

Women Smarter Than Men, Dr. Penrose Says At Friendship Dinner

"Are women smarter than men?" Dr. William O. Penrose, of the University of Delaware, asked the audience at the annual Friendship Dinner of the Harrington service clubs at Firemen's Hall Friday evening. "I must prove to you that women are smarter than men," he continued, "because my wife is present."

"Women have more stamina than men -- they live longer," said the speaker. "We have in America 7,500,000 widows, and only 2,500,000 widowers, which should prove my contention. There is no great difference between the number of girls and the number of boys born each year, but as they grow older, the males begin to die, while the females cling to life."

"In the national election of 1952, more women than men were registered to vote -- and the women elected the President of the United States, and, if you will recall the campaign speeches, you will remember that a majority of them were appeals to the women voters. I can assure you that this trend will increase in succeeding elections."

The speaker contended that women are much more intelligent than men. When they enter school as mere tots, the girls learn much faster than the boys -- any teacher can verify this statement. Men outdistance women in mathematics, but women are far ahead in the study of languages, especially English and French -- and there is no better way to judge a person's intelligence than by his or her ability to use the proper words. In the first grade of school, girls demonstrate their superiority over boys in the use of words. "And," Dr. Penrose continued, with a pleading look at his wife, "many claim this superiority to be permanent."

He named many famous in science, in industry, in literature, and in practically every phase of human achievement. To illustrate women's superiority in shopping, he explained: "Men walk into a store and say, 'Gimme a hat -- one that will fit. If it's winter, he buys a felt; if summer, he buys a straw. If the first one he picks up fits him, he buys it. He knows of only three ways to express the hat's individuality. He pulls it down over his ears, tilts it at an angle, or snaps its brim. Can you imagine a woman going into a store and saying, 'Gimme a hat that will fit?' She tries on every hat in the store, some of them three or four times, before she buys one -- or maybe she doesn't buy any at all."

Dr. Penrose was introduced by an old friend, Prof. J. C. Messner, superintendent of Harrington Schools. Mrs. Ralph C. Day, concert singer, long a favorite with Harrington audiences, gave her usual flawless performance. She was accompanied by Melvin Brobst, Mrs. G. Herbert Smith was sparking as a reader.

Greetings were extended by Ernest Killen, mayor; Fred Greenly, Jr., president of the Lions Club; Bob VanCleave, vice-president of the Rotary Club, substituting for Bob Smith, president, who was out of town, and Mrs. Harold McDonald, president of the B. P. W. Club. Mrs. Fulton J. Downing, president of the Century Club, sponsor of the dinner, served as toastmaster.

March of Dimes Collects Record Amount Here

The 1954 March of Dimes campaign for Harrington, Farmington and vicinity closed Feb. 15 with $1809.44, the largest contribution ever received in this district, exceeding the 1953 collection by $188.40 despite the fact that a non-recurring contribution of $300 was received in 1953. The average total for 1948 to 1953, inclusive, was $1270.04.

Earl Sylvester, local chairman of the drive said today that "The success of this year's drive was due to several factors but the principle one was the increasing number of our citizens who contributed so generously toward this great fight against the 'crippler and killer,' infantile paralysis. The pupils and faculty of the Harrington Special School District doubled their 1953 total. The Mothers March on Polio collected $387.67 in one hour under the sponsorship and organization of the Auxiliary of C-K-R-T Post No. 7, American Legion, and the fine cooperation of all religious, civic, fraternal and business organizations, including the fine publicity so freely donated by The Harrington Journal, all combined to give this district a per capita contribution of forty one cents."

Our citizens will certainly have a great satisfaction in knowing that they play an important part in this great fight to enable all children to walk, run and play without fear of disabling polio." C-K-R-T Post No. 7, American Legion, sponsored the March of Dimes campaign for the seventh consecutive year. The committee consisted of Mr. Sylvester and J. Leonard Horleman. Contributions received from the following since the last report: Andrewsville Home Demonstration Club, Farmington Home Demonstration Club, Future Home Makers of America, Harrington Volunteer Fire Company, John Hendricks, John Bradley, Tighman Outten and family, H. P. Minner, John L. Minner, and Henry Noble.

Barn Wiring System May Need Changing

If lights in the dairy barn flicker when the milking machine is running, it's a sure sign that the barn wiring system needs overhauling.

