

Lions Aid Worthwhile Causes, District Governor Says on Annual Visitation

The Lions gave approximately $200,000 last year in Delaware for the benefit of others, Gov. William Davies, of Laurel, told the local chapter on his annual visitation at the Wonder R Monday night.

He was accompanied by David Clements, zone chairman, of Milford, and Charles Peck, Jr., deputy district governor, of Harrington.

Mr. Davies said Delaware Lions provided 400 pairs of glasses last year, and added that he doubted there was a worthwhile charity in Delaware but what didn't get Lion help.

The district governor spoke of the convention to be held in May in Atlantic City and of the International Convention in New York.

In other business of the evening, Fred Greenly, president of the Lions, said the group had 15 tickets to a regional meeting to be held March 30 at the General Motors plant at Boxwood.

The Lions want 25 members and their wives to attend the Friendship Dinner here Feb. 19, with a deadline on ticket sales today. The Lions will sponsor the dinner next year.

William Outten read a card of thanks from the Louis Holden family for a donation when the Holden home burned.

President Greenly welcomed the following new members: Woodrow Welch, John Raughley, John Eisenberry, and James Stafford. Charles Peck, Jr., the deputy district governor, said the Harrington chapter, with six members for January, topped the region.

Ralph Draper received a 5-year pin from District Governor Davies.

Visitors Monday night also included Joe and James Ellis, Tommy Parsons, William Jones and Clifford Ott, all of Laurel; William Graham, Seaford; Ray Passwaters, Bridgeville; Granville Hearn, Dover, and Paul Goepfel, Greensboro, N. C. Mr. Goepfel has a perfect attendance pin for 20 years. His original club is Allentown, Pa. He will soon move to Dover.

Grade 5 - Miss Long

We decorated our bulletin board last Wednesday. As it was put some valentines, trees, a house, a man, and a horse and buggy.

Our class is learning some new steps in arithmetic. Many people like them.

We made a Valentine box with red paper and lace doilies.

Grade 2 - Mrs. Irwin

We have missed many of our friends the last few weeks. They have had scarlet fever and the virus.

We are having a contest to see if we can eat better breakfast. We have bird teams. The cardinals won last week.

Grade 1 - Mrs. Grant

We have had fun making dioramas. We made one of a toy store. It is in our room and we are enjoying it. We also made animals with a forest background, which Mrs. Malek put on the table by the cafeteria. On our bulletin board in the corridor we have a farm done on a large scale. For this we used tempera paint. Every child took part in making these three activities a success.

In gym we learned dance. We saw slides in art. We made clay figures.

Caesar Rodney School News

P. T. A. Approves Building Program

The Caesar Rodney Parent-Teacher Association unanimously approved the Building Program as presented by the Board of Education on Thursday evening, Feb. 4, during a regular meeting of the Association. Representatives of several community organizations and other interested citizens were guests of the Board of Education at the meeting.

Mrs. Stephen P. H. Clute, president of the P. T. A., presided, with William R. Brown, president of the Board of Education, serving as chairman during the presentation of the construction plans and the question and answer period which followed.

During the discussion period it developed that there was objection to the tax increase being entirely on real estate. An informal poll indicated a strong majority in favor of raising the additional funds necessary by increasing both the capitation tax and the real estate tax. This recommendation will be considered at the next meeting of the Board of Education.

The present tax rate is twenty cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation with a five dollar capitation tax. The Board had previously proposed to finance the $100,000 bond issue by increasing the real estate tax by not more than ten cents.

Railroad News

Committees on arrangements for the annual oyster party and safety rally have everything under control and assure everybody a good time with plenty of food, clam chowder, entertainment and renewing of friendships—practically the same set-up for transportation as in the past, with a special train out of Wilmington arriving at Salisbury around 5 p.m. and returning around 9 p.m. Exact time at each station will appear in next week's issue of this paper. The party will be in Salisbury Armyory Sat evening, Feb. 27.

The special train seen passing through town last evening from the D. M. & V. branch, consisting of two business cars, a coach and Diesel engine, was Vice-Pres. J. P. Newell and his staff on an inspection of the division, which started out of Cape Charles at 6:40 a.m. to Seaford, then down and back the Cambridge branch, to Harrington at noon, out the D. M. & V. to Georgetown and Rehoboth, returning at 4:40 p.m., and on to Philadelphia at 7 p.m.

In addition to Mr. Newell, the party consisted of Vice-President A. J. Greenough, Gen. Manager J. A. Schwab, Chief Engineer E. R. Shultz, Gen. Supt. Freight Transportation P. W. Neff and Supt. Linenfeiler.

