Dark Linens

You'll be seeing dark linens for those smart, good looking dresses which have an expensive simplicity of detail. A good example of this is a black linen sun dress with a bolero, both with organdie insets.

Rubber Storage Hint

Don't fold rubber things such as baby sheets and bathing caps when you store them. They'll last much longer if you sprinkle them with talcum powder, roll them and put them away in a box.

Highest Belt

The world's highest-lift conveyor belt covers two-thirds of a mile and can carry 12 hundred tons of material an hour up a 3,200 foot slope.

Gulf Stream Wanders

New evidence has been found that the Gulf Stream, warm indigo-blue river in the sea, does not hold to a single course.

BY YOUR DEEDS....

He passed away probably ten years ago, and yet we've had occasion to remember him and speak of him many times since, as we've heard others speak of him. Many of our readers remember him as one of ablest farmers and business men in Kent County—and his success was due to three things—intelligence, integrity—and industry.

He came here from Pennsylvania—we believe from West Chester—and made a down payment on a piece of sandy land northeast of Harrington. Other people, from time to time, had made down payments on that piece of land, but they couldn't make it produce, and the land reverted to its original owner.

Truckers from Harrington said that brokers in Jersey City, Newark, and other cities in the New York area, asked "Have you anything with Mr. ...'s label on it?" Clayton (Clutch) Killen said: "Once or twice a year he would come down and have his car greased, and I knew he was going to make a trip to Boston, where the commission houses would pay a premium price for anything he had to sell."

Yes, we've known farmers to have the big red apples or the sturdy, smooth, solid spuds on the top layer in the baskets, with the gnarled, knotty, warty, wormy kindred nesting beneath; we've known merchants who would sell you ornately patterned spider webbs, with morning's dew impearled, as the latest creation from Paris; we've known (and we do not like to say this) even a few chiseling newspaper men; we've known (and this seems preposterous) one or two politicians of questionable character. All of these thought they were as cute as Cupid; that in wisdom they had outsocked Socrates—that by misrepresentation they had "put something over on somebody."

THE MOST EXCLUSIVE CLUB IN KENT COUNTY'S HISTORY

Back some twenty-five or thirty years ago, Kent County had the most exclusive club in the world—if we except Oliver Herford's Farragut Club. Whereas, Herford's club had its office on a bench by Admiral Farragut's statue, and little Oliver held every office in the organization, inasmuch as he was its only member, this Kent County club had three members at first, and a few years later added a fourth member. It had no office, no officers—and no meeting was ever held. That gives you an idea of how exclusive it was.

When we came here from Missouri in 1917, Reese B. Harrington, then a kid in short pants, was managing the old Reese Op'ry House. His film comedians were Fatty Arbuckle and the team of Albert Cook and Kit Guard, but the magnet that drew most of his customers was the pictures depicting Indians on the war path. Harrington, even then, was crazy over hosses, and how those Indians could ride hosses—and all for a nickle a night!

Is it any wonder, then, that some of the youngsters came to us and asked about the Indians out in Missouri. We told them, and described some of the imaginary raids we had witnessed and chilled them with an impersonation of the blood-curdling Indian war whoop.

Then Frank Steinmetz came in from the wilds of Wisconsin. It's pretty certain that no one from the Harrington sector had been in Wisconsin—but it was out west and surely there must be fierce Indians there. Frank went all out in telling of the skulking redskins slinking through the underbrush and wiping out the southern Wisconsin town of Kenosha. He had a scar on his arm, a relic of an imbedded fish hook in boyhood days, and he told the youngster it was an old tomahawk wound.

When we would meet Russell or Frank, our mutual greeting was always the same, "Wahoo!" That was the extent of our club activities. Some years later Lester Oelschlagel came from East Palestine, Ohio, to become assistant supervisor of the Pennsylvania Railroad in the Harrington area.

Mrs. Edith Derrickson operated a restaurant in a building on the present postoffice plot of ground. Harrington was a railroad center at the time, and Mrs. Der-rickson a wonderful cook—as a result the restaurant was crowded most of the time. On one such occasion, we were sitting at a table with Oelschlagel and we began to discuss the Indians in Missouri and Ohio. Our voices were not loud, but deliberately loud enough for the other diners to hear. "They're getting the Indians under pretty fair control out in Missouri," we told him. "They have killed only twenty or thirty people in our home county in the entire year, and we can remember when they used to kill almost a hundred."

