The big ones will push the smaller, less aggressive ones aside, if feeder space is limited. To get around this, be sure to provide plenty of feeder space and prevent having runts and culls.

For smaller turkey producers, Dr. Shaffner says that battery brooders are quite satisfactory. Larger producers may find floor brooding more practical. By keeping poults in batteries for only the first two weeks, the equipment can be used for several broods in rapid succession.

At 8 to 10 weeks, poults can be moved to poultry ranges, for more economical raising, but watch the turkeys closely until they become accustomed to the outdoors. More birds are lost at this time than any other, so it will pay to give the turkeys close attention.

Plow Down Fertilizer For High Corn Yields

If you're looking forward to a big corn crop this year, it will pay to start off right by plowing down fertilizer. This is the opinion of Frank Bentz, extension soils specialist at the University of Maryland.

Corn needs 130 pounds of nitrogen, 49 pounds of phosphate and 133 pounds of potash to make a 100 bushel crop. Some of this plant food can be furnished by the soil. Good legume sod crops, plowed down will help. So will manure. But even a good application of manure to a legume sod, will still leave the soil short of enough plant food for a maximum corn crop.

When manure has been spread on sod to be plowed for corn, Bentz advises an application of 200 to 400 pounds per acre of 0-14-7 either before or after plowing. Then apply 250 or 300 pounds of 5-10-0 or 5-10-10 per acre at the time of plowing.

If no manure or legume sod is plowed under, you'll need to plow down 500 pounds per acre of 5-10-10 or 5-10-5, in addition to your planter application of 300 pounds of either formula.

This will still leave a nitrogen shortage, so 60 to 70 pounds of nitrogen per acre applied as a sidedressing when the corn is knee-high will make up the difference.

Sound expensive? Maybe, Bentz says, but the way it will increase your yield will make it pay.

Check Fuses In Spring Clean-up

In cleaning up their farms during spring clean-up farmers are urged to pay attention to the cleaning and care of electric motors and check on the fuse box. This is a suggestion from A. V. Krewatch, extension agricultural engineer of the University of Maryland. Mr. Krewatch says that fuses do not protect motors from burning out and fuses that are too large do not protect the wiring of the electric circuit. If the circuit is of No. 14 wire nothing larger than a 15 amp fuse should be used.

Check all of your fuses to see that they are of the proper size and that you do not have 20's or 30's where 15's ought to be.

The suggestion by Mr. Krewatch that fuses do not protect motors is based on the fact that a fuse large enough to permit a motor to start will not protect it from overload. This is true because motors require three to five times as much current to start them than as it does to keep them running at full load. A fustat or fuse-tron of the exact size for the motor should be used. Some motors have protective equipment built into the motor frame. Other folks may choose to use special breakers or protective type starter switches.

Proper fuses will prevent electric circuits from overheating and causing fires. Proper motor protection will prevent motors from burning out as well as eliminate the possibility of a fire starting from that cause.

David Spiering Boosts Permanent Pasture

Luxuriant pastures on the farm of David Spiering, near Greensboro, have been the subject of numerous favorable comments during the last year. David has, through proper planning and management over the last five years, developed an excellent pasture program, says Pet Dairy Chats.

In his master farm plan he has set aside 18 acres for pasture and hay in his regular crop rotation. During the spring of 1950 David seeded this 18-acre wheat field to a mixture of 6 pounds orchard grass, 1 pound Ladino clover, 5 pounds red clover and 10 pounds lespedeza. After the wheat was harvested the legume-grass mixture was permitted to develop as hay crop, and produced 1300 bales the first year.

Realizing that all green growing plants need sufficient food for maximum growth David top-dressed the 18-acre field with 1 ton of 8-16-16 and 1 ton of 0-20-20 fertilizer in March, 1951. About May 1 six acres were fenced off to pasture his 19 head of mixed Holstein and Guernsey cattle, and used until early July. Recently David stated: "My cows were usually filled up early in the forenoon, and they just couldn't keep it grazed down."

This was made possible only through use of rotational pasture plots grazed alternately on 7-to-10-day intervals. This grazing system increased his number of pasture days because it gave pasture plants a chance to recover their growth, eliminated tough, non-palatable, stringy growth, and kept waste by trampling to a minimum.

David was one of the first farmers in the Greensboro area to grow Ladino clover for pasture and hay.

"Many farmers were afraid to grow Ladino clover for pasture, but I'm convinced that through use of a well-balanced seeding mixture of grasses, and using good management, they shouldn't have much trouble with springtime bloat. I'm sure," he added, "no farmer could want a better springtime feed for his cows."

FARM NEWS - REVIEW - FORECAST

Enough But Not Too Many Corn Plants, Says Agronomist

A thin planting of corn, with big ears, rarely gives big over-all yields," says William H. Mitchell, assistant extension agronomist, University of Delaware.

