

Businessmen Hear Financial Expert's Plan To Secure Industries

A business must have an incentive to locate in a community and this inducement is not necessarily free rent or concessions in taxes, H. M. Auerbach, a corporation finance expert, of New York City, told a group of businessmen last Thursday night at a meeting at Ernest Raughley Insurance Service.

The meeting was the result of a movement to secure industries for Harrington.

Auerbach explained that business needed capital for starting up and for expansion. He proposed the formation of a corporation, stock of which would be subscribed by the citizens, to aid industries. This corporation would make loans to industry, receiving interests on the investment, and also receiving a share in the borrowing company.

These loans, the financier explained, would be small ones made to small concerns. He favored several small firms over one large one because of the lesser risk.

Auerbach said that local persons should be on the directorates of companies locating here.

A corporation formed locally to help industries would provide long term loans for equity capital, Auerbach said. Firms to come to Harrington would already be going concerns, Auerbach said. The local investment corporation would supply aid beyond what the banks would supply, with the debt being amortized annually. This would make the community feel it had an interest in the borrowing firm.

Ira W. Roe Dies Suddenly

Ira W. Roe, 81, husband of the late Lina Hopkins Roe, died suddenly Monday morning following a heart attack.

He was a member of the Tall Cedars of Lebanon No. 49 of Milford; Temple Lodge No. 9 of Milford of which he was a past master; of Chosen Friends Lodge I. O. O. ## George Minner Electrocuted

Funeral services for George A. Minner, 38, of 109 West Liberty Street, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at Trinity Methodist Church, with Rev. Milton Elliott officiating. Interment will be in Odd Fellows Cemetery, Milford.

Mr. Minner was electrocuted at 1:55 p. m. Tuesday at Hack's Point, a summer resort 18 miles northeast of Millington, Md., where he came in contact with a live wire while working on an electric light pole.

He wore rubber gloves and protectors but failed to put on rubber sleeves and his forearm came in contact with the wire as he was attempting to remove a jumper. The removal of the jumper would have completed the particular task on which Mr. Minner was working, the connecting of a live 7200-volt wire to a new line.

Ira Glenden, Jr., of Felton, who was working on the same pole, was not harmed.

Both men were linemen employed by Day & Zimmerman, Inc., of Philadelphia, and were members of a crew of which John C. McKelvey, of Harrington, was foreman. The firm is engaged in building power lines for Eastern Shore Public Service Company.

After the accident, because the region was remote and because of difficulty in reaching a telephone, it was an hour and a half before Dr. R. C. Dodson, of Rising Sun, Md., reached the spot and pronounced the victim dead. Previous to his arrival, and for an hour afterward, artificial respiration was employed. Dr. Dodson also used a tank of oxygen in an effort to revive the victim.

The body was removed to a Millington funeral home whence it was taken in charge by Berry Funeral Home, Felton, where a viewing will be held this evening.

Mr. Minner is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ethel Minner; two daughters, Patricia and Faye Minner; a son, Samuel Minner; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Minner; three brothers, John,

Harry W. and Harold P. "Bailey" Minner, and a sister, Mrs. Herbert Rothermel, all of Harrington.

1953 Plymouth On Display At Warrington's

The roominess of a sedan and the convenience of a coupe are combined this year in Plymouth's new model, the 1953 Cambridge Club Sedan, says Warrington's Service Center, local Plymouth dealers. Plymouth's 1953 models are now on display.

The body shell is the same size as that used in the four-door models yet it offers the protection of a completely enclosed rear seat, especially important for families with small children.

The Cambridge Club Sedan, like all of Plymouth's two-door styles for 1953, features the new front seat back which is divided at a third of its width instead of in the center. This permits the driver and his seat companion to sit comfortably on the wider portion while the rest is tilted for convenient rear seat access.

The divided seat back provides peace of mind to the parent of a small child occupying a baby seat hooked over the back of the car seat. With the baby seat attached to the wider portion of the front seat, the baby remains upright in the event of a sudden stop, instead of being thrown forward.

The theme of the divided seat back is carried out in the car's cushions which are made in thirds.

Hughes X-Roads

SULKY SLANTS

By Mrs. Dave (Pat) Smith
With so many hellos and how are you, hand shakings, make you glad to get back to Harrington. You know me. I'm really a booster, not only here, but wherever I go, and I do get around.

First one to greet me with a cheery hello was Mayor Rash. His handshake makes you feel like they really like to have us come back.

Gooden Callaway, as usual, coming out from the last mile lane aside the Peoples Bank. (Hope I don't have to drive it.)

Mr. Burgess, Sr., table hopping at Irene's, saying hello to this and that one, Telling Dave and me about Winnie's collie dog someone took. About the meanest thing, I'd say. Mike was everyone's pet.

What did I tell you last spring about our news-stand? Didn't Mr. Jerread take up the floor for a penny? Now what has he? A whole new, new look. Bet he found plenty under the floor, but still a good news-stand.

Carrington with his nose in the morning paper at Irene's, not a care in the world. Betty and Ellis, Jr., having a coke downtown.

Cahall's have a nice display front now, least you can see what they have now. I love to look and don't we all, and so close to Christmas anyway.

Over to Sam Short's store, always a good hour before I can get out of there.

Brit Holloway is about as busy as any general manager I know of. With all these horses coming in, and I guess it's the same everywhere. We are always wanting something, but as I've always said, where will you find another like him? Our hats off to you, Brit.

Was in the office talking to Mrs. Earl Thomas. I love to chat with her. Was real cute about the white kitten Earl brought back from Yonkers Raceway. Someone had left it so what happens? Earl tucked it under his arm and now it has taken up at the nice home of the Thomases. Lucky kitty!

The horsemen are coming in so fast it's hard to really give too much account of horses or trainers yet. Emil Adams, Henry Clukey Farm on Route 13, Paul Vinyard, Stouty, Polly Sipe, Stokley's, Workmans, Amatos, Lyons, Peacock, Dupe, Hays, Dave Smith, Charley Stout, Jack Walters, Ellis Myers, Julian Young, Sam Conway, Roland Herrington, Bobby Ray, as I hear, is leaving for Wilmington, N. C., to train. The Bowers, Mr. Malverin, Geo. Martin, next week. I will try to get the rest of the trainers and their horses.

I don't care if they are by Peter the Great, all I want to know how many they have and give you an idea how many we have out here. In the spring that will be different. But I'll bet they don't have in any of these places horses that cost any more, or much more for a colt as Mr. Lyons has. Twenty-two thousand and something, Johnny Amato has one for $17,500. That's stock.

Well, you remember me telling you last spring I lost my pride and joy, "Roustabout!" Well, Dave has bought me a yearling from the stock farm in Silver Creek, N. Y. Home of Wee Laird. He's out of Nymth by Carl O. Day. Well, my new guy's name is "Smoky Joe." Now, Mr. Williams, I will be looking for you to come over and visit my "Smoky Joe." You know, last spring I was through with horses, but now, Mr. Williams, I'm back in the biz again.

Was up to chat with Mildred and Harold Cain, of Felton. Always love to chat with them and browse around and don't buy nothing.

Reese out to visit Dave. What they talked about is your guess, but I bet it was show biz. Couldn't be horses. Mr. Harrington, Sr., also out visiting around. Some nice crew in his store.

Before we know it, Thanksgiving will be just around the corner, and then Christmas, which I love to get ready for. A twig here and a little holly there on each of the horse's stalls.

Last year I had Rousty's all fixed up and the little fellow ate ribbons and all. All that you could see was the red juice from the ribbon.

Hope next week to get more news.

