Strike Stops Work On School and Mill

Work on Harrington's new elementary school building stopped Monday morning in a sympathy strike with the building trades unions in Wilmington. Construction work was also halted at Dover Airbase.

J. C. Messner, superintendent of Harrington schools, said Monday morning the strike would not interfere with the laying of the cornerstone May 29. He added that the commencement program was scheduled to be held in the high-school building, but that it would be held in the social hall of the new structure if it is ready.

The artisans working at the local project were steamfitters, painters, and men laying floors and installing acoustic ceilings.

The Wilmington strike was due to demands for a new contract, one stipulating increased wages and other benefits.

The strike also stopped work on the construction of a spinning mill near Frederica.

Getting back to the cornerstone laying, Supt. Messner said U. S. Senator J. Allen Frear, Dr. George R. Miller, state superintendent of public instruction, and N. Maxson Terry, president of the State Board of Education, would speak at the ceremonies, which would also be attended by Lee Markert, of Milford, the only living member of the Harrington Board of Education at the time the present high-school building was built in 1929.

Most Residents Want Water and Sewer on Delaware Ave., Extended

A survey by Mayor Ernest Killen and Councilman J. Edward Taylor has revealed most residents of Delaware Avenue extended desire water and sewers, it was disclosed Monday night at the May meeting of the City Council.

Several residents, however, having their own water systems and cesspools, did not desire the service. Consequently, in one case, at least, the Council decided it would not have to extend the water mains and sewer lines as far as it had decided originally. It is anticipated this work will not be too long in getting started, as the State Highway Department is planning to curb Delaware Avenue and widen the pavement from curb to curb.

A delegation, including Ernest Vogl and Steve Kliment, representing St. Bernadette's Church, newly erected in Harrington Manor just off Liberty Street, appeared before the Council asking for a paved street, sewer, water, and a bridge over a ditch running on the north side of Liberty Street.

The Council explained that, because of other improvements soon to get under way, it would be impossible to grant all the delegations requests this year. However, the Council decided to ascertain the cost of 30 feet of 30-inch tile to be put in the ditch, thus eliminating the need for a bridge.

In other business of the evening, the Council voted to request Councilmen Walter Messick and George Graham to ride in the police car to diagnose that vehicle's ailments.

Furthermore, it voted, at the request of William Berry, to install signs limiting parking to two hours near his funeral home at 78 Clark Street, the former home of Mr. and Clarence Dyer.

City Manager Grace Wanda Quillen told the Council her manually operated adding machine was in a state of disrepair, and that body authorized her to purchase an electric machine.

Just as soon as weather conditions permit, the State Highway Department expects construction operations to be completed on several projects as well as some rapid progress made on others that are in the process of construction.

Unseasonal and inclement weather during the early part of the spring months has retarded these construction activities, but according to R. A. Haber, chief engineer of the department, most of the delayed action will be rapidly overcome with the advent of proper weather conditions.

Some of the construction projects which have been carried over from last year which the department anticipates being completed within the next month or six months are Glenwood Avenue, Smyrna; Summit Bridge to Tybout's Corner; and the dual highway from Canterbury to Camden Camp Meeting Woods, a part of U. S. 13.

Judge Terry, police said, was driving south on Route 113 and started to pass the southbound tow truck, operated by Ray Carroll Pierson, 46, of Milford, just as the latter driver was starting to make a left turn into a service station, south of the overhead blinker light in Frederica. KENT COUNTY GENEROUS WITH MARCH OF DIMES

"Kent County has never been so generous with contributions to the March of Dimes as during the campaign just closed," said Clarence L. Smith, Kent County campaign director, last week.

"After the funds were gathered from 22 community organizations and all campaign expenses paid, we had $8,508.25 remaining, more than ever before collected by the chapter."

Half of the total will remain in this county for treatment of any person unfortunate enough to fall a victim to polio. This money will be used to defray all expenses of treatment of polio cases here without question of race, creed, or financial ability to pay. Mr. Smith wanted it known particularly that the patient receives immediate and complete care without at any time being asked how much money or property he has.

