A. B. Parsons will be an uncontested candidate for the single vacancy on the Board of Education when Harrington Special School District holds its election tomorrow afternoon at the high school.

City Inaugurates Further Street Improvements

The discussion of street and sewer improvements were the highlights of the May meeting of the City Council Monday night, with the passage of two ordinances as an anti-climax.

Of paramount interest was a decision to build curbing on Weiner Avenue, from Liberty to Center Streets, with the cost to be provided by the owners of the abutting property. Payment is to be made in full or upon agreed terms when the work is completed.

The Council also agreed to extend the sewer on Mechanic Street, at its junction with Railroad Avenue, some 30 or 40 feet eastward to a catch basin near the railroad, provided the work could be done at a reasonable price. The sewer westward on Mechanic Street, from Railroad Avenue to Fleming Street, was retitled last week as part of the current improvement program. The City will put in 500 feet of 8-inch sewer from 309 Vernon Road to the establishment of Taylor and Messick, with Councilman J. Edward Taylor, a member of the firm, paying for cost of material and $350 on the installation costs. A manhole will be installed at the western terminus of the sewer, with a T-joint at the establishment of Melville Taylor in case it is decided to run the sewer across Vernon Road.

The Council passed two ordinances. Ordinance No. 45 prohibits the discharge of air rifles or airguns in the city limits, with a fine of $1 for the first offense and $5 for a second. The group passed Ordinance No. 46 making it illegal to park vehicles of any kind on sidewalks or walkways, with a fine of $5 for the first offense, and $10 for a second.

Howard Donovan Serving Another Hitch in Far East

At sea with Task Force 77, March 28-A 20-year-old Navy veteran of Korean duty has a new "pitch" in making his third tour of combat duty in the Far East war zone.

"It may be the same place, but the effect of heavy seas is sure different," declares Fire Controlman Howard W. Donovan of Harrington, Del., who is serving his first hitch aboard a destroyer, the USS James C. Owens, on the heels of two trips to the Far East aboard the 28,000 ton carrier, USS VALLEY FORGE. Both vessels are currently operating as units of Task Force 77 off the Korean coast.

The two ships are of such different types that it's hard to compare duties, says the young fire controlman third class, however, I can't help but look over at the "Valley" with some envy when the seas start bouncing us around. There's certainly no comparison in the pitching and rolling."

His new duty, however, has afforded Donovan an opportunity to get a closer view of the rugged Korean coastline than he has had in the past. Since joining Task Force 77 the J. C. OWENS under the command of CDR. R. B. ERLY USN of Gulfport, Mississippi, has participated in close shore bombardment of Red gun positions, troops and Supply points in the Dosong area as well as gun strikes at enemy Supply routes further north.

"You get that same feeling of doing your part though whether it be firing off the coast or knowing that you're part of a team effecting a powerful airstrike against the enemy," he added.

Donovan, who joined the Navy in September, 1948, and shipped over for six years last September, plans to make the Navy his career. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Day (Stepfather), Box 193, Harrington.

Prior to serving in the J. C. OWENS and VALLEY FORGE, Donovan also served aboard the carrier, ANTIETAM, for a short period in 1949 and spent a year on the USS SAN MARCOS, a landing ship dock.

One of eight children, he has two brothers, both of whom have seen service in the navy aboard the USS BOISE during World War II.

Sulky Slants

By Mrs. Dave (Pat) Smith

Plenty of excitement out here at the track, every one hurrying to make the daily doubles. Others asking, do you know who will be in the double? If I did hit or even come close, it would pay about $8. But its fun trying. I'm staying on 4 and 3. Why, I don't know.

Had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Betty Bradford of the Milford Chronicle in the Press Box Saturday evening. Very charming person.

Mrs. Enslin, wife of our race secretary, had as her guest in the press box, Mrs. Champ Bell.

The old saying is, the horse makes the gal, but in this case, it's Mary Jane Bradford, who leads the field. What a wonderful rider when she leads the ponies to the post. And her riding togs are really outstanding.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dyer are expecting their son and daughter-in-law, home from Fairbanks, Alaska. He is getting his discharge from the army.

Bally Boy who broke a bone in his foot in a race, still is on foot. He seems to be able to get around in his stall without any pain. I talked with Mrs. Patterson who can't make up her mind just what to do about destroying him. He's 14 years old and his last year to come. She tells me Dr. Churchill comes over every day, but she puts him over each day. I know just how she feels. Mrs. Patterson told me if she were closer to home they would turn the old fellow out.

Jack Walters has added a new blue awning to his stable.

Bobby Hobbs, Dudley Spencer will go to the post by the time this paper goes to press, and Bobby, not the horse, is stall walking.