Reorganization of Ground Observer Corps Begins; Meeting Tuesday Night

Frederick Myer

Ag Teacher Assumes Post

Harrington School is indeed fortunate to obtain the services of Frederick Myer as teacher of vocational agriculture to replace George Vapaa. Mr. Myer is a native of near Bridgeville, and comes to Harrington with a variety of experience.

He has just returned from a job in South America. While there, he was employed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture on loan to the State Department for the Point Four Foreign Aid Program. He served as a training specialist in Brazil's National Training Center for Rural Engineering.

He has a series of colored slides and will be available to talk to organized meeting groups after the first of the year. He is now occupied with moving his family and in becoming adjusted to teaching in Harrington.

Mrs. Myer is the former Miss Harriett McCutcheon, who taught fine arts at Harrington school several years before the war. The Myers have three children, ages 7, 9 and 11. The children attended a native Portuguese school for 4-12 months while in Brazil, and learned to speak Portuguese as well as the natives.

Mr. Myer was educated in the Bridgeville schools and is a graduate of the School of Agriculture at the University of Delaware. He has taught vocational agriculture 10 years and operated a large dairy farm in New Jersey 2 years.

BABY MOOSE COMMITTEE NAMED

Benjamin Moore, lodge governor, presided at the regular meeting of the Moose Lodge Tuesday evening.

Along with building up the lodge membership, the Baby Moose program promises to be loads of fun. Robert Sanderson, of Dover, was given Lodge obligations Tuesday night, thus becoming the first baby Moose.

Secretary B. N. Hopkins suggested dividing the regular members into two teams under two captains to secure members until the close of the contest in January. Past Governor William Fleischauer, Sr., and Gov. Benjamin Moore are the team captains. It was agreed that the winning captain be given a free ride down Main Street in a wheelbarrow, with the losing team pulling and the losing captain pushing.

Civic affairs chairman Curtis Melvin selected the following committee: William Fleischauer, Sr.; Albert Hunnicutt, Curtis Rash, Harvey Passwaters, and Grover Lord.

Letter to the Editor

To whom it may concern:
Please, before telling the contents of my mother's will, go to the Register of Wills office in Dover and ask to read it; also, at the same time, go to the Recorder of Deeds office and ask to see the recording of her properties which describes where they were deeded away in 1947. These files are open to the public.

Rotarians Hear Cliff Miller

"A Rotarian is one, it is said, who can look into a mud puddle and see something beyond the mud," said Cliff Miller at Tuesday evening's meeting of the Harrington Rotary Club.

"On the occasion of our district governor's recent official visit," continued Mr. Miller, "he said that one club in his district had him worried, that it was getting no new members and interest was lagging.

"I believe I know the solution of that problem. My guess is that the members of that club are not putting themselves into the work of the club. I've learned this through experience, for I was a member of the Harrington Rotary Club about four years before I became a real Rotarian. I was going along, contributing my part toward the activities of the club, but now I realize that I was not doing enough.

That realization came to me when I was elected president of the club. Then I had to work, really work, for it is an exacting job. Working in that capacity, the real greatness of the organization began to unfold before me, and from that time I felt that I have been a real Rotarian."

Mr. Miller concluded his interesting address by quoting the following poem:

"HOW TO JUDGE A MAN"

When you think of a man you seldom think
Of the knowledge he has of books;
You seldom think of the clothes he wears,
His habits, ways or looks.
You seldom think of the car he drives
Or the bonds his gold has brought—
When you think of a man you mostly think
Of some kindness he has wrought.
You judge him not by his stock of bonds
Nor power of word or pen—
You judge a man by the place he has made
In the hearts of his fellow-men.

You judge him also by the fight he has made
And the way he has faced the strife
And not by the amount of the bank
He happened to save in life.
You think of the friend he has been to man
And the good that he has done—
And you judge the sort of a man that he is
By the friends he has won.

JOHN O. DAYTON

John O. Dayton, 69, died at his home, 302 Weiner Avenue, Harrington, Wednesday evening, after about three years illness. He was born near Lewes, the son of John and Sarah Joseph Dayton, but had resided in Harrington for the past 28 years.

He was employed by the P. R. R. for many years as brakeman and retired in 1948. He was a member of the Brotherhood and the Relief of the P. R. R.

Funeral services will be held at the Boyer Funeral Home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, in charge of the Rev. Robert E. Van Cleaf, pastor of Asbury Methodist Church, Harrington. Interment will be in Methodist Cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Matilda A. Dayton, Harrington, and four sons, Millard A. Dayton and Ralph Dayton, both of Harrington; Lloyd R. Dayton, of Wilmington, and Charles S. Dayton, Easton, Md.; a grandson, a sister, Mrs. Timothy Banks, Millsboro; two brothers, Raymond Dayton, Milton, and Gola Dayton, Wilmington. Friends may call at the funeral home this evening.

The Mar-Del Basketball League will open Monday evening, with the Legionnaires entertaining the Salisbury quintet here. The game will begin at 8:30 p. m. at the High School.

A spirited citizens' meeting, called by Mayor Rash, Monday evening at the firehouse, set the ball rolling for the reorganization of the ground observer corps and arranged for another meeting Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the same place.

Maj. Richard Curtis, of the Baltimore Air Corps Filter Center, with other personnel, are expected to be present at the Tuesday night meeting when a movie, "Air Defense," will be shown. The Air Corps officer was scheduled to be present at the Monday night meeting, but canceled his appearance because of heavy fog over the Peninsula.

T. Brinton Holloway, who resigned as supervisor of the ground observer corps some three months ago, at the behest of the audience agreed to take up the post again. In explaining why he resigned, Mr. Holloway said the move was made after the air warning program was changed from a temporary basis to a 24-hour basis and this entailed new difficulties.

The reactivated supervisor then suggested that a committee be named to assume the responsibility for seeing that a ground observer post was located and manned and the details worked out. At a motion from the floor, Mr. Holloway and Mayor E. B. Rash named a committee as follows:

Chairman, Eugene Anderson; Kenneth Aiken, Mrs. Frank O'Neal, C. H. Burgess, Grace Wanda Quillen, and Mrs. Calvin Simpson. Mr. Holloway volunteered to serve on the committee.

Mr. Holloway and Mr. Anderson then signed up the following volunteers to man the post: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Layton, Mr. and Mrs. Layton Betts, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Short, Jr., and Mrs. Calvin Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Aiken, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Roberts, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Roberts, Sr.; and Mrs. Jehu Camper, Wilson Holden, and Carl Lewis.

At the close of the meeting, it was agreed to accept the offer of the Harrington Gun Club to use the club's house on the fairgrounds as a spotting station. A telephone will be installed, operating expense of which will be borne by the Air Corps.

At the start of the meeting, Mr. Holloway reviewed the history of the ground observer corps here when it was on a temporary basis. For a permanent basis, he said it would require 168 persons to man the station around the clock, in 2-hour watches, with two persons operating at a time.

W. Hamilton Dies in Hickman

William Hamilton, 80, died at his home in Hickman Monday morning, Nov. 17, after an illness of several months.

He was born near Harrington, the son of the late Bayard and Eliza Thomas Hamilton and had resided at Hickman for the past 52 years. His wife, Mrs. Manie Adams Hamilton, died about a year ago.

Funeral services were held at the Hickman Methodist Church in charge of the pastor, the Rev. Omro Todd, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Interment was in Hollywood Cemetery, near Harrington.

He is survived by a foster daughter, Mrs. James Lerch, of Stanton, and several nieces and nephews.

Contest Corn Cost Average 42c to Produce

Some 55 farmers in Kent County have entered into the 100 bushel Corn Yield Contest, while Mr. Tarbell and Mr. Mitchell the Extension Agronomist, were measuring the corn yields, they asked questions of some farmers as to just how much it cost to grow that crop. Do you have a pencil and piece of paper handy? Why not compare your costs against these figures. There are about nine items that we will consider as costs.

