

Race Meet Is Scheduled To Wind Up Tuesday

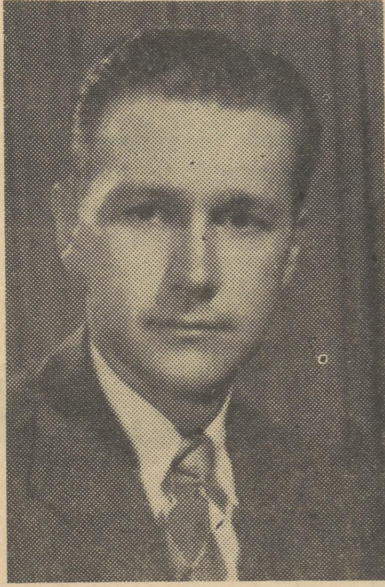

The annual fall harness meet of the Kent & Sussex Racing Association is scheduled to end Tuesday night. In the event a session is canceled because of inclement weather, the closing date will be extended.

Considering the late season and, on occasions, its cool weather, the meet has been a favorable one. T. Brinton Holloway, general manager of the racing association, said the handle was averaging about like for the entire meet last fall when the event was held in September when the weather was warmer. He added that, during the first 14 days this meet, it was behind that of a similar period last fall.

Good racing has seen lively competition for a diamond ring, to be awarded by the racing association to the leading driver. As of Monday night, Billy Hudson was well out in front, with Tommy Walters, Everett Johnson, and Jim Stockley also in the running.

The fastest time for the meet was established Tuesday night when Prudence Hi won the fifth race in 2:05, a record for the pacer, driven by E. Kelley. Albert Dean won the second heat. Race caller Eugene Anderson developed bronchitis Monday night and had to curtail his activities, but Attorney Herman C. Brown took the job for the remainder of the evening, and did a creditable chore.

Rev. R. E. Knox

R. E. Knox, pastor of the Harrington Seventh-day Adventist Church, has accepted a call to the Cambridge, Md., district. Mr. Knox came to Harrington church in January of 1952. The Clark Street church is one of three charges included in the Dover district of Adventist churches to which he ministered.

During the two years of Mr. Knox's ministry in this area he and his family resided at the Quillen Apartments on Commerce Street. During this time their first child, Christine Louise, was added to their household.

Elder D. B. Meyer, of Huntington, W. Va., has been asked by the Chesapeake Conference to come to this district to fill the vacancy. Elder Meyers and family have already taken residence in Maryland.

Democratic Women Hold Supper

More than 300 persons attended a covered dish dinner Tuesday evening at Harly School, sponsored by the Women's Democratic Club of Kent County, at which a voting machine was demonstrated.

Entertainment included music by the Santa Fe Rangers. Mrs. Ann Pearson was chairman of the event. Mrs. Belle Everett, Kenton, is president of the club whose next get-together will be a dance at the American Legion Hall, Milford, Wed., Nov. 25.

McFadden Clan Meets at Redden

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson C. Hatfield entertained at a picnic dinner in Redden State Forest last Sunday to welcome several of Delaware's new citizens. Three of Mrs. Hatfield's brothers and their families have moved to Delaware during 1953, one brother settling in each county.

"Our Delaware" was sung to welcome the following members of the McFadden Clan, who now call Delaware their home: Dr. and Mrs. Earl B. McFadden of Selbyville who were unable to be present because of a recent addition to their family; Raymond Dean McFadden, a 1953 graduate of the University of Delaware and a representative of John W. Eshelman & Sons, feed manufacturer, and his family of Dover, and Donall L. McFadden, also a graduate in 1953 of the University of Delaware and now graduate assistant working for a master of science degree in animal nutrition at the University of Delaware, and his fiancée, Miss Myrtle E. Cron, R. N. at the Veteran's Hospital, Ferry Point, Md.

Other guests were another of Mrs. Hatfield's brothers, James H. McFadden Jr., a representative of the American Agricultural Chemical, and his family of Woodside, Pa.

A complete surprise for Wilson came when Don arose and began a speech on the clans of old Scotland. Very softly James played "Loch Lomond" on his guitar. Don finished by telling of the old custom of presenting the clan's kilt to anyone they wished to make a full member. Dean then handed Wilson the official kilt of the McFadden men and everyone made the forest ring with "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow."

Upon returning to the Hatfield home, everyone sang the old familiar hymns and closed with "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Dr. and Mrs. R. I. McFadden, of Bloomingdale, Mich., were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson C. Hatfield. They also called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard B. Hatfield.

Former Highway Chairman Dies

Samuel N. Culver, former chairman of the State Highway Commission, died at his home at Delmar at 1:15 a. m. Monday, after an illness of several months.

Prominent in the Democratic party for many years, Mr. Culver was a member of the State Legislature from 1917 through 1923 session and was speaker during his final term.

He had been president of the First National Bank of Delmar, president of the Delmar Chamber of Commerce, a trustee of Delaware State College and a member of the Sussex County draft board. Mr. Culver was also vice-president of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society for many years.