Eddie Kelly leaves Sunday for Rosencroft, also Warren Holmes Stable goes out.

Roland Harrington certainly doing all right at the start of the season. Two wins under his belt. And another one who has had his first trainer's job is Julian Young. He also has had his first win with Arch Bunter.

Bobby Ray and wife have a new baby girl, and does Bobby go around with a big smile.

Who says that Harrington Raceway doesn't have the most wonderful office personnel. Take the girls in the office, Mr. and Mrs. Enslin, Harvey Hartman, presiding judge, starting judge, Dale Fetrow, very pleasant to talk to, and no one can come up to Mr. Holloway. Mr. Williams, president of the Kent and Sussex Raceway, was certainly nice to me in the office the other evening. Expressed his sympathy to me about my colt. And don't you think it wasn't appreciated.

I'm pretty busy now going to the paddock nearly every evening so my news will be short and sweet this week.

The local Boy Scout troop is in need of a meeting place which it can call its very own. Right now the troop is meeting in the Youth Center.
 Robert Wechtenhiser, Scout leader, said the group desired a meeting place where it could place its banners, standards, etc., on the walls.
 This is a worthwhile project. Surely someone must have a room not in use.

USE THE NEW CITY DIRECTORY

The new city directory, recently issued by the Odd Fellows, is quite valuable. Here are some examples of how it can be used: If you know the street on which the pertinent party lives, the directory will usually give the street number. If you do not know the street, look up the name of the person concerned in the phone directory, which will also give the street but not the street number. Use the directory to verify spelling names. This is particularly necessary when the name is not in the phone book.

HANDS ACROSS THE SEA

Little favors by big hearted Charley Derrickson, engineer on the DM&V branch, have gone a long way to establish favorable public relationship between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the U. S. Zone in Germany.
 During World War II when prison labor was being used at the Libby-McNeill canning plant at Houston, Charley noticed a young German prisoner inside the enclosure, deeply interested in the operation of the locomotive shifting cars along the outside of the fence.
 This railroad-minded boy was 17-years-old Heinz Becker.
 Charley says he noticed this lad was always off by himself, away from the others, and always at the corner of the fence where he could get a close up view of the engine, which he would follow back and forth every minute it was there. One day Charley lit a cigaret and tossed it out of the cab of the engine, over the fence to the lad. That cigaret is still burning and has welded a tie of friendship and good will that has reached proportions far beyond the Eastern Shore and the little old Delmarva division of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

We have read a number of the letters of appreciation from Heinz to Charley that make us feel happy to know we have that kind of men around us.
 After displaying some of these letters at the Rotary Club recently, the writer was attempting to explain to Charley, what a good job he had done toward United Nations and asked if he had read any literature along this line.
 Charley summed up the whole situation by saying he had been reading The Good Book ever since he was a kid and that Heinz Becker did likewise.
 We are going to hear more about Heinz Becker, who now lives happily with his wife in the U. S. Occupational Zone at Land Hassen, Germany.

SEE US FOR INTERPRETERS

If you are in need of interpreters of European languages, the chances are you can find them at the Journal office. Composer Leon Kukulka speaks Polish. Hans Mayer, linotype operator, speaks German, Yiddish, and French, and some Hebrew. Editor C. H. Burgess has a working knowledge of Italian, German, and French, with a little Spanish thrown in for good measure.

One McCaffery, an engraver from the Government Printing Office in Washington, spent the weekend in Harrington while looking for a place to retire. He bragged on the appearance of the town and thought it would be a good place in which to spend the rest of his days. Mr. McCaffery's remarks caused us to recapitulate a moment on Harrington as a dwelling place. It is an attractive town, with well kept streets and neat homes. Furthermore, the City of Harrington has been consistently improving its streets, lighting and sewers, now that it is out of the red. We are close to metropolitan centers. We do have good roads and good transportation facilities. We do have a clean town. We do have excellent educational facilities and will have better with the current school-building program. The grass is also green on this side of the fence.

MOTHER'S SONG.
 J. Harry Wright.

My mother's song in the twilight,
 Winged its way into my soul,
 As an arrow speeds in its flight
 Till it strikes its destined goal.
 My mother's caress, her tender love,
 As she taught me how to pray,
 Were blessings from heaven above,
 Fear and doubt they drove away.
 My mother sings no more to me,
 Though her voice is hushed and still,
 The song she sang so tenderly,
 Was of faith in God's good will.
 Mother's gone to dwell in heaven,
 Now she sings the victory song
 With the ransomed and forgiven,