For plowing, Bill came up with a cost of about $3.75 per acre. That's figuring the use of a 2 bottom moldboard plow, tractor and operator. In all cases, these figures will include labor to perform a given job.

A man generally disks ground at about twice the speed of plowing, so we found a cost of $2.00 per acre for disking and smoothing the ground.

It usually takes about 8 lbs. of seed per acre which costs about $12.00 a bushel or $1.70 per acre. The planting operation costs about $1.50 per acre when you are fertilizing in the planter. Farmers used between 300-400 lbs. of fertilizer in the planter. Lets say 350 lbs. at a cost of $7.50 per acre. Some planters will only put on about 250 lbs. of fertilizer when fully open. Some farmers broadcast fertilizer either before or after plowing, but in order to get a yield approaching 100 bushels per acre, one must use fertilizer during the growing season. The use of a cover crop and manure, a good, additional source of plant food, and will lower your plant food costs. Our figures here do not include these two items because it is an individual farm matter. Most people assign a value of $2.00 per load of manure-but keep in mind that there are many sizes of spreaders, many kinds and qualities of manure, and variations in the rate of application. Cover crops and manure not only contain plant food but build up the organic content, which helps to hold moisture better, and also makes the ground easier to work.

Most farmers cultivate at least two times during the growing season. We assigned a value of $1.60 per acre for cultivating. Some farmers now side dress their corn. The farmers we checked were using about 200 lbs. of ammonium nitrate per acre which cost about $12.00 per acre.

Kent County farmers have said that it costs about $7.50 per acre to pick and crib their corn. If you want a separate charge for hauling and cribbing, figure about 5c per bushel and reduce the picking charge to $5.25 per acre.

Totaling up our costs - $3.75 $2.00 - $1.50 - $7.50 - 1.60 - $12.00 and $7.50 gives a figure of $35.85 per acre. This particular group of farmers had yields averaging 85 bushels of corn per acre. If you divide 85 bushels per acre into the cost of growing $35.85 you will get an average cost of 42 cents per bushel to grow this corn.

It is interesting to note that if a farmer were in the habit of using no fertilizer or manure his yield would probably average less than 30 bushels per acre. If he used the same machinery as mentioned earlier, his costs per acre would go up to about 55 cents per acre.

On the other hand, last year the winners in Kent County, the Pippin Bros. of Wyoming, fertilized for a yield of almost 115 bushels per acre. They plowed under Lespedeza and oat stubble, a green manure crop, put on 10 loads of stable manure treated with superphosphate per acre, applied 250 lbs. of 4-12-8 fertilizer at planting time in the row, and side dressed with 100# of Ammonium Nitrate. The soil fertility level had been built up to the level that 13,200 plants could be raised on an acre. If one were using 42 inch rows, that is a stand with a plant spacing of about 11-12 inches in the row.

Mulching Protects Evergreens From Winter Dying

One of the best ways to protect your evergreen from winter dying is to mulch.

That's the advice of Bill Tarbell, Kent County Agricultural Agent, who points out that advice is extra important during the present drought. Trees are going to go into the windy winter period with much less reserve moisture than usual.

Put at least three or more inches of mulch around the base of the trees, being careful not to let the mulch come in contact with the trunk or the crown of the plants.

Mulch material could be composted manure, well-rotted sawdust, or wood shavings, oak leaves, peat moss, straw, grass clippings, ground cobs, or peanut shells. Tarbell warns that manure compost should be at least two months old. Used alone, manure is likely to cause "burning" of the roots.

Evergreens planted during the fall need special care and extra water, at ten-day to two week intervals up until the first heavy freeze. If evergreens have been planted during the fall, remove the mulch in early spring to let the sun warm the soil. It can be replaced later. Do not cultivate around the base of evergreens that are over three feet high, because their root systems are much deeper down the weeds as very close to the surface. As well, and conserves moisture.

Nothing Tops Good Barn Ventilation

How would you like to make an investment in your dairy barn that will save more money for you than any other single item?

Invest in a modern ventilation system, advises Bill Tarbell, Kent County Agricultural Agent. Agricultural engineers say that a good ventilation system saves on herd health, bedding, and depreciation of the barn itself.

Dampness helps bring on poor herd health. Swollen doors that won't open slow up your work, and are hard on the doors, too. Poor ventilation is also hard on the barn, because moisture condenses on ceilings and walls, hastening the decay of woodwork and the corrosion of metal parts. Stable odors are stronger, too, in a poorly ventilated barn. And it has been proven that cows may produce milk that has off-flavor from the odors of the air they breathe.

If you'd like printed help a leaflet is available from the county extension office, Dover, Del. It recommends electric fans as the most successful ventilation system. It advises on fan size, exhaust dust, air inlets, temperature, and insulation. Call or write, the county office and ask for EF 18, "Fresh Air for the Dairy Stable."

Artificial Breeding Unit Progressing

After a rapid change of breeding technicians, the Kent County Unit of the Delaware Artificial Breeders Co-operative, under the local management of Lloyd McNatt, technician, is settling down again and Mr. McNatt reports that the number of cows being bred compares very favorably with the past year's records.

Ellwood Gruwell, President of the Local Unit, feels that the work of McNatt is proving satisfactory and advises local dairymen to use the service offered by this locally directed and managed co-operative.

The Directors of the unit are, in addition to Ellwood Gruwell of Felton, George Robbins of Milford, George C. Simpson of Houson, Francis Thomas of Maryland, Henry Kozicki of Clayton and Edgar Dill of Goldsboro, and Robert L. Nelson, Harrington.

Any one of these Directors will be glad to explain how the service can be used by the dairyman and how to become a member. This information can also be obtained by calling the County Agricultural Agent's Office in Dover.

Integrated Pasture Program Important, U. of MD. Research Shows

The importance of an integrated pasture program using adapted pastures to keep beef production high throughout the grazing season was shown when the first phase of beef grazing trials was recently completed at the University of Maryland Tobacco Experimental Farm, near Upper Marlboro, Md. The two and a half year experiment, studying the beef producing ability of five different pasture mixtures, was completed November 3.

Here is a comparison of beef yields per acre this year and last year: orchard grass-ladino clover, 382 pounds this year, 416 pounds last year; tall fescue-ladino clover, 351 pounds this year, 432 pounds last year; Kentucky bluegrass-white clover-timothy, 358 pounds this year, 375 pounds last year; orchard grass-lespedeza, 303 pounds this year, 318 pounds last year; tall fescue-lespedeza, 246 pounds this year. The grazing season last year was 165 days long, while this year it was 190 days, from April 13 to October 22. The chief factor in generally lower beef yields this year was the loss of some of the clover during last winter.

Tall fescue-ladino clover and the bluegrass mixtures continued growth longer than the other mixtures. Ending November 3, the 202 day grazing season for these mixtures resulted in beef gains of 370 pounds per acre for tall fescue-ladino clover, and 375 pounds for Kentucky bluegrass-white clover-timothy.

The grazing season this year began April 16, when 18 steers were placed in pasture paddocks in the 12½ acres of each pasture mixture, divided into 5 half-acre paddocks for rotational grazing. The orchard grass-lespedeza and tall fescue lespedeza mixtures were originally stocked with three steers, the others with four.

On July 16, when beef yields were somewhat reduced because of shorter pastures, six steers were moved to a 6½ acre lespedeza pasture. The six steers gained an average of 165 pounds per animal, between July 16 and October 22, while the 12 steers remaining on their original pastures gained an average of 108 pounds.

This points up the advantages of an integrated pasture program, in the opinion of Dr. A. W. Burger, the agronomist in charge of the experiment.