County Agent George K. Vapaa points out that such trouble in operating electrical machinery often means the wires are too small to handle the necessary amount of electricity. In such cases, the voltage drops, which adds to the cost of operating any appliance and reduces its effectiveness.

Rewiring the distributing electrical load over a number of circuits may result in an actual decrease in the monthly electric bill and better service from electrical machinery.

Attempted Theft Leads To Solution of Pilfrying From Parked Automobiles

The pilfrying of articles from the cars of movie patrons here, which has plagued the community for two months, was solved Tuesday with the arrest of a boy and the recovery of many items in the youth's home, according to state police investigators of the Bridgeville Troop.

The clue to the solution of the case, however, turned up Sunday evening when Mrs. Reese B. Harrington, cashier at the Reese Theatre, stooped to pick up a couple bills which had been blown to the floor when the door to the ticket booth was opened to let out the Reese's bird dog, Pal.

As she straightened up, Mrs. Reese saw a 14-year-old boy who had grabbed a stack of bills by reaching through the ticket window. She yelled and he dropped the money and fled.

With information from Mrs. Harrington, detectives went to the boy's home and found a set of boxing gloves, clothing, a baseball glove, shotgun shells, an automatic pistol, and other articles, worth about $60, which they said the boy admitted taking from automobiles parked near the theatre during the past two months.

He was held for hearing in the Kent County Juvenile Court at Dover.

Police also arrested a 16-year-old boy Tuesday, who, investigators said, admitted stealing about $60 at the Greenwood High School where he is a student. He was seen loitering outside the school at night.

Detectives said that each time the boy broke a pane, reached in and unlocked a window.

Money was taken twice from the shop and on the third occasion from the athletic fund. The boy was released to his parents for appearance in the Juvenile Court, at Georgetown.

Blackbirds

As C. H. Burgess was talking with George Marshall, at the Kent & Sussex Motor Company in Milford, Wednesday afternoon, the pair saw what they estimated to be a million blackbirds, more or less.

Mr. Marshall, the motor company manager, had just sold a 1954 Century 200-horsepower car, when the birds came over from the southwest.

The flock stretched from horizon to horizon and took ten minutes to pass from view, though a few stragglers, apparently satisfied with the Delaware climate and a few plowed fields, were observed perched on telephone wires and reconnoitering in the territory.

Local Hoopsters Defeat Salisbury

Salisbury's Vets put up a stiff fight here Monday night, getting off to a good start the first quarter, but the Legionnaires gained ground thereafter and wound up on the long end of a 75-68 score.

According to the schedule, this is Harrington's last home game. The Legionnaires are in second place in the Eastern Shore Basketball League. As of Monday night the locals were one game ahead of Laurel. They are to play at Cambridge in the Cellar, tonight (Thurs., Feb. 28), and at Georgetown Tuesday. Next Thursday they play at Laurel. The Legionnaires are almost a cinch for second place, and are definitely assured of a place in the play-offs.

There will also be the appointment of district officers and the recognition of those who have rendered outstanding service to the Scouts over the last year.

Front page-head to come John C. "Big Mac" McKelvey, 44, died Sunday evening in Milford Memorial Hospital from gunshot wounds suffered early the same day in his hotel room at the hands of a widow who then shot and killed herself.

Mrs. Marie McVey, 103 Railroad Ave., killed herself after she had shot McKelvey, with whom she had been keeping company. McKelvey died 7:55 p. m. Sunday 18 hours after the shooting.

Mrs. McVey shot McKelvey as he lay on his bed in his room on the third floor of Stone's Hotel, adjacent to the rear of her home, at 1:45 a. m. Sunday morning.

McKelvey was shot in the right chest, right side of the stomach, and in the left leg. Mrs. McVey shot herself in the right temple.

Patrolman Charles Jarrell who, with Patrolman Walter Voss and State Police, was on the case, said Mrs. McVey apparently walked into McKelvey's room without a word and shot him three times with a .38-calibre revolver, and then shot herself.

Patrons of the hotel heard the shooting and ran to the room. McKelvey was sent to the hospital in the Harrington Fire Company ambulance. Dr. Hewitt Smith pronounced Mrs. McVey dead in the hotel room.

