

Railroad News

While chatting with a number of retired and active members at the railroad veterans' club at Rehoboth recently, it was interesting to note how they enjoyed living over the events of their heyday. All agreed they had lived through a wonderful age and had taken part in the advancement of 40-car trains, with all hand brakes, train phones, and diesel engines with dynamic brakes. But the question at hand was: "Are the boys of today cut out to be as good as the old boys in handling their trains and assuming their responsibilities?" Only time can answer many of their questions but it is doubtful if there will be as many able-bodied men retire after 50 years of service and still be physically fit to do hard work as many of those are doing today.

This, of course, is due to the duties of the earlier railroad men requiring more physical effort, such as hand firing a locomotive on long, heavy hauls of 12 and 16 hours duration, trainmen coming over the top of loaded cars, setting and releasing the brakes, and having to get on and off of moving trains at speeds much faster than today.

In many cases, they walked several miles to and from their homes in all kinds of rough weather.

A similar change has taken place in the Armed Forces and the old boys who served in World War I cannot be criticized for wondering how the soldier of today, hauled around in Pullman berths and dining cars, feted at every big city in USO's, night clubs, etc., can be trained to be the tough fighting men they were required to be. Their routine was to travel in day coaches on military trains with mess kitchens in a box car next to the engine. One of those boys, whose home was at Stantonville, tells us he got home from camp for several weekend visits, got off the train at Greenwood or Farmington, and walked to his home in pitch dark with his sailor bag on his back.

Is it any wonder a couple of our local engineers, who laid out there in the trenches two and three weeks at a time, might have their own ideas about the military trains they are hauling to Lewes the past two weekends.

We do not want to take anything away from the present generation. But do want to add a word for the so-called Old Boys in both the Army and the railroad game. They are builders who made possible many of our present conveniences and to them we dedicate this little poem.

The Builder

An old man going a lone highway,
Came at evening cold and grey,
To a chasm vast and deep and wide.

The old man crossed in the twilight dim,
The sullen stream had no fear for him.
But he turned when safe on the other side,
And built a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man," said a pilgrim standing near,
"You're wasting your time in building here.
You never again will pass this way,
Your journey will end with the closing day.
You have crossed the chasm, deep and wide,
Why build you a bridge at evening tide?"

The builder raised his old grey head,
"Kind friend, in coming here," he said,
"There followeth after me a youth today,
Whose footsteps must also pass this way.
The chasm that has been as naught to me
To that fair-haired youth may a pitfall be;
He, too, must cross in the twilight dim,
Good friend, I am building the bridge for him."

Shotgun Kills Milford Man

T. Ralph Snowberger, 45, a former teacher of agriculture in Milford High School, was found dead of a shotgun wound in the head at his home on Walnut Street at Milford Monday morning.

Mr. Snowberger was in bed with a shotgun beside him. Dr. J. M. Homan, who was called, said he died instantly.

Since leaving the high-school faculty, Mr. Snowberger had been a field agent for Libby, McNeil, and Libby, a canning company at Houston and most recently a salesman for a feed company.

Mr. Snowberger was a graduate of the University of Delaware, class of 1930. At the university he was a baseball star and played soccer. He was a member of the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity at the university.

He is survived by his wife, the former Mildred Heite, and three grown children. They are Joann, who is employed in Milford; T. Ralph, Jr., a student at the University of Delaware; and Betty Mae, who was valedictorian of this year's June class at Milford High School.

His wife had driven Joann to work and found Snowberger in bed after she had returned.

Funeral services were held at the Berry Funeral Home Wednesday.

Interment was in Odd Fellows Cemetery.

Milford Fire Ruins Tavern, Routs Families

An early morning fire caused $25,000 damage in Milford's business district Saturday morning.

Flames were confined to a kitchen, office, and two storage areas in an extension on the ground floor of an apartment building adjoining the Hotel Norman on Walnut Street. Smoke and water caused heavy damage to a bar and restaurant in the main building.

Lone victim of the blaze was a large parrot who was overcome by smoke, although five families were driven from the upper floor of the building.

The fire destroyed $8000 worth of liquor in the storage room and caused $12,000 in damage to the building and equipment according to its owner, Howard C. Furness of Milford.

The Economy Auto Supply Company reported that nearly $5000 worth of truck and tractor tires stored in a small building adjoining the kitchen was also destroyed.

Mr. Furness believes the fire was caused by the explosion of three tanks of cooking gas in the storage room. He was awakened by the blast, but a passersby discovered the fire and notified police at 2 a. m.

