SUBSCRIPTION RATES $2.50 PER YEAR
OUT OF STATE $3.00 PER YEAR

Can you name one communist who was born and reared on an American farm or in a country town?

A tuition increase of $40 per year for out-of-state students at the University of Delaware will go into effect next fall. We are wondering if this won't keep good out-of-the-state football players from entering the university.

"How did you enjoy the Christmas holidays?" a friend asked the Colonel from Covington. "Well, suh," replied the Colonel, "I felt real Kaintuckyish and enjoyed myself with a plentitude of immensity."

Barbara Hutton figured in her fifth marriage last week—if you care to call it a marriage. Her people made an enormous fortune operating five-and-ten cent stores—so Barbara still has five husbands to go.

The late William Allen White, of the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette, third greatest country editor of all times—the second greatest was Ed Howe, of the Atchinson (Kan.) Globe—advised women to "raise hell instead of dahliases." That advice, we believe, was unnecessary.

Gov. J. Caleb Boggs shot a 65-pound doe on the first day of the deer season. We publish this announcement with deep humiliation. The ship of state shivers and shatters and sinks into the slumbering Sargossa. A 65-pound doe! Appropriate game for a fence viewer, a bridge tender—or a road overseer—but for the governor of Delaware—no! Why is it that, when a high official does something, it brings forth so many conflicting reports? We believe with every fibre of our being that Gov. Boggs shot that doe, and we place no credence in the snide rumor that he caught it in a rabbit gun.

THE BUSY BEE

We are a little late in publishing this, but we withheld it in order to give its subject a good start on the New Year. The first time we ever saw her, several years ago, she came into our office, a tiny, eager-eyed little girl, and gave us a paper on which she had scrawled an account of a meeting held by the Honeybee Club, of which she was a member. We gathered that the Honeybee Club was a sort of 1-H Club for topwaters who had an ambition to become 4-H Club members some day. She was about as big as a honeybee and just as industrious. From time to time, we received little scrawled notes telling of the progress of her club—and it seemed to make progress all the time. Recently Peggy Ann Adams, now 16, was crowned state champion in the Delaware Corn Yield Contest. She raised an average 158.59 bushels of corn per acre on a five-acre plot of her father's farm. The little Honeybee has become the Queen Bee.

WHO'S A HICK?

Several years ago we wrote a little bit of verse:
In the city, or the country,
A palace or a tent,
A "hick" is anyone who's in
A strange environment.
One of our favorite sports columnists agrees with that statement. He says: "Back in the vaudeville days, almost every cheap theatre had a so-called comedian who would poke fun at the hicks, the hayseeds, the rubes, as he called them—and yet this 'comedian' was born in the lowest slums of the Bowery—and still lived there. As a native of New York City, I can say there are more hicks to the square block in New York than in any other given area of the world."
Here's an illustration: Burton Smith, of Harrington, had a man from north Jersey, just across the river from New York City, with him on a hunting trip here a few years ago. This was a great sweet potato section then, and the potato beds were smoking in all directions.
"What are those things?" asked the city man.
"Don't go too close to them," warned Burton, "because hermits live in them. They come out only a few times each year to buy supplies. They don't bother anybody, and nobody had better bother them. They're dangerous."
The rest of the day the visitor kept a wary eye cocked in the direction of the hermits' homes, and kept his distance. Our guess is that he had some spine-tingling tales to tell of Delaware's hermits when he got back to New York.
As we asked at the beginning of this story:
"Who's a hick?"

