

Goral Found Guilty on Rape Charge

Marian Goral, 28-year-old Polish DP, was found guilty, with a recommendation for mercy, of a charge of rape by an all-male jury in Superior Court Saturday night after a four-day trial, which included three night sessions.

The recommendation spares the man from the gallows. Under the law, the minimum sentence which can be imposed is three years' imprisonment and the maximum, life imprisonment.

President Judge Charles S. Richards, who, with Associate Judges James B. Carey and Daniel L. Herrmann, presided at the trial, announced that sentence would be imposed later.

The jury retired for deliberation at 9:40 p. m. and returned to the court room with its verdict at 10:10 p. m. after about 20 minutes of deliberation.

After the verdict had been announced, Max Terry, Dover, with whom Charles L. Paraszewski, Wilmington, was associated as court-assigned defense counsel, explained to the court that before he made a motion for a new trial and arrest of judgment, he felt that Goral should be informed by the interpreter of the sentence which may be imposed and of the fact that in the event of a new trial it was possible that there would be no mercy recommendation if convicted.

The interpreter, Theodore E. Kobernick, Philadelphia, after consulting with Goral, advised the court that the defendant wished to accept the verdict, whereupon Mr. Terry announced he would make no motion for a new trial.

Goral maintained the same stolid expression that he exhibited throughout the trial.

A. C. Davidson, son of the victim of Goral's attack, said after the trial that his mother, Mrs. Margaret A. Davidson, 11, Wyoming, and he were satisfied with the verdict. Both were in court when the verdict was announced.

Chief Dep. Atty. Gen. Vincent A. Theisen, Wilmington, and Henry J. Ridgely, deputy attorney general for Kent County conducted the prosecution of the case.

At the conclusion, Judge Richards extended to the members of the jury, who were quartered together from the beginning of the trial, the appreciation of the court for their service.

Woman Lived Alone
Goral broke into a house about two and a half miles southwest of Wyoming at about 1 a. m. last Feb. 13 where Mrs. Davidson lived alone, and went to her second-floor bedroom, where she had been asleep, and criminally assaulted her. He was arrested by police, a short time after they were notified of the assault, being taken into custody at the farm of Peter Makin, a half mile from the Davidson house, where he was employed.

Goral, on the stand Saturday afternoon, flatly denied entering the Davidson home and committing the rape, repudiated the statement he made to police after his arrest, and told a story of indulging in several "gulps" from a bottle offered by a stranger he claimed to have given a lift and then of suffering a complete lapse of memory.

On Stand Four Hours
On the witness stand nearly four hours and giving his testimony through an interpreter, the Polish DP maintained that he "gave the answers which the police wanted him to give" when questioned and that he signed the statement "because he was told to and he didn't know what might happen to him if he didn't."

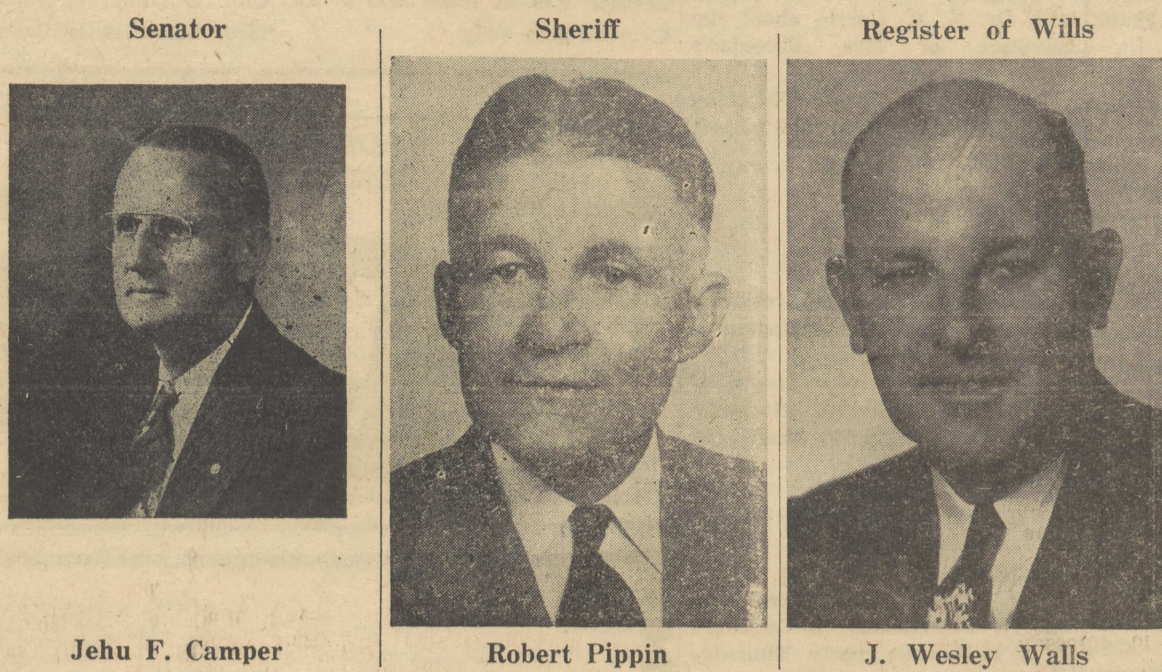

He held that he "answered yes" to the questions he understood and the same two questions he did not understand, because he did not want to find out what might be done to him if he didn't.

Mountainous State
Idaho is extremely mountainous and full of gorges and old lava deposits.

Carton of Ice
Fill empty milk cartons almost to the top with water, seal the pouring spout shut with melted candle drippings or other wax, and freeze in your refrigerator. The frozen cartons keep food and beverages cold on outings when packed in a corrugated box.

Smoke Pall From Forest Fires Covers Local Area

A light rain of several hours' duration Monday afternoon and evening here merely whetted the appetite of a parched earth. However, it did banish a blanket of smoke which had covered most of the Peninsula over the weekend.

A purple sun and an orange moon were evidence of the smoke pall from forest fires of the west and south.

Meanwhile, fire companies were getting a run for their money answering alarms on mostly brush and grass fires. Harrington Fire Company was busy Saturday when it received four calls in a short time.

Awoman who lives in the area turned in the alarm and Ellendale and Georgetown firemen responded, extinguishing the flames which had eaten about 75 feet into a section containing 500 to 700 acres of fully grown timber.

State Forester W. S. Taber, Fire Warden Howard Warren, and Forest Ranger Oscar Bailey agreed that the fires were set and called in state police immediately. The camp is not in use but frame buildings on the property were endangered by the flames.

Georgetown firemen have been run ragged by 19 alarms in little over a week, mostly grass and brush blazes.

Twilight conditions prevailed here at times as the sun remained barely visible through the thick haze of smoke. For the most part the smoke was due to forest fires in Kentucky and Tennessee.

The fires were found burning in four separate places about 50 to 75 feet apart at about 4 p. m. in the thickly wooded area between Ellendale and Georgetown.

Harrington Century Club Notes

The regular meeting of the Harrington New Century Club was held Tuesday afternoon with the president, Mrs. Fulton Downing, in the chair. Mrs. A. C. Ford, club director, gave a fine report of the meeting of the executive board of the Delaware State Federation of Women's Clubs which she and Mrs. Downing attended recently, and also a report of the meeting of the Kent County Institute held in Smyrna, Oct. 28.

Mrs. Downing said that the State Federation is asking each club to secure ten new members during the year and she asked the co-operation of this club in meeting that goal.

After various items of business were discussed, Mrs. H. J. Ramsdell and her committee, Mrs. John Sheldrake, Mrs. Elmer Smith, Mrs. E. W. White, Mrs. A. S. Gottlieb, and Mrs. Milton Elliott, presented an interesting program on the subject, "Education-Religion." Appropriate and interesting papers were read by Mrs. Ramsdell, Mrs. Sheldrake, Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. White. The program was opened by a piano solo, "Japanese Serenade," by Mrs. Robert VanCleaf, and at the close Mrs. H. C. Miller played a medley of gospel hymns.

