Madalyn Tharp to Head Local Unit of State-wide Chest X-Ray Survey

Miss Madalyn Tharp was elected general chairman for the Harrington unit of Delaware State-wide Chest X-Ray Survey, Inc., Thursday night, Aug. 6, at an organization meeting of district 3 of the survey at the Firehouse.

Mrs. Donald Kent was recorder at the meeting attended by Dr. Hewitt W. Smith, district chairman; Miss Nell Lomphey, of the U. S. Public Health Service; Victoria Worden, of the State Board of Health, and residents of Harrington, Felton, Viola, Canterbury.

Other communities in District 3 include Andrewville, Hickman, Vernon, Burrsville, Farmington, and Masten's Corner.

Other members of local committees were elected as follows: Hostess, Mrs. Cora Bailey, chairman; home calling, Mrs. Ellwood Cruwell, chairman, and Luther Hatfield, co-chairman; business canvass, Samuel A. Short, Jr., chairman; publicity, C. H. Burgess. Mrs. Margaret Thorpe was elected general chairman in the Negro district of Harrington, with Mrs. Mary Bailey as chairman of the home calling committee.

Elsewhere, Mrs. Russell Torbert, Jr., was elected general chairman of the Felton unit; Mrs. O. M. Kersey, of the Viola unit, and Mrs. Leland Price, of the Canterbury unit. Officials remain to be elected of the Vernon, Farmington, and Masten's Corner units.

Ten mobile X-ray machines will operate in Kent County Sept. 8-19, inclusive, and in Sussex County, Sept. 22-Oct. 10, inclusive. Exact dates and hours of operation of these devices will be publicized later.

The purpose of the survey is to cut the case and death rate of tuberculosis as low as possible. The first step in solving this problem is to find every person who has the disease so he or she may receive medical care. This can best be done by a rapid-tempo chest X-ray survey.

The survey has been financed co-operatively from many sources, including a $46,000 appropriation from the State, supplemented by large sums of money, personnel, supplies and equipment from the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Society and the Delaware State Board of Health. Additional contributions are anticipated from other public and private agencies. The mobile X-ray machines will be lent by the U. S. Public Health Service.

The objectives of the survey are to find unknown cases of tuberculosis and other chest abnormalities, including tumors, lung cancer and certain heart conditions which can be shown by X-ray. Last year 55 Delawareans died from some form of tuberculosis.

The X-ray will be made without cost to every person over 15 years of age.

Mrs. Billings died in her apartment over the restaurant early Thursday, Aug. 6, after a long illness. The daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter E. Warren, of Felton, Mrs. Billings had operated a restaurant in that town before coming to Harrington, where she operated a beauty shop before going into the restaurant business.

Greenwood Man Injured in Auto Accident

A Greenwood man may lose his left arm as the result of the area's traffic accidents Friday. Police said the accident, which occurred on Route 13, a mile north of Seaford, was caused when the driver fell asleep.

The victim is Lawrence S. Smith, 29, whose arm was wedged in between the side of his automobile and the rear of a truck, driven by Millard Paulus, 34, of Elmer, N. J. Bridgeville State Police said Smith was returning from his job at 6 a. m., in Seaford when the collision occurred.

Doctors at Nanticoke Memorial Hospital, Seaford, are attempting to save Smith's arm.

As the car and truck were passing, troopers said, Smith's car veered to the left and struck the left rear side of the truck body Smith was riding with his arm resting on the sill of the car window.

He received severe cuts and abrasions and a compound fracture of the left arm. Troopers believe Smith fell asleep while driving. He will be charged with reckless driving when released from the hospital.

Two persons were injured in a head-on collision at 9:30 a. m. Friday on State Route 8, three miles west of Dover. State Police said cars operated by Theodore Wilson, of Hartly, and William W. Johnson, of Dover, crashed together on a stretch of road which is under construction.

Perla Perkins, 30, and Edward Johnson, 25, both passengers in the Johnson car, were cut about the face and body and treated at the Kent County General Hospital at Dover.

Lewis Slaughter Dies Suddenly

Funeral services for Lewis S. Slaughter, 55, of 76 Clark St., were held Sunday at his residence in charge of Cooper Funeral Service, with burial at Greensboro. The Rev. Milton R. Elliott, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, of which Mr. Slaughter was a member, officiated.

Mr. Slaughter died the previous Thursday in Delaware Hospital, Wilmington, after a brief illness.

A resident of Harrington most of his life, he had been employed by the State Highway Department a number of years, with his last post being manager of the Dover inspection lane of motor vehicles.

Mr. Slaughter and his brother, Harvey, now a resident of Middletown, built the Slaughter Building, at 3 Commerce Street, which structure now belongs to Gordon Smith and which houses the George Sherwin shirt factory.

An ardent Democrat, Mr. Slaughter was also a member of the Masonic Lodge, at Milford, and a director of the Kent and Sussex Fair Association.

Born at Denton, he was the son of the late Lewis and Minnie Hall Slaughter. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Minnie Price Slaughter; three sisters, Mrs. Florence Cain, of Elmer, N. J., Mrs. Pearl Hanson, of Harrington, and Mrs. Bessie Dische, of Wilmington, and his brother.

Child 3, Drowns in Cesspool

The three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Spence, who live near the Camden campmeeting woods, three miles south of Dover, drowned in a cesspool in front of his home Friday night.

The tot, Robert Spence, was found by his father at the close of a search lasting nearly four hours and involving nearly 1,000 persons, including state policemen and volunteer firemen from Dover and Camden-Wyoming who had been summoned by a general alarm.

The boy's body was found by Mr. Spence when the father noticed that the wooden top, about 12 inches square and an inch and one-half thick, of the cesspool, had been removed.

Mr. Spence looked inside and his boy was there. The child was taken immediately to the Kent General Hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 10:36 o'clock by Dr. George Spang.

Robert's parents missed him about dinner time and began a house-to-house search. When this failed a general alarm was sounded and volunteer firemen were summoned by the state police from Camden and Wyoming.

The search was extended to the campmeeting woods. Finally, police sent to Dover for a salvage truck of the Dover Fire Department.

The preliminary investigation did not indicate whether the child had removed the cesspool top in play or whether it had been left off carelessly.

Mr. Spence is employed with George & Lynch.

Chuck Volo Makes Comeback

It may be difficult to believe but a broken bone is considered responsible for the upset victory scored in the $50,000 Nassau Pace at New York's Roosevelt Raceway recently by Chuck Volo.