Firemen of the Carlisle Fire Company, Milford, fought the blaze for an hour and one half before bringing it under control with water pumped from the Mispillion River, a block away.

Two cars belonging to guests of the hotel and garages behind the building were damaged.

Over the Horizon

by Samuel A. Short Jr.
Over the horizon far and wide
With it's celestial stillness so warming,
Is the blue skies in the morning,
Encircling the earth, side by side.

The brightness of each dawn,
With its bodies of heavenly Divine,
Brings happiness to the weak and the brawn,
With rapture and peace so fine.

Echoes call in the mid summer's breeze,
With the chirping of the song bird,
Flowing through the woods and trees,
Spreading their musical vocabulary of words.

'Tis but a vista to behold,
With vivid scenes of brilliant uprising
With lifelike images forever untold,
Tending to produce colors over the horizon.

KIDDIES DAY PICNIC POSTPONED

Due to inclement weather Wednesday the annual Kiddies Day picnic at Wheeler's Park, which was to be held Wednesday, will be held Wed., July 30.

Yields of small grains, in this area and adjoining Maryland, are ranging from fair to good, for the most part, this year, with wheat generally on the short end. Grain buyers figure on making purchases for at least two more weeks.

Marketing, however, was slowed up early in the week by a general rain. No. 2 wheat, 14 per cent moisture, at $1.80.

Fulton J. Downing, of Harrington Lumber & Supply Company, said Tuesday: "We were buying lots of grain until the rain came. Another week of good weather will finish it up."

Howard Killen, spokesman for Ernest Killen, said: "Barley was right good. What we did have was nice. Some farmers got 50 bushels to the acre, but the average was about 40. Price was $1 per bushel. A hailstorm damaged some grain and cut down yields. A man below Farmington got only 182 bushels of barley from 20 acres."

Killen said he had purchased between 6000 and 7000 bushels of rye, mostly Abruzzi, at $1.50. Yield averaged 20 to 25 bushels, he said.

The Killen firm started loading its 16th car of wheat Tuesday. Killen said average yield was 18 to 20 bushels, but some showed effects of hail. One acreage of Nu-Del wheat, a variety developed several years ago at the University of Delaware, made 32 bushels to the acre, and another crop returned 24 bushels.

Because of the hot weather, small grain harvest started earlier this year than usual, said Joseph Tomlin, manager of Farmers Co-operative Sales Association, Inc., at Frederica. Tomlin expects to buy another week. Acreage of barley in the Frederica area is light, he said, but average yield is good at 40 bushels. Wong is the preferred variety.

Wheat is averaging 18-20 bushels per acre, which is fair to good. Not too much rye has been marketed at Frederica, he said, with some farmers waiting until their wheat has been marketed before sending in rye.

A spokesman for The Willis & Covell Company, of Denton, said the yield of wheat was not up to expectations. The wet spring hurt it he explained, and, in spots, it was damaged by hail. Average yield is about 17-18 bushels, fair.

The firm recently shipped out 10,191 bushels to Baltimore by the Quaker City, a former LST. The spokesman said he expected buying to continue a couple weeks, but that rain may curtail marketing.

In the Maryland area, and adjoining Delaware, barley was also affected by wet weather and hail, with yields low at 22 to 25 bushels. Not too much rye, and very few oats, were marketed, these grains, with barley, being, in many instances, used as feed.

HOW CAPITALISM HAS THRIVED

During the past 20 years of national Democratic Administration, business has thrived as never before in the whole history of the United States.

The unprecedented growth of American business during this twodecade period shows that capitalism, not socialism, is on the upsurge. Here are some facts about the expansion of the capitalistic system:

Last year corporate profits—after taxes—totalled $18.1 billion. In 1929, the so-called Republican boom year, profits amounted to only $8.2 billion. And in the depths of the GOP depression in 1932 corporations went into the red by $3.4 billion.

Factory production in 1951 was four times as great as in 1932 and more than double the previous peak year of 1929.

The value of goods and services produced by American business was nearly three times as great in 1951 as in 1932 and nearly twice as much as in 1929.

In 1929 there were 3,097,000 private businesses in the United States. Today the number of businesses has increased by one third—to 4,015,000.

The number of independent business and professional people in the U. S. jumped from 4,822,000 in 1929 to 6,218,000 in 1950.

Ownership of farms and homes, another good index of a healthy capitalistic system, has also been increasing steadily. In 1937, 56.7 per cent of the nation's farms were owned by the families operating them. By 1950, 72.7 per cent were owner-operated.

From 1930 to 1950 the number of home owners in the U. S. increased from 14,000,000 to 24,000,000.