TEEN-AGE TERRORS

Teen-age terrors have been raiding the United States the past few years. Statistics prove that most law violations are committed by teen-agers and near teen-agers—and no crime is too vicious for them to commit.
But the teen-ager is reaching that senility which borders on decay. The sub-teen-ager is champing at the bit, anxious to take the play away from his older companions in crime. Recently three tiny tots, armed with toy pistols, attempted to rob a place in Wilmington. While they were being held by detectives for the arrival of the parents, the kids, unperturbed, passed the time practicing the "quick draw."
A few months ago, a woman came into Harrington newspaper and said she wanted a couple of gangster books. "What particular type?" asked the attendant. "Oh, I don't know—they are for my little boy. He just wants a couple of gangster books."
Just the other day a lady told us: "My little son is only thirty months old—yet he wants no presents but pistols and he will look at no television program but shooting affairs. If we won't turn on these programs, he turns them on. He even wants to participate in them. The other day, we grabbed him just as he was preparing to hurl his pistol into the brawl scene."

They say a kid doesn't have much of a chance these days. If so, isn't that the answer—or at least, a part of the answer?

DOUBLE MEANING

Colleges are creating so many degrees—and lavishing so many honorary degrees these days that the ordinary layman is puzzled. This is not a new condition.
Away "back yonder," the then publisher of The Harrington Journal discussed with some of our more erudite citizens the possibility of bringing a Chautauqua to Harrington. There were only three Chautauquas in the eastern part of the country, the Radcliffe, Washington, D. C.; the Pearson, and the Swarthmore, Swarthmore, Pa., both under the management of Paul Pearson, out of Kansas, the father of Drew Pearson, the columnist. It was decided to consult Radcliffe, as it cost less than the others. The citizens met in the rear room of the Peoples Bank, now the Harrington & Raughley store. Dr. Williams, of Radcliffe, addressed us and sold us on the idea. Then we went out for guarantors.
Among the guarantors was a minister, and he signed on the dotted line: "....., D. D. There was a deficit that year, as in all years, but it was small and didn't hurt anyone. The committee went out to collect this pittance and when "....., D. D." was approached by William W. Sharp, he seemed surprised. "I didn't think I'd have to pay anything," he said, "I thought my name was on that list merely to influence other in signing." Mr. Sharp reported this to the committee. "I've decided," said the bewildered Bill "that I do not know the significance of academic degrees. I thought 'D. D.' stood for 'Doctor of Divinity.' Evidently it also stands for 'Decoy Duck.'"

WHEN "BREAKS" GO AGAINST YOU

When the so-called "breaks" go against you, they may not be breaks at all. We know they're not—if you can laugh at them.
A young Alabama football player sprang from the bench to tackle a Texas player during a recent bowl game. The impetuous kid is heart-broken and feels that he's disgraced for life. He says he'll never hear the last of it. It will be a fine thing for him if he never hears the last of it. Texans, supposed to be the greatest competitors in sport—they will admit it themselves—say they're all out for the young Alabama boy, because they like anybody with a competitive spirit. Any kid can lose his head for a moment in a tense period like this.

Untold millions of sports followers have read of Roy Riegels, time after time, only because, in a Rose Bowl game, Roy ran the wrong way and was downed by a teammate on his own six yard line. He, too, was disconsolate, but after a while he learned to laugh about it. Roy is in business in California now, and when he sends his card into an office, he's never turned away. They welcome him with open arms, because they want to see and talk to Roy Riegels. But for his wrong-way long run, who would ever have heard of Roy Riegels?

Jack Dempsey was cheated out of the world's heavyweight championship in his second fight with Tunney by a long, long count by Referee Barry—but Jack never griped. Several years later, sitting in his Madison Square restaurant, Jack turned to a bunch of friends and said: "You know, since I've been thinking it over, the greatest thing that ever happened to me was the long count. I was well past my happened to was that long count. I was well past my peak anyway, and it wouldn't have been long before some young fellow came along and knocked my head off. Then I would have been remembered only as an ex-champion—now they'll always remember me because of the association with that long count."

