

George H. Hayes, Missing Since 1945, Declared Dead

George H. Hayes, formerly of Harrington, who has been missing since early in 1945, has been presumed dead as of March 27, 1953, according to a notice of presumption of death from the office of J. Wesley Walk Sr., register of wills for Kent County.

According to recent testimony at Dover, Hayes, who was born Nov. 25, 1901, came to Harrington from Norristown, Pa., in 1944 and purchased a bungalow and a small tract of woodland on the eastern entrance of the Kent & Sussex Fairgrounds. Being in ill health, he was unfit for military service and, furthermore, unemployed.

His only immediate relative, Mary G. Hayes, also of Norristown, in testimony, said she last saw her brother Jan. 3, 1945, when he told her he was going to Florida for the winter for his health. At this time, she added, he gave her the keys to his bungalow.

Miss Hayes further stated she had made every effort to ascertain the whereabouts of her brother, who was unmarried, without success. Shortly before he left, Mr. Hayes took out a mortgage on the property.

According to the testimony, Joseph Thomas Leonard, also of Norristown, was the last person to receive news from Mr. Hayes. He said he received a postal card from him in February, 1945, saying he was doing all right. Leonard, however, said he couldn't tell whether the postmark read Florida or Kentucky.

The farm of Orville Moore Jr., just north of Harrington on the Masten's Corner road, was depicted in last week's Farm Photo Quiz. Mr. Moore bought his copy of The Harrington Journal at Jerreard's News Agency and came to The Journal Office soon afterwards.

The Moore farm was formerly operated by John Fibelkorn and, before that by Raymond Paskey. His father, the late Walter Paskey, owned the farm years ago and raised lots of strawberries on it.

The farm has 127 acres, of which 100 acres are tillable. Mr. Moore raises corn, soybeans, and tomatoes, and has 32 cows, heifers and calves, with a milking herd of ten. He has some purebred Guernseys and Ayresshires and some good grade stock.

State to Receive Award For Making Voting Record

Governor J. Caleb Boggs has been notified that Delaware will receive the top award in the South Atlantic Region for having turned out the greatest number of adults to the polls last November.

The award comes from the American Heritage Foundation, with headquarters in New York City. It was this Foundation that sponsored the Freedom Train several years ago and was instrumental in staging the greatest get-out-and-vote campaign in the nation's history in 1952.

In a letter from C. M. Vandenburg, executive director, Governor Boggs was told that "after examining the reports and documentary evidence submitted by more than 15,000 entries, the Foundation's awards committee, under the chairmanship of Charles E. Wilson, formerly president of the General Electric Company, unanimously decided that among the states of the South Atlantic region, Delaware was the winner."

Vandenburg told Governor Boggs that in recognition of this outstanding achievement in behalf of better citizenship the Foundation will forward to Delaware a masterpiece of Americana by the celebrated illuminator, Arthur Szyk. The award was especially designed and produced for the State of Delaware by the Lithographers National Association.

According to Vandenburg's report, Delaware missed the top spot in the nation by only five-tenths of a point. Utah headed the list of states with 79.6 percent of its eligible voters having turned out to the polls. In second place was North Dakota with 79.3 and Delaware was third with 79.1 percent.

The American Foundation pointed out that in 1948 Delaware was in tenth place in the percentage of adults voting, having achieved only 65.5 percent of its total strength at that time. The 1952 election showed an overall gain of 13.6 percent for the state.

Neighboring Maryland had the highest percentage of increase with 17.7 percent but managed to get only 57.5 percent of its voters to the polls in 1952, standing in 36th place in the nation. In 1948 Maryland finished 37th and had only 39.8 percent of its voters at the polls in that election.

The Foundation pointed out that the national average for the 1952 election stood at an all-time high of 70 percent. Total registrations according to a New York Times estimate were 74,810,561. Of that number 61,547,861 actually cast ballots. The adult population at the time, those people over 21 years of age, stood at 100,877,000, the Foundation declared.

Rocco Defeats Laurel Owls in YMCA Tourney

The curtain dropped on the 6th annual Invitational Basketball Tournament last Saturday evening as the strong Rocco's quintet won over a threatening Laurel Owl combination to take top honors, 82 to 71. It was anybody's contest all the way and never did the victors have enough to ease up and in the closing seconds they put on a freeze as the Owls continued to make a strong bid. Rocco's took the lead 21-16 in the opening period and at halftime was out in front 39-32. It was much closer going in the final half as the Rocco combine poured through 43 points as Laurel racked 39. Tommy Whaley, a Laurel big gun throughout the Tournament turned in his lowest output as the winners double teamed him under the hoops and he racked only 11 points. Earl Burns was the spark plug of the Rocco quintet as he hooped 25 points while Buddy Kee dropped 16. Gene Schaen and Paul McCullin meshed 15 each. Allen Phillips with 21 points and Dick Evans with 18 were the big guns for the Owls. Don Hershey hit for several corner shots that were timely while Bob Gunther and Ed Callaway each had 6 points.

In the consolation contest the National Guard cagers rallied heavily in the second half to win over Camden-Wyoming 85 to 68. C-W led at quarter 12-9 and in front midway 30-29. In the final half the Guardsmen dumped 56 points while the C-W five scored 38. Jerry Moore hit for 26, and Jack Fiorelli 20 to lead the Wilmington "5" while Reds Minner mington "5" while Reds Minner carried the hot hand of the evening as he meshed the buckets for 34 points with Al O'Neal having 15.

The triumph gave the Air Sailors an overall season's record of 26-11. The team is coached by Chief Warrant Officer Bob Roesler, of LaCrosse, Wis.

State Favors Dual Highway Thru Harrington, Highway Engineer Tells Meeting of Civic Interests

Former Harness Driver Cooke Pipes Rhee Aboard Ship

Samuel Cooke, former harness driver, now a boatswain first class on the USS Los Angeles in Korea, is a fast man with repartee, as a clipping from the ship's newspaper demonstrates.

The publication said that Cooke was selected to pipe aboard the arrival of the Rhee (president of South Korea) party some time back. "As the sideboys, Marine guard and band were preparing themselves for the occasion," read the article, "a few chiefs, who were on the helicopter detail, conversed with Cooke."

Jokingly one of the men said: "Our hero, in reference to Cooke's three rows of ribbons. Whereupon, the slightly embarrassed Boats retaliated by commenting, 'I have two more of these, but I don't want to show you boys up.'" Mrs. Cooke and their son, Thomas Lane, reside with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Callaway.

Denton Man Held on Rape Charge

A Denton man was under arrest Monday accused of having raped a young Delaware housewife Monday afternoon in her home on a lonely farm near Hartly.

The man gave his name as Ernest Pollard, 38, of Denton, Delaware state police of Dover troop said Pollard admitted the crime after he was traced to the home of a friend at Templeville Md., four miles southwest of Hartly.

The woman, whose name was withheld by police, is expecting a baby. She said a strange man came to her door at about 12:45 p. m. and said he was looking for another man who lives in that area.

The housewife told the inquirer that she did not know the third person. The man then forced his way into the house, grabbed the woman, who was alone in the house, and raped her in the living room. He then fled in a gray car.

