Parks Tells Rotarians Of Yellowstone Park

"I intend to talk about the Yellowstone National Park," said John Parks at Tuesday evening's meeting of the Harrington Rotary Club, and then with a baleful glare at Archie Feagan and Jake Messner, both of whom had visited the park, he continued, "and if I should make a mistake or two in my description of the park, 'I want you fellows to keep your mouths shut.'"

Yellowstone Park, said Mr. Parks, was discovered by a scout with the Lewis-Clark expedition. He had heard of a country where no trappers, with the exception of the Indians, had been. He asked the leaders for permission to trap in this section and that permission was granted.

After a lapse of considerable time, this trapper and another, with a rich harvest of furs, started to the market in St. Louis. Indians killed one of the trappers and were deciding how best to torture the other. They ask him if he could run fast and he lied by telling them he could not. Then they gave him a start of several hundred yards and began the chase. The man ran six miles, and the Indians began to drop out, one by one. Finally, one lone Indian was fairly breathing down the trapper's neck, an Indian carrying a spear. The trapper turned suddenly, and surprised at this action, the Indian fell and broke his spear. The trapper impaled the Indian on the spear and, farther down the stream, concealed himself beneath a makeshift raft in the river. Indians came along, inspected the raft and went their way.

Arriving at a settlement down the river, the trapper was so eloquent in his description of the glories of Yellowstone Park that he was labeled a monstrous liar. Later the famous scout, Jim Bridger, visited the park and he, too, told of its entrancing beauty. Then they called Jim a liar. Bridger had a puckish sense of humor and, inasmuch as he had been classified as a liar, made that statement true and began to tell some real whoppers.

"I believe," said Mr. Parks, "that God made Yellowstone Park that its beauty might inspire mankind—and I believe that God placed us here, not to make money and hoard money without consideration for the more unfortunate among us."

Then, turning back to Jim Bridger and the other scouts of pioneer days, he concluded: "We have another type of scout with us today, and that type of scout is serving a real purpose. This scouting organization, with its ideals and inspiration, has salvaged many boys who otherwise might have taken the wrong path. I refer, of course, to the Boy Scouts."

"When you are asked to make an annual contribution to this great work, do not consider that contribution as a gift, but as an investment, an investment in a stronger, cleaner manhood; an investment in a better world."

"Many people, when approached for this contribution, have asked, 'How much of this money stays in Harrington?' Our answer is that none of it stays in Harrington—but it all comes back to us—plus compound interest. We send boys to Camp Rodney every year, and the contributions we make here cannot begin to pay for the trip these boys make to Camp Rodney, with the cost of efficient counselors, the food, the instructions—and of course, the attendant inspiration to play their part in the world like men."

Sen. Sparkman Conducts Attack on Republicanism In State Tour Tuesday

Delaware Democrats resumed their all-out campaign Wednesday night with a rally at Blackbird, buoyed up by U. S. Senator John J. Sparkman's hard-hitting attack on Republicanism during his stumping of the state Tuesday evening.

The Democratic nominee for vice-president returned to Washington, after addressing a series of rallies throughout the state.

State Democratic leaders were heartened by the Alabama senator's charges that General Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, has surrendered to "General Taft," and that the Republicans are "thinking in terms of the Eightieth Congress."

Senator Sparkman climaxed his sweep through Delaware with a major speech Tuesday night at a clamor at Augustine Beach.

A crowd of more than 1000 party members heard Sparkman observe that he and Gov. Adlai Stevenson, presidential nominee, are "having difficulty telling just whom we are running against."

He said he is convinced that presidential campaign "now might be between Stevenson and General Taft."

He referred to Senator Taft, Ohio GOP leader, as a "General" because "Eisenhower surely would not turn over his sword to anyone of lesser rank."

Enthusiastic gatherings hailed the Alabama senator in his speeches in Seaford, Laurel, Georgetown, Dover, Wilmington, and Augustine Beach. He is a first major candidate to tour Delaware in this campaign.

Senator Sparkman declared that after last week's meeting of Taft and Eisenhower in New York, Taft took newsmen to his own headquarters and produced a seven-page statement which Taft said he prepared before he left Cincinnati.

The statement, the Democratic nominee said, contained quotations from General Eisenhower, and was released with only a few changes.

"You can be certain," Sparkman said, "that if General Eisenhower wins the crown, General Taft will wield the sceptre."

A crowd estimated at more than 2000 welcomed Sen. Sparkman at Dover. He spoke from the steps of Legislative Hall. The senator was accompanied in his day-long tour of the state by a motorcade of about 100 cars.

He spoke from the steps of the Public Building in Wilmington, addressing a crowd estimated at 500 persons in his state-wide tour the senator was accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Ivo Sparkman, and his daughter, Mrs. Tazewell Sheppard.

He accused the GOP campaigners of "raising all kinds of scare cries," but said the "people are no longer afraid because the bugaboo of failure doesn't hover over them any more."

The Democratic Party, he said, has given the country the "highest standard of living it has ever known," adding that it is the result of the party's willingness to meet "changing conditions."