Mrs. McVey and McKelvey had been frequently in each other's company for some time, but had been arguing, on occasions, for two months or more. Police believe McKelvey was trying to break off the friendship, and that jealousy was the motive for Mrs. McVey's actions.

McKelvey had gone to his room soon after midnight and, after reading, had retired. Patrolman Jarrell reported McKelvey as saying that, soon after, he saw the door of his room open slowly and that Mrs. McVey stood, silhouetted against a hall light, there with a revolver. "My God, Marie, what are you doing with that gun?" McKelvey is reported as saying. "The shooting then followed."

Roomers Hear Shots Hotel roomers then ran to the room, called Dr. Smith, an ambulance, and the police who were there in five minutes. Awaiting the ambulance, McKelvey asked, "Why did she do it? Why did she do it?"

It is believed that Mrs. McVey entered the hotel before the doors were locked at 1:50 a. m., waited until McKelvey had gone to his room and retired, and then entered the room. Patrons of the hotel have keys and the front door is locked at night. No key was round among Mrs. McVey's belongings.

McKelvey was employed as a supervisor of local crews for Day and Zimmerman Electric Company, a firm dealing in public utility contracts. The firm had been doing work on the peninsula for the Delaware Power & Light Company for many years. McKelvey, who had lived at the hotel several years, came here seven years ago from Cullman, Ala., where he had been employed by the Alabama Power & Light Company. During World War II he served in the Navy.

Sussex County Coroner Volle Gray ordered an autopsy, and then released McKelvey's body to the Boyer Funeral Home here. The viewing was held Tuesday and then the body was shipped to the Moss Service Funeral Home in Cullman where services will be held today. Interment will be in Cullman City Cemetery.

Belonged To Many Clubs McKelvey was a member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL; a charter member of Loyal Order of Moose here; Temple Lodge, AF and AM; Evergreen Forest, Tall Cedars of Lebanon; Delaware Consistory, a charter member of Nur Temple of the Shrine; Lions Club of Harrington, and the Kent Rod and Gun Club.

He was the son of Hubert Milton and Betty Ann Ransom McKelvey, of Cullman, Ala. Besides his parents, he is survived by three brothers, Wade H. McKelvey, Chicago; Hubert M. McKelvey, Columbia, Tenn.; James A. McKelvey, Sylacauga, Ala., and a sister, Mrs. C. F. Atkinson, Birmingham, Ala.

Mrs. McVey's husband, Lindsey McVey, died in 1951 when the McVeyes were operating the hotel. She was employed by the Milford Stitching Company.

Kent Home Doings

By Charlotte L. Swanson
Kent County Home
Demonstration Agent

Once every year, Kent County Home Demonstration Clubs meet in groups of three or four, with one club acting as hostess and the others as guests. In addition to a short business meeting for each club and the demonstration, there is a chance for club members to get to know people from other clubs during a recreation period and a social hour, too. The last few years, these meetings have been held in the fall, but the Kent County Home Demonstration Council felt that March would be a better time this year.

The schedule has been arranged with four clubs at each meeting. Although some groups are not too close to home, I think the new friends will make up for the extra miles.

"Soaps and Detergents" will be the topic of the demonstration. There is such a large variety of these products available today that we often do not know what we are buying or what to expect from it. This meeting helps us solve some of our problems with them.

The first of these meetings will be held Thursday, March 4, at 8:00 p. m., in the Frederica Fire Hall, with the Laws Club as hostess. Guests for the evening will be the Merry-makers Club of Harrington, the Happy Homemakers Club of Milford, and the Millwood Club.

The Canterbury Club will be hostess Friday evening, March 5, at 8 o'clock, in the Canterbury Lodge Hall. Their guests will be the St. Jones Club, the Houston Club, and the Cee-K-Dee Club.

At Viola Community Hall on Thursday, March 11, at 2:00 o'clock, the Chestnut Grove Club will be hostess to the Viola Club, the Fraziers Club, and the Harrington Club.

On Fri., March 12, at 2:00 o'clock, the Victory Club will be the hostess at the Harrington Fire Hall. Guests will be the Andrewville Club, the Farmington Club, and the Todd's Club.

At the historic Cowgill's School House east of Dover, the Cowgill's Club will be hostess on Wed., March 17, at 2:00 p. m. Guests will be the Oak Grove Club, the Kenton Club, and the Clayton Club.