The woman, who suffered shock, has no telephone in her home. She managed to walk about a quarter of a mile to a neighbor's house. Finding no one home there, she walked toward Hartly, got a ride into the town, and went to the home of relatives, where she called her husband, who was at work near Dover. The husband called state police at about 2:20 p. m.

The woman was able to give them a description of the intruder and to report that his gray car bore Maryland tags.

Police found the other man who had been mentioned by the suspect, and got the name of the rapist from him.

Monoxide Gas Kills Milford Man in Car

Henry Smith, 42, Milford, died of monoxide gas poisoning in the back seat of an automobile in which he had spent much of Saturday riding with three men, investigation by state police disclosed.

He lived at the lumber yard of the M. & H. Lumber Co., where he was employed. He had no known relatives.

Debbie Prattis, Wyoming, called police Sunday about 1:15 a. m., reporting that a man in the rear seat of the automobile of Alexander Bostic of Wyoming appeared dead. The car was parked in front of her home.

An autopsy was performed by Dr. O. J. Pollak, Dover, after the man had been pronounced dead by Dr. Harry G. Neese, Jr., Wyoming, who had been summoned by the police.

Smith, Bostic, and two other men had been riding and, according to police, drinking together

In regards to a proposed dual highway through Harrington for U. S. 13, the State Highway favors using the present route for the southbound lane, and the construction of a northbound lane 300 feet, more or less, to the east, Richard Haber, chief engineer of the department, told a gathering of civic interests at the Wonder Bar Tuesday night.

The speaker utilized that part of the Rotary Club program normally devoted to entertainment. Wilbur Jacobs was program chairman. Ellwood Gruwell, Rotary president, turned the meeting over to Mayor Ernest Killen who introduced the speaker and Gordon Massey, chief draftsman of the highway department.

Before coming to the main topic of the speech, Mr. Haber briefly reviewed the history of the dual highway program in this area. There was talk in 1936, he said, of continuing the dual highway, U.S. 13, south from Dover to Harrington, but the approach of war and the lack of funds put a damper on the project.

"It came alive again in 1946 when Cap Cannon came here to see about rights of way," commented Mr. Haber, "then there was a lull in funds. Now we're again at the point where we think we have funds to begin again."

He called attention to dual highways completed in Delaware and Maryland and turned to mention of the proposed Canterbury-to-Greenwood link, which includes Harrington, the construction of which would complete the dual highway program on U.S. 13 from the northern end of the state to the Maryland line where it would connect with a similar thoroughfare.

The chief engineer pointed out that construction of the final link could be done only if the present Legislature provided funds. However, he added that he thought that the body was highway conscious and that his department was going ahead with the plans. The completion of the dual highway on U.S. 13 was No. 1 in the list of projects, he commented.

To ascertain the reaction of the community, Mr. Haber pointed out the following proposed routes for the dual highway through Harrington:

1. From Warrington's Service Center, at the intersection of the Frederica Road and U. S. 13, the present route would be used for southbound traffic. For northbound traffic, a by-pass would be built several thousand feet to the east. This by-pass would start at Warrington's and rejoin the normal dual highway plan near the entrance of the fairgrounds.

2. This plan calls for a divided highway. The present highway would be used and lanes added on each side. Down the center would be a very narrow dividing strip, barrier, or mall.

3. This plan calls for the present route for southbound traffic and the construction of a northbound route 300 feet, more or less, to the east. The northbound route would start at Warrington's and make a gradual curve. It feet east of the home of J. W. ion Home, cross Delaware 14 50 would close to the rear of the Leg-Camper and approach the present route near where U.S. 13 crosses the branchline of the railroad. In this vicinity, the northbound lane, Mr. Haber said, could be built in the front or rear of the George Cochrane Company, the Ace Manufacturing Company, and George Sherwin, Inc.

The chief engineer said Plan No. 1 had been discarded, and that the decision rested on Plans Nos. 2 and 3.

Plan No. 2, he explained, would call for a four-foot dividing lane from Warrington's to the Bridge Bit whence the lane would begin to widen until it reached the customary width, 50 feet, at the railroad. The divided highway, he added, would come only four feet from Swain's Hotel. Parking would be restricted on both sides and Mr. Haber emphasized, further there would be considerable traffic tie-up. It would be impossible, more, to provide entrances to every business across the four-foot dividing lane. Consequently, motorists may have to go 500 or 1000 feet to cross into the opposite lane. Under such circumstances, Mr. Haber explained, business houses couldn't expect traffic on

FARM NEWS - REVIEW - FORECAST

WHO PAYS FOR POULTRY BRUISES

"Most broiler growers believe that someone else takes the loss on down-grade bruised poultry. But actually, the loss is felt in farm prices," says W. T. McAllister, marketing specialist of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

"Cost of operating a business are passed backward or forwards, whichever way it is easiest. In the poultry business, when poultry is downgraded because of bruises, the difference is included in the spread between farm and wholesale price. High and constant losses from bruised poultry affect the farm price," says McAllister.

"And Delaware's loss from bruised poultry is high. Between five and twelve million birds are seriously damaged by bruising each year. The losses from these bruises amount to about $600 daily per dressing plant.

Bruising is hard to eliminate entirely, but it can be greatly reduced by using care in catching and loading. Some suggestions are: Remove loose equipment before driving birds into catching pens; don't unnecessarily excite the birds when driving them; limit the number in the catching pen; don't allow rough handling when cooping and loading; breast and thigh bruises occur here; bulk weigh if convenient, and use roller conveyors for loading.

2, 4-D Amine Salt, Not Ester, is Extension Service Advice

Under Delaware trials, the amine salt of 2, 4-D is less likely to injure corn when used in sprays for weed control, than are the ester forms of 2, 4-D, says Claude E. Phillips, agronomy specialist of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

In a previous release issued by the Extension Service, the testers were mistakenly recommended.

In tests conducted by the agronomy department, it was found that the amine salts do not injure the corn. When used in pre-emergence sprays, the amine salt form of 2, 4-D should be applied at the rate of 1 1/2 pounds of 2, 4-D per acre. For post emergence, 1/2 pound of the amine salt is recommended. Again, the Extension Service does not recommend use of the ester form. The post-emergence spray should not be done before the corn is five or six inches tall, but then may be applied until the plants are two to two-and-a-half feet tall.

Chemical War on Weeds and Vegetables

Commercial vegetable farmers are changing their strategy in their warfare on weeds. Chemical weed control is coming into the limelight as an effective method and a labor saver, says Robert F. Stevens, horticulture specialist of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

"The right chemical at the right time," is Stevens' advice. A new mimeograph circular "Chemical Weed Control on Vegetable Crops" gives the Extension Service's recommendations for chemical weed control in asparagus, asparagus seedlings, beets, carrots, cole crops, lettuce, lima beans, snap beans, sweet corn, vine crops, strawberries, and peas.

Some chemicals are recommended for extensive use, others for trial use only. Stevens explains that where the chemical looks promising so far, hasn't been tested in enough locations to justify its use, growers are advised to spray only a small portion of their acreage.

The recommendations are tailored specifically to Delaware conditions, says Stevens. They are based on research done throughout the state by E. M. Rahn and C. W. Hitz, of the University department of horticulture. A few recommendations are based on work done in neighboring states with similar conditions.