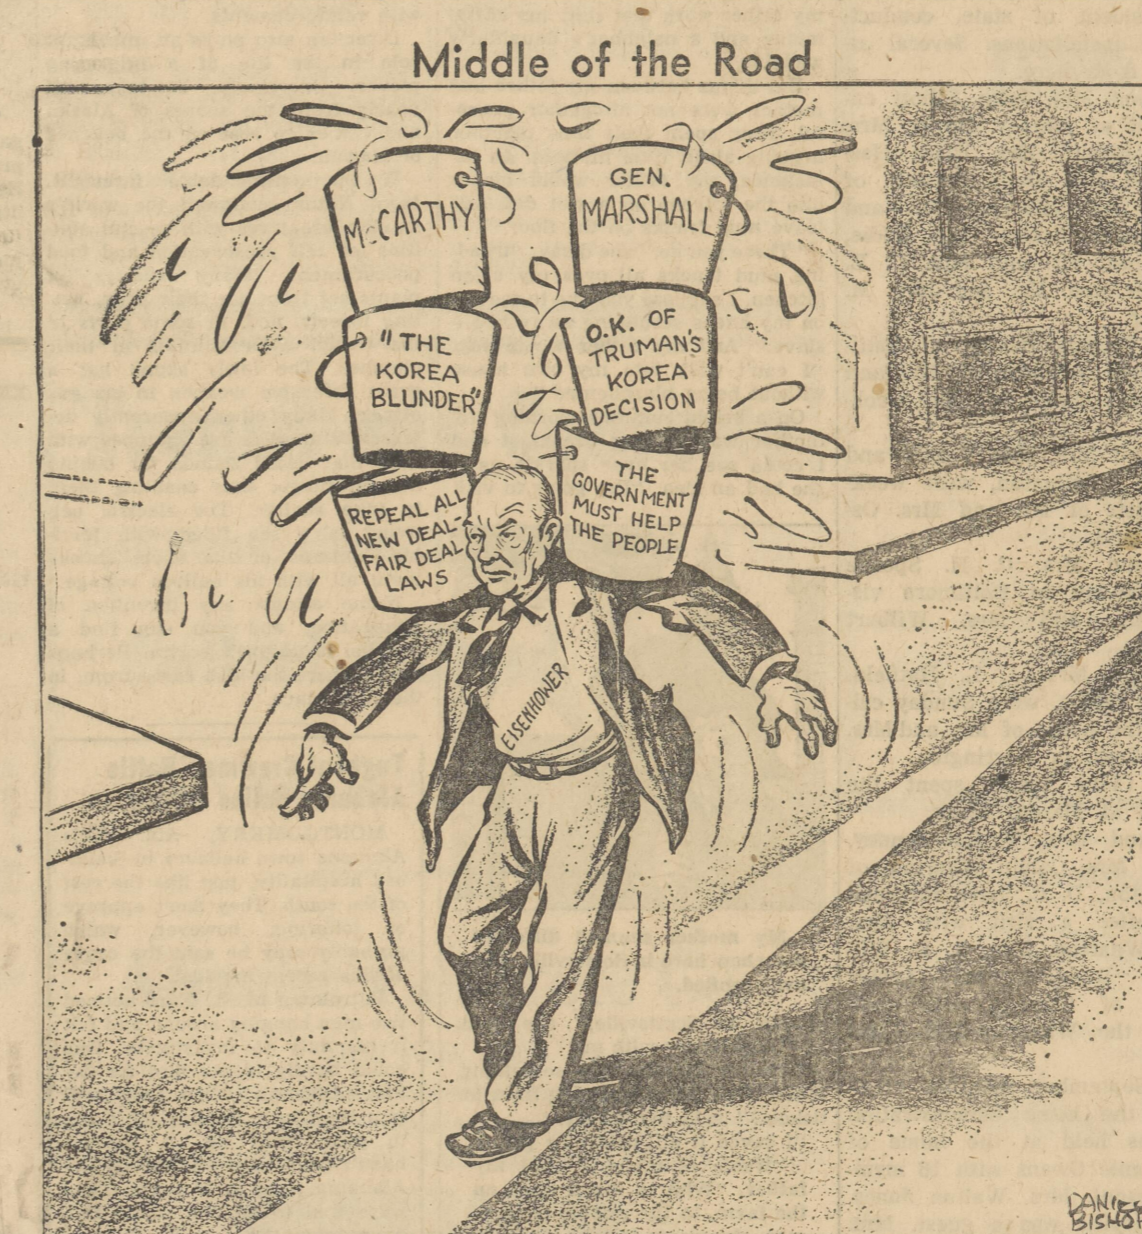

He accused the GOP of failing to make a change when it was in power, asserting that all the "Republican leadership did was to let the country 'drift on and on to a depression.'"

He said he well remembers that period for he was a "struggling lawyer and a home buyer." It was "time for a change in 1932," the senator asserted, "and we hanged."

He predicted that the people "are not going to fall for the Republican cry that it is time for a change, for they remember 'the miserable record of the party when it had the chance to meet changing conditions.'"

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Brown are the happy parents of a son born Wednesday morning in the Milford Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown have a daughter, Delores.

Racing Association Asks Permission to Extend Meet Thru October 11

Republicans to Hear Williams and Boggs Of Local Interest

U. S. Senator John J. Williams and U. S. Representative J. Caleb Boggs will be the featured speakers at a Republican rally at the Milford Community Building Wednesday evening.

The senator is running for reelection, while Rep. Boggs will oppose Gov. Carvel in the gubernatorial race.

In announcing plans for the rally, Robert H. Yerkes, chairman of the Kent County Republican Committee, said that "this meeting is for all people interested in a return to sane government, by and for all the people."

The rotund Milford newspaperman added that "Senator Williams' exposure of graft and corruption in high places had saved the nation's taxpayers many thousands of dollars."

Continuing, he declared that "Caleb Boggs had been an outstanding spokesman in Congress for veterans, firemen, and other service groups."

Takes Room from Doldrums

A bright color—vermillion, for instance—draws your eye when it's used in the decoration of a room. A dull one, such as a deep tone of red, stays quietly in its place. The brilliant colors which provide positive accents of color are sometimes needed to give life to an otherwise dull room.

New Jet Fuel?

One of the least-known uses of boron compounds and minerals is in connection with jet aircraft engines. Boron powders have been studied by the national advisory committee for aeronautics as possible non-liquid jet fuel for several years. And boron is, of course, eyewash, being the basic element in boric acid.

Middle of the Road

Republicans to Hear Williams and Boggs

The Kent & Sussex Racing Association at a meeting Wednesday night, voted to ask the Delaware Harness Racing Commission to extend the current 20 night meet thru Oct. 11, said T. Brinton Holloway, general manager of the racing group, yesterday.

As of Wednesday, there had been 11 nights of harness racing in what, so far, has been the most successful meet of the association's history. This bears out a prophecy in The Harrington Journal's special harness racing edition, issued Aug. 29, that the meet should be a successful one.

The Journal based its prognostication on the improved economic conditions, especially in the broiler industry, and the new bridges across the Delaware River and Chesapeake Bay.

For eleven nights racing, Holloway said the handle was 20 per cent more than that for a similar period last fall, the most successful meet heretofore. Other records are as follows: Saturday night the handle was $118,030, a new record which was approximately $10,000 more than the previous record, made last fall.

In the eight race Saturday night, the handle was $15,454, a record. The performance of the trotters and pacers have been good, with numerous marks around 2:07. The best mark to date is 2:06.2, made by J. Medford Davis' Liberate, a pacer.

Incidentally, the weather has been mild, in contrast to that of recent fall meets. This has resulted in improved attendance and, without doubt, has helped performance of the horses.

SHORT STORY

The Blue Serge Suit

By MICHAEL TIFF

It hung on the wall opposite the door as you came into the front room—the picture of my father in his blue serge suit, the only suit I had known him to own. That picture had always fascinated me. It presented my father as quite a handsome young man; the photograph had been taken, of course, some dozen years ago, just before he had married my mother. More than once she had told me about how my father had courted her in that suit and when she had first seen him in it she had sworn him to be the best looking man in the world. It had become the symbol of their merrier days and both of them cherished it. Only on two occasions since their marriage had my father worn that suit; my christening and a neighbor's daughter's wedding.

But things between my father and mother were not altogether peaceful. They spent their time together arguing about little matters. As for instance, my father would clump into the kitchen on a wet day and leave mud tracks on the floor. "There you go," she'd say, "treading mud tracks all over my clean kitchen. I suppose you like to see me on my knees scrubbing away like a slave." And my father would say, "I can't walk into my own house without being blasphemed."

On a bright summer morning my mother was serving breakfast and I could see her eyes sparkle as if she had an idea. "I'm going to visit my mother in Scottsville," she said. "I'll take Henry with me."

"Always thinkin' up something. Where's the money coming from for tickets?" said my father. "I saved it up, penny by penny. 'Waste of money,' said my father. 'With so much work on the farm, he wants to take a trip to her mother. Huh!'"

"I can see my own mother sometimes in a blue moon. I'd be glad to get away from you for a spell, believe me. The way you snap and bite at me."

"All right, then. Go and see if I care," said my father. Stolidly my mother packed a satchel. She dressed me in my Sunday white blouse and black corduroy trousers. I wore my shoes. My father took us to Oak Leaf Junction a mile away. We rode in the top-wagon, drawn by our white horse, Prince.

At the station my mother bought the tickets and we waited in silence. The train clanged in, and we got on, and I heard my father say "Good-bye" to my mother and she said that to him. As the train moved away I looked out of the window and saw my father standing near the wagon.

MY MOTHER and I went to the movies in Scottsville and we ate ice cream and store cake. Life was full for me, just to walk along Main Street and watch everything. My mother seemed different somehow here in Scottsville; she never argued with anyone. She even smiled. Toward the end of the first week, however, I noticed a shadow, flit across her face.

One night, as we were returning from a movie, my mother said: "Your father is a hard-working man, Henry."

As the end of the second week approached the favorite subject of conversation for my mother was my father. Soon she talked of hardly anything else. We were going home. The train flitted by forest and meadow and stream. I could close my eyes and picture my father in his overalls, waiting for us with Prince and the top-wagon, just the way we had left him. The train slowed down. Soon we were being helped off the coach by the conductor. My mother looked nice in her new dress, so carefully selected by her and my grandmother, bought with the remainder of my mother's savings. As she stood on the platform of Oak Leaf Junction at last, she seemed to be of the city, indeed. I saw my father coming toward us and his face was quite clean shaven. He didn't wear his sun hat and his iron gray hair was combed back. As I looked at him my eyes opened in wonder. So did my mother's. My father was wearing his blue serge suit.

