Highway Dept. Lists Projects For Biennium

That part of the highway construction program for the next biennium, which has been approved by the State Highway Department, is based primarily on projects needed to support the existing highway system with some of the projects providing for completion of improvements already started or underway.

Officials of the Department pointed out that there still remains a large amount of work to be done to modernize existing highways and protect them against the ever-increasing traffic on the State Highway System.

For that reason the program for the next two years does not contain any projects that might be termed new highways through entirely new location but instead all of the approved projects are designed for improvement of some existing arteries of traffic.

The program contains 32 projects having a total mileage of 61,585 miles and for which the total estimated cost of construction has been placed at $15,662,000, of which slightly more than $4,000,000 is expected to be available in federal aid funds.

The projects include the construction of seven dual or divided highways, including two projects that would make an existing highway a dual or divided highway.

Laurel Defeats Legionnaires

Harrington's bid to clinch the Eastern Shore League basketball pennant was thwarted here Monday night as Laurel's wide-awake Owls upset the leaders, 88-84. It was only the fourth loss in 21 games for Harrington, which needs two wins in its last three games to wrap up the flag.

Laurel, already assured a play-off berth along with runnerup Chincoteague and Dover, scored heavily in the opening and closing periods to notch the upset triumph. The shooting of Tom Whaley and Dick Evans enabled Laurel to stave off Harrington's rally through the middle periods. Whaley finished high for the game with 34 points, while Evans contributed 20. Cal Prentice and Bob Snowden led Harrington with 23 and 21 respectively.

Dover-Canterbury Dual Highway May Be Opened to Traffic Ahead Of Schedule, Says Highway Dept.

Partroopers of Company A, 505 Infantry Regiment, 82nd Airborne Division defend their position during Exercise Snowstorm, the Army's cold weather training maneuvers now underway at Camp Drum, N. Y. They are left to right: Pvt. Leonard Bacon, a rifleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt Bacon, of Route 2, Taliha, Okla., Cpl. Leveron Joiner, a mortar gunner whose wife Doris, lives at Bonnie Doone, Fayetteville, N. C., and Pvt. Cornelius Hurd, a rifleman, whose wife, Margaret, lives at Farmington, and father, Arthur Hurd, at Viola.

Within the next few months travel conditions from Harrington to the north will be greatly improved through the completion of the dual highway from Canterbury to Camden along U. S. Route 13.

According to R. A. Haber, chief engineer of the State Highway Department, the completion date for this project has been fixed for June 1 of this year, but it is possible that the new roadway may be available to the traveling public before that date.

George & Lynch, contractors who are constructing the 5.85 miles of dual highway, for which their price was $1,192,904, have completed placing most of the new roadway which has two lanes for traffic, each 24 feet wide and of cement concrete construction, but there still remains some work to be completed on a culvert at the Camden Campmeeting Woods and some work on the shoulders and drainage.

This new highway, which starts at the end of the present dual highway that by-passes Dover and continues to Canterbury, provides an almost direct line for traffic between the two points.

The new highway by-passes Camden at the eastern edge of that town and also eliminates the intersection at Woodside, although there is a connection between the new highway and Woodside since it crosses the existing highway leading from Woodside to Rising Sun.

Also eliminated are the several curves that exist along the present route between Camden and Canterbury, such as the one at Derby's Mill Pond and the one south of Woodside.

At the junction of the new highway and the present highway at Canterbury, provision has been made for connecting the new dual with a new lane to be built later from Canterbury south which will extend to the dual highway.

While the new highway provides two lanes of highway for the easier flow of traffic in either direction, it also removes some existing traffic hazards which in recent years have been the scene of numerous accidents.

From Mr. Haber it was learned that the construction program for the next two years, as approved by the State Highway Department, contains the construction of additional lane along U. S. Route 13 from Canterbury to a point about one mile south of Greenwood where the existing dual highway that by-passes Bridgeville begins.

