

Carvel Goes All Out For Frear's Re-election

Former Governor Elbert N. Carvel came out strongly in favor of the re-election of U. S. Senator J. Allen Frear Wednesday night at a covered dish luncheon of Kent County Democrats at the American Legion Home here. Mrs. Jehu Camper was chairman of the dinner.

Mr. Carvel said Senator Frear, who threw his hat into the ring Friday evening at a meeting of the State Democratic Committee in Dover, had a better chance of being elected United States Senator than any other Democrat in Delaware and that "I have maintained that position during the past year."

The past governor said Senator Frear's announcement Friday night was the "best thing to do" and that it had quieted the clamor in the upper part of the state for other measures.

He added, however, he did not believe the city dailies would support Senator Frear. They would admit he was a good man, he declared, but would then say they had a better one.

The Sussex Countian, who has hammered the Wilmington dailies frequently in his speeches, made no exception Wednesday night. He said, "We don't want newspapers to favor us; we want them to give news without bias." He asked for honest reporting and no editorializing on the front page. He declared that the Wilmington dailies claimed to be independent, but had never supported the Democrats in the last 20 years. "They're independent Republican newspapers," he snapped. "If they said that, we wouldn't criticize them."

The former governor seemed to think the star of U. S. Senator John Williams was in the ascendancy. He attributed the defeat of the Democratic state ticket in the 1952 election, not to the ride on Eisenhower's coat-tails, but to "ten million dollars worth of publicity given Senator Williams in many national magazines."

"But where is he today?" he asked. "Why, he freely admits he had more leeway under the Democrats than under the Republicans. He can't even bring out the facts about his own Republican administration. The Republican press is now ignoring him."

Fred Greenly Jr., Levy Court commissioner, opened the meeting with Mayor Ernest Killen, former collector of Internal Revenue, presiding.

Vernon Derrickson, chairman of the Kent County Democratic Committee, explained the operation of voting machines, using models. Robert Reed, of Dover, announced that U. S. Senator Albert Gore (D), of Tennessee, would be the principle speaker at a meeting of a state federation of Democratic clubs in the field house at Dover Sat., April 3. He declared there would be a workshop, starting at 1 p. m. A constitution would be adopted, he said, officers elected, and election laws discussed.

At a dinner session at 6 p. m., in the Social Hall of Dover High School, U. S. Senator J. Allen Frear will speak.

Professional entertainment will precede Senator Gore's speech. There will be a limited ticket sale.

Each state club is asked to send a delegate to the meeting. Mr. Reed said Democratic clubs will have been organized by next week in all Kent County's ten representative districts but the Sixth.

There was considerable sentiment at the Wednesday meeting for the return of Mr. Carvel to the gubernatorial chair in the 1956 election. Maxon Terry, former president of the State Board of Education, explained, "We're going to draft him."

Willard D. Boyce, former state treasurer and former chairman of the Kent County Democratic Committee, came out for Carvel in '56. "Bert Carvel will have the convention unanimously and I shall do everything in my power for him," he said.

H.H.S. Hoopsters Made "Record"

When the Harrington High School basketball team played at Felton Tuesday night, there were some rather unusual records. The locals lost, 78-49, for the dubious distinction of a 0-13 mark for the season.

On the other hand, Felton's Wayne Creadick closed his school career as the state's scoring champion. He also has been scoring king of the Kent-Sussex circuit for three seasons.

His total for the season is 476 points in 18 games, for an average of 26.4. He finishes his four-year career with a grand total of 1386 points.

The gangly center secured only 21 points Tuesday night, however, receiving more than the usual attention from Harrington. Creadick played only half a game, fouling out.

Wall Moore is the only letterman slated to return next season.

Incidentally, Brown, of Harrington, with 23 points, was the high scorer at Tuesday's game.

Group to Study Teachers' Rules

A study of the rules and regulations for the certification of teachers will be made a state-wide committee appointed by Dr. George R. Miller, Jr., state superintendent.