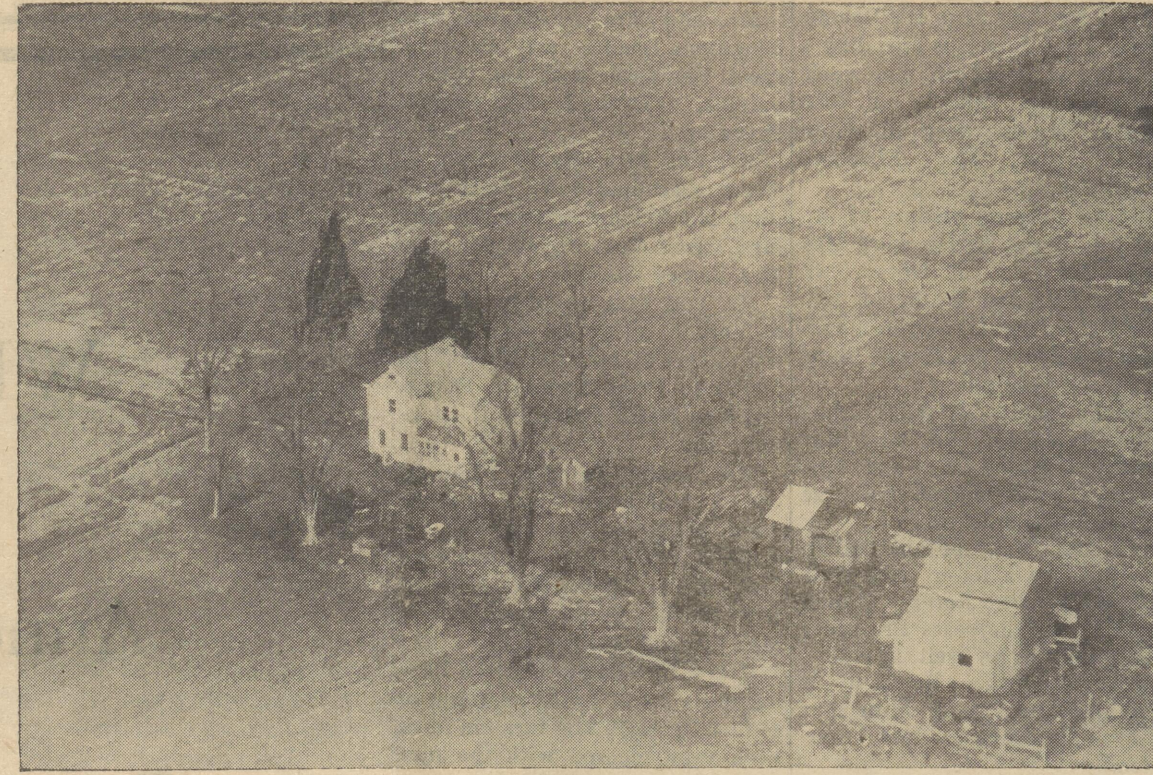

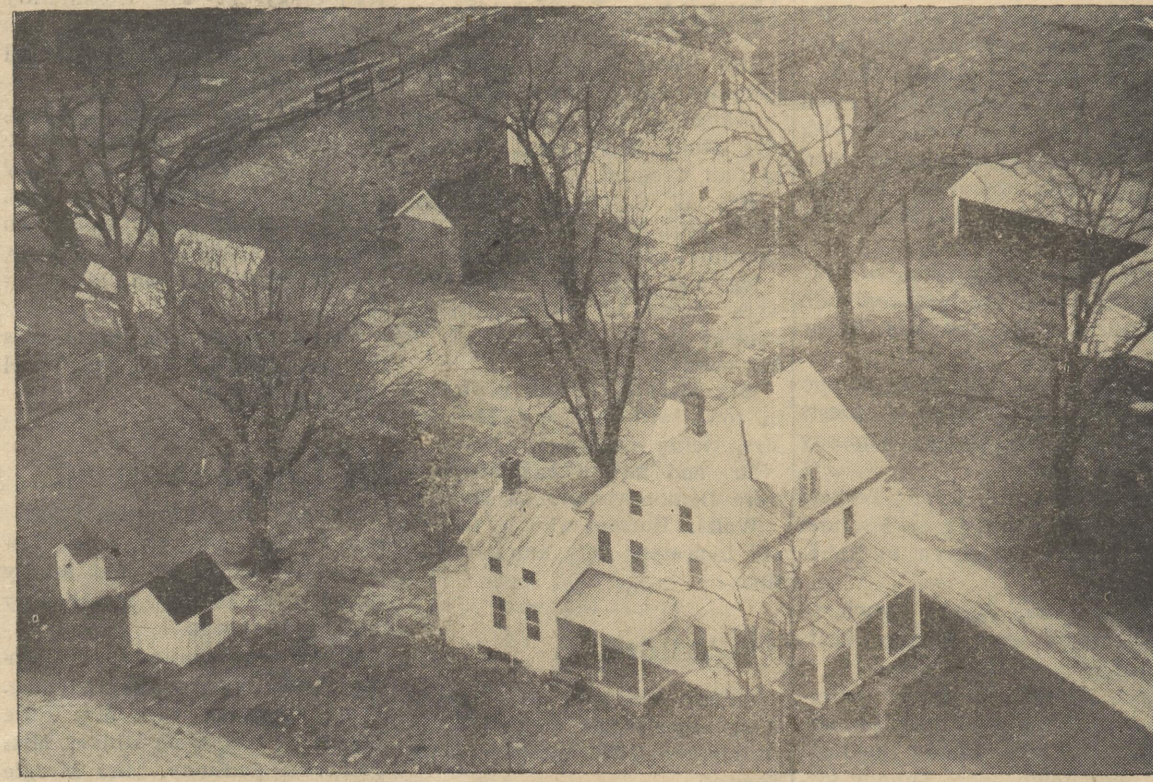

Wendell Wathen, who owns, trains and drives Chuck Volo, says a broken bone that caused the Volomite stallion to miss a season at the races last year left a lot of fast miles in Chuck's system, including the 3.05 3-5 world record performance in the Nassau.

Wathen, a rich state-of-Maine potato man who races his own stock but is considered on a par with the top professionals, bred Chuck Volo and, incidentally, later gave the dam away because she hadn't produced anything.

As a 2-year-old in 1950 Chuck won six of 21 starts and had six seconds and four thirds. He earned $18,600. At three, he ran into Tar Heel and Solicitor and had to be content with third or worse when he opposed them in the big ones. He did manage to do quite handsomely, however, being credited with eight wins, seven seconds and $21,000 on U. S. Trotting Association record books.

Late that season Chuck Volo came up lame and a veterinarian discovered a broken bone in one of his front feet.

Farm Photos Still Unidentified

The farms depicted in these photos are still unidentified. They were published in our rural photo quiz page in the issues of July 17 and 31. If the persons living on these farms will come in, they will be given a mounted photo, free, and certificates for free merchandise.

Church Purchases Wolcott Mansion in Dover for School

According to plans, the 22-room mansion will become a convent to replace the present one at 25 South Bradford Street, which is across the street from the church.

