

Sussex Woman and Man Held on Murder Charges In Two Separate Killings

Miss Elizabeth Savage, 25, Newspaper Employe, Is Charged With Shotgun Slaying of Grover Cleveland Marvel

Porto Rican Cannery Worker Accused Of Killing One Man and Wounding Another at Slaughter Neck

An attractive, 25-year-old Milford newspaper employe and a Puerto Rican cannery worker were being held on murder charges Sunday night, as the result of two separate killings in Sussex County.

The Puerto Rican, who can neither speak nor understand English is Hector Romance, who is accused of killing one man and wounding another with a .22 calibre pistol during an argument that resulted from a crap game at Draper's Cannery Camp at Slaughter Neck, about five miles east of Milton. The shooting occurred at a. m., Sunday.

Milford Woman Held

The Milford woman is being Elizabeth Savage, who is being held without bail in the Sussex County Prison at Georgetown, charged with the shotgun slaying of Grover Cleveland Marvel, her 34-year-old boy friend during a "lover's quarrel."

The dead victim in the cannery camp killing was Walter Melton, 42, of Wilson, N. C., another worker at the cannery firm. He was pronounced dead at the Milford Memorial Hospital from a gunshot wound in the neck. Admitted to the same hospital for an operation to remove a bullet from his back was Edward Dorsey, of Richmond, Va., the second victim of the Puerto Rican's wrath, state police at Georgetown reported.

They said the trio had been drinking and gambling in the cannery camp and Romance apparently became enraged at the trend the craps game was taking. He pulled the revolver from his pocket and fired once at Milton, striking him in the neck, police said. Then, they added he wheeled on Dorsey, firing a second shot which struck the victim in the back.

State police said that Romance was taken to the Sussex County Prison. Marvel was struck in the abdomen by the shotgun blast fired by the girl while only a hedge separated them in the backyard of the victim's parents at 900 Southeast Second Street in Milford. The girl, employed in the composing room of the Milford Chronicle, had dined at the Marvel residence a short time before the shooting.

Chief of Police Samuel Powell, of Milford, said Miss Savage, a life-time resident of Milford, had obtained the shotgun from a neighbor's wife. Chief Powell said Marvel had apparently been treating her "sort of rough," and "things built up until they reached the cracking point." Marvel and Miss Savage had been acquainted for some time, he said. Marvel is divorced from the former Ethel Moore of Milton. They had two children. The dead man, who has lived with his parents since his divorce, was engaged in the painting and decorating business with his father.

Inquest Awaited

He was pronounced dead at the Milford Memorial Hospital by Dr. J. R. Burton.

"We will have more details available by the time the inquest is held," said the police chief.

The five-foot, seven-and-a-half inch girl has one brother and one sister. Her widowed mother lives in Milton.

Following the dinner in the Marvel home, the pair went into the back yard, where apparently another quarrel took place. She went to the neighbor's wife and asked for the shotgun, informing the woman that she was "going to shoot a dog," according to residents in the town.

She left and a short time afterward, the shot was heard, followed by a scream. A neighbor ran to the back yard and saw Marvel lying on the ground. His mother was close by. Miss Savage remained at the scene until the arrival of Milford police.

When taken into custody, her lips were bruised, residents said.

Different Color Treatment

A distinctive and different effect can be obtained for the exterior of a white-painted house by using shutters on the windows of the upper floor, but not downstairs. The shutters may be white, trimmed with maroon, with the window sash painted white. The lower floor windows—with no shutters—can echo the color by having the sash painted the same maroon.

Rich Coloring

A richly colored, effective living room has walls painted in deep cocoa brown, with the ceiling coated a soft beige that echoes the hue of the blond furniture. The floor covering is in a lighter tone of brown than the walls.

Hair Growth

New hair takes, on average, after hair has been plucked from the eyebrows, 64 days to grow out.

Mrs. Lucy L. Jones, 68, Dies; Funeral Today

Kids Day to Be Observed Sat. At Greenwood

The program for celebrating National Kids Day here in Greenwood has been completed. The time is Saturday, at 2 p. m. at the Greenwood School. There are several contests for boys and girls in the first eight grades. Posters are up at school and several business places in town; for further information concerning the contest see a poster.

Such programs as this, sponsored by our local Kiwanis Club as a part of the Kiwanis International and the National Kids Day Foundation, Inc., will serve well in teaching these boys and girls who participate the value of true sportsmanship and clean competition. This is a grand job being done by Kiwanis, and it is up to all parents and interested citizens to co-operate by offering their help in the toy decorations, and encouraging participation. Then, be sure to show your interest by attending.

The Kiwanis Club of Greenwood entertained the faculty of the school at dinner last Thursday night. The new Superintendent, H. Geiger Omwake, was introduced and he then introduced the rest of the faculty. The speaker was Dr. Justice Wood, of Salisbury, Md., who spoke on his recent trip to Europe.

The following represented the Kiwanis club at the charter night of the new Laurel Club: President and Mrs. James Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Sadowski, Mr. and Mrs. W. Paul Lord, Mr. and Mrs. A. Stanley Cahall, W. S. Lord and John Lyons.

Mrs. S. S. Wroten spent last week in Odessa visiting the Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Thomas, Jr.

Mr. Lewis Uhler and Mr. R. Lee Coulter are on the sick list this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hatfield and children, Kathleen and Richard, were Wednesday evening callers of the Jacob Hatfields. Joseph Hatfield, who is with the U. S. Navy, has recently been transferred from California to Washington D. C.

Candidate for Register of Wills

John Wesley Walls

Above is a big picture of a big man. John Wesley Walls, of Maryland, is a large man, physically, and a big man in the government of Kent County, being comptroller thereof. After four years in this important office, Mr. Walls is now Democratic candidate for register of wills for Kent County. The Maryland resident, who also sells school buses, furnished the engraving for the above picture, which originally appeared in a book.

Music Seeds Are Sown Throughout Midwest

CAMDEN, N. J.—A "musical Johnny Applesseed" who toured the Midwest 43 years ago sowing the seeds of music appreciation today sees her work bearing fruit all over America.

Ninety-two-year-old Dr. Frances Elliott Clark, director emerita of RCA Victor, recalled the day in 1909 when she heard a phonograph recording for the first time and was inspired to launch a movement which has brought the knowledge and understanding of good music to millions of public school children.

For two years, Dr. Clark traveled in the footsteps of the legendary "Johnny Applesseed," selling educational records for teaching purposes. Then the Victor Talking Machine Company heard about "that crazy education woman out west," and asked her to develop and direct an educational department for the young company.

Dr. Clark's "planting" in the fertile minds of school children became national in scope and when she retired in 1947 to Salt Lake City she had seen her plan adopted universally. She founded the music educators' National Conference in Keokuk, Iowa in 1907, and recently delivered the keynote address to its 6,000 delegates meeting in Philadelphia.

Disabled Veteran Refuses US Checks

SUFFOLK, Va.—A disabled veteran, who had learned a trade at government expense, notified the authorities that he would accept no more disability checks. In fact, he returned the last two checks sent him and refused to allow his name to be used for fear people would think he was "grandstanding."

Color Conveys Cleanliness

Fastidiousness and cleanliness in a store is often conveyed to the public by its color scheme. One baker does it by painting his establishment all white. Another pastry shop has a blue front and a large white area above the show window. A similar art has been given to drug stores by painting the front of the store, as well as the door and trim, in white. The firm's name is lettered in magenta.

Attecs Loved Flowers

Despite the cruel and warlike characters of the Aztecs, they loved flowers and wove them into chapters which they wore in tribute to their gods. Statue of Xochiquetzil, ancient Aztec goddess of beauty, fragrant flowers, was adorned with floral carvings. And the "partments of Montezuma, mighty emperor of the Aztecs, were filled with exquisite cut flowers.

Freshen Bread

To freshen French or Italian bread or hard rolls, simply let a little cold water run over them a second, then place them in a moderate oven until crisp again. Cool before slicing.

Takes Room from Doldrums

A bright color—vermillion, for instance—draws your eye when it's used in the decoration of a room. A dull one, such as a deep tone of red, stays quietly in its place. The brilliant colors which provide positive accents of color are sometimes needed to give life to an otherwise dull room.

Turtles' Whistle

Although the voices of most turtles are at best a slight squeak or sigh, the wood turtle which ranges from Maine to West Virginia makes a whistling call audible 30 or 40 feet away.

"Temples"

The sidepieces of a pair of spectacles are sometimes called "temples," a relic of the time when glasses were held in place by short arms which pressed firmly against the temples.