MY CHILD CAN DO NO WRONG

The problem of juvenile delinquency also confronts other communities. However, this is no excuse for its existence here. Fred Myers' Letter to the Editor, in last week's issue of this newspaper, pointed to its existence here and suggested formation of a council to attempt a solution to the problem.
Incidentally, we heard one worker at the courthouse say they had more trouble with juveniles from Harrington than from any other community in the county.
W. Marion Stevenson, judge of the Juvenile Court in Kent said the fault was principally with the parents of the offenders. Various Harringtonians have reiterated this belief and that is as far as it has gone.
Jailing or fining the parents, on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, would certainly make them wake up. East St. Louis, Ill., our former home and a rather rugged city, now fines THE PARENTS up to $25 when their children play hockey. If this doesn't cut down truancy, nothing will.

Plevinsky, former owner of The State Register, at Laurel, and a newspaper in California, wrote the following editorial last week:

To The School Age Cigarette Smokers:
You think you are pretty smart. You stand just off the school property and blow smoke rings in the face of the school officials. They are powerless to do anything about it. Or in the evening you hang around soda fountains in town, and smoke like big shots. Actually, it makes you look like cheap little gangsters.

Not only that, those first few cigarettes start the nicotine habit that many an adult smoker wishes he had never started. And when you start young, you are laying yourself open to Cancer of the Lungs because your lungs are not yet fully developed,—and you are giving them a good coating of nicotine poisoning.

Honestly, every time we see a teen-ager smoking we would like to take him across our knee and whale the tar out of him. But we know that would not do much good. It takes an appeal to his reason,—from his teachers and his parents.

To The Teachers Of Cigarette Smoking Pupils:

We know you have enough to do without taking on another load. But this matter of cigarette smoking must be brought to a sudden halt.

School is a place where character is formed. It is pretty bad to raise a bunch of defiant, smart-alecky smoking students.

We humbly suggest a strong educational campaign on the ill effects of smoking,—especially on the young. Scare the tar out of the smokers; if they knew the facts it would really scare them out of smoking.

To The Parents of Cigarette Smoking Kids

In the last analysis, you are the ones who must lay down the law to your children. You know pretty well whether or not your son or daughter smokes. Smoking may be the initial break in character,—one thing leads to another; first the smoking habit, then the drinking habit. Each one is another indication of defying the older generation in a perverted sense of growing up.

You parents of smoking teen-agers are almost guilty of criminal negligence in that medical reports have pretty well established a relationship between cigarette smoking and Cancer of the Lung.

Can we sit by and watch these "smart kids" doing themselves irreparable damage while we do not even lift a finger?

We admit there is only a small proportion of smokers at the school. But unless they are stopped now, the attraction of what is "forbidden" is bound to attract more children each day. The time to call a halt is NOW. — Eastern Shore Times, Berlin, Md.

THE MAJOR

by ASN 34242450

The major yelped, "Who is shooting those pistols out the window?"

"Lieutenant," "Go get him!"
The lieutenant goes out to find out who is creating a display of fireworks. It is against the regulations. The lieutenant wends his weary way and asks, "34242450 were you the one who was shooting the pistol out the window?"

"Yes sir. I was the guy who was shooting the pistol out the window."

"The major wants to see you!

Gimme the pistol!"

"Well! Wait till I pick out one! What kind of a pistol does the major like?"

"How come you are shooting the pistols?"
"The radio says the armistice has just been signed!"

The lieutenant is afraid the soldier is in for trouble! He gets mad and starts tearing up the pistol.

"Please lieutenant! Don't tear that pistol up! Give it to us, the other soldiers cried!"
It was kind of nice!

It was nickle plated. Had a little latch on the side to press when you wanted to reload. You could carry it around in your shirt pocket and nobody would even know you had it.

The lieutenant tore it up and went to the major and told him who was shooting the fireworks.

The lieutenant told the major, "sir! It was 34242450, he was celebrating the armistice!"

The major jumped up and said, "lieutenant, don't you dare bring that soldier in here! He knows more about military procedure than I do!"

"Go get a couple foreign make pistols off him and we'll all celebrate!"

SOLDIER'S PARADISE!