Midst the white-robed, happy throng,
 I hope some day to see her there
 Midst the radiant hosts above;
 Where there's no sorrow, grief, or care,
 But there's peace, and joy, and love.
 Till then I'll tell men the story,
 And sing of God's wondrous grace;
 Till I meet the King of Glory,
 And gaze on the Master's face.
MOTHER
 By Samuel A. Short, Jr.
 What voice can be more precious than mother's,
 In a home when she is near,
 With the echo of her call above all others,
 Teaching the golden rule so

dear.
 What name can be more precious than mother's,
 And that longness to keep her there.
 With a happy heart and a joyful tear like other
 A kiss and a smile from her.
 All the beautiful things of life reminds us of mothers,
 The sunset a moonlit night,
 We cannot discount the years of your life from others,
 By virtue and truth you knew was right.
 Nothing will live in our memories so dear as you mother,
 With the songs you sang while we were near.
 Midst the radiant hosts above all others,
 With your voice so sweet we'd always hear.

Bookmobile Inside the
 By a Bookworm

Tuesday afternoon the bookmobile was filled to capacity with small girls and boys. It seems as though the younger generation has found out about the varied selection of books available there.
 I enjoyed "Time to Remember," by Lloyd C. Douglas, more than any book I have read in a long time. He also wrote "The Robe" and many others that were equally as good reading. At the age of over 70, and crippled with arthritis, his doctor ordered him to get back to work, so his family and publishers urged him to write a book of reminiscences. This Mr. Douglas did in a very human and down-to-earth way. It is unfortunate that he died before completing volume 2, the memories of his life in the ministry and as a novelist. Don't miss this one.
 Jubilee Trail," by Gwen Bristow, a novel, is easy, entertaining reading. It is the story of a fashionable young lady from New York who married a trader who, every year, made the trek over the Jubilee Trail from California to Santa Fee, crossing the mountains and deserts by mule training braving the Indians and the elements. California was then still under Mexican rule, but was looked on as one of the Russian czar's outposts of empire. Los Angeles was just a huddle of adobe houses by the side of a muddy creek. I believe you would enjoy this, however, it is lengthy.

I could see many interesting titles on the shelves, including "11 Years in Soviet Prison Camps," by Elinor Lipper, and "White Man Returns," by Agnes Keith.
 This week I took out "Through Charley's Door," by Emily Kimbrough, "My Lamp is Bright," by Dorothy Smith, and "White Man Returns." I'll let you know about them next writing.
 May 20 is next bookmobile date.

Exceptional Children To Be Discussed at Dover

Representatives of welfare agencies and the public schools will discuss the co-ordination of services for exceptional children at a meeting in Dover tomorrow, according to John Charlton, state director of Child Development and Guidance.

"Through an understanding of the co-operative relationship among the various agencies and the schools, we hope to provide an ever better service for these children," Mr. Charlton stated. "Foremost is our desire to prevent a duplication or overlapping of activities. With a full knowledge of what the other agencies are doing, we can provide a more effective and efficient service in our public schools," he added.

Representatives of the Juvenile Court, Public Welfare, Children's Bureau, Family Court, and the State Board of Education will participate.

The agenda will include discussions on the following: school entry and withdrawal of foster children under agency custody, foster children having difficulty in school, sharing confidential information relative to foster children, communication channels related to children under protective and probation service, sharing confidential information relative to delinquent school children, and progress reports between the schools and the Family Court.

Dr. H. B. King, assistant state superintendent in charge of Elementary Education, will be the moderator of the conference.

Ten-minute presentations will be given by Judge Marion Stevenson, Juvenile Court for Kent and Sussex Counties; Harvey E. Stahl, administrator; Mrs. Florence Clark, chief of Child Welfare Division of Public Welfare; Miss Elizabeth S. Townsend, director of Child Bureau of Delaware; Mrs. Martha I. Barnes, visiting teacher, New Castle County, and C. W. Anderson, Family Court for New Castle County. Mrs. Martha I. Barnes will present the overall problems confronting visiting teachers in their relationship with social agencies. Robert J. Darling, state supervisor of guidance, will summarize the conference.

Pennywise and Pound Foolish

We see some of our boys out at the track hobnobbing with the chicken and feedmen. Two of them informed us they were in to the feed business ever since the races started and if some of their horses didn't soon come through, they would have to get into the bread line.

We were given a tip the other night that failed to materialize. Looking up the source after the race we were reminded that we too had faltered on prospective dates for arrival of our diesel locomotives.

We now have pretty authentic information on delivery of three long hoped for smokeless units. Mark it on your calendar and arrange to curtail your purchase of soaps, scrubbing powder, dry cleaning etc. accordingly.

Freight engines will arrive 6 in June, 8 in September, 1 in 4th quarter.

Passenger Engines 1 in July, 2 in September, 4 in 4th quarter.