The committee, authorized by the State Board of Education upon the recommendation of the state superintendent, will include Dr. Miller, chairman, Dr. H. B. King, Dr. R. W. Heim, and Miss Edith L. Mitchell of the State Department of Public Instruction; Dr. W. O. Penrose, University of Delaware; F. Kutz, Newark; Dr. Mary B. Parker, Seaford; Mrs. George Creadick, Bridgeville, and H. E. Stahl, Claymont.

Explaining the committee selection, Dr. Miller stated, "A study of this scope requires representation from as many fields as possible involved in certification. For this reason the committee includes an elementary school and a secondary school teacher; a high school principal; a local district superintendent; the dean of the School of Education of the University of Delaware; the State Department of Public Instruction personnel representing elementary education, vocational education, and special subjects."

"It is the purpose of this study to develop recommendations which will bring the certification regulations adopted in 1948 up to date. A critical examination of the current policies is therefore necessary. Although we do not anticipate many major changes, the committee will be asked to place special emphasis upon the requirements for recertification. One of the first duties of the committee is to establish a framework which outlines the direction the study is to take. It is our hope that the recommendations may be completed in time for possible adoption by the State Board of Education prior to the opening of the 1954-55 school term," Dr. Miller added.

No Faith
"Brethren and sisters, we are gathered together here today to pray for rain," said the preacher. He looked his congregation over a little sadly and went on: "But before we begin I'd like to ask you just one question—where are your umbrellas?"

Tax Appeal Board Has Little To Do

Only three complaints on tax assessments, fewer than usual, were encountered Tuesday evening when the Board of Appeals sat at the City Hall.

Around the table were Mayor Ernest Killen, City Manager Norris Adams, Council members, and Grover C. Lord. Mr. Lord and Mr. Adams were the assessors and were appointed before Mr. Adams was named city manager last month.

The assessment rolls revealed the community's total assessment, a general one, called for a total of $2,712,972.98, as compared with $2,608,205.74 last year, or an increase of $104,767.24. The greater part of the increase, it was pointed out by Mayor Killen, was applied to new properties and those to which water and sewer mains had been extended.

Real estate this year was assessed at $2,230,872.98, with capitation at $482,100. Last year, real estate was assessed at $2,181,905.74, with $426,300 for capitation, or head tax.

The head tax is derived by allowing $300 for each person, 21 years or over, at the standard $1.40 per $100 rate.

The City will have $10,851.89 to collect on 1954 taxes, an increase of $419.06 over last year.

Harrington's three-man police department was given some instruction on the conduct of its office Monday evening at the March meeting of the City Council. The group also voted to send two members of the force to a police school which started in Dover Tuesday.

Mayor Ernest Killen told the men—Patrolman Walter Voss, William Jarrell, and Charles Jarrell (the last-named an extra man)—that City Manager Norris Adams had been named chairman of the Police Commission and that the Council had confidence in him and would stand behind him.

Mr. Adams then read the Council's recommendations on conduct of the police department. These were as follows: Conducting traffic in the business district from 9 a. m. to 11 a. m. while trucks were unloading; watching traffic at noon when the manufacturing plant of George Sherwin was letting out for lunch. Furthermore, the recommendations suggested patrolmen help children across the street and check the sewer pumps at 11:30 p. m., instead of several times nightly, as heretofore.

The patrolmen said they had also been checking the pumps at 5 a. m., when going off duty, and it was suggested they continue this practice. Councilman Hewitt Smith suggested the police try to keep close to the phone as possible and Councilman Charles Jarrell suggested they spend not more than five minutes, at a time, at a service station and restaurant on their route.

The Council voted to send Patrolman Voss and William Jarrell, both full-time men, to attend a state police school at Dover, beginning Tuesday. The school will meet three times weekly for five weeks. The school will meet from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. daily. Patrolman Charles Jarrell will serve during the school sessions. The other patrolmen will also serve four hours nightly during school.

