Norris Adams was appointed city manager Monday night at the February meeting of the City Council. He received a majority vote.

Other applicants for the post were William Smith, William Bolwyn, Wilson Holden, and Byron McKnatt.

Mr. Adams, upon notification of his selection to the post, told the Council: "I am glad to hear it, and I'll try to do my best." The new city manager, who takes the post formerly held by City Clerk Grace Wanda Quillen, is a former mayor of Harrington and a former sheriff of Kent County. Many years ago he had a meat market here and later was in the wholesale meat business.

In other business of the evening, Mayor Killen read a list of applicants for city work. The list was as follows: Clinton Brown, Norman Rust, Bayard Smith, John Fletcher, William H. Wheeler, John McMullin, Leo Leyanna, and Willard Hill.

The Council agreed that the selection of employees should be left to the city manager. The city manager will receive $125 per month and the employees $1 per hour. The city manager will not be required to spend all his time on the job, but is always on call.

Mayor Killen appointed the important Police Commission, consisting of himself, the city manager and Dr. Hewitt Smith, councilman.

U. of D. Library Gets 1000 Books

The Memorial Library of the University of Delaware is the recent recipient of approximately one thousand volumes from the personal library of Dr. Wilbur Owen Sypherd, University professor emeritus.

The collection represents a large portion of Dr. Sypherd's working library, containing much of the source material which he has used in his own writing, including not only books but photostat facsimile sources.

Forming a part of this gift for instance is a large portion of his Jephthah and Chaucer collections, suggesting two of his best known works, JEPHTHAH AND HIS DAUGHTER and STUDIES IN CHAUCER'S HOUSE OF FAME.

Also included in the gift are excellent collections of Quiller-Couch and James Russell Lowell, besides many single volumes which reflect the broad interest of the donor. Many of the titles are new to the University Library and help to fill long recognized gaps. Others provide second or third copies of frequently used books and are therefore welcome acquisitions.

Dr. Sypherd's long association with the University makes this gift of special interest. An alumnus of the University, he did his graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania and Harvard, and came back to Delaware to serve variously as professor of English, as librarian, and as president. In whatever capacity he has served, his interest in the library has been unflagging.

As head of the English department, he was largely instrumental in building up the library's holdings in English language and literature, and although he disclaims the credit, it was during his term as librarian that the foundations were laid for an excellent reference collection.

No longer actively engaged in teaching, Dr. Sypherd is still a familiar figure on the university campus, and is an almost daily visitor to the library where he continues his study and his writing.

He resides at 222 Dallam Road in Newark.

Boggs Appoints Industrial Group

Gov. J. Caleb Boggs Wednesday announced the appointment of a 20-man Delaware Committee on Industrial Development and named Lieut.-Gov. John W. Rollins, Lewes, chairman of the group.

At the same time Gov. Boggs revealed that he has requested each Chamber of Commerce in Delaware to submit the name of one member to serve as a liaison group to the newly created committee.

In making the announcement, the chief executive said that a diversification of new industries will be sought in order to provide an increasingly stable economy and thus provide more and more opportunities for permanent and substantial employment.

He further pointed out that his purpose in creating the committee is to correlate information on the state's facilities and resources in order to encourage desirable industries and businesses to locate in the state.

"The location of Delaware and the excellent facilities and resources which it has to offer industries is attracting the attention and consideration of businesses everywhere which are seeking new locations," Gov. Boggs declared.

"It is important," he continued, "to the proper development of our state that its industrial growth be well planned and that assistance be given to companies interested in coming here in connection with the selection of sites and the financing and leasing of new plants and facilities. I am confident that the committee which I am naming is well qualified to render needed services not only to industries seeking new locations, but also to the various communities in Delaware desirous of improving their economic positions by the addition of new and permanent business organizations, or the expansion of existing groups."

Gov. Boggs said that need for the new committee was pointed up at a recent conference held in Legislative Hall, sponsored by the Delaware State Development Department, which was attended by more than 50 representatives of transportation, industry, communications, real estate and public utilities.

The chief executive named Miles L. Frederick, Development Department director, as secretary of the committee in order that it might function through that department which will serve as a clearing house for the dissemination of industrial information. Col. C. B. Shaffer, of the Development Department's industrial division, was also named a committee member.

Gov. Boggs also explained that the liaison group, comprised of a representative of each Chamber of Commerce in the state, will be charged with the responsibility of presenting to the Industrial Development Committee the needs of their various towns and cities with respect to the new industries. They will also be invited to produce complete information concerning the facilities which they have to offer in such matters as available labor, transportation, public utilities, land sites or existing plants and other similar and important community advantages.

He insisted there is no significant overlapping in the ownership of the two tracks.

He also said that the Maryland track is considering changing its dates and may decide to open earlier to avoid the conflict in dates.

It was not clear Wednesday whether Brandywine can open later than the assigned date without further action by the harness racing commission, or whether the Aug. 14 starting date assigned by the commission automatically gives the track the option of starting after that date.

The Financial Angle
Another director of the Brandywine track said Wednesday that most of the directors are large stockholders in the track, and carefully considered the financial aspect as well as other aspects of the situation before deciding to postpone the opening date this summer for six days.