For the copy of "Chemical Weed Control on Vegetables," see your county agent or write to the Bulletin Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark.

1953 JUNIOR TOMATO CLUB PROJECT ANNOUNCED

The Junior Tomato Contest will be sponsored again this year by the state Ten-Ton Tomato Club committee. C. Fred Fifer, Wyoming, chairman of the state Ten-Ton Tomato Club Committee, announced the 1953 junior program this week.

The contest is open to all Delaware farm boys and girls between ages of 10 and 21. Those interested in the details may get entry blanks and information from vocational agriculture teachers, county 4-H Club agents, or from Robert F. Stevens, horticulture specialist of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. Entry blanks must be mailed to Stevens, Box 150, Newark, before May 15.

To qualify, contestants must grow at least one-half acre of tomatoes, and must keep records of his project. The project will be visited by a member of the Ten-Ton Tomato Club committee. Contest judges will be a five-man group picked by the Tomato Club. Judging will be based on completeness of records, yields per acre, good growing practices, and quality of product.

Every boy and girl wins, says Fifer, because he learns how to grow tomatoes well, and learns the value of records and good management practices. The top winners will receive material prizes, in the form of a gold wrist watch for first prize, pen and pencil set for second prize, and a leather wallet for third prize. Each contestant will receive a certificate.

Last year's winner, William Haas, Middletown, produced 17.7 tons of tomatoes per acre. Louis Palmator, Felton, won second with 10.1 tons per acre. Third place winner was Fred Fifer, Wyoming. Thirty-six boys and girls were in the program.

NEGRO HOMEMAKERS HOLD SHORT COURSE AT NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Citizenship and better living, color in home decorating, exhibits, and flower arrangement are features of a one day Homemakers Short Course, at William Henry High School in Dover, April 9. The homemakers will also tour the new high school building. The program starts at 9:30 a. m.

The Short Course is sponsored by the Home Demonstration Clubs under Miss Mary E. Woods, home and youth agent of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. Miss Woods invites all homemakers interested in Home Demonstration work to attend the Short Course meet club members and get acquainted with the services available through the Extension Service. Program speakers will be members of the Extension Service staff from the University of Delaware, and Mrs. William Sterling and Mrs. Charles Hynson of Dover.

Mrs. Lillian Smiley, Owen's Corner, president of the negro Home Demonstration Council, will preside at the morning program. Mrs. Mary Jane Postles, Harrington, will preside in the afternoon. Members of the Council who will act as hostesses are: Mrs. Smiley, Mrs. Virginia Clark, Milton; Mrs. Mary Johnson, Trinity community; Mrs. Lylian Neal, Bridgeville; Mrs. Alfreida Dixon, Greenwood; and Mrs. May Coker, Cheswold.

Other club members who will assist with the Short Course are Mrs. B. T. Bell, Greenwood; Mrs. Mrs. Winona Fraime, Milton; Mrs. Annie Coverdale, Greenwood; Mrs. Lucy Maddux, Bridgeville; Mrs. Amanda Carney, Cheswold; Mrs. Eva Hicks, Milford; and Mrs. Eliza Foreman, Trinity community.

Todd's Home Demonstration Club Notes

The Todd's Home Demonstration Club held its regular meeting at Todd's Community Building. Con-Wade Elliott presided over the business meeting.

Mrs. John Lloyd, safety chairman, gave a report on "Spring Clean-up." Mrs. Anna McDowell, citizenship chairman, read a letter from Vaughn Fox, of the IYE delegate to India.

A collection of pencils was taken up to send to Korea. Friendship were also collected.

A covered dish supper and auction was planned to be held Friday evening, April 10, at 8:30.

Miss Charlotte Swanson, home demonstration agent from Kent County, presented the topic, "Styles and Fabrics For You."

Mrs. Minos Wright served as hostess.

BUILDING GOOD FAMILY LIFE

"Family Life, the most common of all human experiences, is a basic factor in all natural life... It must be so planned and guided that all our needs are met."

This building or planning of good family life was the basic thought of Mrs. Lydia Lynde's talk with the Family Life chairman of Kent County Home Demonstration Clubs. Mrs. Lynde suggested eight topics for short discussions or demonstrations at club meetings. These included the place of each member in the family, individual friendships, common goals, a spirit of unity, and several others.

Mrs. Lynde had luncheon with Mrs. Mary Willim, Dover; Mrs. Ethel Taylor, Farmington; and Mrs. J. S. Willis, Milford, State Family Life Chairman. Others who attended the meeting after luncheon were Mrs. Nancy Brown, Harrington; Mrs. Elizabeth S. Defibaugh, Woodside; Mrs. Marie B. Sterling, Dover; Mrs. Anna C. Knotts, Leipsic; Mrs. Lucille Burrows, Leipsic; Mrs. Octavia French, Milford; Mrs. Dorothy Kendall, Dover; Mrs. Mary Virden, Dover; Mrs. Lillie Webber, Dover; Mrs. Mildred Steel, Mrs. E. C. Richter, Canterbury. Mrs. William A. Taylor, Harrington, Kent County Family Life Chairman, presided at the meet-

EGG PRICES UP - FEED PRICES DOWN

Future Egg Price Outlook Good, Too

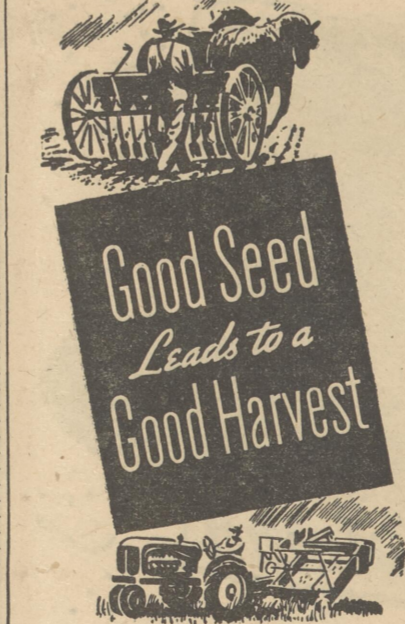

Chicks Started Now Make Better Layers Next Fall; Start 'em Right—Keep 'em Growing with Southern States Feeds

Poultry feed prices are down sharply . . . as much as $10.00 a ton for Southern States Starting and Growing Mash and Super Laying Mash. Laying flock owners are netting 2 cents per dozen (60 cents a case) more over feed costs than a year ago. And egg prices are way up . . . 20 to 25% higher than last year in many cases.

The future looks good, too. Eggs in storage are fewer. There are fewer laying hens on farms now . . . and orders for early chicks were light, too. That means just one thing . . . smaller flocks next summer and fall . . . and GOOD EGG PRICES.

Be wise. Start a flock of good chicks on Southern States Starting and Growing Mash right now. They'll grow faster, develop better and be better layers than those started in late April, May or June. You'll have them ready for the laying house in late summer when egg prices are highest and you'll get more production per bird.

your corn makes more pork - 10 to 17% more profit

when balanced with Southern States 40% PORKMAKER

That's right! On a balanced ration of corn plus Southern States Porkmaker you can make about 10 to 17% more profit over feed cost than on a corn-and-lankage or corn-and-soybean meal ration. And, more important, your hogs will be ready for market in only 5 1/2 months — which means: (1) You can hit the high, early-market prices, (2) You can cut your time and labor one to two months, and (3) You reduce the chance of losses from disease. Try the time-saving, profit-boosting Porkmaker way of raising hogs now!