Frank Steinmetz left Harrington several years ago to act as missionary among the Indians in New Jersey. We do not know what became of Les Oelschlagel, whether he ventured back into Ohio, or went elsewhere—but to Russell E. Wilson, still up in Dover: "Wahoo!"

DELAWARE CANDIDATE ELECTED ON REFORM TICKET—IN 1846

William Tharp, a relative of the late Prof. William B. Tharp of Farmington, was the Democratic candidate for governor in 1846, according to an old ballot found by Dewitt Tatman recently. Furthermore, subsequent information tells us, Mr. Tharp, running on the Democratic Reform ticket, made the grade.

The ballot was found by Mr. Tatman in an old family Bible that had formerly belonged to the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Lingo, his wife's grandparents.

Others on the ballot, printed for Sussex County, were as follows: for representative in Congress, John D. Dilworth, of New Castle County; for state senators, Thomas Jacobs and Samuel R. Paynter; for state representatives, Peter Marsh, John W. Scribner, James F. Burton, John M. Phillips, William Cannon, Purnell Tatman, Jacob Bounds; for sheriff, John West; for coroner, William Walton; for Levy Court commissioners, William V. Coulter, Cedar Creek Hundred; John Kinder, Northwest Fork Hundred; Isaac Willen, Nanticoke Hundred; Henry Lingo, Indian River Hundred, and Aaron B. Marvel, Dagsborough Hundred.

The finding of the ballot by Mr. Tatman recalled to Park Brown a clipping he had taken from an old Baltimore newspaper which had the following information: William Tharp was governor of Delaware in 1848 and James K. Polk was president of the United States. President Polk had visited Delaware in June of the same year. In the same month Lewis Cass, of Michigan, the Democratic candidate for president, visited Delaware in his campaign against Zachary Taylor, who was elected later in the year. (Cass was later Secretary of State in President Buchanan's cabinet.) Abraham Lincoln also visited Delaware in June, 1848, stumping for Taylor.

The clipping added that Sandtown, then called Lewistown, shipped out more than $3,000,000 worth of Maryland rye that year.

DAIRY CLASSES OFFERED AT FARM SHORT COURSE

Five classes designed especially for people interested in dairy farming are being offered in the University of Delaware's Farm Short Course, January 26 to February 26, according to Saw Gwinn, Assistant Short Course Director.

In addition, there will be eleven other classes in different phases of agriculture during the five weeks session, from which students may choose.

The dairy classes include Raising Dairy Cattle Replacements, Pastures, Dairy Cattle Diseases, Grain Crops, and Control of Livestock and Poultry Pests. Supplementary to this list are such classes as Farming Today, Marketing Farm Products, Rural Community Leadership, and others.

"The class on replacements will deal with care of the newborn calf," says Gwinn, "as well as feeding and management of dairy calves, housing, growth and development, identification, and registration. Feeding, care, and breeding will be discussed."

Among the other classes being offered this year are Soil Management, Care and Management of the Laying Flock, Common Diseases and Insects in Home Gardens and Their Control, Control of Household Pests, Fruit and Vegetable Growing in the Home Garden, Keeping Poultry Healthy, Landscape Gardening, and Production and Management of Beef Cattle. Each student will choose five or six classes.

Complete information on the farm short course is available at county agricultural agents' offices, and at short course office, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, Delaware.

MORE FARMERS USING MORE SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICES

More farmers, more land, and more conservation practices used is the score of the United States Soil Conservation in 1952. And the state of Delaware had more of everything, too. Richard S. Snyder, state conservationist, reports that more land was surveyed in Delaware, more farmers became soil conservation district cooperators, and more conservation practices were put into use in 1952 than ever before.

New farmers cooperating with Delaware's three Soil Conservation Districts totaled 331, and they manage 57,000 acres. This is an increase of 103 per cent over 1951 cooperators.

Full basic conservation plans were developed by 95 farmers, working with 13,000 acres. In addition, 286 farmers started conservation work on 45,000 acres. At the end of June there were about 1364 cooperators. Soil surveys were made on 44,695 acres.