Here are his comments on each of the pasture mixtures:

Orchard grass-ladino clover: "The balance between grass and clover was good on about 80 percent of the area, probably because of better moisture conditions than on the rest of the area where ladino was lost during the winter. Beef production was good

Collicks Keep Clean Utensils

"All the credit for the cleanliness of my utensils goes to my wife, Mis' Maggie," says Archie Collick of Harrington, Archie has been shipping milk to the Pet Milk Company since 1930, and he does not recall ever having his utensils checked unsatisfactory by a fieldman.

The immaculate appearance of the utensils has brought favorable comments from several fieldmen who have inspected the Collick dairy. Apparently, "Mis' Maggie's" exerts have paid dividends. Collick's milk has been satisfactory. For the last two years they have had no rejected milk.

The Collicks' 100-acre farm is located two miles west of Vernon. Their dairy herd consists of nine grade cows, and the milk is hauled to Greensboro on Leslie Spence's 1100-Route.

pastures work hand in hand," Burger said, "since bluegrass gives good early season production, while lespedeza, which comes into production in July, does best in late season. When allowed to reseed itself in the fall, lespedeza may be kept permanently in pasture. Both lespedeza and bluegrass do relatively well in areas of low fertility."

Dr. John E. Foster, head of the Department of Animal Husbandry at the University of Maryland, who assisted in the grazing trials, said, "this experiment points out the possibilities for tobacco farmers in South Maryland to increase their farm income by raising beef on pastures, utilizing land not used in tobacco production."

Next year the same area will be used to study how effectively legumes supply grasses with nitrogen, compared with furnishing nitrogen in the form of fertilizer.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT To Farmers And Livestock Dealers

Beginning Friday, Nov. 7, 1952, all calves consigned to our Sale will be weighed as they are unloaded, instead of at the time of auction as has been our practice in the past. This will give the consigner the advantage of extra poundage on each calf. It has been proven in the past that calves bring from $2.00 to 3.00 per hundred more at our auction than at other markets.

FEEDER CATTLE

We have a large number of feeder heifers and steers at our barn at all times. The market is considerably lower than a few months ago, so if you have excess feed it would be profitable to keep a few through the winter months.

SPECIAL OFFER

4000 gallons high-grade outside paint, in five gallon cans. This comes in light gray and powder blue. These colors may be seen on our sale barns. SPECIAL PRICE $1.50 Gal.

WHAT TO DO IN CASE OF AN AIR RAID

- In case of an air raid, run like Hell, it doesn't matter where you are, just so long as you run. If you are outside, run inside—if you are inside, run outside. It is also suggested that you equip yourself with track shoes so that you have no trouble getting over people in front of you.
- Always make the most of an air raid alarm:
  - If you are in a bakery, steal a pie.
  - If you are in a bar, steal a bottle.
  - If you are in a movie, grab a blonde.
- During an air raid alarm always yell bloody murder. It makes for more confusion.
- If you find an unexploded bomb, shake it; the firing pin may be stuck.
- If an incendiary bomb falls in your neighborhood, throw some gasoline on it. You can't put it out anyway, so you may as well have lots of fun.
- Always eat garlic and wear dirty socks before entering an air raid shelter. It will make you as unpopular as a skunk in the opera, but will relieve the shelter of crowded conditions.
- Don't pay any attention to the air raid wardens. If he gets in your way, run over him. All he knows is more confusion. One of them may know what is best for you, but that is what the folks used to know when they fed you castor oil.
- Don't worry about a bomb that has your name on it. It's the one labeled "TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN" that you ought to worry about.
- Keep calm during an air raid. Try this formula. Read the Lord's Prayer, bless Ike and MacArthur, take another slug of whiskey, say another prayer and repeat this process. Don't forget the prayer until all the whiskey is gone; then pray for more whiskey. Then climb under the covers and tell old Joe Stalin to go to Hell.
- If you are in the "Vets" during an air raid, stand by the slot machines; that is really the safest spot in town—they haven't been hit in years!!!
- If you are hit by a bomb, keep your nerve, don't go to pieces—just lie still and no one will notice you.

U. S. Soil Conservation Service
 When a field is plowed, planted and cultivated, and then, because of poor drainage, a farmer gets little or no crop, he not only loses the crop he hoped to grow, he also loses the fertilizer, seed and labor he expended. Actually a field that in some years produced a crop and in others does not, may be more of a liability than an asset.

Almost any farmer recognizes the cause when a crop is damaged because of poor drainage. But too often he assumes that the damage could not be helped and hopes that next year will be better. If the next year is better, he often forgets the poor years. But later he has more wet years. And he continues to lose crops unless he does something about drainage.

Draining fertile, wet cropland is one of the important practices of conservation farming. It fits into conservation farming by which land is treated according to what it needs to produce the kind of crop it is best fitted to produce.

On many farms, the bottoms have the most fertile soil. But because they are wet part of the year they produce only part of the yield they could produce. The opportunity to get help with drainage problems has never been so good as today. Through the soil conservation districts in each county in Delaware, machinery and technical assistance is available. Many drainage layouts have failed because of improper planning.

Wet soil is a cold soil. This is because it takes much more heat to warm water than to warm soil. When soil is drained, air replaces the water that is drained away. It takes relatively little heat to warm this air. To grow well, plants, of course, need warmth and air in the root zone. The bacteria that change organic matter and fertilizer into something the plants can use require both air and warmth.

A wet soil is likely to be tight, or compact or dense. Plant roots cannot spread easily through such soil. Soil building crops will not grow well, so a farmer cannot follow a balanced rotation.

Liming, also, is often useless in a soggy soil.

After a wet soil is drained, it can be worked earlier in the spring. Seeds germinate faster and better stand is secured. And plants do not drown out after a rain. Sun and wind start drying a drained soil almost as soon as rain stops falling. Thus a farmer can cultivate sooner after a rain. A drained field can be plowed much more efficiently. A more even stand of crop will result.

Crops planted on land that needs drainage often "burn out" in a soil that is saturated nearly to the surface in spring and early summer, the plant roots spread out near the surface. Later, when summer droughts come, the water table falls below this root zone and the crop gets little moisture, so down deeper. Thus they can in well-drained land, the roots draw on deeper moisture, and the plants are better able to withstand summer droughts.

Only conditions in his own area can determine the kind of drainage a farmer needs. What is good in one place may not be suitable for another. The soil, the ground slope, the crops to be grown and the value of the land must all be considered. An adequate drainage system often involves a number of farms, sometimes an entire watershed, such as the Cat Tail or Green Branch or Ingram Branch Ditches west of Harrington. It is very important that an adequate outlet be available, and that the outlet ditch constructed through the farm is located at such fashion that each field on the farm needing drainage can be drained to it. And then it is important that each field be drained properly, either with field ditches from low areas or bedding ditches on all-over flat areas. The soil conservation District is in a position to furnish this planning, and it is yours for the asking.

FARM NEWS - REVIEW - FORECAST

State Poultry Organization Now Sponsors Jr. Contest

Starting with the 1953 contest, the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association will sponsor the Junior Chicken-of-Tomorrow program in Delaware.

The announcement was made by A. E. Tomhave, chairman of the state Chicken-of-Tomorrow committee, at the close of this year's contest. The state committee formerly sponsored and financed the junior contest. A special committee carried out the actual program.

From now on the state poultrymen's organization will appoint a committee to conduct the contest, and incorporate it into their regular youth program, according to Earl Hawk, Greenwood, state DPIA president.