It was Christmas ten years ago. The 342 would like to come home. He was at that time at Camp Kilmer waiting for the boat. The passes were signed. The washing machine salesman lieutenant colonel from Philadelphia cancelled the passes.

"I volunteer my boys to clean up the boat!"
"Of course," he could get a jeep at any time and right out the gate to Philadelphia to show his oak leaf!"

New Year's, 1944!
The M. P.'s kind of felt sorry. They were guarding the boat to see that the troops didn't get off! There might have been a few awols.

I wonder if while the prisoners were on the boat, if ookie didn't get a jeep and take a fast trip to Philly?

It would be worth about thirty days in the pokie to meet him. "So the boat, the Aquatania, a british job, she got a good cleaning, and the soldier got home two years later. Four battle stars, a few nights in Paris, a bad hand and a bad back.

On the boat the boys were lined up for shots. Not being officers, we were lined up for shots — typhoid, and vaccination for smallpox.

A soldier in line almost skipped a cog!
"Hey! Don't you know me?"
"I don't believe I do?"
"I'm Woody Wilson from Harrington!" "Hank McCready is down in the salon!"
"What a nice time!" "Some boys on the boat from home!"
I'm sure the boys are thinking the same thing I am! You do not get many decades in your span of life. Some of the soldiers I knew do not have a span of life left at all. They hit the meat wagon. A meat wagon is Quartermaster Corps!

Meat and food up to the front, and a return load back!
"Wsat does it take to be a gentleman, anyway!" "An act of Congress?"

Joe Eihinger Makes Elevator for Farm

Joe Eihinger, Maryland, is adept at making useful things on his farm. One contrivance he is especially proud of is the elevator he built recently, says Pet Dairy Chats.

He made it from new sheet metal and angle iron, and it is 22 feet long. Joe did all of the electric welding and shaping of the metal himself. The cost was about $200. The elevator can be moved easily from one place to another, as it is mounted on rubber tires. It is powered by a one-horse electric motor, which is fastened securely to the framework.
Mr. Eihinger has also made improvements on plows, discs, cultivators and various other types of machinery that he owns.

The '54 BUICK 's got it—

The BIG CHANGE you've been hoping for!

BUICK

the beautiful buy

THE instant you see these 1954 Buicks, you'll know that something sensational has happened in automobile styling. Here is vastly more than the usual model changeover. Here is vastly more than could be done just by warming over what Buick had before. Here is something accomplished by going far beyond artful face-lifting. Here is that rarity of rarities—a completely new line of automobiles.

But Buick didn't stop with the bolder, fresher, swifter-lined beauty you see in raised and lengthened fender sweep—in the huge and back-swept expanse of windshield—in the lowered roofline—in the host more glamor features of exterior modernity. They upped all horsepower to the highest in Buick history. They engineered a new V8 for the SPECIAL — and in the process came up with new Power-Head Pistons that boost gasoline mileage in every engine.

They brought to market a sparkling newcomer with a famous name, the Buick CENTURY — a car with phenomenal horsepower for its weight and price — a car with more pure thrill per dollar than any Buick ever built. And they did all this without change of the price structure which, for years, has made Buick the most popular car at its price in the world. We invite you to come in and inspect these great beauties, these great performers, these great buys. Then you'll see why the Detroit previewers are already saying, "Buick's the beautiful buy!"

When better automobiles are built Buick will build them

SCHOOL NEWS

BANQUET

The Kent & Sussex Fair banquet held in the school cafeteria and social room was an example of fine co-operation. The cafeteria personnel, their assistants, and the students who served in various capacities executed their assignment with courtesy and dispatch.

A group of 365 stockholders was served a choice platter in record time or better than eight platters were assembled and served per minute.

The school is proud that it is able to serve the community in this manner.

MOTION PICTURE

January 5, during activity period, the high school was shown another news reel put out by the News Journal in co-operation with the State Department.

Among points of interest were the latest Korean news, showing schools and churches constructed under the rehabilitation provided by the GI Volunteers in Korea. Other subjects were modern sculpture, a review of the life of Theodore Roosevelt, and current events.