Because Delaware is mostly level, drainage makes up a large part of SCS activities. Seventy-five miles of drainage ditches were built in 1952. And maintenance of 22 tax ditches (main drainage outlets) was done by the SCS technical staff.

Other conservation practices established were crop residue management, farm ponds, tree planting wildlife borders, pasture improvement and management, hedges, cover crops, clearing and obstruction removal, and crop rotations.

The SCS engineers and farm planning advisors cooperate with the two other USDA agencies, the Production and Marketing Administration and the University of Delaware's Agricultural Extension Service. They work through farmer-controlled soil conservation districts.

MILK, FEED AVERAGES GIVEN FOR TEST COWS

The average dairy cow on test in Delaware produced 3.1 pounds of milk for every pound of grain she was given last year. Although that was the Dairy Herd Improvement Association average, some of the best herds in the state were feeding one pound of grain for as much as four and a half pounds of milk.

"These herds with the widest milk to grain ratio reflect the influence of improved pasture and forage programs," according to Delmar J. Young, Extension Dairyman at the University of Delaware, where the records were supervised.

Young also disclosed other state averages for cows in the D. E. II A. testing program. The average cow on DHIA consumes 4110 pounds of silage, 3037 of hay, 2850 pounds of grain, and spends 213 days on pasture, he says. She produces 8995 pounds of milk in a year, and 367 pounds of fat.

"The average age of cows on DHIA tests is 5.2 years, with some herds going as high as 7 years," Young points out. "There are 96 herds in the Delaware testing program, including 2324 cows."

BEGINS TESTING PROGRAM FOR EGG WASHING COMPOUNDS

The Northeastern Poultry Producers Council has started a testing program to determine acceptable detergent-sanitizers for washing soiled eggs. Although NEPPCO will not make a warranty or guaranty as to the quality of ultimate results to be gained from the brands listed, their findings will be published for the use of NEPPCO members and will represent an objective examination of the acceptability of the sanitizers.

Wade Rice, extension poultryman from the University of Maryland, reports that Maryland poultrymen use a variety of commercial detergent solutions for both machine and hand washing of soiled market eggs. Yet, there are frequent complaints of black rot and other causes of deterioration of eggs washed with these sanitizers.

"This indicates that some of the solutions in common use are not effective in killing bacteria responsible for many of the egg losses," Rice said. "Information on this phase of washing is needed."

"The program for check testing of the sanitizing properties of detergents now in common use should be of special interest to all poultrymen producing market and hatching eggs," Rice pointed out.

KENT HOME DOINGS CHARLOTTE SWANSON

The 1953 officers of Home Demonstration Clubs, 4-H Clubs, and other Extension organization organizations will be installed at the clubs' January meetings. To get them off on the right foot, the Kent County Extension Office is holding an Officers Training School for all of them and for some of the Home Demonstration Club chairmen as well. I hope the officers from each club will be there. We will have a short combined meeting for all of those attending. Then there will be separate meetings for the presidents and vice-presidents, the secretaries, the treasurers, the 4-H Club local leaders, the publicity chairman and reporters, the health chairman, and the citizenship chairman.

The training school will be held at Caesar Rodney High School, on Monday, January 12. Something New

Several months ago Mrs. William Sterling asked me for information about tile for bathroom floors and walls. The Sterlings were doing some remodeling to give them a new bathroom and powder room. They are almost finished now, and I think you will like some of their ideas.

Their bathroom is gray, wine, and light blue—a very nice color combination. The powder room is shades of buff and brown with a brown-and-buff print wallpaper. Mrs. Sterling is planning to make curtains from yellow cotton, blockprinted in a brown design similar to that of the wall paper, only on a larger scale. The finished product should be very attractive, and different.

Safety, Too! When I look at the new bathroom in the Sterling home, I see a new safety note that is worth passing on. In the process of remodeling, a low step was made between the hall and the bedroom. So that people would not slip the step and not trip on it, the edge of the step was painted white to contrast to the dark floor.

Do you have a step that's hard to see? A little white paint along the edge won't hurt the appearance, and it will make it safer.

A worthy Project

Christmas has passed, but the spirit which one of the Kent County clubs showed should last throughout the year. The Oak Grove Club held a special meeting on December 16 to collect clothes and gifts for the children in one cottage of the Governor Bacon Health Center. There were enough things contributed to make all eight of the children happy.