Mr. Culver was born near Delmar Dec. 11, 1880, the son of Handy and Amy Elizabeth Culver. He was educated in Delmar public schools and later went into the men's clothing business. A Mason and a Knight Templar, Mr. Culver was treasurer of the Delmar Lodge, A. F. and A. M., for 35 years and was its oldest past master.

He also belonged to Evergreen Forest No. 49, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, in Milford, to the Delmar Lodge of Moose and to the Salisbury, Md., lodge of Elks.

He is survived by his wife, the former Helen Truitt; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth E. Culver; a daughter, Mrs. Howard T. Walker; two nieces, Miss Louise Culver and Miss Arva Mervel, and a nephew, J. Handy Culver.

The funeral was held at the home Wednesday, with Elder Harold M. Bennett, of Delmar Baptist Church, and the Rev. John W. Townsend, pastor of First Methodist Church, officiating. Interment was in Methodist Cemetery.

Mr. Culver was named chairman of the highway commission on Jan. 15, 1953, succeeding J. H. Tyler McConnell, and served in that capacity until Hugh R. Sharp, Jr., the present chairman, elected last May 20. He resigned from the commission last Aug. 20.

St. Bernadette's to Confirm Fifty

Sunday afternoon the Most Reverend Edmund J. Fitzmaurice, bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Wilmington, will again visit Harrington. This time it will be to administer the Sacrament of Confirmation to a class of 50, 37 of which are children. The ceremonies will begin at 3 o'clock with a procession of those to be confirmed and the clergy taking part in the ceremonies. As soon as the most reverend bishop enters the church, the choir will sing the hymn of greeting to a bishop—the "Ecce Sacerdos Magnus." Once the bishop has arrived in the sanctuary, all will kneel and invoke the assistance of the Holy Ghost in the familiar hymn to the Third Divine Person of the Blessed Trinity—"Veni Creator Spiritus." The bishop first speaks to the candidates who are to be confirmed and then anoints each one with Holy Chrism. While making the form of the cross on each one's forehead, the bishop says: "I sign thee with the sign of the cross and confirm thee with the Chrism of salvation in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost." After the candidates have been anointed, all join in saying the Apostles Creed, the Our Father and the Hail Mary. The ceremonies will be brought to a close with benediction of the most Blessed Sacrament.

Assisting the bishop in the ceremonies Sunday will be the Rev. Leo W. O'Neil, pastor of St. John's Church in Newark; the Rev. Francis J. Desmond, pastor of St. Edmund's Church in Rehoboth; the Rev. Paul J. Taggart, administrator of the Holy Cross Church in Dover, and the Rev. John A. Corrigan, pastor of St. Bernadette's Church in Harrington.

Miss Jane Messick, niece of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown was of orchid nylon net with matching stole. She wore a floral headdress and carried a bouquet of orchids.

The Misses Lois Dingleline, of Hickman, and Louise Gray, of Farmington, served as bridesmaids. Their gowns were of shrimp pink and full green with floral headdresses.

Little Bonnie Algier, niece of the groom, and Becky Horner, niece of the bride, acted as flower girls. They each wore a taffeta gown with nylon net overskirt. Their headpieces were of white baby pom-poms. They carried baskets of rose petals.

Robert Algier, brother of the groom, served as best man. Leslie Dennis and William Messick acted as ushers.

Eddie Drew, of Bridgeville, was organist, and Miss Janet Hoffman, of Denton, sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." The bride's mother wore a navy blue taffeta dress with diamond accessories. The groom's mother wore a brown lace with beige nylon dress with matching accessories. They both wore a white gardenia corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the V. F. W. Home, Greenwood.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Greenwood High School. Mrs. Algier is employed by the Delaware Electric Co-operative, Greenwood. Mr. Algier is engaged in farming.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lynam, of Newark, spent the week-end with Mrs. Lynam's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Toppin.

RETIREES FROM RAILROAD

Bill Davis

Bill Davis Retires After 41 Years 'Ridin' the Rails'

Until his retirement recently, Bill Davis had been riding the rails for more than 41 years. That doesn't mean, however, he had his fill of traveling. He plans seeing a lot of this country, starting off with a trip to Florida in December.

But first, Davis, who retired Sept. 30, as a locomotive engineer, expects to hunt with relatives near Easton.

Bill, who lives with his wife, Helen, at 113 Fleming Street, was an engineer on Freight D35 down, and D36 back, to Franklin City, Va., when he retired. This was one of the longest freight runs on the Pennsylvania system. Davis said the complete run was made in one day, with a diesel, whereas, with a steam locomotive, he went down one day, laid over eight hours, and returned the next day. When he retired, he had 41 years and six months of service.

Born Near Easton
Davis was born July 16, 1887, on a farm near Easton. He was the son of William H. and Georgia Salisbury Davis.

As a youth, he became acquainted with an engineer, William Ryan, and a fireman, Harry Lloyd, who worked on the Delaware & Chesapeake branch running from Clayton to Oxford, Md. They interceded for him and in 1912 he got a job firing, as an extra man, operating out of Edge Moor yards near Wilmington. After 12 months, he got a job on the through freight pool to Delmar.

