with the
DEARBORN-WOOD BROS. COMBINE

It puts you hours and dollars ahead... every season!

● Just imagine! Without struggling with shims or sprockets—without switching belts or pulleys, you can adjust cylinder speed on this combine to meet the slightest change in crop or field conditions. You simply twist a handy control knob on the Dearborn-Wood Bros. Combine to get any cylinder speed from 430 to 1510 r.p.m.

Think what this means in savings of time and money—as well as grain.

You start combining earlier . . . work later in the day, when a ripe crop calls for extra-fast action by man and machine. And it's just as easy to adjust concave clearance, sieves and wind blast too. Furthermore, you'll like the way you raise and lower the header, adjust the reel to catch "down" grain—without leaving the tractor seat.

Features like these are built into the Dearborn-Wood Bros. Combine. That's why this six-footer acts even bigger inside. That's why you'll be hours and dollars ahead in many ways—for many seasons.

Stop in and see this rugged machine. Whether you choose the P.T.O. or powerful 25 h.p. air-cooled engine model, you'll realize greater profits on every combining job. So join the many satisfied farmers who have done just that already! Ask about our convenient credit terms.

THE GREATEST BUICK
IN 50 GREAT YEARS

No doubt about it—as thousands of prideful owners will tell you. When you press the pedal of a 1953 Buick with Dynaflow, you move. You move with instantly responsive getaway, with great quiet, with truly infinite smoothness. You move in this special and spirited and soul-satisfying manner because you're bossing Twin-Turbine Dynaflow—where two turbines, instead of one, now turn out the magic.

We can put pictures before you to show how TT Dynaflow delivers its sensational performance and flowing-oil smoothness. And we will, if you ask.

But surely you ought to take the wheel of a 1953 Buick with this big-thrill wonder drive and let your own sensations tell you how wonderful it is. You ought to try it for getaway, for cruising, for suave deceleration—for the sheer and restful comfort it gives you every step of the way. And, very definitely, you ought to try it for the power that goes with it . . .

For the highest horsepowers and compression ratios, Series for Series, ever placed in a Buick—including the power of the world's newest V8 engine in every SUPER and ROADMASTER.

Why not come in and try out this terrific performance team of Buick power and TT Dynaflow? We're ready, willing and eager to show you what you've been missing—and how easy it is, price-wise, to have it. Can you drop in on us for a no-obligation sampling—this week?

What Harrington needs is a chimney sweep. Clean chimneys lessen the risk of fire.

Five automatic stokers have been placed in front of the grandstand at the Kent & Sussex Raceway. What we like about this innovation is the fact that it shows the racing association is thinking of its customers' comfort.

TRAFFIC FATALITIES STILL MOUNT

As of Tuesday night, traffic fatalities in Delaware were 79, or 12 more than for a similar time in 1952. And, if our memory serves us correctly, the 1952 total was greater than that of the preceding year.

Safety drives and an educational program, without doubt, will help keep the losses from becoming even greater. However, we like Churchill's "big stick" policy: in other words, law enforcement of the strictest nature.

The addition of highway troopers will help and the use of radar in detecting violators could work wonders. However, we do need more radar devices. We favor some other practices, too.

During the war the German navy disguised a cruiser as a freight vessel. When it could slip in close to an enemy merchantman, it would lower its false superstructure, run up its true colors, and take the ship. Something on this order would be good for the state police. Let them cruise in unmarked cars; let them "run up their colors" when they have a violator spotted. Burglars are not warned before an attempt is made to capture them. Why should motor vehicle violators, who are responsible for far more deaths, be tipped off?

In Kansas City, Mo., traffic police, out of uniform, got on motorcycles, and caught a swarm of motor vehicle violators during the evening homework rush.

There is one thing sure: Only the strictest kind of law enforcement will cut down Delaware's traffic fatalities. Motorists will take chances with their lives but not with their pocketbooks or the chance of losing their license.

Letter to the Editor

Mr. C. H. Burgess
The Harrington Journal
Harrington, Del.

Dear Mr. Burgess:

Your editorial dated September 11, 1953, entitled "What is the Meaning of Underprivileged?" came to the attention of the Department of Welfare this week. We regret that you did not call the Department of Public Welfare office at Dover so that the actual facts could be checked before publication. Inasmuch as these facts are at considerable variance with your editorial, the impression given to the public was unfortunate.