Mrs. William Warren, Mrs. Newell Boggs, and Mrs. May Schrem delivered the things to the Center. They say it was wonderful to see the children with the new things, and they hope that the club will keep on with the project.

BREED CATTLE NOW FOR FALL FRESHENING

During the heavy fall breeding season last year, the Maryland Artificial Breeding Cooperative rendered 5 percent more services than the year before.

The reason for the increase, according to John Deitrich, extension dairyman, is that more Maryland dairymen are realizing that fall freshening increases their profit.

Deitrich says there are two ways that profits are increased: 1) milk brings a better price in the fall; 2) Maryland DHIA records show that fall fresh cows produce from 700 to 900 pounds more milk than spring freshening cows.

Two other advantages pointed out by the Extension dairyman are: 1) calves born in the fall and early winter get a better start because they get more attention than spring calves born when field work is pressing; 2) cows are dry during late summer when harvest work is heavy. "These things all add up to more money in the dairyman's pocket," Deitrich says.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT To Farmers And Livestock Dealers

All calves consigned to our Sale will be weighed as they are unloaded, instead of at the time of auction as has been our practice in the past. This will give the consigner the advantage of extra poundage on each calf. It has been proven in the past that calves bring from $2.00 to $3.00 per hundred more at our auction than at other markets.

FEEDER CATTLE

We have a large number of feeder heifers and steers at our barn at all times. The market is considerably lower than a few months ago, so if you have excess feed it would be profitable to keep a few through the winter months.

SPECIAL OFFER

4000 gallons high-grade outside paint, in five gallon cans. This comes in light gray and powder blue. These colors may be seen on our sale barns. SPECIAL PRICE $1.50 Gal.

HERE you see pictured the Golden Anniversary ROADMASTER—engineered, styled, powered and bodied to be fully worthy of its paragon role in this fiftieth year of Buick building.

A quick listing of simple facts will reveal just cause for celebration.

- ★ It has the world's newest V8 engine. Vertical valves; 12-volt electrical system; 180 pounds lighter; entire engine is so compact, a new, more maneuverable chassis has been built around it.
- ★ It has 188 Fireball horsepower. A new Buick record; engine horsepower per pound increased 40%.
- ★ It has a compression ratio of 8.5 to 1. Highest compression on the American scene today; bettered fuel economy.
- ★ It has a dynamic-flow muffler. For the first time in automotive history, a muffler with zero power loss.
- ★ It has a new Twin-Turbine Dynaflo Drive. Now adds far swifter, quieter, more efficient getaway to infinite smoothness at all speed ranges.
- ★ It has new braking power. Most powerful braking action of any Buick in fifty years; plus the new ease of Power Brakes, optional at extra cost.
- ★ It has a still finer ride. The softest, steadiest, most buoyantly level ride that Buick's advanced engineering has yet produced.

It has, also, wondrous handling ease, with Power Steering as standard equipment. It has superb comfort. It has sumptuous fabrics and tailoring. And its acoustics are so thoroughly mastered that it may well be one of the world's most quiet cars.

But no listing of facts can do true justice to this phenomenal automobile, or to its brilliant brothers, the 1953 SUPERS and SPECIALS.

And no words can really tell you the beauty you see, the comfort you feel, the excitement you experience—when you look at and drive any one of these big, beautiful, bounteous Buicks for 1953.

Will you come in and see for yourself that these are, in simple truth, Buick's greatest cars in five brilliant decades?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Rotarians Hear Rev. Wootten

"Many people," said the parson of the Bridgeville Methodist Church, "spell my name with one 'o' and one 't'—while it should be spelled with two of each of these letters."

Considering the instructive and interesting talk he gave, let no stigma of scarcity attach to us, and therefore we shall give him a plentitude of two orphans of the alphabet and proclaim that Parson Jake Wootten chased sunshine and shadow in the backyard of the Wonder Bar Tuesday evening, which ain't as ornery as it sounds—Jaake was merely delivering an address to the Harrington Rotary Club in its customary lair.

"Like most of you," said Jake, "I make New Year's resolutions, and like most of you, I live up to those resolutions—for a while—but my only consolation is that I live up to my resolutions a little longer every year, so it may be I'll get somewhere—if I live long enough."