The Leipsic Club will be hostess on Thursday, March 25, at 8 o'clock, in the Leipsic Fire Hall. Guests for the evening will be the Hartly Club, the Friendly Homemakers Club, and the Smyrna Club.

Check the date and time for your club, mark your calendar, and plan to come.

Caesar Rodney School News

Board Approves PTA Tax Plan

The Caesar Rodney Board of Education has approved the proposal to finance the $100,000 bond issue to be voted on March 6 by increasing the capitation tax by one dollar and by raising the real estate tax five cents. This would make the capitation tax six dollars and the real estate tax twenty-five cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation.

During a public meeting sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association to discuss the building program, it was found that a majority of those present favored dividing the added cost. The Board of Education unanimously adopted the proposal at a meeting held February 16.

The Board had originally proposed to finance the bonds by increasing the real estate tax by ten cents.

Seniors To Be Teachers

Members of the senior class of Caesar Rodney School became teachers for a day yesterday.

In English classes, members of the class wrote letters of application for the position they wished to fill giving first, second, and third choice. The senior sponsors, Maurice Daisey and Richard C. Clark, together with the senior members of the council, made out the teaching assignments following the requests insofar as possible. Prior to teaching each student spent Wednesday observing the classes they were to teach.

As is customary, Thomas H. Webb, president of the Council, acted as superintendent for the day, and Richard Gordon, vice-president of the council, was principal.

SOCIAL SECURITY NOTES

"Millions of workers make social security contributions every payday but relatively few of them take the time to inquire about their rights until after they have retired," Myron Milbouer, manager of the Wilmington social security office, said today.

He suggests that all people covered by the system protect themselves and their families by inquiring before retiring.

"Before retiring at age 65 or later, each worker should have a full understanding of the requirements for becoming insured in the system," he continued. "He should know the best time to file his application and the method which will be used in figuring his monthly payments." Milbouer pointed out that the matter of benefits which may be payable to the worker's wife and unmarried children under 18 years of age, in case of the breadwinner's death, is of prime importance to every family head," he added.

"It is quite essential," Mr. Milbouer said, "that the holder of every social security card tell the members of his family what their rights to benefits may be if death comes to him at any age. They should be told where the social security card is kept and that in the event of death it should be taken to the nearest social security office as soon as possible, and an inquiry made as to who is eligible for benefits."

All prospective beneficiaries of social security should know that payments are not made automatically at the time of retirement or death, but that an application must first be made. Promptness in filing the application was emphasized by the Wilmington manager, since monthly payments cannot be made retroactively for more than six months. "The lump-sum death payment must be applied for within two years after the worker dies," he said.

Information about these situations is presented in a new 1953 edition of "Your Social Security," a booklet which will be sent free upon request at the local social security office, 813 West Street. In any event, for information concerning any phase of social security, always get in touch with your nearest social security office.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Handy and Easy "Sign Up"

Last month's safety drive was a big success—almost. Every one helped—the schools ran movies on safe driving, Rotary put up posters, and Handy and Easy "Sign Up" went out on their own.

The boys put up a big sign by the side of the highway. It said, "Slow down—the life you save may be your own." It was a good idea—after the police moved the sign back twelve feet.

In their enthusiasm Handy and Easy put it too close to the road—in fact, right on the sharpest curve on the highway. They made driving unsafe by cutting off the view around the curve.

From where I sit, lots of people—even though they mean well—suffer from short-sightedness now and again. For instance, some can never see any further than their own preferences. They even go so far as to object to my choice of a glass of beer with supper. Shouldn't we always take the "long view"... and respect our neighbors' rights?

LOUISE GERARDI WEDS

In St. Bernadette's R. C. Church Harrington, Saturday at 11 a. m., Miss Louise Elizabeth Gerardi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Peter Gerardi, of Farmington, became the bride of Mr. Donald Laird Chalmers, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Chalmers, of Greenwood. The Rev. John A. Corrigan performed the double ring ceremony at nuptial mass.

Escorted by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Marguerite Gerardi, as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Leona Gerardi, cousin of the bride, of Federalburg, Md., Miss Rosemary Nedelka, another cousin, of Havertown, Pa., and Miss Shirley Chalmers, niece of the bridegroom, of Greenwood.