The next meeting of the club will be Nov. 18 when the subject—"Thanksgiving—will be in charge of Miss Elizabeth Shaw, Mrs. Fred C. Powell, Mrs. Charles Hopkins, Mrs. Charles Greenhaugh, Mrs. Ernest Dean, and Mrs. William Taylor.

F. H. A. News

by Jean Outten, historian

The Future Homemakers Club meeting at Harrington School was presided over by Eileen Harris, president.

The group discussed the trip to Newport, Nov. 5. Eileen took the names of the persons that will attend the meeting. The 200 covers which must be completed Monday were discussed. The committee has previously worked on a design for them.

A lunch will be served at the meeting which will cost each member $1, although the girls are permitted to bring their lunch.

An assignment given to each member was to learn the F. H. A. creed and song.

Initiations have not taken place. After the meeting adjourned, the girls worked on their projects.

School News

Like your travel with a JOYOUS THRILL?

WE HAVE NEWS for a lot of folks who want more fun from driving than they get from their present cars. There's a trim bundle of eager high-powered energy that's just the ticket for you — a spirited automobile that can give you thrill after joyous thrill, for mile after fleeting mile. Why not come in and try the Buick we have in mind?

The excitement starts with your first look at it, your first sitting in it, your first fingering of its slender wheel. But wait till Dynaflo Drive* begins working its magic—and its constant and complete smoothness fills you with never-ending wonder. Wait till you feel the bubbling exuberance of taking your first hill with a high-compression Fireball 8 Engine doing the honors. That's when you get a man-sized sampling of the tremendously able and instantly responsive power you command here.

Wait till you feel the serene satisfaction of skimming over rough roads, cobble or ridged crossings. That's when you know, better than words can tell, what a million dollars' worth of ride engineering can do in the way of magnificent comfort.

Wait till you jockey into a real tight parking space and note the fun and ease that Power Steering brings to a once-tough job. But—why wait? There's a Buick that can do all this—and more, far more — all ready for you to try it.

And listen: If you can afford a new car, you can afford a Buick.

How about coming in this week for a real sampling of this joyous travel?

110 Angus Heifers Sell At Timonium

Fifty heifers averaged $1148 Wed., Oct. 29, at the annual Maryland Quality Sale at Timonium, with a top of $4500.

The peak price was paid by White Gates Farm, Flanders, N. J., for a Witch of Endor heifer which was reserve champion in a show preceding the sale. The figure was the highest ever paid in a sale sponsored by the Maryland Aberdeen - Angus Association.

In the show before the sale, Good Fellowship Farm, Towson, Md., exhibited the grand champion on their Georgina, with Glenangus Farm, Bel Air, Md., showing the junior champion, Canton Farm, St. Michaels, Md., had the reserve junior champion in Canton Grenadier's Barona.

In the sale, Charles Moeser, Queenstown, Md., purchased one of the better females from Fenbrook Farms, Cockeysville, Md., for around $1000.

At the Glenangus - McGregor Fair Promise sale in the evening, 60 heifers averaged $1464, with a top of $9000 going to a daughter of Bethel Erian, Glenangus Ganner VI, bred to Home place Eileenmere 270th. The buyer was White Gates Farm. Seller was Glenangus Farms, Bel-Air.

Top in the Fair Promise consignment was an Eriskay heifer which went to White Gates Farm for $3200. Top in the McGregor offering was a Juana Erica heifer which went to Kinloch Farms, Supply, Va., at $2950.

Of particular interest to Peninsula breeders were these transactions. Frank S. Bache, Canton Farm, St. Michaels, bought a Zara from Alan McGregor & Son at $1300. A Mr. Cording, of Still Pond, Md., purchased six heifers from Fair Promise Farm, Betterton, Md., at $750, $1000, $1500, $1750, $1050, and $1200. Charles Moeser, Queenstown, bought a Juana Erica from Fair Promise; a Blackcap Marjorie from McGregor at $700, and a Pride of Aberdeen from McGregor at $500.

Attending the sale were John Forest, Milford; Jack Byran, Salisbury; W. Dufendach, Hous-ton; Arthur Hudson, Selbyville; and Howard Anderson, Princess Anne.

The Glenangus - McGregor Fair Promise sale was very good, with prices showing a substantial increase over those of last year. Buying was well distributed, with buyers coming from as far south as Florida and as far west as Missouri.

DuPont Engineer Killed in Auto Accident

A 28-year-old electrical engineer at the DuPont Nylon Plant in Seaford was killed in an automobile accident one mile across the Delaware border on the route to Denton, Md., early Sunday morning.

The dead victim was Charles William Barnes, who lived on the Seaford-Laurel highway on the outskirts of Seaford. He suffered internal injuries and multiple fractures when the station wagon in which he was a passenger failed to make a turn, ran off the road, crashed into several trees and finally turned over, throwing Barnes out of the vehicle.

Barnes' brother, Lee Boyd Barnes, 23, visiting Seaford was seriously injured and is confined to the Easton Memorial Hospital in Easton, Md. Maryland state police said he was driving the station wagon. The younger Barnes, a second lieutenant on leave from the Air Force, went to Seaford with his mother, Mrs. Ara Barnes, to visit the older brother.

The dead man went to Seaford from Bristol about five months ago. His widow is Mrs. Lucy Williams Barnes.

Maryland police said the accident happened about 2 a. m., while the brothers were traveling Route 404 towards Denton. The car failed to negotiate a left curve, ran off the left side of the road and traveled several hundred feet before overturning.

Troopers expressed the belief the older brother died instantly. The cries of his younger brother were heard by a farmer who lives near the scene. The farmer summoned police from Denton.

The body of the dead man was taken to the Moore Funeral Home in Denton and from there transferred to the Watson Funeral Home in Seaford.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Amble over to Bob's Restaurant Tuesday for lunch and noticed a new sign "Left Ham Sandwich, 40¢... Right Ham Sandwich, 30¢."

"Why the sign, Bob?" I asked. "Don't tell me you believe hogs scratch more with their right leg than with their left—so's the left ham is more tender?"

"No," he says. "I don't take any stock in it. But, some people have ordered those 'left' sandwiches. When I explain to them that there's nothing to that fable, that the sign is just a business-getter, and I've only one price, they enjoy a regular, old fashioned, plain ham sandwich all the more!"

From where I sit, stories like "right" hams being tougher than "left" ones are with us because some people get ideas into their head and hang onto them for dear life. It's like those who think an adult like myself hasn't the right to a glass of beer with my supper. I say let's keep our opinions free from being "sandwiched-in" by misinformation.

Light Breeds Bantam Chickens — .25 to .30 mostly .25 each. Guineas — .30 to 1.05 mostly 1.05 each. Geese — 2.25 to 4.50 mostly 3.50 each. Ducks Muscovy — 1.30 to 1.50 mostly 1.20 each. Muscovy Drakes — 1.50 to 2.25 mostly 1.70 each. Rabbits Large Breeds — 1.10 to 1.55 mostly 1.25 each. Small Breeds — .40 to .90 mostly .80 each. Eggs Ungraded Mixed — 52 1/2 to 75 per doz. Large — 80 to 85 per doz. MISCELLANEOUS PRODUCE Lard — 3.25 to 5.00 per 50 lb. Can. Sweet Potatoes — 75 to 1.25 per 4 Bu. Cabbage — .75 to 1.50 per Bu. Turnips — .30 to .90 per 4 Bu. Peppers — .30 to .45 per 4 Bu. Black Walnuts — 1.50 per 4 Bu. Potatoes — 1.50 per 4 Bu. Apples — 2.50 per Bu. Lima Beans — 2.00 per 4 Bu.

Here are some examples: Since you use measuring cups and spoons at the mixing center, range and sink, it's good idea to keep sets of them at these work centers. Keep supplies such as cereals, flour and cooking fats at both the range and mixing centers. If you keep large containers of these staples at your mixing center, and small ones near the range, you'll save yourself time and trouble.