According to long-range plans which cover a possible 25-year period, a new parochial school and, eventually, a new church, will be built on the Wolcott grounds. No information was available as to when the property will pass to church hands.

The mansion is the home of Mrs. Josiah O. Wolcott, widow of the late Chancellor and former

Annie Fleming Dies at Felton

Miss Annie Fleming, daughter of Elizabeth and Ezekiel Fleming, died Tuesday night at Felton, at the Jarvis Nursing Home.

Born in Harrington, Miss Fleming had lived in this area all her life. She was one of the oldest members of Asbury Methodist Church, being 90. She is survived by two sisters, Miss Laura Fleming, of Harrington, and Mrs. J. H. Holt, of Wilmington, and a brother, Thomas Fleming, Ellendale. A brother, Frank Fleming, who died in 1925, founded the Harrington Journal in 1913.

Miss Fleming's father, Ezekiel Fleming, a pioneer, had a saw mill and a grist mill here.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. today at Berry Funeral Home here, with the Rev. Robert VanCleaf, pastor of Asbury Methodist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Holywood Cemetery. It is requested that flowers be omitted. There will be no viewing.

Local Youths Held in Robberies

The arrest Tuesday of two Harrington youths, aged 15 and 16 years, is believed to have solved five, and possibly six robberies in the Harrington area over the past three months, according to state police detectives from the Bridgeville Troop.

A third Harrington boy, 14 years old, who police said was implicated in some of the crimes, is on a vacation trip. He will be arrested when he returns in about two weeks.

State police said the two boys arrested Tuesday have admitted participation in some of the breaking and enterings.

Their arrest followed an investigation of the breaking into the grocery store of Samuel Andrews at Farmington last Friday. Articles stolen included watches, sports shirts, and other articles of apparel, valued at about $75. Some of the articles have been recovered.

George Sherwin Returns From California Vacation

George Sherwin has recently returned from a two week vacation in California. He says that he feels splendid and well rested but is glad to be back in Harrington with his many friends. He says, too, that he is glad to be back at work in the factory which he has operated many years, for it is really the joy of his life.

In California, he visited his sister, who celebrated her 80th birthday during his visit.

Store, Gas Station Entered

Troopers believe the boys also broke into Burton's Sporting Goods store at Harrington several weeks ago and stole three revolvers, and the service station of George Graham when about $11 in cash was taken from the cash register.

Investigation is also being made to determine whether the boys are the same ones who stole a small amount of money from a cash box at the Harrington Recreation Park.

Probe Being Continued

The investigation is being continued and there is a possibility that other boys may be implicated, detectives at the Bridgeville troop said.

The two boys arrested were released in custody of their parents for appearance in the Sussex County Family Court at Georgetown before Judge W. Marion Stevenson on Sept. 1. The boy, who is now on a vacation trip with his parents, will face late charges and be taken into the same court when he returns.

State Ends Year With Surplus

A $3,019,506.97 cash balance and a $1,726,084.82 general fund surplus, available for appropriation for the fiscal year ended June 30, have been reported by State Auditor G. Dan Enterline, Sr.

The statement appears to bear out predictions last year by Democratic spokesman of a fiscal 1953 surplus rather than Republican claims of a deficit.

The cash balance represents funds the state had on hand. The difference between this and the general fund surplus is $1,726,084.82, already obligated by state agencies.

Receipts $28,499,108
Cash receipts came to $28,499,108.50.

Disbursements during the year included $29,991,280.91 in general operating expenditures; $3,148,107.08 for debt service; and $2,000,000 for repayment of the short term loan which the Boggs administration negotiated last winter.

The disbursements added up to $35,139,387.99. These, minus the year's receipts, cut the cash balance from the $9,659,786.46 at the start of the last fiscal year to the $3,019,506.97 remaining at the end.

Difference explained
A spokesman for the auditor's office explained the difference between the $9,659,786.46 balance for 1952 and the $8,673,340.09 available for appropriation.

He said it was the same situation as between the balance of $3,019,506.97 and the $1,726,084.82 surplus for the fiscal year—a difference for outstanding obligations.

The report by Mr. Enterline, a Republican, apparently settles a 1952 controversy between Mrs. Lillian I. Martin, then deputy state auditor, and E. Hobson Davis, at that time chief accountant for the budget commission. Both made widely varying predictions on the state's surplus or deficit. Mrs. Martin is now the commission's chief accountant.

On Feb. 28, 1952, Mrs. Martin, a Republican, predicted that the state might have a $2,000,000, $3,000,000 deficit by June 30, 1953.

Davis Saw Surplus
Mr. Davis, a Democrat, answered that the state would have a $3,000,000 surplus by that time. Qualifying this statement, he predicted last fall that the fiscal year would be ended with a $3,000,000 balance and a surplus of about $1,800,000.

There was an earlier exchange between Mrs. Martin and the then Governor, Elbert N. Carvel. On June 18, 1951, Mrs. Martin predicted that under the best of conditions the state would face a deficit of two to three million dollars in 1953.

Governor Carvel replied that he figured the state would have a surplus of five to six millions on Jan. 1, 1953.

Carvel Predictions
Governor Carvel also predicted, last January, that the state's surplus at the end of the fiscal year would be about $1.8 millions.

The year's receipts include: Income taxes: $3,247,973.03. Franchise tax: $5,841,741.27. Inheritance and estate taxes: $1,482,140.03.

Mercantile licenses: $791,290.01. Cigar and cigarette taxes: $1-155,636.35. Insurance taxes: $835,553.21.

Motor fuel tax (net): $5,445-294.77. Liquor and beer: $1,243,507.49. Pari-mutuel tax: $1,191,207.93. Motor vehicle licenses and fees: $2,178,852.81. State Police fines: $171,241.00. Short term loan: $2,000,000.00. All other receipts: $2,914,670.60. Total: $20,499,108.50.

John H. Austin

Funeral services for John Henry Austin, 85, a farmer of Burrsville, were conducted at the funeral home of J. Virgil Moore and Son at Denton Saturday morning by the Rev. Omro Todd of Burrsville Methodist Church. Burial was in Burrsville.

The son of John Henry Austin, Sr., he died Thursday in his home. Five sons survive, John Austin and Clarence Austin of Seaford; Willis Austin of Milford; William C. Austin of Denton; two daughters, Mrs. Myrtle Short and Miss Mildred Austin of Philadelphia; one sister, Mrs. Ernest Watson of Philadelphia.

Thomas W. Murray of Dover says he will introduce the first ghost he finds at Woodburn, historic Delaware landmark and haunted house at the center of Dover, to representatives of the press.

Mr. Murray has arranged to buy the house to be used as his residence. One string is still attached to the deal; the purchase must be approved as consistent with certain terms of the will by Chancellor Collins J. Seitz.