The "facts", as you represent them, give a distorted and confusing picture and leave the impression that the family you describe has been receiving assistance for a considerable period of time and is continuing to receive assistance. As a matter of fact, the family was referred by a responsible long-time resident of the neighborhood who stated that the need for food for the children was emergent. Our investigation confirmed this fact, which was substantiated by another responsible resident of the community. Assistance in the form of two food orders was granted this family for a period of 18 days in July. No clothing was ever given. In fact, no assistance of any sort has been given since July 31, 1953.

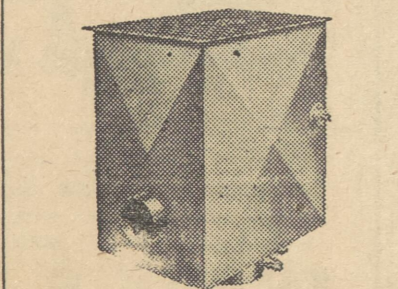

It is the policy of the agency, when a family applies for assistance, to determine as quickly as possible their legal residence and the capacity of adults to work on a full-time basis. If need is acute, as in this case, where several children were hungry, emergency assistance of one or two food orders is granted, while we help the family try to solve their problems and meet their own needs. When a family does not have legal residence here in Delaware, we inform them that it will be necessary for them to return to their own state for assistance. When employment is available for the head of the family and it is known that he is capable of performing the duties of the job, we require that he get work and support his family.

We hardly think you or your readers would expect the Department of Public Welfare to deny assistance in an emergency situation, but your editorial leaves the impression that you believe we have no requirements at all if assistance is to continue. At least, the last sentence of your editorial implies this when you ask: "How much money is it going to cost the state, you and I, to support this family?" At the moment it is costing nothing, simply because assistance was stopped July 31st and the two requirements mentioned above were enforced.

In the future we would suggest that you contact an office of the Department of Public Welfare for Modern Art Takes a Licking!

Did you know we had a real artist in town? Yes sir! Handy Jackson was a contributor to the Sculpture Exhibition at the Centerville Fair last week.
His work was streaky pink and curved all around—sort of streamlined. Caused quite a stir. Nobody was sure what it was supposed to represent, but some liked it and thought it was good art. Handy gave me the lowdown: "Why, it was nothing but a piece of cattle salt our cows have been lickin' at for months. I just had it mounted. Fooled a lot of folks — one fellow even wanted to buy it!"

From where I sit, Handy's "modern art" just shows how some people can be led astray. Some even get to be "experts"—especially about the other fellow's business. Whether it's art or music, or a simple thing like choosing, say, beer or milk with a snack, we should live and let live. There's no call for either of us to set ourselves up as a "model" for the other!

Mrs. West—1 and 2

Today is Friday, Oct. 9, 1953. Today is sunny and cold.

We are getting ready for Hallowe'en. We made pictures, large pumpkins, and decorated the bulletin board and window. Soon, we will make funny faces.

Six first graders can read "Skip Along." We would like to have you come and visit us.

Mrs. Brown—Grade 2

We celebrated the birthdays of Stewart Greenburg and Eddy Zvolanek this week. We are also decorating our room with pumpkins and are painting pumpkins on the windows for Hallowe'en.

The second grade is collecting money to buy themselves magazines. They have been reading about Gene Autry and they enjoyed it very much.

Mr. Donovan—Grade 5

There are five committees: The chairman: Billy McColley of 1; Kathy Holloway is the chairman of 2; Delores Brown is the chairman of 3; Janet Hobbs is the chairman of 4, and Christine Taylor is the chairman of 5. So far, they have done very well.

Mrs. Hess—Grade 6

We are enjoying the new lights that have just been installed in our room.

Our new arithmetic books have very many written problems in them. We are trying to enjoy doing them.

We are studying the Holy Land in Social Studies. We are fortunate in having Bonnie Chew in our room. Her father has been to Palestine and has brought back souvenirs. She has some pictures and a bottle of water from the Jordan River for us to see. These things make our social studies more real for us. Betty Jean Bradley, Betty Lee Fry, Lester Hobbs and David Martin were chosen to have charge of the bulletin board for this week.