Insects Can Spoil Home Cured Meats

It doesn't sound very appetizing, but insects can attack and spoil home-cured meats. But an ounce of prevention will save all the pounds of meat cured, says T. L. Bissell, extension entomologist at the University of Maryland.

One case of ham skipper infesting home cured meat has been reported to Bissell this fall. Here are his suggestions of protecting meat from insect damage: Eliminate breeding places of the pests in the meat house. Brush and scrub thoroughly all places where meat has been stored. Keep meat scraps in tight containers until they can be rendered. Keep insects out of meat storerooms, using 30-mesh or finer screen, and fitting doors and windows tightly. Slaughter, cure and wrap meat in a grease proof paper before insects start to work in the spring.

Directions for protecting meat from insects, and what to do if meat becomes infested are contained in a brief U. S. Department of Agriculture publication, "Protect Home-Cured Meat from Insects." A free copy can be obtained from the Bulletin Room, Extension Service, University of Maryland, College Park, Md.

November's full Home Demonstration month! Watch for Achievement Day!

Next Wednesday, November 12, is the big Kent County Home Demonstration Day, our Achievement Day! It will be from 10 until three, and place is the Capitol Grange Hall in Dover. Luncheon will be served by the Grange. The program has been arranged, and it looks very interesting, so be sure to plan to come.

One part of the program which we will all be anxious to hear is the report from the National Home Demonstration Council meeting, which was held last week in Raleigh, North Carolina. The women representing Kent County Clubs there were: Mrs. Minnie B. Grove, Millwood Club; Miss Blanche Price, Harrington; Mrs. Bernice Warren, Oak Grove; and Mrs. Mildred Hall, Leipsic. Miss Price will give us the report at Achievement Day. Cards from Miss Price and Mrs. Warren say that they are enjoying the program and, "I'm having the time of my life."

My topic for the group meetings all through the month of November is Winter Bouquets. When I was collecting ideas for dried arrangements and other winter decorations, I picked up one that I would especially like to pass on to you now, Mrs. James Metz, of the Cee-W-Dee Club, invited me to see some pampas grass which she had dyed. It was so pretty and so simple that I was sure you'd like to try it yourself.

Mrs. Metz says you can dye the grass (which is sometimes called Ornamental Grass or African Grass and grows in many yards near here) either before it fluffs out or afterwards with equally good results. She used the same dye that is used for fabric, followed the directions for diluting it, and left the heads of the grass in the dye until it was the desired shade. It is interesting to have several shades of the same color, from light to dark.

The results may be discouraging until the heads have dried and fluffed out, but be patient. The final product is fluffy and a soft, pastel color. Mrs. Metz used blue, gold, and rose for hers—maybe you would like those colors or some others that are your favorites.

A Trip To The U. N.

Yes, we're planning to go to New York City to visit the United Nations sometime between Achievement Day and Thanksgiving. Mrs. Paul Zartman, Mrs. Claude Outten and Mrs. Marie Sterling, all of Dover, are working with me on the plans. On Achievement Day we'll present the final plans and sign up for the tour. Will you be going with us? I hope so.

If you enjoy seeing the Gift Kit but didn't have a chance to use its patterns, here's good news for you. We will be able to keep the Gift Kit in Kent County during November. Any individual and group of individuals who haven't seen the kit: it contains aprons, place mats, luncheon and bridge sets, and patterns for shoe bags, slippers, and many other gift suggestions.

'Induced Insanity' Reported at Duke

PINEHURST, N.C.—A case of "induced insanity," a rare behavior phenomenon, was reported here by a Duke University psychiatrist. Dr. Leonard J. Ravitz told the Southern Psychiatric Association about a strange case of fraternal twins, one of whom became the "echo" of the other's deluded ideas. "This case of 'contagious insanity' has been recorded by Dr. Ravitz's newly announced electronic theory of psychiatry, linked with the solar system. By means of a microvoltmeter Dr. Ravitz measures the changes in a person's emotional disturbance from second to second, from one day to another, and from season to season.

Once, after twin "A" mentioned that he had produced many earthquakes, tornadoes, hurricanes, and floods, "B" thought a while, agreed, then asked, "Did you have anything to do with the snowfall 28 inches deep?" This belief in A's power was clearly induced in B by A's suggestion, Dr. Ravitz said. However, B was much more suggestible to A's delusions when B's measurements — "electrical potentials" — were high. As his potentials decreased, B's suggestibility to these delusions decreased despite the fact that A's potentials were high. And A himself behaved much more normally as his potentials decreased.

Hoof Beats

A healthy 40% of all harness horse favorites won their races this year at 23 meetings scattered throughout the land, the U. S. Trotting Association reported today.

In making public figures compiled in a unique survey of 20 night and threeday time meetings staged in ten states, the USTA also disclosed that:

1. The average payoff on winning horses at all harness meetings was $11.53 to win, $5.28 to place and $3.52 to show.

2. The pari-mutuel handle on the last race at night tracks drops off only slightly from the evening's high despite the lateness of the hour.

3. Fans bet more money on the second dash when the home field races twice on the same program.

4. Only 3.2 percent more is wagered on pacing races than on trotting races, despite a widespread belief that the pacers attract considerably more "mutuel play."

5. In 47% of all races contested the first four horses finish within four lengths of each other.

The comparatively high percentage of winning favorites represents an average struck from all meetings with the winning percentage running as high as 47% in two instances. That figure was achieved at Kent & Sussex Raceway, Harrington, Del., and Rosecroft Raceway, Oxon Hill, Md. Eleven of the 23 surveyed meetings equalled or bettered the national average.

Pari-mutuel handle on the final race at night meetings held up substantially. In states where eight races are programmed, the percentage of the nightly handle wagered on the last race was 14.2. Top figure of the night was the seventh race with a percentage of 15.3.

At tracks scheduling nine races, the play on the final race represented 12.7% of the total. The eighth, or next to last race, again was high with a figure of 13.3%.

The survey also refutes the idea that the "wagering public" doesn't like to see the same horses come back on the same night and will "lay off" when do. The figures show that two percent more is wagered nationally on the second dash of a two-heat race.

Because trotters are more prone to break gait than pacers, and thus represent more of a wagering risk, it was thought that considerably more money was bet on races involving pacers.

The survey shows the difference to be a scant 3.2 percent with an average of $39,995 wagered on each trotting race as against $41,395 for each pacing race.

Among the 23 meetings surveyed — all that had been completed at the time the $11.53 win payoff makes the average winner a 9/2 shot. For horses finishing second the national average payoff of 5.99 and $3.65 and the average show payoff is $4.26, or better than even money.

The fact that 47% of all races had the top four horses finishing within four lengths of each other demonstrates that tight finishes are the rule rather than the exception.

The survey was conducted by the trotting group as a guide to USTA directors and race secretaries from various tracks who will meet here to discuss classification problems in conjunction with the annual USTA meeting early next month.

Overshoe Care and Wear

Outfitting the family with overshoes for wet cold weather costs enough to make it pay to choose and care for them so they'll last for several seasons, say U. S. Department of Agriculture clothing specialists.

In women's overshoes, the fit of the heel is important. A small shoe heel can cut into a wide overshoe heel, and wide shoe heel can crush an overshoe heel too small for it. Instead of buying two pairs of overshoes to suit both high and lowheeled shoes, it may pay to investigate the different types of boots that fit any type of heel.

In caring for rubber footwear, remember that heat, oil and grease damage rubber. Rubber overshoes or boots should never be kept or dried near a radiator or in any hot place. Grease or oil should be washed off promptly with a cloth dipped in water containing a mild detergent.

Save Steps in the Kitchen

It may pay you to think twice before discarding kitchen equipment that doesn't seem to be paying its way. Chances are, you have duplicates that are needed in several places in the kitchen. U. S. Department of Agriculture household equipment specialists suggest ways to make your kitchen work more convenient.