The Council had a busy evening, not adjourning until after 10 o'clock. It voted to accept the offer of Pitlick's Garage to give free storage for the city truck, in return for business concerning the truck and the police car. Councilman Harrington had offered to store the truck for $10 monthly, but added he did not want the business. The Pitlick Garage, being across the street from the City Hall, it was felt would be quite convenient, especially for street workers.

On a query from a councilman on hiring of street employes, it was brought out this was in the province of the city manager, Norris Adams. He said he was satisfied with his present crew and saw no need for a change. Councilman Walter Messick complained about the number of loose dogs in his section of the town. It was explained that, beginning Monday, the game warden would take care of the situation.

Mayor Killen asked City Clerk Grace Wanda Quillen if bank holidays were observed in City office and she answered they were.

Miss Quillen also volunteered to attend Council meetings and serve as secretary, though it was not part of her duties under the City Charter.

Mayor Killen said he had received complaints about junk yards in town and junk cars on the streets. It was suggested the city manager put "No Parking" signs on both sides of Liberty Street, from Dixie Street to U. S. 13.

Alderman L. Gooden Callaway appeared before the Council and explained the procedure in collecting delinquent taxes. These taxes, he said, could be collected by attachment of personal property or garnishment of wages. An alternative, he said, would be to send the delinquent to jail. He concluded by saying the first money to come into court goes for costs.

The Council agreed to pay C. Douglas Mills $50 a year to maintain the electric motors at its pumping stations. It tabled a request from George Thorpe for water at a house on Thorpe St., pending possible developments of water mains in a nearby area. It also agreed to order a load of Calprovo blacktop for patching streets.

In request for a survey of the lighting of the City's streets, Walter Aldrich, lighting engineer of the Delaware Power & Light

Let's Make a Place For Bert

Seven possible candidates for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator were listed Monday night at a meeting of the Women's Democratic Club of Delaware in Wilmington. At the same time, the club asked prospects to come forth and announce their willingness to run for the office.

The list of candidates, however, was conspicuous by the absence of the name of Elbert N. "Bert" Carvel, our past governor.

Aside from a rumor, we have heard no indication Mr. Carvel has been mentioned for the office. However, the Democratic party should make a place for Bert. He is too valuable a candidate to be ignored. Furthermore, his excellent administration bears witness he is a man of the people and for the people.

He is a born leader. His talents should not be allowed to waste. He definitely should be considered for one of the congressional posts to be contested this fall. Either in the Senate or the House, "the big man from the little state" would make himself noticed and would be a man we could be proud of.

Why Poultry Buyers Pay a Premium for Broilers Protected with SULFAQUINOXALINE

Poultry buyers pay premium prices for quality broilers. Don't let coccidiosis cheat you out of higher returns for your birds. Your first step is to purchase a quality feed containing preventive levels of SULFAQUINOXALINE.

Exposed birds protected with SQ feather uniformly, without delay, and have better shank color. Market weights as high as 12 per cent above those of unprotected birds have been reported. This type of top-quality finish brings greater profits.

Production costs are cut as much as 9 per cent when you prevent coccidiosis with SULFAQUINOXALINE. This is because deaths and stunting are drastically reduced. Feed efficiency may be increased by an average of 6 per cent.

You can feed SULFAQUINOXALINE right up to marketing time. Used successfully in thousands of flocks, SQ is the only product effective against all dangerous poultry coccidia.

Don't take a chance; SQ may make the difference between profit and loss. Tell your dealer you want feeds containing SULFAQUINOXALINE.

The Welcoming Committee for the church services on Sunday March 7th will be Mrs. Emma McIlvanie and Mrs. Jennie Minner. Following the services on Sunday a brief meeting of the officers and teachers of the Sunday school was held to vote on the amount it was felt the Sunday school could and should contribute to the installation of the oil burner — it was voted to contribute one hundred and fifty dollars towards same.