He nodded at me. He took the satchel from my mother and we started toward the horse and wagon. He stumbled over the single platform step to the ground and brushed against my mother. "Ex-ex-cuse me," he stammered.

Mother Nature Need To Modern Inventor Not Take Back Seat

WASHINGTON—In this modern age scientists are always coming up with something to amaze the layman. Students of nature, Mother Nature, that is, will tell you that she outdid them all a long time ago. In fact, she set the pattern for them to follow.

The lowly bat, for instance, has been around for ages and eons. Brother bat being blind, nature saw fit to equip him with a special radar-like equipment. As he flits through the air he emits ultrasonic signals that bounce off walls, trees and other objects to guide his flight on the darkest of nights.

The eagle, who must prey upon ground animals for the major part of his food supply, has a set of eyes that puts our modern binoculars to shame and enables him to spot a hiding animal from the highest altitude.

The ambitious little ant has a special sense that directs him to a new food supply, and can find its way back to the ant colony and return with reinforcements.

Direction also plays an important role in the life of a migrating plover. Unerringly, he takes off yearly from the shores of Alaska and comes to rest on the beaches of Hawaii.

With commendable foresight, Mother Nature endowed the world's smallest creatures with special abilities for self preservation and food procurement. Many species of plants set traps for their prey, netting insects, and, in some parts of the world, even animals in their clutches. The lowly skunk has a great defensive weapon in his gas attack. Many other apparently defenseless animals are equipped with ears that catch sounds far behind normal range, thus enabling them to take shelter. The electric eel, living in a sea filled with terrible denizens of the deep, shocks them all with his built-in voltage.

Name almost any invention of civilization, and you can find a parallel in nature's realm. Perhaps that's where the idea came from, in the first place.

Tugboat Crewmen Baffle Alabama Police Officer

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—This Alabama town believes in Southern hospitality, just like the rest of the south. They don't approve of loitering, however, which probably may be said the cause of this recent incident.

Patrolman M. E. Furr noticed two men hanging around and hit it his duty to investigate. One could hardly blame him for being suspicious when they told him they were waiting for a tug to pick them up. A tugboat hadn't been seen this far up the Alabama river in 30 years. They were told to hit the road. Two days later the tug R. Thomas McDermott steamed up the river to Montgomery and reported two missing crewmen.

British Air Experts Note Method to Curb Fatalities

LONDON, Eng.—A few British experts believe they have come up with a way to cut down the number of casualties in airplane crashes. They want to rearrange the seats and have air passengers ride backward.

Walter Tye, chief technician of the British air registration board, points out that casualties usually result from passengers being pitched violently forward. If the backward seating arrangement were put into effect, he believes, the maximum shock would be absorbed by the cushioned seat backs.

Tye holds the belief that with reversed seats, "in any crash where the fuselage of the plane remains in one piece, it is almost certain that many casualties could be avoided." The fuselage remains intact in the majority of airplane crashes.

Experiments in backward seats have been tried satisfactorily in troop carriers.

One hitch might prohibit the success of the program. The passenger's attitude. It is a trait of human nature to prefer to see where one is going, rather than where one has been.

It's in the Tips

The artists in nylon brushes must have long, fine tips. By holding the brush up to the light, fanning out the nylon and looking closely at the tips, you can observe these. The way a brush will pick up paint and release it is affected by the tips of the bristles. In other words, they govern the smoothness with which paint can be applied.

"Pumpkin Pine" As a furniture wood, pine has been gaining increasing favor. Many pine pieces are being finished to simulate antique or Early American furniture. One of these finishes, known as "pumpkin pine" is a mellow yellow color.

Eggs with clean shells keep best. Wipe off soiled spots with a damp cloth, but don't wash eggs until just before you use them. When eggs are first laid, the shells have a film known as the "bloom" which seals the pores and helps keep out bacteria and odors.

No Faith "Brethren and sisters, we are gathered together here today to pray for rain," said the preacher. He looked his congregation over a little sadly and went on: "But before we begin I'd like to ask you just one question—where are your umbrellas?"

Hardest Substance Only diamonds are harder than ooron carbides. The latter are often used where resistance to abrasion is desired as in dies for drawing wire and in jeweled bearings.

Embroidery Trick To embroider initials or small designs on napkins, baste the stamped corners of four napkins together, edge to edge, and center the designs in an embroidery hoop. You can work all four corners this way, without changing hoop until you're ready to work the next four napkins.

Saving Eggs Eggs with clean shells keep best. Wipe off soiled spots with a damp cloth, but don't wash eggs until just before you use them.

Key to Success Vaughn Horton, composer of "Mocking Bird Hill," current musical hit, worked in the coal mines of Huntington County, Pa., for several years before studying mining engineering. It was while attending college that he became an arranger, then a composer.

Biggest Deed The world's biggest deed was one executed by the five Indian nations in 1736 for land along the Susquehanna River which conveyed title to an area westward "to the setting of the sun."

Heavy Evidence In Salt Lake City a suspected shoplifter seized by police switched from howls of protest to howls of pain when a flatiron he had stolen slid down the inside of his trousers leg and bounced off his toe.

CCC Offering Loans To Build Corn Crib

Farmers who will need a loan to build a new corn crib this fall, if unable to secure funds from a local bank or other agency, may get the money from the commodity credit corporation through the county production and marketing administration.

CCC will make loans to build cribs up to 80 percent of the cost of construction of 45 cents per bushel of capacity, whichever is the least, according to James A. Cottman acting chairman of the state PMA committee, College Park.

The loans bear 4 percent interest, are for four years and may be extended in case of disaster.

All county agent offices have corn crib building blue prints and other construction information from the University of Maryland. Blue prints of corn cribs and other structures may be secured at very low cost through this source.

Building engineers have developed several new corn crib plans recently which are better adapted to handling wet corn and for working with modern machinery.

Cottman suggests that in building a new crib, it would be a good idea to make it so drying equipment may be used if necessary.

The use of hybrid corn and machine harvesting has increased the possibility of wet corn and while it varies with the season, there is usually some corn too wet to store every year.

Maryland had considerable wet corn last year. Some farmers left it in the field as long as possible but it was still wet when picked. Much of it sold for about half the price of good dry corn. In some cases the loss would have more than paid for a drier, according to Cottman.

Pictures of the Moon

Samuel Dwight Humphrey secured a series of exposures of the moon at Canadigua, New York, in 1849. He used an ordinary portrait camera. As the moon traveled across the heavens, he made several exposures on one daguerrotype plate. The images were hardly more than a quarter of an inch in diameter, but Humphrey demonstrated that it was possible to record with a camera the moon's disk.

Use of Varnish-Stain

Instead of applying stain and then varnish, a varnish-stain is sometimes used. This material is applied in the same manner as clear varnish.

Our belief is that the tag INDEPENDENT NEWS-PAPER means about the same as "Neutral Spirits" on a label.

The late Will Rogers said about twenty-five years ago: "I can't believe all these stories I hear about corruption. If there is that much corruption around, I know I'd got some of it."

At Delmar over the past week-end eighteen drivers were arrested and fined for speeding—and not one of these drivers live in Delaware! Is this passing strange—or strangers?

Probably we do not appreciate the tremendous educational value of radio and television. The amazing scientific discoveries, all for the benefit of mankind, would not be known to the general public without the cigarette, soap and tooth paste commercials.

In front of a garage here a week or two ago was an automobile, and on the piece of tin just above the rear license plate was this brilliant and facetious bit of advice: "If You Can Read This, You Are Too D—n Close." Walking around to the front of the car, we noticed that it was mashed into a twisted wreck. Evidently he himself was too close to something.