So far no press representative has accepted Mr. Murray's invitation. As the prospective buyer freely admits, there is scarcely a family in Dover where somebody can't tell of a mysterious incident about the house.

Dismissing as nonsense a number of warnings not to buy the old mansion, Mr. Murray says he hopes to occupy the house by Halloween.

In fact, he plans to celebrate moving into the house with a Halloween party.

If the deal to buy the old estate goes through, six of the nine acres of the land will be bought by the Elizabeth D. Murphy School, a private institution at Dover which borders on the property. The school hopes to use the land for future building.

Built By Tyrant
In the book "The Entailed Hat," he author George Alfred Townsend says of Woodburn:

"Built by a tyrannical eccentric man, it passed through several families until a Quaker named Cowgill, who afterwards became a Methodist, made it his property.

"The owner, it was said amused himself in the great hall by making his own children stand on their toes, switching their feet with a whip until they dropped upon their soles with pain and fatigue. His own son finally shot at him through that great northern door with a rifle or pistol, leaving the mark to this day, to be seen by a small panel set in the original pine. The room over the great door has always been considered the haunt of peculiar people who molested nobody living, but appeared there in some quiet apparition, and vanished when pressed upon."

The author further says that it was here that the notorious Patty Cannon and her gang of early Eighteenth Century slave traders were said to have carried out one of their biggest and, for them, most disastrous raids.

Townsend says that Cowgill was not a slave owner and treated Negroes with unusual respect and courtesy, allowing his property to be used as a station in the famous Underground Railway, a unique system for bringing Negroes out of slavery and conducting them through the Delaware "underground" to freedom in the north.

The chief ghost story about Woodburn is about the famous preacher, Lorenzo Dow, who was a guest there.

One evening when Dow was walking up the main stairway he met an old gentleman in a colonial dress—long coat, waistcoat, knee breeches, and a stock with his hair in a queue.

Lorenzo Dow merely bowed to the gentleman in return and continued flitting down the stairs.

That night Mr. Dow, who had thought little of the incident but who perhaps was puzzled by the appearance of a Colonial gentleman, mentioned the meeting to his hosts.

Colonial Gentleman—Ghost

There was dead silence and clearing of throats until it was explained that the old Colonial was a ghost, one of a number of ghosts who were flitting about the upper floors, molesting no one "in their unprovoked manner of gliding hither and yon."

The Delaware Guide describes it as a "large brick mansion built about 1790 by Charles Hillyard—a notable example of 18th Century Georgian architecture."

The mansion is located on the King's Highway. The landscape is dominated by a 500-year-old tulip poplar.

In June of this year the contents of the house were auctioned off for a whopping $77,000. Included in the furniture were rare American antiques. Some 485 items in the old home were sold. Since the auction the great rooms and hallways have been bare.

The old mansion and the nine acres of property around belong to the estate of Dr. Frank Sullivan

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I used to be a bookkeeper before I entered service. I've just been released, and I want to take a course in bookkeeping under the Korean GI Bill, to brush up on the subject. Will I be allowed to do so?

A—No. The law prohibits veterans from studying for objectives for which they already are qualified. And you already are qualified for the objective of bookkeeper, because of your past experience. But you would be permitted to train for an advanced objective you haven't already reached, such as that of accountant.

Q—I had a permanent National Service Life Insurance policy which I surrendered for cash when I went back on active duty. Now that I've been separated, would it be possible for me to reinstate that same policy as of the original date?

A—Yes. It may be reinstated at the original age an effective date, and without a medical examination, upon payment of the required reserve and the current premium. But you must apply in writing within 120 days after your separation from service.

Q—I'm a disabled World War II veteran, and I've delayed entering training under Public Law 16 until now. How much training will I be allowed to get?

A—You may train for as long as is necessary to restore your ability to earn a living at the objective you've selected. However, the course you take must be one that can be completed by July 25, 1956, the legal ending date of the Public Law 16 program.

Q—What papers will I need in order to apply for a certificate of eligibility for a GI home loan? And where do I apply?

A—You'll need your original discharge or separation paper. The place to apply is your nearest VA regional office.

This demonstration showed me the way to a better deal!

I'd been planning to buy a higher-priced car until I found out all Chevrolet offered—and how much I could save!

You get more power on less gas

That's because Chevrolet's two great valve-in-head engines are high-compression engines. In Powerglide* models, you get the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field — the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame." Gearshift models offer the advanced 108-h.p. "Thrifty-King" engine.

And it's the lowest-priced line

A demonstration will show you that Chevrolet offers just about everything you could want. Yet it's the lowest-priced line in the low-price field.

*Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.

You get greater getaway with the new Powerglide*

A lot finer performance on a lot less gas. That's what you get with the new Powerglide automatic transmission. There's no more advanced automatic transmission at any price.

You can see all around

You look out and down through a wide, curved, one-piece windshield. The panoramic rear window and big side windows provide a clear view in all directions.

Biggest brakes for smoother, easier stops

An easy nudge on the pedal brings smooth, positive response—right now! Chevrolet's improved brakes are the largest in the low-price field.

It's heavier for better roadability

You're in for a pleasant surprise at the smooth, steady, big-car ride of this new Chevrolet. One reason is that, model for model, Chevrolet will weigh up to 200 pounds more than the other low-priced cars.

Let us demonstrate all the advantages of buying a Chevrolet now!

MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

Who Starts The Rumors?

Who starts the rumors? The Thorndike-Barnhart Dictionary defines a rumor as "a story or statement talked of as news without any proof that it is true."

The person who starts a rumor, or gossip, is in a position to do considerable damage and cause considerable grief in more ways than one. One instance is the unfounded reports of deaths. Mark Twain once said, "The rumor concerning my death is highly exaggerated."

Someone, apparently more interested in gossip than facts, reported this week that Joe Fleming, suffering from erysipelas, had died Thursday. We heard the rumor repeated Thursday evening, that is, Thursday week ago. Not so.

After we had put our newspaper to press one time, we heard that the late Elmer Thomas, a magistrate here, had died. Favorable comments were heard about him all over town.

The rumor was once widely spread that Milton Bland had died. Favorable comments were heard about him all over town. A short time later we saw him on the street.

There is one thing about reporting for a newspaper: it has to be a fact, not a rumor, before we put it in the paper. Our policy is, "When in doubt, leave it out."

In February, 1952, Mrs. Lillian I. Martin, then deputy state auditor in the office of State Auditor G. Dan Enterline, Sr., a Republican, predicted that the state might have a deficit of $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 by June 30, 1953.

E. Hobson Davis, at that time chief accountant for the budget commission, said the state would have a $3,000,000 surplus by that time. Mr. Davis, a Democrat, added in the fall that the fiscal year would be ended with a $3,000,000 balance and a surplus of about $1,800,000.