The other half of the total, as is customary each year, is sent to the National Foundation to support the research campaign, to maintain the national organization, and to provide a fund available to other county chapters which find themselves unhappily overwhelmed by an epidemic.

Pupils from 24 schools participated in the contest on the first and second-year levels; four schools in Wilmington entered contestants in the third and fourth year examinations.

The best papers in each group will now be forwarded to a regional committee to be judged for eligibility in the national finals. The winner of the $100 scholarship offered by the University of Delaware, to be selected from the winners of the first three places, will be announced shortly.

BEANS ARE OLD STANDBY'S

Snap beans (also called string beans, stringless beans) are old standby's for the home garden. When you read this it will be time to put seed in the ground. In most of Maryland, May 1 is a safe date for first planting and later plantings at intervals of two weeks will insure a supply throughout the summer. Do not plant after August 1. Ready for use in 50 or 60 days.

Two general types are grown, dwarf or bush types and pole. There are green and wax (yellow) varieties, about equal in food value; Vitamins A, B1, B2, and C are present in good amounts, as well as protein, calcium and iron.

It requires a pound of seed to plant 100 feet of row. Space bush varieties three inches apart. An easy way to fertilize them is to open a furrow two or three inches deep, distribute about two quarts of 5-10-5 fertilizer in a hundred feet of row, water to dissolve fertilizer and cover furrow level with back of rake. With the hoe handle open the furrow again one inch deep, space seeds, cover and tamp lightly. Soaking seeds overnight hastens germination. Seedlings emerge in a few days. Harvest when beans are first formed in the pods up to when they have reached half their maximum size but before pods become tough, fibrous or stringy. Several harvestings should be made.

Excellent varieties are Top-croft, Rival, Contender and Stringless Greenpod for the green podded and Kinghorn Special and Cherokee for wax. Kentucky Wonder and Kentucky Wonder Wax are good pole varieties. Will bear longer than bush varieties but not as early. Set poles three feet apart in rows three feet apart. Add fertilizer and prepare bed about 6 or 8 inches around each pole. Plant four beans per pole and thin to two plants.

Lima Beans
Not quite as hardy as snap beans, require relatively high temperatures to germinate and warm temperatures for growth. Wait until ground has warmed up. May 10 is a good time to plant in most of Maryland. Fordhook 242, Peerless and Triumph are excellent bush varieties. Fertilize as suggested above for snap beans. Drop a bean every four inches in the row. Rows should be three feet apart. Two pounds of seed will sow 100 feet in a row. For pole limas set poles as suggested for pole snap beans. Plant four beans around each pole and thin to two or three plants. King of the Garden is the outstanding pole variety.

Harvest when beans have reached full size but have not turned white. Limas are a good source of protein, about 7-12 per cent; also a good source of Vitamins A and C and an excellent source of B1 and B2.

Mexican bean beetles are likely to attack both snaps and limas. Dusting with rotenone dust, being sure to get it on the under side of the leaves, gives effective control.

Next week—Sweet Corn, New Zealand Spinach, Tampolia.

RANGE VS. CONFINEMENT FOR PULLETS

"Range or confinement rearing of pullets is a controversial subject," says George Vapaa, associate Kent County agricultural agent. "Experience with range rearing in Ocean County, N. J., might be of value to Delaware poultrymen in deciding what to do."

A survey on costs and performance of pullets raised by the two methods showed that it costs 25c less to raise a pullet on range than it does in confinement. This includes fencing, piping water, seeding and fertilizing, and all other costs.

The birds in confinement usually come into production a week to ten days earlier, according to the Ocean County survey, but average from one-fourth to one-half pound less in body weight. The mortality during the laying years is higher for the birds reared in confinement, and egg production is lower on the average.

Losses from predatory animals on the range probably discourage some farmers, says Vapaa. But in Ocean County feel it is no worse than losses from cannibalism in confinement. They also say that respiratory diseases seem worse in confinement-reared birds.