In a more or less personal vein—attention, Cliff Miller, supervisor of signals and fervid booster of all things pertaining to the Pennsylvania Railroad: We are deeply grateful to the Pennsy for operating Diesels down the peninsula. With two Diesels attached, your freight trains are twice as long as they were when you used the steam type. We have the schedule of every long freight train coming this way, and when we hear the whistle announcing the approach of the train, we run into a local restaurant and order a meal. By the time the meal is served, the long freight comes thundering by with a frightful roar and this drowns out the noise of the juke box, thus permitting us to enjoy our meal in a quiet atmosphere.

Followers of General Eisenhower have a slogan: "I like Ike." We have sent to Governor Stevenson's headquarters in Springfield, Illinois, a slogan we have coined: "We Believe In Steve!"

The Stamp Act, back in colonial days, seems to have made an indelible imprint upon Congressman Caleb Boggs, but we believe it must have been a typographical error when a newspaper said Congressman Boggs is going to stamp the state. We believe that stamping or stumping will be made on hollow ground, because the likable Cale is up against the best governor Delaware has had in many years, and during all the years we have been a resident of this state only one other governor was truly democratic in meeting and recognizing all the people, John G. Townsend, Jr. Townsend will sit on a stool at some little lunch counter, eat hamburgers with you and talk with you—and Carvel will do the same. We never saw Buck or Bacon during their terms as governor—and many people, for a time, believed they were myths.

PAPERS' POLITICAL PUNCH

Two weeks ago we expressed the belief that the newspapers of the United States have very little influence in the voters in a Presidential election. Now, in the Rotarian Magazine, we find vindication of our expression by the famed Frank Luther Mott, "The Scholar of Journalism" and Pulitzer Prize Winner. "Has the Press Lost Its Political Punch?" is the title of Mr. Mott's article. According to this article, the press never had any political punch. There were 204 newspapers in the United States in 1801. Almost 140 of them favored the John Adams-Charles Pickney ticket, but the Thomas Jefferson-Aaron Burr ticket won by a decisive vote. James Madison was elected with minority newspaper backing, and all through the years a majority of the candidates with the largest newspaper backing met defeat.

"Maybe a rural paper can make or unmake a sheriff," says Dean Mott, "but can the great dailies elect Presidents?" To prove Dean Mott's point, as well as our own, that a rural newspaper can make a sheriff, the Harrington Journal is going to make Robert Pippin sheriff of Kent County.

ONE-PARTY PAPERS NOT THE REAL MENACE

When Governor Stevenson told a gathering of newspaper men on the Pacific Coast that although we have a two-party system in the United States, we seem to have one-party papers, he wasn't so far wrong. However, as someone pointed out, newspapers have a right to support the candidates of their choice.

The real menace to unbiased information is the fact that in many cities the same men control both the morning and afternoon papers. They can slant the news to suit themselves—and many of them do. Of course, you may write letters of protest to the editors, and some of them will publish the letters.

Here are only a few cities in which the same organizations own all the dailies published:

- Birmingham, Mobile, Montgomery, all in Alabama; Phoenix, Prescott, Tucson, in Arizona; Hot Springs, Arkansas; San Diego, Santa Rosa, California; Pueblo, Colorado; Bridgeport, Meriden, Norwich, Waterbury, Connecticut; Daytona Beach, Palm Beach, Orlando, all in Florida; Augusta, Columbus, Macon, Georgia; Rockford, Springfield, Illinois; Evansville, Indiana; Springfield, Missouri; Baton Rouge, Louisiana; Portland, Maine; Memphis, Tennessee; Cumberland, Maryland; Worcester, Massachusetts; Minneapolis, Minnesota; Akron, Toledo, Springfield, in Ohio; Tulsa and Oklahoma City.

Two of the papers listed among the ten greatest in America, the Louisville, Kentucky, Courier-Journal, and the Kansas City, Missouri, Star, own all the dailies published in their respective cities.

Obviously, some of these papers are Democratic, some are Republican and others are classed as independent. Some of them are fair, both from a news and editorial standpoint—and some of them are unfair on all counts—but should the reading public get both sides of the story in all these cities? Complete control of the press in any city may be very dangerous.

Disappointment
Some sorrow, no doubt has come to us all, While traveling on the highway of life;

We bury our faces, the tears flow fast, Our hearts are pierced with sorrow and strife;

Then One comes as to the empty tomb, Speaking words of live, "Why weepst thou?"

Have I not been with you in days gone by, And will you not let me comfort you now?"

O heart that is sad, have faith, look up,

Comfy Bed for Boxer

A three-side dog bed for a boxer can be made by cutting the sides and back from pine boards one inch thick and 10 inches wide. Sides should be curved at the opening. To the lumber nail a piece of tempered hardboard, three-sixteenths-inch thick, for a splinter-free, smooth bottom. Bevel all edges of this bed, which is two feet by three feet, and paint it.

Men Don't Leap

Women can be coy when some swain proposes, but the boys can be pretty hard to convince, too. It is reported in the N.Y. Journal of Commerce that marriage rates do not go up in leap years.

Your disappointments have not come to stay; You shall smile again as you trust in God, Your many doubts will all pass away; Our God, the maker of heaven and earth, Is limitless in all His powers, He will dry your tears, give hope again, And comfort in the weary hours.

The Colonel from Covington Again

Into the office of Roland Stayton, Harrington jeweler, there strolled this week a typical Kentucky Colonel, with goatee and shoestring black tie—and pinned neatly to the lapel of his coat was a sprig of green mint. "I am, suh," he announced to the jeweler, "Kunnel Lucifer L. Lucullus L. Lush, of Looeyville, Kaintucky. Did my friend, the Kunnel from Covington, bring you a watch to be repaired?"

"He did," answered the puzzled Stayton, and he told me the watch would run forward a few seconds, and then would start running backward, and then forward again. He further said that the second hand would run so fast that it would make the complete circuit of the face of the watch in about five seconds. I have given the watch a thorough inspection and there's nothing wrong with it."

"I knew there was nothing wrong with it," said the Kentuckian, "and here's how the Kunnel from Covington got the idea there was something wrong. My hobby is visiting historical shrines and the Kunnel offered to take me to Philadelphia to see the Liberty Bell. We were on the eighth floor of a hotel—I believe they call it the Bellevue-Statler—when the Kunnel noticed that this watch had run down. He glanced at the elevator indicator and mistook it for a big watch. The hand on the indicator pointed to the seventh floor and the Kunnel set his watch at seven o'clock. Then the hand registered the third floor, and he set his watch at 3 o'clock. It moved on up to the fifth floor and then down to the second, and he set his watch likewise. This continued for about twenty minutes and finally the Kunnel gave up in disgust and put the watch in his pocket."

"Did you get to see the Liberty Bell?" asked Stayton. Kunnel Lucifer L. Lucullus L. Lush, of Looeyville, Kaintucky, hesitated a few seconds before answering: "Well, suh, it is all rather vague to me, but we must have seen the Liberty Bell, because there has been a constant ringing in my ears ever since."

Lt. Col. Lee A. Grove, whose sister, Mrs. Joseph S. Bellmeyer lives at 22 Elm Terrace, Dover, is attending the Army Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans. He is one of 598 officers who began the 10-month course.

Hoof Beats

The U. S. Trotting Association opened its world record tables to accommodate two new champions last week, one of whom reigned but 40 minutes before relinquishing the title to a stablemate.

The new titans of the trotting world are Star's Pride and Florican, a pair of 5-year-olds.

Star's Pride is owned by E. R. Harriman, Goshen, N. Y. and L. B. Sheppard, Hanover, Pa. Florican is the property of the Arden Homestead Stable (Mr. Harriman and his nephew, E. T. Gerry).