Traveling Advice

Use a snap clothes pin to hang your hat in the car when taking a trip. Just snap your hat to the rope stretched across the back of the front seat. Snap road maps there, too. Handy for those riding in the back seat.

"Pumpkin Pine"

As a furniture wood, pine has been gaining increasing favor. Many pine pieces are being finished to simulate antique or early American furniture. One of these finishes, known as "pumpkin pine" is a mellow yellow color. One way of obtaining this finish is to apply a blend of orange shellac and light mahogany spirit stain. A final coat of straight orange shellac is applied before the finished surface is rubbed with 4/0 steel wool and waxed to a dull lustre.

SHORT STORY Dead Past

By R. H. WILKINSON

A MAN with a past is at a disadvantage with the world. Johnny Martin realized this now more than ever.

He felt one more in his inside coat pocket and then searched through all his other pockets. But the envelope, containing the money that Fred Carson had given him to bring to the bank was gone.

For perhaps five minutes Johnny stood on the corner of Main and Hill streets trying to decide what to do. Fred Carson, despite the fact that he had never questioned Johnny about his past, would wonder when told that the money was lost.

Fred might look into his past. He'd be sure to find out about that six months in jail.

Six months ago Johnny had hit Hillside. He liked the town. Between it and the scene of his past life there were almost 2000 miles. He got a job as helper with Fred Carson, who ran a tree nursery.

Fred Carson was middle-aged and fat and kindly. He hadn't asked a single question, except what Johnny knew about trees.

Then there was June Stafford. She was probably more reason than any why Johnny liked Hillside and why he wanted to stay. He regretted now that he'd put off telling her about himself, about his past.

Too late now. She'd find out from Fred Carson or some one else, and then there'd be no use trying to make her understand. Only a half hour ago he'd met her at the post office and they'd talked of the picnic.

For perhaps five minutes Johnny stood on the corner of Main and Hill streets trying to decide what to do.

They'd planned for next Sunday. Sunday! By that time Johnny could be hundreds of miles away. It would be an easy thing to do. He could take a bus up to Avon, then hop a train.

Down the street Johnny saw the big blue-gray Avon bus coming toward him. He was so used to running away. Automatically he began to make his plans.

It flashed across his mind that maybe this was the cause of all his unhappiness—because he had always run away. Because he never had the courage to face a thing down, to live it down.

THE AVON bus came roaring up to the corner, its driver looking questioningly at Johnny. But Johnny shook his head, turned resolutely and headed back toward the nursery.

During the 15 minutes it took him to get there he decided what he was going to do. First of all he was going to tell about losing the money. Then before Fred Carson could do any investigating he was going to tell all about his past and the six months he'd spent in jail.

Fred was in the shop. Johnny stopped short at the look in his employer's eyes. There was something about Fred's expression that provoked apprehension.

"Look, Mr. Carson," Johnny said. "I lost that money. I thought it was in my inside pocket, but when I came to take it out the envelope was gone." Fred's expression hardened.

"There's something else I wanted to tell you too," Johnny rushed on. "It's about me. I should have told you long ago, but, well, I guess I didn't have the courage. I—I spent some time in jail once. When I was a kid. For breaking and entering. I've been trying to live it down ever since, but it always seems to catch up with me. And now, if you don't want a jailbird working for you—"

Fred's face had undergone a change. The hardness disappeared. "So that's it? And me just fixin' to 'bawl you out for missing that money instead of tellin' it? I was in a mind to do it, too, on account of the frost getting a whole double row of seedlings last night. Why, shucks, the money got to the bank all right. Tom Davis called up and said I was crazy for sending loose bills through the mails that way. I figured you musta met June Stafford somewhere and mailed the envelope so's you could talk to her."

Johnny gulped. "And now that you know about me—?" "Know about you? Why, shucks, sonny, I've knowed since two days after you came to work for me. June knows, too. A feller come through here who used to know you back East. He talked a lot." Fred's blue eyes twinkled. "Now stop gapin' at me an' get to work. I'm in no mood to argue."

"Yes, sir," he managed to say. "You bet, Mr. Carson!"

Pictures of the Moon Samuel Dwight Humphrey secured a series of exposures of the moon at Canadigua, New York, in 1849. He used an ordinary portrait camera. As the moon traveled across the heavens, he made several exposures on one daguerrotype plate. The images were hardly more than a quarter of an inch in diameter, but Humphrey demonstrated that it was possible to record with a camera the moon's disk

Little Bighorn Stand of Custer Echo of History

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Americans have not forgotten Custer's last stand.

On the afternoon of June 25, 1876, victory war whoops of the Sioux and their Cheyenne allies echoed over grassy ridges by the Little Bighorn River. Sunshine splashed through powder smoke on the dusty bodies of 225 dead troopers of the Seventh U.S. Cavalry.

An entire column led by Brevet Major General George Armstrong Custer, known to the Indians as "Yellow Hair," had been wiped out.

This year on June 25, ceremonies at Custer Battlefield National Monument in Montana marked the 75th anniversary of the massacre. Visitors from all parts of the nation attended.

Already this year, nearly twice as many people have been to the Little Bighorn as were counted last year. National Park Service figures show a total of 18,739 visitors in the first half of the 1951 travel year (beginning October 1, 1950), only 11,891 last year.

The shrine at Montana's Crow Agency has become a national stopping place. Gold in Paha-Sapa Trespassing, gold-seeking white men provoked the Sioux to war three-quarters of a century ago. Although the Laramie Council of 1868 closed the Bozeman Trail and guaranteed to the Indians that whites would be kept out of Paha-Sapa, the sacred hunting grounds in the Black Hills of Dakota, the lure of gold had become stronger than treaties.

Two years earlier Custer, with 1,200 men, had marched through the Black Hills, officially in search of military sites. In the expedition rode two miners fresh from California, Horatio Ross and William McKay. When Ross found yellow dust in the gravel of French Creek—where Custer, South Dakota, stands today—the last great gold rush of the Old West was on.

Winter came early and hard in 1875. Starving Indians began to leave their reservations. From Chicago, General Phil Sheridan ordered a three-way pincer to close on the increasingly hostile tribes. Custer's Seventh Cavalry marched west from Fort Abraham Lincoln.

On the Yellowstone River, Custer was ordered to split off from the main column and cross the ridges to the Little Bighorn. From the heights his scouts spotted the lodges of the Indian camp. They apparently did not realize that at least six tribes—an estimated 12,000 to 15,000 Sioux, Cheyenne and Blackfeet—were in the hostile gathering.

Custer divided his regiment into three columns, and with five troops rode to his doom.

Crazy Horse Today's school children learn the names of the Indian chiefs who met him: Crazy Horse, Gall, Black Star, Inkaputa, the brutal old Wakpekuta, and the craftiest of Sioux medicine men, Sitting Bull.

Crazy Horse led 2,500 warriors in a swirling attack, sweeping Custer and his outnumbered command with a rain of fire. The battle was over within three hours. Major Reno, entrenched on a hill a few miles to the south with the remainder of the regiment, fought for a full second day before learning of the complete disaster which had befallen Custer.

The Little Bighorn battlefield held a soldiers' cemetery since 1879. It contains nearly 1,700 graves of men who died in this and other battles with the Indians.

Grandmother Enjoys Party; But Wishes Daughter There

PITTSBURGH—Mrs. Elizabeth Dent recently celebrated a birthday—her 108th—at the McDonough Convalescent Home in suburban Millville. She enjoyed herself by visiting the eighteen other patients and singing songs and hymns for them.

Mrs. Dent, well known as "Grandma" was born in Devonshire, England. At a party given for her the day before, she was very happy, but regretted that her daughter was unable to attend. The daughter, 89-year-old Mrs. Eliza Hopkins, Ogden, Utah, was unable to come to the celebration because of ill health.

One American Lost Part Of Shirt at Peace Talks

KOREA—One American's shirt-tail was hanging out at the Kaesong cease-fire talks.

W. A. Hartney, quartermaster chief on the U.S.S. Los Angeles, sailing off Korea, was ordered to produce two small admiral's flags to fly over the jeeps of Vice Adm. Charles T. Joy and Rear Adm. Burke at Kaesong. The navy's flag for admirals is blue with white stars. Hartney could find only the larger size flags in the ship's locker.

The regular white bunting material available also proved too stiff and coarse for the 10 by 12-inch flags, so all Hartney could do was tear up one of his shirts—that is, tear the tail from one.

From the material provided came two bright blue and white flags to adorn the jeeps of the negotiating admirals.