He had this post 5 1-2 years, then got into the passenger service as a fireman from Philadelphia to Delmar. He worked on various trains but mostly on the one which formerly reached Harrington a little past noon, but which arrives now at 10:15 a. m.

Promoted to Engineer
In 1916, he was promoted to engineer but didn't get to operate a locomotive until 1919. In the meanwhile, he spent 25 months in the Coast Artillery, in World War I, serving 17 months in France.

Following his discharge in 1919, Davis served as an extra engineer in passenger and freight service until "The Depression" in the early thirties when he took a regular job as fireman. In 1938, he got a regular freight run as an engineer and held it until his retirement.

Speaking of the diesel locomotive, Davis said he had no trouble in learning to operate one. "It is one of the nicest pieces of equipment I have ever worked on," he commented. "You had to reverse steam engines, before starting, and then give her steam. This caused a bump. With diesels, you just start up and keep going."

Bill is a harness racing fan, his interest dating back to his boyhood when he witnessed the sport at the old Easton fair. He is a member of a Masonic lodge in Wilmington, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, and the American Legion.

Davis hasn't been able to attend the meetings of these groups because of his night work, but he believed he could now.

He is also a prolific reader of magazines and newspapers. Referring to 'The Harrington Journal,' he said, "I read everything in it."

The Davises have one son, William, employed by the Bell Telephone Company in Wilmington. A veteran of the armed forces, he lost part of a hand in World War II.

In conclusion, Cliff Miller, superintendent of maintenance and ways of the railroad, gave us this poem in regard to the elder Davis:

"Just another one retired from the ranks of the railroad men, just another one nearing the milestone of three-score year and ten. Just another who served the company faithfully and true. And won the admiration of the management and the crew."

While Viola Zimmerly was attending a meeting last Friday evening, thieves broke into her automobile and took a new sweater and a bag of laundry. They broke the ventilator glass.

The car was parked on the theatre lot.

Rotarians Discuss Foreign Aid

With Wes Butler as program chairman for the evening, Rotarians held a forum discussion Tuesday evening, "Should the United States Continue Foreign Aid?"

John Parks was moderator, and Archie Feagan, George Thompson, Fulton Downing, and Arthur Taylor were the panel members, while other members of the club entered the discussion occasionally.

Some of the members thought we should continue the aid on the present basis, because, as one expressed it, by doing so, we are only trying to save our own skin. Others were in favor of continuing aid, but on a reduced basis, urging a reduction as the other nations were able to become more self-sustaining, and finally withdrawing the aid altogether.

Some of the members urged an increase of the trade with other nations as a substitute of outright aid—but here the barrier of a tariff wall came into the picture. It developed that some of our industrialists are out of kilter when dealing with their home country buyers—you can go to Europe, buy, tractors, binders, and other farm machinery, all American-made, pay the tariff on it, ship it back to America—and the total cost will be far below the price charged here at home.

It was disclosed that practically all of the famous "American" watches are not American watches at all—they're made in Switzerland.

Despite the highly intelligent discussion, the Rotarians were unable to solve the problem. District Governor Hartley C. Gove will pay his official visit to the club next Tuesday.

Century Club Votes Fund For Refugees

The subject for the program for the day was "International Relations," in charge of Mrs. W. W. Sharp, Mrs. J. F. Camper, Mrs. Elmer Smith, Mrs. A. Laura Clark, Mrs. Blanche Bell, Mrs. L. R. Beauchamp, Mrs. R. E. Raughley. Mrs. Sharp introduced the subject, speaking briefly of the history and the achievements of the United Nations and the United Nations Headquarters in New York City. She then announced a skit, "The Guilty One," enacted by Mrs. Camper, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Clark and Mrs. F. B. Greenly, Jr., which portrayed the way in which the United Nations is often misunderstood.

The program closed with singing the United Nations Hymn and a prayer for the success of the work of the United Nations.

The club will meet next Nov. 3 when the subject will be "Religion—Favorite Hymns," which will be presented by Mrs. E. W. Dean, Mrs. Earl Sylvester, Mrs. J. W. Sheldrake, Mrs. David McKibbin, Mrs. Lila Noyes and Mrs. Henry Clukey.

GINGERBREAD AND SWEET CIDER

By J. HARVEY BURGESS

Some two or three weeks ago, former mayor, E. B. Rash, suggested that inasmuch as this is the season of gingerbread and sweet cider in lower Delaware, I should substitute the above title for the "Cornpone and Caviar" title I have been using.

In the next column published, I mentioned Mr. Rash's suggestion and said in subtle language—I didn't want it to be too subtle—that while such a change might have its merits, I wasn't sure, because I was not acquainted with the merits of the combination of gingerbread and sweet cider.

This week, just as I had hoped, Mr. Rash came to the office and informed me he had left a jar of cold sweet cider and a chunk of old-time gingerbread in my room at the Stone Hotel. I was in no hurry to investigate his gift, and it was fully two minutes before I was in my room. There was the fruit jar of sweet cider, and a package, evidently the gingerbread.

I tasted the sweet cider first, just a tiny sip—then another tiny sip—and another, not so tiny. Then I sat back to savor its excellence. I sipped some more and savored some more, and while I was gazing into the glass, Eddie Arnold busted out in the jukebox down stairs, "If I Never Get to Heaven, I'll Blame You."