Florican, a son of two former Arden stars—Spud Hanover and Florimel—started the fireworks at the Du Quoin, Ill. State Fair by negotiating the first heat of a $5,000 Trot in 1:57.2/5.

That represented a new race record for stallions of either gait, the trot or pace, displacing the 1:57.3/4 standard hung out by Victory Song in 1947.

But before Florican could get the word champion lettered on his blanket Star's Pride, second in that heat, came back to go him one better.

Star's Pride, a son of Worthy Boy, trotted the second heat over the lightning-fast DuQuoin oval in 1:57.1/5 with Florican second.

That not only relegated Florican to second place but it also broke two other records which Florican had missed.

It made Star's Pride not only the champion trotter stallion, but the fastest race trotter of any sex on the fastest stallion in a race or against time.

The race record that fell before this mile was Greyhound's gelding mark of 1:57.1/4, made in 1936. The time trial mark for stallions that fell was Spencer Scott's identical 1:57.1/4 mile in 1941.

Credit for the record-book assault goes to Brooklyn-born Harry Pownall, head trainer for the Arden horses who has raced both Star's Pride and Florican since they were two, and who has won more than $100,000 with each of them. Pownall drove Star's Pride in the DuQuoin race while Del Miller had the mount behind Florican.

Color Conveys Cleanliness

Fastidiousness and cleanliness in a store is often conveyed to the public by its color scheme. One baker does it by painting his establishment all white. Another pastry shop has a blue front and a large white area above the show window. A similar air has been given to a drug store by painting the front of the store, as well as the door and trim, in white. The firm's name is lettered in magenta.

Roving Eyes

A "roving eye" doesn't actually move out of position unless, that is, you're a flounder. A fully grown flounder has two eyes on one side of his head and none on the other. When he was a baby, he had an eye on each side, like any normal fish, but he took to lying on one side in the sand until one eye slowly traveled around the back of his head and took up a permanent place next to its brother eye.

Social Security

Social Security checks mailed September 3 to 11,000 Delaware people were the last under the old rates of payment, according to Myron Milbourn, manager of the Wilmington social security office.

As a result of changes made in the social security law in July, nearly everyone receiving old-age and survivors insurance benefits will get higher payments.

"For example," Mr. Milbourn says, "a retired insured worker whose August payment is $40, based on earnings received since 1936, will get a September payment early in October of $45; a worker who got $68.50 in the current check will get $77.10 the first week in October."

Bulk Milk Handling Coming To Delaware

Bulk handling of milk will be coming to Delaware in October. This method is new to dairy farming, but should be an improvement over the old "can method" of getting milk from the cow to the bottle.

Delmar J. Young, dairy specialist of the Agricultural Extension Service, lists several reasons why he is in favor of the bulk method. First, having to transfer the milk from tank to tank only eliminates spillage losses. In the bulk method—daily weights, buttermilk, sediment, and bacteria checks are made at the farm. This gives the farmer an easy way to keep records and check production. The money angle enters in three ways: one, savings on milk can buying, replacement, and cleaning; two, lower hauling rates. Third, there is a saving in electric bills because milk is cooled directly, and the electricity has to be on only when the tank is being used.

Quality is improved, because milk is cooled more quickly. Milk is poured directly from the pail into the tank, where it can be cooled within 15 minutes after the complete milking operation. There are problems, too, Young advises. The cost of equipment is high at first, but it is repaid through savings in two or three years. Cleaning the tank is a problem. Tank capacity is hard to judge. Allowances should be made for herd expansion. Refrigeration units have to be kept in top working order.

But generally, Young feels that the new equipment is an asset to the industry.

4-H Dairy Judges Tractor Driver At Richmond

The dairy judging and tractor operating skill of Delaware 4-H'ers will be tested against that of nine other states at the Atlantic Rural Exposition, Sept. 22-23. Raymond Lamborn, 20, Newark, will represent the Diamond State in the Tractor Operator's Contest, Sept. 23. Ray is a member of the White Oak 4-H Club, and has taken tractor maintenance projects for three years. He was the winner in the state contest at the Kent-Sussex Fair in July.

The dairy judging team has two girls and two boys this year. Peggy Adams, 14, Harrington, and Elizabeth Webster, 16, Wilmington, are the feminine members. Peggy belongs to the Vernon Honey Bee Club; Elizabeth is a member of the Brandywine Valley 4-H Club. Charles Moore, 15, of the Bear 4-H Club; and Marvin Davis, 18, a member of the Millwood Club are the other members. Delmar J. Young, dairy specialist of the Agricultural Extension Service is coaching the team. He and Mrs. Margaret Osborne, Kent County 4-H agent, will accompany the group.

Delaware 4-H Boy To Go India

Vaughn Pierce Fox, of R. D. 1, Newark, is Delaware's 1952 International Farm Youth Exchange delegate, Sam Gwinn, State 4-H leader announced this week. Vaughn will leave October 15 for India, where he will spend 6 months living and working with farm families.

Vaughn, 20 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Fox is no stranger to Delawareans. Vaughn has been a 4-H Club member for 9 years and president of the New Castle County 4-H Junior for 2 years. He is a member of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association, has won 2 state awards, and was on the state demonstration team. He was a Delaware delegate to 1951 National 4-H Camp in Washington.

He has lived on a Delaware farm all his life, attended Newark schools, and is now a junior in mechanical engineering at the University of Delaware. Recently he won his fourth state award from the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild.

Vaughn is also active in the Methodist Youth Fellowship, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Delaware Rifles, and Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

This is the second year Delaware has taken part in IFYE program. Last year's delegate, Helen Samendinger, spent the summer on German farms. Vaughn is taking part in the winter exchange with southern hemisphere countries. He is studying Hindustani and reading about India and its customs, so that he may do the best job possible as a "grass roots" delegate of good-will. In order that Delawareans can share his trip when he returns, Vaughn plans to take a 35 mm. camera and a movie camera.

Internal Parasites Slow Sheep Gains

The control of internal parasites often makes the difference between profit and loss for Maryland sheep raisers, according to Boyd Whittle, University of Maryland extension livestock specialist. Drugs can be used to combat the parasites, he says, but they should be used to supplement preventative measures.

"It's the old story of an ounce of prevention," Whittle explains. "Pasture rotation every 3 months is one of the best methods of control. Clean water and feed troughs will do much to eliminate parasite troubles during the winter months. Salt containing trace minerals and sufficient feed plus good quality hay will keep the flock well fed and less susceptible to parasite infection," Whittle advises.

A publication outlining preventative and control measures is available from Maryland county agents. It is Fact Sheet 32, "Controlling Internal Parasites of Sheep."

Charles County Youths Plan Conservation Day

The young farmers of Charles County are taking the lead in planning a facelighting field day on the farm of Ridgely Cooksey, near Dentsville, October 8. Charles County 4-H clubs, Future Farmers of America, Catholic Youth Organization and Associated Youth of the Farm Bureau are combining their efforts to put on the event which will be the first of its kind in the east. Two similar events, also sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, have previously been held in western states.

Young Ridgely Cooksey wants to transform his tobacco farm into a diversified operation, with livestock and grain in addition to tobacco, and the young folks of Charles County are going to help him do it in one day. The land, which will receive conservation treatment, is not the only part of the farm that will be changed. The house and barn are due for some facelighting too.

The youth groups will do the work with the help and advice of Soil Conservation Service personnel, county extension workers and University of Maryland extension specialists.

The Charles Soil Conservation District and the Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have prepared a map of the farm with a complete conservation farm plan which will be used as a guide for the day's activities. The purpose of the soil conservation plan is to use each acre to its maximum capacity, at the same time prevent erosion.

venting the soil from washing farm at the field day will be to away. Everything done on the help establish this long range plan.