Gov. Carvel also tangled with Mrs. Martin who had a lot to say about the shortcomings of the Democrats. On June 18, 1951, Mrs. Martin predicted that under the best of conditions the state would face a deficit of two to three million dollars in 1953. At that time, Gov. Carvel replied he figured the state would have a surplus of five to six millions on Jan. 1, 1953.

Last January the governor predicted the state's surplus at the end of the fiscal year would be about 1.8 million dollars.

State Auditor Enterline has announced that the cash balance, as of June 30, 1953, is $3,019,506.97, and as the general surplus fund is $1,726,084.82. Thus, one can see that Mr. Davis and Gov. Carvel hit the nail almost on the head. Thus, the state had, as of June 30, some seven or eight million dollars more than she said it would have.

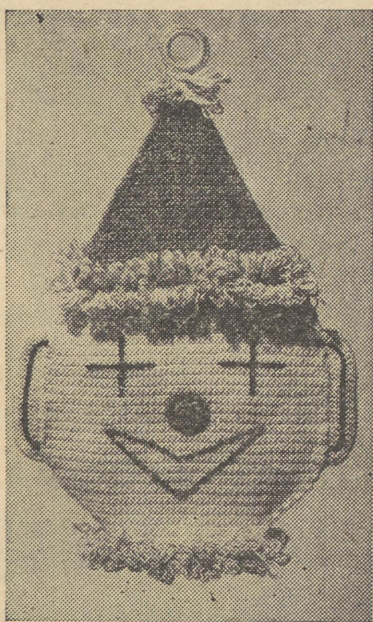

We believe that this would be a good topic for more speeches by Mrs. Martin. She could start right away or wait until the election next year.

Needlecraft News
by Nancy Baxter

Are you making plans for a club bridge party, church dinner or charity bazaar? Most of the women in the community who participate in at least one of these functions during the year may find a problem in trying to decide upon the party favors, door prizes or upon the items that will be the best money-makers at the bazaar. Unfurl your brow, for here is a light-hearted idea that will please every woman in attendance...

CIRCUS CLOWN POTHOLDER

His peaked hat is red and is gaily accented with a brilliant chartreuse loop trim to match the collar. On his chalk white, smiling face is embroidered black criss-cross eyes and a red mouth. The outline of his ears is also embroidered in black, and the cherry-like nose is made of rounds of crochet. This tricky, little item will cost so little to make that the crochet materials will hardly put a dent in your club treasury. If you intend to make a large quantity of them, they will work up quickly and easily when each club member is designated to complete one specific job. While one woman is crocheting the hat, another could be working on the face, and others could join in by applying the finishing touches such as the embroidery or padding of the potholders.

CROCHETING DIRECTIONS FOR ALL

If you want yours to be the busiest booth at the bazaar, the most well-remembered church dinner or bridge party, gather your club friends around you for a crocheting session beforehand. You will enjoy making this whimsical potholder en masse. If you would like an instruction leaflet for yourself or one for each of the club members, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Dept. of this paper and request CIRCUS CLOWN POTHOLDER, Leaflet No. S-349.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor of the Harrington Journal:

It seems a pity that some of the pressure which was applied toward the passage of Senate Substitute No. 2 for Senate Bill 442 could not have been applied to legislation that would have made possible a new hospital for Delaware Colony.

It cost the taxpayers of Delaware thousands of dollars to defeat House Bill 340 and pass Senate Substitute 2 for Senate Bill 442. This bill permits a very few stockholders of a phantom race track in Sussex County to transfer racing dates from Sussex County to New Castle County. This bill also benefits a very small, handpicked group of already wealthy men. Legislation which would have given desperately needed care to more than 500 abnormal children housed at the Colony was so insignificant to the members of the General Assembly that it received no consideration.

SS 2 for SB 442 was so important that it was rumored the House and Senate would stay in session 'till Christmas if necessary — but what SS 2 for SB 442 would be passed. This was so important and yet House Bill 257, or the Unified Penal System Bill, was of such unimportance it was not called up for a vote. HB 580 which would give Korean War Veterans a bonus also fell by the wayside with many other important recommended acts of legislation. SB 442 was given primary consideration even over the protests of the people in Brandywine Hundred. They had protested (and with understandable reasons) the building of a race track in their neighborhood with 20 annual days of racing. This was to no avail. Then to add insult to injury to the people of Brandywine Hundred, a bill was passed which made it possible to race 30 days at Brandywine Track. The taxpayers of this Hundred protested this bill vehemently—but to what avail?

What are the bingo players supposed to do? Save your dimes and when you have $2.00 you can go to the track and bet it legally! This may not help your Volunteer Fire Companies or your American Legions and their auxiliaries but it will add to the already filled till of the wealthy stockholders of the race track.

Is this the change that the people voted for in November? As a taxpayer are you satisfied to be represented by men who are more concerned with benefits for themselves than they are the welfare of the people whom they supposedly represent? It is disgusting — I should know. I was there.

SENATOR CLAGHORN

Kent Home Doings

By Charlotte L. Swanson
Kent County Home
Demonstration Agent

For dried arrangements next winter, we should start looking at flowers, grasses, gourds, etc. now. Many people have asked me for information about collecting and preparing these materials, and Mr. Robert F. Stevens, Extension Horticulturist, has some timely advice about it.

Frequent inquiry is made as to the best methods of curing gourds. The usual test of maturity of the thin-shelled gourds of the dipper type is, first, the changing of the green color to a light brown. At the same time the shells begin to harden, the fruits become lighter in weight, and the tendrils on the vines near the gourds begin to shrivel and dry. Where it is desired to have gourds of a curly-maple appearance after they are finished, they should not be subjected to hard freezing. For gourds of a tan or mahogany color the fruits should be cut with long stems before frost and hung to dry in a well-ventilated place. For best results the gourds should cure slowly, and it is not uncommon for those of the Lageneria group to be 6 months or a year in curing. In contrast, the Cucurbita type of gourd, or those having thick flesh, must be gathered before the first frost, but the rinds should be hard, and the stems should have started to shrivel before the gourds are picked. Gourds of this type are more difficult to cure than the thin-shelled ones: after being brightly colored for 3 or 4 months, they usually begin to fade; their beauty is of short duration. All types of gourds should be handled carefully, as bruises will sooner or later discolor and cause them to soften and decay.

Where large quantities of gourds are being cured they are frequently placed in open fruit crates or spread on slatted shelves in a building where free ventilation can be maintained. The use of artificial heat has a tendency to cause molding and spoilage. In some cases the gourds are cured in crates in the open with some form of roof over them to shed rain, but provision should be made to protect them from freezing. If only small numbers of the large thin-shelled gourds are being cured, a loop of string or copper wire can be attached to the stem of each and the gourds hung to nails driven in the joists or rafters of an open shed or outbuilding. The small or fleshy gourds may be placed in open-mesh bags, such as are used for onions, and hung in a well-ventilated room for curing.