These 28 engines will take over the duties of 76 steam locomotives, with the exceptions of coughing smoke and cinders into your bedrooms, starting grass fires stopping for water, repair etc. Too bad they did not arrive before the spring meet as the blocking of crossings will be reduced to a minimum since nothing will be stopping for water. The absence of smoke over the tracks and entire fairgrounds from engines on the pit and both main line and branch tracks will be greatly appreciated by all, including the horses themselves.

Byron Burgess said he took his girl to a barn dance and got the same old stall.

Howard Williams became eligible for a 40 year service button on the 24 th of last month.

Dave McKibben, our new Supervisor of Structures moved his goods from Buffalo this week into the house vacated by Jim Moore, his predecessor, on Delaware Avenue.

Superintendent Lingenfelter his staff were in town for the safety meeting Tuesday.

Charley Derrickson, Engineer on HFI received a nice letter last week from Heinz Becker in Germany. (See Editorial column).

We always have something interesting to look forward to. Just about the time the races are over we will be getting the first issue of the new Penny magazine mention of which has been made in this column.

This will bring us closer together with activities in our own field all over the system.

Maybe we will be fortunate enough to find some mention of interest on our own dear old Delmarva division.

If not in the first issue, we are sure going to get in line for something later so watch this column and at same time let the writer know of anything you fell might be of interest to the less fortunate boys up in the hill country where they have to wind the brake on every car they cut.

It makes each drop of gas say uncle

Then it's fired. And when that happens, a drop of gasoline certainly lets loose power.

This isn't something that happens in a "car of the future."

It happens in a Buick Fireball 8 Engine today. It's a high-compression engine. It's a valve-in-head engine. But it's also a Fireball in performance as well as name.

And it puts extra power under the hood —and extra miles in the fuel back in the gas tank.

Now, power is great, but what goes with it?

Mister, that's something you ought to find out—and soon.

What goes with it is an automobile as sweet-handling, eager and willing as anything that ever made your pulse leap to a faster beat.

It's a car that seems to know what you want it to do—true and sure in its course on a straightaway—beautifully balanced on curves.

It's a car with Dynaflo Drive* to feed power with infinite smoothness—and a road-hugging levelness of ride that took a million in cold cash to perfect.

And it is, with all this, a very tidy bargain. Why not price it, drive it, know it for yourself? We'll be glad to arrange a demonstration.

Weeds or Corn?
 If you're going to grow crop of weeds on your field, don't waste time and money on corn.

That's the way University of Delaware agronomist Claude E. Phillips feels. Says Phillips, "Weeds rob corn of air, sunshine and plant food. Cultivation can control weeds, and 2, 4-D can cut down needed cultivation."

An early start is half the battle. A weeder or rotary hoe can often be used to kill small weeds before the corn is big enough for a cultivator. Three or four cultivations are all that is necessary. Cultivating during a drought will not save enough moisture to make it worthwhile.

Phillips gives some 2, 4-D recommendations for field corn. Pre-emergence sprays are good on heavy northern Delaware soils. One and one-half quarts per acre of the amine salt of 2, 4-D will control grasses and broad-leaved weeds. Spray the ground before the corn comes up, and you'll need only one cultivation.

For sandy soil, 2, 4-D sprayed on the corn after it comes up, at one-half quart of amine salt solution per acre, will control most broad-leaved weeds. It will not damage the corn if done correctly, Phillips states. Check the package directions, and see your county agent for more detailed directions, he suggests.

Farm Building Plans Available at U. of D.

Well-planned and well-built farm buildings can be the key to success on a modern farm. In spite of this, according to Earl A. Crouse, agricultural engineer with the University of Delaware agricultural extension service, most farmers can't afford to hire architects to design their buildings.

"Every building should be built twice," says Crouse, "the first time on paper."

To help farm people help themselves, the USDA is co-operating with the Land Grant Colleges in making some of the best farm building plans available. The plans are picked for simplicity and economical construction.

"These plans," Crouse points out, "are being furnished to residents of Delaware free of charge. You may get them by asking your county agent. Although we may not have plans for the exact building you want, we are usually able to supply something which can be adapted to your need."

Snap Beans Good Home Garden Crop

Both yellow and green snap beans will produce a big crop, in a short time, on small spaces. "And you can have a continuous supply of fresh ones from July to October, by planting about every three weeks," says Robert F. Stevens, horticulturist of the Delaware agriculture extension service.

Snap beans have more vitamins than the yellow, says Stevens, but the yellow ones add variety.

Green snap bean recommended varieties are: Stringless Green Pod, Tender Green, Improved Logan, Tender Po, Topcrop, and Contender.

Wax, or yellow, bean recommended varieties are: Pencil-pod Wax, Golden Wax, Round Pod Kidney Wax, and Cherokee.

Kentucky Wonder is a good variety of pole snap beans for Delaware conditions.