Have what you need—but only what you need—where you use it first. This may mean getting rid of some items but adding others.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT To Farmers And Livestock Dealers

Beginning Friday, Nov. 7, 1952, all calves consigned to our Sale will be weighed as they are unloaded, instead of at the time of auction as has been our practice in the past. This will give the consigner the advantage of extra poundage on each calf. It has been proven in the past that calves bring from $2.00 to 3.00 per hundred more at our auction than at other markets.

FEEDER CATTLE

We have a large number of feeder heifers and steers at our barn at all times. The market is considerably lower than a few months ago, so if you have excess feed it would be profitable to keep a few through the winter months.

SPECIAL OFFER

4000 gallons high-grade outside paint, in five gallon cans. This comes in light gray and powder blue. These colors may be seen on our sale barns. SPECIAL PRICE $1.50 Gal.

A WEARY WEDNESDAY MORNING

Wednesday morning—that is, we suppose it is Wednesday morning—we're not quite sure.

The weather report in the morning paper first attracted our attention. It said fair and warmer. That weather report lied. We looked out the misty window on a drab, dull, desolate world shrouded in great gobs of gloom. The clouds hovered and howled above our head and the leaves, a riot of gold and crimson the day before, lay in grotesque patterns on the ground. The limbs of the trees shuddered and shrieked as they twisted in torment. A raven kept flitting back and forth before our window and gasped in gutters: "The pallid before our window and gasped in gutters: "The pallid bust of Pallas isn't the only thing that's busted. Now you know what Poe meant when he had me croaking 'Nevermore.'"

Thinking of nothing but the weather, we must have given the wrong order to the waitress—or if may been that she, too, had hugged hallucination to her buxom breast and misunderstood our order, as we have been misunderstood and, as subsequent events indicate, have, ourselves, misunderstood. Anyway, when we lifted the first bite on our knavish knife to our weary and waiting jaws, we tasted some foreign object, and on immediate inspection, discovered that it was some kind of foul-tasting fowl. Being an amateur gourmet, our palatial palate rebelled. We scrutinized this sinned scurrilous something, still squirming as it slithered across our plastic plate, and assiduously attempted to place it in its proper category. Through our bleared and biased bi-focals, we decided it wasn't duck. Long experience on the banquet circuit enabled us to know it wasn't turkey. It was not chicken, for most of the chickens these days are made of plastic. Finally, we dangled and dawdled a meagre morsel of the meat under our tigerish tongue—and there was something faintly familiar in that taste. We had tasted it somewhere long, long ago—but we couldn't recall where or when. At last we recognized the fowl and knew what we were doing—we were eating crow, political crow, for the first time in more than twenty years.

And why were we eating crow? Well, we were eating crow—be-caws!

And then we glanced at the weather report again. The weather man was right. It read "Fair and Warmer—but only in Kent County."

The two political parties in Delaware reduce the effectiveness of their speaking engagements by at least thirty per cent through faulty arrangement of program. We've attended hundreds and hundreds of banquets in the smallest towns and the biggest cities in America, and any well-planned meeting calls for a few preliminary speakers with brief talks, while the principal speaker comes last. The little birds sing first and the nightingale comes last. The idea is to have the people take home with them the memory of the nightingale's song instead of the twittering of the sparrows. Here, in Delaware's political gatherings, they dote on anti-climax—they have the governor to speak first and have the road overseer, the bridge-tender, the fence-viewer—or the coroner to put the final touch on the audience. Could you stand in breathless thralldom before the immensity of Niagara or the shimmering beauty of Southey's "Waters of Lodore"—and then get inspiration from Jackson's Ditch?

The election, with its badinage and banter, recalls the time that Park Brown, the erstwhile "Pasture Poet of the Green, Grassy Banks of the River Nile," was running for levy court commissioner several years ago. He approached a fellow and asked for his support. The fellow hesitated and then began in halting language: "Well, I don't think—" and Park interrupted him: "Dang it, man, nobody's ever accused you of thinking—I don't care whether you think or not—I just want you to vote for me."

This is written and put into type the night before the election. Tomorrow night, like most of our citizens, we will be sitting before radio and television sets hoping the news will suit us. When the final returns are in, we'll either like Ike or grieve with Steve. Regardless of the result, despite all the bitter, hasty words uttered during the heat of the campaign, the vanquished will send a telegram of congratulation to the victor, pledging his whole-hearted support in making America greater. This spirit is what makes America great.

A few inches of topsoil is our only barrier against starvation. That is why we have worried over the fact that year after year millions of tons of topsoil from the breadbasket of the world, the Missouri-Mississippi valley, have, through floods, washed into the Gulf of Mexico. But we are not worrying about that any longer. On any election year they will dig up enough dirt to more than supply the deficit.

We were getting the election returns over the television in the place where we room, the Stone Hotel, Tuesday night. Into the room came a Dutchman, a rabid follower of Eisenhower. As the commentator announced that precinct after precinct in Pennsylvania gave Ike a total vote of 471 to Stevenson's 211, the Dutchman gurgled down his fourth bottle of brew, he sprang to his feet and shrieked: "Mein Gott—it's a landscape!"

It cost that national political parties $75,000 for a thirty-minute television program—and they must have been disgusted to have many thousands of those dollars going down the drain of premeditated applause. Last Friday night exactly twelve minutes of the time allotted to Governor Stevenson were absorbed by vociferous sponges—but, of course, this happened in Brooklyn.

"Perhaps the one distinguishing mark of a civilized man is a sense of humor."—Ann Powers. We believe Ann is right—a savage has no sense of humor—the bush man, the cave man—so let Harringtonians forget the election disappointments and get back to the beaten path of talking about harness hoes—if indeed they ever stopped talking about them.

Human frailties—of these we possess as many as any creature who cumbers this earth—but grant us this one negative virtue—we never discuss any issue with any creature who quotes Walter Winchell as his authority.

Considering the pattern set this year, it is doubtful that we shall ever have another such interesting election—unless newer and more vicious cuss words are discovered or invented.

Now that the election is over, let's start telling the truth again.

Freight Cars Derailed

Eight freight cars were derailed Friday evening about 10 o'clock between Nassau and Cool-spring. While cause of the wreck has not been officially given, broken rail was found. No one was injured.

The southbound freight train, of which Walter Lekites was engineer and Leon Wix, conductor, was headed for Lewes when the accident took place. Three cars were put on the track Saturday, but the remaining ones, having slid down an embankment, required the use of additional wreckers before being put back on the track Monday.

Harringtons Note 50th Anniversary

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Loran B. Harrington was observed by a dinner given them by Mr. and Mrs. Reese B. Harrington Wednesday evening, Oct. 29, at the Wonder Bar.

Other persons attending were Mr. and Mrs. F. Brown Smith, Miss Elva Reese, Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Smith and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith who arrived from Texas Wednesday morning. Mr. Smith is on a 15-day furlough before going overseas.

Magnolia

There was a good attendance at the morning worship on Sunday morning when the Womans Society had charge of the program.

A sermon, which had been delivered by the late Rev. Peter Marshall was read by the president, Mrs. Ruth Davis. The sermon topic was, "Keeper of the Spring."

Mrs. Benj. C. Hart, and Connie, spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Tilden Storey, in Church Hill, Md.

Collins Davis arrived home on Sunday to spend until Wednesday with his mother, Mrs. Edna Davis, and sister, Miss Eleanor Davis. He will then return to Sutton, W. Va. where he is on an engineering job with the B & O Railroad.

Mrs. J. E. Ruble spent Friday in Arlington, Va. She returned home on Saturday after spending Friday night with her daughter, Miss Ann Ruble at Washington Missionary College.

A tragedy was averted on Monday by the quick response of the Magnolia Fire Co. when an oil truck, which was passing through caught on fire shortly before 4:30. A serious explosion could have resulted.