He said there has been a great deal of discussion, debate, and some accusations, between Maryland and Delaware harness racing people for a month, with the overlapping dates worrying both groups.

The director said he doubted that it would be wise in the long run for "a newcomer like Bran-

Brandywine Plans to Delay Opening of Harness Meet

Operators of the Brandywine Raceway have informed the Delaware Harness Racing Commission they are planning to open the harness racing season on Aug. 20 instead of Aug. 14, to avoid overlapping with the meet of the Ocean Downs track, near Ocean City, Md., it was learned Wednesday.

The commission had a meeting scheduled for Thursday to consider the action of Brandywine track, but this has been postponed indefinitely, Andrew Burks, chairman, said Wednesday night.

The commission assigned 30 days of racing this year at the Brandywine track and 30 days at the Kent-Sussex Fairgrounds at Harrington. This was done under an arrangement by which those two tracks race 20 days on their own time and 10 extra days each on the time of the trackless Del-Mar-Va Raceway, Inc., of Georgetown.

The commission gave Del-Mar-Va 10 racing days at Brandywine Raceway, starting Saturday, Aug. 14, and ending not later than Aug. 27. That allows two days for rain dates.

On Aug. 28, Brandywine Raceway's own 20-day season starts, and must end not later than Sept. 24, allowing four days for rain dates.

Harrington's 20-day meet starts Friday, Sept. 24, and ends not later than Oct. 21, allowing four days for rain dates. And Del-Mar-Va's other 10 days follow at the Harrington track, starting Friday, Oct. 22, and ending not later than Nov. 4, with two days for rain dates.

Brandywine's proposed Aug. 20 starting date means that all six rain dates will be voluntarily given up, and that the 30 assigned days of racing will be shortened by the number of days the racing happens to be rained out.

If there's a drought, therefore, the later starting date will make no appreciable difference in profits or taxes, according to local sportsmen, but if there is rain the track's owners and the state treasury both stand to take in less than they would if the full 30 days were raced.

The same sportsmen are asking why Brandywine is making this bow to Ocean Downs.

No reason was given by directors of Brandywine Raceway Wednesday other than a desire to be friendly and to co-operate with the Maryland track.

One director said there is no doubt that Ocean Downs "can't afford to run against us." The two tracks are about 125 miles apart and there is no question of competition for patronage.

The competition is for horses. And in the opinion of both a director of the track and an official of the racing commission, Brandywine has the advantage over Ocean Downs, and would get the better horses if both were racing at the same time.

"We're friendly people—they worked with us, and we want to work with them," said a director of the local track.

"But isn't that being more friendly and chivalrous than people usually are in business?" the director was asked.

"Well, we're nice people," he replied.

He insisted there is no significant overlapping in the ownership of the two tracks.

He also said that the Maryland track is considering changing its dates and may decide to open earlier to avoid the conflict in dates.

It was not clear Wednesday whether Brandywine can open later than the assigned date without further action by the harness racing commission, or whether the Aug. 14 starting date assigned by the commission automatically gives the track the option of starting after that date.

The Financial Angle
Another director of the Brandywine track said Wednesday that most of the directors are large stockholders in the track, and carefully considered the financial aspect as well as other aspects of the situation before deciding to postpone the opening date this summer for six days.

Referendum Tomorrow On Field House Bond Issue

The Harrington Special School District will hold a special election tomorrow on a bond issue to finance the construction of a field house.

This election will supersede one held Sat., Oct. 2, 1953, which was declared invalid when it was discovered notice of the event appeared in only one paper, instead of two as prescribed by law. In the October referendum the measure carried 133 to 13.

To finance the project, a part of the School Building Program, bonds in the aggregate of $200,000 will be issued by the State of Delaware and the Harrington Special School District. The portion of the estimated cost or the sum of not less than $120,000 will be paid by the State of Delaware in accordance with the School Building Program Act of 1953. The share which must be borne by the local district is not less than $80,000.

Previous to the election last October, J. C. Messner, superintendent of Harrington Schools, said passing of the bond issue would not involve increased taxation because the assessment had risen, giving the district increased revenue.

The election will be from 1 to 3 p. m., at Harrington High School. Every citizen of the school district, who would be entitled to register and vote at a general election, if such election were held at the time of the school election, shall be deemed entitled to vote in the school election regardless of whether he or she is a registered voter.

The field house will consist of a playing floor, two offices for athletic and health program coaches, two locker rooms for girls and two for boys, a heating room and a heating plant, a drying room, and an equipment storage room, all of which are to be properly and adequately equipped with a plan approved by the State Board of Education.

All are necessary in order that the School District may provide adequate school athletic training and health facilities.

GOOD SCHOOLS DON'T JUST HAPPEN

Just as electricity ran down a kite's cord and a new force jumped from a key to the knuckle of a man named Franklin, public schools had their beginnings in the minds of men like Thomas Jefferson and were implanted into the very fabric of our nation's beginnings. These men felt that a democracy prospered only in the degree that the knowledge and intelligence of its people appreciated and supported the values that rest in a government like ours.

Just as the kite sparked the modern miracle, our use of electricity, so our public schools have sparked a modern miracle in human know-how. We can take just pride in the fact that the public schools are peculiar to our own country. No other nation or form of government has experienced the need of such universal knowledge and experience.