The green beans have more vitamins than the yellow, says Stevens, but the yellow ones add variety.

Snap beans are not particular about soil. Any well-drained soil, not too acid, will produce a good crop. Fertilizer is best applied in bands about three inches either side of the seed and deeper than the seed. Stevens suggests the all-purpose vegetable garden fertilizer 5-10-10, at the rate of 1 pound for 35 feet of a row. Side dressing during the season will increase the crop.

The one bad pest of snap beans, the Mexican bean beetle, can be controlled by dusting with rotenone.

Forest Service—for help on forest management, planting methods and varieties.

Report on the Fertilizer Situation

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has issued another of its reports on the fertilizer situation—this time a report covering the 1951-1952 outlook. Here's how the experts in the Production and Marketing Administration view the prospects:

The 1951-52 supply of nitrogen and potash will exceed by a small margin the record quantities available for use last year. But somewhat less phosphate is in sight than last season, and orderly distribution will present problems.

The supply of nitrogen is expected to be slightly higher than it was last year—perhaps about 7 per cent higher. But an increase in industrial demand—or a change in military requirements—could upset this narrow improvement.

A record quantity of potash was available last year. And present prospects are for an increase of about 5 per cent in the potash supply. But some curtailment is expected in the production of superphosphate—due to the scarcity of sulfur and sulfuric acid. Allowing for these cut-backs, the 1951-1952 supply is estimated to be about 6 per cent less than the quantity available last year.

Last year, supplies of sulfur for agricultural uses were short of essential needs. And a continuing shortage is expected this year, and in ensuing years—unless efforts are made to increase supplies, and to promote the use of alternate materials or methods. Farm Materials Outlook Improves. Allotments of steel, copper, and aluminum for the construction of food processing plants, wholesale food distribution facilities, and farm buildings—in the third quarter of this year—appear to be sufficient to permit approval of all essential construction. That's the word from experts in the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Allotments for farm machinery will permit production to continue at about the 1949 level—which is about 80 to 85 per cent of farmer's present requirements. But the most critical item of farm equipment is the crawler tractor—particularly in the larger sizes. Third-quarter allocation for these machines is higher than this quarter. But it will take some time to wipe out the back-log of orders.

USDA to Purchase Smoked Pork Products

It will offer to purchase substantial quantities of smoked pork products to divert from the market temporary burdensome supplies of pork which are resulting in unfavorable prices for producers. The pork will be distributed later this year to non-profit school lunch program and other eligible outlets. The purchase will be made with "Section 32" funds. Products on which offers will be accepted include smoked pork shoulder picnics, hams and bacon. Shell Egg Purchase Program. USDA will purchase up to 500,000 cases of shell eggs, to divert from the market temporary surpluses of eggs which are resulting in unfavorable prices for producers. The eggs will be distributed this fall to non-profit school lunch programs and to other eligible outlets. Purchases will be on a competitive bid basis, and will be made in carload quantities from dealers who submit their bids to the Poultry Branch, USDA. Bids will be received each Tuesday beginning April 29, and acceptances will be on or before the following Friday of each week.

Philadelphia Milk Order

USDA approved changes in the Philadelphia federal milk marketing order would reduce the minimum Class II milk price for certain purposes during April, May, and June 1952 and would modify the provisions regulating plants which sell milk during the months April through August, 1952 in both the Philadelphia and New York markets. Before these changes can be put into effect, they must have the further approval of producers or producer groups in the Philadelphia area. Seed of Atlantic Alfalfa Available

To Farmers for 1952 Plantings

This year, for the first time, many farmers east of the Mississippi will be able to get seed of Atlantic alfalfa, a productive new variety with some resistance to leaf spot diseases. Dr. D. F. Beard, in charge of USDA forage crop research, reports that one-half million pounds of certified Atlantic alfalfa seed are available for 1952 plantings. Atlantic alfalfa, developed at the New Jersey agriculture experiment station, was released in 1942, and has outyielded Buffalo, Ranger, Kansas Common and Grimm by an average of 10 per cent or from 500 to 800 pounds of hay per acre.

Taylor Goes In For Livestock

Bill Taylor, operator of Marvel Acres, on Route 1, Harrington, has begun to raise livestock as an addition to his extensive truck-raising operations.

Last fall he purchased five registered heifers, bred to Elgan Eston Quality 4th, and ran them on a 4-acre pasture before wintering them in the woods. The cattle are now back on the four-acre tract of Ladino, orchard grass, redtop, and lespedeza. Three heifers have calved and a fourth is due to freshen any day.

Taylor has also purchased a registered Angus bull, a yearling, Fair View of Erica, from George Cain, of Fair View Farms near town. He plans on increasing the herd to about 30 head, selling the bull calves as steers.