Fur Seal The Alaskan fur seal, spending much of its life in the water, does not swim at birth and must learn as a pup. Contrary to the general belief, mother seals do not teach the young to swim.

Pastor Must Master His Schedule, Duties

DES MOINES—A clergyman must not become "the chore boy of everybody in the community who wants a benediction at a banquet," but the master of his schedule.

This advice was given by the Rev. Dr. Charles B. Tupper, associate professor of applied Christianity at Drake bible college, who also said that a minister must guard his health.

"Some of us drag around with half the power we ought to have because of reduced vitality," he said.

Dr. Tupper addressed the Iowa ministerial institute of Christian (Disciples) churches here. He said that a half-completed daily schedule is depressing, and brings no "sense of victory" or pleasure in achievement.

"There are more demands than we can meet and we must make a choice," he said. "I am not forgetting the minister's responsibility to the community." Dr. Tupper said, "but he must evaluate his calls on the basis of preference and importance."

Dr. Tupper said his basic thought was to keep alive the "spiritual glow" of clergymen, despite their difficulties, for the sake of the people they serve.

Seventy-Year-Old Tax Payers Are Thankful

SYRACUSE, N.Y.—A 70-year-old couple received a $27 refund check for an income tax overpayment. They returned it to the internal revenue collector, explaining their refusal to accept it as being due to their thankfulness for "the opportunity to continue working."

New Style U.S. Currency Baffles Bank President

HIWATHA, Kas.—Roy Ruth, bank president in the nearby community of Eberest, found that counting money can become a problem. Recently he broke open a bundle of $5 bills and carefully counted them. They totaled $500.

As a check, he turned them over to recount. This time he got a total of $530. Checking, re-checking and turning over each crisp bill carefully, he made a startling discovery: Six of the notes, fresh from government presses, were $5 denominations on one side, $10 on the opposite.

Lad in 'Hoppy' Sweater Is Youngest Volunteer

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa.—The husky military policeman blinked as the little boy, dressed in jeans and a Hopalong Cassidy sweater sauntered up to the entrance to the Valley Forge Army Hospital and said politely: "I've come to read for blind patients."

The soldier took the lad to the commanding officer. Eddie Dworczek, 11 years old, had hitchhiked from Paoli, 10 miles away, although friends had laughed at his idea of volunteering as a "reader."

The officer didn't laugh. Neither did the blind patients as Eddie read to them from two books he had brought under his arm: biographies of Lou Gehrig and Joe Di Maggio.

Foreign Mahogany

African mahogany grows on the Ivory Coast, the Gold Coast and in Nigeria in West Africa. It is also found in the Cameroons, French Equatorial Africa and in Belgian Congo, but these sources are not well known and so far have contributed little to American imports.

There is mahogany on the east coast of Africa and on the island of Madagascar that has not reached American markets.

'Induced Insanity' Reported at Duke

PINEHURST, N.C.—A case of "induced insanity," a rare behavior phenomenon, was reported here by a Duke University psychiatrist.

Dr. Leonard J. Ravitz told the Southern Psychiatric association about a strange case of fraternal twins, one of whom became the "echo" of the other's deluded ideas.

This case of "contagious insanity" has been recorded by Dr. Ravitz's newly announced electronic theory of psychiatry, linked with the solar system. By means of a microvoltmeter Dr. Ravitz measures the changes in a person's emotional disturbance from second to second, from one day to another, and from season to season.

Once, after twin "A" mentioned that he had produced many earthquakes, tornadoes, hurricanes, and floods, "B" thought a while, agreed, then asked, "Did you have anything to do with the snowfall 28 inches deep?"

This belief in A's power was clearly induced in B by A's suggestion, Dr. Ravitz said. However, B was much more suggestible to A's delusions when B's measurements—"electrical potentials"—were high. As his potentials decreased, B's suggestibility to these delusions decreased despite the fact that A's potentials were high. And A himself behaved much more normally as his potentials decreased.

Major Crime is Committed In U.S. Every 18 Seconds

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Just now had is the crime situation in the United States? According to the yearly report turned in by Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, a major crime was committed somewhere in America during every 18 seconds.

The crime volume increased 1.5 per cent for the year and all individual offenses, save one, contributed to the rise. Surprisingly, robbery was the single offense that did not top the preceding year.

Every five minutes in 1951 someone was feloniously assaulted or killed. An average of 146 persons were held up and robbed every day and the stolen car ratio was 468 for every 24 hours.

Hoover's Uniform Crime Reports for 1950 was compiled with the aid of 5,211 police agencies, but federal crimes and others, such as arson and embezzlement, were excluded, making the estimated total a conservative one.

One disturbing element of the statistics pointed out that, although urban crime remained about the same as 1949, rural crime showed an increase of 4.4 per cent. Also alarming was the fact that arrests of males under 21 increased 6.9 per cent. The predominant age among all persons arrested was 21 years.

Police were most efficient recovering stolen autos, returning 92 per cent.

Fire Company Shoots Works In Seeking Danger Source

NEWVILLE, Pa.—Chief John Bender and his firemen have a reputation for getting to the scene when called in a hurry.

One night recently the chief jumped from bed at 4 a.m. to answer an out of town alarm.

By the time he reached the fire station the tail lights of the fire wagon were disappearing up the street. Bender commanded a car and took off in pursuit, catching and passing the truck on the highway.

"Step on it," he remarked to a fellow fireman. "Must be a lulu by the bright glow."

The two vehicles raced through the night until the glow became more distinct, became a line of flame and then a semicircle. The chief flagged the fire truck to a stop.

The eager firemen had been racing toward the moon.

Trade Districts In Large Cities May Disappear

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—The "downtown" business districts of American cities may soon become "ghost towns," a Yale University traffic expert says.

"The central business districts of our cities are confronted with problems of transportation which threaten their very existence," warns Theodore M. Matson, director of Yale's bureau of highway traffic.

Matson says a city's business district is dependent on the number of people which can conveniently shop in that area.

"As traffic congestion increases, these business districts become harder and harder to get to," Matson adds.

In a speech on "Yale Interprets the News" over Station WTIC, Hartford, the Yale expert said that merchants in "downtown" areas are losing their customers to accessible suburban shopping centers.

Future Looks Dark "Nationally-known brands, of course, are sold in all areas—in business centers as well as in the suburbs," Matson said. "But non-standardized and luxury items tend to remain in downtown shopping districts and for the moment, the central area serves an important function in a community's economy despite the inroads of suburban competition."

He warned, however, that the future looks dark for many of these downtown areas unless traffic congestion is decreased.

Matson said all cities exist largely because of their strategic location on routes of travel and that while transportation alone cannot make a city, a city cannot exist without it.

"Buses, street cars, taxis and subways are all vital to American cities," Matson said. "and when we add the fact that 70 percent of travel to business districts is made by private automobiles, we have genuine congestion."

Districts Must Change Matson pointed out that congestion remedy is costly and local governments are reluctant to make any moves. He doubted, therefore, that really strong measures would be taken to relieve the congestion apparent in more and more downtown areas.

"Central business districts, if they are to survive, must change their functions to serve a growing population with an increasing specialized line of goods and services," he said in offering one possible answer to the problems of the downtown business man.

WHY YOU SHOULD DEPOSIT CHECKS promptly. It is unwise to hold checks long because they may be lost or destroyed, or the person who made out the check may die, or perhaps stop payment. Also, the writer of the check has difficulty in balancing when checks are outstanding. So, for your own sake and that of the check writer, deposit or cash all checks you receive without undue delay.

50 Hereford Steers On Dry-lot Feed In Maryland

John Frazier and Edward H. Covell Jr., have 50 Hereford steers on dry-lot feed near Denton. The steers were bought at Union Stockyards, Baltimore this month when they averaged 940 pounds. They originated in Arizona but had been moved to market because of a drought.

The Whitefaces are being fed on a ration comprised of 1100 pounds of corn, 300 pounds of molasses, 400 pounds of corn and cob meal, and 200 pounds of P-due supplement A.

Fifty Yorkshire hogs are following the cattle. They secure additional feed from self-feeders.

Ratproofing Corn Crib Saves Grain

Ratproofing corn cribs before storing Maryland's bumper corn crop the biggest since 1917—will save feed for farm animals. Some of the precautions are to protect sides of cribs with an 18 inch strip of sheet metal, flash doors and frames with metal, and keep the floor level 2½ feet above the ground, higher than the rats can jump.