Opportunities for private ownership of businesses have multiplied in recent years.

Today college students are often signed up for well-paying jobs in private industry during their senior year. Many college graduates have so many job offers from private businessmen that their most important problem is not finding a job but deciding which job to take.

"There is a tide in the affairs of men, Which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune; Omitted, the voyage of their life Is bound in shallows and in miseries."

"Julius Caesar," Act IV, Sc. 3, line 217, Shakespeare
"Truly there is a tide in the affairs of men, but there is no gulf-stream setting forever in one direction. - James Russell Lowell, "Shakespeare Once More."

The gist of the quotation from Shakespeare is that opportunity will knock, but only once. But Lowell, the New England essayist and poet, intimates it will knock more than once.

The movies have been featuring a number of inspirational pictures in which the principal character believed opportunity knocked more than once, and that its frequency of knocking depended upon the individual. "The Stratton Story," an account of a one-legged pitcher, who came back in baseball, was an illustration.

"The Jane Froman Story" was another illustration. Confined to a wheel chair, following an airplane accident, Jane Froman continued to play and sing in night clubs. We understand she will be able to walk without support next October. She was injured in 1945 in Portugal while on a USO tour.

We have more than a usual interest in Jane, since we were both studying journalism at the University of Missouri at the same time. We had a speaking acquaintance with her, but knew her mother, Mrs. Hetzler, better since we sang in the Christian Church choir in Columbia, Mo., of which she was director.

The moral of this story is: Many persons make their own opportunities, despite hazards and handicaps.

Marydel

At 3 p. m. Sunday afternoon, in the Calvary Methodist Church in Marydel, Miss Margaret V. Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reinhardt of Baltimore, Md., became the bride of Mr. John M. Lepore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph LePore of near Marydel. They were united in marriage by the Rev. C. H. Covington, pastor of the church. The bride, wearing a gown of white lace over satin, with train and finger tip veil of white chantilly, and carrying a bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath, was given away in marriage by her step-father, and was attended by Mrs. Virginia diBocco, of Dover, as matron of honor, who wore a gown of orchid satin, carrying a bouquet of pink carnations. Best man for the groom was Mr. John diRocco of Dover.

The mother of the bride was attired in aqua nylon over satin, with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations, while the groom's mother, Mrs. Pearl Lepore wore dark navy blue lace over satin, white accessories and a white carnation corsage. A reception held at the Marydel Community Hall for 200 guests followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. LePore for the present plan to live with the groom's parents near Marydel.

Enroute to Boston from Seattle, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. Victor Shea visited with the Nolan

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

How Nervy Can a "Tenant" Get?

"Harry the Hermit" dropped in to see Judge Cunningham the other day and started complaining about that dilapidated house he lives in over near Greenwood Lake.

"Who's my landlord?" Harry wanted to know. "Whoever you pay rent to," says the Judge. "Don't pay any rent," says Harry. "Moved into that house twelve years ago and nobody ever came to collect."

"Well," says the Judge, looking mystified, "what do you have to complain about?" "Plenty," replies Harry. "Rain's pouring in my living room and if someone doesn't fix that roof, I'm moving out!"

Now Harry was only having a little joke, but from where I sit I've seen people act just about as nervy as this sometimes—seriously. Like those who enjoy all the rights Americans have worked for, and yet would take away some of those freedoms from others—for example, our right to enjoy a friendly glass of beer. I say these "leaks of intolerance" have no place in the "home of liberty."

"My life saved by Kaiser's safety front seat"

Says Donald E. Holmes, of Coldwater, Mich.

Here's what happened:

Swerving desperately to avoid another car, Mr. Holmes crashed his '52 Kaiser head-on into a pole on U.S. Highway 112, Allen, Michigan, last May 27.

Yet he walked away from the wreck—unharmd! Why? Because the Kaiser's instrument panel was padded...no protruding knobs to injure him...and the windshield pushed outward in one piece! "In any other car I might have been killed!" Mr. Holmes writes.

This extra safety and extra value explain why thousands have switched to Kaiser. The car with the world's safest front seat! With America's lowest center of gravity! Largest glass area in any sedan! Easiest steering! Handsomest "hardtop" styling at regular sedan prices! Mobilgas economy winner—24.6 miles a gallon! Drive a Kaiser, and you'll agree...it's your safest buy today!

Watch For Roe's Entry In Tomato Contest

If appearances mean anything, the tomato patches of L. J. Roe, near Magnolia, are "warming up" nicely and should win, place, or show when the entries go to the wire in the annual-10-ton tomato contest.