The survey figures were given by Ocean County agricultural agent, Richard Hartman, at a recent New Castle County, Delaware, Poultry Improvement Association meeting. In Ocean County there are 1000 poultry farms with 2,000,000 laying hens—75 per cent of which are raised on range and 25 per cent in confinement.

BREEDING YEAR-OLD GRADE BEEF HEIFERS DOESN'T PAY

Breeding year-old grade beef heifers probably doesn't pay in the long run. That's what experiments done in the Middle West seem to prove, says Bill Tarbell, Kent County agricultural agent.

The biggest reason for this is that in most cases the value of the extra calf will not equal the cost of the extra feed and labor in raising it, Bill explains. He points out that in any event, yearling heifers should not be bred unless they are fed liberal grain rations throughout the pregnancy. Such a ration helps them develop and reach a size where they can calve successfully and give enough milk for the calf.

Even then, says Tarbell, these Midwest experiments show that the cost of the grain to get the heifer in good condition offsets the value of the extra calf.

WHEAT CONTROLS POSSIBLE IN 1954

Secretary Benson announced that the U. S. D. A. is to start immediately preliminary work necessary in preparation for possible acreage allotment and marketing quota programs on the 1954 crop of wheat. Final decision on whether acreage allotment and marketing quotas must be imposed on next year's wheat crop, under the mandatory provisions of controlling legislation, will be made later when more is known about the supply and prospective demand situations. For wheat, the decision and proclamation must be made not later than July 1 for acreage quotas, and July 15 for acreage allotments. If wheat marketing quotas are proclaimed, a national referendum among all wheat growers must be held not later than July 25. There are an estimated 2,100,000 wheat farms.

ECONOMIST SEES UNITED POULTRY INDUSTRY GOOD FOR FUTURE

"The development of a new and better broiler marketing program is uppermost in the minds of many poultry industry leaders now," says W. T. McAllister, marketing specialist of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. McAllister sees a secure future for the broiler industry if all segments of the industry unite to work on this common problem. "In the long run, it means everyone's benefit—the grower, processors, hatcherymen, feed dealers, drug people, truckers, plant workers, and the others in Delaware who benefit from a prosperous agriculture."

The fact that Delaware has slipped in rank in broiler production isn't important, McAllister feels. He says the important thing is that we continue as a strong, healthy industry—by emphasizing broiler quality.

"Our Delaware broiler industry is here to stay, but so is that of Georgia, Maine, Indiana, and Arkansas, in all probability. This means that now and in future years, our industry must adjust its thinking to producing a broiler which will sell in competition with those available from the other areas."

"I am sure we are going to change in our ideas in time to prevent any great loss in market am sure it is because of the great number of people in this area who have their personal fortunes staked to broiler growing, and because we are beginning to work together on the common problems."

Broiler-Raising Costs Cut 9% With SULFAQUINOXALINE

Savings up to 9% have been shown after continuous feeding of mash containing Sulfaquinoxaline to prevent coccidiosis outbreaks. Every broiler flock is a target for coccidiosis. Birds killed or stunted by this disease reduce profits. That's why Sulfaquinoxaline fed continuously to prevent outbreaks is a must!
In over four years of commercial use, poultry coccidia have shown no resistance to SQ. It is the safest coccidiostat now available—can be fed right up to marketing.
Proved effective in hundreds of millions of birds, SQ is the only agent which combats all five dangerous types of poultry coccidia. Exposed birds protected by SQ have shown an average market weight 12% above that of unprotected birds. Feed efficiency was 6% greater in the protected flocks.
You can't afford to be without the protection of SQ! Insist on feeds containing Sulfaquinoxaline to prevent coccidiosis outbreaks. Every dealer has, or can get, SQ feeds.