In his message to Congress on the State of the Union, Jan. 7, 1954, President Dwight D. Eisenhower, said, "Youth-our greatest resource-is being seriously neglected in a vital respect. The nation as a whole is not preparing teachers or building schools fast enough to keep up with the increase in our population. The preparation of teachers is, indeed, the control and direction of public education policy, is a state and local responsibility."

Our responsibility then is to assume the challenge and to carry on for the future. We are challenged to invest in this future. True it is we will not see nor appreciate what we are doing until the lapse of a few decades; however, it is only fair that we accept the increasing costs of our schools.—Because,

- (1) Our school population or birth rate is moving upward;
- (2) Boys and girls are remaining in school longer;
- (3) The demands of business and other activities are for better trained individuals;
- (4) A better knowledge of ones self is essential to healthier and happier living;
- (5) Our community takes pride in the progress it has made and the plant it maintains.

But the program we have started must be continued. When a visiting team brings buckets and takes them filled with water to the class-room which they are using for a dressing room for the purpose of taking a sponge bath after the game, our faces turn red. When we realize that our boys and girls are faced with a similar inconvenience every day, we ask ourselves why should we try to carry on an athletic and physical education program? Remember, what was good enough for you, just isn't good enough today.

If you are interested in your boys and girls, if you take pride in your community, if you are interested in the development of your community for the future, you will change all this. You will come out and you will bring your friends and you will vote "FOR THE BOND ISSUE" for the Field House (this is our gymnasium, physical education unit) on Saturday, February 6, 1954 and you will have the peace of mind that comes to those who endeavor to do a worthwhile job well.

Lewes Museum Show Valentines

Lacy, time-yellowed valentines, some more than a century old, have been contributed to the Zwaanendael Museum at Lewes today. It remains on view until March 1.

So far a total of 66 specimens of the heart-throb tokens have been lent for the unusual exhibition in response to an appeal by the curator, Miss Catherine C. Maull. Visitors may see the display during the museum hours 10:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. The museum is closed on Mondays.

More than half of the valentines are of the lacy type, while the others are small cards and a few comic specimens. Some of the recipients of long ago married the donors later while others had kept them in treasure chests as reminders of girlhood beaux.

Here are some of the outstanding specimens of an almost extinct custom of valentine day making:

Miss Lizzie M. Cahall of Bridgeville, sent in four rare examples received by her mother, Miss Lizzie Cannon about 1852, who was the eldest daughter of Governor William Cannon. Mrs. Hoey Farrow of Milford has lent a flower-decorated fan mounted on green velvet framed in white, when open discloses the words "To my Sweetheart."

Mrs. Douglas Fry of Milford has a unique specimen with a petit point effect design, presented to her grandmother, Sarah M. Elting by John J. Roosa before they were married in 1863.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammon M. Davidson of Milton sent 12 valentines in a large walnut frame that belonged to the late Mrs. Lillie Mustard Davidson of Milton.

Mrs. Mary C. Cowell of Lewes Beach, eighty-odd year-old mother of the artist Laura Cowell, sent in a large booklet type valentine edged with white silk fringe. It was received by her in 1882 when she was fifteen years old from the boy she later married, Thomas C. Cowell.

Other contributors of one or more valentines were as follows: Mrs. G. Hall Riggins of Rehoboth, who sent one with original verses received by her mother in 1873; Mrs. Thomas J. Virden of Lewes; Mrs. Charles H. Robinson of Cool Springs; Mrs. Jane Anderson, Rehoboth; Mrs. George E. Godfrey of Dagsboro; Dr. Leonard H. Holder of Chester, Pa.; Harold W. T. Purnell of Georgetown; Miss Harriett Wilson and Postmaster Alton L. Brittingham of Lewes; Mrs. Sallie W. Thompson of Chadds Ford, Pa., formerly of Harbeson.

Mrs. Lewis A. Chambers of Lewes, has lent a small round wooden trinket box presented as a valentine to her grandmother about 1855, with a love verse printed on top. It was from a rich beau who sought her hand after the death of her husband.

Some of the contributors sent along the envelopes in which the valentines were received. Four of them, more than a hundred years old, do not have stamps, but instead are marked "Paid 3" in ink.

VETERANS ADMINISTRATION INFORMATION SERVICE

Q—Somehow I completely forgot to pay my monthly GI insurance premium. When I remembered, it was the last day of the grace period—a Sunday. I mailed the check anyhow. Will my insurance lapse?

A—No. If the last day of the grace period falls on Sunday, VA will accept the payment if it's made on the next business day. VA considers the postmark date on the envelope as the date the premium is paid.

Q—I have been rated as totally and permanently disabled for VA compensation purposes. Does this mean that after six months I can stop paying premiums on my GI insurance policy?

A—Not necessarily. The criteria for determining total disability for compensation is not exactly the same as for GI insurance. What you should do is file a claim for waiver of your premium payments. Continue paying premiums, however, until VA tells you to stop.

Q—I am a disabled veteran taking Public Law 16 training. I know I can get VA outpatient treatment for my service-connected disabilities, but would my Public Law 16 training qualify me for VA outpatient treatment of a nonservice-connected disability?