Certainly, his two patches, viewed by the farm editor Sunday, will be in the running. Roe has out 12 acres of Rutgers and eight acres of Stokes cross, with the latter variety being out on trial for Libby's. At present, it will not be too long before the vines are clasping hands across the 5-foot, 6-inch rows. This width, wider than usual, goes along with the trend manifest in the patches of some other tomato growers in the neighborhood, including that of James Meredith. The plants are 2 feet, 9 inches apart in the row on the Roe place.

The excellence of the Roe tomatoes are due to the meticulous care this Kent County farmer gives them. First, he turned under barley as green manure and applied about 800 pounds of 5-10-10 fertilizer before plowing, with a similar amount afterwards. He set out his plants May 3-5 and later sidedressed them with three applications of 400 pounds of fertilizer. The plants have been sprayed three times with Dithane for blight, and dusted with DDT for horn worms and potato bugs.

Roe works the dirt into the plants, creating a bank. "More bank gives you more roots," he says.

It is too early to tell which variety will be more profitable—Rutgers or Stokes. However, the Rutgers had larger and thicker vines, while the Stokes had more tomatoes.

Roe does not keep all his eggs in one basket; he raises early Transparent apples, peaches, has about 30 cows, 1000 hens which produce eggs for the hatchery of O. A. Newton and Son, and 30 acres of Mary Washington asparagus.

Poultry Division Part Of Field Day For First Time

Something new has been added to the eight-year-old Farm Field Day at the University of Delaware Georgetown Substation. This year, on August 5, the poultry houses and laboratories will be part of the day's activities.

The various experiments will open to the public, with research staff members on hand to explain and answer questions. Two of the research professors, A. T. Ringrose, and Karl C. Seeger, work on research at the Substation full time. David Francis works full-time as research assistant. The other experiments are conducted by Experiment Station staff members at the University.

Research at the Substation is on coccidiosis control, blackhead control in turkeys, broiler mortality, and infectious sinusitis in turkeys. Relation of management practices to broiler quality, and types of brooding systems are other studies in progress.

Visitors will also be able to inspect the new poultry diagnostic laboratory maintained at the Substation by the State Board of Agriculture. It was established last winter to better serve the concentrated poultry industry in the downstate area.

Corn Yield Contest Larger Than Ever

Entries in the 1952 Delaware Corn Yield Contest are already over last year's total entries at the close of the contest in September.

About 150 Delaware farmers are already enrolled, says C. E. Phillips, agronomist of the Agricultural Extension Service.

The contest is sponsored by the Extension Service and the Delaware Crop Improvement Association. Each entry consists of five acres of corn. The yields are checked by the University agronomy staff before the crop is harvested.

"The purpose of the Corn Yield Contest," says Phillips, "is to recognize and encourage the work of Delaware farmers in improving their corn quality and per acre yields. The average production per acre in Delaware is much too low."

"The contest has more than served its purpose in helping individual farmers. But more than that, the data collected from all entrants in the three years has given the agronomists valuable information on soil conditions and fertilizer recommendations. This information has been passed on to thousands of farmers in the Extension leaflet, 'Fertilize for 100 Bushels!'

The deadline for entries in this year's contest is September 1. Entries should be filed with the county agricultural agents.

Legume Cover Crops Needed, Sow in Corn

"Delaware farmers recognize the value of winter cover crops, but we need more legume cover crops. One of the best known ways to get a cover is to sow in corn at the last cultivation."

Wm. H. Mitchell, assistant agronomist of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, recommends a crimson clover-ryegrass mixture for this seeding. Crimson clover can be used alone, but is harder to establish. Mitchell advises planting 15 pounds per acre of clover alone, or a minimum of six pounds of clover and nine pounds of ryegrass per acre. The mixture seeding can be increased, just follow the "two parts of clover to the three of ryegrass" formula.

The trick in getting a good legume is to cover the seed. Cover it lightly but definitely cover it, says Mitchell. Farmers have used several different covering methods successfully, but none has proved best as yet. Getting it covered is the important point.

Corn crops that follow legume cover crops do better than those on bare ground, or following small grains. In the 1950 Corn Yield Contest, land that had a crimson-clover ryegrass cover produced an average of 96 bushels per acre. Corn planted on ground left bare over winter produced a 76 bushel per acre average.

Fire Blight Attacks Trees

Fire blight, a disease that attacks a large number of fruit and ornamental plants in the apple and pear family, is active in Maryland this year, according to University of Maryland extension plant pathologists.