A silly song, just as most jukebox songs are silly, yet it, or the sweet cider, seemed to awaken memories of another song, something vague and half forgotten, tucked away in some small recess of your mind throughout the years, yet always there, with the lavender and old lace, and days of crinoline. What was the name of that song, and where had I heard it? The cogs began to mesh—and I remembered. It was at a banquet given by the Press Club of St. Louis to the members of the Missouri Press Association something like forty years ago—and the song was "Sweet Cider Time—When You Were Mine." Two young ladies sang that song—and they knew how to sing it. Let's see if I can remember any of the words of that song—it's been so long ago! Another sip of Ed's sweet cider, and voices of ineffable sweetness come whispering across the years:

"I'm dreaming of a little town where birds are singing, Bells are ringing—on the hill; I see you in your simple gown with memories clinging—'Round my heart is love's old thrill. Oftimes I stop and ponder, in dreams I go back yonder—It seems I'm with you still. By the mill where we made sweet cider, I made sweet love to you. The mill wheel was turning as I sat there yearning For one kiss, the sweetest I knew. On the hill, from the old town chapel

Those evening bells would chime—I'll always remember that golden November, Sweet cider time—when you were mine." And, as an afterthought, I wonder what ever became of that gingerbread.

The Harrington Journal publishes announcements of the births of four hospital—Dover, Milford, Seaford, Lewes, with the sex of each infant designated. Recently, we announced the birth of a girl, when it should have been a boy, and the father sent us a letter asking us to change it. Some people have great confidence in newspaper men.

Republican leaders are said to be worried over the result of the special election in Wisconsin. For the first time in history, a Democrat was elected congressman from that district, and by a wide margin. "That shows," said the defeated Republican candidate, "just what the farmers of America think about the present national administration." But the Republican candidates are not the only ones to worry. What about the so-called Democrats who were elected on the Democratic platform—and then voted with the Republicans most of the time? Many of them are going to get socked in the next election where Estella were her beads. Remember Rush Holt, of West Virginia, who was elected to congress a few years ago because, in answer to queries, he replied, "I'm a Roosevelt man. If Roosevelt's in favor of anything, so am I." Soon after he became a congressman, he began to oppose just about everything Roosevelt favored—and, by the way, what ever became of Rush Holt?

The best way to kill any cause is to start it off with wild enthusiasm. Wild enthusiasm doesn't last. It used to be the practice, in some sections of the country, to have each child in school recite once each week. This, with the literary societies, debating clubs, etc., gave them confidence and poise, a valuable asset for later life. I believe such practice should be resumed in all schools. I attended such a school—not that this is much of a recommendation—but many others did realize benefits from the literary societies of that old-time academy. Many of the boys became outstanding as citizens, and most of them attribute a major portion of their success to their experience gained in these societies.

Just a few, to illustrate a point: Joseph Short, president of the state senate; Horace A. Northcutt, speaker of the lower house of the state legislature; Lehman P. Kay, secretary of the State Capitol Commission; Earle W. Hodges, (a speaker at the Harrington Rotary Club's inter-city and ladies' night program in 1941), three times secretary of state, and later president of Lions International; William R. Chesnut and Will S. Paden, judges; George H. Treathan, assistant state auditor; John H. Caldwell, deputy attorney general, and at present state supreme court librarian; Hearn Northcutt, attorney for the state highway department; Oscar E. Ellis, deputy attorney general; Otto Cargill, mayor of Oklahoma City; George H. Humphries, chancellor—and I was third assistant janitor at the Methodist Church South at a salary of fifty cents per month.

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gillette were Mrs. Robert Nelson and children, Mary Alice and Bobby, of East Riverdale, near Washington. Mrs. Mary E. Barstow, of Washington, D. C., visited Miss Mary Clark over the week-end. Rennie French celebrated his sixth birthday Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds French. Dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Emory, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Risden French. Mr. and Mrs. David Harrington spent the week-end in Wilmington. Donald Wells spent last week with his grandmother, Mrs. Walter Wells, in Selbyville. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wagner and Mrs. Samuel Raughley spent Tuesday in Wilmington. Mr. and Mrs. William Nichols and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Davis spent Wednesday at Rehoboth, at the Nichols cottage. Mrs. Orie Hobbs has accepted a position at the Kirby & Hollway drive-in restaurant, near Dover. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lloyd and children visited friends at Delmar Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. William M. Cooper spent last week in Rehoboth. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Callaway visited in Delmar Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Willey were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jefferson at the Sammy and Johnny Restaurant in Salisbury Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wisnoff, of New Jersey, and Mrs. Sammy Markowitz and Miss Rose Markowitz, of Philadelphia, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cohen. Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bailey, Sr., were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rieman, of Philadelphia. Mrs. J. E. Bullock is confined.

The year-end holidays bring to mind a warm, cheerful atmosphere... a large dinner table gleaming with shining silver, glassware and china... a gathering of joyous friends and relatives. When you are the hostess of the festive doings, you want everything to be perfect from the table setting to the last spoonful of dessert. Let's talk about the beginning phase—decorating the table.