FARM NEWS - REVIEW - FORECAST

Both Farmer and Wife Should Make Wills

Who should make a will, the farmer or his wife? Both, says William E. Tarbell, emphatically. Tarbell, Kent County Agricultural Agent, explains that the farm home is closely related to the farm business. In fact, in no other business is the home more closely associated with the actual business operations than in farming.

If the farmer and his wife both have wills they safeguard each other. If only one has a will the assurance provided by a will is only fifty per cent secure.

Tarbell says that advice from farm management specialists and legal authorities is to not make wills in secret. Discuss the provisions with all interested, so as to avoid complications when the will becomes effective. Have several copies made and place them in a safe place, preferably a safety deposit box in a bank.

Wills can determine successive farm ownership without legal battles, provide a living for the surviving party, and make provisions for sons or daughters staying on the farm. Often, the lack of a will can lead to unsatisfactory results, and sometimes serious trouble for the heirs. Poorly made wills can often neglect important points that would make them ineffective.

Dirty Hoglots Cause Poor Pigs

Farmers who are pouring tons of feed to their hogs, and yet can't seem to get them fattened for market, might check their hoglots.

William E. Tarbell, Kent County Agricultural Agent, points out that sanitary conditions are often to blame for slow-gaining, unthrifty hogs. The reason is dirty muddy hoglots and sometimes clean-looking old hoglots which may be breeding places for a host of swine parasites.

Good sanitation will also help check the spread of disease germs that make for unprofitable hog raising. Tarbell advises cleaning up your hoglot, putting in a cement yard if possible, and rotating hoglots occasionally, and rotating hoglots around the farm to avoid permanent living places for parasites and germs.

If you correct the dirty conditions and hogs still don't gain as they should, it's best to get a herd diagnosis, says Tarbell. The trouble may be serious enough to warrant corrective treatment as well as a good house-cleaning.

Complications Make Chronic Respiratory Severe

"No sure cure or prevention can be recommended for chronic respiratory disease in poultry as yet. But we can point out circumstances common to the disease and its occurrence."

So spoke Dr. E. F. Waller, chairman of the University of Delaware animal and poultry industry department, recently. CRD (chronic respiratory disease) produces a rather mild disease unless complicated by some other conditions, say Waller. Birds killed in the early "snick-up" stage show certain symptoms: cloudy mucus in the nasal passages, clear mucus in the trachea, and thickened air sacs with a frothy, sudsy substance. Birds that stay in this stage grow and gain almost normally, says Waller.

1. Use only vaccines that can and will meet the standards of the Bureau of Animal Industry.
2. Do not use any live virus vaccines in flocks that show evidence of other infections.
3. Use vaccines as directed by the manufacturer.
4. Use the same kind consistently. For instance, if you vaccinate at one day or the first week, and plan to repeat at four or five weeks use the same kind—follow intranasal with intranasal, killed vaccine with killed vaccine, or wing web with wing web. Don't mix them.

5. If you are going to use a high antibiotic level, (200 grams aureomycin to a ton of feed) start using it when the birds are one day old and continue until the vaccination reaction is over. If you vaccinate a second time, start feeding the same high antibiotic rate at the time of vaccination, and continue for two weeks.

Birds in more advanced stages show complications that in themselves would be enough to kill the birds, without CRD. Examination of CRD infected birds from 174 flocks, representing almost two million birds, showed that 50 per cent had New Castle virus, and 10 per cent showed infectious bronchitis virus. That means 60 per cent of the birds had some infection besides CRD.

If blood samples could have been taken, says Dr. Waller, it is probable that 85 per cent would have carried New Castle or bronchitis viruses.

This indicates that we do need a better New Castle vaccine, says Waller, but also shows that poultry people are not doing a good enough job with the present vaccines. He urges poultrymen to observe the following rules in using vaccines for their flocks.

6. Obtain accurate diagnosis and corrective treatment. Use your veterinarian for your flock as you would for a valuable pure-bred cow.

At present Dr. Waller holds out little or no hope for a CRD vaccine. There is no natural immunization, so it is doubtful that a vaccine that will do the job can be discovered. Antibiotics probably do have a place in preventing CRD, but their exact role or exact effectiveness has not been determined as yet.

Combined Crop Awards Dinner Set

Delaware's top farmers in the Greener Pastures Program and the Five Acre Corn Yield Contest will be honored at a dinner, November 25, at Caesar Rodney School, Camden.

This dinner and program climaxes the two crop improvement programs. Both county and state winners are kept secret until that night.

Traveling trophies for the corn contest winners are awarded by the Delaware Crop Improvement Association. All farmers who grew 100 bushels or more to the acre will be taken into the 100 Bushel Corn Club. The top state award will be presented by Victor P. Kohl, president of the Crop Improvement Association.

In the pastures program, the top trophy is given by Governor Elbert N. Carvel. Top county trophies are given, and all pasture and forage programs are rated good, very good, and excellent.

Both contests are three years old. The progress they have made in improving farm practices is shown in the pasture ratings and the 100 Bushel Corn Club, says Wm. H. Mitchell, assistant agronomist of the Agricultural Extension Service. In 1950 only three farmers received excellent pasture program ratings. Last year, 15 had improved their pastures and forage program enough to receive excellent ratings. The membership in the 100 Bushel

Corn Club has increased from 50 to 61, says Mitchell, and the average of Corn Yield Contest members is 50 bushel higher than the state average yield.

Both contests are part of the Agricultural Extension Service Program, sponsored by the Delaware Crop Improvement Association.

State 4-H Achievement Winners Announced By Gwinn

Twenty-eight boys and girls and nine 4-H Clubs were named this week as achievement winners in 4-H Club work. Samuel M. Gwinn, state 4-H Club leader, made the announcements as part of National 4-H Achievement Day observances (Nov. 8).

Boys and girls who received state project awards and a trip to National Club Congress in Chicago later this month are:

Betty Lee Cannon, Greenwood, clothing; Sylvia Ann Field, Newark, dress; Janet Sylvester, Goldsboro, Md., canning; Mary Lou Derickson, Marshallton, home improvement; Dolores Lloyd, Newark, poultry; Patricia Hoke, Bridgeville, food preparation; Anna Marie Robb, Dover, girls' record; Marvin Davis, Milford, tractor maintenance; David Woodward, Newark, dairy; Oliver Hastings, Delmar, field crops; and William Weber, Delmar, garden.

Wilma Kleimann Smith, Elkton, Md., was the state canning winner but was ineligible for the Chicago trip.

Other state project winners are: Helen Jane Leasure, Glasgow, frozen foods; Martin Johnson, Laurel, meat animal; Gene Short, Smyrna, leadership; Bernadine Patterson, Newark, leadership; and James Reynolds, III, Townsend, soil water conservation. Demonstration winners are: Stephanie Clute, Wyoming, and Cynthia Metz, Magnolia, bread making team demonstration; Rachel Reynolds, Middletown, alternate winner in individual bread demonstration; Janet Pierson, Hockessin, and Jane Walton, Newark, team dairy foods demonstration; Virginia Smith, Bridgeville, alternate individual dairy foods demonstration winner. Betty Lee Cannon, Greenwood was the state individual winner in bread making, and Dolores Lloyd, Newark, in dairy foods individual demonstration. Both girls ineligible for the state awards because they were also winners in another project.

Dolores Lloyd was also state winner in the public speaking contest, but ineligible for the state award. Peggy Ann Adams, Harrington, as alternate girls winner, will receive the award. David Elliott, Laurel, is the boy's public speaking contest winner.

Four-H Clubs receiving blue awards for work in recreation and rural arts are: New Castle County—Blue Hen Club, Newark; County Line Club, Smyrna; Green Meadows Club, Newark. Kent County—Chestnut Grove Club, Dover; Clayton Clodhoppers Club, Houston Cardinal Club, Sussex County—Delmar Little Oaks Club, Laurel; Wesley—Cannon Club, Bridgeville.