The bacterial disease causes a sudden wilting, dying and blackening of new shoots. The leaves of infected bushes or trees hang downward and cling to the blighted twigs. Fire blight also kills some of the blossoms and spurs of apple, pear, quince and crab-apple trees. Some varieties are more resistant to the disease than others. From the infected twigs the disease passes into the bark of large limbs or the trunk where it forms a holdover canker which may remain alive for several years, eventually killing the tree by girdling the trunk.

The control measures outlined by the plant pathologists are: Prune out and burn diseased twigs and branches. Cut at least a foot below the dead area. Watch pears and quinces, as well as susceptible varieties of apples and hawthornes carefully, since they harbor the disease over winter.

To prevent fire blight in ornamentals, either destroy infected nearby fruit trees, or control the disease in them. Spraying is not very effective, although blighting of blossoms can be reduced with a bordeaux spray or copper-lime dust at blossom time.

Potato Crop Cut By Lack of Rain

Walter Gibes, of Smyrna, says his potato crop, which he began harvesting late last week, will yield only 60 to 100 bags per acre because of the lack of moisture. "We haven't had a good rain since blossom time," he said. "Normally, the yields should better 300 bags per acre." Gibes has more than 100 acres in spuds.

Wide Broiler House Cuts Cost Of Broiler Production

With the broiler industry in a severe economic slump, broiler operators with wide-type broiler houses have some advantage over those with narrow houses, due to lower cost of production. This statement was made by Dr. Harold D. Smith of the department of agricultural economics of the University of Maryland at the Maryland State Poultry Council summer meeting at Ocean City recently.

Dr. Smith reported that, in a study just completed and published, it was found that even though the wide-type house costs slightly more to construct, the cost of operation is considerably less, due primarily to much saving in labor, an expensive item at current wage rates. "The wide type house lends itself more readily than the narrow type house to many labor-saving features," he said. "This is highly important at this time of low prices for broilers and especially since cost of labor, housing and equipment generally make up about 10 per cent of the total cost of producing broilers."

In his study, Dr. Smith did not indicate any material difference between the two types of houses as to other items of cost except that the majority of wide houses are equipped with central heating which his study indicates resulted in lower fuel costs than from individual stoves. Dr. Smith concludes that in constructing new broiler houses, the grower might well consider building the wide-type house as one important means of keeping down cost of production. This point is doubly important at the present time.

The broiler industry is in a current slump due to relatively unfavorable market conditions and increasing competition from other broiler areas which are rapidly expanding. However, with an increasing population and a large consumer preference for poultry meat, broiler operators who see a future in the industry are seeking a means to cut costs of broiler production.

SOUTHERN STATES ANNUAL MEMBERSHIP MEETING TUESDAY

Highlights of the meeting will include the report of local agency operations by C. L. Peck, Jr., the presentation of the Southern States annual report by District Manager H. L. Ranneberger of Bel Air, Md., the election of the local advisory board and farm local advisory board and farmers, and the Come-N-Win Contest, in which all farm people of the Harrington area will compete for prizes.

Taylor Trying New Weed Spray

Bill Taylor, of Marvel Acres, is trying out a new pre-emergence weed spray on 20 rows of lima beans. He says it is too early to determine the outcome of the test, but he says the extension authorities says it will not kill the beans.

Last year, Taylor used a weed spray which, on sandy soil, did just that.

The Marvel Acres farmer is enthusiastic over a weed control device on his cultivator. He says it does not cover up seedling plants and that he can cultivate twice as fast with this device as with conventional methods. It can be regulated so as not to disturb the roots in cultivating large plants, he said.

Mechanical Snap Bean Picker to Be Demonstrated

A mechanical snap bean harvester will be demonstrated in action on the Foard Brothers farm near Glen Arm, Md., Tuesday and Wednesday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., weather permitting.

Snap bean growers and packers from Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey have been invited to the demonstration sponsored by the University of Maryland extension service.

The harvester developed by the Chisholm-Ryder Company Falls, N. Y., is the most successful machine developed to date in the attempt to mechanize snap bean picking. The picker to be demonstrated in Baltimore County is one of six experimental Chisholm-Ryder models being tried out in important commercial snap bean areas in the country.

Roy J. Fortier, agronomist for the American Can Company, who made arrangements for the demonstration, states that the future for the mechanical bean picker depends largely on the economical aspects of a single picking. Dr. Francis Stark, University of Maryland horticulturalist in charge of the demonstration adds that the picker works better with certain varieties. Asgrow Stringless Green Pod, Supergreen, Topcrop and Tenderlong 17, are the varieties that will be harvested in the University's demonstration.