DINNER TABLE CHARM A white or cream-colored tablecloth is always appropriate. A lacy, hand-crocheted tablecloth is always beautiful. Atop the delicate cloth, center a flower arrangement with candles on either side. The flowers should be low enough so that the guests can see over them, but the candles should be high so that the light is out of their eyes. It is well to remember that the lower the holder, the taller the candle should be. If the flame is 16 inches above the table it is none too high.

B. P. W. CLUB CLUB OBSERVES UNITED NATIONS DAY

Norman Cotter, who recently toured the Western European countries, gave a most interesting description of his trip, showing scenes of the various cities he visited. Members and guests eagerly questioned the attitude of the people of the other countries with regard to politics, religion, and discipline of the children. The comparison of salaries and living conditions was particularly enlightening. Mr. Cotter feels that we, as Americans, must maintain a sympathetic understanding for the people of these nations who are trying to make a recovery from the war. He believes that if more of these people could be shown the true way of American life by visiting this country, we could be of greater assistance to them.

Other guests at the dinner meeting were Mrs. Charlotte Cotter and Mrs. Marie Allen, formerly of France; Mrs. Marie Jandak, formerly of Czechoslovakia, and Mrs. Jeannette Potter, of Harrington.

Greetings were sent to Mrs. Karen Balslav, of Copenhagen, Denmark, who visited our club during her stay in Delaware last year. An attractive poster showing the flags and costumes of the women of the world was arranged by the chairman of International Relations, Madalyn Tharp.

Mrs. Grace Howard was elected as a member of the club and honorary membership was bestowed on Mrs. Ethel Hunter, a retired charter member of the club.

Plans were made to attend the Silver Tee arranged by the State Federation on Sunday, Nov. 8, at the Dover Country Club.

HUMIDITY EXPLAINS SOME PAINT FAILURE

Painting of farm buildings during late fall should be limited to late morning and early afternoon hours, advises Ray W. Carpenter, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland.

Moisture resulting from high humidity is readily absorbed by wood and if covered with a sealing coat of paint, it will tend to blister and peel the paint later.

For the same reason it is necessary to postpone painting following the rain wetting of a surface until it is thoroughly dried.

Paint failures are mainly due to the action of the moisture escaping from the walls and pushing off the paint film. The humidity developed within homes and barns during winter is a prime source of moisture loaded walls and the reason for a characteristic spring-time failure of paints, Mr. Carpenter points out.

Occasionally paint fails because an entirely different formulation has been applied on a previous coat. Among the newer paints there is more likelihood for incompatibility.

It is, therefore, well to make a record of the paint formula or brand and type in order that following coats may be of the same material and thus avoid trouble, Mr. Carpenter suggests.

United States agricultural exports are continuing to decline, says the Department of Agriculture. They are expected to total at least one-fourth less in 1952-53 than in the preceding year.

Get a lot more grain ... AT THE TWIST OF A DIAL!

DEARBORN-WOOD BROS. COMBINE

It puts you hours and dollars ahead... every season!

- Just imagine! Without struggling with shims or sprockets—without switching belts or pulleys, you can adjust cylinder speed on this combine to meet the slightest change in crop or field conditions. You simply twist a handy control knob on the Dearborn-Wood Bros. Combine to get any cylinder speed from 430 to 1510 r.p.m.
- Think what this means in savings of time and money — as well as grain. You start combining earlier... work later in the day, when a ripe crop calls for extra-fast action by man and machine. And it's just as easy to adjust concave clearance, sieves and wind blast too. Furthermore, you'll like the way you raise and lower the header, adjust the reel to catch "down" grain—without leaving the tractor seat.
- Features like these are built into the Dearborn-Wood Bros. Combine. That's why this six-footer acts even bigger inside. That's why you'll be hours and dollars ahead in many ways—for many seasons.
- Stop in and see this rugged machine. Whether you choose the P.T.O. or powerful 25 h.p. air-cooled engine model, you'll realize greater profits on every combining job. So join the many satisfied farmers who have done just that already! Ask about our convenient credit terms.

Kent Home Doings

By Charlotte L. Swanson
Kent County Home
Demonstration Agent

The 1954 program for Kent County Home Demonstration Clubs has gone through several stages of planning, and now it has been fitted into next year's calendar.

The first steps of planning the program were collecting ideas from club members and having club members vote on program suggestions given by the specialists in the various fields. After these had been collected, there was a meeting of the Program Planning Committee. Each club should be represented on this committee by its vice-president. A list of suggested programs was chosen which, the committee felt, suit the needs and the interests of the members throughout the county. The County Home Demonstration Council also saw this list of programs, and made a few suggestions.

Now the program is in a more definite form. The programs cover a more definite form. The programs cover a large variety of topics, on all phases of home-making.

To make your home more attractive, comfortable, and efficient, there are programs on: color in the home; making splint seats; care of electric cords; sharpening knives and scissors; soaps, detergents, and other cleaning agents; flower arrangement; and foam rubber upholstery.

Programs designed to help you be healthier, happier, and more attractive are these: Finding happiness through the use of our abilities; food to maintain a normal weight; care of the hair, and helping children get along together.