T. L. Bissell, extension entomologist at the University of Maryland says that in addition to ratproofing, it's a good idea to keep the ground clear beneath the crib. Store tools, lumber and debris elsewhere. Keep the door closed. And don't invite rats with spilled corn.

A brief publication giving directions for ratproofing corn cribs is available from the University. Address: T. L. Bissell, Department of Entomology, University of Maryland, College Park, Md.

Girl, 14, Is Top Chicken Raiser

A 14-year-old Laurel girl has been named winner of the fourth annual Junior Chicken of Tomorrow contest.

Three judges meeting with the contestants Monday afternoon in the Georgetown High School, selected the entries of Connie Johnson as the best from a field of 125 entries.

Miss Johnson was presented a check for $125 by A. E. Tomhave, chairman of the State Chicken of Tomorrow Committee, and received an engraved trophy from Earl Hawk of Greenwood, representing the Delaware Poultrymen's Association.

There were 125 lots of six birds each in the contest, entered by boy and girl members of 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America chapters.

Each contestant had a flock of 50 chickens and after caring for their broilers for a ten-week period selected the six best cockerels from their respective flocks as entries.

The record of the prize winning project showed 500 pounds of mash were fed by Miss Johnson to her fifty birds, none of which died during the ten-week period. Her six cockerels in the contest averaged 4.13 pounds live weight and 3.92 pounds, dressed weight.

Cash awards were presented to the following winners: Eddie Kopple, Harbeson, $20, second; Betty Lee Cannon, Greenwood, $15, third; Martin Johnson, Laurel, $10, fourth, and $5 each to Gene Lloyd, Newark, fifth; James Givens, Laurel, sixth; Elbert Harrington, Felton, seventh; Richard Layton, Laurel, eighth; Elwin Jewell, Newark, ninth, and Donald Williamson, Seaford, tenth.

The heaviest lot of cockerels entered in the contest were raised by Donald Williamson, the tenth place winner. They averaged 4.54 pounds live weight and 4.08 pounds dressed. The average live weight of the entire 750 birds judged was 3.24 pounds.

Another feature was a dressed bird judging contest, won by William Sammons of Milton High School. He received a $3 cash reward. Second place went to Elbert Harrington of Felton $3 award, and Robert Aikerson received $2 for third place.

Judges for the contest were: H. L. Shrader, senior extension poultryman from the Federal Extension Office, Washington; C. Ernest Matthews, Salisbury poultryman, and Willard T. McAllister, extension market specialist at the University of Delaware.

ROTARIANS TOUR MANY LANDS THROUGH MOVING PICTURES

Through the medium of motion pictures, plus the public relations department of the American Airways, with Bob Van Cleaf and Jake Messner as pilots, Rotarians visited many colorful lands Tuesday evening.
First we landed in Lisbon, Portugal, and visited the harbor where Columbus anchored after his discovery of America. Fishermen were busy with their nets and the fishwives carried their wares to the market, much as they did four hundred years ago. Then we were off to old Madrid in Spain, visited the many shrines and saw in lace of stone the architectural dreams of the conquerors who came to the Iberian Peninsula in centuries gone by. We stood upon a hillside and saw the sun going down behind other hills of Rome. We stood before the famous cathedrals and were enthralled at the matchless artistry of Michelangelo. We visited the famous Blue Grotto and lingered awhile on the Isle of Capri. Next we were in Cairo with its crowded streets, then out to view the pyramids, and the Great Sphinx at Gizeh.
We made a trip to Palestine, looked in upon Bethlehem, and came across a profusion of waving flowers in the Garden of Gethsemane, walked by the River Jordan and followed it to the Sea of Galilee. Our visit ended back in Egypt, in Alexandria, on probably the most beautiful beach in all the world.
At appropriate times, we heard the voices of Queen Isabella, of Seneca, of Socrates, of Plato—but we believe these voices belonged to stand-ins.
Bob Van Cleaf was program chairman for the evening.

POWER STEERING on the Roadmaster and Super

ROADMASTER CUSTOM BUILT BY BUICK

BENEATH that big broad bonnet is the reason for this headline. It's a four-barreled automatic carburetor—Airpower by name—which has a way of gulping in what the dictionary defines as "a sudden blast of wind" when extra power is needed.
And the way this gorgeous performer can step out as this occurs is something you'll always remember.
For ordinary driving, two barrels are all you need—and two barrels are all that are working. They give you an extra thrifty flow of fuel for round-town cruising.

When extra power is wanted in a hurry—the "reserves" swing into action—feeding extra fuel and extra air in an ever-thrifty mixture, which delivers the greatest horsepower in Buick history.
This is one of many distinctions that endear ROADMASTERS to fine-car owners.
It's a car as rich in finish as it is in power—a car of expansive room—restful silence—level in gait—beautifully responsive to your mood and will.
And it offers the effortless ease of Power Steering* especially engineered by Buick to save your strength in parking and slow-motion maneuvers, and still let you feel a proud sense of command and a sure sense of control on the highway.

There's just one question we'd like to ask: When are you going to come in and enjoy the ride of your life?
Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Optional at extra cost on ROADMASTER and SUPER only.

Mar-Del Baseball League

Wyoming 1 0 1.000
Frederica 0 1 .000

Sunday's Schedule

Wyoming at Frederica 2:30 PM

Bill Rash's single with two away in the 9th drove home Johnny Williams with the winning tally as Wyoming took edge over Frederica in the opener of the Mar-Del League Finals by winning 9 to 8 before one of the largest crowds of the season. It was a nip and tuck ball game from start to finish as the score saw-sawed back and forth.

Frederica deadlocked the score at 8-8 in the 8th as Al Gotdorf led off with a double, went to 3rd on an infield out and came home as Jay Widdoes hit a long fly to center. In the 9th the first two Wyoming batters popped out. Williams then singled and stole second. On the throw the ball got by Frederica's shortstop George Manlove and the Wyoming outfielder reached third on a close play which resulted in quite a ruckus. Rash followed with a long single that put Williams across to give Wyoming their 17th straight win in Mar-Del League play without a setback.

Wyoming took a 2-0 lead in the 1st inning as Kimmel had trouble getting the ball across. Frederica scored one run in the 2nd and in the 3rd Al Brown tied the score as he hit a home run into right field. Wyoming again took a 3-2 lead in the 4th but this was short-lived as Frederica went out in front with a 3 run rally in the 5th to lead 5-3. Wyoming found the range in the 6th as they drove Kimmel to the showers with a five run outburst. Jim Postles relieved. Frederica packed away at Joe Moeltner's offerings in the 7th as they scored twice and after the tying run was put over in the 8th Moeltner gave way to Aub Berry who stopped the rally and went on to get credit for his 9th win of the campaign without a loss. Jim Postles was on the losing end as he went down to defeat for the first time this year.

Both starters, Kimmel and Moeltner, had trouble getting the ball across. Moeltner walked 10 and fanned 7 while Kimmel walked 7 and whiffed the same number.

Al Brown with a home-run and a single, Ted Evans with the same and Al Gotdorf with a double and single paced the losers at the plate. Evan's circuit smash was a tremendous clout and one of the longest witnessed at the CR diamond in a long time.

Reds Minner laced out a double and two singles for Wyoming while Bill Rash had a double in addition to his game winning single. Rash also had two stolen bases along with one sacrifice.

The second game of the Series will be played at Frederica next Sunday with the opening toss at 2:30 P.M. Interest is running high in the Mar-Del League Finals and next Sunday's tilt is expected to attract one of the largest crowds to see a Mar-Del League game in many years.

Aub Berry will probably get the mound call for Wyoming while Ken McClamrock is almost a sure bet to be nominated for Frederica.

Beside his widow, he is survived by five children, William J. Brennan, Jr., Mobile, Ala., Parris Brennan, Louis Brennan, Anna Brennan, and Mrs. Donald Lyden, all of Brooklyn, a sister Miss Anne Brennan, Dublin, Ireland.

Mrs. Lewis Clymer, of Harrington, is a sister-in-law.

Bugle Virtuoso is Lure to Communists

IN KOREA—A Marine bugle virtuoso is luring the Communists to destruction.

At strategic moments, he blares the Chinese call for attack, which brings the enemy running straight into the muzzles of leathernose guns.

He learned the call, note for oriental note, when his patrol surprised four enemy soldiers, and a Red bugler called for aid. The help came, but was promptly wiped out.

Next day, the Marine "field music" did a solo, with equal success. Among the captured: One perplexed Communist bugler, who complained bitterly that someone else was muscling in on his racket.