When the gourds are first gathered they should be thoroughly washed in some disinfectant such as bichloride of mercury at the rate of one 7-1-2 grain tablet to a pint of water or dusted with a disinfectant material to prevent the development of molds. If the gourds are washed they should be wiped dry with a clean cloth and then cured.

It should be remembered that bichloride of mercury is a deadly poison and should be handled with extreme care. Any of the solution that is left after treating the gourds should be poured into a hole in the ground and covered.

PROVIDE A SUMMER SHELTER FOR LAYERS

Summer shelters for laying hens are increasing in popularity these days, according to Silas McHenry, assistant poultry specialist of the Delaware agricultural extension service. Laying shelters provide low cost housing for old hens while the laying houses are used for new pullets.

These shelters also keep the birds more comfortable during the summer than the usual laying producers, says McHenry, since house. This is important to egg hot weather cuts down feed consumption, reduces egg production, egg size, and egg strength. Moulting which follows severe heat waves will also decrease egg production.

Ernest F. Smith, Jr., of Kenton has a summer shelter 28 x 120 feet which holds 1000 hens. The kraft paper on the sides cuts down draft in the early spring; it is removed in the summer. There is a 10 foot-wide door at both ends of the house to permit the passage of a tractor or a truck. Creosoted posts support a metal roof.

In the spring, Smith moves his New Hampshire laying hens from his two-story laying house to the summer shelter. Hens are culled as they are picked up and loaded into a wagon body with wire sides. When the wagon arrives at the shelter, the sides are removed and the chickens jump off.

Pole type construction with wire sides and metal roof keeps down material and labor costs. Less floor space per bird is necessary under these conditions.

Angus Breeders Show Season Under Way

The 1953 show season for eastern Angus breeders started July 30 at the Kent and Sussex Fair at Harrington when 70 Angus representing 12 herds were paraded before the judge. Judging this year's show was T. Alex Edwards, veteran Angus breeder of London, Ontario, Canada.

Mr. Edwards picked as the grand champion bull of the show Mahrapo Black Barodier shown by Bar-Kes-Knoll, Aberdeen, Md. This flashy bull had been made senior champion and went to be declared the supreme champion animal of the show and was awarded the silver trophy of the Fair Association. The reserve grand champion bull was the first prize two-year-old entry from Wimberly Farm, Princess Anne, Md. He was also reserve senior champion bull. The Junior champion bull was a typey junior yearling from Swan Point Farm, Rock Hall, Md. The reserve junior champion was shown by Mt. Prospect Farm, Gaithersburg, Md.

The grand champion female of the show was Fairwood Lass, the first prize senior yearling shown by Fairwood Farm, Bowie, Md. This was quite an achievement for Fairwood in the first show in their career of breeding Angus cattle. She was also senior champion female. The reserve grand champion female was Blackbird 25" of Mt. Prospect, shown by Mt. Prospect Farm, Gaithersburg, Md. She was first prize senior calf and junior champion female. The reserve senior female was shown by Fenbrok Farm and the reserve junior champion was another senior senior calf from Mt. Prospect.

The Angus show of steers brought out two classes from the 4-H and FFA competitors. James T. Nelson, Westover, Md., won the junior yearling steer class and Joan Strong, Rock Hall, Md., showed the blue ribbon winner in the summer yearling class. The champion steer went to James T. Nelson. A group of three steers

Bloths Make Dairying Pay

During the last 10 years dairying has been the main source of income on the Robert Bloth farm, near Petersburg.

The Bloths started sending milk to Pet in 1943, when they had only two cows. At present they have a fine mixed herd of 20 Holsteins and Guernseys, 16 of which are now being milked. Two or more heifers are raised every year for replacements or additions to the herd.

Robert Bloth, Jr., or "Bobby," as he is better known, owns the cows, and he is the sparkplug in carrying on the dairy operation. He served 26 months overseas with the army in World War II.

He and his father now share in the work of milking the cows and keeping the stable floor cleaned and limed daily. Mrs. Bloth takes the milking machine apart every day and cleans it thoroughly with brush, dairy cleanser and hot water. She also scrubs the milk house floor each morning, and kills the flies that have entered the milk house. It is no wonder that the Bloths won that class for the Princess Anne FFA Chapter. Clara Mearns was awarded the trophy for junior showmanship and fitting and Howard Watson was awarded the trophy for senior showmanship. The Angus show was under the sponsorship of the Eastern Shore Aberdeen-Angus Association and John Laughlin was show manager.

have been on the quality honor roll for the last five years, when they are so careful in handling the milk.

The Bloths have also utilized their own resources in making their farm pay. They have a small sawmill they have used to saw lumber from timber on their farm. Two years ago they built a 20-by-45-foot rest shed, which makes it more convenient to handle the cows and at the same time, provides more comfort for the herd.

Last year a granery, which will hold 600 bushels of grain, was constructed. They recently bought a small baler and combine so they do not have to depend on custom work to do the job.

"The work can be done when it needs to be done," remarked Bobby. "We have already saved a lot of hay and grain with our small baler and combine."

Harvesting a Better America

Rubbed my eyes yesterday when I saw Hap Jackson's truck in Biff Morgan's alfalfa field... helping Biff get in his cutting.

Since they've been carrying on a friendly argument for years (over how much fertilizer to use per acre of alfalfa), I had to ask Hap what was going on.

"Got my own crop in safely last week," he says. "And since Biff's boy is at the summer encampment of the National Guard, I figured the least I could do was to help him out. After all," Hap went on, "there's no argument over how important the National Guard is to all of us."

From where I sit, a fellow like me, who's too old to get in the Guard, can still vote, do a turn at jury duty, and respect others' rights. Even a little thing like respecting a neighbor's right to have, say, beer or buttermilk at dinner is important if we want to keep America strong. We have to be on "guard" in more ways than one these days!

OVER THE GARDEN WALL

Other Crops

Last week this column discussed the growing of two important crops, turnips and kale, that should be planted in August.

Radish is another vegetable that may be seeded any time this month. Perhaps most of us will think of this as a spring crop, but they make an excellent addition to the menu in the fall. For seeding now, I would use the variety called the Icicle. It will take these from a month to 6 weeks to reach good size, say about 5 inches long and about a half-inch in diameter.

Another variety of radishes is Round Black Spanish, which requires about 2 months to reach full size. They are roundish in shape and while black on the outside, the inside is white, usually very solid and crisp and possessing a characteristic pungency. They may be stored like other root crops for late fall and early winter use.

Kohl-rabi is another vegetable that may be planted now. It is not so well-known or widely grown as most of the other vegetables we have been discussing. It belongs to the cabbage group and has been called turnip-rooted cabbage.

The edible part is the stem, which is greatly enlarged just above ground.