Programs which deal with food preparation are always popular, and those scheduled for 1954 are: using your pressure saucepan; meals from the freezer, and seafood dishes.

Of special interest to homemakers who sew are these topics: sewing screens; tailoring; pattern adjustment, and decorative stitching.

Each club will choose its own program from these topics at its January meeting.

Don't you agree with me, that the Program Planning Committee did a good job?

KEEP GUARDS IN PLACE FOR SAFETY'S SAKE

The best farm machinery shield that can be made gives no protection if it is not used, warns George K. K. Vapaa, associate county agricultural agent. There is no adequate excuse for not keeping shields in place.

Records reveal horrible tragedies from unguarded power take-off shafts. When clothing merely flops against a revolving shaft or coupling, an operator can be mangled instantly. In spite of repeated warnings many farmers still fail to keep shields in place. Too often they are left in the implement shed or in a fence corner.

Recently manufacturers have been equipping power driver implements with non-removable power take-off shields. This helps protect these operators against their own carelessness.

For most equipment, however, we must still depend on removable shields for protection.

Shielding home-made equipment for safety is a special problem that each user must solve individually. No piece of farm machinery is complete until adequate shielding of all exposed revolving parts is provided.

SPRAY AS YOU CLEAN

Stage your campaign against destructive household insects as you go about your fall house cleaning.

With careful spraying you may save many a dollar on the woollens and fur garments that are now taking their places in clothes closets and dress drawers, says entomologist T. L. Bissell, University of Maryland extension service.

Because today's homes are so well heated, moths and carpet beetles thrive in the winter as well as in warm weather. And their damage isn't confined to clothing. Carpets, upholstered furniture and draperies—anything that contains wool can be subjects to attack.

As you clean each room in your home, use a spray containing at least one-half of one per cent lindane. Or mix your own spray, using 4 tablespoons of 10 per cent lindane to one quart of water.

Apply lindane by hand-spray to the inside surfaces of drawers, boxes, trunks, or wherever clothing is stored. Give special attention to baseboards and closets where the pests are most likely to be found. Lindane can also be sprayed lightly upon clothing. Use this material for spraying the underside of rugs or carpets to prevent damage by carpet beetles.

You'll also find lindane spray helpful in ridding your house of silverfish which often cause serious damage to rayons and cottons.

Many dollars are lost each year by poultrymen who fail to cull regularly. Culling should be a daily procedure in order to realize the maximum profit.

PART OF BRUCellosIS INDEMNITY RESTORED

Under temporary arrangements, total indemnity of $34 for grade cattle and $68 for purebreds is being paid for cattle slaughtered under the brucellosis control program, Dr. A. L. Brueckner, director of the Maryland Livestock Sanitary Service, announced this week.

The payment includes, for grades, $9 from federal funds and $25 from state funds; and for purebreds, $18 from federal funds and $50 from state funds.

Federal payments formerly matched those of the state—$25 for grades, $50 for purebreds. Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Benson, in August proposed that federal indemnities be discontinued because of lack of funds.

A recent action of the U. S. Department of Agriculture restored part of the federal indemnity.

The cooperative agreement between the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry and the State of Maryland in general terms calls for equal payments by the state and federal governments.

"For the present, we are continuing the maximum payments from state funds but this matter will have to be passed on by the State Board of Agriculture," Dr. Brueckner said. "The matter has been referred to them for action."

The August order of the U. S. Department of Agriculture recommended that no indemnity be paid for brucellosis slaughtered cattle except in counties where all cattle in the county were signed under Plan A of brucellosis control which calls for test and slaughter of all reactor animals. Since no Maryland county has reached this stage, it meant that no federal payments would be available in Maryland, Dr. Brueckner explained.

Such a storm of protest arose following the announcement of the federal order that the federal department has since restored part of its share of the payment.

of varieties because of differences in color, flavor and lack of uniformity in cooking.

Be careful how you store sweet potatoes, warns Porter. Although they are thought of as a non-perishable crop, sweet potatoes are very sensitive to temperature and moisture. According to the specialist, for home storage, sweet potatoes keep best at room temperature. Storage at a temperature below 50 degrees for a prolonged length of time will bring about decay.

Commercial sweet potatoes are cured immediately after digging for 10 to 14 days at 80-90 degrees in high humidity. Because of that, they aren't good keepers in home kitchens, and it's best to buy them in small lots and use promptly.

The sweet potato is a versatile food. You can bake sweet potatoes, serve them boiled, candied, fried, roasted, mashed, scalloped and in pies, puddings, custards, rolls, biscuits, cakes, or cookies.

Baked sweet potatoes, served in rich and steaming in their skins, are so good, so nourishing and so easy to prepare, says nutritionist Janet Coblentz, University of Maryland extension service.

You can dress up baked sweet potatoes by splitting the skins and stuffing up the insides as you would baked white potatoes. Then, for a special touch, slip in a whole marshmallow and return the potato to the oven until the marshmallow is golden.

is not needed to obtain the tax deduction.