With livestock, the cheapest way to provide feed is by pasture, so the young farmers will help Cooksey with his pasture problems. Eight acres of new pasture will be established and five acres of old pasture will be renovated with more productive grasses and legumes. An existing pasture of ladino clover and orchard grass will be top dressed with lime and fertilizer.

For the tobacco enterprise, a cover crop of wheat will be seeded on the contour. New plant beds will be established and sterilized, and repairs on the tobacco barn will be made at the field day.

Farm roads will be graded and improved while the entrance to the farm and home is landscaped.

Part of the inside of the Cooksey home will be painted, and new shelves and cabinets will be installed in the kitchen. Also of interest to the women will be demonstrations of home freezing and ironing.

The materials and equipment of the facelighting will be supplied by local dealers.

Following the full day's activities, the young farmers will have a dance and refreshments at La Plata.

The program will begin at 10 a. m. Lunch will be served on the farm.

Improving Feeding Best Way To Make More Poultry Money

Since feed costs make up more than 50 percent of the cost of producing eggs and 65 to 70 percent of the cost of producing broilers, improving poultry feeding methods is the most fertile field to work on in cutting costs, which means increasing profits, according to Perry F. Twining, of the University of Maryland poultry department.

Two new attractive poultrying publications just issued by the University are now in the hands of county agricultural agents for free distribution to farmers. They are "Feeding Chickens," Extension bulletin 126 and "Broiler Mash Formulas," Fact Sheet 55.

Recent advances in poultry nutrition now make it possible to make poultry feeds which are far superior to those used only a few years ago, Twining points out. Some of these new factors are: The development of antibiotics, recognition of the importance of the energy content of a ration; increased availability and use of vitamin supplements such as B12; and a better understanding of the need for certain still unidentified growth factors.

"Not every poultry grower can become a nutritionist but by making use of the knowledge available from agricultural scientists he will be in a better position to operate more profitably when the margin between feed costs and market prices is narrow," the poultryman pointed out.

Delaware families, through 4-H Clubs, Home Demonstration Clubs, Granges, and anonymous gifts, contributed the money for Vaughn's trip. This money also helps exchanges from other countries visit the United States.

Vaughn was chosen by a committee composed of Harry C. Johnson, Smyrna, Master of the State Grange; Mrs. Edwin P. Neilan, Newark, former state Home Demonstration international relations chairman; and John Hastings, 4-H Club leader from Bridgeville.

The International Farm Youth Exchange Program, started in 1948, is dedicated to the belief that understanding is the foundation of world peace. By giving farm youth an opportunity to learn another way of life by living it, the program helps rural young people understand the problems and attitudes of rural people in other lands. The National 4-H Club Foundation, in co-operation with the USDA and Land Grant Colleges, conducts the program in the United States.

BEEF CATTLE FOR SALE

Have sold out of all cattle on hand and expect a new lot of over 300 head to arrive this week, either Herefords and Angus heifers and steers, which will consist of over 100 head of calves weighing from 300 to 400 pounds. Just right to start now and make 1,000 pound cattle next year.

Also will have over 150 cattle weighing from 400 to 600 pounds. They are just right to keep for breeders or fatten for market in the early winter.

Balance will be cattle weighing from 600 to 900 pounds hat will do for the feed lot this fall.

Anyone interested in good beef cattle to make money on should come and look these cattle over.

I have sold over 3,000 head of these kind of cattle since January 1st, to over 300 satisfied customers, and expect to sell more than that many the balance of this year. So if you have pasture, why not buy a few of these good cattle and watch them grow and make money for you? It looks like cattle will be high for a long time to come.

All cattle I handle are treated for shipping fever and delivered free of charge within 100 miles. Will take your dairy and fat cattle in trade and allow you a good price for them. Also can arrange to pasture at a small cost to you any number you wish to buy.

I have rented the Normandy Farms at Norristown, and have over 400 acres of the finest pastures. They have a four-rail fence and plenty of water and shade. I'm sure your cattle will do good there. Also have over 300 acres pasture to rent here in Chadds Ford. So why wait? Why not come and see some real good cattle that are priced lower than any other cattle of the same quality in the state of Pennsylvania?

There must be a reason why I have sold over 48,000 beef cattle in the last 12 years and last year was the biggest year I ever had.

I expect to receive over 200 cattle each week for the balance of this year and I expect to price them so they will move out in that order.

Mrs. O. T. Perry, assisted by Mrs. Amos Minner, Mrs. Herbert Denny and Mrs. Byron McKnatt, presented an interesting program after which the class adjourned to meet Oct. 20.

Sunday's Schedule

Final Play - offs

Frederica at Wyoming 2:30 PM
Wyoming and Frederica reached the Mar-Del League Final Play-offs on Sunday as the eliminated Felton and Harrington in the Semi-Finals by notching their second straight victories. Wyoming outslugged Felton 12 to 7 while Frederica made it two in a row over Harrington by an 8 to 6 score.

The opening clash of the three best out of five Championship Series will start this Sunday as Wyoming is host to Frederica at the Caesar Rodney diamond with the opening toss at 2:30 PM. Frederica looms a strong threat to the pennant winners at this stage of the race. Wyoming was hit hard when righthander Joe Moeltner was discharged at the Dover Air Base and now lives in New Jersey. This leaves only their mainstay Aub Berry and Manager Freddie Clemence for moundwork. Clemence has made only one appearance this season when he went in last week to halt a Felton rally. Harold Bennett may be called on to take the mound if Berry or Clemence are unable to stop the Frederica attack. Wyoming has also lost their regular shortstop now that Gene Zartman is attending Bucknell but they are covered in this position by Cooper, a regular in 1951. On the other hand Frederica is well fortified on the mound with Buddy Kimmel, Ken McClamorck and Roy Kemp ready for starting roles while in Jim Postles they have a standout relief hurler. Kimmel will get the starting nod for Frederica on Sunday with Del Brown as his battery mate. Berry will be seeking his 9th win as he takes the rubber for Wyoming with Allen O'Neal behind the plate. Interest is running high and a record turnout is anticipated. Both teams have a large following while interest around the League is expected to swell the attendance.

Wyoming and Felton both started out with a rush last Sunday. Wyoming scored 8 runs in the first three innings while Felton chased 2 across in the 1st and 3 in the 2nd. Berry tightened at that point and held off to the finish. Wyoming scored single tallies in the 6th and 7 and shoved over 2 in the 9th. Four of the five Felton raps off Berry went for extra bases. Manager Johnny Bunnell rapped out a triple, double and single to drive in 3 runs. Harold Rothermel clouted a triple while Les Killen hit for a circuit smash in the 2nd with Rothermel on base. Bobby Bell had a big day at the plate for Wyoming as he homered and had 2 singles. Reds Minner also hit safely twice while Bennett double. Each team turned in several snappy fielding plays. A twin killing, Voshell to Dill to Sipple, checked a Wyoming scoring threat while Johnny Williams, Reds Minner and Charley Rodriguez hooked up to turned in a double play for Wyoming. Rothermel went the route for Felton and was charged with the loss. He fanned 5 and walked 8. Berry registered his 8th win of the campaign without a loss as he left 3 at the plate on strikes and gave up 2 free passes.

Lefthander Ken McClamrock bested Harrington's Harry Barrett as Frederica won their second straight in the Semi-Finals 8 to 6 in a well played contest that attracted one of the largest crowds of the season. McClamrock hurled 6 hits ball as he put down 11 on strikes but was liberal with passes as he walked 7. Barrett was touched for 9 hits. He struckout 7 and granted the same number of walks. Harrington jumped off to a 4-1 lead in the first inning but Frederica packed away and deadlocked the score at 4-4 in 3rd. They broke the tie with a 2 run outburst in the 6th and added 2 more in the 9th which proved to be the margin of victory. Harrington threatened in the 9th as Wayne Brown's Drive got by Roy Kemp to allow two runs to cross the plate. Brown was cut down at the plate to wind up the ball game and end the season for Harrington. Bobby Gibson was the big gun at the plate for Frederica as he came up with a double and two singles. Harrington played errorless ball with Cubbage handling 8 chances at second without a slip.