In making the announcement, Professor Tomhave, of the University of Delaware, thanked this year's committee for the work they had done. Members of this year's committee were Jack Blades, State Bureau of Markets; W. Lyle Mowlds, state supervisor of vocational agriculture; Samuel Gwinn, state 4-H Club leader; J. Frank Gordy, extension poultryman at the University of Delaware; Karl C. Seeger, George Bringham, and Earl Hawk, representing poultry farmers.

Too Much Lime May Hurt Soil

Over-liming may cause potash deficiency in soils, especially if you don't use enough potash fertilizer.

Lime lessens soil acidity by chemically replacing acid in the soil. But the calcium may replace potash, too, says Leo J. Cotnoir, of the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station agronomy department.

"Potash can also be lost through natural drainage," explains Cotnoir. That makes it important not to add potash fertilizer too far ahead of planting. Through leaching and chemical action, the potash might not be available by the time plants need it.

Cotnoir recommends soil testing as a sure way to know the right amount of lime and potash to apply. A soil test will tell you about acidity (pH) and available potash figures. At the same time, agronomists will make recommendations for the crop you intend to grow on that soil.

Soil tests are free to people who live in Delaware, and are made at the University of Delaware. Contact your county agricultural agent for instructions on taking soil samples and how much to send.

Creeping Alfalfa Good, But Not In Delaware

Creeping alfalfa has been in farm news often lately, and is being given a big push.

It is excellent for range lands in the Great Plains, but it's not necessarily suited to Delaware conditions. That's the opinion of William H. Mitchell, assistant agronomist of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. Several varieties of alfalfa are being grown and rated by the agronomy department, two of which are Sevelra and Nomad. These are two of the creeping alfalfas which have made the news. The Extension Service recommends the wilt resistant Buffalo for long time stands and adapted common alfalfas for stands intended for shorter duration. These will give Delaware farmers good stands and yields.

The story behind creeping alfalfa is a dramatic one, and has been sparked by the need for a legume associate for grasses that can persist under hard climatic and grazing conditions.

By combining natural strains of creeping alfalfa from places such as Siberia, Turkey, Greece, and Spain, plant breeders have produced new ones that seem to meet the requirements of our Great Plains area in the west and northwest.

County Agent News

Many of you will be interested in a visitor that we had in the Dover Office on Tuesday - Ed McCauley. Ed was State 4-H Club Leader and Vo-Ag teacher for many years in Delaware, and is now with Southern States Cooperative. He stopped by to look in on the Farm Bureau Annual Meeting being held at Capitol Grange. He told us that he had just come back from a trip to Cuba and to Porto Rico where he was trying to help the farmers with feeding problems in broiler production. He heard of two former Delawareans while there, and had started out to visit them—Tom Frame and Carmen DeMarie. However, the jeep in which he was riding to see them broke an axle, and there was insufficient time left before he had to return to catch a plane.

Milk Prices Will Rise, But So Will Costs

U. of MD. Economists Say Maryland dairymen can expect higher milk prices during 1953, but increasing production costs will keep net income about the same as in 1952. This is the prediction of agricultural economists at the University of Maryland.

"The best chance for increasing profits from dairying in 1953 lies in production efficiency," the economists said in giving the 1953 dairy outlook. Cut costs by more efficient use of feed, labor and capital.

Milk prices for the first nine months of 1952 have been higher than for the same months in 1951. But, the economists pointed out, production costs have also been higher, and can be expected to remain high, and perhaps increase.

For instance, in six of the first nine months of this year, the milk-feed ratio has been lower than for the same period last year. This means 100 pounds of milk was able to pay for less dairy feed.

Robert L. Carey, Bridgeville, senior. The presentation took place last week at the University of Delaware.

A scholarship is awarded to a 4-H boy wishing to obtain a university education in agriculture each year. It is repeated each year at college as long as the boys maintain adequate scholastic grades.

Demand for milk is expected to be strong in 1953, the Department of Agricultural Economics and Marketing specialists maintained. These combined factors point toward a 1953 dairy profit situation similar to 1952, unless dairymen increase production efficiency even more, the economists said.

U. of MD. Economists Outline Egg, Broiler Outlook For Next Year

Egg prices during the first six months of 1953 will probably be higher than they were the first half of 1952. The reason given by agricultural economists at the University of Maryland, is a reduced number of laying hens.

Not all of the expected price increase will show up as profit, the economists pointed out in the poultry outlook statement. Production costs are likely to be higher too. But unless egg pro-

Broiler Outlook

Assuming a continued strong demand for broiler meat and continued high production costs, the economists point out two main influences on next year's broiler prices: (1) competition from other meats, and (2) level of broiler production.

An expected larger supply of beef may have adverse effect on broiler prices. If broiler production increases much above the 1952 level, the economists said that broiler growers can expect prices lower than in 1952.

Here's an example of how level of production can effect broiler prices:

During the first three months 1952, the number of chicks placed in 11 principal commercial broiler producing areas ranged from 17 to 29 per cent higher than during the same period in 1951. This rapid increase in production resulted in depressed prices most of April, May and June. When broiler placements from April through August were cut back by about the same percentage, broiler prices increased to more profitable levels.

Tricky Keys

A small plastic case for the ignition key of your car automatically snaps the key out of the switch and into your hand as soon as you turn the ignition off. It's designed to prevent auto theft and other problems caused by forgotten keys.

Smoking Point
Vegetable fats and oils are recommended for deep fat frying because their "smoking point" or temperature at which they will burn is high.

Lighter Cakes
Cakes turn out much lighter if the batter is mixed with a wooden spoon and the butter and sugar are creamed with a wooden potato masher.

Burma Races
The indigenous races of Burma are of Mongoloid stock, allied to the Chinese and others of eastern Asia.

Baltimore Firsts
Baltimore had the first organized Methodist church in the U.S., 1784, and the first Roman Catholic cathedral, 1806.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Going... Going... Almost Gone

Granny Robinson put on quite a show the other night at the annual White Elephant auction held at the Women's Club.

Towards the end of the evening, she had the ladies battling for anything she put up. "What am I bid for this woman's lovely black coat here—good as new? Who'll say ten dollars?" she asked.

Granny held the coat up, and commenced describing the coat's lining, sleeves, buttons—really "selling hard." Then, suddenly, she took a close look and blurted out "Land sakes, no more bidding please—this is my own coat!"

From where I sit, what almost happened to Granny was good for a laugh, but sometimes when people "get carried away" with their own talk it's not so funny. I prefer a glass of temperate beer while listening to my favorite radio program—you may like soda pop—or cider. I suggest we hold on to our personal opinions—and believe in them—but take a good close look at them before we try to "sell" them to our neighbor!

Wesley Trustees Elect Officers

The board of trustees of Wesley Junior College held its annual fall meeting recently at which time Wilmer Fell Davis, of Federalsburg, was re-elected president of the board, re-elected and serving with Mr. Davis on the board are John T. Holt of Salisbury, vice-president; Dr. William B. Simpson of Wyoming, secretary, and the Rev. Lawrence E. Windsor of Wilmington, treasurer. These officers, together with the Rev. David Baker, of Laurel, and Judge Elwood F. Melson, of Wilmington, are members of the executive committee.

The following members were elected to the board of trustees filling vacancies: Dr. George R. Miller, Jr., term expiring in 1953; Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, term expiring in 1954, and the Rev. Milton H. Keen, term expiring in 1955.

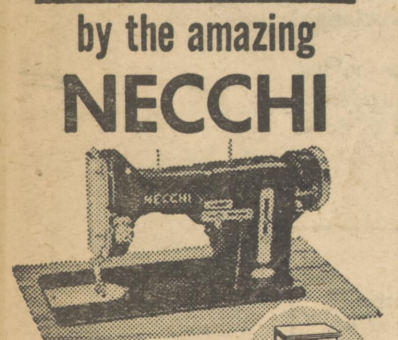

The president of the college, Dr. J. Paul Slaybaugh, made a detailed and encouraging report on the condition and progress of the institution. The report showed a substantial increase in enrollment and prospect of sufficient income from normal sources to meet all operating expenses during the current year.