A—You would be permitted to receive VA outpatient medical treatment for a nonservice-connected disability only if you needed it to avoid interrupting your Public Law 16 training.

Q—I am training to be a lawyer under the Korean GI Bill. After I complete my schooling, will I be allowed to take GI Bill on-the-job training as a law clerk?

A—Under the Korean GI Bill, you are permitted to take a job training as a law clerk only if it's training as a law clerk only if it's to be admitted to the bar examination and to practice.

Harrington School News

Grades 1 and 2—Mrs. West

Today is Friday, Jan. 29, 1954. We have a little rabbit. We have kept him all week. We took good care of him. We named him "Pink Ears." and we love him very much. We wrote stories about him. On Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, we had a half-day of school. Some have been out sick. We will soon get our report cards. Here is a story that the first grade made up about our white rabbit. One morning we had a surprise. Guess what it was! It was a little white rabbit. He is so very cute and pretty. We are happy with him. We think he is happy, too. We will take care of him. Would you like to see him?

Senior Personality

A very friendly member of the Senior Class, Allen Hickman, was born on April 11, 1934, in Harrington. Allen has always attended Harrington Special School where he is taking the Vocational Course. He is a member of the Photography Club and the Varsity Club. Allen participates in many school activities such as basketball, baseball, and soccer. He enjoys these sports whether he is watching them on TV, listening to them on the radio, or playing them himself. His favorite subjects are typing and bookkeeping.

Like most of us, Allen's pet peeve is a smart person.

He himself has voted "Oh Mein Papa" as being the number one song on his list.

After graduation, Allen plans to work with the Bell Telephone Company.

Student Council

The meeting of the Kent County Student Council took place in Harrington Feb. 1. The meeting was called to order after a delicious dinner which was served by the cafeteria staff. We wish to thank them very much. Old business was the Valentine Dance which is to be held in Harrington Feb. 13. The time is 9 to 12. The prices are $1 a couple and $.75 stag. This dance will be held by the Kent County Association. We are to ask the parents of the queen, Jeanne Lander, to chaperone the dance.

New business was to consider sending delegates to St. Paul, Minn., to a convention. The officers are to discuss, in their student council, whether they would like to have Kent County establish treasury by having each school paying a certain amount for their dues. This would make it possible for Kent County to send delegates to the convention.

We also discussed the exchange of the assemblies. Smyrna and Milford are to exchange, Caesar Rodney and Harrington, Felton and Dover.

Sportsmanship was also discussed. Members of the Council thought the coaches of the schools should see to this.

The next Kent County meeting is to be held at Caesar Rodney. There has been no date set.

Pictures of India Shown

Warren Fox, a former exchange student to India and now a Junior at the University of Delaware, entertained the Junior and Senior High Schools at 1 p. m. bear fruit directly on last year's growth and may be pruned quite severely to keep up a good supply of young wood each year.
 Pruning flowering shrubs involves similar problems. You must know on what wood the flowers are born in order to know how much to prune. Before you start to cut, learn something about the tree or shrub. You can always remove branches, but you can't bring them back.
 In pruning grape vines — especially muscadines — many gardeners become alarmed because the vines "bleed" badly, that is, sap flows from the cut stems. There is no evidence that this bleeding is harmful to the plant, states Vapaa.

Social Security Information

Many Delaware farm workers and their families now have social security insurance protection, according to Myron Milbouer, manager of the Wilmington office of the Social Security Administration.
 Agricultural workers have been covered by social security since January 1, 1951, when the worker is regularly employed, Milbouer explained. The farm worker who has put in the past three years in regular agricultural work has insurance protection for three more years for his family in case of his death. Each additional year of work will extend this protection for two more years.
 Milbouer urged regular agricultural workers to make sure their employers are properly reporting their wages on social security returns because no social security credit can be given unless the returns are properly made. These returns must be made every three months and sent to the Director of Internal Revenue. They must show the worker's correct name, social security number, and wages. The tax, shared by worker and employer, is sent in with this report. The worker should show his social security card to his employer so that the employer's report will be correct.
 A leaflet explaining social security for farm worker is now available at the Wilmington social security office and will be mailed promptly to anyone wishing a copy.

CROP SHOW FEATURE OF FARM AND HOME WEEK

The 45th annual exhibit of the Delaware Crop Improvement Association will be held during Farm and Home Week, Feb. 22-25, at the University of Delaware.

According to Merrill Jones, president of the association, all farmers and 4-H members of Delaware are invited to exhibit crops they have grown this past year. New exhibit classes added to the show this year are grass silage and corn silage, while white and sweet potatoes have been dropped.

The show will be set up in the agricultural engineering laboratory of Agricultural Hall. Samples may be brought to William H. Mitchell, extension agronomist, on or before Monday, Feb. 22. Judging of the crops on Feb. 23 will be handled by Dr. Albin Kuhn, head of the Agronomy Department of the University of Maryland.

4-H members will have their annual crop judging contest on Feb. 23. Each county winner will receive a scholarship to the 4-H short course at the University or to the state 4-H camp.

The crop session of the Farm and Home Week program, Feb. 25, will be devoted to seeds and silage. Topics include seed varieties, growing and preserving silage, and temporary and permanent silos.