Fire Companies Urged To Get Insurance

The Kent County Fire Chief's Association has been advised by Harry P. Jones, director of the financial responsibility insurance for their own protection.

He told the chiefs at a meeting at Harrington that fire apparatus, as well as ambulances operated by fire companies, is not exempt under the financial responsibility law except where such equipment is owned and titled in the name of a political subdivision.

He explained that an operator of a piece of fire equipment involved in an accident is subject personally as to loss of license and the company as to loss of registration for all the apparatus in the title of that company.

The chiefs discussed the availability of auxiliary power being furnished for the operation of main radio transmitters in each county in the event of attack where the regular source of electricity is disrupted.

C-K-R-T Auxiliary Meets

The first fall meeting of the Auxiliary Unit of the Callaway Kemp-Raughey-Tee American Legion Post of Harrington was held on Tuesday evening, at the Legion Home near Harrington. Mrs. William Outten, new president of the Unit, presided. Following the usual opening exercises, the secretary's minutes and treasurer's report were given. Mrs. Sidney Burtman, child welfare chairman for last year, read a letter from John P. Briggs, case worker at the Ferris Industrial School, concerning Edward Major, the boy that the Unit "adopted" at the school. The members voted to send Edward some article of wearing apparel and a card for his birthday which will be on October 11th.

Mrs. Reynolds French, new welfare chairman, will carry out this project.

A suggestion by several of the members to serve sandwiches at the Friday night dances that are held each week by the Legionaires at the home, met with the approval of the group. After the Legion has been contacted the program will go into effect. Four members will have charge of the kitchen during the intermission time each week.

A motion was made to pay off part of the loan that the Unit borrowed to renovate the kitchen. This motion was approved.

Nominations from the floor were accepted for the position of recording secretary, which was left vacant at the resignation of Mrs. Burtman. Mrs. O. T. Robert, Jr. was unanimously elected to fill the position. Mrs. Kenneth Aiken was appointed chairman of the Girl's State Committee to replace Mrs. Roberts who held that appointment previously.

Mrs. Outten reported that the State Executive Committee in November would be held at the Harrington Legion Home. The Unit in Harrington will serve as hostesses.

A reminder about the gifts for the Christmas Shop at the Veterans Hospitals was announced.

The refreshment committee for the meeting in October will be: Emma Lee Hughes, Lucy Jerred, Bessie Jester, Annie Kelley, Mabel Kemp and Anne Minner. A donation to the Dresser Nurses Fund was approved by the Unit. This fund is available to any Veteran's child who wishes to go into nurses training in the State of Delaware. This year, for the first time, a young lady from Reading, Pa., applied for and was awarded the fund, and is now in training at the Milford Memorial Hospital.

The meeting was adjourned by the president. Refreshments were served by the Executive Committee.

The members are: Mrs. William A. Minner, Chairman, Mrs. Charles Peck, Jr., Mrs. Leonard A. Taylor and Mrs. Norman Brown.

Topic for the meeting was "Foods from Foreign Countries," and Miss Charlotte Swanson, the new home demonstration agent for Kent County delighted the members with the Pizza Pie and French Onion Soup that she made. In addition to the two dishes that were prepared at the meeting a number of recipes were given to the members.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ellen Rapp, with Mrs. Ethel Rapp serving as co-hostess.

Twenty Years Ago

Announcements are made of the marriage of Mrs. Flora Mae Purdy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugg, of Felton, and C. W. Shaub, of Wilmington.

A very pretty wedding took place Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Kirby, Milford Neck, when their daughter, Mildred, became the bride of Jesse Sharp, of Frederica.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boone, of Frederica, are the parents of a son, Daniel Keith.

Walter E. Berg, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Berg, of Harrington, was killed in a motorcycle accident west of Felton Friday night, and Arthur Reed, 18, and Harmon Dunlap of Felton, were seriously injured.

Miss Mary Reed and Emil Reed, sister and brother of the car driven, were cut and bruised. Berg was blinded by the headlights of a car.

The Harrington baseball team was tendered a banquet by the citizens of the town Friday evening at Firemen's Hall. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Fire Company were the caterers. More than a hundred were in attendance.

Earl Sylvester was toastmaster. Jack Holloway, president of the Harrington Baseball Association, presented the players with checks of $42 each. This money was received from admissions during the season.

George Short, captain of the ball team, presented bouquets to Mr. Holloway, manager Kesler Farrow and assistant manager Charles Hopkins.

Insufficient enrollment prevented Wesley Collegiate Institute from opening this year.

Miss Barbara Masten and Miss Charlotte Beauchamp will leave next week for Hood College, Frederick, Md.

Travel Dress

Women who like the classic smartness of a sheath dress can find them now made especially for travel. Silk tweed is the material, trim are the collars and cuffs, gray is a good color, and a black organdie bow at the neckline adds smartness.

SHORT STORY

The Nagging Husband

By R. H. WILKINSON

JACK and Grace Baker were the happiest couple in Fairmount for almost a year. Then Jack began discovering certain qualities in his wife that he hadn't dreamed existed. They weren't minor idiosyncrasies that could be easily overlooked.

Chief among them was Grace's habit of forgetting.

Forgetting to mend Jack's socks, to sew on his buttons, to keep appointments. Going out and forgetting her latch key, forgetting to bring her glasses to the movies. After a year it began getting Jack down. The payoff came when he received a bill from Grace's dentist.

3 Minute Fiction

Charges for appointments made and not canceled with due notice.

"There's no excuse for it!" he raved to Grace. "Dang it, it's downright negligence. It's costing me money. You've got to improve!"

Surprisingly Grace was contrite. "I know it, darling. It's a habit I've always had and can't seem to break myself. I'll try to do better."

And for a while she did. Jack noticed the change and was pleased. It didn't last. Before a fortnight had passed, Grace had forgotten she'd promised to try not to forget. Jack spoke to her about it again. And again she promised to do better. But the same thing happened all over again, and it happened a third time.

Jack began to get desperate. He found himself speaking sharply to his wife when the situation didn't warrant it. He sometimes hated himself for reprimanding her, yet at the same time he was slowly breaking her of the habit.

3 Minute Fiction

Watching the carefree progress of the couple coming up the path, she said aloud: "How can I stop it, before it's too late. How can I combat youth?" There wasn't any answer even in the story books to that one.

Five minutes later Roger came into the room. At 34 he had lost none of his good looks, nor his boyishness and eagerness of manner.

"Hi there, kiddo! Say, look! We're planning a picnic up at Birch Island tonight. Two canoes of us are going. There'll be a moon and we'll cook steaks. How about it?"

Helen's blood froze. He acted almost as if he hoped she'd refuse, yet was resigned to having her with him.

"I'm sorry, Roger. I've a dreadful headache. You run along with the others and let me stay here and rest."

"Do you mind if I do go?" he said. "It's the sort of thing I like doing, you know."

"Of course not, darling. Now if you don't mind—I'd like to go to bed."

NOT until the sound of picnickers had died away around a bend in the lake did Helen give way to her emotions.

"He wasn't even concerned about my headache . . . He was thinking only of the chance to be alone with Sally Burton . . . Oh, what's the use? What's the use of trying to cling to something you know you've lost?"

How long Helen lay there she had no way of knowing. She must have slept, for when she opened her eyes it was to have them blinded by lightning. Sharp, deafening thunder followed. Rain lashed against the building.

Terror seized her. Ever since she had been a child she had been afraid in electric storms. By now, even greater than this instinctive fear, was fear for Roger.

She slipped from bed and ran to the window. A flash of lightning showed her the lake in a wild turmoil. She thought of the two frail canoes that had left earlier in the evening. She thought of Roger and Sally Burton . . .