3 Delaware 4-H'ers Win National Honor.

Martin W. Johnson III Dolores Lloyd David H. Elliott

Three of Delaware's state 4-H youth have won National honors in Achievement, Dairy Foods and Community Relations.

They are:
 Martin W. Johnson III, 20, of Laurel, a seven-year 4-H'er in Mrs. Gladys Hearn's Sycamore club, is in partnership with his father farming 350 acres. They have a herd of 65 dairy animals, 50,000 broilers, and more than 100 market hogs. He has attended National 4-H Club Congress twice, once as state poultry champion and last year as national meat animal winner. This year he is a national winner in the Achievement program and received a $300 scholarship from the Ford Motor Co. He has been on state judging teams for dairy and livestock, and was on the state poultry demonstration team last year. In 1950 he represented Delaware in the regional tractor operators' contest and at the Eastern States Exposition. In 1951 he was a delegate to National 4-H Club Camp, was named Delaware's outstanding poultry boy, was state farm and home safety winner and was admitted to the 4-H Link Association, an honorary organization of older 4-H members and alumni. He is president and junior leader of his club.

Dolores Lloyd, 17, of Newark, as national Dairy Foods Demonstration winner received a trip to the 4-H Club Congress from the Carnation Co. Four years in 4-H, she has developed confidence and poise through demonstrating. All these programs are conducted under the direction of the Co-operative Extension Service.

Sing Under Water
 Frogs are able to sing under water because they normally sing with their mouths and nostrils closed.

Traveling Advice
 Use a snap clothes pin to hang your hat in the car when taking a trip. Just snap your hat to the rope stretched across the back of the front seat. Snap road maps there, too. Handy for those riding in the back seat.

IMPORTANT NEWS ABOUT NUMBER ONE KILLER OF POULTRY!

New Treatment for Air Sac Infection Brings Overnight Results

TODAY, many authorities believe that air sac infection or infections of the upper respiratory tract have actually accounted for the ultimate loss of nearly 25% of all baby chicks hatched in this country! And as every poultryman knows—air sac infection is the number one topic of conversation whenever poultrymen gather together. It is indeed a serious situation, threatening the future of the industry.

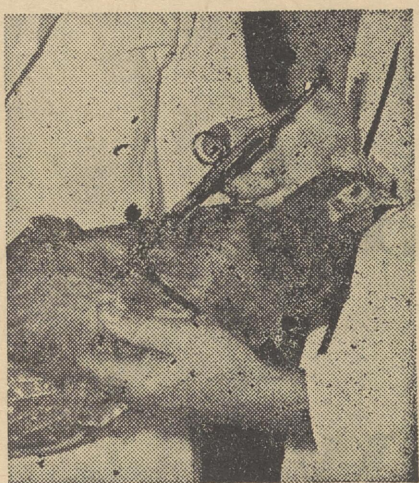

New Form of Penicillin
 Fortunately, science has found an answer, both economically and dramatically effective. Over two years ago, Wyeth Laboratories recognizing the problem went to work. The successful result came through Wyeth's discovery of a new salt of penicillin—named Bicillin. Bicillin is actually penicillin in a new long-acting form. It is absorbed into the blood stream slowly—and is effective, with one injection, many, many times longer than ordinary penicillin.

Combination Proves Effective
 With this new form of penicillin, the most effective antibiotic, Wyeth combined another powerful antibiotic—dihydrostreptomycin sulfate, in a form readily mixed with water to make an aqueous suspension. This combination of antibiotics is called Bicillin-SM, and has proved much more effective than when either antibiotic is used separately.

Proved in the Field
 Reports from all over the country acclaim the amazing results. To date, over 20,000,000 chickens have been treated with Bicillin-SM. Poultrymen report an almost immediate halt in mortality—say broilers have increased feed consumption 40% to 50% in three or four days. Actually, many treated birds return to normal feed consumption in 24 hours.