When this 17.1 miles of new highway are completed, U. S. Route 13 will be a dual or divided highway through the entire length of the State since at the present time here is a dual highway in operation between the point south of Greenwood and a point just north of Seaford and construction work is now in progress for building a dual highway from that point to the Maryland line.

The routes from Camden to Canterbury and from Seaford to the Maryland line is being constructed through new locations while the route from Canterbury, through Felton and Harrington, to a point just south of Greenwood, will follow the existing highway.

Traffic from Harrington during the coming summer, going or coming from the north, will be able to start using the dual highway at Canterbury, instead of north of Dover as was the case a few years ago, and will have more than ten miles of dual or divided highway to travel over than they did a few years ago.

Railroad News

Increased possibility of losing the two night trains and the Elsha Lee steamer should not cause too much local concern as neither of these trains were sufficiently patronized to warrant making the local stop.

The contract for the steamer expires next month and certainly cannot be renewed as the operation and rental of the boat exceeds by many thousands the revenue received.

One item that does affect local operation is the falling off of feed shipments to the chicken houses on the D M & V, brought about primarily by recent establishment of feed mills near Laurel and Delmar.

There is always a bright side however to every dark one and we can see these apparent reverses more than offset by the following authentic reports: Delaware Power & Light Company starting construction of a large power plant near Millsboro to be completed in 1954; the installation of a large oil refinery near Milford; the guarantee of approximately 6000 cars annually to and from the new Dover air base; these, together with reports we continue to receive from shippers concerning diplomacy shown them by our crews serving them are real encouraging to the ultimate status of the division.

One of these came to us unsolicited last week from one of our customers who is a heavy shipper of excelsior and pulpwood. It seems that some of his truckers failed to stack the wood down properly near the side track and it rolled down fouling up the track to the extent the cars could not be moved in or out of his plant. He says the manner in which one of our trainmen approached him about it was a credit to our railroad and he has taken steps to try and prevent further failure. He also informed us that the young trainman and the engineer got busy and removed the obstruction themselves in order to serve him.

Further investigation on our part developed the unsung heroes of this little episode to be trainman Byron Burgess and engineer Walt Lekites.

POTATO VARIETY TEST RESULTS ANNOUNCED

Results of potato variety field tests at the University of Maryland Vegetable Research Farm, near Salisbury, were announced this week. The 1952 experiments tested the adaptability and disease resistance of more than a dozen potato varieties and seedlings.

Weather conditions for the early plots were unfavorable for best tuber growth, according to the research workers, James G. Kantzes and Dr. Carroll E. Cox. There was little incidence of disease which needed to reduce the advantages of the disease resistant varieties. All potatoes were regularly sprayed for insect control, but no disease control spraying was done, in order to test the disease resistance of the varieties under study.

In the early plots the varieties Pontchartraine, Kennebec and Katahdin produced yields of No. 1's that were significantly better than that of Irish Cobler.

In the late plots, early blight caused severe defoliation. Seedling B355-44 and Sabago variety were not severely injured by early blight, but only B355-44 and Kennebec produced yields of No. 1's which were significantly better than Irish Cobler. Kennebec, Canso and Keswick had a low incidence of scab infection, but Keswick had the highest incidence of Rhizoctonia infection.

Dairy Management School To Be Held Here Feb. 25

Bang's disease (brucellosis), also known as contagious abortion, costs Delaware dairymen around $250,000 annually. This cost includes calf losses, low production, breeding problems, sterility cattle losses, continued reactors, and losses in cattle sales. It is introduced into healthy herds by the addition of affected cows or by dogs, buzzards, persons and trucks carrying the infected material from one farm to another.

How can a farmer learn about Bang's Disease and its control? By coming to the Dairy Management School program to be held at Harrington Wed., Feb. 25, from 9:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. This will be held at the vo-ag building at Harrington High School.