The university agronomists say that from 12,000 to 14,000 plants per acre will produce the highest corn yields, year in and year out. Of the Delaware farmers who rated 100 bushel Corn Club certificates in last year's corn yield program, approximately 50 per cent had stands in the 12,000 to 14,000 range. Only 15 of the 63 growers had less than 11,000 plants per acre. The winner H. W. Cook, of near Glasgow, had 16,500 plants per acre. This higher number pays off in a favorable year, says Mitchell, but usually Delaware farmers can't count on enough rainfall to support more than 14,000 plants per acre. In several cases last year, farmers with stands higher than 14,000 had lower yields than those in the recommended range.

Planting rates to achieve 12 to 14 thousand plants per acre are:

Row Width	Between Plants
42 inches	11-12 inches
40 inches	12-13 inches
38 inches	13-14 inches
26 inches	14-15 inches

Mitchell recommends planting an inch closer than these rates to get the desired stand. This allows for kernels that don't grow, and crow and cutworm damage.

Asparagus, Lima Bean, Sweet Corn Weed Control

"Chemical weed control in Delaware vegetable crops is being used by more growers each year as a means of reducing labor costs," says E. M. Rahn, of the horticulture department, University of Delaware agricultural experiment station.

"Chemical weed control is practiced to a considerable extent in producing sweet corn and asparagus, and to a lesser degree in lima beans," says Rahn.

Rahn has prepared recommendations for weed control in the above crops, based on experiments conducted at the Delaware agricultural experiment station. They can be found in the current issue of "Transactions of the Peninsula Horticultural Society," or they may be obtained by writing to the Horticulture Department, University of Delaware, Newark, Del.

Some chemicals that have proved effective so far in experiments at the station are Crag Herbicide No. 1 and Granular Cyanamid on asparagus; sodium pentachlorophenate and dinitros on lima beans; 2, 4-D on sweet corn; and 2, 4-D and dinitros on strawberries.

EDITORIAL

A famous lecturer appeared in Harrington recently and his lecture was enthusiastically received, although a few said: "It was a little bit over your heads." Be thankful for that. When anything is over your head, just stretch your neck a little, extend your arms above your head, try to grasp the object and pull yourself up to its level. In that way you will improve yourself and maybe amount to something. There are so few chances to look up and so many chances to look down, but who can improve himself by looking down? The skies are above you, the sewers are below.

Senator Wilbur E. Jacobs is chairman in charge of the distribution of the flour supplied to the needy by the government, and Harrington is to be the distributing point for Kent and Sussex counties. The flour, about 300 barrels, will arrive next week.

The above paragraph appeared in The Harrington Journal of twenty years ago. It's an inflated dollar to a deflated doughnut that many of those people who received the flour doled out by the government, today own television sets, are riding around in big cars—and cussing the government about high taxes.

TRUMAN IN THE RESTAURANT BUSINESS

Farm organizations of the country have said that with the extremely low prices hogs are bringing today pork products may disappear from the market, as the farmers can't afford to raise the porkers at present prices. Evidently, that restaurant at Smyrna, the one where the Red Star bus carries, hasn't heard this bit of alarming news, as it charged us fifty cents for a thin ham sandwich one day last week.

We told the bus driver about it and he growled: "Well, that's what Truman wants." We drew ourselves to our towering height of something like five feet seven and said in a soft, well modulated voice: "Mr. Truman should not charge such an enormous price for his sandwiches at Smyrna when, the Marshall restaurant in Harrington and the Cain restaurant in Felton, both, we presume operated by this same Truman, will serve you a big platter of chicken and dumplings for only seventy-five cents."

KEEP POLITICS OUT OF SERVICE CLUBS

Despite the fact that no service club is supposed to discuss politics, a Rotary Club in Kent County has announced that Senator John J. Williams, who is a candidate for re-election, is to be the speaker at an inter-city meeting. Senator Williams is a Republican.

And in nearby Caroline County, Md., Senator Kefauver is to be the speaker before the combined service clubs of the county. Senator Kefauver is a Democrat and thinks he is running for an office.

In a nearby town a politician is to be the speaker at an annual dinner of a chamber of commerce. There is nothing unusual about a chamber of commerce doing this, because it is an established fact that a lot of chambers of commerce are nothing but subsidiaries of a political party—but in the name of decency, keep the politicians away from the speakers' platform of a service club. The service club member who invites such a speaker, or tolerates such a speaker, should get out of the club—because he doesn't belong. John Ruskin must have had this kind of critter in mind when he said "Those who creep and crawl and intrude into the fold for their bellies' sake."

"MEN DON'T LIKE POETRY"

Louis Untermeyer, able poet and lecturer, took this for his subject when he addressed a large gathering of men at Harrisburg, Pa., several years ago.