Charlotte L. Swanson On Wednesday, November 12 the Kent County Home Demonstration Council will have its annual Achievement Day from ten until three in the Capitol Grange Hall, Dover. Women from the twenty-four Home Demonstration Clubs in Kent County will be present for the program. The two principle speakers will be Chaplain (Major) Lyman T. Barger of the Dover Air Force Base and Mrs. Nell H. Griffin. Chaplain Barger will show a film and talk about the relationship between the community and the Air Force Base. University of Delaware, and teaches a course in Family Life.

Also, included on the program will be instrumental music by students from Caesar Rodney High School, group singing lead by Miss Margaret Black, and a report from the National Home Demonstration Council Meeting by Miss Blanche Price of Harrington. Reports on the achievements of the Kent County Clubs will be made by Mrs. Heyman Roosa, Milford; Mrs. William Taylor, Harrington; Mrs. Joseph Ennis, Smyrna; Mrs. William Sterling, Dover; and Mrs. Paul Zartman, Dover.

Luncheon is being served by the women of the Capitol Grange; the cost will be $1.00 per person. The clubs which are serving as committees for the Achievement Day are: Victory Club of Harrington, Decorations;

November, after we have had a few nights of sub-freezing temperatures. The second application should be made next March, just before new strawberry growth.

Use any water-soluble dinitro weedkiller at one to one and one half pounds of active ingredient per 100 gallons of water per acre. Apply at 75 to 100 pounds pressure, using high-galonnage fan-type nozzles on any type sprayer.

Rahn and Hitz say that results are best if the spray is put on on bright warm days (above 65 degrees) when the chickweed plants are small.

More detailed information on chickweed control is available from county agricultural agents or the horticulture department of the University of Delaware, Newark.

Chickweed Control in Strawberries Dinitro sprays are effective on chickweed control in strawberries as well as alfalfa.

Two applications of this weed-killer are usually necessary to rid strawberry beds of this troublesome weed. Experiments at the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station by E. M. Rahn and C. W. Hitz indicate that dinitros are most effective in strawberries if applied as follows: Make the first application in

 Do your mischief but keep it clean.

I hope you have some fun,
 All dressed funny one.

Eddie Greenly - age 10
 Halloween is a night of cheer,
 With a black cat so near,
 Clawing paws and glassy eyes,
 And a witch with plenty of pride.

That makes the children laugh too, Watch out, because I'll scare you.

The Fourth Grade visited Mr. Hall's blacksmith shop also the Taylor and Messick John Deere Repair Shop, Oct. 22. The tour of these places was the outgrowth of a reading project. The children were received with great cordiality at both places. The trip was instructive, pleasant, and appreciated by the children.

Mrs. Hess's sixth grade had a club meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 21. During the business meeting, new officers were elected.

Those elected were: President, John Taylor Vice-president, James Melvin Treasurer, Oscar Melvin Secretary, Gary Myer

After that, they had an Indian Play and sang songs. They ended their club by having a party.

All of them are looking forward to the two extra days of vacation.

Mrs. Wright's Third Grade visited Mrs. West's Second Grade last Friday. They showed the Second Grade the scrap books which they had made in Health Class. The title of the book was Growth Helpers. In it were pictures of fruits, vegetables, eggs, milk, meat and chicken because Food is the best Growth Helper. The Third Grade also sang several of the songs that they learned this year. They gave a choral reading called The Old Woman and the Fly, which was a funny story about an impossible thing that happened to the old woman.

Library Club News

The past few weeks the Library Club has used its meeting time to practice the coming assembly play, which will take place on Friday, November 7. The play is entitled "The Case for Books." It centers around a book case which a relative has built for his nephews and nieces. Not having been too much interested in reading, the family moved their book case to the basement, where it was put to good use as a storage place for canned goods.

One day they received word that their uncle Wilbur is coming to visit them, and suddenly there is a mad scramble to collect books and bring the case upstairs to the living room. At the end of the play a telegram arrives, saying he cannot come, but the book case is filled with books, and everybody is reading. The characters are:

Paul W. Welch
 Paul, who says he has no nickname, was born August 20, 1934, near Harrington and has lived here all his life.

His hobby is politics at this time and is an avid Democratic voter. (When this interview took place, the election had not been held.)

Paul is a member of the Glee Club and president of the Art Club.

He does very well in both art and agriculture but his greatest desire is to be a state trooper in our own native Delaware.

On Monday, November 3, Paul was presented an award by the Future Farmers of America Foundation for expert tractor driving in the annual contests held at Newark last year.

Felton School News

Felton Wins At DFHA Day

The University of Delaware played host Sat. Oct. 25th to Felton girls hockey team, one of the many representative teams of Delaware schools.

The schedule of events began with an exhibition game of field hockey in which specialized techniques and skills were demonstrated to the high school students. Following this game, the forward line of one school was paired with the backfield of another and given a team name. The Felton forward line with Doris Ann Cahall, Fern Kemball, Dorothy Domiczy, Leah Schanding and Betty Stanton was paired with the Mount Pleasant backfield with the name of Gold Gliders. Felton's backfield of Janet Lee Carroll, Louise Hopkins, Phyllis Hrupsa, Lenora Hughes, Phyllis Jones, Jean Maris and Marilyn Steele teamed the P. S. Dupont forward line and played under team name of Red Rockets.

After competing against the various schools and participating in stick practice exercises, all the students were served refreshments and the winner of the Delaware Field Hockey Association Day was announced. The Gold Gliders, with Felton girls scoring all the game points, were the winners by a good margin.

The girls received many congratulations, met many other girls of the same ages and interests and had a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon. The girls were accompanied on the Newark trip by Mrs. Gordon Maris, Miss Rosalie Hughes and Miss Margaret Taylor, coach.

Senior Thespians Promise

Entertainment by Nancy Wagner
 Pleasant news comes today for local theatre goers from the Senior Thespians. They are busy rehearsing, under the direction of Miss Clark, their latest play "The Whole Town's Talking" by John Emerson and Anita Loos, which will guarantee a roar of laughter from beginning to end.

Mr. Simmones, Robert Wyatt, wants his daughter Ethel, Doris Ann Cahall, to marry his junior partner in business, Chester Binyon, played by Charles Rentz But Chester is the kind of bachelor no woman wants. Mr. Simmones has the theory that every woman wants the man that every other woman wants. He conceives the plan of inventing a love affair with the movie actress Letty Lythe, Ellen Betts. The story leaks out and in no time at all, the whole town is talking and all the girls are falling for Chester. In the midst of his glory, Letty Lythe comes to town accompanied by her fiancée, Donald Swift, Bill Mack, who happens to be a prize fighter. Then the trouble really starts for a poor Chester.

Don't miss this hilarious comedy which will be presented Nov. 13, and 14 in the high school auditorium at 8:15 p. m.

Other characters and actors are: Roger Shields, a young dandy from Chicago, Purnal Friedel; Lila Wilson, a friend of Ethel's, Phyllis Hrupsa; Sally Otis, another friend, Janet Carroll; Annie, the maid, Betty Stanton; Sadie Bloom, the tough dance hall teacher, Claire Jester; Mrs. Jackson, Marilyn Steele, young girls with Mrs. Jackson, Betty Sipple, Nancy Wagner, Betsy Butler.

Felton Wins Again!

Last Tuesday Felton hockey team again took the lead by beating Smyrna 1-0. Amid cold, blustery winds and quickly approaching darkness the girls played an outstanding game of field hockey on their own field. Eight of the team members are seniors and since this was their final game seemed to have played exceptionally well. The only goal in the first half was scored by Leah Schanding, left inner. Miss Adele Teldman, of Caesar Rodney School, officiated.

Assembly Program

The assembly program October 29th was devoted to a panel discussion. Campaign issues of both the Democratic and Republican parties were discussed pro and con.