Sandra Lee Kates was chosen as our banker for this month.

Miss Sharp—Grade 6

In social studies, we studied about Egypt. Library News

Fifteen books have been mended this week during the library activity period. The girls who are in the library club have had instruction in book mending, shelving books and charging desk procedure.

A schedule has been arranged showing the house keeping duties of the various girls for the month of October. This schedule was arranged by members of the library club and posted on the library bulletin board.

Rose Marie Bonniwell arranged attractive pictures on another bulletin board. These pictures were gifts from the Standard Oil Company.

On Thursday, a movie, "Magazine Magic," was shown to the tenth and eleventh grades for the benefit of their English classes, also the Press Club, the Library Club, and the Band.

Answer to Soviet FEAR

by WALTER LIPPMANN

NO DOUBT because he has been much too busy with other things, Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) has misunderstood the problem of the so-called security guarantee for the Soviet Union. In his news conference on Monday he was under the impression that the idea is to offer the Soviet Union a guarantee that she may remain undisturbed and secure in the middle of Germany and of Europe. This, said the Senator, would be another Munich. And so it would be. But is that the idea? In view of the fact that the idea was launched by Churchill, that it has been indorsed by Adenauer, Bidault and Dulles, it cannot mean what the Senator thinks it means.

The statesmen who are working on the proposed guarantee were not born yesterday. Does Senator Knowland, suppose that Adenauer, for example, is urging the Allies to give the Russians a guarantee that they may remain in possession of Eastern Germany? Or that Dulles is thinking of signing a treaty to legalize forever the Soviet military occupation of Eastern Europe? Or that Churchill—all of men, Churchill—is trying to contrive another Munich at the climax of his career?

THE TRUTH of the matter is just about the exact opposite of what Senator Knowland supposes. The purpose of a security guarantee is not to insure the Soviet occupation of half of Europe; it is to promote and facilitate a Soviet military withdrawal from Europe. The future of Europe and the peace of the world depend on whether an agreed withdrawal can be negotiated.

It may not be possible to do this. But the basic situation today is that the Red army cannot stay in the center of Germany for more than a few short years at the outside: if it stays too long, there will surely be a German national explosion in which all of the occupying powers will be involved. On the other hand, it is very dangerous for the Soviets to withdraw their Army. For such are the hatreds caused by the Stalinist oppression that in all likelihood the satellite governments would be overthrown by fanatically anti-Soviet uprisings as the Red army withdrew.

THIS Soviet dilemma—that it is dangerous for them to stay and dangerous for them to leave—is the real problem of security. Soviet propaganda, naturally enough, never mentions it. But there can be little doubt that this is what the Russians are really worrying about when they say that the United States and NATO are conspiring to start a war. They cannot seriously believe that Eisenhower is going to attack them. What they must really fear, and not without reason, is that a re-armed but dismembered Germany might move upon the East, raising the captive peoples of Poland and the other satellites, engaging NATO and the United States in the crusade.

The idea of some kind of guarantee is addressed to this extremely dangerous dilemma in which the Soviet Union is caught. There are, it seems, many people who are puzzled as to why we should worry about whether a great aggressive power is afraid. They should remember that while fear is not always an element in aggression, nearly always it is an element. Men, like animals, are never more dangerous than when they are frightened and cornered. The wise men of Europe and of America do not wish to corner the Russians.

WHAT would have to be guaranteed, assuming that the extremely difficult problem could be solved, is that the unification of Germany and the liberation of Eastern Europe will be achieved by negotiation and not by violence, and that the new Europe and the Soviet Union will both be secure. We are only at the very beginning of this business which may, however, unless things go to pieces, develop into a very great undertaking of epochal significance.

The central principle of this undertaking is already discernible from intimations which have come recently both from Germany and from France. It is to convert the proposed West European military alliance into an all-European guarantee of security; to convert the West European market into an all-European market; to convert the West European political community into an all-European political system in which the evacuated countries could, without unmanageable violence, take their place.

Such a European order will like Rome, not be built in a day. But the effort to build it is worthy in itself, and will confer great dignity upon those who participate in it and will bring its own rewards.