The bride's gown fashioned of French imported lace over satin, with fitted bodice and applique lace design on the illusion yoke. Her full bouffant skirt featured rows of small ruffles. The back lace panel ended in a chapel length train.

Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a queen's crown of heart-shaped seed pearls and sequins. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses.

Mr. Edward Collins, cousin of the bridegroom, of Kiamensi Gardens was the best man. Ushers were Mr. Ernest Gerardi of Federalburg, Mr. Gordon Warner of Greenwood, and Mr. Leslie Dennis of Harrington.

Mr. E. A. Carlisle of Milford played the wedding music, and Miss Rosalie Trotta of Harrington was soloist.

A reception followed the ceremony at the fire hall in Seaford.

Twenty-six conventions were conducted with missionaries and members of the church. In many of these countries the home visitation program was launched. In this crusade, patterned after the early Jerusalem church, members went from home to home. A new type of projector using flash light batteries was introduced in the lands where in smaller towns and cities electric power is not available. During this rally Elder Edwards will be answering such questions as: Do you believe that the best days for Christianity are ahead in spite of communism? Are the heathen barriers to Christianity breaking? What is God doing to advance the Christian Cause in Tibet? What are the future prospects in Korea? Thrilling stories of the advance of the Christian faith will be related. Kodachrome pictures of Korea will be shown Saturday night. A personal message from President Rhee will be delivered. Elder Edwards states that the greatest need in the world today is for Christian forces to demonstrate a seven-day-a-week concern for others.

Sabbath School will begin at ten in the morning followed by preaching. Bring enough lunch along for dinner and supper. There will be tables in the basement of the Armory where lunches can be eaten.

There will be a soul-winning symposium beginning at two in the afternoon followed by a house-to-house visitation. A free Bible course will be offered to stimulate an interest in the study of the Bible. Church attendance will be encouraged. Visiting members will be cingu tCncrlnu members will be happy to take the names of any in need. These will be referred to the church's Dorcas Welfare Society for prompt attention.

Pictures will be shown at night. All are invited to attend all day or part of the day.

TOMATO GROWING CHAMPS RECEIVE CERTIFICATES

Four Delaware tomato growers achieved more than 20 tons to the acre last summer. Along with 62 other members of the Ten-Ton Tomato Club, they received recognition Feb. 23 during Farm and Home Week at the University of Delaware.

Certificates and awards were presented to the three top growers in each of three classes. Gov. J. Caleb Boggs made the presentation as part of the Tuesday morning tomato growers session.

In the class for growers with eight or more acres, Frederick W. Haas, Middletown, grew 24.6 tons per acre on 55.3 acres; H. W. Torbert, Magnolia, grew 22.6 tons on 10.1 acres; Stanley Rolfe, Dover, had 21.7 tons on 9.9 acres; and Appenzeller Brothers (Donald and Edward), Felton, had 20.8 tons per acre on 34 acres.

Three top winners in the group with less than eight acres were: Fred Warren, Petersburg; Everett Meredith, Middletown, and Hans Setfens, Camden.

A Junior Tomato Club project for farm boys and girls under 21 years of age was based on completeness of records kept, total yield per acre, use of good growing practices and quality. The three highest scores here were: Carlton Fifer, Wyoming; James Haas, Smyrna; and Carl Fisher, Smyrna.

"A combination of good production practices such as the best use of fertilizer and good pest control, were responsible for the top yields and best quality," says Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist. According to Stevens, local growers in 1953 had the largest average yield on record—8.1 tons to the acre.

This far surpassed the 1952 yield of 5.2 tons. The increased yield was in spite of unfavorable weather conditions especially in the southern part of the state.

Other growers with yields of ten or more tons per acre last year are:

Bowers Beach—Samuel Mosley.

Camden—Harry Barrett, Bancroft & Thomas.

VEGETABLE VARIETIES FOR HOME, COMMERCIAL GARDENS

What vegetable varieties are best for growing here in Delaware? Are all varieties equally good for home gardens, commercial market gardens, for freezing and canning?

Answers to these questions are found in two new leaflets, reports County Agent George K. Vappas. Just issued, they are "Home Varieties for 1954 and Recommended Commercial Vegetable Varieties for Delaware, 1954."