Seed should be sown very shallow, in rows, 15 inches apart. Thin to 8 inches in the row. You can transplant the plants removed in thinning.

It takes about 2 months from seed to harvest, which should be before the flesh becomes woody. I never let them get larger than 2 inches in diameter. At this size they are delicious. Pull, cut off roots and leaves, peel and cook as you would turnips. They are more delicate in flavor and texture than that vegetable. They store well for winter use. The best known and most acceptable variety is White Vienna.

Chinese Cabbage is not generally grown by home gardeners in this area, but has been grown in China for hundreds of years. While it may be cooked as a pot herb, it is better known as a salad plant and may be considered as intermediate between lettuce and cabbage. It does not produce a solid, rounded head like cabbage but a less firm, cylindrical head, a foot or more in height. The writer has had good success seeding about the middle of August. Rows should be at least 2 feet apart and when the plants are about 2 inches high, thin to 15 inches in the row.

Fertilization will depend on the fertility of the soil. A good rich, fertile loam, with plenty of organic matter to hold moisture is a good soil. Here we are anxious to stimulate growth, so a liberal supply of nitrogen is indicated. Commercial growers use from 1000 to 2000 pounds of 5-10-15 fertilizer per acre, which figures down to 2 1-4 pounds or 4 1-2 pounds (2 1-2 to 5 pints) per square feet. Sow the fertilizer broadcast over a well-prepared seed bed and rake in lightly before marking off the rows.

About the time you thin out to the desired stand in the row is a good time to make a side dressing with some form of nitrogenous fertilizer such as nitarte of soda, sulfate of ammonia or cyanamid, using about a pound to 20 feet of row, divided equally on each side of the row. Make a shallow trench 3 inches from the plants, distribute the fertilizer evenly and cover. A second or even third application may be desirable to insure the rapid growth an succulence desired.

Probably the most popular variety is Chihili, producing long heads coming to a point at the top. Pe-tai has small, shorter heads. Wong-Bok has the heads more rounded, with the tips of leaves overlapping somewhat, as in cabbage. The heads are ready to harvest when compact and fairly solid.

Next week—growing a fall crop of spinach.

HENS, LIKE PEOPLE, RUN IN GOOD FAMILIES

The old saying "consider the source" applies to hens as well as people. In fact, the egg production of a certain hen and her daughters at the University of Delaware farm is making poultrymen sit up and take notice.

The "biddie" behind all of this is a pedigreed single comb white leghorn which layed 289 eggs in her pullet year. An average Leghorn lays around 230 eggs as a pullet.

This was the start of a remarkable family of hens. Twelve of her daughters were tested for egg laying with an average production of 277 eggs in their pullet year.

But the best records came in fertility and hatching ability. In three single male breeding pens, ten of the daughters show the following results; fertility, 95 per cent; hatch of fertile eggs, 95.9 per cent; and hatch of all eggs set, 91.1 per cent.

There was not a single loss up to ten weeks of age among the chicks hatched from these ten daughters.

"This shows that great progress can be made where genetic principles and a knowledge of birds are applied to a breeding program," says Carroll W. Mumford, assistant in poultry at the Agriculture Experiment Station at the University.

As a result of these studies, Mumford believes only tested hens should be used for breeding purposes. The work was done while many poultrymen were having trouble with poultry diseases.

The Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station has other families within this strain of single comb white leghorns that show equal promise.

HOME DEMONSTRATION COUNCILS AWARD UNIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIPS

Scholarships in home economics have been awarded three Delaware girls for study at the University of Delaware. The scholarships, for $300 each, go to Dolores Lloyd of Newark, Mary Anne Simpson of Dover, and Barbara Heath of Ellendale.

The scholarships are awarded by home demonstration councils in each county and are announced by Dean Irma Ayers of the University's School of Home Economics. All three girls are enrolled in home economics at the University—Dolores is a freshman, Mary Anne a junior, and Barbara a sophomore.

These scholarships from the home demonstration councils are awarded on the basis of academic record, personality, and participation in school and community activities. For the first two college years, a $300 scholarship is given, for the last two years, a $300 loan is made.

A committee made up of the county home demonstration agent, and the dean of the School of Home Economics selects the girl from each county to receive the scholarships. Preference is given to rural girls enrolled in home economics.

SOIL CONSERVATION

Robert M. Moyer, has been appointed Work Unit Conservationist to head the Soil Conservation Service office for Kent County, assisting the Kent County Soil Conservation District.

Mr. Moyer, who is also an engineering specialist replaced Mr. Howard L. Boggs, who has been transferred to Canastota, New York to work with the Soil Conservation Service there.

Mr. Moyer has been with the Soil Conservation Service since 1935, starting in the State of New Jersey. From there he was transferred to Connecticut where he was responsible for all the engineering work carried out by the various Soil Conservation Districts in that State. From there he moved on to Massachusetts doing the same kind of work.

At intervals Mr. Moyer's work with the Soil Conservation Service has been interrupted with an interesting and successful career with the U. S. Army, starting in February 1941 with the 101st Engineering Combat Regiment as a private. In April 1942 Mr. Moyer served with the Engineering Division of the 6th Army Corps Headquarters where he built bridges, laid mine fields, had charge of road construction drainage, and all types of demolition.

In Sept, 1942 upon the recommendation of the 6th Corp. Commander, Mr. Moyer attended the Engineer officers Candidate School, Ft. Belvoir, Va., and was commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers, later being promoted to captain.

His tour of duty covered the European and Asiatic-Pacific theaters including Korea.

CONTROL THOSE CHIGGERS

Chiggers, jiggers, redbugs—no matter what you call them, they're a summer nuisance. And you don't want to come in contact with the annoying pests if you can help it.

Entomologist T. L. Bissell, University of Maryland extension service, has a way of telling whether he is in a chigger infested area. He stands a dark object, like a piece of black cardboard, on the ground. If those tiny pink or yellow mites are there, they will to the top edge in a few minutes.

Mr. Bissell gives two ways of fighting these mites. You can use a repellent chemical on your clothing, or treat the vegetation and ground around you with insecticides.

Effective repellents are available from your local druggist. To treat your clothing, pour a dozen drops of the chemical into one hand. Rub your hands together, then brush over your socks and other clothing. These chemicals can dissolve rayons, so use it sparingly.

For lawns, picnic and other areas, spray the ground or vegetation with toxaphene or chlordane. Two quarts of the emulsifiable concentrate in 25 gallons of water to each acre should give chigger control for one to two months.

Toxaphene and chlordane dusts, applied at 40 pounds of 5 percent material per acre, are also effective but for shorter periods of time.

Once you've been exposed to chiggers, bathe as soon as possible in hot soapy water. This will remove the pests that have not dug into the skin. Alcohol or dilute ammonia applied to the bites will give relief. Take precaution against infection caused by scratching your bites.