Train crews on rear of D2 and D3 tell us they always look for a high sign from someone at Harrington to insure them every thing is ok in their train which usually consists of 140 to 160 cars. Last Saturday while D2 was passing Greenwood the crew inside the cabin heard something strike the front door, and looking out, found a message hoop with note attached reading: "Breaks sticking—middle of train." Agent Buck Moore, formerly of Greenwood but now of St. Michaels, Md., was observing the train while home for the week-end, and in addition to getting the information to the rear end crew, he called the operator at Harrington who stopped the train and had the faulty brakes corrected. Buck may have been relegated to the branch lines through recent force reductions, but here is plenty of evidence that his interests are still on the main line.

Today is a red letter day on our calendar in memory of a man whose every utterance seemed legendary. Next to his Gettysburg address, we railroaders admire his tribute to iron rails: "No other improvement has contributed so much to the advancement of humanity as the railroad."

And it is just as true today as then.

Edgar Stubbs, Harrington, has recently purchased the registered Brown Swiss bull, Flora, of the Edwin 117547, from H. Vaughn Ginn, Middletown.

Sick, Doris Moore, Patsy Meluney, Mary Mueller, Mary Papan, Mildred Rush, Eileen Richards, Norma Robb, Sylvia Jean Ross, Louise Timmons, Joanne Weber, Bernice Weiss, Iona Luffman.

Mary Sue Thompson was chairman of the program. The faculty sponsors are Mrs. Florence I. Smith and Mrs. Janet R. Scheidt.

The assembly program was concluded by selections by the High School Band.

Jr. High Art Class Field Trip

The event was timed to take advantage of an extensive special showing of sketches and pictures by Van Gough, but the group visited other sections of the museum and filled their minds with impressions that would stimulate their interest in many other subjects. (Continued on back page)

School District Referendum Favors Field House

In the Harrington Special School District's referendum Saturday afternoon, the bond issue for a field house passed, 186 to 14.

To finance the project, a part of the School Building Program, bonds in the aggregate of $200,000 will be issued by the State of Delaware and the Harrington Special School District. The portion of the estimated cost or the sum of not less than $120,000 will be paid by the State of Delaware in accordance with the School Building Program Act of 1953. The share which must be borne by the local district is not less than $80,000.

Previous to the election last October, J. C. Messner, superintendent of Harrington Schools, said passing of the bond issue would not involve increase taxation because assessment had risen, giving the district increased revenue.

The field house will consist of a playing floor, two offices for athletic and health program coaches, two locker rooms for girls and two for boys, a heating room and a heating plant, a drying room, and an equipment storage room, all of which are to be properly and adequately equipped with a plan approved by the State Board of Education.

All are necessary in order that the School District may provide adequate school athletic training and health facilities.

March of Dimes But Misses Goal

The 1954 contributions to the March of Dimes Campaign for Harrington, Farmington and vicinity now totals approximately $1700, which is the largest amount ever contributed by this district in any previous campaign, but with a quota of $2000, is short $300.

Predicated on last year's total for Kent County, this district should receive $50 of the three thousand dimes contributed to Kent County by U. S. Senator J. Allen Frear and which is being prorated by the county committee in accordance with the amount raised in each district. If this estimate is correct, $250 will enable us to meet our quota.

This is the amount requested of us to be spent directly in the tests throughout America, of the new vaccine, to determine the effectiveness in protecting children against paralytic polio.

This is the last appeal that will be made and contributions will be received at the First National Bank and the Peoples Bank today, Saturday and Monday. Campaign closes Feb. 15. The following direct contributions have been received since the last report—contributors as of Feb. 9:

- Rev. and Mrs. John A. Irwin
- Mr. and Mrs. George W. Cain

WINTER JOBS FOR FRUIT GROWERS

The dormant season doesn't mean leisure time for fruit growers. "Quite the opposite," says County Agent George K. Vapaa. "A winter work schedule will help get the orchard ready for the next growing season."

The agent lists several winter chores for fruit growers:

1. Do a thorough and complete job of tree pruning.
2. Order repair parts and overhaul equipment.
3. Arrange a systematic check-up and servicing of electric motors.
4. Improve the output of workmen by supplying sharpened tools.
5. Remove old, unprofitable trees and filler trees which crowd the permanents.
6. Set up a simple record of yields and market returns by varieties.
7. Study your fertilization program to see if a revised soil management setup will improve yield, size and color of fruit. Place orders for fertilizer early.
8. Seek the best information available if you are considering a change in sprays. New spray materials require a careful review of the spray program.
9. Repair field and storage crates on days when weather prohibits outside work.