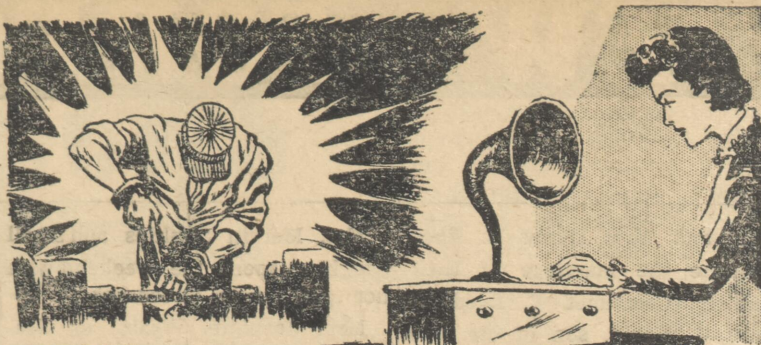

"You don't like poetry—in public," said Untermeyer, "but secretly you love it. There are more poems in men's wallets than in ladies' handbags. There isn't a man here who will come up to me and say that he has never written—or tried to write—poetry."

At the conclusion of Untermeyer's address, every man in that audience, there were hundreds and hundreds of them, came up to him and admitted the truth of his statement.

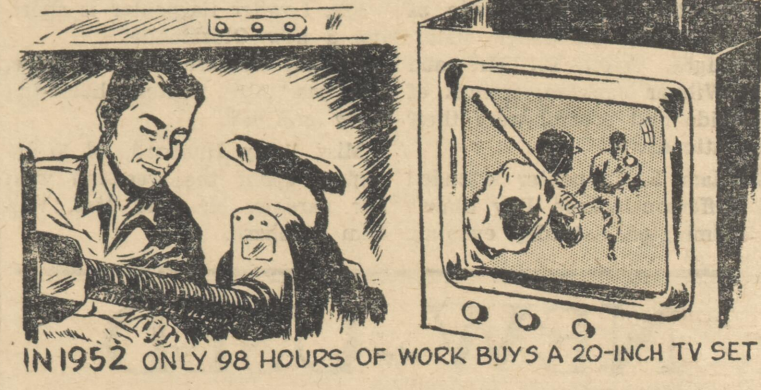

Men do like—even love—poetry. Many of them discovered this for the first time last Tuesday evening at the Inter-City Meeting and Ladies' Night of the Harrington Rotary Club when they listened to the recital of a master, Dr. Alexander Cairns.

They heard Shelley's larks singing at heaven's gate and the waves beating at the feet of the majestic Alfred (Lord) Tennyson on the Isle of Wight, wandered the woods with Wordsworth and languished in English jails with Oscar Wilde and Harry Kemp; climbed New England's hills with Longfellow, Whittier and Sam Walter Foss and stood at Concord's bridge with Ralph Waldo Emerson. They stood with the speaker's old friend—and ours—Strickland Gillilan, before a little white cabin surrounded by magnolias where an old colored "mammy" gave Strick the inspiration for one of his finest poems, "I Live Here." They peered with Robert Burns through the lighted windows of a cottage in the Scottish highlands at the heaven-on-earth serenity of "The Cotter's Saturday Night," laughed with Ben King and Oliver Goldsmith and wept at the wistful tenderness of James Whitcomb Riley and Eugene Field.

Yes, men love poetry—and so do women.

MAKING STEP-BROTHERS OF PUBLIC RELATIONS

Once, long ago, Vanderbilt, one of the first of the great railroad builders, gave utterance to a salty expression: "The public be damned." Other railroad magnates followed his creed and that phrase came back to haunt the railroads for many years. That attitude of indifference to and contempt for the public cost the railroads billions of dollars in good will during the years—and good will over the years means money.

Those old railroaders must have been a crude, selfish, hard-fisted outfit totally without vision. The newer regime is striving to overcome the inequities it inherited. It is cultivating public relations and making every effort to please its customers, the same public Vanderbilt held in such contempt.

Some of the bus companies, being newer in the business, have not learned this lesson. They have a cute arrangement of stopping at eating houses on the outskirts of a town, or even a few miles from town, where there is no competition and inferior food is sold at exorbitant prices. They figure that they'll never see the customers again, so stick 'em. They are right in at least one phase of their reasoning—they never see many of those customers again.

Bedford, Pa., is one example. There is no other restaurant nearby—and we've never had a glass of cold water at Bedford. Outside Bowling Green, O., you get a hamburger, three peas and four grains of corn for ninety-five cents. At Fort Wayne, Ind., they serve you sirlion tips for seventy-five cents. "Sirlion Tips"—what a glorified name for hash—and hash, as a colored cook once explained: "Why, mistah, you don't make hash—it just accumulates."