"NOTHING'S EVER LOST"

You scorn the creed, the ancient creed,
That nothing's ever lost;
You tread the path of dalliance
And reckon not the cost—
And yet, how wrong can mortals be?
The fragment of a song
Drifts back to me across the years—
And lingers all day long.

A fellow used my fountain pen
To write a check, and when
I cashed his check, he sauntered off
And took along my pen.
I did not suffer from his guile
Or get it in the neck—
Quite true, he got my fountain pen—
But I got back his check!

A nonentity—he had only one ability—the ability to inherit money.

An opportunist—one who sees a tree falling before the fury of the wind, runs forward, gives it a push—and claims the praise of bringing it to earth.

"Einstein's New Theory Will Explain All Laws."—Headline in last Monday's papers. All right, Albert, will you please explain the whys, wherefores, and the justice—if such there be, of this law some harness hoss people are trying to cram down the throat of the Delaware Legislature?

George T. Weymouth, president of the Brandywine Racing Association, which organization "appropriated" Harrington's racing dates, said that his association wished to meet with the Harrington racing people and discuss dates with an open mind. We, down here, are not interested in open minds—we're interested in open dates.

SQUATTER SOVEREIGNTY AGAIN

When America was much younger than it is now, the expression "Squatter Sovereignty" came in to general usage. It pertained to people who squatted in a territory and claimed the right to make their own laws—to heck with the existing laws of the nation! Isn't squatter sovereignty, so long outlawed, trying to get a toe-hold in Delaware through the manipulation of the so-called Delaware Racing Commission—and others—who would award racing dates in violation of the existing law, in the belief that they can change the law?

The president of the Brandywine Racing Association says they wish to race in September this year since its track will not be ready until that time, but next year it will be all right with the Brandywine people for Kent & Sussex to race in September. We are of the opinion that the Delaware Racing Commission has the sole authority for the designation of racing dates—that is, that used to be our opinion.

According to this generous statement—or confession—we may have racing dates in September, 1954, exactly 17 months from this date. Now we know how the old Dutchman felt when he went to his bank to draw out a few dollars. The bank had closed for a few days and they were issuing cashier's checks during the interim. The banker told him the cashier's check was just as good as money, and asked the Dutchman if he understood. The old fellow was frankly puzzled, but finally he arrived at a conclusion: "Yah—I think I understand. My baby wakes up in the night and cries for milk—and I give him a milk check."

REMEMBER WHAT YOU READ

Remember what you read—it may help you out someday.

Years ago the officers knew that Al Capone was guilty of about every crime in the book, but they were unable to pin anything on him. Finally, someone remembered a bit of fiction written by Charles Francis Coe, "Me—Gangster." Coe wasn't a gangster—he was a writer—and a pretty good one. In his story he told of a gangster and racketeer who had escaped conviction year after year. When every other effort failed, they sent him to prison for income tax evasion. Taking a tip from Coe's story, Al went to prison and since then racketeers almost without number have followed in the footsteps of Coe's gangster.

Senator McCarthy's latest bid for succulent headlines ended last week with the confirmation of Charles Bohlen as ambassador to Russia. President Eisenhower's appointment of Bohlen was strongly endorsed by Senator Taft, John Foster Dulles—and most of the Republicans and Democrats in congress, but McCarthy, flanked by McCarran and Bridges, kept up their tirade of tar.

We believe we know a way to halter (this is a Harrington expression) Wisconsin's waster of words. Heed the moral of Irvin S. Cobb's story, "The Thunders of Silence," published in a national magazine something like twenty-five years ago, a story based on an actual occurrence, and America will be rid of the menace of McCarthyism.

The demagogue in Cobb's story, like McCarthy, lived on headlines. The main difference was that he didn't claim congressional immunity. Finally, the decent newspaper men of America, sickened by the blarney of this glory seeker, had a quiet understanding that his name should be published no more. One night he delivered an unusually brazen speech in which he attacked almost everybody in public life. The next morning he bought several copies of each newspaper and took them to his hotel room. To his amazement, his name wasn't mentioned. His speech the next night was more violent than ever—still his name didn't appear in the papers. "Probably I wasn't sensational enough," he reasoned. "Well, tonight I'll give them something of a real sensational nature." He ranted and screamed that night, but the papers ignored his speech. He tapped all known sources of vitrol and venom night after night—but his name never appeared in print again—until his body was dragged from the river one morning. Unable to stand the thunders of silence, he had drowned himself.

We suggest that the decent newspaper men of America favor civilization with an encore, and inasmuch as McCarthy will have to cross the Ohio River on his way back to his home in Wisconsin after the adjournment of congress, we suggest that efforts be made to delay the adjournment of that body until the Ohio is overflowing.

And after the waters have receded, give most of the credit to Drew Pearson, for long before other eyes were opened, Drew knew McCarthy to be one of the most sinister figures in American life—and when Drew knows something, he tells it.

Horse SENSE

An Editorial in The Christian Science Monitor

The current warm debate over farm prices and policies should clear the air—which, as Senator Aiken says, can stand some clearing. It should help the public to understand better the special problems of the farmers. And it should help the farmers to decide who are their real friends.

Most farmers want two things: Freedom from federal regimentation, and a governmental floor under prices. Like most folk, they hope for the best of both worlds—no control by Washington but aid from Washington to prevent hardship.

A good many authorities believe the farmers can have both freedom and a floor—provided the floor is not too high. But few who have studied the question believe there can be any real freedom for American agriculture if the farmers—or politicians who purport to represent them—insist on price supports at a high level.

This is something to remember in the midst of excited cries that the farmers are being ruined and senatorial demands that President Eisenhower "fire" Secretary Benson.

When farm prices are falling it is not strange that men who claim to speak for farmers should be asking federal aid. But it is strange that the loudest complaints come from cotton, wheat and corn senators. For those commodities are guaranteed price support at 90 per cent of parity through 1954.

It is hard to believe that growers of those crops are being "ruined" at that price level. Indeed there is more reason to believe that at 90 per cent of parity surpluses will be produced that will cost the government next year nearly $1,000,000,000. Already the government holds $1,000,000,000 worth of surpluses, which are expected to spoil or be destroyed or sold at great loss.

For several years war shortages and the foreign aid program have provided foreign markets which are now disappearing. If this trend continues the present price support program could encourage the production of continuing surpluses which would eventually become an impossible load on the government. If that happens Washington will insist on crop quotas or other methods by which the surpluses it must buy can be restricted.

That means governmental regimentation and a great increase in federal bureaucracy. Abnormal experience in the last few years has tempted farmers to believe that they can get high price supports without government controls. But the history of American agriculture does not support that dream.

The natural control is by competition and price declines when surpluses occur. This is often very rough, and the farmers should have some aid from government to insure against disaster. But rigid price controls at high levels remove the brakes on surpluses. Unless the government is to have some other means of preventing surpluses—which means telling farmers how much they can produce—then surpluses can become ruinous to farmers and government alike.