New Kent County Home Demonstration Council Officers Installed

New officers of the Kent County Home Demonstration Council were installed Friday, Feb. 5, in my office in Dover. Mrs. Arthur Short, of Smyrna, is the new president of the Council. The other officers are: Mrs. Francis Thomas, Maryland vice-president; Mrs. Leonard French, Milford, secretary; Mrs. Clifford Clark, Kenton, treasurer.

Mrs. Philip R. Jacobs, Milford, retiring president, conducted the installation ceremony. Also present were Mrs. Jehu F. Camper, Harrington, and Mrs. Frank L. McKee, Dover, who were formerly secretary and treasurer of the Council, respectively.

Each Home Demonstration Club in Kent County is represented on this Council by its president, with the immediate past president acting as alternate delegate from the club. Also on the Council are Mrs. Andrew Cole, Smyrna, Family Life chairman; Mrs. Fred Fifer, Wyoming, Citizenship chairman; Mrs. Duane Lynn, Milford, delegate-at-large; Mrs. Paul Zartman, Dover, alternate delegate. Mrs. Francis Thomas is also serving as Health chairman, while Mrs. Philip Jacobs will remain with the group as advisor.

The Council meets twice each year—in the spring and in the fall. Its work is to sponsor and conduct any Home Demonstration program at the county level. One of its best-known functions is the Annual Achievement Day, held in November. Women from all parts of the county gather at this meeting to see the achievements of the clubs and club members during the past year, and also to hear talks of interest to homemakers.

The Council also sponsors the Kent County Home Demonstration Scholarship, given to a girl from Kent County who is a student in the School of Home Economics at the University of Delaware.

The program for Home Demonstration Clubs in the county is approved by the Council, after it has been made by the Program Planning Committee, and suggestions are made.

Another important job of the County Council is to represent the county at the State Home Demonstration Council, and to sponsor the activities of the State Council, such as its Annual State Home Demonstration Meeting, held in the late spring.

As you can see, these newly installed officers have an important job ahead of them—and with the help of every Home Demonstration Club they will do it well.

Help Your Curtains To Longer Life

You can increase the life of your curtains if you follow these simple suggestions:

1. Rotate curtains from window to window to decrease the amount of deterioration from radiator heat, moisture, and sunlight.
2. Avoid snagging or pulling curtains.
3. Don't let it rain in on them.
4. Launder or dry clean regularly to prevent the dirt from embedding in the fabric.

FEEDING CORNCOBS TO DAIRY CATTLE

"Save those corncobs for bedding instead of feeding them to dairy cattle!" That's the advice of George K. Vapaa, county agent.

Vapaa says that cobs are a fair source of energy, but they are almost worthless when it comes to supplying protein, minerals and vitamins.

If you do feed cobs, you'll have to add high-priced supplements to make up the deficiencies. These supplements usually cost more than good legume hay.

Probably the best way to feed cobs to dairy cattle is in corn and cob meal. This common method of feeding ground ear corn saves the cost of shelling corn before grinding. However, for high-producing cows, Vapaa suggests feeding ground shelled corn.

Yearling heifers can use some cobs in their rations. For every three pounds of cobs, add one extra pound of protein supplement (40 to 44 percent), and also mineral and vitamin A supplements.

Since good-quality legume hay promotes faster growth and may cost no more than cobs plus the necessary supplements, weigh carefully the reasons for and against feeding cobs. Cobs have little or no place in the rations of dairy calves—calves will grow rapidly only on plenty of nutritious feed.

About the best use for cobs on dairy farms is in bedding. Ground cobs can be used in place of straw in either loose-housing or stallion barns. However, if you're producing Grade A milk, it is best to check with the local milk inspector before using cobs.

PROSPECTS IMPROVE FOR PRICES OF HIGH GRADE CATTLE

The number of cattle on feed in the United States on Jan. 1 was 9 percent smaller than a year ago. This drop in supply of fed cattle will help strengthen the price of high grade cattle this year, according to George Stevens, agricultural economist, University of Maryland.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimated the number of feed cattle was 5,334,000 head this January as compared with 5,884,000 head last January and the 1948-52 average of 4,489,000. Stevens points out that these figures indicate that slaughter of high grade fat cattle will be lower most of this year. Price prospects for fat cattle grading good to choice or better are reasonably good. The efficient cattle feeder who markets high quality animals should receive better returns than last year.

The University of Maryland economist says prices of low grade and grass finished cattle are not expected to improve much in 1954 as compared with last year. Slaughter of this type of beef animals will stay high this year. Feeding low grade cattle may return some profits providing the feeder stock was purchased at a low price.