The Marvel Acres operator, who is now cutting asparagus in a large way, also has a registered Hereford boar and two gilts.

He put 135 acres in vetch, crimson clover, and ryegrass, with barley as a nurse crop. Recently he plowed under all but 25 acres which he intends to cut for hay about the first of June. Then, he will plow it under and plant corn. The 135 acres got 3 to 5 tons of poultry manure per acre.

Crop Insect Survey And Warning Service in State

Delaware is taking part in the 1952 co-operative insect-pest survey and reporting service. This is nationwide, and includes federal, state, and industrial agencies.

Dr. L. A. Stearns, head of the University of Delaware entomology department, describes the service as a means of keeping farmers throughout the country forewarned of insect conditions. Delaware has co-operated in similar surveys for 3 years, by publishing a weekly news letter, "Late News About Insects and Diseases."

The 1952 co-operative warning service, which started May 2, will be more complete. It will cover more crops, with reports from more people, and will issue weekly a warning letter to state entomologists and insecticide manufacturers. When emergencies arise, warnings will be sent from national headquarters by wire.

Defense-wise, the survey organization will provide the skeleton organization needed for protection against biological warfare if the occasion arises.

Delaware's reporting and warning service news letter is designed primarily for large-scale commercial growers. It reports on growing conditions, on insects found in the state each week, and recommends control treatments. However, it does include information on ornamentals and most home-garden vegetables.

More pacers with records of two minutes or faster for the mile distance will race in 1952 than ever before in the history of the harness racing sport. A survey of racing certificate requests filed with the U. S. Trotting Association shows that 32 two-minute stars are expected to face starting gates from Maine to California this year. In 1951, 11,187 horses got to the races. Only 18 were able to negotiate a mile in two minutes or faster. The two minute list thus is reserved for the elite of the harness racing world. The fast pacing brigade will make its first collective pass at 1952's gold and glory at Santa Anita Park, Arcadia, Calif., this Saturday when a dozen or more go postward in the $10,000 added San Diego Pace. From then the action will be thick and fast until mid-November. Included among the two minute stars slated to race this year are the fastest harness horses in training today, the fastest race pacer the sport has ever known, the two highest priced harness horses ever sold at auction and at least five other world record holders. K. D. Owen's Samson Hanover, with a record of 1:56.4, is the fastest harness horse in America today and while he's sitting out the San Diego trainer Frank Ervin expects to have him ready for the eastern swing next month. Another star in the Ervin barn is Good Time, the sport's leading money-winning pacer, and the fastest of his gait in an actual race off a 1:57.4 mile last October. Good Time is owned by W. H. Cane, Goshen, N. Y. Hanover Shoe Farms, Hanover, Pa., owns the joint world champion 3-year-old pacers Tar Heel and Solicitor who turned in identical time trial miles of 1:57.2 last season. Tar Heel cost the Pennsylvania nursery $125,000 at auction last November and Solicitor went for $100,000. Other world champions among the 32 "miracle mile" performers ready to go back to work this year are the stallions Dudley Hanover and Ferman Hanover, the gelding Prince Jay and the mares Highland Ellen and Tassel Hanover.

Babe Ruth Award Given

The Babe Ruth Sportsmanship Program Award has been presented to two Felton seniors, Janet Sylvester and Louis Palmatory. This is the first year the award has been given at Felton. The Babe Ruth Sportsmanship Program was established as a memorial to a great American who loved "Kids" as a charitable, educational, and philanthropic organization dedicated to the youth of America. Its purpose is to stress activities aimed at promoting the recreation and leisure time interests of children and good sportsmanship in the school and community. What is the sportsmanship program? It is recognized that sportsmanship and self government go hand in hand. In the political community, as well as on the field of sports, interests clash, the rights of others must be recognized and defeat as well as victory must be taken in stride. It is believed that the spirit of sportsmanship developed on our playing areas and among those who look on from the grandstand can be transferred in some degree in later adult activities in the community, the state, the nation and even in international relations. It is to cultivate this spirit that the Babe Ruth Sportsmanship Program has been organized. It is sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, the Babe Ruth Foundation, and the American Association for Health, physical education and recreation. Student Council Election The Student Council will hold an election for next year's officers Wednesday. The election will be held during the assembly period. Third News Film to be Shown The third release of the News Magazine of the Screen will be shown at Felton today. This excellent pictorial review of the news events of the day is produced by the Warner Pathe News and sponsored by the News-Journal papers. It is distributed by the State Board of Education. Among the many scenes which this third release will show are scenes of the redecorated White House, the Midwest floods, the

Festival of Arts

Music, the dance, crafts, painting and sculpture, and the drama all contributed to the Harrington Art Festival held in the school buildings, Friday evening, April 25.