In Delaware a brucellosis control program has been outlined whereby dairymen working with their state veterinarian of the Board of Agriculture may set up a program on each farm for an economical clean up of this disease.

Many other subjects will be discussed at the school, such as reducing feed costs, trench silos and why cows will not breed. There will also be a hay quality judging contest based on samples taken from farms in the state.

B. F. Simmons Of Dover Dead

Benjamin F. Simmons, 79, founder and publisher of the former Delaware Republican, a weekly newspaper, died Sunday morning at his home, 426 South State St., Dover. Active in civic affairs and prominent in the Republican party, he also was a former postmaster, and a former state senator and state representative.

While Mr. Simmons had been in ill health, his death was unexpected.

He was born in Wilmington Nov. 19, 1873, and entered the printing field on May 29, 1889, when he was 15 years old.

He started with the former James Kirk & Son printing shop at 19-24 The Green when all typesetting was done by hand. At that time, the Kirk establishment did most of the state's printing.

In 1902 he purchased the Kirk business and five years later he started the Delaware Republican, which he published until Feb. 4, 1949, when he suspended publication on advice of his physician, due to his health. However, he continued his printing business.

He was postmaster from 1927 to 1935, was a member of the House of Representatives in 1937 and was a member of the State Senate in 1939 and 1941. He was a member of the Kent County Department of Elections.

In addition, he was a member of the Dover City Council from 1906 to 1910 and cast the deciding vote which in that period launched an extensive street improvement program.

Musically inclined, Mr. Simmons was a member of the famous Simmons' band of many years ago. He is survived by his wife, the former Miss Lena Phillips; a daughter, Mrs. Jistine Gehrke of Penns Grove, N. J.; two sisters, Mrs. S. H. Craig, Rodley Park, Pa.; Mrs. Annie Mazingo, Washington, D. C. and several nieces and nephews.

PLANNING TO GO?

The last day to sign up for the Kent County Home Demonstration Club trip to the United Nations is February 20. If you want to go and to receive more information about the tour, give me your name right away.

We will leave early on Tuesday morning, April 14. A chartered bus will take us to N. Y. where we will attend meetings of U. N. Committees, take a tour of the new United Nations Permanent Headquarters Building, visit the gift shop, learn about the set-up of the U. N., and probably take a tour of television or radio studios. We will return late that night. The minimum cost will be about $10.00.

If you have any questions, I will try to answer them. Let me know if you want to go!

HOUSE PLANTS

I often am asked questions about house plants. Do you have some? You can probably find the answers in a booklet available in our office. The title is "House Plants". And you are welcome to a copy. Just write or call me asking for it. My address is: Post Office Building, Dover, Del.

POCKETBOOK HINT

Plan your menus around the cheaper cuts of meat. They are just as nutritious as the more expensive ones, and just as delicious too. Buy vegetables that are in season and therefore less expensive. Use your ingenuity to vary your meals—not your pocketbook.

Feet Facts

A baby boy's foot averages 3.2 inches long, a baby girl's 3.1.

Pork Hocks

Cover pork hocks with hot water and cook slowly until tender, about two hours. Add vegetables, such as carrots, onions, and potatoes, near the end of the cooking time, or serve hocks with hot sauerkraut.

Nepal Reform

Nepal late in 1951 achieved a historic reform, ending a 104-year dual monarchy whereby hereditary prime ministers have actually governed this remote Himalayan kingdom.

Automatic Washer

Performance of your automatic washer will depend upon proper loading, sufficient hot water supply and suitable detergents. Check those factors if your automatic washer is not operating efficiently.

Up to 2 Doz. More Eggs from Birds with Large Body Capacity

According to experiments of the famous Beacon Poultry Research Farm (published in the official journal "Poultry Science"), birds with large body capacity, well sprung ribs, big crops, big gizzards and big intestines produce as high as two dozen eggs more per bird per year than birds with smaller bodies grown on all-mash feed.