The law states that deductions should be computed on a monthly basis, dividing the adjusted cost of the improvement by the number of months left in the 60-month amortization period to obtain the deduction allowable for 1 month. A copy of Public Law 287, 83rd Congress, can be obtained at the price of 5 cents by writing to the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. No regulations or instructions on the grain storage provision are available at this time.

in the family budget. Outlook information, with its price and supply elements of family living items, will help the women make sounder financial plans.

Among outlook topics listed for discussion are agricultural exports, domestic demand, farm and family financial adjustments, and problems facing various commodity groups such as poultry and livestock. Rural family living outlook will center on food, clothing and household textiles, farm housing and family financial security.

of a complete coverage of the festival parade and is approximately 18 minutes in length.

Any or all of these films may be engaged with or without a speaker by contacting Earl S. Hawk, Greenwood, Del. When corresponding regarding the showing of the films, the make and type of projector should be mentioned as well as the date, time and whether or not a speaker is desired, Mr. Hawk said. Speakers are available for groups of 20 or more persons.

for winter comfort is not always possible, but there is seldom a farm where a corner of some building cannot be set aside for systematic storage of tools, repair parts and supplies, he states.

In building a special shop or addition for machinery storage or shop work, he suggests, it is desirable to allow plenty of space for the largest unit of farm machinery plus a clear floor space on at least one side for work area and for such equipment as the drill press, welder, grinder and the all-important shop bench with the vise and parts storage shelves.

Preventive maintenance is a lot cheaper than repairs and gives the best assurance of continued trouble-free operation, Gienger points out.

RECORDS PAY IN POULTRY BUSINESS

Record books help poultrymen get the facts about their birds. No matter what phase of the poultry business you are in, says George K. Vapaa, associate county agent, whether it is meat birds, breeding work, market or hatching eggs, records help you do a better job.

The record book allows you to evaluate the performance and production of your flock, keeps track of your expenses, and lets you know where you stand profitwise.

For assistance in setting up a simple, yet satisfactory system of poultry records, call on associate county agent, George K. Vapaa.

MAY DEDUCT NEW CORN CRIBS FROM INCOME TAX

Special income tax deductions have been provided by Congress for grain producers and warehousemen who complete or acquire additional grain storage facilities between Jan. 1, 1953, and Dec. 31, 1956, George A. Stevens, of University of Maryland Department of Agricultural Economics, reminds farmers.

Public Law 287, recently signed by President Eisenhower, provides, in place of the ordinary depreciation allowances, for income tax deductions based on amortization over a 5-year period of the cost of building new grain storage facilities or of converting or enlarging existing space for grain storage. The deductions apply to corncribs, grain bins, grain elevators, or any similar structure suitable primarily for the storage of grain and intended for that use.

To take advantage of the benefits provided under Public Law 287, Mr. Stevens says that a grain producer who qualifies under the act for such deductions needs only to state his intention in his income tax return for the year in which the facility was acquired or completed. Permission before adding the facility

FARM PRICE OUTLOOK IS CONFERENCE TOPIC

The current farm "price squeeze" will keynote the 31st annual Agricultural Outlook Conference next week in Washington, D. C.

From Oct. 26-30, farm and home economists from the University of Delaware will take part in this Department of Agriculture meeting of state and federal Extension Services, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, and the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics.

Attending from Delaware will be Dr. R. O. Bossman, William E. McDaniel and W. T. McAllister, of the university's department of agricultural economics, and Miss Louise R. Whitcomb, extension home management specialist.

According to Dr. Bausman, farm people are caught in the middle of the "cost-price squeeze." During the past two and a half years, agricultural prices have fallen 17 per cent, while farm costs have dropped only four per cent. This situation will be studied and interpreted by outlook conference speakers.

Homemakers are anxious to keep up the high standards of family living enjoyed the past few years, believes Miss Whitcomb. High living costs are making it necessary to weigh each purchase carefully to stay with

FALL A GOOD TIME FOR HOME PLANTINGS

Does fall weather give you the "itch" to landscape your home grounds?

It's best to plant trees and shrubs in the fall, says Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist for the University of Delaware. But—before setting out a single bush—take time to draw a landscaping plan. "That way, you won't have to move some plants a few years from now," Stevens explains.

The specialist suggests making a scale drawing of the home grounds as they are now, showing location and size of house, garage, walks, drives, existing trees, shrubs and gardens.

Next, divide the grounds into three areas; public, service and private. The public area, between the house and street, should focus attention on the house by means of an opening lawn, a foundation planting to blend the house and landscape, and a few trees for framing and shading.

The service area includes the garage, drive, clothes yard, vegetable garden, tool shed and fruit trees. Shrubs and trees will screen this space from the public eye.

The private area, sometimes called the outdoor living room, might include a patio, flower garden, children's play space and a large open lawn. Plantings should shut off this area from

HOME AGENTS AT NATIONAL MEET

Delaware home demonstration agents will serve as hostesses for the National Home Demonstration Agents Association next week in Buffalo, N. Y.

Along with agents from other eastern states, the local women will extend hospitality to the national delegation at their annual meeting, Oct. 27 to 30, reports Mrs. Esther Alderman, president of the Delaware agents group.