Many farmers know this. The bulk of the farmers who speak through organizations are on record against rigid high price supports—and regimentation. Producers of meat don't like high grain prices. Producers of perishables see little hope for workable price supports. Probably it is a small proportion of farmers who back the political demands for high supports. But in a time of falling prices millions naturally become uneasy and many are lured by the siren song of subsidies.

We do not believe the politicians who sing that song are the true friends of the farmers. We believe the genuine friends are those who, like Secretary Benson, declare courageously that federal price supports can only be a floor against disaster, not a subsidy shelf to lift farmers above competition.

Commercial Club News

If you are in the vicinity of the commercial room, you will hear the roar of 24 typewriters clicking and that somewhat acrid smell of burning oil as the students of typing strive to out do each other in their typing speeds. Ever since the Commercial Club purchased gold and silver pins as awards for speeds ranging from 45 to 70 words per minute, the boys and girls have been working hard. Then, too, there is a friendly rivalry in their efforts to by-pass their friends in their rockets which are posted on a bulletin board—"Shooting for the Moon," or speeds of 70 and more words per minute.

The latest statistics show that Mary Lord is still leading the pack with the mark of 66 words. Pat Holloway is slowly overhauling Mary and now has 64, followed by Barbara Smith with 63. Charlotte Noble, a second year student has 62, while Pauline Makoyec and Phyllis Sherwood have 56. Frank Bradley 54, Evelyn Jones 53, Jeanette Sapp, 52, Helen Sherwood, 51, Anna Pritchett 51, Shirley Larimore 50, and Marie Ratledge 50 complete the list.

Many others have made the qualifying speed of 45 words per minute, a requirement of the State Education Department. About a dozen first year typing students have already met the requirements.

Student Council Meeting

Wednesday, March 25, the Student Council held a meeting in the Ag room to discuss whether or not a carnival would be part of the entertainment for this year's Art Festival to be held on May 1. It was decided to place booths behind the school in the vent of good weather.

Monday, March 30, there was a County Student Council meeting at Felton High School, and the annual State Council meeting will be held at Lewes on April 27.

County Newspaper Exchange

The County Student Council has decided to have a County News exchange with all the high schools in Kent County. Schools participating in the exchange are Smyrna, Milford, Dover, Caesar Rodney, Felton, and Harrington. As the respective schools receive their papers, they are to be posted on a bulletin where all students can read them and find out about coming events in the neighboring schools.

Basketball Party

Friday evening, March 20, brought to a close the basketball season for Harrington High with a party for the two teams. For entertainment, there was a game played through which the boys had to play in dresses and other feminine clothing. Charles Callaway was said to have been the most artistically attired member of the boys' team.

Although the girls put up a good defense against the masculine six, the boys came up with a 36-19 score, dresses and all. After the game the cheerleaders who acted as hostesses, served refreshments for all the members of both teams and their guests.

Senior Personality

Doris Louise Hendricks, better known as "Shorty" (she is 4 feet 7 inches) to her friends and classmates, was born in Delaware and attended Harrington High School. She takes the Scientific Course, and her favorite subject is English. Shorty is a member of the band and sings alto in the Glee Club.

At the top of her list of likes are food, dancing, movies, preferably

Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis. She dislikes milk and hillbilly music. Her latest interest is in music—popular and classical. She is particularly fond of Dennis Day's singing but on the contrary she swoons whenever she hears Julius LaRosa sing. (Is it his singing?) Her hobbies are reading and photography.

Her future plans are to become a nurse. This is the answer to her childhood dreams.

Library Notes

Annamarie Kotlaba, Secretary
The Library Club has been trying to make the library more attractive. Geneva Brown and Doris Porter put up some pretty flower prints. With the help of the boys in the Agriculture Building we also polished the award cups and paced them where they can be seen. We have been keeping the school scrap book up-to-date. We have quite a collection of articles from the local paper having to do with the school.

Our president was ill at the last meeting so we elected a temporary chairman, Janet Smith.

We learned how to mend books properly.

We have some attractive bulletin board displays.

Mrs. Grant's first grade arranged a bulletin board in the hall with a spring theme.

Alwilda Smith and Barbara Minner arranged a display for St. Patrick's Day.

Paul Everett has arranged an attractive bulletin board on careers. Phillip Price arranged another attractive one about spring.

A new film has been secured. The title is "Use Your Library for Better Grades and Fun Too." It is being shown to the elementary grades and it will be shown to the library club at the next meeting.

The following have been reading books and discussing them during library period:

Miss Long's 5th grade
"Fur Trappers in the Old West" Joe Ratledge

"Aircraft, U. S. A." Kenneth Konesey

"Warner at West Point" David Martin

"Burton and the Hippopotamus" Thelma Collins

Mrs. Quillen's 4th Grade
"Children of the Handicrafts" Jean Martin

"Ling Ching and Ling Loo" Bill McColey

"In My Zoo" David Meyer
"Winnie the Pooh" Dolores Brown

Miss Long, Mrs. Quillen and Mr. Donovan have been working with the librarian during their library periods to help enrich the reading experiences of the children in their respective grades.

"Miss Jenny"

Harrington High School's Junior Class presented "Miss Jenny," a three-act farce by Jean Provence, Friday, March 27, in the school auditorium.

Directed by Miss Loretta Paskey and Miss Leona Dickrager, the play attracted an enthusiastic audience. During an intermission Miss Dickrager and Miss Paskey received bouquets in appreciation of their efforts. Characters included Betty Louise Layton, Ruth Moore, Jeanne Lander, Mary Smith, Janet Collison, Eugene Porter, Joyce Gruwell, Leon Minner and Gary Homewood.

Advised by H. D. Williams, KX the Art Department, Everett Warrington and his stage crew introduced several innovations. A complete set of new flats was in evidence, and a window opened on to a pleasant spring scene, menaced however, by a police car moving past at the psychological moment. A novel communication system running backstage from the rear of the auditorium was tried out for the first time.

Assistants to Warrington were Barbara Minner, Allen Hickman, Wayne Cooper, Charles Baker, Gary Homewood, Eugene Porter, John Langrell, Robert Herring, and David Peterson.

The make-up committee was composed of Everett Warrington, Louise Baker, Martha Jean Sneath, and Mildred Kemp. Programs were in charge of Louise Baker, Charlotte Noble, and Jeanne Lander. Ushers were Doris Black, Gladys Mae Hill, Phyllis Sherwood, and Marie Ratledge.

Intermission music was provided by Melvin Brobst at the Hammond Organ. Miss Lucille Sharp, Harold McDonald, H. D. Williams, and W. E. Miller assisted in various capacities.

Greenwood

The Auxiliary of the V.F.W. met at the Post Home Wed., March 25. The following officers were elected: Dorothy Porter, president; Elaine Jones, treasurer; Geraldine Cannon, secretary; conductress, Peg Morris; chaplain, Ruby Chalmers; patriotic instructor, Irene Willey; historian, Marie Draper; 3-year trustee, Clem Smith; 2-year trustee, Della Russell; 1-year trustee, Helen Lloyd, and guard, Louise Dennis.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield and daughter, Ellen, were in Wilmington last Tuesday.

Mrs. Annie Hatfield spent Tuesday with Miss Florence Carlisle.