At 6 o'clock groups began touring hallways and classrooms with guides to see the art work displayed by pupils from the first grade to the twelfth. Displays of nearly every kind of art and craft possible for young people were shown, from rug-making to pottery and from Randall Smith's big sculptural form that greeted arrivals at the main door to the first attempt at color harmony by a first-grader.

At 7:30 the Dramatic Club presented two scenes from William Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar," containing the assassination of Caesar and Antony's celebrated funeral speech over the body. Donald Sapp starred in the difficult role of Antony, bringing to it an emotional intensity surprising in so young an actor. He was ably seconded by Ralph Carpenter as Caesar, Russell McCready as Brutus, and Richard Brown as Cassius. A full list of the cast was given in a previous issue of this column.

A striking set had been prepared by the stage crew under the guidance of H. D. Williams, art director. Those who worked on the set, which represented the lobby of the Senate House in Rome, were George Graham, Maurice Willey, Preston Beauchamp, Charles Calloway, James Martin, Everett Warrington, Betty Greer, Maxine Phillippi, Grace Graham, Louise Hopkins, Ann Howard, Eleanor Walls and Peggy Adams, assisted by a number of others from the art department.

Extra players were Jeanne Lander, Louise Hopkins, Eleanor Walls, Ann Howard, and Nancy Nelson. Prompters were Ruth Wright and Margaret Baker.

Before the play the musical piece "Love Light" was played by a string ensemble under the direction of Melvin L. Brobst. Members of the ensemble were Elaine Downing, Sylvia Breeding, Emily Brown, Eileen Harris, Martha Gruwell, and Ruth Moore.

The play was followed by a group of dances directed by Mrs. Jeanne Miller. Priscilla Garey, Imogene Welch, Joan Shaw, Janet Smith, Louisa Howard and Emily Ann Morris revived a swinging Charleston bringing back the gay 'twenties for some of the middle-aged and older people in the audience. A lively Irish jig was danced by Patsy Minner, Janet Tibbitt, Mary Evelyn Harrington, Carolyn Tibbitt, and Barbara Edwards. A tumbling exhibit was given by Joan Shaw, Janet Smith, Louisa Howard and Jeanette Sapp. Pat Holloway starred in a slinky imitation of Betty Hutton.

A group of baton-twirlers gave a big-game atmosphere to the stage with their balancing and juggling. These were Janice Minner, Louisa Howard, Janet Smith, Loretta Rifenburg and Priscilla Garey. Four couples swung their partners in an old-fashioned square dance. Billy Shaw and Joann Dumont, Billy Taylor and Janice Holloway, Eugene Porter and Joan Shaw, and Gary Harrington and Ann Howard were the couples in this event. Finally came a soft-shoe dance by Mary Evelyn Harrington, Patsy Minner, Joan Shaw, Louisa Howard, and Janet Smith.

The climax of the evening came with the crowning of the king and queen, Maurice Willey and Ann Toppin. The royal court was as follows: Grade 12, Lois Langrell and Jack Carpenter; grade 11, Elaine Downing and Billy Bowdle; grade 10, Betty Louise Layton and Allen Hickman; grade 9, Jo Ann Brown and Frank Voss; grade 8, Allen Baker; grade 7, Mabel Jean Outten. The royal jesters were Jeanette Sapp and Marie Ratledge.

Several pupils gave a specialty program for the entertainment of their majesties and the audience. Eileen Harris sang "Love Is Where You Find It," Bonita Porter tap danced to the tune of "Lullaby of Broadway," and Jimmy Stayton offered "Hey, Good Lookin'" and "It May Be Silly, but Ain't It Fun?"

The carnival which was to have been held in conjunction with the art festival was postponed and held Wed., April 30, because of rainy weather. Members of the faculty committed of arrangements for the art festival and carnival were: H. D. Williams, chairman; Mrs. Violet Goodwill, Mrs. Jeanne Miller, Mrs. Kathleen Pollitt, and Messrs. M. L. Brobst, Leon Hart, Louis Kish, G. K. Vapaa, and W. E. Miller.

The Philadelphia Zoo

The lions interested me most of all at feeding time. They would smell the meat the lion keeper was bringing and paw the floor. The female lion would jump to her cage ceiling which was 12 to 12½ feet high. There was an old lion that tried to tear the cage down.

We saw a full grown lion that was about 3 feet high, 10 feet long from the tip of his nose to the tip of his tail and weighing about 500 pounds. As we know he is the king of the beast.

Donald Garey—age 10

My First Visit to the Zoo

The group I was with went in to the monkey building. The thing I liked best was the monkey that I made a face at. He or she which ever it was made a face at me. I gave the monkey a piece of popcorn and it ran to the corner of the cage, then made a face and ate the popcorn. Then it came back and begged for more. What little popcorn I had left, I threw in the cage. Then we left to see the rest of the animals.