LOYAL WORKER CLASS NOTES

The Loyal Workers Bible Class of Trinity Methodist Church met Monday night in the chapel with Mrs. Orie Hobbs, president, presiding. Plans were discussed for the chicken and dumpling supper to be held March 10, and also for the Boy Scout "Father and Son Banquet" to be held Feb. 12. The rummage sale scheduled for late January was postponed because of the snow storm, and will be held Friday and Saturday, Feb. 26 and 27, in Gaines Alley.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Earl Sylvester. Through the courtesy of the Diamond State Telephone Company, the film "The Delaware Story" was shown. The picture was in color accompanied by music and narration and beautifully depicted Delaware scenes beginning with its early history, and covering its growth in religion, education, industry and agriculture, and included many scenes that are dear to the hearts of all Delawareans. Archie Feagan, of the Harrington School faculty, showed the film.

Refreshments were served by a committee consisting of Mrs. Ellwood Gruwell, Mrs. Howard Williams, Mrs. William Nichols, Mrs. Blanche Cahall, Mrs. Arley Saulsbury, and Mrs. Earl Sylvester.

Mrs. Alfred Raughley is chairman of the program for the March meeting. Mrs. Joseph Fleming is in charge of refreshments and will be assisted by Mrs. Baynard Smith, Mrs. W. E. Jacobs, Mrs. George Price and Mrs. Raughley.

PRUNING TREES IS DORMANT SEASON JOB

About the time of the January thaws comes the question of pruning fruit trees and shrubs of deciduous nature—those that lose their leaves in winter.

There isn't any hurry about pruning operations, County Agent George K. Vapaa assures us. In most cases it's best to delay pruning until the hard freezing weather is past. While this job can be done any time of year, pruning is the most advisable when trees have lost their leaves and you can see what you are doing.

To prune a fruit tree correctly, you need to know its natural habit of growth and bearing fruit. For example, the grape bears fruit on new shoots coming from the previous season's growth. Therefore, we prune out as much old wood as possible each year, leaving enough one year wood to produce a good crop.

The apple bears much of its fruit on short fruit spurs along the main branches and upper trunk—so you don't want to remove the spurs or you will destroy much of the fruit-bearing wood.

Peach trees are different. They

SELECTING PATTERNS

If you have trouble getting a pattern to fit you, perhaps you're not choosing the correct size for your figure type. Patterns come in several different size ranges, each one designed for a special figure type as well as for your measurements.

Mrs. Scott, representative from Simplicity Pattern Company, will be in Kent County for a meeting to explain these size ranges and to help you choose the correct size for your figure type. She will also help you choose flattering styles, fabrics, and colors for your clothes. Information about new developments in fabrics and fabric finishes will be included in the demonstration, too.

This meeting will be held Wed., Feb. 10, at 1:30, in Oak Grove Community Hall (east of Dover). Come to get these ideas before you start making your new spring outfit.

TOAST THAT'S DIFFERENT

Here are two recipes for "Toastwiches" — French toasted sandwiches.

Try this Ham Toastwich for lunch for your family or for a hearty breakfast.

Ham Toastwich
1-4 cup soft butter or margarine
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
12 slices enriched bread
6 slices boiled ham
2 slightly-beaten eggs
1-3 cup milk
1-4 cup shortening

Combine butter and mustard and spread on bread. Make 6 sandwiches by placing a ham slice between slices of buttered bread. Combine eggs and milk. Dip each sandwich into egg mixture, turning it to coat both sides. Brown sandwich on both sides, in small amount of hot shortening in a skillet. Serve immediately. Makes 6 toastwiches.

This Strawberry Toastwich will be wonderful for breakfast, or a treat for lunch, served with cold meat and crispy fresh vegetable.

Strawberry Toastwich
1-4 cup soft butter or margarine
12 slices enriched bread
3-4 cup strawberry preserves
2 slightly-beaten eggs
1-3 cup milk
1-2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1-4 cup shortening
1-2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar

Butter bread. Make 6 sandwiches by placing 2 tablespoons strawberry preserves between slices of buttered bread. Combine eggs, milk, salt and sugar. Dip each sandwich into egg mixture, turning it to coat both sides. Brown sandwiches, on both sides, in small amount of hot shortening in a skillet. Shake a little confectioners' sugar over top of each toastwich. Makes 6 toastwiches.

FARM FILLERS

Did you know that a single rat will eat as much as 40 pounds of grain a year? This is a reminder that rat control is a year-round job.

Keep your houseplants from freezing during cold nights. If you don't want to remove them from the window ledges, place 18-inch strips of heavy roofing paper between the window and the plant material.

Four-fifths of all land in the United States is devoted to some kind of agricultural activity. One-fourth of the land is used for crops, more than half is permanent pasture and grazing land, and if timber and woodland is added, this constitutes nine-tenths of our total land area. Roads, streets, parks and building sites account for the other tenth.

To keep your laying flock healthy, see that they get fresh air—even in frigid weather. That doesn't mean letting cold drafts hit the pens, because the birds will suffer from sudden changes in temperature. Adult laying hens become used to cold gradually. Check your ventilation system to see that it is properly adjusted.

A well-equipped farm shop saves money in repair and maintenance costs.

Night Skiing
Some of the ski slopes in Maine are floodlighted at night for the benefit of lovers of winter sport.