Mrs. Robert Jester, Mrs. Luther Lyons, and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield and daughter, Ellen, were in Wilmington Monday.

The Gerald Pearsons spent an interesting weekend in New York City. While there, they toured the United Nations Building and visited a branch of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. This is a replica of a medieval monastery and contains a collection of medieval art from Europe. Sunday afternoon they saw the Easter pageant in Radio City Music Hall.

Mrs. Della Hill, who lives in S. J. Cleaves property, has been seriously ill at her brother's home in Laurel. She is now at the home of her sister, Mrs. B. W. C. Conway.

Mrs. Lewis Uhler, who has been quite ill for the last three weeks, is reported to be slowly improving.

Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott and Mr. and Mrs. Mart Uhler were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Leonard in Salisbury.

The Sussex County Firemen's Ladies Auxiliary are having their annual banquet in Salisbury at "Johnnie's and Sammie's Place" on April 22 at 7 o'clock. Members planning to go should contact the president, Mrs. Mabel Farrow, or the secretary, Mrs. Mart Uhler.

The Willing Workers Sunday School Class will meet with Mrs. R. O. Mai Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield and children were Saturday guests of the Robert Jesters.

The Sunshine Class will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lord Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Burton Case, of Harrington, joined the Jacob Hatfields for a late Sunday evening snack.

Sgt. Kelsey Wins Contest In Austria

Sergeant First Class Joseph E. Kelley, son of Mrs. J. A. Williams of Route 2, Greenwood, won first place in a recent rifle contest in Austria. Kelley, who is chief of the firing battery C of the 510th Field Artillery Battalion in Austria, distinguished himself in the Battalion's small bore rifle competition. The event was a part of the celebration of the 510th fourth birthday at Camp Roeder, Austria.

Cpl. H. C. Fletcher

Cpl. Hugh C. Fletcher, son of A. E. Fletcher, 218 Market Street, Denton, is enroute from Korea to the United States for release from active Army duty.

Corporal Fletcher was assigned to the Army's 1st Medical Field Laboratory and later to the 12th General Dispensary in Pusan where he was a medical laboratory technician.

Fletcher, who has been in Korea since October 1951, holds the Korean and United Nations Service Ribbons.

A graduate of LaPlata (Md.) High School, he was employed by the National Bureau of Standards before entering the Army two years ago.

Harness Racing Season To Open at Georgetown

Harness racing in the Delmarva area will get under way with its first season, at the Del-Mar-Va Raceway, Georgetown, Saturday afternoon when the Del-Mar-Va Driving Club, of Georgetown, starts the first of a series of matinee races for each Saturday afternoon. Post time is 2 o'clock.

The Del-Mar-Va Harness Driving Club of Georgetown, comprised of more than 30 harness racing enthusiasts from Sussex County, was organized to promote harness racing and to make a track available for the use of eligible horse owners for the popular matinee racing.

A group of horses has been training at the Del-Mar-Va Raceway throughout the winter, and for the past few weeks, interest has increased to the extent, where very large groups of people watch the practice heats.

Well-known trotters and pacers from all over the Eastern Shore will participate in the eight heats of next Saturday's performance. Also, in addition to the regular heats, and with an added attraction, Ralph Reed, a well-known horse breeder and owner of the Diamond Horse Farm, will personally drive his well-known pacing sire, "Hot Foot," an exhibition mile.

Taking into consideration the interest now being shown in and around this area, the club is striving to bring some good racing to Sussex County. Also the many horse owners are very desirous of the opportunity to get their horses going.

Louis J. Grauer Dies

Louis J. Grauer, 63, died at his home, 4280 Viola Street, Philadelphia, Wednesday morning after an illness of several months.

He was born in Philadelphia and had resided there all his life where he was employed by an insulating company. He married Miss Amy Hopkins of Harrington, by whom he is survived.

Funeral services will be held at the Boyer Funeral Home, Harrington, Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, in charge of the Rev. Milton Elliott, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church. Interment will be in Hollywood Cemetery.

Beside his wife, he is survived by a brother-in-law, Charles Hopkins, of Harrington.

Former Greenwood Woman Dies

Mrs. Katie Stayton Tatman, 68, of 522 E. Market Street, Georgetown, died Wednesday morning after an illness of several months.

She was a patient in the Beebe Hospital, Lewes, for six weeks before being transferred to the Ge-

Bacon Health Center for treatment where she had been a patient for five weeks.

She was born in Greenwood, the daughter of the late Amos J. and Catherine Griffith Stayton, and had lived in and around Greenwood for many years. Her husband Carlos Tatman, died 14 years ago and later she moved to Georgetown.

A daughter, Lillian Rebecca Tatman, died 8 years ago.

She was a member of Grace Methodist Church, Georgetown, and also a member of the Sunday School and the W.S.C.

Funeral services will be held at the St. Johnstown Methodist Church, near Greenwood, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in charge of the pastor, the Rev. J. E. Layton, assisted by Dr. Thomas C. Mulligan, Grace Methodist Church, Georgetown. Interment will be in adjoining cemetery.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Penuel and 2 grandsons, Donald and Bruce, all of Georgetown. Also a brother, Merris T. Stayton, of Wintertur, and several nieces and nephews.

Friends may call at the Boyer Funeral Home tonight.

ed of more than 30 harness racing enthusiasts from Sussex County, was organized to promote harness racing and to make a track available for the use of eligible horse owners for the popular matinee racing.

A group of horses has been training at the Del-Mar-Va Raceway throughout the winter, and for the past few weeks, interest has increased to the extent, where very large groups of people watch the practice heats.

Well-known trotters and pacers from all over the Eastern Shore will participate in the eight heats of next Saturday's performance. Also, in addition to the regular heats, and with an added attraction, Ralph Reed, a well-known horse breeder and owner of the Diamond Horse Farm, will personally drive his well-known pacing sire, "Hot Foot," an exhibition mile.

Taking into consideration the interest now being shown in and around this area, the club is striving to bring some good racing to Sussex County. Also the many horse owners are very desirous of the opportunity to get their horses going.

Sulky Slants

By Mrs. Dave (Pat) Smith

You might say ramblin' with Pat—After a long time will start with a little news from the track. With breaking of winter training, the first to start on the long summer grind is Mr. Lyons. You can bet when you see the beautiful deluxe horse trucks of Earl Thomas the spring move is on.

I, for one, hate to see this happen for this is one of the nicest winter training centers. Right now all you hear is, "where are you going to race this season?"

Jimmy Workman is sending some to Yonkers. Course, Billy Myer is going to Westbury, Pat Hubbard sending some to Yonkers, and Ellis Myer, the Maryland circuit.

Johnny Amato is also going in the Maryland circuit. The Grays and their trusting steeds to Westbury, and Charley Carter, the Maryland circuit. Ellison also on Maryland circuit, Allen Myer to Yonkers. Jimmy Hayes will send a couple to Yonkers, and the rest will race down here. The Crockett Stable will go to Painesville, Ohio. Jack Walters also will race the Maryland circuit. Speaking of the Walters, Mabel has the most beautiful trailer on wheels. They purchased it about a week ago. Sam Conway will make the southern circuit with his horses.

Mr. Stout is back to the track again being so ill. Don't think it doesn't look good to see the lights on in their trailer.