Loretta Passwaters age 10

A Trip to the Zoo

I enjoyed the zoo and animals. I liked the hippopotamus and the black leopard. I saw parrots and lions. The parrots would say hello and laugh at you. I saw them feed the lions. I saw the monkeys and the bears. I liked to watch the snakes and turtles. Why I enjoyed the zoo most was because I had never been to the zoo.

Janice Wyatt—11 years

A Visit to the Zoo

There were several pheasants. The true pheasant is an old world bird. The species most often seen in zoological parks are the golden pheasant and the lady amherst. Both species were brought from the mountains of Tibet and southwestern China. The silver pheasant is also imported for display purposes. These and other species were brought into the United States and were set free in New Jersey, Maryland and along the Delaware River.

James Temple—age 10

My Trip to Philadelphia

When we went to Philadelphia Zoo, the first thing I saw was the snake. I saw the women change the water and then I saw the black snake and the he put his tongue out at us.

Then we went to the camels and I saw one hump camel and then went over to two hump camels and they had long fur that looked like jewelry that hung down from his hump. Then we went to the monkey home and we saw one eating an orange that looked like he was making bread then we saw a spider monkey and then we saw a little tiny monkey and it was hanging by its tail.

"Under My White Cross Plan I get up to $15 for 100 PER DAY plus $5 to $250 For My Surgeon"

Based on past records, 48,736 persons will be rushed to hospitals today. This year 1 out of 9 persons in the U.S. will be hospitalized. That means 1 person out of your family or your neighbor's is due to become a hospital case within the next year. And 60% of those cases will require surgery. More than 25,000,000 smart persons have already taken out some form of hospital plan.

Rates Never Raised
 Because the WHITE CROSS PLAN employs standard underwriting procedures to develop a select group of lives, it has never found it necessary to make a single upward adjustment in general rates. You kept the rate you started with, even if you started at the 75c child's rate; it did not increase when you became an adult as long as you stayed on this, your original policy.

We Pay Your Hospital, Your Doctor or YOU!
 It's "your money" and subject to your orders. You just tell us where to send your check.

$ Pays hospital room and meals from $4 up to $15 per day, up to 100 hospital days per year, per person.
$ Pays Surgeon's fees from $5.00 to $250.00 for operations in home, hospital or doctor's office.
$ Pays for X-Rays, medicines, treatments (as specified) given in hospital, even though not bed patient.
$ Pick any Surgeon and any Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Lemans and family were visitors with friends in Chance, Maryland on Sunday afternoon.

The sale of the household furnishings of the late Charlie Shulties held here in Town on Saturday afternoon completed the cycle of another old couple who have been residents of our community and village for a long time but such is the march of time.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker Glandon have purchased the home of the late Charlie Shulties and we presume will be occupying it in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Glandon were part of our community until their marriage and we welcome them back with us most heartily.

W. O. Cabbage attended the funeral service of Leon Stein held in Wilmington on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

He formed Mr. Stein's acquaintance in 1927 and while not always agreeing with the gentleman's ideas and or tactics employed to execute the desire of his employer one personal trait of his stood out prominently.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Reynolds and children of Wickwire, Md. were Sunday visitors with Mrs. Reynolds parents W. O. and Mrs. Cabbage and daughter Joanne.

Last Sunday's Star under Joe Martins Ramblings carried a report of former conditions in the locks of the old C and D Canal.

Smith Gooden brought those tales into our village when we were boys how he and his "buddies" dipped herring and an occasional shad out of the locks until everyone was supplied and many went to waste.

I wonder if history might repeat itself leastwise prospects are much brighter than in former years.

The race fans at Harrington need not fear Percy and Phantom as they will not be there this season.

This place was never before known for fishing, but after the heavy rainfall we had recently the ditches overflowed depositing fish in fields and small tributaries.

The words of King George VI are worthy of our consideration in this present world of ours.

He said, "If our world is to survive in any sense that makes survival worthwhile, it must learn to love, not to hate; to create, not to destroy."

"Compensating Beauty"

The noted designer and colorist, Dorothy Liebes, stresses the fact that color appeal is emotional rather than solely intellectual.

She urges more use of color in the home to provide the needed "compensating beauty" during the present time of tension.

Sentimental Value

San Franciscans are hoping that the renewal of service on the California Street cable lines will not mean a change of color scheme.

The world-famous little cable cars, painted maroon and lettered in gold, are well beloved by San Franciscans.

Not only local but visiting painters of note delight in depicting the picturesque conveyances on their sketch pads and canvases.

The bouncy, clanky cars are renowned on postcard and portrait.