The home garden vegetable list includes new varieties worthy of trial, and also recommends these for freezing. In the commercial vegetable list, varieties are noted as suitable for processing or marketing. Listed as worthy of trial are new varieties of cauliflower, sweet corn, cucumbers, sweet potatoes, strawberries and watermelon.

Both of these vegetable lists are available from the county extension office in Dover.

OUTSTANDING DAIRY FARMERS WIN NATIONAL AWARDS

Five Delaware dairy farmers and three supervisors of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association received awards during Farm and Home Week at the University of Delaware.

According to Willis Passmore, president of the state's DHIA's board of directors, National Dairy Products Awards were presented to the outstanding dairymen and herd supervisors of the state.

Receiving cash awards and plaques as part of the dairy program on Wednesday were the following dairymen: Irvin M. Armstrong, Middletown; Medford Calhoun, Greenwood; Russell Bowdle, Harrington; H. Wallace Cook, Elkton, Md.; Maurice Adams, Harrington.

All five winners have accredited herds and are members of breed organizations, all have very good to excellent pasture-forage programs with the lowest cost records, and all have taken an active interest in farm and community improvement.

Armstrong has 36 registered Holstein cows that average 11,898 pounds of milk and 415 pounds of butterfat a year. His was the lowest feed cost for last year. He is using outstanding herd sires, has a clean healthy herd, and according to the DHIA, has made considerable progress in the past year.

Calhoun and Son have 18 registered and grade Guerneys producing 8,698 pounds of milk and 398 pounds of butterfat. Their pasture-forage program is rated excellent. Bowdle, with 13 registered and grade Holstein cows averaging 11,302 pounds milk and 429 pounds butterfat, uses artificial breeding, has an excellent pasture set-up and a low feeding cost for his herd. Cook has 17 registered Holstein cows and is president of the Holstein breed association. His herd averages 11,154 pounds of milk and 424 of fat. Adams has a herd of 19 registered Holsteins, producing 13,142 pounds of milk and 513 pounds of fat.

Two DHIA herd supervisors were given plaques and cash awards and another received honorable mention for competing accurate herd records and taking an active interest in the county testing program. They are high scorer Russell N. Abel, Newark, supervisor for New Castle County DHIA circuit No. 1; Robert Crosier, Dover, Kent County circuit No. 1 supervisor; and honorable mention winner Byron Schauer, Georgetown, Sussex County circuit supervisor.

The awards are sponsored by the National Dairy Products Corporation of New York City, and are accepted in Delaware by the board of directors of the DHIA.

SULKY SLANTS

Goldie Bales, an old pacing mare from Iowa, was the nation's leading race-winning harness horse in 1953, the U. S. Trotting Association reported today.

The USTA said Goldie Bales, 8-year-old daughter of Napoleon Bales, got home first in 32 of her 46 engagements to nail down the dash winning title. The mare is owned by C. E. Martin, Denison, Ia.

It marked the second straight year that an Iowa horse won the national championship. Viola's Spud, owned by C. L. Jennings, of Centerville, finished on top last year for 27 wins. He tied for 10th among trotters this year with 18.

Runnerup to Goldie Bales was Tru Single G., 14-year old gelding owned by Arthur B. McGee of Augusta, Me. Despite his advanced age, Tru Single G. went to the post 106 times and won 30 races. He also had 31 seconds and 15 thirds.

The top trotters were a pair of 3-year-olds, Jochovolo (Herman Graham, Salem, Ill.) and R. K. Giers (Dr. J. G. McNamara, Marion, O.), who tied for third place on the national list with the pacer Jacky Maxey (O. J. Mills, Marshall, Minn.). Each posted 23 wins.

Only 2-year-olds to make the top ten in either the trotting or pacing category was Newport Dream, winter-book Hambletonian Stake favorite owned by the Newport Stock Farm, So. Plainsfield, N. J. Newport Dream won 20 races and finished 3rd on the trotting list and 10th on the overall list.

Kent County News Release

The causes of farm accidents in 1953 for Kent County will be reviewed at a meeting of farm and safety leaders to be held Fri., Mar. 5, at the Dinner Bell Inn, Dover, according to the announcement of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Thomas, of near Marydel, who served as co-chairmen of a survey made by 4-H Clubs, home demonstration clubs and granges.

Some 431 accidents and 95 fires were reported in Kent County by 57 reporting organizations during 1953. These were classified as originating on the farm, at home, while engaging in recreation or off the farm.