Going from Windsor, Ontario, to Fort Erie, N. Y., one night, the bus stopped in the deep woods at a little joint. "We must be pretty close to a town or the bus wouldn't stop here," we said to our companion. "Yes," he replied, "it's about two miles from a nice little city, St. Thomas. You can pay sixty cents at restaurants in that city and walk out without being hungry." At that joint in the woods, we purchased two very thin slices of ham—that and no more—and it cost us $1.05. We understood about the nickel, but to this day we can't understand how the dollar managed to enter into the deal.

On the very top of a bleak ridge in remote West Virginia the bus stopped at a tiny shack. A home-made sign proclaimed: "Recommended by Duncan Hines." Dunk Hines never saw that place. They served nothing but hot dogs, "coke" and coffee.

The only things we can recommend at a bus stop away off from the rest of the country are milk and apple pie. Never buy cherry pie, blueberry pie or huckleberry pie. If you do, you'll get nothing but gelatin flavored like the fruit you order. Fred Moore had bought a whole raisin pie. He took a bite, tasted it, turned the pie around and took bites from different sections. Finally he ripped the top off the pie with his finger, peered at the pie and yelled in sulphuric tones: "Where in the h--l is my raisin?"

THE ROSE

By Samuel A. Short Jr.

The rose with its fragrance so divine,
Reminds us of God's Heavenly sunset hue.
With essence of perfume filling the rivers ravine
With love and purity always so true.

The rose with its beauty and sweetness rare,
With envy of all both large and small,
No secrets or hate but love does it share,
By color and smell is loved by all.

The rose the queen of every flower,
Is kissed by the morning sun one by one.
Is never missed a single time by God's great power,
But shares its goodness of nectar spun.

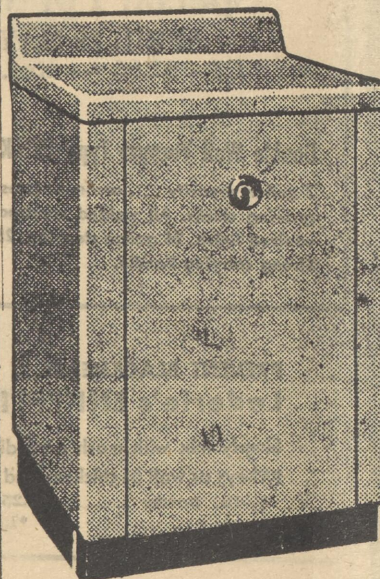

The rose with its fragrance so pure and sweet,
Is sprinkled each evening with dew from above.
From Heaven it receives this lovely treat,
Never to be forgotten for its wondrous love.

Hen Produces Mammoth Eggs

Mrs. Lambert Blades, of Blades Cross Roads, has a Plymouth Rock hen that lays exceptionally large eggs. One of the eggs measured 9 1/2 by 7 1/2 inches. She has gotten five such eggs within a short time. The eggs enclose a perfect hard shell egg inside which is of usual size.

Caesar Rodney School Notes

The 52 players of the University of Delaware will present a show especially to please the preschool and elementary age theatre goers—this time the children's play is that favorite old tale, "Pinochio," to be given April 30 at 8 p. m. in the Caesar Rodney School Auditorium.

Pinochio, the wooden puppet, is created by a kindly and lovable puppet-maker, Gepeto, and turns into a real boy who has many exciting adventures.

Prior to coming to lower Delaware the play will be presented in Mitchell Hall at the University of Delaware and in Washington, D. C.

The Caesar Rodney Band, directed by Edwin F. Englehart, will play prior to curtain time.

The cast will have dinner with the Camden-Wyoming Rotary Club in the school cafeteria prior to the show and will be housed overnight in homes in the community.

Mrs. Edna S. Roe will direct the ticket sale and Miss Frances Evans is in charge of overnight housing.

Prof. Herman Middleton is the technical director and Miss Norma Levine is the company manager.

The Junior Class will make a one-day tour by bus to Washington, D. C., in connection with the study of U. S. History. Senator J. Allen Frear and Representative J. Caleb Boggs will meet the group in Washington and expedite the tour which includes: Arlington, Bureau of Printing and Engraving, Smithsonian Institute and the Capitol Building. The class is particularly fortunate in being able to visit the newly renovated White House, just opened to visitors this week.

The following parents plan to accompany the group: Mrs. F. M. Brown, Mrs. Milbourne Webb, Mrs. Derrickson Biggs, Mrs. O. B. Williams, Mrs. Harry Lavere, Mrs. Myrtle Kemp, Mrs. John Orvis, Mrs. Evelyn Knies, Mrs. Marian Dankewich, Mrs. Clarence Marker, Mrs. Elizabeth Rodriguez and Harvey M. Jones.