FLIES COME INSIDE DURING WINTER WEATHER

Pesky flies that seem to drop out of nowhere have been invading many homes this winter. These insects don't behave like most flies—they zoom around in circles or buzz on the floor. The reason for all this outdoor activity is explained by Donald MacCreary, extension entomologist at the University of Delaware. He says these aren't ordinary house flies, but a larger species that hibernates in sheltered spots such as cracks around window frames and doors. When a warm day comes and the sun hits that side of the building, they emerge and start their buzzing attack.

If there are only a few flies, the old fashioned fly swatter is your best control method, MacCreary believes. If the fly invasion is prolonged, your best bet is to use an aerosol bomb. Pyrethrum has the advantage of not being harmful to foodstuffs. A combination pyrethrum-DDT bomb is effective, but be sure you cover all food dishes first.

You may be able to locate and plug up the spot where the flies are entering. That will take care of them until they find another crack to squeeze through.

KEEP POULTRY EATING DURING COLD WEATHER

Do your chickens turn up their noses at feed when the weather is cold? Many local poultrymen do find difficulty keeping up feed consumption in laying pens during a prolonged cold spell, reports George K. Vapaa.

Try tempting the hen's appetite with a light feeding of oats—say 2 to 3 pounds per 100 birds as the first meal in the morning. This helps get the birds down off the roosts and moving about the pen.

On very cold days, when mash consumption is down considerably, a heavy feeding of pellets for that day—enough to make up the normal intake of breeder mash—will often bring total consumption up to normal.

Since the extreme weather seldom lasts longer than two or three days in this state, the heavy pellet feeding can be gradually dropped back to normal as the weather improves.

HOLSTEIN HERD RECORDS REVEALED AT UNIVERSITY

Dairy production has come a long way since 1920. This shows up in thirty-year production records kept on the Holstein herd at the University of Delaware farm, Newark.

Dr. T. A. Baker, of the University's animal husbandry department, says that back in 1920, the average production per cow in this herd was 3,138 pounds of milk, 3.27 percent butterfat and 267.3 pounds of fat. In 1950, the corresponding averages were 11,944, 3.79 and 430.3.

"It has been the policy of the University to maintain a uniform level of feeding and management at all times," states Dr. Baker. "By this precaution we are sure that herd improvement comes from selection and breeding."

Improvement of the herd in early years was hampered by lack of funds for replacements, making it impossible to cull all low producing cows. Furthermore, the pedigrees of the bulls used in those days contained less information on transmitting qualities of the ancestors.

The biggest upward swing in herd production has come in the past 10 years. Part of this is due to the development of the artificial breeding program in Delaware. "While we have always had herd sires of our own, the additional use of artificial breeding sires have given us a better selection of bulls," Dr. Baker explains.

Everyone of the last eight sires used in the herd has had daughters that averaged higher than their dams in production. At the end of the record-keeping period, a Winterthur bred bull, Winterthur Zeus Forbes Commander, was being used as a herd sire. His first nine daughters have recently completed their first lactations, with an average production on a mature equivalent basis (305 days, twice daily milking) of 16,376 pounds of milk and 579 pounds of butterfat—55 pounds of fat above the level of their dams.

The average butterfat production of the herd for 1953 is now being figured and will be about 70 pounds per cow. This is the highest level that has been reached in the history of the herd, states Dr. Baker.

KENT COUNTY 4-H CLUBS GET CITIZENSHIP TRAINING

Kent County 4-H'ers are learning how to translate citizenship into action, reports Marion MacDonald, 4-H agent.

During January, newly elected officers and chairman of local 4-H clubs have attended a training session to acquaint them with the duties of their posts.

The meeting began on "How to Head a Good Group Discussion." Following this they met in separate groups according to their office. Two questions were presented and discussed by the groups: what plans and preparations should be made before a meeting? and what duties are involved in the office? A summary of the group discussions was presented to all present. Miss Gertrude Holloway, home demonstration leader, and Miss Charlotte Swanson, home demonstration agent, assisted the presidents and vice-presidents. George Van Horn, extension editor, worked with the reporters and George Vapaa from the county office helped the treasurers and secretaries.

"Every 4-H meeting is a training ground for good citizens," Marion McDonald declares. "Boys and girls serving as club officers get an introduction to parliamentary procedure. A good president learns how to keep the meeting moving, yet encourages members to discuss issues and express their opinions."

All 4-H clubbers, even the 10-year-olds, have responsibilities. Besides officers, all clubs have chairmen, such as safety, program and recreation. Club members may serve on various committees. Many times older boys and girls become junior leaders, helping beginning members with their club projects.

BAND TO HOLD MAGAZINE CAMPAIGN

The Harrington High School Band will hold its annual magazine subscription campaign in order to help finance its obligations for the coming spring and summer.

Music and equipment necessary to keep a band of 40 musicians in top condition is expensive, and since most people subscribe to one or more magazines, renewals and new subscriptions permit our high school band to retain a certain percentage instead of placing all profits with the publishers. It is the hope of the music department to be able to purchase a few extra uniforms and new instruments for the coming season, as well as to secure new music and have all school instruments overhauled. This project will cost several hundred dollars, and this subscription campaign will help defray most of the costs.