The Grays go to the Vernon Track, then on to Maine. Dupee also going up to Foxboro later on. Charley Sutton's Stable to Westbury. Olin Davis Stable with little Judy Davis, who is Olin's boss, will race the Maryland circuit.

Rose and Roland Herrington to Buffalo. The Dave Smith Stable to Hamburg. Mr. Pratt with his Guy Hamilton will go to Buffalo. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bowers will soon pull out for Hamburg. Ben and Elmer Wilson to race out in Ohio, Painesville, I am sure.

Les Simpson and Bobby Hobbs to Ohio, and then Saratoga. Of course Paul Vinyard will take his trusting steeds to Westbury.

If ever I missed anyone, it is Poll Sipe. I always had so much fun with him. I have no one to talk about going up to Mildred for chicken or ham.

Was up to see our Anna Day Monday at the beautiful Bohemia Point Farm. To make this short and sweet, Anna Day didn't seem to care if we came or not. She had taken up with another mare and wasn't interested. This time next year we hope to have another Donald Truax colt.

With the spring flowers out and the birds singing, the sun setting on Bohemia Bay, it was the most wonderful sight one would want to see. I never want to leave up there. So, again I say, Anna Day is in a resort spot for horses.

Saw ex-Maryor Rash Wednesday morning in front of the Post Office. Always nice to talk to. Mr. and Mrs. Hall, of Hamburg, were visitors to Dave Smith Stable and Ann and Curley Rothwells. Mr. Hall has taken over Grandview Oval, Painesville, and Winston-Salem tracks.

Mr. Ensen sailing around getting horses rounded up for Painesville. Was up to the Mt. Holly, N. J. track, and I'll take Harrington for me.

Over to Washington last week, but it was raining very hard, so all I saw was Pete Russo, and Mrs. Brown who had the restaurant there.

Julian Young doing were nicely in Florida with his horse. Delores was thrilled when I talked to her. Happy Gray is spending the week at Bowie track with his runner. Mr. Griffith is a very busy man training.

Warren Holmes too busy to get a word in with him - but try and catch him, but I can always find his head man, Ford.

Mrs. Griffith busy getting news for "Harness Horse." That's hard this time of the year, as I had that experience two years while in Pinehurst. I don't envy her. We lost our little Pek who was 11 years old. Little We Wanna had made the races all her life. It will be sad to pull out without her, but we buried her where she loved it so close to the track.

Greener Pastures Entries to Be Seen April 27, 28, 29

The 1953 Greener Pastures Program will get underway again this year in Kent County with the first visits scheduled for April 27th, 28th, and 29th. Earl Tull, president of the Delaware Crop Improvement Association appointed an advisory committee which met recently in Dever and completed arrangements for the program. Farmers from Kent County serving on this committee are Alvin Allen, the 1952 winner, John Elliott, of Frederica, and Merrill Jones, of Felton.

Pasture is recognized as the cheapest and best feed for dairy cattle when it is well managed. A good forage program means greater profits for the dairyman. Farmers who are interested in taking part in this program should contact and farmer named in this article or the county agent. (tel. Dover 2621.)

Several farmers, as the result of obtaining an "excellent" rating in 1952, have been "graduated" from this phase of the program. They will form the basis for a Kent County Pasture Tour this summer. The details will be announced later in the season. Beside the above named farmers, the following also obtained an excellent rating in 1952: Isaac Thomas, Marydel, Maurice Adams, of Harrington, and the Pippin Brothers of Wyoming.

Those participating in the program will be scored on the Danish system—or against a standard of excellence, as to how each farm forage program measures up to its possibilities. Each farm is quite different in its pasture needs and production ability. Three visits are normally made at each farm during the grazing season to determine how well the program is functioning seasonally, and to suggest improvements when the needs are most obvious.

The Crop Improvement Association also sponsors the Corn Yield Contest which is to be continued this year. Entries for either one or both of these programs should be filed as soon as possible. Since the program is expanding at a great rate, it has become necessary to limit the pasture program at least to those who need help.

WHEELER RADIO NEWS

Yes, it has been a year since some of you said you would never let another summer roll by without papering that kitchen or another room. Well, it is very near summer and we have that paper that you want, I hope.

Yes, I know several of you expected to get your paper cheaper this year, but folks, that year is not in sight. In fact, prices are rising, not falling, and there is only one thing that is falling and that is rain. Of course we have had plenty, but while we are having too much just now, others are crying for it.

We have just received two or three shipments of wall paper in the past week just in time to pretty up those rooms for those city slickers.

I know you have heard by now the wonderful electric refrigerators you can get this year. They are just wonderful. Think of just pushing a button and opening the door. Mighty handy for one-arm people or you with both arms. Many times the dishes or what you have are too heavy unless you use both hands, then how are you going to open the door with a handle? See the push button and your problem is solved. Of course, it is a Westinghouse, and only Westinghouse has it.

Then again, think of slicing a tomato, as pretty soon they will be plentiful, put them anywhere in a refrigerator that is made by Philco, no need to cover them up as they will stay just as fresh as when you slice them. How can they do it? Well, that is something we will explain when you drop in and let us show you these beautiful refrigerators.

Strawberries, asparagus, fish and many other things will soon be plentiful. To keep them that way, let us sell you an 18 1/2 cu. ft. freezer that is guaranteed for five years. It is wonderful to have these and many other things on hand when your company drops in or when prices are high. Better see these freezers as they pay for themselves.

All products we sell can be bought on the excitement plan. That means you will be so excited to know how easy we sell any product over 50 dollars.

We have complete service by a factory trained mechanic who takes care of all service direct from our store. This service, may I add, also applies to Maytag washers, automatic or otherwise, also to Westinghouse Laundramats or dryers.

We have about 12 to 18 televisions which we are closing out at this time to make room for our gas ranges. Do you want a television? If you do, stay away from me unless you want to buy as prices are marked so you will say wrap it up.

Memorial Baptismal Font Dedicated

Before a congregation of over 200 Palm Sunday, a beautiful carved walnut baptismal font was dedicated. It was given as a memorial to Albert and Lina M. Harrington by their children and granddaughter, Susan B. Harrington, A. Leonard Harrington, Herman C. Harrington, and Anne M. Yale.

After the service of dedication by the minister, the Rev. Robert VanCleaf, the following children were baptized:

Isaac Nyle Callaway III, John Coard Warrington, Jr., Jeri Anne Jarrell, Gordon Wallace Jarrell, Jane Elizabeth Jarrell, Lind Sue Giles, and Robert Charles Rash.

Special anthems were rendered by the Cathedral and Junior Choirs with sermon by the minister. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and spring flowers.

SHORT STORY Reputation By ALICE MAYO

HE WAS TALL and rather thin and darkly handsome. There was a quiet air about him, a dreaminess. When Lydia told her he was a portrait artist, Babette wasn't surprised.

"His name is Malcolm. Isn't he adorable! I asked him over especially to meet you. But beware. The man has a reputation."

Later, when Malcolm asked her to pose for a portrait, Babette remembered the warning.

Yet she thought it would be thrilling. She was tempted. Of course there was Paul to consider. She was engaged to Paul. Earlier she had seen him talking to the artist. He probably knew all about him.