Although cattle slaughter in 1953 increased 30 percent above 1952, the number of cattle on U. S. farms is still at or near a record high.

CHECK FOR TERMITES

Check your cellar and house foundations to see if termites are in the wooden posts and timbers.

Entomologist T. L. Bissell, University of Maryland Extension Service, says you don't see the work of termites from the service. You may find evidence of them on walls. Termites often make earth-like shelter tubes over the surfaces that serve as runways from the ground level to the wood above. If they can't go through the wall, they will go over it. Use a flash light to help you look for evidence of termites.

According to Mr. Bissell, a large number of winged reproductive termites or "flying ants" swarming from the soil or wood may be the first indication of a termite colony. Or the presence of discarded termite wings is a positive indication that a well established colony is nearby. He points out that periodic inspections—at least every 12 months—is good insurance, even after preventive steps have been taken.

If you find a termite infestation, take prompt steps to determine how serious it is. If the infestation is found only in a small area, take out all the infested wood and remove all wood not in use.

However, if you find more extensive infestation with serious structural damage, you should get the advice and services of someone who has had training and experience in termite control. There may be need for both carpentry work and chemicals to prevent reinfestation.

Joan Shorts Wins Honors in Canning

State honors in the 4-H Canning program for 1953 in Delaware were awarded to Joan Shorts, 15, of Smyrna, who put up 201 quarts of fruits and vegetables and 82 glasses of jelly and jam in her three years in club work. Much of the food preserved was grown in her own 4-H garden. Kerr Glass provided her with a coveted trip to the National Congress in Chicago.

Joan Shorts

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer E. Shorts, helped her until she was able to go on her own. Joan found a pressure cooker made canning and cooking easier. She made crabapple jelly, blackberry and strawberry jam, tomato juice as well as canning such vegetables as beets, corn, peas, asparagus and lima beans. She won many medals and prizes at county and state fairs, wrote news stories, and gave four talks on her 4-H work, two over the radio.

Felton School News

The business education department facilities will be expanded for next year to accommodate for steady increasing demand for this type of training. The enlarged school plant will permit moving into larger quarters and the installation of additional business machines for instruction purposes, more manual typewriters, an electric typewriter, a calculator and a Gestetner Scope. Part of this equipment will be purchased and used during the remainder of this school year.

The plant expansion is proceeding satisfactorily. Concrete floors in the agriculture shop and in the laboratory have been poured and exterior steps constructed at the entrance to the new locker rooms, structural tile work in the corridor is almost completed. It has proved capable of heating the existing building while the old burner is being completely overhauled. The two boilers should be more than adequate to meet the heating requirements for the enlarged school plant. Installation of heating units similar to those in use in the cafeteria is now going on. The new units, however, will have radiation extending the entire length of the window area and setting up a heat barrier against drafts. This Wind-O-Line radiation will be incorporated in the built-in book cases to be placed beneath the windows. Each heating unit will be controlled by the Minneapolis-Honeywell Pneumatic Pressure Thermostat located in each new room, providing the maximum in healthful, comfortable and economical heating.

Felton School enrollment continues to climb with 448 pupils enrolled at the end of January compared with 433 at the end of September. Crowded conditions will be relieved with the opening of the new wing next September. Both the high school and elementary school enrollments are the largest in the history of the school.

PLAN FOR FULL PASTURES AND FULL HAY MOWS

"Plan for lush pasture and a full hay mow next year or the year after," William H. Mitchell, assistant extension agronomist, tells dairymen.

Only pasture is cheaper than hay as a source of nutrients for dairy cows, the agronomist says. Top notch pasture and hay come from planning ahead, seeding at the right time and using adapted varieties.

To plan your hay seedings this spring, you want to figure the amount of hay needed during the next barn feeding season. A mature animal without silage will then need about two tons of hay. Red Red clover hay can be counted on to produce two tons of hay per acre, and alfalfa three to four tons.

In planning your hay program, keep in mind that in general, perennial hay crops that do not require the annual cost of seedbed preparation make more economical and usually better quality hay.

Red clover can be seeded in small grain, either in February or March, when the ground is freezing and thawing. This provides a porous surface which helps in covering the seed. If you wait until early April, work the ground with a rotary hoe, disk or other instrument before and after seeding to cover the seed lightly.

If red clover is used for grazing as well as hay, seed some timothy or orchard grass with it—the mixture is effective in reducing the danger of bloat. Certified Kenland and local seed that has been grown in your area for several years are the best seed sources.