The students who participated in the program were: Morris Turner, Norma Lee Torbert, Wynne Creadick, Effie Green, Naomi Jester, Betty Hurd of the Junior class and from the Senior class; Betty Stanton, Doris Ann Cahall, Jean Maris, Lenora Hughes, Phyllis Hrupsa, Janet Lee Carroll, Charles Rentz, Claire Jester, Purnal Friedel, Ellen Betts, Nancy Wagner, Betsy Butler, Marilyn Steele, Betty Sipple. The Moderator of the program was Nancy Torbert of the Junior Class.

Future Farmers of America
 Two members of the Felton Chapter of Future Farmers of America conducted a demonstration for the Camden - Wyoming Local of the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association Thursday evening, Oct. 16. Linford Lockwood and Joe Hughes gave a demonstrated talk, using charts and slides, on culling poultry. They pointed out what to look for to tell whether a hen was laying or not and if not, whether she would be back in production soon or should be culled. This is something that every poultryman should know and profit by.

Hawks	2	4	.333

Things have progressed very much in the past two weeks with the Lions and Eagles battling for final honors. Many upsets in the scoring found the Eagles losing two straight. The Lions going great guns have won three in a row, bowing only to the Jets earlier in the season. The Jets and Midgets are tied for third while the Hawks have a two and four record.

Scoring honors are going to Wayne Creadick, Capt. of the Eagles, with (9) nine goals in five games, Morris Turner, Capt. of the Hawks, is runner-up to Creadick with (5) five goals in six games. Russell Rash, Capt. of Midgets, is third with four goals. Tribbett, of the Jets and Satterfield, of the Lions have three goals respectively.

Play will continue into the middle of November.

On Monday evening, October 27, Elbert Harrington attended the Annual Future Farmers of America Leadership Conference and Banquet at Caesar Rodney High School. This conference is held so that the officers of the different chapters throughout the state will be able to do a better job.

A party was given for the Senior Class October 29 by the Curtis Publishing Company for selling the magazine campaign in accordance to the size of the class. This class sold twice its quota. Wed, Nov. 5, a movie entitled "John Brown's School Days" was shown. This is a movie provided by the Student Council.

Members of the class of '54 are now proudly sporting their new class rings.

Hallow'en Party and Dance

A gala Hallow'en party and dance was presented by the Junior Class of Felton High School. Those receiving prizes were: Betty Layton of Harrington, best dressed; Linford Lockwood, most original; Edgar Sapp, most comical; Charlotte Ludlow, best all round; Mrs. Grace Turner and Mrs. Norma Lee Rash, best couple. The music was presented by THE MUSIC MASTERS.

The Juniors are pleased with their success in selling Christmas cards.

Mock Election

A trial election was held in the high school with 101 voting for the Democratic ticket and 64 voting for the Republican ticket.

Richard C. Clark to Resume Position

Lt. Richard C. Clark is returning to his position as head of the English Department of Caesar Rodney High School, following a seven-month tour of duty in the U. S. Army. Lt. Clark has been a member of 764 Gun Battalion and was stationed in Panama.

Lt. Clark is a veteran of World War II, having served in the Pacific theatre as a member of the 198th Coast Artillery, then the Delaware National Guard.

Mr. Clark is a native of Camden and was an honor graduate of Caesar Rodney High School and the University of Delaware. James E. Gledhill, who has been teaching in Mr. Clark's position, will be transferred to other duties in the school.

Report Cards Issued

Students in grades three through twelve received report cards Tues. Oct. 28, covering the work of the first six weeks of school. Pupils in grades one and two will not receive their first regular report cards until the end of the second six week period in order to give the teachers of the younger children a longer period to evaluate pupil progress.

SHORT STORY
Enoch Was Smart
By Peter Willis

"I'll tell you what," Enoch said. "Tomorrow you put on a pair of slacks and pack a lunch. I'll get a steak and pick you up in the jalopy around 8 o'clock and we'll climb Sugar mountain. There's nothing better than a nice juicy steak broiled over an open fire."

It was perfect weather for a picnic. Cool and crisp and bright. In the lee of some rocks on the mountain top Enoch gathered stones, built a fire and broiled the steak over hot coals.

They spent the afternoon exploring. Jama couldn't remember when she'd had such an exciting time. At sunset, halfway down the mountain, they paused to watch the colors. Enoch's arm slipped about her waist. The kiss was sweet and tender.

It was two evenings later that Tony Penn asked Jama to attend the country club ball with him. The night of the dance there was a fine drizzle. Tony phoned at the last minute that he had to run in town on a matter of business and would she mind if he sent his car and met her at the club.

She had to wait 15 minutes for him, but she didn't mind that. There were too many interesting people to watch. When Tony got there they went into the cocktail lounge and had a couple of drinks.

They were sitting at a remote table and Tony tried to kiss her. Jama felt conspicuous and told him to behave himself. Tony didn't like that. He sulked all the rest of the evening.

When Jama came down to breakfast the next morning her mother acted as though she had something on her mind. After awhile she said: "Jama, when are you going to think about getting married?"

"Married? Oh, mother!" "You're 24. If you wait much longer you won't have a choice. You'll have to take what's offered."

Her mother was thinking of Tony. Tony was the best catch in town. "No one's asked me yet."

"Now, Jama, you know very well how silly that is. Tony Penn's in love with you. Every one knows that. He'd ask you if you gave him half a chance."

Impulsively Jama asked: "I wonder if Enoch Starr would ask me." "Enoch Starr!" her mother snorted. "That dreamer. Enoch Starr will never get anywhere."

Jama had lied when she told her mother no one had asked her to marry. Both Tony and Enoch had proposed and she had put them off. Enoch had not mentioned the matter since. Tony never saw her without trying to force an answer.

The next day was Sunday and she went riding with Enoch. Jama swallowed hard and began: "I promised you I'd let you know—how I felt when I made my decision. I—I'm going to marry Tony."

He was silent a moment. She could see the hurt in his eyes. "Oh, Enoch, I'm so sorry! Please try and understand. A girl has to be practical when she thinks of marriage. A smart girl would marry a practical man."

"So you don't think I'm practical?" "Oh, Enoch, darling, you're something else, you're sweet!" He smiled. "Darling, I'm the most practical man in the world. But I believe in making an occasion of life, in avoiding unpleasantness."

"Whatever can you mean?" "I suppose you think it just happened that the sun shone all day when we took our picnic? Why, shucks, honey, I spent an hour checking the weather report. I spent another hour picking out the steak. I went up the mountain the day before and got those rocks to gether so you wouldn't have to wait for your lunch. I wanted to kiss you all day long, but I waited till sunset, for a perfect setting. I thought a kiss then would do the most good."

Enoch had the ring in his pocket. He had carried it there for months. It was perfect, fit precisely. Jama was delicious with happiness. Enoch was a little worried. It was a good idea all right—this making an occasion of life business. You always thought of good ideas when you were desperate. Perhaps, he thought, he'd better try putting it into practice and see how it worked.

A Lovely Dessert
Cream puffs make a lovely dessert when they're treated in an unusual way. Fill with almond ice cream and serve with butterscotch sauce; or, use peppermint ice cream and chocolate sauce.

The United States Department of State was originally known as the Department of Foreign Affairs.

Magic Material, Jack-of-Trades Is Little Known

What is it that fire-protects the home, was used in the construction of the pyramids of ancient Egypt, helped keep Roman contractors out of jail, makes your glass of beer more enjoyable, is important in the manufacture of aircraft, has its part in the sale of women's wearing apparel, greets you every morning in your toothpaste and has a thousand other uses?

What is this substance that stares at you from the walls of your home and office, helps you recover from a broken leg and is used by farmers to condition the soil?

What is this magic material that was putty in the hands of Michelangelo, that has its own sprinkler system and helps make American dentistry the best in the world?

No, it's not the "Thing." It's just common, ordinary CaSO₄·2H₂O; or put that in English: it's hydrous calcium sulphate.