Helps Prevent Relapse
 Bicillin provides the long-lasting antibiotic action needed to help prevent relapses through development of secondary infections, so common when birds are weakened by air sac infection.

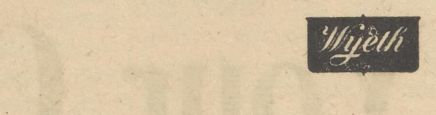

After Effects
 With Bicillin-SM, unlike some other medications used for air sac infection, the bird may be marketed immediately upon recovery.

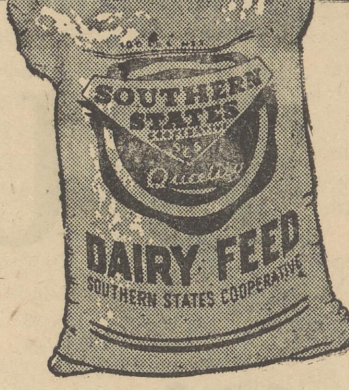

Wide Range of Coverage
 Because of its action against a wide range of harmful organisms, Bicillin-SM is particularly valuable when there is no time to identify the particular bacterial organisms causing trouble.

BICILLIN®-SM

Bicillin-SM is easy to use! Just add boiled water (cooled) to the container to make 500 cc. of the solution. Dose is 1/2 cc. for birds up to 6 weeks, 1 cc. for those older. For layers, 2 cc. For turkeys use 1 cc. per five pounds. Inject into the muscles of the thigh. High speed injection equipment available. Consult your dealer.

Greenwood

The decorations are being taken down, the stores are busy exchanging sizes, some of the toys are broken, and we have picked the last of the fruit cake out of our teeth, so we will assume that Christmas is definitely over; and, by the time you read this, the New Year 1954 will be getting off to a good start.

The folks at Grace Church gave their pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Palmer, an old-fashioned pantry-shelf donation just before Christmas.

The youngsters who haven't been attending Grace Church with their parents recently have been missing a treat. Rev. Palmer has been giving a short children's sermon in addition to the regular service. On the Christmas Sunday, he told them the old Christmas story and also how Santa Claus came to be.

This last Sunday, his story was entitled "The Three Little Pigs" using this to lead them easily into the idea of building their House of Life on the rock of the Bible so that no storms could ever beat it down. It seems to me that this is one of the finest things a minister can do toward building the church of tomorrow. If we keep our children interested in the church now, we will not have to go out and hunt them up years later.

The Rev. Harry Conner gives us these items from his church, the Greenwood Methodist, Team No. 17, with Mrs. James R. Carroll as captain, will sponsor a square dance in the Educational Building tonight at 8 o'clock.

Monday evening the Official Board will meet in the church at 8:00.

Wednesday evening, at 6:30, the Sunshine Bible Class will have a turkey supper in the Educational Building, and on that same evening there will be a prayer meeting service in the church at 7:30.

Thursday evening the Ladies Aid of St. Johnstown Church will meet at the parsonage at 8:00.

There will be a School of Religion in the Harrington-Milford-Greenwood area in the Asbury Methodist Church at Harrington. This will be held each evening Monday through Friday, Jan. 18 to 22, 7:30 until 9:30.

The Greenwood Home Demonstration Club will open the New Year with a covered dish luncheon at the home of Mrs. Walter Mills on January 12, at 12 noon.

Members of the family of the late Charles E. Trivitts of Cannon held their family reunion Sunday at the Fire Hall. There were 56 members present to enjoy the turkey dinner and catch up on the family news.

Little Charlena Edgell, of Seaford, was a guest of Ellen Hatfield Thursday.

Walter Haverstick, of Wilmington, was a weekend guest of the J. Burton Carters. Monday evening the Carters were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Huey Jackson, of Seaford. Wednesday evening were entertained at dinner Mr. and Mrs. Brennon Jackson and children, Brenda Mae and Bruce, of Seaford.