Worshipped Trees

The 16 tribes of Indians who inhabited what is now the Mexican state of Oaxaca believed at the time of the Spanish conquest that they were descended from trees. As a result many trees, particularly large or old ones, were held in veneration.

DHIA BOARD ACCEPTS National Award Program

For the first time, Delaware's Dairy Herd Improvement Association will take part in a national production awards program. The acceptance was made at a recent meeting of the one-year-old state Board of DHIA Directors.

"This is the first year Delaware is actually eligible to take part in this program," says Alden P. Short, Georgetown, new board president. "Minimum requirements were at least 100 herds on test, at least five supervisors, and a state organization or advisory board. With the formation of our state board last year, 124 herds on test, and six testing circuits, we feel we are qualified."

One of the awards is made to an outstanding supervisor. The other is to a DHIM member. It is made on the basis of size and economy of production, herd health, feeding and breeding program, herd and farm management, and improvement made in a year. The awards will be announced and made at the dairy day program at the University's Farm and Home Week in January.

Election of officers was held at the same meeting. Those newly elected are Mr. Short, president; Isaac Thomas, Maryland, vice-president; and Daniel E. Harris, Newark, secretary-treasurer.

Get Those Peach Tree Borers By October 5

"Treat for peach tree borers between now and October 5," advises Dr. L. A. Stearns, of University of Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station.

Stearns, chairman of the entomology department, says that growers, who did not attempt control with DDT during the summer can still control the borers by acting now. He recommends using (1) paradichlorobenzene (PDB) crystals, (2) paradichlorobenzene in oil, or (3) ethylene dichloride emulsion (EDE).

Paradichlorobenzene is generally preferred, according to Stearns. 1/2 ounce of PDB crystals for 1 to 3-year-old trees; 1/4 ounce for 4 to 5-year-old trees, one ounce for 6-year-old trees, and 1 1/2 ounces for older trees. Preparations of paradichlorobenzene in oil should be used as directed by this manufacturer. Complete instructions for applying all materials can be obtained from your county agricultural agents in Newark, Dover, or Georgetown. You may also write for ESB 261, a bulletin which illustrates and describes these treatments. Write to the Bulletin Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark.

Bruise Your Chickens And Lose Money

Bruising your broilers is a sure way to lose money. It is as important to profit as slight improvements in price per pound, because it can mean as much as three to five cents loss per bird.

Bruising in dressed broilers in Delaware averages from eight to 10 percent, reports the animal and poultry industry department of the University of Delaware. The Agricultural Experiment Station studied selected flocks in five dressing plants. It was found that bruises ranged from four to 17 percent.

The researchers traced these bruises from the loading through the dressing line to determine where and how they were made.

The loading method by which most bruises are made is farm weighing before loading, they found. This method involves four or five pickups and drops, and can cause from 15 to 17 percent bruises. Also, the opening in most wooden coops is too small and many breast bruises occur at this point.

The conveyor method is faster and causes fewer bruises. Generally speaking, a crew using a conveyor to roll coops from house to truck will cause only six to eight percent bruises. The conveyor usually requires bulk weighing to be efficient.

Using trucks with feeding batteries, and carrying birds by hand can reduce bruises to under five percent.

Examine your own loading method, suggest the researchers. See if you can't cut down bruising your birds and losing money. Work for more careful catching or loading, and streamline the process, the Experiment Station researchers suggest.

Three 4-H's In Regional Poultry Competition

Martin Johnson, 19, and David Elliott, 20, of Laurel; and Dolores Lloyd, 16, of Newark, will take part in Northeast regional poultry and egg demonstration and judging contests at the NEPPCO Exposition, in Syracuse, N. Y., next week.

Martin and David won the state poultry production demonstration contest, Sept. 12, with a team demonstration, "Hard Cooked Eggs with Cheese Sauce," in the poultry cooking competition.

These three will also make up Delaware's teams in egg judging and egg grading. Samuel Gwinn, state 4-H Club leader, will accompany the trio on the trip.

Dolores is a member of the Korner Ketch 4-H Club. David and Martin are members of the Laurel Sycamore Club.

What Happened To Tomatoes This Year?

Delaware tomato growers harvested only 60 percent as much as last year, and the average yield is far below the high of 1951. Why?

Robert F. Stevens, horticulturist of the Agricultural Extension Service, gives his reasons. Some of them are man-made factors, he says, and could be corrected next year.

A cold, wet spring delayed planting. A dry July killed plants that were poorly transplanted or on poor soil. Wet weather in August caused rotting and poor ripening. Rain was poorly distributed over the state.

Grey leaf spot was the worst disease, Stevens thinks. Constant spraying is necessary to control grey spot, even in hot dry weather. Many growers neglected spraying in the dry spell. Virus diseases, and fusarium and verticillium wilt were also present.

Hornworms and potato bugs caused quite a bit of damage, because growers did not spray early in the season, thinking the plants would grow out of it. The dry spell stopped that.

Tomatoes grown on soil where manure and cover crops were used did well. Early planted tomatoes yielded more. As to variety, Stevens observes that Garden State or Improved Garden State out-yielded Rutgers. Results with Stokescross No. 4 were variable.

Prepare for a good or bad season next year, Stevens advises. Plant a good legume cover crop now; use manure; pick a well drained site; check transplanter to be sure it will plant firmly and deep; plan to use fertilizer, starter solution, and sidedressing; and plan to spray for diseases and insects all season.

New Jersey Homemakers Visit University

About 200 homemakers from Camden, N. J., were guests of the University of Delaware Agricultural Extension Service at Newark.

The women are members of home economics extension groups in Camden county. Their home agent, Mary M. Learning, spoke for them, saying, "We felt we wanted to become better acquainted with our neighbors. Many of them are in the radio and television radius of Delaware's Extension Service program, so we thought we'd like to make our air acquaintance a real one."

The group was given official welcomes by Miss M. Gertrude Holloway, state Home Demonstration leader; Miss Irma Ayers, dean of the School of Home Economics; George L. Schuster, dean of the School of Agriculture and G. Fred Somers, associate director of the Agricultural Experiment Station.

Members of New Castle County Home Demonstration clubs acted as hostesses for the group at luncheon at the Methodist Church, and for the afternoon program.

The women were given an idea of the Delaware Extension program, through demonstration and speeches. Sewing screens, a project in Wilmington and Sussex county clubs, was explained by Miss Ruth E. Pearce, clothing specialist. Mrs. Esther Alderman, Wilmington Home Demonstration agent, talked about her television schools, "Visit Esther Alderman." Joanne Ouweneel, assistant extension editor, described extension teaching in Delaware through radio and newspapers. There were exhibits on fabrics, foods, and bulletins.

The New Jersey "neighbors" also toured the home economics building, the University Experimental Farm, and the new Agricultural Hall.

Leather Too Precious

In ancient Rome, you didn't have to look above the ankles of a passerby to tell whether he was a plebeian or a patrician. Fine leather was so precious that the wearing of high shoes was restricted by law to the latter, while the poor had to wear primitive sandals or walk barefoot.

DEARBORN-WOOD BROS. CORN PICKER

"Easy On the Ears"
HERE'S WHY!

Gentle Snapping—Extra long non-aggressive snapping rolls and a rotary snapping bar are exclusive features of the Dearborn-Wood Bros. Corn Picker. They work gently to get more corn... with practically no butt shelling.

Clean Husking—The big husking bed on this picker does a thorough job of cleaning corn for the crib. The exclusive flexible fingered spiral husking bed feed spreads the ears evenly over the entire bed. Then three steel and three rubber husking rolls whisk away husks and silk... with a minimum of shelling.

Come in soon and ask for a demonstration. You'll be glad you did. Convenient terms available.

Wet Corn Dried In 3 Weeks At University Of Md.

Unheated forced air has been used to successfully dry ear corn containing 30 per cent moisture, in experiments at the University of Maryland. Agricultural engineers of the Experiment Station dried the wet corn down to safe storage condition in 3 weeks at the University's Plant Research farm near College Park.

Using 4 foot skare bins with slatted floors, the research workers found that they could successfully dry the corn with unheated air blown at rates as low as 4 cubic feet per minute.

Corn in similar bins which didn't have the forced air was only half as dry after 5 weeks, and had 2 feet of moldy corn in the center.

The Maryland engineers don't with corn as wet as the grain used in the experiments. George Burkhardt, the engineer who conducted the research, said, "twenty to not more than twenty-five per cent moisture corn is plenty wet, even when forced air is to be used. Then too, 4 cubic of air per minute was a minimum rate. We like to see farmers use between 10 and 5 cubic feet per minute for safe drying."