A sound at the door brought her head around sharply. The room was suddenly flooded with light.

"Roger!"

He stood just inside the door, dripping wet.

"Hi, kiddo."

"Roger—you didn't—not in this storm—?"

He nodded. "The others are safe—at Bailey's camp. They decided not to risk the storm." He came toward her, placed a hand on either of her shoulders. "I—knew you were always afraid of thunder storms, and—and it was the first time you'd ever refused to go any place with me. It made me wonder."

Helen knew she was trembling. Even though she wanted she could not have stopped herself from asking the next question.

"And—what of Sally?"

He stared at her blankly, surprised, puzzled. How should I know? She wasn't with our bunch."

"Not with—?" Helen broke off abruptly, feeling suddenly very foolish. Then Roger's arms slipped about her, and the old familiar sense of security swept over her as he held her close.

"There's no answer to this," she whispered half to herself. "No answer at all—except real love."

SHORT STORY

Old Love

By R. H. WILKINSON

IF you are losing the affection of the man you love, pretend indifference," confidently wrote one authority.

Helen laughed bitterly. That looked well in print. But how about a woman who had been married to a man for 10 years and loved him now more than the day of their wedding? How about a woman who tried to make yourself interesting to your husband, knowing all the time that you're playing a losing game because grey streaks are showing in your hair and inevitable lines are appearing in your face?

From her bedroom window Helen could see beneath the trees that surrounded the lodge, down as far as the lake. And suddenly she stiffened. Roger was coming up the path, carrying a canoe paddle and laughing down at a slim girl by his side.

The lines about Helen's mouth hardened. The girl, she knew, was Sally Burton. She was staying at the lodge with her folks.

THE HARRINGTON JOURNAL

Harrington, Del.

Sparkman

He declared the farmers are enjoying the best conditions they have ever had, and that more new businesses were started last year than at any time previously. More money was invested by the American people in private business last year than ever before, he said. He said people in all walks of life—farmers, workers, white collar people—are all enjoying unprecedented prosperity. The Democratic vice presidential candidate also pointed to changes made by the Democrats which the Republicans opposed at the time, but now favor. He cited insurance of bank deposits, the underwriting of home loans for Americans, and the social security program of which he said: "they reach out and embrace it today, but they fought it back there."

The senator said he likes the slogan used by Delaware Democrats: "Keep the government in the hands of the people," and suggested that the Democrats could well use it nationally. He declared that historically and traditionally the Democratic Party has been the party of the people, while the Republican Party, except in the cases of Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt, has been "the party of the special interests."

Prosperity Cited

In declaring that the determining issue on Nov. 4 will be prosperity, Senator Sparkman said that "today we are enjoying the greatest prosperity we have ever enjoyed." The Democratic administration, he continued, have brought "the greatest social and economic advances in the last 20 years that any nation has ever enjoyed."

Joseph J. Scannell, the Democratic candidate for U. S. representative, urged the crowd to "get them all registered or we'll have a president of the United States who takes orders from Bob Taft and Governor of Delaware who takes orders from Frank duPont."

Lt. Gov. Alexis I. duPont Bayard, candidate for U. S. senator, asserted that the Republicans are asking the American people to sign their names to a blank check. With it, he said, the Republicans will give them "a one-way ticket back into the past. They'll carry you back into the Nineteenth Century."

The Alabama senator, addressing some 1000 persons on the Court House Green in Georgetown, said that when the farmer prospers, the nation prospers, and that "farmers will continue to prosper under the Democrats."

He told the Georgetown audience that the Republicans are "missing the mark, because people are freer and surer of themselves."

He said he believes the people are "not willing to make a change when all the Republicans offer are uncertain promises."

After his Georgetown address, Senator Sparkman went to Dover, where he told a rally of some 1,500 to 2,000 persons outside Legislative Hall that a real "change" occurred in 1932, when the Democratic Party came into power, but that the "Republicans haven't recognized that change yet."

In Laurel Governor Carvel's home town, where he addressed a crowd of 600 from the bed of a trailer truck at the Laurel Fire House, he said the Democratic Party is the party of good, wholesome change."

Before the people of the country will accept a change, he said they want to know whether it is only a change to "vague promises."

He pointed to what he termed the "unprecedented prosperity," reflected in "high employment, the increasing volume of investment and bank saving, the large number of new businesses started under the Democratic Administration, and the number of comforts that the individual home these days."

SHORT STORY

Paternal Guidance

By R. H. WILKINSON

ORDINARILY Angus wouldn't have interfered. Boys the age of his son Craig were apt to have love affairs—lots of them—before they settled down and thought about getting married. It was natural, a state that every youth had to pass through. But this latest heart throb seemed to have a hold on the youth. Angus had made discreet inquiries, and discovered her name was Leslie Day and that she was a good deal older than Craig.

Angus wasn't stupid enough to ask his son direct questions. Since the boy's mother had died he had learned that roundabout, indirect methods were far more apt to produce results.

"Suppose we go down to the beach and open up Peak's Head for a few weeks, Craig? Have some people down and make a holiday of it? Any one in particular you'd like to have around for a few days?"

"Swell! I was going to suggest it myself." Craig's voice assumed a note of casualness. "I'd like to have Don Waldron down and Lisbeth Gale. Then there's a girl I've been seeing some. Leslie Day. She's a good sport."

"Fine! You go ahead and do the inviting, and I'll have Ordway run down to the Head and get 'things ready.'"

Two days before they were to leave for the Head, Angus called a friend and made a few arrangements that he didn't confide to Craig. The friend said sure, he'd be glad to come and bring his niece.

Angus was on hand when Craig and his young friends arrived. Easily he picked Leslie Day out of the crowd. Anyone could tell she was older than Craig. She had dark hair and eyes and a quiet manner.

Angus' feeling toward Leslie Day suffered none during the evening and half day that preceded Jim Crouch's arrival with his niece, whom he introduced as Dorcas Haines. Jim hadn't underestimated a bit. Dorcas was a knockout.

"They play well together, don't they?" he said, turning to Leslie Day, who sat beside him beneath the orange and green umbrella.

"And look well together," she supplemented.

Angus had an uncomfortable feeling that Leslie could see through him perfectly.

"Look," he said, "it's no fun sitting here. Suppose you let me show you around?"

ANGUS decided before the week had passed that his scheme was working perfectly. Craig was spending as much time alone with Dorcas as he possibly could without appearing rude.

Craig came into his father's room on the sixth evening.

"Dad," I must talk to you. I—I'm in love."

"That's quite natural, Miss Day is a fine girl."

"That's the point, Dad. It isn't Leslie. It—it's Dorcas."

Angus did his best to appear surprised. He tried to think of a few original and paternal remarks apropos to the situation, and made a batch of the whole business. In the end, Craig, looking rather chagrined, said good night and departed. Angus sat by his bedroom window a long time. Well, he'd made a pretty mess of things.

He found her the next morning under the orange and green umbrella near the courts.

"Miss Day, I've a job to do that's really the hardest thing I've ever tackled. Please be as kind as you can when you hear me."

"Is it about Craig?"

Angus stared. He opened his mouth, closed it, became acutely conscious of the amused look in her eyes and reddened. "That," he blurted suddenly, "is only half of it. The other half is that I've fallen in love with you myself. Did you know that, too?"

"It would rather spoil an otherwise delightful scene if I were to say yes. Therefore I won't. Are you asking me to marry you? If so—the astonishing part is, I share a similar feeling. I mean, oh, it's all so ridiculous!"

Angus' heart leaped. "That makes it perfect! Your blushing, I mean. I had begun to think you were too sure—Oh, hang, I've known it from the first day. And so have you, I guess. But what else matters now that we've been truthful with each other?"

"Nothing," said Leslie.