Thursday evening the Carters entertained Miss Bess Carlisle and John Carlisle, Miss Florence Carlisle and William Carlisle Sr., Mr. and Mrs. George R. Willey, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hatfield, Mrs. Annie Hatfield, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield and Ellen. Sunday their dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Huey Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jackson, from Seaford. On New Year's Day their luncheon guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Coulter, who in turn entertained them to dinner in the evening.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Luther Lyons and family entertained Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jester and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hatfield, and Glen Millaway. The men enjoyed relating their experiences of the day in hunting deer, the rest of the gang played with Ronald's new tape recorder, and everyone did full justice to the delicious Christmas sweets for which Marilyn is justly famous.

Motor Fuel Taxes

While the amount of taxes collected on motor fuel sales during December will not be known until the end of the month, since the taxes will be received during this month, it is indicated that the total will be fairly large which will result in the motor fuel tax collections for the year 1953 being the largest for any year in the history of the state.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Marshall and daughters wish to express their appreciation to all friends and relatives who extended sympathy and services at the time of the loss of their daughter and sister, Margaret Marshall.

4-Hers Win Honors In Dairy Foods Demonstrations

Kathryn Schulz Mary Lou Derickson

Dairy Foods Demonstrations that have won first honors in Delaware were carried out by the team of Kathryn Schulz, 16, of Hockessin, and Mary Lou Derickson, 16, of Marshallton.

They have utilized many ways of varying the diet by the use of dairy products, appreciating the value of milk for good health. Their demonstrations have been given before approximately 100 people. Kathryn's and Mary Lou's high ranking team demonstration was "Let's Have Sherbet." Chosen state winners, each girl was awarded a 19-jewel wrist watch by the Carnation Company. In carrying out this program, the teen-agers learned to speak well in public and developed poise and good sportsmanship. They performed a genuine service to their communities as well. This program is conducted under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.

Surprised

In the closing months of World War II, an American soldier wandered late one night into a shell-smashed house in Bonn, Germany, found a piano and began idly playing "Moonlight Sonata" in the darkness. Not until next day did he learn he had been in the birthplace of Ludwig van Beethoven, playing Beethoven's great work on the composer's own piano.

Aw, Heck!

The San Antonio (Texas) Evening News carried a help-wanted ad for: "Executive Director, from 24 to 40. To sit at desk from 9 to 5 and watch other people work. Must be willing to play golf every other afternoon. Salary over $350 to start. (We don't have this job. We just thought we'd like to see in print what everyone is applying for.)"

Ignorant Drivers

Of the 60,000,000 car drivers in the country, not more than 15 per cent ever had any formal training in driving. To train the new generation of drivers, 8,000 high schools gave driving courses to more than 700,000 students last year.

Burrsville

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Towers, Sr., entertained the following at dinner on New Year's Day: Mrs. R. H. Stafford, Sr.; Mrs. Norman Usilton and children, Mr. and Mrs. Roland T. Draper, Jr., and Charlotte Ann. In the evening Mrs. Stafford and the Drapers, Sr., visited Mr. Stafford in Easton Hospital. He continues about the same.

Bobby Garrett had the misfortune to break his left arm Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Spence, Sr., entertained the following guests at a turkey dinner Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brubaker, Mrs. Clara Harris, Mrs. Rosa Brown, of Denton; Mr. and Mrs. William Clark and Jerry, of Ridgely; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Carroll, of Wilmington; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Spence, Jr., and children, Dale and Wanda Ann, of near Burrsville; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Spence and Patsy, of near Denton; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Baker, of Burrsville, and Fred Good, of Whiteleysburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson and sons, of Philadelphia, spent the New Year holiday at their home here. Mr. Atkinson and boys stayed on for a while longer.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore P. Warren spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Blades.

Mrs. Russell Stafford and Elma Gene spent Wednesday with her mother, Mrs. Floyd Baker.