There was no advantage in continuous fan operation after the first week, the engineers found. As a matter of fact, after the second week, drying was actually slowed down by continuous fan operation.

For farm corn drying systems, the engineers recommend a humidistat control for stopping and starting the fan. Without a control, the farmer can simply stop the fan when the humidity gets up to 60 to 65 per cent, or when the thermometer drops below 55 to 50 degrees F.

Safe Storage Of Ear Corn Pays

Corn can be safely stored without artificial drying if a few precautions are taken during harvest and storage. A. V. Krewatch, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland, offers these suggestions:

"Divide the field into high and low ground, harvesting the drier corn first. Don't pick corn when the husks and silks are wet from rain, frost or snow. When possible, equip the picker with a fan to blow out loose husks and silks.

"The elevator at the corn crib should have an effective screen for taking out shelled corn and trash. Move the elevator spout frequently, even if the corn seems to be clean, because shelling takes place as the corn drips into the crib. And if a corn drying fan is not used, provide ample ventilators to give wind access to the corn in the crib throughout the year."

U. of MD Scientists Feed Chicks Bacteria Speed Growth Rates

Feeding chicks certain types of bacteria increased growth rate, poultry nutrition scientists at the University of Maryland discovered in recent experiments.

Earlier experiments at the University provided the clue for this discovery. It was known that when the antibiotic, penicillin, was fed as a supplement, there was an increase of two types of bacteria in the chicks' digestive tracts Aerobacter aerogenes and Escherichia coli. The Maryland scientists, G. Lynn Romoser, Dr. Mary S. Shorb and Dr. G. F. Combs, reasoned that feeding these bacteria to the chicks might have a beneficial effect, just a penicillin itself had stimulated growth.

Working mostly with Aerobacter aerogenes, the Maryland nutritionists grew bacteria in quantities and dried them, before feeding them to chickens.

When the bacteria were added to the feed, the scientists reported some gains as good as when penicillin alone was fed, although penicillin ranked higher in other cases.

But when both the dried bacteria and penicillin were added to the feed in combination, excellent growth responses were recorded.

Similar results have been secured by workers from the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ontario, Canada. The Canadian researchers used Escherichia coli in their work.

The Maryland scientists said that although their findings don't completely solve the problem of how antibiotics function in promoting growth, the work at least adds a further ray of light and emphasizes the importance of the type of intestinal bacteria found in healthy, rapidly growing chicks."

Dairymen Can Prevent Garlic Flavor In Milk

For reasons known only to cows, the gentle creatures like to eat the tops off garlic or wild onion that flourishes in some fall and spring pastures. The tops of these weeds impart an easily-detected flavor to the milk. But, with a few precautions dairymen can foil bossy and produce milk that tastes like milk, according to Dr. Mark Keeney of the University of Maryland Department of Dairy.

The simplest way is to keep the milking herd out of garlic infested pastures and to feed them on a dry lot. A less drastic practice recommended by Dr. Keeney is to take the cattle from the infested field 5 to 6 hours before milking time and feed them in dry lot. If the cattle are fed hay in the lot, milk yield will probably be increased over what it would be if the cows were on pasture alone. The 5 or 6 hours the cows are off pasture usually eliminates the garlic flavor from the milk, Dr. Keeney says.

Another solution is to graze non-milking heifers and dry cows in the garlicy field first. They will trim down the weed-tops so that when milk cows are turned into the pasture several days later, there will be little garlic for them to graze.

Control and elimination of the garlic from the pasture is the first line of defense against this noxious plant, Dr. Keeney points out, but mowing or spraying with 2, 4-D are best done in early spring.

Keeping Paint

If you have small amounts of paint left over and want to keep it for later use, simply cover the paint with paraffin. This keeps the paint from drying out in the bottom of the paint can.

Faulty Debts

Shortly after a school of Roanoke, Va., sold one of its students a correspondence course on how to operate a collection agency, it had to go to court to collect the unpaid tuition.

Roving Eyes

A "roving eye" doesn't actually move out of position unless, that is, you're a flounder. A fully grown flounder has two eyes on one side of his head and none on the other. When he was a baby, he had an eye on each side, like any normal fish but he took to lying on one side in the sand until one eye slowly traveled around the back of his head and took up a permanent place next to its brother eye.

Hardest Substance

Only diamonds are harder than ooron carbides. The latter are often used where resistance to abrasion is desired, as in dies for drawing wire and in jeweled bearings. Boron carbides also have been used increasingly in the past few years in abrasive materials.

Phew!

The least popular smell, experiments show, is a skunk-and-rubber combination.

Bleaching Nylon

White nylon that is yellowed may be bleached with color remover.

It's In the Tips

The bristles in nylon brushes must have long, fine tips. By holding the brush up to the light, fanning out the nylon and looking closely at the tips, you can observe these. The way a brush will pick up paint and release it is affected by the tips of the bristles. In other words, they govern the smoothness with which paint can be applied. Because of the wearing qualities of nylon, it is not necessary to obtain a long brush. A good 4-inch brush should not have more than 4 1/4" of bristles extending out of the ferrule.

BEACON DAIRY FEED

You know, as we do, that world's records depend on skillful breeding and management. Much credit, therefore, goes to the owners and managers of these record cows.

However, we do mention these ten world's records to help prove our claim that Beacon Dairy Feeds promote high production. Beacon users know this. Owners of high record cows know it. And, if you're not already using Beacon Feeds, we want you to know it, too.

BEEF CATTLE FOR SALE

Have sold out of all cattle on hand and expect a new lot of over 300 head to arrive this week, either Herefords and Angus heifers and steers, which will consist of over 100 head of calves weighing from 300 to 400 pounds. Just right to start now and make 1,000 pound cattle next year.

Also will have over 150 cattle weighing from 400 to 600 pounds. They are just right to keep for breeders or fatten for market in the early winter.

Balance will be cattle weighing from 600 to 900 pounds that will do for the feed lot this fall.

Anyone interested in good beef cattle to make money on should come and look these cattle over.

I have sold over 3,000 head of these kind of cattle since January 1st, to over 300 satisfied customers, and expect to sell more than that many the balance of this year. So if you have pasture, why not buy a few of these good cattle and watch them grow and make money for you? It looks like cattle will be high for a long time to come.

All cattle I handle are treated for shipping fever and delivered free of charge within 100 miles. Will take your dairy and fat cattle in trade and allow you a good price for them.

Also can arrange to pasture at a small cost to you any number you wish to buy.

I have rented the Normandy Farms at Norristown, and have over 400 acres of the finest pastures. They have a four-rail fence and plenty of water and shade. I'm sure your cattle will do good there. Also have over 300 acres pasture to rent here in Chadds Ford. So why wait? Why not come and see some real good cattle that are priced lower than any other cattle of the same quality in the state of Pennsylvania?

There must be a reason why I have sold over 48,000 beef cattle in the last 12 years and last year was the biggest year I ever had.

I expect to receive over 200 cattle each week for the balance of this year and I expect to price them so they will move out in that order.

Hoof Beats

The sky blue waters of Lake Champlain—which forms part of the border between northern New York and Vermont—may soon become a mecca for owners of sore-legged harness horses.

That became clear this week as there unfolded the amazing story of a lame, semi-retired 10-year-old trotting gelding whose owner restored him to soundness by swimming him behind a motor boat on the lake and then went out and won the $50,000 Roosevelt Two Mile Trot at Roosevelt Raceway on Long Island.

The horse is Chris Spencer, veteran trotting warrior, who was sent back to owner Dunbar W. Bostwick's Shelburne, Vt. farm at the end of the 1950 season, lame and apparently through as a race horse after an arduous career that had seen him accumulate $167,000 in earnings.

That is, everybody thought he was through except owner Bostwick.

Bostwick, one of the nation's best known harness horsemen and a director of the U. S. Trotting Association, reasoned it this way:

"In most instances, a horse goes lame because certain muscles and or bones cannot stand the strain of being pounded on hard tracks year after year. If those muscles could be strengthened to race track readiness with out the feet continually pounding on a hard surface, soundness might be restored."

From limited past experience at his farm which fronts on Lake Champlain, Bostwick knew that when a trotting horse swam, he swam at a trotting gait. That is, he used the same motions, and thus employed the same muscles, as when racing. So he got in his motor boat in mid-1951, towed Chris Spencer along behind him and began touring the lake.

It started off last year with a five-minute spin and gradually lengthened until, in August, it had reached a one-hour session and Bostwick was ready to try Chris on the race track.