In case of unfavorable weather, H. B. Derrick, Baltimore County agent, Towson, telephone Towson 3000, Ext. 18, can be contacted to check on the schedule for the demonstration.

Milo Bardolier of F

This son of Black Bardolier has plenty of quality and promises to make an excellent addition to Frank J. Smith's Angus herd at Maple Grove Farm, Millsboro, Mr. Smith raised this bull and plans to try him out in the fall.

Frank J. Smith Uses Registered Angus to Improve Beef Herd

Frank J. Smith, Millsboro feeder dealer, is getting off to a good start in breeding Angus cattle at his Maple Grove Farm. His herd bull is Elegant's Burgomaster FH, son of Andlot Burgomaster which he purchased thru John Forest from Fair Hope Farm, Chestertown.

The sire, however, may get some competition later from Milo Bardolier of F, son of a Black Bardolier. Mr. Smith raised this young bull and will try him out in the fall.

In the female contingent, Milford Poletta, daughter of Escort's Bardolier of FP, is outstanding. This heifer, with three others, was purchased from Mr. Forest, who lives between Harrington and Milford. Mr. Smith also has heifers from Manor Farm, Ridewood, Md. One of the heifers purchased from Forest is a daughter of Erian B 7th, erstwhile senior herd sire of Fair Promise Farm. This bull was bought at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago.

The cattle run on a permanent pasture of Ladino and a mixture of grasses.

Mr. Smith started his herd two years ago. When asked why he got into the business, he said he had formerly purchased feeder steers each year and that he thought it might be cheaper to raise his own. In this manner, he explained, he thought he might get better stock and stock that was consistent in quality. And if anything real good turns up, he commented, he could sell it to other breeders.

BEEF CATTLE

Arrived this week over 250 head of choice beef cattle, either Angus or Hereford steers or heifers weighing from 300 to 700 lbs. Just right to turn on pasture now and make money on. I have sold over 2,000 of these kind of cattle to over 150 customers this year and there must be a reason and I believe one good reason is that I have the right cattle at the right price.

I have sold over 6,000 of these same kind of cattle last year and they have made money for over 500 customers. It looks like cattle will be a good price for a long time to come. So if you have pasture, why not buy a few of these good light cattle and watch them grow and make money for you.

All cattle I handle are treated for shipping fever and are delivered free of charge within 100 miles. Also will take your dairy and fat cattle in trade and will allow a good price for them.

I have a large number of cattle here on pasture that are sold. I can also arrange at a small cost to pasture any number you wish to buy.

Harrington	4	3	571
Milford	2	4	333
Laurel	1	4	200

With Bridgetown and Harrington showing rapid improvement during the past week the lower Delaware Pony Junior League race is still out in front as they tee off tonight.

In tonight's twilight games Laurel plays at Milford while Greenwood will be the visitors at Harrington. On Friday Harrington visits Laurel. Play is light this week due to several of the teams having most of their players at summer camps.

Last week Bridgetown topped Greenwood 7 to 5, and Milford 9 to 6. They fell to Laurel in a free scoring game 16 to 14. Harrington downed Milford 7 to 6 and had the edge over Laurel 11 to 7.

Hickman 8	Farmington 7

Schedule

Wyoming at Farmington
Felton at Viola
Ellendale at Harrington
Hickman at Frederica

Despite the heavy schedule over the past week-end there was very little change in the Mar-Del League race except for the second division clubs which shows Viola, Farmington and Hickman deadlocked for 5th place. Wyoming, Harrington and Frederica bolstered their positions in the first division while Felton still has a good edge over their nearest competitors to be safe in 4th place.

Sparked by the steady pitching of Lethander Aub Berry the Wyoming tossers remained unbeaten as they racked up victories over Farmington 8 to 5 and Viola 13 to 5. Berry pitched both wins and now has a 5-0 mark for the season to top all hurlers. Lloyd Cooper paced the Wyoming tossers at the plate as they won from Farmington with Ray Dennis, Hochstedler and Dean hitting hard for Farmington. Paul Dean was the losing hurler. Berry and Bill Rash had 3 hits each against Viola while Buck Semans and Bob Snyder with two hits each and Freddie Frear with a double were the Viola heavy hitters. Freddie Frear was the mound victim for Viola.