The regular monthly dinner meeting of the MYAF was held Wednesday evening in the Intermediate Sunday School room. There were twenty-five members attending and the group welcomed two new members, Mr. and Mrs. Hank Bloom, who live in the Niemeyer Apartment. The MYFA will sponsor a Stanley party on Monday evening, March 8, in the Sunday school room and a skating party at the Dover rink on March 23rd. Proceeds from both projects will be turned over to the trustees of the church to apply on the oil burner.

Mrs. Mannie Johnson has rented a part of her home to a soldier and Mrs. Johnson will reserve a part of the home for herself. She has been staying at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Irene Spurry, in Frederica, since the death of Mr. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Parvis and Connie and Tommy, of Houston, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hart, and family, on Sunday.

Miss Joyce Moore spent the weekend at her home here.

Mr. Thomas Kennedy died at his home early on Sunday morning an illness of several weeks, the last two weeks he was confined to his bed most of the time and attended by a nurse.

Funeral services were conducted from the Magnolia church, of which he was a member and also a member of the board of trustees, on Tuesday with Dr. C. M. Elderidge officiating. Burial was made at Barratts Chapel cemetery. Mr. Kennedy would have been eighty years of age had he lived until his next birthday in October. He is survived by his widow Mrs. Lida Minner Kennedy, and three daughters, Mrs. Edna Lafferty, of Dover; Mrs. Elizabeth Catts, of Wilmington; Mrs. Athelda Darling, of Woodsie, and one son, Thomas Jr. of Clayton, also several grandchildren survive.

Lois Biddle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Biddle is a patient at the Delaware Hospital under observation for rheumatic fever. For anyone caring to remember her with cards, or otherwise, her address will be—Delaware Hospital, 14th & Washington Streets, Room 359, Wilmington, Delaware. Mr. Biddle a few years ago met with an unfortunate mishap with a corn picker and lost both legs and one arm and is now confined to his bed following a long and serious illness at the Kent General Hospital.

ruling of the State Board of Education makes it mandatory that days lost, because of weather, when neither pupils nor teachers report must be made up. Felton School was closed only one day because of bad weather this winter, but some other schools will be required to make up as many as four days, thus delaying the closing day of school considerably. On March 10 the Mathematics Department directed by Mrs. Amelia Sipple will present an assembly program, "Your Voice Is You," by the Diamond State Telephone Company.

Louise Henry will represent Felton School in the all-state high school chorus at Seaford on the evening of March 5. A group of 144 high school pupils selected by school music directors from all the high school choruses of the state will present an excellent program at 8 o'clock in the Seaford High School auditorium. The young people participating will stay in Seaford homes and eat in the school cafeteria Thursday and Friday. Don Craig, noted director of music will serve as guest conductor for the occasion.

The social studies class in the high school are studying the operation of voting machines to be used throughout the state. These model machines have been supplied by the Department of Election.

The Green Devils Win Their Thirteenth Felton Green Devils journeyed to Rock Hall Feb. 23. The outcome of the game had the Devils on top with a score of 61-47. Felton got off to a good start and led all the way through the game. The Green Devils have a 14-3 record.

According to Coach Kerns and the teams it is a pleasure to play Rock Hall for the teams there always evidence good sportsmanship.

The Rock Hall girls outplayed the Felton girls to the tune of 47-31.

Caesar Rodney School News FFA President Wins Tomato Award

Carlton Fifer, president of the Caesar Rodney Chapter of Future Farmers of America, was presented with a wrist watch this week at the University of Delaware Farmers Week Program.

This award was given in recognition of his having produced the highest yield of tomatoes in Delaware in the 1953 Junior Ten Ton Tomato Contest. His yield was 19.2 tons per acre was achieved on four acres of tomatoes which were grown as one of his FFA projects in connection with his study of vocational agriculture at Caesar Rodney School.

FFA Group Attended Farmers Week Program Fifteen members of the Caesar Rodney Chapter of the FFA from the advanced class of vocational agriculture attended the University of Delaware Farmers Week program Tuesday, Feb. 23.