"One resolution of mine has brought good results. I resolved a long time ago to quit getting mad. It's natural, I suppose, for us to become irked occasionally, to gripe and groan—but when you get mad, you weaken and lower yourself. Nobody ever gained anything by getting mad."

"When people tell me we have hypocrites in the church, I tell them I know we have. Then I tell them the story of the American plane carrying $3,000,000 worth of chemicals during World War II. They were over the desert at an altitude of approximately 15,000 feet, when they heard a rat gnawing near the compartment where the chemicals were stored. If the rat should gnaw its way into those chemicals, all would be lost. 'What shall we do?' cried one despairing man. 'Shot for the sun,' replied Capt. Frank Page. 'Don your oxygen masks and go up to 20,000, 25,000, even 30,000 feet—rats can't live in heaven.' It is a scientific fact that rats cannot exist at extreme altitudes, and as the plane soared higher and higher, the gnawing sounds became weaker and weaker—and finally ceased. The plane landed safely and they found the rat—dead!

"We want members of the church to live like Christians, on such a high plane that the rats, otherwise the hypocrites, cannot exist within its confines."

Airman Higgins Graduates From Army School

Airman 2nd Class Stanley Higgins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund R. Higgins, Greenwood, recently graduated from the army engineers school at Murnau, Germany.

Higgins completed a course in operation, care and maintenance of the standard diesel engine used by the U. S. Corps of Engineers and is now qualified as a diesel mechanic.

Students at the school, which is located in the Bavarian Alps not far from Munich, receive training in all phases of army engineering.

His wife, Eleanor, also lives at Greenwood.

Judge Suspends Fine For Marrying Man

PORTLAND, Me.—Robert B. Boyle believes that Judge Edmund P. Mahoney is the most understanding jurist in the world. Either that or he is a family man himself and knows the expense of being married.

Boyle was hauled into court for a traffic violation. During a discussion with Judge Mahoney, Boyle said that he was going to be married in five days.

When Mahoney decided Boyle's case he imposed a fine of $3 for the violation and then suspended the fine with the remark: "You will probably need all your spare money."

Kentucky Colonels Are Few in Kentucky

FRANKFORT, Ky.—There's a real manhunt on in Kentucky, a search for a real Kentucky colonel.

Traditionally, the real colonel from Kentucky is identified by "a brace of duelling pistols, a quart of bourbon whisky, and an overwhelming desire to hunt, fight, place a bet or make love to some woman." He wears a frock coat, a pair of baggy trousers, a string tie and a goatee.

There are some 6,000 Kentucky colonels today, but none have appeared so far who fulfill all these qualifications.

The state division of publicity wants to adopt an official drawing of the old-style gentleman for illustrating tourist maps, brochures, booklets and posters. It wants to be sure the figure is typical. Artists have been asked to contribute sketches, thus the big manhunt by artists for the true Kentucky colonel to use as a model.

Washing Woodwork
Most woodwork can be washed with a detergent or soap and water. To make the woodwork shiny, add two tablespoons of furniture polish to a quart of rinse water; then wipe the surface dry with a soft cloth.

Fork Hooks
Cover pork hooks with hot water and cook slowly until tender, about two hours. Add vegetables, such as carrots, onions, and potatoes, near the end of the cooking time, or serve hooks with hot sauerkraut.

Soft Answer
A soft answer will prevent a lot of hard feeling.

Uncle Sam Recruits Men Already in Army

CAMP STRONG, Japan—Somehow or other Sergeant Gene Evans, 45th division, stationed here, received through the mail a recruiting folder from Uncle Sam.

The folder advised him that he would win a medal if he could sign up a few men for a state militia unit in Tulsa, Okla.

Sergeant Evans wrote back that he had signed up his whole company, most of which were Tulsa men.

Sergeant Evans also advised the government that he and the new militia unit were awaiting transfer orders to Tulsa.

Henpecked Husbands Get Legal Setback

LONDON—The House of Lords recently gave henpecked husbands a setback when it ruled that constant nagging does not constitute cruelty and thus is not sufficient grounds for divorce.