His 1951 debut was made at the Essex Junction, Vt. fair and while it was a winning start, Chris pulled up lame afterward. The lameness lasted but a single day but that day was the one that Chris was to have been declared in for the Roosevelt Trot, Bostwick's ultimate comeback goal.

So Chris was sent back to pasture and owner Bostwick, encouraged by the swimming sessions despite the temporary lameness, made plans for the next year.

Last February Chris was shipped to Lyndonville, Vt., scene of an annual ice racing festival, and exhibited there. During the trip he banged his left hind leg and became lame on it.

A short time later he was sent to Saratoga (N. Y.) Raceway to be jogged. After five weeks there the old campaigner was sound on the left hind leg but lame on the right front.

He was sent back to the farm and after a brief rest returned to the healing waters of Lake Champlain.

For six weeks, beginning in late June, Chris' training chore consisted of five days in the water, one on the jogging track and one of rest.

The water spins were increased from 20 minutes to 50 and Chris got better and better. Blacksmith Jim Van Dusen kept his feet in shape as Bostwick began making plans for the 1952 season.

The owner contacted his trainer, Grand Circuit veteran Harry Whitney, and the latter set up a training schedule designed to have Chris fit and ready by the time the Essex Junction meeting rolled around Labor Day week.

About three weeks before that Chris' swimming sessions were curtailed and he began to spend more time on the training track. The week before Essex, in accordance with Whitney's schedule, owner Bostwick worked the gelding two miles in 2:09 and one in 2:07.

At Essex, although horsemen thought he was too fat to race well, the son of Spencer-Countess Christine, reeled off winning miles in 2:06 1/5 and 2:06 2/5 with Bostwick in the sulky and jam packed grandstand-full of people who were familiar with the Chris Spencer legend—looking on.

The following week, at Rutland, Bostwick won two heats in 2:06 2/5 and continued on for another fast half mile after the final heat. Chris came out sound and now Bostwick was ready for the big one.

Last Tuesday at 5 a. m., Chris Spencer was loaded on a truck at Shelburne and shipped to Roosevelt Raceway. He arrived there at 5 a. m. Wednesday. On Thursday evening, Billy Haughton—who hadn't seen the horse in two years but who had driven him to a number of his major victories got up behind him and won the Two Mile Trot.

On Saturday, with Joe Schneider, his faithful groom, at his side, Chris Spencer was shipped back to Shelburne where owner Bostwick is presently getting him ready for the $25,000 Gotham Trot at Yonkers Raceway Oct. 16th.

Chris' earnings are now close to the $200,000 mark and Lake Champlain may soon become a mecca for lame horses who want another crack and the gold and he glory.

Trinity Methodist Church Notes

"When Power Destroys" is the second lesson in the unit of studies on "The Dangers of Power," which will be the topic for study in the Church School session his Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock. Rally Day will be celebrated during the Church School session. We can have 275 present if we truly RALLY to the cause of Christ.

Morning Worship begins at 11:00 o'clock. Special music by the Cathedral and Junior Choirs. Sermon by the minister.

Beginning with the evening worship on September 28th, the Chancel Choir begins its season of activity. This choir of about 38 voices is under the direction of Professor Melvin L. Brobst. The best way for us to encourage these young people is to have a large group in attendance at the evening services during the season of their activity. The evening worship begins at 7:30.

On Tuesday evening at 7 the Cub Scouts will hold a pack meeting in the Collins Building. All Cub Scouts, their parents, and officials of the organization are urged to be present.

Group Quarterly Conference will be held at the Methodist Church at Houston, on Tuesday evening, September 30th., at 7:30 o'clock.

Choirs of the church will meet on Thursday at the following times: Junior Choir, 3:30, in the Collins Building; Chancel Choir, 6:45, in the Collins Building; Cathedral Choir at 8, in the sanctuary of the church.

Sunday October 5th. is World Wide Communion. It is the time when millions of Christians throughout the world join in worship and service in the name of Christ. The Holy Communion will be celebrated at the morning worship and an offering for the Fellowship of Suffering and Service will be received.

No Longer Two Sides to This Question!

Ever seen those two-family houses they have in some places—with separate front doors and porches—side by side? My sister owns half of one and lives in it, near Philadelphia.

Nice little frame home. Only Sis painted her half brown and the other family always painted theirs green. Ruined the effect—but for years neither family ever thought of suggesting that they both decide on a common shade.

Now Sis writes that their two-toned home is no longer. "I mentioned we were going to repaint," she says. "And they said let's get a color we all like. So we did. A nice shade of gray for both sides."

From where I sit, so often when there's a difference of opinion it's best to sit right down and work things out (like when our volunteer firemen decided to serve both lemonade and beer at their annual picnic last month). Don't let prejudices "color" your opinion of your neighbor. He'll probably be quite as open-minded as you are.

School News

Sports
Paul Grant, Chief school custodian, is building backboards for basketball to be erected on the athletic field. This will mean a lot of outside basketball to save wear and tear on the auditorium floor which has been newly sanded and varnished. Coach Leon Hart said he expects to start basketball practice within the next couple of weeks, which would give the boys plenty of practice by the time the season opens. The schedule as yet has not been announced.

On Wednesday, September 17, the Press Club held an election and filled the following offices: Vice-President: Doris Black Secretary: Janet Collison Treasurer: Patsy Hendricks

Senior Class Elects Officers
The Class of '53' held an election for class officers. The following were chosen:
President: Barbara Smith
Vice President: Harry Morgan
Secretary: Imogene Welch
Treasurer: Pat Holloway
Student Council Representative: Donald Jester

The class also decided to hold their annual bake at Cupid's Ice Cream store on Saturday, September 20. The bake netted the class a little over $160.

Grade School News
Mr. Donovan's fifth grade is very busy making paper-mache maps. They plan to have a pet show in the near future.

Mrs. Hess has thirty pupils this year with one new girl from Houston and another from Florida. They have formed a club which they named "Good Luck Club."

The patrons who visited Mrs. Hopkins' first grade room on Thursday, the day of the tea were: Mrs. Lester Minner, Mrs. William Hearn, Mrs. Grace Starkey, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Leon Hart, Mrs. Tharp Harrington, Mrs. Harold McDonald, Mrs. Charlotte Blades, Mrs. Evelyn Masten, Mrs. Joan McKnatt, Mrs. Margaret Masten, and Mrs. Charles Zvolanek.

The children's work was on display. The patron's visits were appreciated.
Mrs. Howard's first grade made and colored paper tea cups for invitations to the tea. The children have learned their A B C's and numbers 1, 3, 7, and 10. They had seven visitors at the tea.

Calendar of Coming Events
September 26 - Dance - Student Council
September 26 - Hockey Game with Felton at Harrington.

New Teacher
Mrs. Clara West was born in Georgetown and attended school in Greensboro, Md., and Salisbury Normal. She has taught school sixteen years in Delaware and one in Maryland.
She is working for her Bachelor of Science Degree. Her hobbies are cooking and canning. Mr. and Mrs. West have a daughter, Kay. Bill, her husband, is a mechanic.

Mrs. West lives on the corner of South and West Streets.

Mrs. Nellie French
Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds French have moved into their new home on Dorman Street. Mrs. Nellie French is a secretary at Harrington School.

MR. VAPAA RESIGNS TO BE ASSISTANT COUNTY AGENT
George K. Vapaa, Vocational Agriculture teacher, of Harrington High school has announced he will resign as of November 1st. He will accept a position as assistant to William Tarbell, Kent County Agent. Mr. Vapaa has been teaching at Harrington since 1938, except during the war period. He said, "You don't change jobs everyday, and I gave it a good deal of thought before making a decision." He also said that he had never worked with a better group and hopes they will go on doing the good work they have done for him.

It is not every day that you find a fellow like Mr. Vapaa. He is an all around teacher, always constructively helpful. To Mr. Vapaa, we all wish good luck in his new field.

It is not definitely known yet who will succeed Mr. Vapaa.

New Faculty Member
Mr. Leon E. Donovan is a new member of the Harrington teaching staff and teaches one section of the fifth grade.

He is a graduate of Milford High School and received his B. A. degree at the George Peabody College in Nashville, Tennessee.

Before coming to Harrington he taught for two years at Kenton, and two at Thomasville, Mo. Mr. Donovan resides in Milford with his wife, Juanita. His hobby is music, which he enjoys when played well; and he plays chopsticks, he says.

Next summer he plans to return to college and receive his Master's degree.