Kent Home Doings

By Charlotte L. Swanson
Kent County Home
Demonstration Agent

This Is The Week

National Home Demonstration Week is May 3 to 9. Home Demonstration Clubs are telling others what they are doing. There are displays in some store windows; clubs are holding open houses for those who are not members; clubs are attending church in a body. The Kent County Home Demonstration Council decided that a radio program every day during the week would be a good way to promote Home Demonstration work, and different clubs are telling about their history, their special projects, and why they like Home Demonstration Work.

Some clubs have written their histories, and in the history of the Viola Club which was written several years ago, this poem was included. Its author was one of the first members, and it seems worth repeating now.

We are taught how to neatly adorn the home,
Dress up and remodel each kitchen and room.

We learned how to sew and we learned how to bake
And from one another good recipes take.

And always and ever as far as we're able
To cook wholesome foods and set a good table.

Now we have other topics included in our programs, but we still learn to prepare food, to make clothes, and to remodel rooms.

Home Painting

Yes, home painting is a topic in our 1953 program. Twenty-three women met at the home of Mrs. E. C. DeBaugh on Tuesday, April 28, to learn about painting and to paint a room. Those who attended are: Mrs. Louise Taylor, Todd's; Mrs. George B. Thompson, Andrewville; Mrs. Earl Griffith, Andrewville; Mrs. Cathyl Bowdle, Farmington; Mrs. Ethel Tharp, Farmington; Mrs. Frank L. McKee, Oak Grove; Mrs. Norman L. Ward, Oak Grove; Mrs. Betty Knotts, Clayton; Mrs. Charles Denney, Clayton; Miss Bethli Wittwer, Switzlerland; Mrs. Fred Fifer, Cee-W-Dee; Mrs. Gooden Voshell, Cee-W-Dee; Mrs. Winifred Wright, Todd's; Mrs. Marie Ougheltree, Chestnut Grove; Mrs. Margaret L. Kennedy, Chestnut Grove; Mrs. Tyson Cohee, Fraziers; Mrs. E. C. Barnard, Viola; Mrs. Claude Outten, Friendly Homemakers; Mrs. Margaret Pollitt, Frinedly Homemakers; Mrs. Shockley Dougherty, Houston; Mrs. Ethel

Johnson, Houston; Mrs. Amy Poynter, Viola; Mrs. E. C. DeBaugh, Viola.

Many clubs will be learning about this, at their May meeting, from these leaders.

HOME BUILDERS ADVISED TO WATCH LUMBER MOISTURE

When it comes to new wood floors, prevention is the only cure for cracks, says Bill Tarbell, Kent County agricultural agent. Quoting from a new U. S. Department of Agriculture leaflet, Bill points out that warping and cracks are due to changes in moisture content after the floors are laid.

The leaflet says that most changes in moisture content happen after the flooring leaves the lumberyard, and can be prevented by the home builder. People who have their homes built for them can check as to whether their builder follows these practices:

1. Do not have flooring delivered on a rainy day, or have it exposed to excessive moisture. If it does get exposed to rain or fog—don't use it until thoroughly dry.

2. Do not lay flooring before plaster or masonry is thoroughly dry, because the lumber will absorb the moisture.

3. Discard all badly crooked boards, because they develop cracks at each end and in the middle.

4. Prevent moisture absorption by the flooring by exposing all surfaces to the air for at least four days before laying, and by keeping the house warm and dry.

The leaflet also gives recommended moisture of flooring and how to measure moisture content. Single copy may be obtained free from Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. Ask for leaflet 56.

CAESAR RODNEY SCHOOL NOTES

Seniors to Tour New York City
The Senior Class of Caesar Rodney School will take its annual trip to New York City May 14, 15, and 16.

A committee composed of "Nick" Rodriguez, chairman; Doris Steele, "Dottie" Marker and Donald Betts has planned a full itinerary. Of special educational interest will be visits to the Empire State Building, the Statue of Liberty, Wall Street, the National Broadcasting Co. radio and television studios, and the United Nations Building, as well as a bus tour of the city, including stops at Chinatown, the Battery, Grant's Tomb, and the Church of St. John the Divine.