The faculty members on the tour are: Mrs. Mary W. Cool, Frederick W. Brown and Richard W. MacFaddin.

The department of music announces that the date of the annual spring music festival has been changed from Fri., May 9, to Wed., May 21, the change being necessary because of conflicting school activities. The time of the festival presentation will remain the same, with curtain time being 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

SHE'S THE SAFEST LADY ON THE ROAD

With Chrysler POWER STEERING plus Chrysler POWER BRAKES

At the wheel of a new Chrysler, you have quicker, surer control of motion than you've ever had in a car. You can't imagine what it's like till you drive it! With this full-time power steering, hydraulic power does 4/5 the steering work at your gentle pull on the wheel! You also turn the wheel 1/3 less distance. And on rough roads, soft shoulders, snow or sand, "wheel fight" just doesn't happen. Your hand actually has five times the usual steering control, through every minute of every mile . . . with the same sure "wheel feel" at all times!

With this safer way to steer, power brakes make stops at all speeds safer and easier, too. Power from the engine "boosts" every touch of your toe. Actually you stop with up to 2/3 less foot pressure than non-power brakes. You can bring your Chrysler to a halt from full speeds in many feet less distance than other cars of comparable size can stop. See your Chrysler dealer soon. Feel for yourself why thousands of owners say Chrysler offers the two greatest advances in many years in driving safety and driving ease!

Mrs. Hastings is seen holding the filly, who set a mark of 2:05. The old record was 2:06.2, made by Floating Dream at Troy, O., in 1950. On the same afternoon, Berty York, owned by J. M. Davis, Clayton, and driven by Olin Davis, established a track record for 3-year-old pacers in 2:04.3. The previous mark, 2:05 1-2, was made by Mr. Abbedale.

Track Records

Pace—Guy The Tramp, July, 1934—2:02 1-4.
Trot—Hadley Hanover, Wed., May 8, 1951—2:02.3.

Henry Volo Holds Time Trial Mark At Local Track

The record for a time trial at the local track is 2:01.1, made by Henry Volo Thursday afternoon, Aug. 3, 1950, at the Kent & Sussex County Fair. The 10-year-old steed was owned and driven by W. E. Miller, of Washington, D. C. The all-time record, made in competition, is 2:02 1-4, made by Guy The Tramp during a fair here in 1934. This was a pacing mark.

The all-time trotting mark is 2:02.3, made by Hadley Hanover Wednesday night, May 9, last year in the spring meet of the Kent & Sussex Racing Association. The record-breaker was driven by L. Floyd, of Johnstown, Va., who, with R. Floyd and J. Downing, also of Johnstown, owned the trotter at the time.

Give It Time

It is advisable to allow three or four days' drying time between exterior paint coats. Paint dries more rapidly in summer and fall, more slowly in spring and winter.

Paper collection date will be the first Wednesday of May and everyone is asked to contribute all the old newspapers and magazines they want to get rid of on that date. A truck will be around to pick them up. If stormy they will be picked up the following week.

Kent County Fire Report For March
Grover Lord, Kent County fire recorder, states Kent County firemen had 49 alarms with a total loss of $2085, of which $2050 was covered by insurance, with only a net loss of $35. This shows the least loss for any one month on record. Also shows that the fire schools, fire drills and the essay in public schools and fire prevention week are taking effect on keeping down fire loss.

It is coming to the time now when there will be a lot of land to be cleared of grass and brush to be burned. This can be done without any loss, if we are more careful on setting these fires on a clear piece of ground and having plenty of assistance when doing so. Why not make it safe when burning grass fields by plowing a trench around the field that you are going to burn. This will save a lot of valuable timber that should not be lost, and with the aid of everyone the fire departments can be of a very great service to all in all of our communities in Kent County. Lets make it better and have less fires. It can be done with the help of all of us.

Why Art?

This is the first of three articles concerning art that will appear in this and the following two issues of the "Harrington School News."

Here we discuss a reason or two for the existence of art. The next column will deal with "The Child and Art," while the third and last, will discuss "What the Harrington Special School is Doing About Art."

When attempting to argue or present a case, it is wise to refer to an authority greater than the writer; the greater the better. Therefore, this writer refers his reader to Irwin Edman, professor of philosophy at Columbia University. Mr. Edman states that the arts fulfill three functions: (1) intensification, (2) clarification, and (3) interpretation of experience.

Let's examine the first function. This simply means that on experience, common to all, has been brought into clear focus by the artist. It is singled out, and many see the experience clearly for the first time. For example, we all have the possibility of experiencing a sunset 365 days of the year. Think a moment, and you no doubt will realize that you have been conscious of sunsets only a few times during the course of the year. And yet, were a painter to paint a fine picture of a sunset and this then were to be hung in a living room at home conscious of the picture and thereby conscious of the sunset.