Among certain actions taken by the trustees were two that concern the progress of the college. The finance committee was empowered to purchase the Hayes' property on Cecil Street, adjoining the campus; and a development committee, composed of John J. Williams, chairman, Dr. O. W. Daisey, The Rev. William F. Dunkle, D. D., George T. Harrison, Dr. O. D. Christensen, and Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam was appointed to make a survey of the college, restate its purposes and functions, determine needs in the light of these purposes and functions, and recommend a program to meet the needs.

Even better than the phone call was the reception given Mrs. De Witt at the group meeting at Oak Grove on the 7th. I'm sure that she had an invitation to join each of the clubs represented there. The next time I saw Mrs. De Witt she was sporting a Chestnut Grove Club coverage at Achievement Day.

As the result of that phone call, Mrs. DeWitt has met many new friends, the Chestnut Grove Club has another eager member and Home Demonstration Clubs have proved their friendliness. We hope that many more newcomers will arrive in Kent County soon — many women will have had experience in Home Demonstration Clubs before, and many will not. Here's hoping they will all receive a welcome and an invitation as warm as Mrs. DeWitt's.

Good Attendance Records

Another feather for the cap of our newest club — Chestnut Grove — is their 100 per cent attendance at Achievement Day. They tied with Farmington they each had 100 per cent attendance! Congratulations to them both!

Gift Suggestions

Let me again remind you that the gift kit is still in my office, and you may borrow it anytime during November. Those of you who have seen the kit know that one of the samples in it is a child's cobbler's apron. Mrs. Nowell Wharton, of the Oak Grove Club, suggested that it would be practical to make these cover-all aprons elastic. I think that sounds like a good idea — don't you?

Frank and The Bean Stalk

Frank Hobbs of Greensboro experimented by planting a lima bean beside the guy wire of an electric light pole adjacent to his garden last spring, says "Pet" Dairy Chats. He feels that his experiment was a success because this bean grew more than 30 feet high — which can be considered a record in these parts.

On Oct. 5, by standing on a stepladder, and covering only one-third of the height of the plant, he was able to harvest over one peck of beans from the vine.

Veterans Information

Q—I've been totally disabled for six months, and I applied to the VA for a waiver of my National Service Life Insurance premiums. Now that I've applied, may I stop paying my premiums? A—No. You should continue to pay your premiums regularly, as they become due, until you have received word from VA that you are entitled to waiver. In that way, you'll avoid the possibility of your insurance lapsing, in case your claim is not granted.

Q—Does the $310-a-month ceiling under the Korean GI Bill apply to all types of training? A—No. It applies only to veterans training on-the-job. It means that if a job trainee's monthly allowance plus his earnings as a trainee exceed $310 a month, VA will reduce the allowance accordingly.

Q—I was under age when I enlisted in the Army during World War II. I was in for six months before the Army found out and sent me home. Would that service entitle me to a GI loan? A—Yes. A veteran whose enlistment was cancelled because he was under age is entitled to eligibility credit for GI loans.

Q—Are there any types of courses not permitted under the Korean GI Bill education and training program? A—Yes. Courses in bartending, dancing and personality development are prohibited by law, and cannot be approved under any conditions.

Extension Dept. Entertains Editors

Delaware editors were entertained Saturday at Newark by the University of Delaware Extension Department.

The party was shown the new Agricultural Building and the university of farm. Frank Gallagher, director of public relations, then entertained the group at luncheon at the College Inn.

In the afternoon the editors witnessed a football game between the University of Delaware and Lafayette College. Delaware won, 13-12.

Carrington Burgess, editor of The Journal, and Mrs. Margaret atterfield, advertising, were in the editorial party. Francis McKee, of Harrington, was seen at the game and at the Goalpost party afterward at Newark Country Club.

Daniel Link: 30-Yr. Hauler

Daniel Link of Harrington, owner and operator of the 1000-Route, has celebrated 30 years of continuous hauling service with the Pet Milk Company.

Dan has the distinction of hauling milk longer than any hauler now at the Greensboro plant. He first hauled milk Sep. 1, 1922 in a Model-T truck.

Organized Dishwashing

Drainers and drainboards underneath help to keep the dishes organized after washing; it also cuts down on the water which must be wiped from them.

Save your hands by using a mop or a soft brush. This may not keep the hands completely out of the water, but it helps.

SCHOOL NEWS

On Wednesday, Nov. 5, the Harrington Hockey team played Dover, with Dover as visitors of Harrington. The score was 2-0 in favor of Harrington. The goals were made by Janet Smith.

On Wednesday, Nov. 12, the seniors received their name cards and graduation invitations from the manufacturers.

An assembly was given on Friday, Nov. 7, by Melvin L. Brobst, music instructor, and Mrs. Anne Heinbach, librarian. Mrs. Heinbach presented a play called A Case for Books. Her library club helped her to present this play.

Mr. Brobst had the band play a selection called TV Suite. The glee club also sang a song called You'll Never Walk Alone. This was the glee club's first appearance.

Mr. Donovan's fifth grade class has made an Indian village project resulting from a unit in Social Studies. Other projects are improvements, tools, weapons, berries, nuts, and hunters. Respective chairmen of the committees are: Ronald Wooters, Kitty Lou Smith, Jean Grant, and Frances Tharpe.

On Friday, Oct. 31, the second grade had a Halloween Party and invited their parents. The boys and girls were all dressed up as ghosts, dragons, space men, Mighty Mouse, dogs, toy soldiers, and ever so many things. Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. George Vapaa and Rev. Robert Van Cleef selected the six most interesting costumes and presented a prize to each. Refreshments of cookies, apples, candy and soft drinks were served. The party was planned and carried out by committees chosen from the class. The committees did their jobs very well.

Miss Long's Fifth grade had an assembly program Friday, Nov. 14, at 9 A. M. They presented a Thanksgiving program. The play had the following characters:

Mother — Buff Jory
 Tim — Ronnie Swain
 Janie — Bonnie Chew
 Pilgrim Girl — Sandra Kates
 Pilgrim boy — Jimmie McDonald
 The remainder of the class gave a radio program of songs and poems with Mr. Donovan as soloist.

Mrs. Quillen's Fourth Grade gave an assembly on Oct. 31. It was an original play about social studies: visits to South America. They had a most unusual stage setting. They made their own. They also had a boat coming up the center aisle. The children said Halloween poems.

They have a new boy, David Meyer, who lived in Brazil for a year and is the son of Fred Meyer, new instructor in agriculture.

THE YEARLING

By Marjorie Rawlings
 Reviewed by Ann Kotla'a

"The Yearling" is about a backward boy, Jody Baxter, who lived with his Ma and Pa in a cabin. In this part of the country it was swampy and low. Jody and his parents were bothered by a huge bear, Old Slewfoot.

Mrs. Baxter, Jody and their dogs, Rip and Julia, started out to hunt Old Slewfoot. They get cold and had to come home with two hurt dogs and no bear. Jody and his pa do not give up, however. In the meantime many young fawns are born in the marshes near Jody's home.

The day Jody finds a small fawn, which after much coaxing from his father, Jody kept to tame.

After this Jody and Flag, the fawn, were constant companions. Even when Jody and Pa went to get Old Slewfoot a second time and succeeded, Flag was there. Spring came and Pa Baxter got "laid up" with rheumatism; so Ma and Jody took over planting corn and the family garden.