The Beacon 70/30 Feeding Plan helps you produce birds capable of maintaining high egg production. This plan uses the maximum amount of scratch grain with a minimum amount of high powered Beacon "18" Growing Mash. Fed from the 12th week until birds are housed, it makes great savings.

THIS SPACE, TOO, IS WASTED

The newspapers of America, in a conscientious effort to save their countrymen from disaster, give unstintingly of their time and space. The radio and television commentators are just as earnest and as generous in the same endeavor, and the schools, churches, and many other organizations bolster these activities by hours of instruction—but it is time, money, and effort wasted.

We are speaking of the attempt to curb reckless drivers. Nothing can curb it—as long as the world numbers among its inhabitants a lot of irresponsible people—and they are more numerous today than ever before. Here we'll waste a little more space by publishing a paraphrase of Longfellow's poem, "Excelsior"—written by some unknown years ago:

The shades of night were falling fast— A fool stepped on the gas and past! A crash! He lay upon the ground— They opened up his head and found Excelsior!

HOW TO SUCCEED OPERATING ANOTHER'S BUSINESS

We have not the presumption to imagine that we know how to operate a store successfully—or a lumber mill—or a hotel; in fact, we do not even claim that we know a great deal about how to publish a newspaper—a statement with which many of our subscribers will agree—but the practical experience of the personnel of The Harrington Journal office exceeds 100 years, and we possess enough vanity to believe that in all that time we must have learned a little about the business.

By the same token, does any man who has spent his mature years operating some other kind of business know how to publish a newspaper? You're right—he does—or maybe we should use the plural and say they do—they admit it themselves.

"Fifty per cent of the people," said Bill Nye, "believe they can preach better than the preacher; seventy-five per cent are sure they can teach better than the teacher—and practically all of them are sure they know more than the editor does about conducting a newspaper."

We suppose Opie Read had a broader knowledge of journalism than any other person in America—a knowledge gained by the combination of a brilliant mind and seventy-five years of experience, ranging all the way from a tiny village paper, the "Prayer Flower," to the greatest newspapers and magazines in the world. Here's Opie's expression: "Why is it that some fellow who cannot distinguish the light of a barnyard lantern from a threatened eclipse of the moon, who doesn't even know how to put a period after the word sausage, comes around and tells the publisher how his paper should be conducted?"

From time to time we are criticized because we do not publish all the news sent in, because we do not publish it exactly as the submitter wrote it, because we do not print your article on the front page, etc.

There are certain iron-clad customs of journalism, and all papers worthy of the name have observed these customs. Here are a few of them:

Never tell the editor the position in which your news is to appear in the paper. You may think it is important enough to appear on the front page. It may be that important to YOU—but is it that important to the other readers? The editor is in a position to know its real value—you are not. A fellow told us one time that he had painted two gate posts at his place, and because that item didn't appear in the paper, he canceled his subscription.

Never insist on certain headlines for your news. There is something called make-up in newspaperdom, and your ideas of headlines might result in the make-up resembling a weather map.

We've had the complaint on more than one occasion: "You didn't print it like I wrote it." Why should we? If we published all the articles sent us, as they are written, we'd be standing with our guard down and a libel suit swinging straight for our jaw. The papers didn't publish Will Rogers', O. O. McIntyre's, Irvin S. Cobb's columns as they were written. Charles B. Driscoll, editor of the McNaught Syndicate, edited every word these famous writers produced—and changed something in almost every column. We saw him edit one of McIntyre's columns, and it took Charley longer to edit it than it took Odd to write it. An editor is supposed to edit everything appearing in his paper—that's why he's called an editor.

Having thus unburdened ourselves, we must cease, lest the space occupied by this article crowd out something more valuable—but here is an invitation to disaster:

If we, who have no knowledge of the proper operation of your business, should tell you, who have had years of experience, how to operate that business, please do not sock us on some sensitive part of our anatomy—merely wither us with the blight of deserved contempt.