CHEERLEADERS

This year fifteen girls have turned out for cheerleading with Pat Holloway as captain. There will be seven cheerleaders on the Varsity squad and seven on the Junior Varsity. Also, it is hoped that new uniforms will be purchased for the girls.

LUNCH TICKETS

Children who eat in the school cafeteria are now able to buy lunch tickets for $1.00 or $2.00, and each one may be used for lunch menu until the entire value is spent. In order to help each child to get a proper lunch, the tickets will not be honored for candy or ice cream.

Progress On The New Building
Each day brings the new addition of the school closer to completion. The tile has been set in the corridors and the floors have been poured. The masons are held up until a shipment of formed stone arrives. The State Highway Department has laid the surface sewer which will be completed as soon as the cast-iron grills come. Among other things, one of the two fire hydrants has been set and the water main has been completed across the athletic field. It is hoped the new building will be finished in March.

In the present elementary school, some improvements have been made. Acoustic ceilings have been put in each room on the first floor and the walls have been painted.

Straight Stretch
The longest stretch of straight railway in the United States is seventy-nine miles, extending between Hamlet and Wilmington, N.C.

The Lily... Its Symbolism: In symbols and epigrams, the story of a life can be eloquently told on a monument. In the language of flowers, the lily expresses purity, innocence and heavenly joy. It is the flower of the Resurrection. On your family monument, the lily will be a constant source of inspiration to you, your children... and their children.

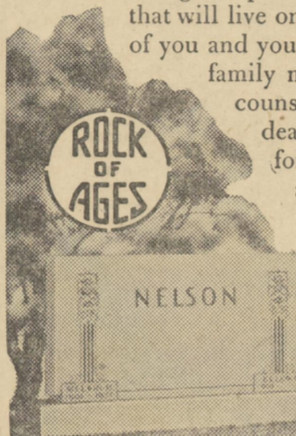

"It is as though all three of us were together again..."

The monument in your cemetery represents a personal family bond. It is a thought, a proud tradition... a symbol that will live on for generations to speak of you and yours. In choosing the right family monument, you need the counsel and help of a trusted dealer. You can look to us for integrity and high standards. Look, too, for the Rock of Ages trademark in the granite, for this is your assurance of value.

FREE—Ask us for the illustrated booklet, "How To Choose a Family Monument." Helpful, informative, this booklet explains monument symbolism and illustrates many monuments and markers—so you can select wisely. Simply write or telephone us for your free copy. There is no cost or obligation.

Yoicks, Tallyho Are Threatened By Hi-Yi-Yippy

PHILADELPHIA — Philadelphia's suburban outposts in southeastern Pennsylvania are praying for rain to break the drought which is now in its third year deep in the south of Texas.

Called the worst dry spell in the 99-year history of the fabulous King Ranch, it will next autumn deprive hounds and pink-coated riders of fields they are accustomed to roam in the historic Brandywine country. "Hi Yi Yippy" will, in effect, banish "Yoicks" and "Tallyho" from parts of a traditional fox-hunting realm in southern Chester county, Pa.

Fatten Near Market

For six summers, King Ranch steers approaching market age have been shipped by rail from south Texas rangeland to meadows 30 miles southwest of Philadelphia beside Buck and Doe Run, a tributary of Brandywine Creek.

There, burying their noses in grass, they have gained as much as 300 pounds per calf in 150 days, May to October. Then, shipped to market, they leave the autumn meadows to the huntsman.

The three-year drought, however, has caused King Ranch cattle population to dwindle from 85,000 to less than 60,000. The Buck and Doe Run farms have this spring received their first shipments of calves less than a year old—a full year younger than usual. They will be grazed for more than a year instead of for five months, putting a large part of 10,000 fox-hunting acres on a year-around cattle grazing basis.

Uninitiated travelers rolling through the countryside near Unionville, Pa., do a "double take" on seeing green pastures where cherry-red beef steers are herded by Texas-style cowboys complete with lariats, chaps, fancy boots, and spurs.

Actually, "Hi Yi Yippy" is not part of the lingo of these eastern cowpokes any more than it is on the 80,000-acre King Ranch itself. The Buck and Doe Run hands are mostly eastern Pennsylvania farm natives newly trained to ranch work, riding Texas quarter horses and wearing western ranch clothes because they are practical for the purpose. Spanish-speaking vaqueros drive the herds in south Texas, but do not take kindly to transplanting.

Hardy Breed

Buck and Doe Run Farms at present handle about 5,000 cattle. Texas rangeland outside the drought area has been leased for current King Ranch emergency use. Farms on Long Island, in Illinois, Oklahoma, and elsewhere near major stockyard cities, have for years been fattening skinny steers close to the market for King and other cattle-raisers.

Nine-tenths of the King Ranch cattle are of the handsome red Santa Gertrudis breed, developed by that ranch since 1923.

County Has Trouble Paying the Preacher

ATLANTA, Ga.—Fulton county, like a lot of country folk, has a little trouble paying the preacher.

The preacher is the Rev. Bill Allison, who ministers to the spiritual needs of convicts, open meetings of county administrators with prayer, and is largely responsible for the reform of many Georgia badmen.

Fulton County couldn't get along without its dynamic chaplain—but, just now, dwindled county departments are practically passing the hat to make up his $375 monthly paycheck.

Before a plan of improvement, lopped Fulton County's five prison work camps to two, the Fulton department of public Works paid Mr Allison.

Now that the chaplain's incarcerated flock has shrunk from 700 to the 400 men at Bellwood and Ben Hill work camps, with a corresponding decrease in the budget of the Fulton county public works department, that department assumes only 40 per cent of the minister's salary.

Fulton County Manager A. E. Fuller, like any good deacon or elder in a country church concerned about the parson, has been "stirring up the congregation to get together the preacher's money."

At recent meetings of various county departments, Mr. Fuller's letters were spread on the minutes. The letters tactfully suggested that the remaining 60 per cent of Mr. Allison's salary be juggled by four other departments.

The Fulton jail was asked to pay 35 per cent; the alms house, 10 per cent; the welfare department, 10 per cent, and the county dairy, 5 per cent.

Keokuk Motorists Are Honest Moneychangers

KEOKUK, Iowa—When parking meters were recently installed a bank filled a fish bowl with nickels and pennies and placed it on a convenient counter, inviting motorist customers to help themselves in making change. At the end of the week a check on the money showed not a penny missing.

Part Time Work

To an extent which few people realize, the economic well-being of the nation depends upon men and women and youngsters who are willing and able to work several hours a day or one or two days a week. Government studies published recently show that only about 55 per cent of the more than 60 million people who work in this country are in full-time, year-round jobs; the others are part-time workers or people who work less than 50 weeks a year.

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

Old man winter says he is coming to town to bite you, to nip you, in fact many things that are very unpleasant. How can we combat this? Well, in the first place, wear heavy enough clothes and when you get in the house have a warm home. While speaking of warm homes, did you know we sell Estate and Washington Froggie Oil Space heaters? Also gas floor and space heaters even small ones for a bathroom or just for a little more heat. Oh yes, I don't want to forget the portable electric heaters. Just the thing for those chilly days or evenings. Maybe you need a little more heat in your kitchen, just the ideal thing for that. After we have our home made comfortable, that answer is very simple, but if you don't have one, come running down to Wheeler and say I have waited long enough and now I am ready for that television, a very wise move as you don't know what you are missing unless you like many more invade on the patience of your neighbors. Sometimes they want to go to bed early. Why not give them a chance and get a television of your own.

Not all models are available, so if it is a certain model you want, better see me now. We are now holding 8 orders to be filled soon as received. We handle Philco, Westinghouse and Admiral. Any of three are just as good as can be bought.

Did you know Christmas is 12 weeks away? Don't you think it is time to begin to think of that particular thing to give your wife? Say a refrigerator, a freezer, a new gas range, a new electric range, a new vacuum cleaner, tank or upright, a floor polisher, or an electric blanket or sheet. Many, many things can be had now and put away so when twelve weeks roll around you will be at ease. Wheeler's Television Center, phone 541-Harrington. Talk peace not war; Let's clean our slate and see it rotate.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, John E. Peterson, who passed away Sept. 25, 1942.
Loving memories never die,
As years roll on and days pass
by.
In our hearts a memory is kept,
Of one we love and will never forget.
Sadly missed by mother and sisters

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all those who were so kind and helpful during our son, Donnie's misfortune. We want especially to thank those who donated blood, the benefit fund contributors, use of cards, the many cards received, and many other kind things done for us. Words cannot express how much this has meant to us.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Feyerabend