Suddenly and strangely the corn was being eaten off. And by Flag! The news was broken to Pa by Jody. Pa sat up in bed and declared that Flag must be shot. Pa or Jody didn't have the heart to shoot Flag. But Ma did! She had always disliked Flag. Usually Ma couldn't shoot very straight but hit Flag in the throat. Jody hated his Mother and Father and attempted to run away, but later returning, sorrow overcome.

This is an excellent book for either boys or girls.

Kent County Student Council Meeting

On Wednesday, Nov. 6, the officers of the Harrington Student Council attended the first county meeting of the year.

The following were elected as officers for the coming year:
 Pres: Frank Shane, Smyrna
 Vice-pres: Rene Herbst, Dover
 Sec. & Treas: Leroy Everets,

Smyrna. Business discussed for the coming year was: continuing the practice of exchange assemblies and the annual Valentine's Dance.

The next meeting is at Smyrna because of the selection of Mrs. O'Neal, sponsor of the Smyrna student council, as sponsor for the county. The time for the next meeting is to be announced at a later date.

BOOK REVIEW

Book-He Heard America Sing
 Written By-Claire Lee Purdy
 By Geneva Brown

He Heard America Sing
 This book tells of the life of Stephen Foster. Foster was born in the year 1826, to a poor but affectionate family of seven children. He loved music and was always listening and playing music. Stephen had music in his blood and had great talent. He played the flute very well and also composed a few little songs.

Often when he was on his way to school he would stop at the dock and listen to the Negroes play and sing and often he would play his flute for them. He loved the foolish little songs and dances. But to Stephen none of these were foolish and later he composed some very lovely songs from these little verses from Negroes' songs. In his lifetime Stephen wrote some fine songs which are loved and sung by all. Some of them are:

1. "De Campton Races"
2. "Nelly Was A Lady"
3. "Sweetly She Sleeps"
4. "Old Dog Tray"
5. "Jeannie with the Light Brown Hair"
6. "Beautiful Dreamer"

Foster wrote many more pieces but died at the age of 38 on January 13, 1864.

The Cyrus McCormick FFA Chapter held its annual chapter contest on Farm Electrification, Farm Mechanics, Public Speaking, Soil and Water Conservation, Star Farmer, and Dairying. The following were the winners:
 Farm Electrification—Wayne Cooper
 Farm Mechanics — Billy Fry
 Public Speaking — Wayne Brown
 Soil and Water Conservation — Robert Larimore
 Star Farmer — Wm. Bowdle
 Mr. Frederic E. Myer, the new vocational agriculture teacher at Harrington arrived Monday. He has just returned from Brazil, where he spent about a year as a Vocational Training Specialist for the U. S. Department of Agriculture under the "Point Four" program. He taught at the National Training School for Rural Engineers. He taught the Brazilian instructors how to teach the material they were learning. The material they were learning were the four points below from which the program got its name. They are: 1. mechanization 2. soil conservation 3. irrigation and 4. drainage.

He has previously taught at Greenwood for 1½ years and in New York state for 8 years. He also managed a large farm in New Jersey for 2 years. He replaces Mr. George Vapaa who resigned to become associate County Agent for Kent County.

The Student Council, accompanied by Mr. George Vapaa, attended the county student council meeting at Dover on Wednesday, November 5th.

The senior art class is working on lounge chairs which are constructed of wire and paper mache. A few of the students are working on model cars of tomorrow for a contest they expect to enter. The art instructor, Hiram D. Williams, has nearly completed a text book on art, which he expects to have published in the near future. In art club, some of the students are weaving rugs while others are doing paintings.

In the absence of Editor Pauline Welch, who attended the student council meeting at Dover, Assistant Editor Harry Morgan officiated at the meeting. The reporters were given their assignments and then sent out to gather the information they needed to complete them.

The Glee Club appointed Harry Morgan as its secretary. He will succeed Donald Jester, who resigned because of taking part in the Senior Play which would interfere. The duties are to check the attendance and to pass out the music each time the clubs meet.

BETTY GREER

Articles for the New School
 The juniors taking art are making different things for the new school.

Rugs are being made for the teacher's and nurse's room by Mary Smith, Mary Fry and Betty Greer. The rugs are being woven on the weaving looms. The rugs are to be 9 feet by 12 feet. Jeanne Lander is making a noble from scraps of tin.

Chairs are being made of wood, chicken wire, and paper mache. The boys making the chairs are Johnny Langrell, Allen Hickman, Everett Warrington, Gary Homewood, Eugene Porter and Jimmie Simpson.

The juniors enjoy doing this work in art and hope it will be very much appreciated. They also hope the new school will be finished so that they can see their articles in the new school.

This is the first of a series of interviews with pupils enrolled in Harrington School for their first year.

Vera Kassatkin

Vera was born Aug. 23, 1937, in Connecticut. She moved to Harrington from Ohio in September of this year and entered Mr. McDonald's sophomore home room.

Vera takes a Scientific Course and enjoys art especially. When asked what she thought of Harrington School, she replied, "Wow."

Freshman Dance

The Freshman class had a harvest dance on Friday evening in the Harrington High School auditorium.

They sold soft drinks, homemade fudge, homemade cakes, and cookies.

The chaperones were Mrs. William West, Mrs. Lawson Harris, Mrs. Lillian Jarrell, Mrs. Grace Foward, Mrs. Mary Brown, Miss Florence Long, and Mrs. Raymond Dennis.

Mrs. Dennis took part in nearly all the dances including introducing the "hokey-pokey." This dance was danced three times because he students seemed to enjoy it.

They made approximately $60. after expenses were taken out.

Mrs. Dolby's Assembly
 The assembly of Mrs. Mary Dolby's homeroom was presented on Oct. 31, at which time the Calendar of Anniversaries for October was given.

The birthdays and anniversaries of such famous people as Jean Francois Millet, a French painter, Jenny Lind, Swedish singer, George Westinghouse, an engineer and inventor, James Whitcomb Riley, poet, Fire Prevention Day which is the anniversary of the discovery of America, Noah Webster, compiler of the Webster dictionary, Theodore Roosevelt, 26th President of the United States, Navy Day, and the Statue of Liberty, were honored.

The program closed with a Halloween play, Ghosts On Guard.

Christmas Program

Preparations are being made for the Christmas program, which will be held on the evening of Dec. 19 in the Harrington High School auditorium. The glee club is working on some of the songs which will be sung that evening while the Dramatic Club is preparing a play under the direction of Mrs. Kathleen Politt.

CHESS CLUB

The Chess and Checker Club, which is sponsored by Joseph N. Cotter, is quite interesting. The members have been playing regularly and have gotten to the point where they are going to hold a tournament. Any one in the school is qualified to enter it. The object is to see who is the best Chess player. The persons' names who win will be printed in the Chess Column of a Philadelphia newspaper.

Pen Pal Club

A committee selected from the club sent away for names of young people from other countries. Names of students wishing to correspond with them have been received from Canada, England, Ireland, and Australia. The group plans to carry a correspondence with these boys and girls.

International correspondence programs make possible person to person friendships for those who cannot travel abroad. The exchanges of information and experiences may help correct life inside and outside our own country. In addition, such correspondence can stimulate interest in school studies, particularly in languages and social studies.

Jokes

So Sorry, Teacher
 Little Judy was promoted to the second grade but wasn't a bit happy about it.
 "But, Judy," explained her first-grade teacher, "think how nice it will be in a higher grade."
 "But, Miss White," said Judy, "I just wish that you knew enough to teach me next year."

 Boy: Lefty.

Gym Class

"I don't get it," said the boy in gymnasium class. "When I stand on my head blood rushes to my head, but when I stand on my feet, the blood doesn't rush to my feet."

"That's easy," said the teacher, "your feet aren't empty."