Harrington hit hard to blast Ellendale on the 4th 19 to 2 as Jim Cabbage coasted to an easy win. Leon Wix, Charley Riley and Jim Cabbage had three hits to pace Harrington while Hoyt and Ellingsworth duplicated for Ellendale. Tommy Wells, Dave Greenly Roy Niebert and Elmer Ennis suffered the brunt of the Harrington attack with Wells being charged with the loss. Harrington had to rallied for 9 runs in the 8th win over Felton 9 to 8. With the score deadlocked in the 8th 7-7 Harrington put over two runs as Sam Matthews tripled to drive in Riley and Harold Melvin squeezed across Matthews with what proved to be the winning run as Felton came back to add their 8th tally in the bottom of the 8th. Charley Riley racked up his 3rd win for Harrington while Jack Moore was on the losing end for Felton. Dickie Brown with a home-run and two singles and Sam Matthews with a triple and single led the Harrington batsmen. Les Killen had a double and two singles for Felton with Bobby Voshell lacing out a double and single.

Frederica gained a 9-0 forfeit over Hickman on the 4th when they were unable to put a team on the field due to players being away with National Guard as well as working. Frederica rallied for three runs in the last 2 innings on Sunday to nip Ellendale 7 to 5 in a well played game. Buddy Kimmel worked until the 6th for Frederica but went out in favor of the veteran Jim Postles with Ellendale leading 5 to 4. Postles hurled one hit ball to check the Ellendale stickers and when Frederica rallied was the winning pitcher. Bobby Niebert hurled good ball in defeat for the losers. Al Gottorf with a double and single, Bill Bair with two singles and Jay Widdoes with a triple were the big men at the plate for Frederica while Dave Greenly, Roy McCullough and Dave Burton each had two safeties for Ellendale.

Earl Quillen and Jerry Collins split the mound work for Hickman to win an 8 to 7 victory over Farmington in a close game from start to finish. Collins worked the last three innings to get credit for the win as Hickman won in the bottom of the 7th as Quillen doubled and Johnny Sannon singled to drive over the winning tally. Ray Dennis started for Farmington with Paul Dean taking over in the 5th to be charged with the loss. Ray Dennis had 3 for 3 for the losers with Rust, Hurd and Tommy Messick having doubles. Johnny Cannon with three singles and Lawrence Cannon with a home-run and single, Bill Lane a double and single paced the winners batting efforts.

This Sunday Wyoming will be the attraction at Farmington while Felton makes a visit to Viola. Ellendale will move into Harrington with Hickman the visitors at Frederica.

Sulky Slants Laurel

Three more records produced at Laurel Raceway this past week. Bill Strang's unbeaten trotting champion, Ford Hanover, won his 15th straight victory and hung a new track mark of 3.12 for one and one-half mile.

The three-year-old racing record was broken by Meadow Rice, driven by Jimmy Arthur, a mile and a half over Thunderclap. Frank Hannis set the third record for 4-year-old geldings in 2.03 1/5 and won by a length with his consistent trotter, Risen Sun land won the Aston Trot in 2.04 1/5.

The final event on Saturday night Guinea Gold, driven by Paul Hungerford, won the $5000 Severn Pace by five lengths over Freddy Hawk a mile in 2.04 1/5.

Well, the boys from Harrington are still winning races too. You can't keep them down. I don't care how fast or slow they go they are always there knocking. Warren Holmes won with Seattle Victory in 2.09 2/5. Follow Dil on another victory for Harry Stout in 2.09 4/5. Jim Workman's 3-year-old Bobby Brewer went a very nice race and won in 2.08 1/5.

May Cardinal, with Olin Davis in the sulky, won by a length over the field a mile in 2.12. Flicka B. driven by Pat Hubbard won in 2.11 with Wallace Stokley's Victory Cash a close second.

These are some of the highlights of the drivers who winter and train at good old Harrington Raceway.

A very nice dinner was given for the owners, trainers and drivers on Wednesday in the Clubhouse by the Laurel Association and boy was it ever good? Anything you wanted to eat such as chicken, ham, beef, turkey and barbecued spare ribs and all the trimmings to go with it. Thursday, they had a big dinner for the caretakers and groomers.

I saw quite a few from Harrington to the races this past week Jack Holloway, Frankie O'Neal and Britt Holloway Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morris were here to watch Dotty Allure race. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Griffith were here Wednesday night and were they ever glad to see little Judy Davis. They sure think she is tops but you can't blame because she is a fine little girl.

This time next week the news will come from Baltimore Raceway as the races here end Monday night.

There are Miles that Make You Happy

YOU'LL discover a lot that you like in this neat, fleet and nimble traveler the first mile you drive it.

Such things as cushions broad and deep - six-passenger room unsurpassed by any car in America - fabrics rich, soft, harmonious.