Alfalfa seedings are not recommended in winter grain unless the grain stand is very light. It is better to seed alfalfa with spring oats about the first week in April. Drill the oats and seed the alfalfa on top of the ground, covering lightly. Buffalo, because of its resistance to bacterial wilt, is a good variety for this area.

DELEGATE SOUGHT FOR FARM YOUTH EXCHANGE

The opportunity of a life time awaits some young man or woman from rural Delaware.

This is the opportunity to visit a foreign country as a delegate of the International Farm Youth Exchange program.

The IFYE delegate would spend four to six months with farm families in another country. On his return, he would spend considerable time speaking of his experiences. At the same time, a young man or woman from the foreign country would visit Delaware farm people.

Purpose of the IFYE, says Samuel M. Gwinn, state 4-H leader, is to acquaint young people of various nations with the culture, problems and common interests of farm people in other countries.

To be eligible for the exchange program, a person must be a high school graduate, between 20 and 30 years of age, unmarried, without dependents—and must have a farm background.

The expense of sending delegates is met by voluntary contributions to the National 4-H Club foundation and to state IFYE funds through the Extension Service. Delaware 4-H and home demonstration clubs have contributed substantially to this fund, Gwinn reports.

Applications for the fall and winter phase of IFYE are due before March 15, stresses Gwinn. County 4-H club agents can supply further details of this exchange program to anyone interested.

LEGION DANCE NETS $53 FOR MARCH OF DIMES

The Old Clothes Dance, held by the America Legion Saturday night for the benefit of the March of Dimes, earned $53, it was revealed at a meeting of the Legion Thursday night, Feb. 4.

It was decided to hold a similar dance on the last Saturday night in every month.

At the meeting Thursday, representatives of the auxiliary asked for a list of minor renovations needed at the post home, so they could assist. These improvements included the addition of curtains, enlarging a ladies room, and building a coat rack.

Commander Kenneth Aiken told the meeting the 1954 membership was only 88 per cent of the national quota of 95 members, and requested delinquent members to pay their dues.

The post voted to send $20 to the Department of Delaware, of the Legion, for this year's Boys State, and $12 to the department for its child welfare program.

PRUNE SHADE TREES NOW

Now is a good time to prune your shade trees. In the late winter and early spring, while trees are dormant and leaves are gone, it's easy to see which branches should be cut and where thinning is desirable.

Carl Johnson, extension landscape specialist, University of Maryland, says trees, like human beings, need adequate food and moisture and a bit of surgery when and where necessary if they are to stay healthy. A weakened tree is a natural victim for attack by insects and disease.

Remove dead and broken branches and paint wounds with a coat of shellac, followed by either an asphalt base tree paint or ordinary house paint. This prevents water from draining into the tree, causing rot. It also seals up what might be an easy entrance for fungus or insects.

Some things may be necessary, especially if branches grow so closely together that they rub against one another. This can cause wounds that may make easy disease and insect entries. Weak crotches should be corrected with cable supports so that the trees won't break down in windstorms.

Johnson points out that a tree can be weakened primarily by drought and starvation. Normally you need not be too concerned about drought and starvation. In years of normal rainfall, trees get an adequate food supply. The long dry spell last summer and fall might have been injurious to trees, but the ground is apparently getting a good supply of moisture this winter. A normal rainfall this spring should put trees back in good shape.

Fertilizer applications are usually reserved for young trees just planted or transplanted. They need this extra food supply to help them adapt to a new situation and overcome any shock or reduced or damaged root systems. However, old trees sometimes need fertilizer when it appears that they are losing their vigor.

CAESAR RODNEY BAND PARENTS ORGANIZE

At a recent meeting in Caesar Rodney School, the parents of instrumental music students came together to form the Caesar Rodney Band Parents Club (B. P. C.). Edwin F. Englehart, supervisor of music, explained the purposes and functions of the proposed organization to those present, and a discussion period was held during which the parents asked questions and made suggestions relative to the operation of the club. One of the main purposes of the group will be to secure financial assistance for the Caesar Rodney High School Band in the purchase of uniforms, and in the repair and replacement of instruments.

The following parents were elected as officers of the organization: President, Merritt D. Clarke; vice-president, Mrs. Henry I. Holt; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Howard M. Willis. In his capacity as president, Clark called for the formation of a committee to begin the work of the Band Parents Club. The following parents were selected for the Ways and Means Committee: Mrs. Harry B. Freese, chairman; Mrs. Medford Carter, Mrs. Marshall Hart, Arthur N. Sipple, Mrs. Jennie Wooten, Mrs. James Conley, Wyatt Wubbena. A publicity committee was also selected, consisting of the following parents: Mrs. Wyatt Wubbena, chairman; Mrs. Merritt D. Clarke, Mrs. Alan Hunn, Mrs. Harold Poore, Clyde Bethard, Harry B. Freese.