Attending from this state in addition to Mrs. Alderman, the urban specialist, are: Miss M. Katharine Jones, New Castle County; Miss Charlotte Swanson, Kent County; Mrs. Nancy Shelton, Sussex County.

Preparations are being made for a bicycle campaign.

The attention to the rules and conditions of conduct will be brought to the attention of all pupils as the campaign progresses.

Electrical work and plumbing and the laying of tile floors are progressing and should be completed by the end of the month.

However, the painters have not been on the job for two weeks, making it slower to complete the building.

Refrigeration people have worked and most of the kitchen equipment is in place. The cafeteria counters are installed with the exception of the compressing units.

The offices are available for use and the equipment will be moved in the course of a week.

We are enjoying our school days. Our reading is about Alice and Jerry and their little dog, Jips. They live on a farm, so we are making a little farm in our room. Several of us brought animals, houses, barns, fences and many other things.

We have learned many interesting things about Alice and Jerry's farm by looking at our film strips.

The First Grade Pupils. Mrs. West—Grades 1 and 2

All three student teachers in the Elementary School have observed work on several grade levels.

First Grade Class Visited Dentist

Mrs. Irene D. Bickling's section of the first grade recently visited the office of Dr. R. W. Pote, dentist, in Camden. Dr. Pote demonstrated to the pupils the making of silver fillings and wax impressions. He also answered the pupils' questions relative to the work of a dentist.

The visit to the dental office was the concluding feature of a dental unit taught by Miss Dorothy E. Warren, student teacher. In this unit, the students examined a large chart showing teeth and their care; read stories of boys and girls keeping their teeth healthy; colored pictures which were hung on the bulletin boards; practiced the correct way of brushing teeth on a cardboard model of teeth; studied an out-size model of a tooth which could be taken apart to show the inside of a tooth; viewed a Walt Disney film "Winkie, the Watchman" (explaining decay begins when we're not on guard); and took home a folder on the cover of which they drew themselves brushing their teeth.

STATEMENT FROM SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICE

Social security beneficiaries working for the State of Delaware were reminded this week by Myron Milbouer, manager of the Wilmington Social Security office, that they are no longer eligible to receive their Federal benefit checks for any month in which their earnings from State employment exceed $75.

The agreement entered into by the State and Federal government earlier this month extends social security coverage to more than 6000 employees of the state starting Oct. 1. "Under the Federal law," Milbouer stated, "a person receiving monthly payments as a retired worker, a dependent or a survivor, cannot accept his check for any month in which he earns more than $75 in a job covered by the law. Earnings from state employment now fall into this category." Before October, a state employee could continue to receive social security benefits because work for the state was not covered, he explained.

The local manager also called to the attention of all beneficiaries working for the state their obligation to notify the Social Security Administration this month about their new status as covered by employees. They will of course be eligible to receive future Federal benefit checks for any month in which they do not earn more than $75 in covered work either with the state or a private employer.

For those receiving benefits as a widow for themselves and monthly checks for children under 18, Mr. Milbouer had a special word of advice. While they will lose their mothers' check because of state employment, they can continue to receive the checks paid to them for the children.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

Nowadays everybody but everybody favors terry cloth towels, but it took us many, many years to appreciate them. Although terry towels have been made and used in America since 1870, it wasn't until 1917, when huck towels went to war, that we were "forced" to use the looped variety. All available huck towels were utilized by the armed forces during World War I which left the consumer with nothing but terry cloth. Now, with the softer, more absorbent terry cloth on our fingertips, we realize how fortunate this incident proved to be.

TERRY TOWEL TIPS The wise homemaker shops for her towels with a keen eye. She looks for these important features when buying: Closely packed loops which provide the best absorbency; a good, uniform weave, and longer loops. When you hold the towel up to the light, be sure that you can see regular pin-points of light. A towel has less durability when uneven, open spots show through. For more absorbency, look for longer loops. A terry towel may be soft, medium soft, or rough and hard, but this is not indicative of quality. Delicate skins require soft textures; many men prefer the rough type for a brisk rub down.

COLORFUL, CROCHETED TOWEL TRIMS Prior to 1928, all terry towels were plain white or white with colored borders. Today, color is the thing—colorful towels with colorful trimmings. My needlework design features a pink towel set with crocheted flower baskets in every color of the rainbow. Transform your plain towel into things of beauty by using crocheting cotton in pink, blue, yellow, lavender and purple for the flowers and green for the baskets. These adornments are as attractive as well as useful, for the baskets on the large towel and washcloth serve as pockets for holding an extra washcloth and a bar of soap. The crocheting directions may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper. Please ask for Leaflet No. FV-388, BASKET TOWEL SET.

Don't guess—get the best—Philco.

You know when you see a picture on a television, you expect to see what is in that picture, not just the edges! Philco has solved that problem and now you can have just such a Television with Deep Dimension, Deep Dimension, Deep Dimension!

We are at this time needing several small screen televisions for a second one for boys' and girls' bedrooms, so if you want a larger screen, look no further. Come in and let's talk turkey, as turkey season will be here.

Speaking of turkeys, that reminds me as well as you that Christmas is just around the corner and coming our way fast, fast, fast. Now, don't get all excited, as I have a proposition that will help you along this time.