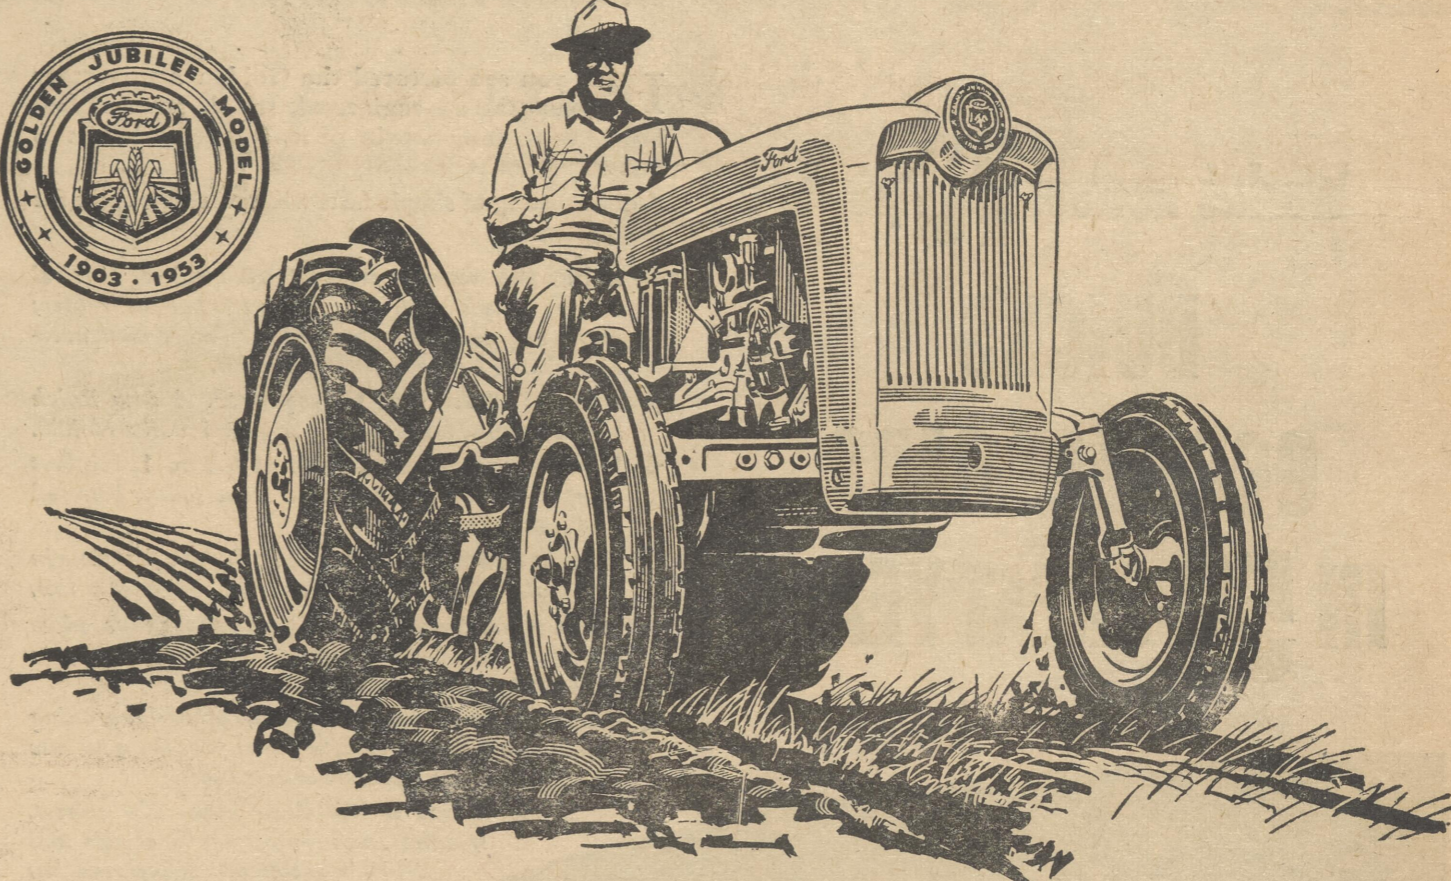

In the case at issue, the London News Chronicle reports, the wife had repeatedly accused the husband of adultery until he sued her for divorce on grounds of cruelty.

The House of Lords, Britain's highest court of appeal, made the decision by a majority in dismissing a decision of the Court of Appeals.

Church Cost
The amount of money required to run the average church for a year in this country is $9,181.