It must be remembered, however, that this picture is only the clarification of one man's experience with sunsets, but, when he offers you his experience as a picture, you, in turn, become more conscious of sunsets as the artist clarified his experience; and presently you find yourself saying: "Why, I saw a sunset last night just like that picture." Really for the first time you feel as if you know about sunsets, for many of them will seem like that picture in the living room.

In looking at the picture we might "dig" the third function, that of interpretation. The artist has material of canvas and color. He has technique. He has the experience of witnessing and thinking about sunsets and so he paints a picture. Only he would paint a sunset this way, and he offers his idea of a sunset to you. Remember, he does not give you a real sunset; just a painted picture of one, which he has made in terms of his idea. This is interpretation.

When you look at a picture, ask yourself "What is the artist trying to do with his experience? Has he made it clear and intense? Does his interpretation mean anything to me?"

Pupils Order Books

About 300 books have been ordered this year by pupils of the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades from a students' book club with headquarters in New York. A selection of titles is offered by the firm ranging from popular classics like "Robinson Crusoe," "Pilgrim's Progress," and "Two Years Before the Mast." To the juvenile series such as the "Mercer Boys" and "Penny Allen" books. After four successive orders an extra book is awarded; except for this book, all titles are 50 cents. Selections during the year have been fairly evenly divided between traditional and modern offerings.

The Ambitious Story

Saturday afternoon was such a nice day that my cousin, who was visiting me, and myself decided to take a ride. She was very anxious to see our school so that she could compare the country schools with those of the big cities. I guess.

So that was our first stop. We parked in front and walked around the grounds. First we passed the elementary building, then the high school and on around the corner to the back where we saw the shop and agricultural building, next was a storage room where scenery and other things were kept; and then suddenly as if struck by a flash of lightning, my cousin saw that little red building. After a few striking minutes she turned to me and asked for what purpose was that cute little building used.

With a chuckle, I glanced at her and then to the building, bursting with pride, and told her it was our music room. It was there that we held our glee club meetings, band rehearsals, instrumental instruction, plus the music classes.

We finally got back to the car. Then she began asking so many questions, I got lost in the middle of them. When she stopped at last, I began to tell her about our music room, starting from the very beginning.

The building was first used as a county school called Powell's School or Powell's Building and was located on the property of Pete Harrington, on the outskirts of town. When the elementary building, which was then the high school, was built, it was brought to its present location and used as a home-economics room. Then some years later our community built the present high school, which included today's home-economics room. After this the room was left empty and used for many, many years as a storage place. Then on a super day our music director discovered a super idea. So at our next band rehearsal he asked us if we would like to have a building just for music. Of course, we all agreed because then we had band practice in the auditorium and our lessons in the grade school next to the nurses' quarters. For a year the students and our music teacher kept after the principal and superintendent to transfer the building from a storage room to a music room. Suddenly that wonderful day came. The workmen started instantly in fixing the building. After they had finished, it was our turn to take the property over and place them in their proper places. So about two months later you could hear the band playing, the glee club singing, and music classes' merry laughter coming from the little red building. After hearing my short story, my cousin was ready to move to Harrington. She told me how proud I should be to come from such an ambitious school. I didn't really answer her directly by saying yes or no but what's your opinion?

Nail Polish And a Hammer

The large sunny room was filled with work tables, cabinets, and various machines, like a joiner, sanders, and large saw. It was the shop room of Harrington High School.

Working at the tables, or at some of the machines, were several boys and five girls.

These girls are from the 12th grade. They, and a number of their other female classmates, made school history in their 11th year as the first class of girls to take shop. Chalking up a good record as a class, four of them decided to take it another year.

When they came back last fall, the shop instructor, Mr. Kish, asked each of them to plan some large wooden object, besides the small ones they wanted to do.

The four girls decided to make some small wooden objects for the first six weeks, while they thought about what to make as their big project.

Perhaps two of the most beautiful objects made in that period of time were a nut bowl and candy dish (or bowl) set made by Marie Hopkins.

In making each bowl, Marie first cut out a number of narrow strips of wood, of various colors. As her second step, she glued the strips together, making several small boards, each one a different color. Next, she glued these boards in layers, alternating the light and the dark boards. Cutting out the block of wood, formed by the above process, in a barrel shape on the jig-saw, Marie then shaped the wood into a bowl on the lathe. The lathe turned the wood around while she cut the wood with variously shaped, knife-like tools. The result of this work was a beautiful bowl made of pieces of differently-colored wood put together so well that it seems that nature must have created a new and wonderful kind of wood.

Some of the other things made were vanity benches and bird boxes.