The group also plans a trip to the Yankee Stadium as well as a visit to Radio City Music Hall. For Friday evening tickets have been secured for the play, "Time Out for Ginger."

The class will make the Hotel Plymouth its headquarters and will be accompanied by faculty members, Mary W. Cool, Mrs.

Jessie C. Duncan, John C. Braner, and William R. Brown, Jr.

Rules for the trip were made by the class and approved by the Board of Education.

Dramatic Club Play Cast Listed

The members of the cast of the Dramatic Club play, "Beauty and the Jacobin," by Booth Tarkington are: Bruce Walton, Joy Ross, Richard McFaddin, Alvin Laramore, and Olive Roland. This play will be presented on the Caesar Rodney stage on Tuesday evening, as a part of the schools festival of arts program. The production is directed by Earl R. Scheidt and Richard C. Clark.

The play will also be presented as an exchange assembly program at the Felton School at a later date.

Students and School Board Agree On Diplomas

A recent poll of the members of the Senior Class of Caesar Rodney School indicates that the students almost unanimously agree that the present type of diploma, which indicates the students major field of study should not be replaced by a general diploma for all students.

At the April meeting the Board of Education also expressed its opposition to the proposed change as being unjust to the students and probably misleading to prospective employers.

The poll was conducted after the State Department of Public Instruction requested local reactions to the proposed change.

VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

Information Service
Questions and Answers

Q—I wrote a letter to VA and stated that I wanted to apply for disability compensation payments. Is that letter all I'll need in the way of an application?

A—No. VA will send you a formal application, which you must fill out and return. If you send it back to VA within a year from the time you received it, VA will consider as the effective date of your application the date that it received your original letter.

Q—As a disabled veteran, I received an automobile, under VA's program of paying up to $1600 of the cost. Will VA also pay for any repairs that I might need?

A. No. Under the law, no payment may be made for repairs, maintenance or replacement of your automobile.

Q—I'm taking on-the-job training under the Korean GI Bill.

What does VA consider as full-time training?

A—Full-time training for job trainees consists of the number of hours which make up the standard work week of your establishment. The minimum, however, is 36 hours a week, except in cases where bona fide collective bargaining between employers and employees has established a standard work week of fewer hours.

Q—I'm going to school under the Korean GI Bill, and my wife just had a baby. What must I do in order to get an increased education allowance from VA?

A—You must apply for the increase. If VA receives your application within 45 days, the effective date of the increased allowance will be the date of the birth of your child. Otherwise, the effective date will be the date will be the date VA receives your application. In either case, you must submit satisfactory evidence of the birth of the child within a year of the time you asked for the increased allowance.

DELAWARE CLUBS OBSERVE NATIONAL HOME DEMONSTRATION WEEK

The 2500 Home Demonstration Club members in Delaware are joining with three and a half million other women observing National Home Demonstration Week, May 8-9.

Delaware clubs plan special programs, news stories, radio programs, and exhibits to inform the public of Home Demonstration work. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson paid tribute to the Home Demonstration program by saying: "Home-making as you teach it is as much concerned with human values as technological changes. Unfortunately, the art of living has lagged somewhat behind technical progress."

"You hold the key" to much that stands for stable and democratic living in this great nation. You have the responsibility for promoting fine human qualities that help build better homes, where character grows and where youth develops the roots of homely virtues—fidelity, love and unity—which undergird our nation."

In 1952 Delaware reports show a broad and active program of building for better homes. The 2500 women belonged to 33 groups, with several new groups now making a total of 90 organized clubs in Delaware. Fourteen hundred of these women served as local leaders, learning skills and teaching them to their fellow homemakers.

The Home Demonstration program reached 7,304 homes, 2,062 of them being reached for the first time. Over 13,000 educational bulletins and leaflets were distributed. Home furnishings and foods and nutrition were the major fields of interest. Family life was third, followed by clothing, home management and food preservation.