Of course, we could come down to earth and tell you it is 'just plain "gypsum," but it's an amazing thing nine out of ten men and women on the street will come back with the question, "What's gypsum?" despite the fact that practically everyone comes in contact with gypsum in some form or another throughout the day.

Gypsum is a mineral; it's a rock. It is one of the earth's most plentiful natural resources. In its natural state it is about one-fifth water by weight. This is not free water, rather, it is water in chemical combination.

It is the water-chemical content that makes gypsum one of nature's most amazing substances. The gypsum rock, which is mined and/or quarried, releases about three-quarters of its water content when it is calcined, or heated. The residue is a powdery, white substance, which has a great affinity for water.

It is, in effect, plaster powder. When water is added and mixed into the plaster powder, a plastic substance results, which substance can be worked into any shape desired—into a statue, a dental cast, a mannequin for a store window, precision molds for airplane engine parts, a cast for a fractured limb or a wall for a room.

When the plaster powder, plus water, sets, the substance again becomes rock gypsum—the same material that was taken from the earth. But now it is in the shape to which it was molded in its plastic state.

Nothing New
Builders, sculptors and surgeons have known about gypsum for years and years. The latter call gypsum processed for their purposes, "Plaster of Paris." The name derives from the fact that the city of Paris, in France, is built over gypsum deposits.

Historians report that the Assyrians, 6,000 years ago, used gypsum as a fire protection. They recall that the body of King Tut was encased in gypsum plaster. Minos, semi-legendary king of ancient Crete, is said to have had a throne of pure white gypsum. Egyptian building genius which conceived the Great Pyramids also employed gypsum mortar to bed the blocks and gypsum plaster to cover the interior. Today, after more than forty-five centuries the plaster is still evident.

The Bible, in the book of Leviticus, tells of a law which required that all houses where leprosy existed be completely replastered with gypsum. Roman legislation, at the height of the Empire's glory, insisted that the magic mineral be employed in the fire-proofing of dwellings. Contractors who failed in the requirement were liable for fine, imprisonment or the death penalty, depending on the fire damage to life and property.

New Style U.S. Currency Baffles Bank President
HIWATHA, Kas.—Roy Ruth, bank president in the near-by community of Everest, found that counting money can become a problem. Recently he broke open a bundle of $5 bills and carefully counted them. They totaled $500.

As a check, he turned them over to recount. This time he got a total of $530. Checking, re-checking and turning over each crisp bill carefully, he made a startling discovery: Six of the notes, fresh from government presses, were $5 denominations on one side, $10 on the opposite.

Lad in 'Hoppy' Sweater Is Youngest Volunteer
PHOENIXVILLE, Pa.—The husky military policeman blinked as the little boy, dressed in jeans and a Hopalong Cassidy sweater sauntered up to the entrance to the Valley Forge Army Hospital and said politely: "I've come to read for blind patients."

The soldier took the lad to the commanding officer, Eddie Dwerchek, 11 years old, had hitchhiked from Paoli, 10 miles away, although friends had laughed at his idea of volunteering as a "reader." The officer didn't laugh. Neither did the blind patients as Eddie read to them from two books he had brought under his arm: biographies of Lou Gehrig and Joe Di Maggio.

Music Seeds Are Sown Throughout Midwest

CAMDEN, N.J.—A "musical Johnny Appleseed" who toured the Midwest 43 years ago sowing the seeds of music appreciation today sees her work bearing fruit all over America.

Ninety-two-year-old Dr. Frances Elliott Clark, director emerita of RCA Victor, recalled the day in 1909 when she heard a phonograph recording for the first time and was inspired to launch a movement which has brought the knowledge and understanding of good music to millions of public school children.

For two years, Dr. Clark traveled in the footsteps of the legendary "Johnny Appleseed," selling educators on using the phonograph records for teaching purposes. Then the Victor Talking Machine Company heard about "that crazy education woman out west," and asked her to develop and direct an educational department for the young company.

Dr. Clark's "planting" in the fertile minds of school children became national in scope and when she retired in 1947 to Salt Lake City she had seen her plan adopted universally. She founded the Music Educators' National Conference in Keokuk, Iowa in 1907, and recently delivered the keynote address to its 6,000 delegates meeting in Philadelphia.

Disabled Veteran Refuses US Checks
SUFFOLK, Va.—A disabled veteran, who had learned a trade at government expense, notified authorities that he would accept no more disability checks. In fact, he returned the last two checks sent him and refused to allow his name to be used for fear people would think he was "grandstanding."

Light Aids Safety
Provide good lighting on stairways and in closets and dark corners.

New Pen
A pen writes with ink whenever you fill it with water. It contains a tablet of ink concentrate, and each filling with water dissolves only enough of the tablet to provide a proper ink supply. Result: You never run out of ink, wherever you are. The concentrate is said to last about 18 months and can then be replaced.

Keep Floor Dry
Take time to wipe up a spill the minute it reaches the floor—even if you are in a hurry.

Empire Founded
According to the Japanese empire was founded by Emperor Jimmu Tenno in 680 B.C.

Moving Tips
Before you move: Notify your electric, gas, water, and telephone companies, so they can shut off service at the time you wish. Ask your postman or post office for a change-of-address card. Notify your life-insurance companies, newspaper office, magazine companies, and the stores where you have charge accounts, of your change of address. Ask your physician and dentist to recommend doctors in the community which is your destination.

Houston's Health
Houston's city health department has been working on a budget that amounts to $1.17 a year per citizen. This is better than New Orleans' $2c per citizen, but far below Washington, D.C.'s $3.36, San Francisco's $2.68 and Seattle's $1.99. Recommendation: That Houston up its public health budget to about $2.

Ladder Success
It's possible to paint a small house entirely from ladders, out it is much easier to work from a plank suspended between two ladders. The foot of a straight ladder should be one quarter as far from the wall as the ladder is high. If the ladder rests on a cement walk, use ladder shoes.

To Lute
Picked up for vagrancy as he leaned against a hotel, a man in Madison, Wis., who explained indignantly, "I'm waiting for a streetcar," got 10 days in jail and the sad news: The last Madison streetcar had stopped running 20 years ago.

The Excuse In Syracuse, N.Y., after Deputy Sheriff Arthur Willis stopped a car for speeding and found its four women passengers naked from the waist up, the driver explained: "Well, men drive bare-chested, don't they?"

His Concern My great concern is not whether you have failed, but whether you are content with your failure. -Abraham Lincoln

Too Thick Why are saucers and gravies thicker after they've stood for a day or so? Some of the liquid in them evaporates. For this reason they should not be overcooked either. Water evaporation in them causes them to be thick and pasty.

Dry Spot In Memphis, Tenn., a local householder complained that a horse owned by a neighbor climbed up onto his front porch to get in out of the rain.

Quick Change Reversible skirts are in the news to give you a quick change in color scheme. One of the favorites is a circular flannel skirt in red while the reverse is done in a yellow denim.

Use Jar Rings Try placing rubber jar rings under your breadboard to keep it from scooting around while you roll out bread, biscuits, pastry, and the like. It's also a good idea to put rings under the bowl in which you are whipping cream, eggs, etc., to keep the bowl stationary.

Home Dangerous You may not think of your home as a booby trap—but accident statistics prove that hazards lurk in every nook and cranny of the house

Smoking Point Vegetable fats and oils are recommended for deep fat frying because their "smoking point" or temperature at which they will burn is high

Did You Know? Did you know that 55 per cent of cars in use in 1950 were eight or more years old as compared to 24 per cent in 1941?

BLADES OF GRASS By Samuel A. Short Jr. Blades of grass that once were green, Full of life in summers gleam. Now is lifeless by Jack Frost's Strong arm, Cast over the earth with silver charm.

It's an act of nature that comes every year, Brings the harvest of crops while were here. To feed the hungry to cheer the poor, Keeps one healthy and happy for ever more.

It's the same thing that happens we all know, we all know, Happens to all on this earth below. So what can we do it's the best for all, But live on and on and wait our saviour's call.