It was agreed by those present that the organization would meet regularly on the first Monday evening of each month.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Wish I'd Said That

You know Miss Perkins. Well, she's been driving her own car around our town for a little more than 30 years.

The other day she had a bit of trouble parking down on Main Street. Didn't quite make it the first try, so she pulled out to start over when a fellow waiting to pass started tooting his horn impatiently.

On the second try, she was still having a little difficulty and so this smart aleck hollered, "Lady, do you know how to drive?" "Yes, young man," Miss Perkins answered, "I do. But I don't have time to teach you now."

From where I sit, it's not always easy to have a good answer ready when you need it. But when somebody insists that I vote for his candidate, for instance, or choose tea instead of a temperate glass of beer with dinner, I know the answer. It's all a matter of personal preference... and none of us like "backseat driving" from anybody.

Corn Acreage Allotment

Announced for 1954 Crop

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson announced January 20 an allotment of 46,995,504 acres for the 1954 corn crop in the commercial corn-producing area. This is a reduction of about 17.4 percent from the 56,819,423 acres planted to corn in this area last year.

The reduction by counties and farms will vary one from another in accordance with the trend of acreage in counties during the last ten years with adjustments for abnormal weather conditions, and the acreage planted to corn and crop rotation followed on individual farms. Each farmer will be informed of the acreage allotment for his farm in advance of planting time this spring.

All three counties in Delaware are included in the 234 commercial corn-producing counties. A complete list of the counties was published in the Federal Register of Dec. 25, 1953, and has been made available to state and county committees of the Commodity Stabilization Service.

Compliance with farm acreage allotments is a condition of eligibility for receiving price support in the commercial area.

1954 Soybean Support Lowered

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced Jan. 22 that the national average support price for 1954 crop soybeans will be $2.22 per bushel, reflecting 90 percent of the parity price of Sept. 19, 1952. The level of support for the 1954 crop is designed to keep this year's soybean acreage in approximate balance with the production needs without resort to acreage allotments.

Joint State County ASC Committee Meeting

Feb. 18 has been tentatively scheduled for a joint meeting of state and county ASC committees. The meeting probably will be held at the University's Agricultural Building and members of the University and Extension Staffs will participate. Chief topics for discussion will be:

1. The Wheat Marketing Quota and Allotment Programs.
2. 1954 Corn Allotments.
3. A program for the use of acres diverted from the production of wheat and corn.

Larger Turkey Crop Expected This Year

Turkey growers plan to increase turkey numbers this year by 7 percent, the Crop Reporting Board reported today. If growers carry out their intentions, the number of turkeys raised will be 59,631,000, compared with 55,746,000 raised last year. All parts of the country expect increases.

Growers intend to raise 45,513,000 bronze and other heavy breed turkeys this year—6 percent more than in 1953. They plan to raise 14,118,000 Beltsville White and other light breed birds—9 percent more than last year. About 24 percent of all the turkeys to be raised this year are expected to be Beltsville White and other light breed birds, compared with 23 percent in 1953.

The present favorable turkey-feed price relationship following a fairly profitable 1953 season is the principal reason given by turkey growers for the intended increase in production.

People are eating more poultry now than they were 10-15 years ago. This is due to better breeding, feeding and management on the part of growers, and better methods of merchandising and more attractive prices in the stores.

Program Briefs

Soil tests to determine lime needs under the 1954 ACP should be taken early to eliminate spring rush. Soil samples must be delivered by the farmer to his county ASC office together with a sketch map showing the field that the lime will be used on. Reports are being obtained promptly on samples brought in now.

Measurement of 1954 wheat acreage is being started in all counties. Marketing quotas make it necessary to determine the wheat acreage on every farm in the state on which wheat has been planted for any purpose. This is a considerable job and should be completed before the spring rush of farm work begins. All farmers growing wheat should be informed that a committee member will visit their farms for this purpose and urged to cooperate in getting the job done as accurately as possible. Less dissatisfaction with measurements will result if each farmer assists in the measuring of his farm.

March 31 is the last day on which loans or purchase agreements can be approved by county committees on 1953 crop corn. Application for a loan must be made sufficiently in advance of that date to permit a sample to be obtained from the moisture test secured and all necessary papers signed by the producer prior to the approval of the committee.

Personals

George C. Simpson, state committeeman from Kent County, has taken three of his prize Ayrshires to the Tampa, Fla., consignment sale. We hope for plenty of Florida sunshine for George while attending the sale.