With apologies to the shade of William Allen White: "What's the matter with Delaware?" With certain elements in Sussex County hinting about secession from the state, Wilmington's newspapers are full of letters discussing witchcraft—and the legislature is in session in Kent County!

THOUGHTS OF MINE

By Samuel A. Short, Jr.

I like to hear the winter winds blow, Through the forests of wooded pine. To see the waters on the rivers flow, To travel the fields I called mine.

I like to see the skies of blue, Evenings of quietness that never cease, With thoughtfulness of peace Ever so true. Sharing ones love to gratefully please.

With the coming of the break of each morn, Softly falling its echoes along life's way. Giving reward to each moment just born, Bringing gladness for the new born day.

Yet still I'm listening from morn till night, Trusting and planning counting the time. Matching the hours as they speed out of sight, Guiding me on my pathway these thoughts of mine.

YOU WON'T FORGET

By Samuel A. Short, Jr.

You won't forget the miles you've run. When you were a boy in by-gone days. You won't forget the songs you've sung, With mixtures of melodies of many ways.

You won't forget your Mother and Dad, The things they used to do for you. Their soft falling-voices they always had, In reprimand for things you used to do.

You were then a mischievous child, Thought you didn't need parental guide. Though you were wrong as any other child Couldn't take advice nor in them confide.

But there's something in those days of old, You still remember they linger yet. The advice of the ones you loved we're told Coming from Mother and Dad you won't forget.

The miracles that come in cans Once upon a time oranges were rare, expensive luxuries. Only the richest kids in town could afford them. If you were lucky you got one a year—in the toe of your Christmas stocking. Today, millions enjoy healthful orange juice packed in cans. The vitamins and minerals you get this way are just one example of an everyday miracle of modern living that every Delaware family takes pretty much for granted. What brought about this miracle—and many others like it? The answer is simple. It was your demand for better, more appetizing, more healthful foods of all kinds. These demands were met by American business (including American Can Company), devoted to bringing you better products at lower cost. Satisfying your needs has created thousands of jobs in farming, food processing and distribution. It has required a lot of research—which has produced better and more convenient food containers. It has increased and stabilized farm income. It has even meant higher property values in some areas. In fact, it would be hard for you to go through a single day without enjoying many of the benefits that have resulted directly from the activities of the canning and can-making industries in your State. The 35,000 American Can Company people are proud of their part in this story of industrial progress. Your free choice in buying more and more of what you need in cans has enabled them to perform many miracles in the past—and to promise even greater things in the future. ### Sulky Slants

By Mrs. Dave (Pat) Smith

With the sun shining everyone sure is busy. But this time of the year you can't depend on good weather. But the trainers make hay while the sun does shine.

All you can hear out here is, "Are you going to Yonkers?" Course most of the horses will race down here on the southern circuit.

That new Vernon track will take its toll of horses from the various tracks up in New York state. Their race program looks pretty good.

However, we will stick to Hamburg and Batavia. Some may be staked in Vernon, which I would like as I like the moving around. Mrs. Reese Harrington has been confined to her bed for a week.

Sure wish we were ready so we could ship down to Ponce de Leon Raceway. Course there will be plenty good horses to start down there but there will be a few to go from here.

Dupe and his son handling their stable of horses and doing very nicely.

Sam Kennedy tells me that his wife really enjoys being down here with Sam. I think he is putting out more work since he has company.

We sure do miss our good neighbor, Jimmy Hays. He has moved his horses across the way so that he could have them all together. Jimmy is one nice guy.

However, Elmer (the clocker), and Ben (the banker), have moved their horses across from us now. Both Elmer and Ben Wilson are well fellows. Elmer has three now.

Rose and Roland Harrington are training their horses together and Rose does a real good job of it. I sat and watched them working them and oh! boy! Rose with Tracer Bullet came through with flying colors.