Vegetable Field Day At Salisbury, Aug. 22

A field day will be held at the University of Maryland Vegetable Research Farm, two miles west of Salisbury, Aug. 22.

Vegetable crop research will be featured in the program which starts at 2 p. m.

Dr. Victor Boswell, head of the Division of Vegetable Crops and Diseases, USDA Bureau of Plant Industry, Beltsville, will speak briefly at the beginning of the program.

Growers will be able to inspect experiments on fertilizers and fertility building, rate of planting, and disease control. Comparison of major vegetable crop varieties, along with new vegetable breeding work will be shown. Growers will also be able to see perfect stands of beans which were a result of treating seeds to protect them from diseases and insects.

As extra attractions, there will be irrigation equipment in operation, a newly developed tomato conveyor to speed harvesting, and modern farm buildings and equipment.

Extension specialists and research workers from the University of Maryland will be on hand to answer growers' questions on vegetable production.

SULFAQUINOXALINE

Can Cut 2.5 Cents From Cost of Raising a Broiler

Savings like these have been shown after continuous feeding of mashes containing Sulfaquinoxaline to prevent coccidiosis outbreaks.

Don't think you have to wait to fight coccidiosis until after an outbreak has started. For real savings, head off coccidiosis outbreaks by continuous use of mashes containing Sulfaquinoxaline. Field experience shows production costs have been slashed an average of 2.5 cents per bird by preventive use of SQ.

Remember these advantages of Sulfaquinoxaline:

- In over four years of commercial use, poultry coccidia have shown no resistance to SQ.
- SQ is the only drug which combats all five dangerous types of poultry coccidia.
- It's the safest coccidiosis drug available—can be fed right up to marketing.
- Cuts mortality from coccidiosis to 2 per cent or less—sharply reduces stunting.
- Birds protected by SQ show earlier feathering, better shank color, finer finish.

Insist on feeds containing Sulfaquinoxaline to prevent coccidiosis outbreaks. Every dealer has, or can get, SQ feeds.

Third

Community Service

A little more than two years ago, when she started work for the Telephone Company in Dover, Joann Anderson (now Mrs. Cleek) followed in the footsteps of her father, Clifton P. Anderson . . . who, 24 years ago, followed in his father's footsteps in the same way!

For three generations, members of the Anderson family have served their community as part of a team that provides this essential service.

Throughout Delaware there are many such families with fathers, daughters, sons, brothers, cousins, and in-laws in telephone service. It is people like this . . . alert, dependable people . . . who make your telephone service so reliable in emergencies, so useful every day in the year.

News

The Delmarva Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad Veteran's Association held its annual gathering at its clubhouse along the ocean front at Rehoboth Beach Sunday with more than 130 members and guests in attendance.

The service was presided over by the president, W. S. Collison, of Clayton. The opening and closing prayers were led by C. J. Holloway of Wilmington. J. S. Shortall of Clayton read an original poem about the origin and growth of the clubhouse which was built by members of the association in 1924.

Mrs. R. Mitchell president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Wilmington brought club members, recounting the greetings from the wives of the numerous activities and improvements throughout the years. Mrs. T. Olen Ford of Maryland gave several readings, followed by the vocal solos by Elwood Wagner of Wilmington. L. H. Collison, of Maryland, accompanied by Hans Nix, of Reading, Pa., rendered several violin solos, and played the violin obligato for a soprano solo sung by Mrs. Collison. Greetings were brought to the club by several of the Delmarva Branch officials, among them the division supervising agent, C. T. Grotton, Jr.; Mike Quinn, road foreman of engines Mr. Sipple, supervisor of safety; and Mr. Patterson, personal director. They were all accompanied by their wives, having reached a happy climax by the singing of "And He Never Came Back" by Shade Collison, the president. Throughout the day passersby were greeted by strains of group singing echoing and reaching above the hushed accompaniment of the nearby ocean waves, assuring all who came within hearing distance that friendliness and good fellowship is not wanting among the railroads of Delmarva, who love working together for the good of all.

Tips for Smooth Light Ice Cream

What is the secret of smooth, light homemade ice cream—similar to the kind you buy commercially?

Dr. J. F. Mattick, University of Maryland dairy department, says it depends upon the amount of sugar added to the ice cream mixture, plus how much air you whip into the ice cream after a short freezing period.

Ice cream mix with a low sugar content has a high freezing point. The more sugar you add to the mix, the lower the freezing point; therefore less crystallization.

Dr. Mattick suggests this formula for smooth ice cream. Use 1.3 pounds of sugar to one gallon of ice cream mix. That's based on a 15 to 16 percent increase of sugar to a gallon of mix.

Then freeze the mixture until it reaches a semi-frozen or slushy stage. Whip with a beater. A quart of ice cream mixture should yield a half gallon of ice cream after beating.

The air cells you've incorporated into the ice cream will prevent rigid freezing. The ice cream may be a little more coarse than commercial ice cream because of the homemaker's inability to control crystallization.

Ellendale Gives League Leaders Their First Loss

The most startling upset of the current season in the Mar-Del League took place Sunday when Ellendale, dwelling in the cellar with only one victory, marred the heretofore clean slate of league-leading Lewes, with a 11-to-7 victory.

Meanwhile, Harrington walloped Viola here 7 to 0, in a game featured by too many errors and passed balls. Harrington garnered eight hits, three of which were tallied by Raymond Vincent in three times at bat. Blades was the winning pitcher, allowing but two hits and striking out 14.

Getting back to the Ellendale fracas, the boys from the swamp broke a 7-7 tie with a four-run uprising in the seventh, marked by Gil Darby's two-run triple. Fred McDowell started for Lewes but developed a wild streak and was relieved by Ralph Miranda, who was the victim of the rally.

All postponed games will be played Sunday afternoon, it was decided Monday night at a league meeting at Harrington. The local boys play at Lewes; Wyoming at Viola; Felton at Henderson, and Ellendale at Frederica.

If Wyoming loses and Felton wins, the teams will be tied for fourth place and will play the tie off the following Sunday. In that case, the playoffs will be started Aug. 30. If Wyoming wins it will retain undisputed hold on fourth place and the playoffs will begin Aug. 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hopkins entertained members of the local ball club, their wives and girl friends at the Moose Home Wednesday evening at a weiner roast after the players had practiced.

HARRINGTON LIONS WIN 2nd HALF NORTHERN DIVISION PENNANT

The local entry in the Pony League this week shaded the Bridgeville Colts, 7-6, and then knocked off Greenwood, 8-6 to nail down the pennant in their respective division. Tonight, the Lions will be after their fifth straight win as they travel to Frederica.

Jack Porter and Jack Sapp both blasted triples deep into left field which sparked the Lions offensive against the Colts.

In the Greenwood game, Don Garey connected for three hits that sent Harrington runners across the plate. It was the first win for the local entry against the Greenwood team.