Paul Mitchell, chairman, and Frank Clayton, program specialist, attended the first day meeting of the Workshop for Training for Administrative Management held in Philadelphia Jan. 18. The highlight of the meeting was a very inspiring address by Frederick W. Babel, administrative assistant to Secretary Benson. His theme was "People do not care how much we know, if they do not know how much we care." Among many things he said, two statements stood out: "We should never do for people what they can do for themselves," and "People have a tendency to give back what you give them."

Ralph Wilson, former county agent of New Castle, is now well established with the Campbell Soup Company in Sacramento, Calif. He is still interested in Delaware doings, but writes: "My family are all regular native Californians by this time and we all hope to live and die in California."

Alden P. Short, state committee from Sussex, attended the Executive Committee Meetings of Eastern State Farmers Exchange Jan. 29.

Crop Show Feature of Farm and Home Week

The 45th annual exhibit of the Delaware Crop Improvement Association will be held during Farm and Home Week, Feb. 22-25, at the University of Delaware.

According to Merrill Jones, president of the association, all farmers and 4-H members of Delaware are invited to exhibit crops they have grown this past year. New exhibit classes added to the show this year are grass silage and corn silage, while white and sweet potatoes have been dropped.

The show will be set up in the agricultural engineering laboratory of Agricultural Hall. Samples may be brought in to William H. Mitchell, extension agronomist, on or before Monday, Feb. 22. Judging of the crops on Feb. 23 will be handled by Dr. Albin Kuhn, head of the Agronomy Department of the University of Maryland.

More workers are now engaged in marketing of farm products than in farm production itself, according to a recent U. S. Department of Agriculture report on marketing and transportation of farm products.

"The farm must be made a place of beauty, so attractive that every passing stranger inquires: 'Who lives in that lovely home?'"

To reach this, there must be more equality of opportunity for all farmers.

SURVEY TO KEEP TAB ON INSECTS

A survey that will keep Maryland's important insect pests under continuous observation during the growing season has been announced by Dr. Ernest N. Cory, head of the entomology department at the University of Maryland.

The insect pest survey will give entomologists up-to-date information on insect populations and make possible advance warning of dangerous outbreaks.

Dr. Cory says Extension entomologist Theodore L. Bissell is in charge of the survey, and that Wallace C. Harding, Jr., will make field observations. The project is in cooperation with the economic insect survey section of the plant pest control branch, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Harding will make weekly reports based on his continuous observations and collections. His reports will go to Bissell, and Bissell will make control recommendations based on the reports.

Bissell's recommendations are issued in a report called Maryland Insect Notes. This report has been issued for several years to county agents, and insecticide supply companies. The new survey project will enable Bissell to give more timely advice.

Dr. Cory explains that the survey is an elaboration of wartime service in which information on insect conditions was sent to county agents each week for release to county newspapers. The metropolitan press received releases direct from College Park under the wartime setup. The success of that program was made possible by the excellent cooperation given by county agents, high school teachers, overage or retired farmers and businessmen, and women.

Dr. Cory praises boards of county commissioners for giving excellent cooperation to his department in the past and he points out that the new survey will make possible even closer cooperation. The entomologist especially praised county commissioners in the state for helping in the Japanese beetle retardation program, the fly control and mosquito programs in towns and cities and their work in organizing large scale control and demonstration projects.

The work Harding has been doing on milky disease spore rust production will be taken over by James R. Foster, under the direction of Dr. George S. Langford. Foster recently returned to the university from military service.

We abhor waste. This obsession has reached the point to where we save paper clips, rubber bands, and use press releases for copy paper.
We believe, however, Mrs. Amos Minner, who has been our correspondent at Masten's Corner for ever so many years, has us topped. Recently, she mailed in her letter in an envelope that had us puzzled.
The envelope had "Harrington, Delaware" printed across the front and, in the lower left corner, "Harrington Journal, Harrington Printing Co., Publishers." The typography indicated we had printed it many years ago.
We presumed Mrs. Minner had merely found one envelope. However, this week comes another. J. Harvey Burgess, former publisher of The Journal, said it had been printed before our fire in 1928. Affixed to it was a two-cent stamp with George Washington's picture. Incidentally, Mrs. Minner had also affixed a one-cent green stamp, with Washington's picture also on it.

Improved Service Comes Before Increase in Postal Rates

The other day we received a release from the Post Office Department which said that, according to a nationwide public opinion poll, that "approximately four out of five Americans think the Post Office Department should be self-supporting."