It is hoped that all persons approached during this campaign will treat the band member accordingly. The campaign begins today, February 5, and closes Monday, February 15.

School Referendum, Saturday, March 6

The Board of Education has set Saturday, March 6, 1954 as the date for the referendum on the sale of $100,000 worth of school bonds to finance school building additions.

Disregarding any additional pupils from the Air Base, the Board of Education finds it necessary to have the following additions to meet the needs of the children now in the district who will be of school age by the time the new construction can be completed.

4 elementary classrooms, farm shop, home economics room above shop, auto mechanics storage building, equipment, cafeteria storage room, public toilet on cafeteria floor level, improvements to storm water drainage system, fencing, grading, and development of new playgrounds.

Facilities for additional pupils which may come to the district from the Dover Air Force Base are not included in the present proposals as federal government assistants expected if a large number of pupils come from the base.

The local share of $100,000 for the proposed additions would be supplemented by $150,000 in State funds.

As the 1951 Bond issue was financed by raising the capitation tax from four dollars to five dollars, the Board proposes to finance the new issue by increasing the real estate tax by not more than ten cents, making the new rate thirty cents instead of twenty with the capitation tax of five dollars being continued.

The Parent-Teacher Association Executive Board has arranged for the school construction program to be presented at the regular meeting of the association on Thursday, February 4, at 8:00 p. m. in the cafeteria. The public is invited to attend this meeting.

Caesar Rodney Band to Present Winter Concert
The Department of Music has announced that the Caesar Rodney High School Band will present its Sixth Annual Band Concert in the school auditorium on Wednesday, February 10th, at 8:15 p. m.

The Band, under the direction of Edwin F. Englehart, will have a widely varied program to offer. Among the numbers on the program will be a short Bach Chorale, the well-known "Finlandia" by Jean Sibelius, music from our neighbors "south of the border", and a group of selections from our own country. Included in the marches will be the famous "Chicago Tribune" by Chambers, and for the modern-minded music lover the Band will present the Jerry-Gray Glenn Miller arrangement of the "American Patrol". Different individuals and groups of the Band will be featured throughout the program.

Both adult and student tickets are being placed on sale with the popular family ticket also available. Proceeds from the concert will go into the Caesar Rodney Band uniform fund.

Felton School Notes

The junior high school boys will play the Frederica Junior High at Felton Wed., Feb. 10.

Felton School will be closed Thurs., Feb. 11, so that the teachers may visit other schools for the purpose of observing teaching methods and school plant facilities.

The fifth student council movie "With A Song In My Heart" was presented Feb. 3.

The attendance banner for schools in western Sussex and southern Kent counties was awarded to Felton School for December. This is the third successive month our school has achieved this distinction.

Glass and glass block have been installed in all the areas under construction. This advance will permit the contractors to proceed with their work even in bad weather. Construction tile has been placed in the corridors and in drinking fountain niches. The corridor tile is light green to shoulder height with cream colored tile above to the ceiling.

Both boys and girls' locker and shower rooms are completed sufficiently to be used. They were first put into service at the Bridgeville game January 29.

H. E. Henry, supervising principal, will attend the National Convention of the American Association of School Administrators at Atlantic City the week of Feb. 15. Over 6000 school administrators from every state of the Union and all the territories attend this conference each year. Most of the meetings are held in the Atlantic City Convention Hall.

The women folk of Grace Methodist Church School were pleasantly surprised on Sunday morning to find that their little tables and chairs had been newly painted in gay, attractive colors. This is all part of a project under way by the Ever-Welcome Class who plan to spend the next few months in making the room more attractive for the youngsters.

Which reminds us that this is a good time to remind you to come out and participate in the "Kaffeklatsch" that the class is having on Saturday, Feb. 13, at the Fire Hall, beginning at 2:00 p. m. Meet your friends there for some good conversation over coffee and sweets. Throw a few coins in the silver offering, browse around and enjoy a shopping spree among the many things offered for sale. You won't have to bake for Valentine's Day. The Ever-Welcome Class will solve your dessert problem and perhaps your whole meal.

Don't forget that square dance on Feb. 12 in the Fire Hall. Proceeds will go to the March of Dimes, a project very close to all our hearts.

Highway Dept. Holds School

"It is the desire of the State Highway Department to improve construction work during the coming year," John B. Carson, construction engineer for the department, said in an address during the Department's Inspectors School of Instruction held in the Legislative Hall Monday.

It was the third weekly session of the school during which the work of inspectors is being studied in order to have that work become uniform on all types of construction throughout the state.

Mr. Carson spoke on the subject, "Character of Workman and Equipment," during which he pointed out that in order to attain the objective of the Department "only men will be employed who will properly execute the work of the Department with the proper knowledge and desire to do their best."

Continuing, he said, "Regardless of how well equipped the contractor is with equipment and the proper supervision the work will not be carried forth in the proper manner unless the employees of the State Highway Department have the knowledge to execute properly their part of the program."

"Before starting any new contract, the division engineer will call in the contractor or his superintendent, together with the division construction engineer and the inspector who is going to be in charge of the project, to discuss with the contractor his plan for execution of the contract."