As you take it through traffic—breast a hill or two—try it out on back roads—you'll find that you handle Dynaflo Drive* as if you had always used it—your ride is serenely level—and a great tide of power comes surging up as you need it.

This, you will say, is very Super indeed.

But no one-time sample can tell you the deep-down enduring thrill that is yours when you own this great middle series Buick.

How easy it is to park in round-town driving, especially if you have Power Steering.

How relaxed you and the family will feel at the end of a long day's vacation jaunt—with Dynaflo Drive to let you drive at ease on the open road, without the tenseness of clutch-pushing in traffic—plus a Million Dollar Ride to protect the comfort of the family.

That ride is something to talk about. More than a dozen selected engineering features control roll and wander on curves—snub dip and sway before they get past the frame—carry you over all kinds of roads with lullaby smoothness.

And that Fireball 8 Engine—man, what a docile thunderbolt you'll find it to be! Here's a high-compression valve-in-head that really wrings miles from a gallon of gas.

In other words, all the miles you travel in this Buick are going to make you gladder and gladder that you bought it—for comfort, for fun, for thrill and for thrift.

What are you waiting for? Come in and get your sample today.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series. †Now available on Super as well as Roadmaster—optional at extra cost.

SHORT STORY
Benny's Cow
By Eunice Thomas

If you ever saw Mama look at Benny you might know why she wanted a cow so bad. Benny was our second brother, twelve years old, and he looked like he might have been cut out of a scarecrow pattern. Mama blamed it on not having milk. But Daddy was always getting mad because Benny was afraid of wouldn't fight like the other boys. He said you couldn't blame it on milk. Then Mama's face got sort of tight and she said Benny needed it more than the others.

So, at last we got a cow. Uncle Hal brought her home in his truck. Uncle Hal maneuvered his bay window from under the steering wheel and waddled to the back of the truck. Daddy stalked around from the other side. Next to Uncle Hal he looked nearly as underfed as Benny.

"We gotta be careful," Daddy said. "She ain't taking to us strangers too well."

"She looks crazy in her eyes," Uncle Hal cracked a finger through a crack and the cow let out a low below. "She's scared silly. No telling what she'll do when we turn her loose. Might as well find out, though."

Despise his bulk, Uncle Hal ran. He plowed a path straight to the back field fence.

He let down the tail gate and untied the rope from her horns.

"You young'uns get out of the lot!" Daddy yelled at us. "She's upset enough to try to fight."

She came out snorting and pawing and went over the fence to the peanut patch just like it hadn't been there. Uncle Hal climbed the fence with considerable speed, considering his blubber, and took off to drive her back. Daddy ran to head her off the other way. They circled around her, intending to drive her back to the lot. But she was too upset and scared. She lowered her head and pointed her long sharp horns straight toward Uncle Hal.

Despite his bulk, Uncle Hal ran. With his head back and his elbows punishing the spare tire around his middle, he plowed a path straight to the back field fence. He beat the cow there by several yards, but he didn't bother to climb. He fell over, leaving a good sized patch of his overalls on the barb wire.

Old Bessie turned her attention to Daddy. He made it to the fence and grabbed a post and swung for safety just as Bessie's horns tangled in the wire below him.

THE COW was tangled in the wire and bucking. Uncle Hal was peeping from behind a nearby oak. The rest of us were atop fence posts.

Daddy was mad enough to shoot Bessie then and there, but she was a summer's profit. He couldn't afford to harm her or let her hurt herself. He hollered for Mama to send the wire pliers.

Before she could speak to one of the other boys Benny was half way to the house. And he took the pliers to Daddy.

"Watch that cow!" Daddy yelled at him. "She could make hash of you in no time!"

Benny went on. The cow had calmed down some and he got pretty close to her.

"Git Back!" Uncle Hal yelled. "When a cow is that crazy—"

"She ain't skeered o' me, Daddy!" Benny reached out a hand and caressed the cow's quivering side. You could see her relaxing. He rubbed her back a minute and worked up to her shoulders. The restless hoof quit pawing and she stood there trembling while Benny tied a rope around her horns. Daddy started to cut the wire and she reared up again. So he went and leaned on Uncle Hal's oak and tossed the pliers back to Benny.

"All right, son. Cut her loose. She's all yours."

Benny roped her—by himself—and led her into the lot.

"Sure. Now can you stop thinking of your son as a coward and admit he has—ah—" Mama stopped and started turning pink. She was always mighty careful of what she said.

Daddy laughed at her. "Okay, Suzie. We'll call it intestinal fortitude."