While all governmental departments cannot be self-supporting, we believe the Post Office Department should. A heading on the release read, without the benefit of quotation marks:

PUBLIC SUPPORTS POSTAL RATE RAISES

If we are going to have increased rates, we believe the service should be improved. In some respects, here in Delaware, it is slower than it was a hundred years ago. We do not believe that, as a rule, this is the fault of the postoffices but to the system of handling the mail once it gets in transit.

We regularly receive on Tuesday an upstate weekly mailed Friday. We formerly mailed packages of printed matter to Dover. Since it took some three or four days for them to go this long distance, we had to discontinue this method of delivery. Increased rates is no substitute for decreased business.

As one of the publishers of a newspaper, we give more than a cursory look at the question of increased rates. We will not hesitate to condone any increase if the government will stop competing with our printing business. It competes with us on printing envelopes and advertises its wares in every postoffice in the land. Yet, it expects us to pay it income taxes. To some extent, it is killing the goose that lays the golden egg.

ANCIENT VALENTINES AT STATE MUSEUM

Valentines of different types and styles, representative of over a century of changing taste in lovers' missives, are the subject of a special exhibit placed on view in the Delaware State Museum. Among these are examples of finely embossed and cut out pattern valentines in which the publishers of the 1835-1860 period prided themselves; comic valentines, first introduced about 1840; mechanical valentines so popular from 1890 to 1900; and valentine post cards.

Several of the valentines with delicately pierced and embossed backgrounds form focal points of the exhibit. One of these is decorated with hand painted applied paper flowers and leaves surrounding a small embossed and silver gilded envelope containing a note dated "Saint Valentines 1849," which reads: "I wish altho' 'twere wishing bliss One other happiness were mine"

That you would send me one sweet kiss And take you for my Valentine. Two unique and rather rare valentines in the form of a spray of poppies, daisies and other flowers cut from paper and cloth, enclosed with a cupid of painted bisque in hand-blown glass cases are included in the exhibit.

Many valentines of the last century were made by hand. Such examples are well illustrated in the exhibit by a simple "tear-out" valentine and two valentines of penned verse, presumably composed for their sweethearts by the senders. One of the latter is a request for a lock of his beloved's hair—which was apparently granted—for accompanying the verse today are two delicately braided tresses.

All but three of the valentines displayed were lent especially for the current exhibit, which will remain on view in the Museum's No. 1 Building throughout February. They were lent by Miss Elizabeth Adamson, Mrs. G. Leslie Gooden, Mrs. James B. Bice, Jr., Mrs. John Hopkins and Mrs. Henry Ridgely, of Dover, and the Historical Society of Delaware, of Wilmington, through the courtesy of Miss Gertrude Brinckle, executive secretary, and Miss Ruthana Hindes, librarian.

The museum, located at 316 South Governors Avenue in Dover, is open daily, Tuesday through Saturday from 11 a. m. until 5 p. m., and on Sunday from 2:00 until 5:00 p. m. The museum is closed Monday.

"I DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS AGAINST THE LAW"
"But, officer, I didn't know it was against the law!"

That's the familiar lament of many drivers whose disregard of traffic laws gets them into trouble with enforcement officers. But it doesn't help their case.

"The fact that a driver does not know he's breaking a traffic law doesn't excuse him from blame," Reynolds duPont, president of the Delaware Safety Council, said this week. "If he doesn't know the law, he has no business driving a car."

disregards it, he catches them off guard, and this often results in a tragic accident.
"For instance," Mr. duPont said, "the law requires that a right turn be made from the right hand side of the road. No motorist expects the driver in the lane to the left to cut across traffic to make a right turn. Consequently, whenever a driver commits this violation, an accident is almost certain to result."

Mr. duPont said that it's the duty of every person who drives an automobile to know the laws governing its operation, and there's no excuse for ignorance. He urged motorists to be especially careful to observe the following safe driving rules:

- Always drive at a speed that is safe for conditions.
Give a car on the right the right-of-way at an intersection.
Give pedestrians in the cross walk the right-of-way.
Always come to a full stop at a stop sign.
Observe all red lights, stop signs, or slow signs.

The attendance contest at Chaplain's is going fine with much interest shown. Here it is only February, and we are beginning to get reports about the first robin. How many of our readers have already seen one? I'm afraid he won't feel very springlike himself with the light snow we have on the ground this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson and children, Donna Kay and Linda, were Sunday night supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Chalmers at Smyrna.

Mrs. S. S. Wroten was a Sunday dinner guest of Miss Grace Porter, who was spending the week-end with her father, J. Frank Porter.

Ann Christopher and friend were in Wilmington Saturday. Busy putting some mileage on the new car!