She prepared herself for what was to come. If he touched her she would strike him.

about his reputation. If Paul found out about her posing he would probably break off their engagement.

"I'll come," she said. "Where is the studio?"

His eyes gleamed. He gave her the address. Thinking it over that night she almost regretted her decision. If Paul were ever to find out!

Malcolm was waiting for her. His studio was a disappointment. There was nothing about it that bespoke glamor or romance. The floors were bare.

He posed her, paying attention to details. She was a little frightened. But nothing happened. She sat for an hour while he labored at his canvas. Her muscles felt cramped. It seemed he never would stop. But an end came.

She waited, tense, expectant. But he only asked her if she could come back tomorrow.

She came back. She posed again. For hours. Every muscle and bone ached. The portrait, she was sure, must surely be done. And then—But when finally she was allowed to look at the painting she knew it was not finished. He apologized again and complimented her on her beauty.

His flattery, she thought, was the beginning. He was preparing her. She almost decided not to return again to the studio.

But she did. She was there 15 minutes ahead of time. She sat for an eternity. She watched his face and became annoyed at his complete absorption in his work, at his lack of interest in her. She understood now: First he wanted to complete the picture, and then—She almost hated him for his selfish attitude.

"Tomorrow," he said, "will see the end."

Tomorrow! It came at last. Throughout her posing she was expectant, afraid, wondering. She thought again of his selfishness. Her annoyance became stronger, her dislike of him grew. Before he had finished she was seeing him in a new light. She hated him. She felt repulsed.

At last he laid down his brush. "My dear, it is finished!" There was pride and joy in his voice. "It is my greatest, my masterpiece!"

She prepared herself for what was to come. If he touched her she would strike him. How she loathed the man! He leaned over, and then straightened again. A knock sounded on the door.

Malcolm flung open the door. Babette caught her breath. Her eyes grew wide with horror. Paul was standing on the threshold!

"Paul! My friend! Come in, come in! It is finished! The great work is completed! How fortunate I am!"

Paul stepped into the room. He turned to Babette. "Darling, forgive me. I discouraged Malcolm from painting your portrait. I said you did not have what he wanted in expression. I was wrong. You did have it. He has interpreted it on his canvas."

"Paul, you—knew he was to paint my portrait?"

"Knew! Of course I knew. He asked me first if I might. I doubted at first that you would assent. When he said you had I was delighted. Malcolm is among the greatest of modern portrait artists. He has a reputation, my dear. A reputation!"

Oldest Story Book
"The Shipwrecked Sailor" is the oldest known story book in the world. It is a tale of adventure about sea-faring Egyptians of the Twelfth Dynasty who traveled to the far-off, mysterious land of Punt. It is an ancient combination of Robinson Crusoe and Sinbad the Sailor, recorded on papyrus.

Nazarene Church Notes

Wednesday marks the opening night of special revival services in the Church of the Nazarene, Mechanic Street, Harrington, with the Rev. Bertha J. Pults as the featured evangelist.

The Rev. Pults has had much experience as pastor, evangelist, and missionary-evangelist, and is a talented and capable speaker. Being commissioned by the General Board of Church of the Nazarene to make an evangelistic tour of some of their foreign mission fields, the Rev. Pults has many interesting color slides of missionary interest which she will show Saturday, April 11 and 18.

Services will begin each evening from April 8 to 19 at 7:45 o'clock. The pastor, the Rev. George Whetstone, extends a hearty welcome to all who might attend.

Pre-Easter services are presently being conducted in co-operation with the Pilgrim Holiness Church of Harrington, and the Church of the Nazarene. The services will be held Wednesday and Friday evening in the Church of the Nazarene and Thursday evening in the Pilgrim Holiness Church. The Rev. Russell Bailey of Denton will open the series Wednesday evening, followed by the Rev. Whetstone Thursday evening, and the Rev. William Miller Friday evening. A joint communion service will be the closing feature of the series following the Rev. Miller's message Good Friday evening.

Easter Sunday morning marks the close of a six-weeks' contest in the Sunday School between the Black and the White Sheep. The Sunday School Superintendent, S. Sgt. Benny Wallace, has announced a special Sunday School rally for this Sunday, and joins the pastor in plans to break all records in the Sunday School session. At this time a Bible will be presented to the person bringing the most people over the six weeks of the contest, and a gift will be given to every person on the winning side, as well as a little special gift for everyone who comes to Sunday School Easter Sunday.

Langrell's Observe Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Enos Langrell were given a surprise dinner in honor of their 21st wedding anniversary and Mr. Langrell's birthday last Thursday afternoon, by Mr. and Mrs. Emil Moore and daughter, Patricia, and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Luff.

Others present were Mrs. Mary Brown and John Langrell.

There was an anniversary cake and the room was decorated with flowers.

Mrs. LYNAM IS GIVEN SHOWER

Mrs. Richard Lynam, of Lansing, Mich., the former Miss Anne Toppin, was tendered a miscellaneous shower by Miss Millie A. Minner. The guests included members of her class together with many of her friends.

Mrs. Draper Flies to Germany

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Peck accompanied Mrs. Ralph Draper to New York Tuesday, and Mrs. Draper flew from there to Germany, leaving New York at 7 in the evening. She will spend a few weeks with her husband, Pvt. Draper.

Salt Water Lines
Salt water lines are made of linen, nylon and cotton. Linen is best for big game angling and for general purpose fishing, though nylon has found favor with surf casters because it casts easier. The cottons are used for inexpensive lines such as are used by kids and cane-pole fishermen.

Pork Hocks
Cover pork hocks with hot water and cook slowly until tender, about two hours. Add vegetables, such as carrots, onions, and potatoes, near the end of the cooking time, or serve hocks with hot sauerkraut.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our mother and grandmother, Mrs. Lillian McCready, who passed away April 2, 1950.

A beautiful memory dearer than gold
 Of a mother whom worth can never be told.
 Deep in our hearts a memory kept
 Of one we love and will never forget.

Sadly missed by children and grandsons.

A MEMORY

As I walked thru the garden that morning among the olive trees,
 It reminded me of Jesus who died on Calvary.

How He prayed in the garden at midnight,
 Prayed alone at midnight,
 Prayed for the lost at midnight,
 And died that we might live.

The disciples forsook our Master,
 And slept while he prayed,
 Judas betrayed the Savior,
 By a kiss upon the head,
 He was taken to Golgotha at dawn,
 Was beaten and mocked at dawn,
 Carried the cross of Calvary at dawn,
 And died that we might live.

A crown of thorns was placed on His head,
 A spear wound in His side,
 They gave Him vinegar to drink,
 He gave up the ghost and died,
 He had begotten His Father to forgive them,
 Told the thief that all was well,
 Not a bone in His body was broken,
 For this He died to save us from Hell.

the other lane, to cross to them.

The highway department, thus favors Plan No. 3—use of the present route for southbound traffic, and a new road 300 feet, at a maximum, to the east for northbound traffic.

Mr. Haber thought this plan best, in view of increased traffic and use of trucks. All homes and business houses would then have access to their locations, from the southbound lane, while the northbound lane would provide sites for new businesses.

Mr. Haber declared the right of way has been acquired by the highway department north and south of Harrington, but that the route through town hasn't been surveyed.