Dave has promised to let me go out with him pretty soon, I'm not afraid in the stalls with them, but somehow out on the track I seem to freeze up and get goose pimples all over me. He told me yesterday I could jog "Smoky Joe" before long. I know that will be the day.

Well, it's about 8 a. m. and there are at least 20 cars out here watching the horses.

At least there is plenty of interest even if we aren't going to have the spring meet.

And speaking of a spring meet here, we will all sure miss the bang tail opening. Was always so much to look forward to! With the back fences all sprayed white the hustle and bustle of everything, it really put you in spirit.

I have written most of the training tracks and with the answers I have received there doesn't seem to be anything to brag about the weather at any of those places. Course most of the tracks farther south have all weather tracks. If it should rain, you can get out in short time to either work or jog.

Those on the sick list out here or who have been ill were Mrs. Bowers and Cassie Ellison. Mrs. Bowers was in bed for a week. And at this writing Mrs. Ellison is still ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheatley, who run the track restaurant, say that their business is very good and is picking up every day. Mrs. Wheatley does serve a very nice meal.

Harry Littleton, "how many coons did you get the other night?" A little bird told me you hunted all nite and no prey! And John Schegle, "Were you along, too?" Some one told me you couldn't shoot straight, or wouldn't! But I bet you just went along to look after Harry!

Betty Cain sporting a new car, or any way it's a different color! Dave really gets a kick out of Betty, for when he goes up there for me, he will look around, for you'll hear her say: "I'm here." Betty's so nice.

Dr. Miller from Hamburg, N. Y. was a visitor to the Smith stable this week. Dr. Miller is on his way from Florida back north. Told us it really got chilly there this year.

The Burgess' dog, "Mike", has been confined to his home, for he too is on the sick list. "Mike, as one dog to another, says: 'she is much better, but still can't walk too good!'"

Little Jr., Ellis asked me, "do you want a coke, Pat?" When he was a little tike he could hardly say that and he has never forgotten it. Betty tells me he learns a new word and will hang on to that till he hears some other big word and that goes on and on. He's some Jr.

Carl Goslin out watching the horses work out, and if I know Carl, he wishes he had about five of his own. But he still says he likes his filling station, too.

"Benny, When are you going to get started with your new place?" "I know it will be a beautiful thing!"

Have another card from the Stayton's in California.

"Mr. Draper, what are you going to do with all those salad bowls?" Almost as many as your coconuts you had at Christmas. Sure do have some waterless cook ware too. That's what makes it so nice to shop in your store; you can have so much fun kidding you! You really can take it!

And do you know that Betty over to Sam Short's store is already thinking of what she is going to buy for Easter. Sure missed you yesterday, Betty, "Where were you; loafing on the job?"

Guess I'll take a spin over to Milford and see how old Jake is coming along. He still remembers me and is still very mean, thanks to Harry Littleton, who used to tease him every day.

NATURAL VISION 3 DIMENSION SHOW COMING TO SCHINES NEW MILFORD THEATRE

Mayor E. C. Evans, manager Schines New Milford Theatre, announces that the special exhibition necessary for the exhibition of the world's first natural vision 3 dimension motion picture, "Bwana Devil," starring Robert Stack Barbara Britton and Nigel Bruce in natural color are rapidly being completed and tests will be run during the present week so that next week's issue of this paper will carry the opening dates.

Much confusion seems to be the key word with many New Milford patrons since the motion picture industry has suddenly gone all out with this new innovation in the presentation of "Bwana Devil." All major studios are either producing at least one natural vision picture or will shortly go into production. Some companies have announced the production of as high as six for the season 1953-54, and with the initial showing of Bwana Devil at the New Milford Theatre will insure New Milford patrons the opportunity of seeing them as soon as the release schedules permit.

So the public may know 3 dimension is natural vision and "Bwana Devil" is 3 dimension, the picture is alive, not flat, but real rounded romantic living—it has real live depth. Don't be surprised or scared when you see it if you have a lion in your lap