The Harrington High hockey team is enjoying one of its best seasons in quite a while. The team captained by Jeanette Sapp has won 5, lost 1, and tied 1. They have lost only to Delmar and tied Felton. On Wednesday night of last week they played Dover at home and defeated them by a score of 2-0. On Friday night they played Milford at home, the final score being 1-0 in favor of Harrington. This was the first defeat the Milford team has suffered in three years.

Stable construction is being worked on now by a few art students. Stable construction is made from scraps of practically anything you can think of. Jeanne Lander is making a stable construction which can be viewed from all sides. It is composed of a wooden framework, cardboard, metal wire, yarn, and construction paper.

Felton School News

On Wednesday evening, Nov. 12, two members of the Felton Chapter of Future Farmers of America journeyed to Harrington with their Vo-Ag instructor and put on a poultry demonstration. The boys were: Linford Lockwood and Joe Hughes. The demonstration was put on for the benefit of the Harrington-Felton Local of the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association. Parts of the dialogue used were recorded for use on WDOV's farm program.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Logan celebrated their wedding anniversary November 15th.
 Mrs. Irva Butts has returned to her Marydel home and at present has as her companion, Mrs. Stafford of Denton.
 Michael Chesaschak, of near Marydel, was the victim of a serious accident which occurred at the Wilson Cabinet while at work there. He is at present a patient at the Kent General Hospital where they are endeavoring to save the loss of four fingers.
 Sgt. and Mrs. Frederick L. White and children, William and Frederick, of Mansfield, Mass., have moved into the Harman apartment. Sgt. is stationed at the Dover Air Base.
 Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Butler on Sunday entertained at their home his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wyant, Michael and Sandra, of Kansas, Ohio, her niece and family, Sgt. and Mrs. Ray Smith of Cherry Point, N. C., and their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ferrie Wright and Dianne, of Little Creek.
 Mrs. Mildren Maynard, of New Bedford, Mass., was a visitor in the Wilkie home enroute to Florida where she will spend the winter.
 Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Cameron and Susan have moved into the house recently vacated by the Seward Daileys who moved next door into the Steele home which they purchased.
 Mrs. Nellie Failing is visiting with her daughter and husband, Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Lovin of Kannapolis, N. C.
 Mr. and Mrs. David Wilkie have as their visitor this week their little granddaughter, Miss Linda Wilkie of Collins Park, Wilmington.
 The Marydel Methodist Church Youth Choir meets regularly every Tuesday afternoon immediately after school for practice. Right now all members are urged to attend to practice for the Christmas program.

Enough Water
 Starchy foods such as cereals should always be cooked with enough water, and for a long enough time to allow the starch to expand properly. Cooking also softens the starch and makes them more palatable.

The Excuse
 In Syracuse, N.Y., after Deputy Sheriff Arthur Willis stopped a car for speeding and found its four women passengers naked from the waist up, the driver explained: "Well, men drive bare-chested, don't they?"

Braising Fork
 When you're braising pork steaks add some allspice to the liquid for braising along with lemon and orange juice. Sliced oranges and raisins may also be added to the meat while cooking.

Acoustical Surfaces
 Water-mix paints are frequently used on acoustical surfaces where it is important to avoid "bridging over" the sound-absorbing pores.

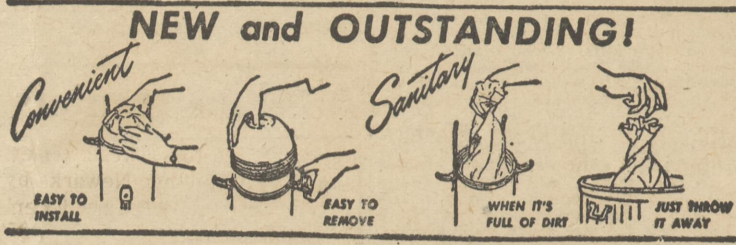

Shower or Shine
 Shower or shine coats give you the perfect casual fashion that looks smart in any weather. You might choose a small checked fashion or a fitted and belted corduroy.

Blossoms Drop Off
 Excessive heat this summer has caused many tomato and snap bean blossoms to drop off instead of setting fruit and sweet corn ears to fill poorly.

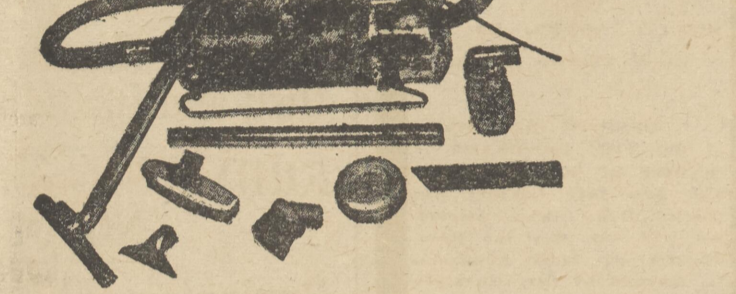

Lighter Cakes
 Cakes turn out much lighter if the batter is mixed with a wooden spoon and the butter and sugar are creamed with a wooden potato masher.

Bright New Colors
 Draperies, curtains or slip covers can be dyed bright new colors unless they have been weakened by atmospheric fumes or exposure to the sun.

WHEELER RADIO STORE NEWS

Last Saturday I had a lady who bought enough wall paper for her whole house and it only came to well less than thirty dollars. Without asking, she told me that she felt she saved $25.00 on the lot. She was in Dover in a large department store and we had more paper to select from than they had there. Well, I was glad to hear that and I have told you time and time again when you want your walls papered to drop in and see the patterns we have, both in quality and price.

I know you like to have your home looking clean and neat, but, folks, you cannot hide the cobwebs and soil by burning candles or lowering your shades. My advice is paper and your wall will smile at you for doing it. Wheeler's, Harrington, Phone 541, is the place to go.

I know several of you are wondering why I didn't start this little spiel of mine off with television talk. Well, I can truthfully say I am unable to get near the amount of televisions I could sell, but I do have about 20 or 25 on hand. If you are to get one of these, I would advise acting quickly as I cannot guarantee any certain models from now to Christmas. As luck would have it, I was fortunate enough to see this shortage coming and stocked up quite a few which now, if I wanted to get it, would be "sorry, we are out."

Of course, you don't want to disappoint your family for Christmas, so take my advice and come in, select the one you want. Pay a small amount to hold it and assure yourself and family of having it for Christmas.

You have heard over the radio several times that there will always be radios. Folks, that is true, and today there is quite a demand for small radios to use in your kitchen, bedroom, or even in your powder room, when your television is not in use. Don't forget that alarm clocks have killed people from that sudden getting up, but now you can get a clock radio with that sweet mellow music that awakens you at a set time. Then you are always glad when you hear it.

I know it will soon be time to think about that boy and girl or both who are away at college. Well, to help them enjoy their stay away from home, present them with a portable and each time they turn it on their thoughts will be of how thoughtful you were as it was just what they wanted. Folks, they are nice and come in the most beautiful colors that no wonder the young people want one. We have, at this time, a very good supply but only a very few more will be available for Christmas so get yours now. If you want to make that wife of yours happy this Christmas, and I am sure you do, get her a Westinghouse clothes dryer and believe me you no matter what the weather is on the outside, it is just like a grand and glorious day inside when it comes to drying clothes. During the balance of November we will hook up this dryer free of charge. There are many, many ways these dryers can save your wife many steps, much worry, and a saving to you, as your clothes are not beat about with the wind in all kinds of weather. Of course, if you do have an automatic washer, that, too, is a wonderful thing to own. It is as much pleasure to use one as it is for a man to use a gun. Ladies, if you don't have one, better get that gun, cock it, and tell that husband it is either a washer or else. You can have either Westinghouse or Maytag. We have them both.