By now, the girls knew what they wanted to make for their big project. Marie Hopkins, Pauline Hutson, and Virginia Lee Black had decided on cedar hope chests. Janet Harrington was interested in making a dresser, or chest of drawers.

At midyear, one of their classmates, Jean Smith, joined them. She has just finished making a bookcase about five feet high and two and a half feet wide.

Mr. Kish is hoping that the rest of the projects will be finished in time to exhibit at the spring festival.

Band Gives Concert For The Grade School

On Tues., March 31, the Harrington High School Band gave a concert for the grade school. The purpose of the concert was to get the children interested in taking lessons next fall. Before the second number, Mr. Brobst had members of the band play their part on the different instruments. Then each section of the woodwinds and the brasses played their part altogether. The woodwind section includes the clarinets and the saxophones. The brass section includes the trumpets, trombones, baritone horn, bass horn, alto horn, and French horn. Then the whole band played the number together.

Some of the numbers played by the band were: "Si Trocadero," "Who," "The Mouse and the Clock," "I've Told Every Little Star," "Stars and Stripes Forever," "Liberty Bell March," "Footlifters," and "Billboard." On the march "Billboard," Mr. Brobst had a boy from the audience come up and direct the band, and he really did well. This made the grade school enjoy the concert that much more. The concert was enjoyed by the grades one through six.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Shultie, daughter, Deanne, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Roberts Jr. and son and Mr. and Mrs. Burton Satterfield and daughters spent Sunday in Washington, D. C.

Kenneth Tatman is in a Wilmington hospital suffering from a nervous ailment.

Cloid Fry Jr. is home from the Milford Memorial Hospital, but must remain in bed for several weeks. Mr. Fry has ulcers.

Stuart McLean Race Secretary At Ocean Downs

Ocean Downs Raceway, the picturesque harness track overlooking the sea at Ocean City, Md., completed the roster of its new officials for the 20-night harness meet opening August 5, with the announcement by track president, Earl E. Conley, that popular C. Stuart McLean Jr., of Hamburg, N. Y., will take over as racing secretary.

McLean, who has established a national reputation as a classifier during the past six years in which he has served as racing secretary of the popular and fast growing Buffalo Raceway, Hamburg, N. Y., succeeds Dick James at the ocean oval. James recently was appointed historian for the United States Trotting Association.

McLean has provided many a thrill for the fans at Buffalo during his secretaryship there, and a large share of the credit for the zooming success of the New York oval has been attributed to his skill at providing outstanding races.

But McLean brings a wealth of harness experience besides that gained at Buffalo to his new post. In 1940, when big-time night harness racing was still in its infancy, he was associate judge at Roosevelt Raceway, L. I., N. Y., and in the same year served as associate judge at Good Time Track, historic scene of the annual $90,000 Hambletonian trotting classic at Goshen, N. Y.

In 1941 he was presiding steward at Batavia Downs Raceway and continued as associate judge at the Roosevelt plant.

Then the war forced an intermission of his harness activities, and he served with the 14th U. S. Army Division in the Philippines and in Japan. McLean is now 40, has three children, and is definitely established as one of the top racing secretaries in the nation.

He is now hard at work preparing the schedule for the 68 nights of racing at Buffalo, which ends August 2, but is keeping in touch with activities preparatory to the Ocean Downs meet.

He will arrive at Ocean Downs Aug. 3, in time to draw up the first entries for the 20-night session by the sea. He will work in close co-operation with two other new officials of the resort track, S. Rudy Brittingham, general manager, and Paula Jablon, assistant general manager.

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

You have often heard of this and that lasting for a long time—like a washer for 32 years or a water heater for 25 years and many such things. I have always wanted to get something to last forever and that I now have.

Come to the store and see the beautiful concrete seats only $10.00; bird baths, $8.50; large urns $3.50 or small urns either round or square for only $2.50.

Folks I know you have just a spot in your yard or lawn for one or more of these things to make it more beautiful. When you are out working in your garden wouldn't you give something pretty at times to have a basket to sit down on? Well throw away the basket and get one these concrete benches and you will have a seat forever. They all come in white, never needs painting.

One of the greatest miracles of our time happened Tuesday when an atom bomb was exploded at the convenience of man, and what more to think you know just when to turn on your television to see it explode. Folks I really feel sorry for some of you as I know you are without a television.

There is no guessing who has one or who doesn't as the spider web is not at your home and that means you either have good neighbors or just to tight to buy one. Even the poorest people today can have a television. In fact I have a small screen now in my store for just $50.00. This is much less than a good radio costs.

Of course it has always been a habit for us cow milkers to kinda hold back from buying things for the home until old man winter drives us in. But folks that might be so with radio account of what we call static, but on television the sound and picture comes through just as well in summer as in winter and no noise.