Home Demonstration programs are carried out through county-wide projects carried on in each club. Assistance comes from Home Demonstration agents or specialists of the University of Delaware Cooperative Extension Service, or from the volunteer local leaders trained by the Extension Service.

Some of this year's topics are stretching the food budget, care and selection of new fabrics, living within your means, time and step-saving work studies, good storage, meals from the freezer, color schemes and room decorations, and yeast breads. Project schools currently underway are dressmaking in Wilmington, New Castle County, and the Negro groups; slip-covers in New Castle County; and silk lampshades in Kent County.

HARRINGTON HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB NOTES

The Harrington Home Demonstration Club met in Odd Fellows Hall Monday afternoon with Mrs. Joshua Lister, president, in the chair.

The club voted to reimburse all leaders for gasoline and money spent for materials attending leader training meetings.

It was also voted to rent Odd Fellows Hall for monthly meetings on a yearly basis.

Ideas were given to Mrs. Philomena Harrington, vice-president, for projects for the coming year.

The group will serve luncheon at the Harrington Gun Club shoot Wednesday. A committee of Mrs. Harrington, Mrs. J. F. Camper, Mrs. Martin Grier and Mrs. Lister was appointed.

Textile painting was demonstrated by the leaders, Mrs. Camper and Mrs. Fletcher Price.

Twenty-three members attended the Houston Church Sunday evening as the guests of the Houston Club.

The next meeting will be held June 8 in Odd Fellows Hall. Silk lampshades will be the topic discussed by Mrs. W. A. Wheeler and her committee.

1953 CROP SOYBEANS PRICE SUPPORT PROGRAM

The director of the grain branch, PMA, has announced that 1953 crop soybeans, No. 2, green or yellow with 13.3 to 14 per cent moisture, will be supported at $2.50 per bushel in all counties in Delaware.

The premiums and discounts for 1953 crop soybeans are the same as those used for 1952.

CORN SUPPORT TOTAL UP TO 270,359.176 BUSHELS

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reported that farmers put 270,359,176 bushels of 1952-crop corn under Commodity Credit Corporation price support through March 15, 1953. This was an increase of about 42,000,000 bushels since the Department's previous report which covered the period through February 15, 1953. Through the full month of March last year the quantity of 1951-crop corn put under support was less than 24,000,000 bushels. Delaware farmers placed 210,657 bushels under support during this period.

MORE PRICE SUPPORT BUTTER DISTRIBUTED

Here's the latest development on the dairy price support programs: The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced its plans to donate up to 50 million pounds of butter to non-profit school lunch programs, such charitable institutions as orphanages, homes for the aged, and mental hospitals, and other eligible outlets. This additional 50 million pounds of butter raises the total to 74 million pounds, and extends the program into the next school year. The distribution is financed by funds authorized to encourage additional consumption of agricultural commodities. Through the end of March, the Department had purchased 143 million pounds of butter under the 1952-53 dairy support program. This distribution will substantially reduce the inventory of butter acquired under this program, and now in the hands of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Greenwood

Mrs. Enola Meredith visited Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Meredith over the week-end. Ward Meredith from Wyoming and Morris Meredith from Newark were Sunday callers, also Miss Ann Meredith, Barry Sisson and Mr. Sisson's mother, from Hyattsville, Md. The Sissons were weekend guests of the Nelson Merediths. Donald Lynch from Mayard, was also a guest and accompanied Miss Jean Meredith to the alumni banquet and dance.