Records from all over the state indicate that the majority of accidents were falls — most occurring in the home. Seemingly, most accidents happened in the month of April, May, September, and October — or during the heavy farm work season.

It is hoped that as a result of gathering this factual information, that a safety program geared to the local situation may be developed by co-operating farm agencies.

Betty Cannon

Betty Cannon Wins Again

Betty Cannon, of Greenwood, is a perennial winner in 4-H club awards. In 1953 the 18-year-old had a high rating in the National 4-H Bread Demonstration program.

For her efforts, Betty received a $50 U. S. Savings Bond provided by Standard Brands. She demonstrated "Baking Powder Biscuits."

Betty is a member of the Dublin Hill Yellowjackets 4-H Club, of which Mrs. Lee Carey is leader. She was county winner and also placed first in the state bread demonstration contest.

"We believe that the future of America is safe in the hands of youngsters like these."

Sadie Hawkins Day

On Friday, February 26, the Junior Class of Harrington High is going to sponsor a Sadie Hawkins Day for all students of the Junior and Senior High School. In the evening, a big Sadie Hawkins Dance will be held in the gymnasium.—Janice Holloway, Reporter.

Magazine Campaign Closes

The annual magazine campaign sponsored by the Junior Band, closed Tuesday, February 16th. It was the most successful campaign yet held.

The drive began February 4, with the election of Betty Louise Layton and Everett Warrington as captains of the two teams in the High School Band. Jeanne Home-wood and Richard Sapp were elected captains for the Junior Band.

For high salesmanship, the following people will receive certificates: Lois Hopkins, Jeanne Home-wood, David McKibbin, Bonnie Dickerson, Robert Winkler, Billy McColley, Richard Sapp, Kitty Lou Smith, Joyce Hopkins, Shirley Kates, Nellie Hobbs, Charlotte Noble, Janice Holloway, Alwilda Smith, and Eleanor Wagner.

Billy McColley, Kitty Smith, Shirley Kates, Joyce Hopkins, Nellie Hobbs, Alwilda Smith, and Charlotte Noble will receive Oscars for outstanding salesmanship.

Each band had a separate prize list for salesmen. In the Junior Band, Kitty Lou Smith won first prize for a camera set; Billy McColley, second for an exact set; Robert Winkler, third for an axe and hunting knife; and Lois Hopkins, fourth for a clamp-on lamp.

First place honors in the High School Band go to Charlotte Noble, who will receive a wrist watch. Alwilda Smith was second for a wrist watch. A basketball goes to Joyce Hopkins for the third prize, and Nellie Hobbs will receive a camera for fourth prize. Fifth prize was tied between Shirley Kates and Eleanor Wagner.

Both bands are now planning skating parties at Felton for March. The High School Band has already begun rehearsals for their spring concert to be given in April—Betty Louise Layton, Reporter.

Mr. Hodgson Visits

On Tuesday afternoon, February 16, Paul M. Hodgson, who is in charge of Agr. teacher training in the Department of Education of the University of Delaware, visited the Agricultural Department of Harrington High School.

The main purpose of the visit was to evaluate the progress of George Simpson, who is now practice teacher in agriculture at Harrington.

Mr. Hodgson is State Executive Secretary of the Future Farmers of America in Delaware—Patsy Hendricks, Eleanor Walls, Reporters.

Clean-up Campaign

A definite effort has been put forth by the Library club to keep our girls' room in the high school clean. This effort is necessary because a few students are careless.

The plan to start a clean-up campaign was initiated several weeks ago. It has been joined by girls from other clubs and from some of the home rooms. These public-spirited students have scrubbed walls and put up posters. Their good work has done more to improve our school than any other single effort of the year.

Let's spread this act of good citizenship! Let's make our school one of which we can always be proud!

Schools of the Future

The pupils of today, who will soon be the young men and women of tomorrow must prepare for the duties and obligations of the future. Today's annual birth rate, approximately 4,000,000, gives some idea of problems which will be theirs. Looking ahead, we find that these figures show that today's elementary school enrollment of 23,500,000 will increase to 30,500,000 by 1960, and to 52,000,000 by 1965. 7,250,000 boys and girls now enrolled in our high schools will find their numbers increased to 9,500,000 by 1960 and to more than 12,000,000 by 1965. The future must prepare good homes, good working conditions, fair prices, and ample opportunities for good citizenship.