Folks you need a television and it is one of the best things you can put in your home. Even a bank will tell you it is money well spent. Why? You know the answer.

You all know by now that warm weather is here and are some of you holding your breath wondering if your old refrigerator will work again through another summer? Relax and come in and see the most wanted refrigerators today. Some with that new shade when the refrigerator is open and many with space on doors for little items. Of course they all have freezers all the way across holding from 38 pounds to 70 pounds of frozen food.

We are allowing as high as $150.00 on a trade. Come in now and see about 18 different models on display.

Freeze it now, eat it next winter. What I am talking about is fresh vegetables, fruits and etc. Of course you must have a freezer to hold them and just that I have either an upright or chest type from 6 cu. ft. to 30. Gas, Gas, Gas, Gas, Gas, Yes I said Gas and Gas I mean. When you who are using a cook range cooking with wood, coal or oil come in and buy a range for gas and have it installed free and pay for gas by the month. No outlay of money until you have used the gas. We install any stove whether you buy from us or not and give you a meter which tells exactly how much gas you use each month.

We have almost been swamped with wall paper customers for the past weeks but we were prepared for you and still are, as we have plenty and I mean plenty still to pick up. Brighten your home, start living again.

Talk Peace—Not War. It is a long way home but what a glorious feeling when we get there.

the other night it looks like it won't be long, and it won't be by the time this paper goes to press next week, it will be one. Then Genie will be saying: "Here they come, and there they go."

When you hear Mr. Enslin calling over the loud speaker, bring in your eligibility papers and apply for your passes, you know the races will soon be on, but the fun I had expected to enjoy is gone. So maybe next year I will have another colt or filly. I'm promised one anyway. So all I have in my trunk of memories I will save until this fall when I will unlock the trunk for one I will name Jug Head.

Thanks, Mrs. Griffith, for being so nice for everything. A few kind words go a long way.

Put Postmaster In Civil Service, Urges Frear

United States Senator J. Allen Frear has called for Congressional approval of the President's Reorganization Plan, which would place the appointment of postmasters under Civil Service.

In his weekly statement Senator Frear pointed out that the plan parallels legislation which he has twice introduced in Congress and which is now pending before a Senate committee.

The senator declared that the plan has been strongly endorsed not only by the President, but by the postmaster general as well. In addition, it is a major recommendation to the Hoover Commission.

Mr. Frear said he recognized that the confirmation of postmaster appointments by the Senate is a long established custom, and for that reason many senators are anxious to preserve that right. "However," he added, "it seems to me that there is ample justification for transferring postmaster appointments into the government agency which was chartered for the purpose of insuring the selection of qualified men and women for many other federal assignments."

Senator Frear explained that under the plan, postmasters now serving would not lose their jobs. However, when vacancies occur they will be filled in accordance with Civil Service procedure.

The Delaware senator contended that since the President was willing to forego his privilege of nominating postmasters, the Senate should be equally agreeable to giving up its prerogative of confirmation.

The Reorganization Plan, Senator Frear indicated, would have the practical effect of removing postmaster appointments from the realm of politics.

The senator urged public support for the plan, and at the same time praised the action of President Truman in recommending the move to Congress.

Minimum Age Limit Reduced To 25 on Cancer Examinees

The age limit for examinations in the Delaware Cancer Detection Centers will be reduced to 25 years, starting May 1, it was announced by the Delaware Division, American Cancer Society.

The detection centers, which have been operating for four years, provide free examinations for the detection of early cancer in women, and they were previously limited to women 35 years of age and over.

Floyd W. Woodcock, chairman of the division, said there has been a growing demand for the examination among women 25 to 35 years of age, and that the division has decided to supply the service being requested.

Dr. H. S. Rafal, medical director of the cancer detection centers, added that it will be beneficial for younger women to form the habit of getting periodic examinations. Furthermore, he said from the viewpoint of early cancer detection, there is a definite advantage in lowering the age limit.

Cancer of the cervix in situ, a type of cancer which can be cured in practically 100 per cent of cases, is known to occur at a younger average age. It is therefore hoped that by lowering the age limit more of this highly curable type of cancer will be detected.

The society, of course, has always been well aware that cancer occurs in this lower age group. However, economic necessity dictated the previous age limitation, so that the greatest yield of positive cases for the money spent would be obtained. The consistently excellent and enthusiastic response of the people of Delaware to the annual Cancer Crusade has made possible the extension of the range of coverage offered, at least on a tentative basis.

In percentage of positive cases found and in cost per positive case found, Delaware has consistently been among the best in the nation. It is safe to predict that our yearly statistics in these categories will suffer. However, the Cancer Society exists to serve the people of the state and not to achieve good statistics. It is hoped that by this measure improved service will be afforded.