"They should set up a time table for the construction of the various items of the contract. They should discuss the amount and type of equipment that is to be used in doing the work. They should also discuss the tools who will be used for the operation of the equipment. They should also discuss the number of employees necessary to carry forth the construction of the various items."

"There are many reasons for doing the construction as fast as possible. One of the chief reasons is to improve the flow of traffic through our highways. While the construction is going on the traffic is handicapped to a certain degree by traveling in one-way lanes, around barricades, and through detours."

"In order to give our public the best and safest traveling conditions we will try, in the future, to complete all of our contracts before the completion date. Good supervision from both the State Highway Department and the contractor, plus good equipment and a sufficient amount of materials should give us the progress we desire."

Among the other speakers at this session of the school were Robert C. Densten, Federal Aid and Estimate Engineer for this department, who discussed preparation of estimates and records. Paul Scotton, Division Engineer for Kent County, talked on the subject of water-bound macadam base course and Ernest A. Davidson, Division Engineer for New Castle County, reviewed the placing of perforated corrugated metal pipe underdrain. The work of constructing manholes and the installation of catch basins was discussed by Robert Wetherall, Assistant Division Engineer for New Castle County.

In addition to these speakers, a number of the department's veteran inspectors discussed various items in connection with the highway construction work.

Hartly Farmers Builds Barn From Own Timber

Frank Long, of Hartly, had planned for five years to construct a suitable loafing shed. His objectives were realized in October 1953, when the shed was built.

The building is 72 feet long and 22 feet deep, furnishing ample space and shelter for his dairy herd of 18. Mr. Long and another carpenter put the shed up in less than nine days.

All of the lumber used in the construction of this shed was cut from timber on the farm. It is a lean-to type building with two sides having a southern exposure.

Frank says, "I figure the labor and all cost me about $500." The roof is supported by 16 4 x 6 inch white oak posts placed 12 feet apart. The ends of the posts are set on concrete footing so that they will last longer. The sides of this lean-to building, which averages 16 feet in height, are made from rough poplar lumber.

A galvanized roof completes the structure. Mr. Long intends to put a loft in the shed for hay and straw storage.

"There never has been room enough for my dry cows and heifers, but now this problem is solved," says Frank. "This building not only protects my cows and stable in bad weather, but also helps me save feed, and keeps the cows cleaner and the pound drier," adds Frank.

Mr. Long ships his milk to the Pet Milk Company on the 3000-Route. Edward Laramore owns and operates this route. Mr. Long has been selling milk to the company for the last five years.

TALL CEDARS CEREMONIAL MEETING AT LAUREL

Evergreen Forest No. 49, Tall Cedars of Lebanon will hold its regular February Ceremonial at the Fire Hall in Laurel on Feb. 10 to honor its Grand Tall Cedar, Charles E. Saunders. Mr. Saunders presently lives in Chincoteague, Va., but Laurel is his home town. Granville T. White of the same town is making arrangements for the meeting and is expecting a big turnout.

The Forest Band, Rangers, "Green Tops" and the famous "Goat" will parade, leaving the Fire Hall at 7:30 p. m. A large class of candidates from the west side of the state will also participate in the parade.

After the parade there will be a short business session followed by the Sidonian Degree conferred by the Rangers in full form.

Roy Seagraves of Philadelphia will furnish entertainment with a floor show and Chief Steward Norman Collins will furnish refreshments.

This meeting will be one of the outstanding ones of the year and Grand Tall Charlie Saunders urges all Cedars to attend.

SHORT COURSE TO BE HELD HERE FEB. 10

The dairymen in Kent County will be able to attend one of two Dairy Short Courses being held early in February, according to George K. Vapaa, the county agent. The first Short Course will be held Feb. 10 in the Harrington High School in the Vo-Ag Building.

The second program will be in the new Agricultural Building at the Smyrna High School Feb. 11.

Both of these meetings will start at 10:00 a. m. and will continue through to about 3:00 p. m. The program is as follows:

PTA'S PART IN THE HEALTH PROGRAM

In Mississippi, the State Board of Health sends out health reminders to all families receiving checks for aid to dependent children. They also send health reminders to PTA presidents throughout the state for distribution to their association members.

There are about 38,000 local PTA groups in this country. Many of them use the spring and summer as a "round-up" period to see that children who will start to school next year receive health check-ups. Local doctors help with this. When a family has its own physician, who supervises the health of the children, he usually makes this check-up and reports to the appropriate school authorities the results of his examinations.

Because of the importance of vision and hearing to a child in his school work, special examinations of eyes and ears are made either by private doctors or by the health staff after the child enters school.

The child health conference, often known as the well-child clinic, which is conducted through State and local health departments, or by voluntary health associations, is another way of reaching the pre-school child.

dywine to throw its weight around," by refusing to cooperate in a change of dates. He said for a time a deal was being worked out whereby the Maryland tracks were planning to start a week earlier and the Delaware tracks were to start a week later, to avoid two weeks of overlapping. But the Harrington track declined to go along with this idea, he said.

T. Brinton Holloway, secretary-general manager of the Kent & Sussex Racing Association here, said yesterday that "Harrington was never consulted by anyone, in any official capacity, about moving its dates back."

"But," he added, "in my opinion, our board would have opposed any move to push dates back, since it would have had us racing in cold weather."