Last week-end the Stuart Gibsons had a most interesting trip. They visited their son's family, the James Gibsons, in Highland, N. Y. Jimmy is taking an advanced course in electrical engineering at the I. B. M. plant in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and his parents enjoyed a trip through the plant. They also enjoyed a short but interesting visit to Hyde Park. We asked Mrs. Gibson to tell us what appealed to her the most at Hyde Park, and she said that while the museum with all the mementoes of the life of Roosevelt were fine, the home itself appealed to her most of all. This seems most natural. As homemakers ourselves, we are intensely interested in the homes of others.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gibson and little daughter, Donna, visited in Greenwood this week-end. On Sunday they enjoyed a family dinner party at the home of their parents, the Stuart Gibsons. Those present to greet them were Mrs. Jeanette DeVroy and little daughter, Bobette, from Harrington; Mr. and Mrs. James Anthony, Dolores and Duane, and Mrs. Agnes Willey and Mrs. Esther Sammons from Dover.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield and Ellen, Mrs. Annie Hatfield of Greenwood, and their house guest, Mrs. Jane Walls from Milford visited Mrs. Walls' son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Walls, in Salisbury, Md., on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Walls' grandson, Kelly Walls, is with the armed forces in Korea and another grandson, William Walls, will leave shortly with the air force to serve in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Jester and little Jimmy from Milford visited Mr. and Mrs. Lester Draper Sunday. Mrs. Draper's father, Edgar Draper, from Magnolia is their house guest for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Dickerson and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tucker were among those who attended the dedication of the new Fire House and equipment at Cheswold Sunday afternoon. We were not able to get a complete list of the speakers, but we understand that Governor Caleb Boggs, Representative Herbert Warburton and the Rev. Thomas C. Milligan, chaplain of the Sussex County Fire Association, participated in the services.

Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott have both been on the sick list. Mrs. Elliott is improving, but we are sorry to report that Mr. Elliott is not at this writing.

532 Cancer Victims In State in 1952

Five hundred and twenty-three persons died of cancer in Delaware during 1952, according to figures received by the American Cancer Society from the State Board of Health.

The total included 278 males and 225 females. Separated by ages the figures show that nine children under 10 years of age were cancer victims in Delaware last year. The greatest incidence of the disease was, as usual, among persons over 50 years of age.

Considered on a basis of mortality rates per 100,000 population, the 1952 rate for residents was 141.2. The highest rate occurred in Wilmington, which showed a cancer mortality of 174.6 deaths per 100,000 population.

$25,000 Kent Stakes To Be Televised

Come Saturday, June 13, there will emanate from Delaware Park the first national telecast ever to go out from the Diamond State. The $25,000 Kent Stakes will be screened over most of the stations on the coast to coast hook-up of the National Broadcasting Company. The same event will be aired on the American Broadcasting Company's nationwide radio chain. The time: 4 to 4:30 p. m. (daylight).

The Kent is one of a series of 10 major eastern stakes being televised by NBC and broadcast by ABC on successive Saturdays. The series began April 18 and ends June 20.

Bryan Field, vice-president and general manager of Delaware Park and for years one of America's best known racecasters, made the Kent announcement but will not participate in the June 13 telecast or broadcast. He said: "The sponsors were kind enough to offer me the opportunity to do the series of 10 races, of which the Kent is one. However, after talking it over with Donald Ross, president of our Association, it was thought wiser for me to continue to tel-cast the Triple Crown of the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes, which three races conflict with the series of ten."

Also of keen interest to Delawareans who follow the sport by radio was the disclosure by Mr. Field that Delaware Park will again have a five-station State of Delaware non-commercial hook-up of "in the public interest" broadcasts lasting 30 minutes on each of the six Saturdays during the 32-day race meeting, May 29-July 4. These programs feature the track's major races and also are devoted to Delaware's worthy charities or service organizations. Representatives of United Fund, Delaware Safety Council, Delaware Red Cross, State Highway Commission, Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force recruitment work and other similar organizations will again be invited to participate.

To avoid time conflict and enable Delawareans to enjoy the series of 10 stakes, Triple Crown events and the full half-hour

"in the public interest" programs Delaware Park this season is scheduling its Saturday feature events sixth on the card instead of fifth. This means the public interest broadcasts will be aired from 4:30 to 5 p. m., rounding out a full hour of outstanding race broadcasting and telecasting. On only one Saturday—June 13, when the Kent goes on a coast to coast hook-up—will Delaware's weekend stake remain fifth on the card.