Home Economic Juniors Dine In Dover

The Junior H. E. Class of Felton High has been having very interesting discussions. Our present social relationship unit deals with dating, manners, socializing in different communities, and family life. We have set up many goals which we hope to achieve. Many of them have been reached, but we have not conquered all of them at the present time.

After discussing questions about table etiquette, the class suggested it would be interesting to eat in public. Miss Taylor, our home economics teacher, arranged for us to dine at Lepore's Restaurant Wednesday.

We have had very good discussions in relation to interviews and official work. Since all of us are interested in the business world, we discussed how the average office workers dress. Proper dress and good grooming are important in all offices. When looking for a job, it was decided that you should wear trim tailored clothes and look as neat and attractive as possible. Since secretaries have to meet different people, it is important that she is presentable. She should be courteous, kind and willing to help. We have learned many things about office life, which will be very helpful in our future jobs.

At present the discussion is centered around girl-boy relationships and problems involved in dating and going steady. The goal for which we are working with this particular topic is "To learn the foundation for a happy marriage.

We will discuss the various forms of marriage as it exists in other countries, traits to look for in choosing a mate and finally, what makes a happy marriage. We think that home economics is a very important subject because of its direct relationship to family living and every day problems. A strong family is the basis for a society; by taking home economics we are learning how to strengthen ourselves for our country.

This Town Of Ours

In the spring as I lay by my garden

To look out over this town of ours, I see the beauty of the gardens growing, And the beauty of the trees and the flowers.

At night the stars shine forth overhead, And the lights glow down below. This is a wonderful town, this town of ours, And I love it so.

The homes, so many are so beautiful; The main street is quite a spot. I know only too well, I've been there many times since I was a tot.

It's a wonderful place 'til you look at the people. Then the eyes with tears grow dim, And the heart grows burdened and heavy.

You see, I know quite a few of them

They are wonderful people, But their lives are full of sin. They work hard and have time for many pleasures. Alas, but there is no time to let my Savior in.

No time to let Jesus in their hearts, No time to let him his peace impart. To fill their lives with joy and happiness. No time for the Savior their lives to bless.

Many make a profession But they do not have the true works within. Many, if they would be honest, Would confess that their lives are full of sin.

Their hearts are heavy and burdened, They no peace or joy know, Because they won't let my Savior in; He who loves them so.

Won't you let Jesus in? Cleanse your heart from all sin, And know the joy of true happiness. Let this great Savior your life bless.

Then this town would be truly beautiful And not only with the homes, trees and flowers, But because the true beauty of Christ Would shine forth from these lives of yours.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

Americans have always liked color, warmth and comfort in their homes. From the country's earliest beginnings, we have tried to introduce this trio into our daily living. The women who helped establish this nation's first homes did their part by making bright rugs for their floors and colorful patchwork quilts for their beds whenever materials were available.

EARLY AMERICAN RUGS Today, we tend to take our fine selection of needlework materials for granted, but the early American colonist prized everything and wasted nothing. With inventiveness and nimble fingers, brilliant-colored rugs were made of any crude materials at hand. Cloth scraps were utilized by the first American needleworker. Cloth of every kind and color was cut into strips, sewed together and wound into balls to be made into rag rugs. Some of the floor coverings were crocheted, others knitted, braided or hooked. The crocheted rugs were usually fashioned with bias cotton strips and a large hook, and were round or oval. Knitted rugs were made in various sizes by using woolen rugs and large needles. Strips of about six inches wide were formed and sewed together. When rugs in the desired colors were unobtainable, the ambitious homemaker brewed pots of dye from fruits, vegetables, tree bark, flowers or roots.

COLOR-BRIGHT CROCHETED RUG Early American in design, yet modern American in quality and texture, this round, crocheted rug is made in nine different colors of rug yarn. Vivid yellow, red, turquoise, lilac, rose, bronze, gold, dark green and black yarns are used intermittently and worked in rounds of single crochet. A double strand of yarn is used throughout. Without the knotted fringe, the rug measures 33 inches in diameter. If you want to perk up your home with color and gain lots of pleasure by doing so, I would like you to have the instructions for making THE CROCHETED ROUND RUG. Just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper for Leaflet No. 93.1.