The group attended the tomato growers meeting in the morning, the state crop show, and the poultry growers meeting in the afternoon. All three of these things were of particular interest to the group. In addition to hearing about the production of tomatoes, they saw Carlton Fifer and Eugene Thomas, two of their members, presented with awards in the Junior Ten Ton Tomato Contest, observed their nearly 50 entries in the crop show and heard a discussion on the production of white feathered broilers, the type now being raised by the chapter.

Kent Home Doings

All year round it is important to think about maintaining the freezer, whether we are filling it in the summer or eating from it in the winter.

Defrosting Your Freezer

With spring just around the corner and your home freezer getting empty, how about tackling the job of defrosting?

A thick coating of frost on your home freezer costs you money, because it takes just as much electricity to hold the frost at zero temperature as it would take to keep frozen food—and frost cuts down on your storage space. The best practice is to remove frost when it is about one-half inch thick on the large walls or shelves. The frost may be removed while the freezer is in operation. Scrape the frost off with specially made scoop tools that catch it as it is scraped off. Avoid using tools that are sharp enough to damage the freezer walls or the gasket around the opening.

Ice on the freezer should be melted off. Disconnect the freezer and take out the food. If your freezer has a drain, melt the ice by running cold water over it. If the freezer does not have a drain, place an electric fan so that the air hits the ice. Remove the ice as it loosens and sponge up the water. Be sure the inside of the freezer is dry before you put the food back in to it.

Usually freezers need defrosting only twice a year, at the time when there is the least amount of frozen food in the freezer. Properly packaged food will keep the moisture inside the package, thus allowing less to form on the freezer walls.

If Your Freezer Stops

All year round there is a possibility of your home freezer stopping. The cause might be a power failure or faulty functioning of your own freezer; no matter which, your food is in danger. There are several things to do to save your food, and they are all outlined in a bulletin, "What To Do When Your Home Freezer Stops." If you would like a copy, I'll be glad to send it to you. My address is: Home Demonstration Agent, Post Office Building, Dover, Del.

Three Boys Win

4-H Scholarships

"It pays to know your oats—and other crops." Three boys demonstrated their crops knowledge by winning the 4-H crop judging contest Thursday of Farm and Home Week at the University of Delaware.

They will receive their choice of scholarships to the state 4-H short course or state 4-H camp next summer.

Owain Gruwell, 14, of Felton, was high scorer among 36 contestants. An active member of the Harrington Sunshine 4-H club and the FFA chapter of Harrington High School, Gruwell accurately judged samples in six crop classes—barley, wheat, oats, soybeans, alfalfa hay and grass silage. Among quality points the boys had to consider were soundness, weight, freedom of weeds, and color and uniformity.

Top winners in Sussex and New Castle Counties were Francis Neal, 14, Laurel; and Charles Wilson, 13, Newark. Neal is a member of the Sycamore 4-H Club and the FFA chapter at Laurel High School. Wilson is a member of the Korner Ketch 4-H club and is high county scorer for the second year.

Winning honorable mention are: Ronald Campbell, and Gene Lloyd both of Newark; Eddie Yoshell, Smyrna; Delbert Simpson, Camden; Richard James, Laurel; Joseph Workman and Bill Webber, both of Delmar; and Reese Wilson, of Lewes.

Drapers Enjoy Wildlife Conservation Hobby

For the last two years, Bennie Draper and his son, Arthur, of Farmington, have spent considerable time and effort in raising foreign and domestic birds. This hobby has given them great satisfaction.

Foreign birds in the Drapers' aviary include three peacocks, six silver pheasants, and 40 chukar partridges, all beautiful fowl. The native birds include 20 bobwhite quail, besides several pigeons and guineas.

The young birds are fed on turkey starter mash, and the adults are given turkey grower mash. The Drapers have not yet decided what they are going to do with these birds, but probably will continue to raise them a few more years. Most foreign birds seem unable to adapt themselves to the environment and climatic conditions of this country. The only foreign game bird which has adapted itself successfully to the United States is the ring-necked pheasant, a native of China.

The Drapers have some large, elaborately made martin houses, and also feed the birds during the winter time. Mr. Draper's daughter, Grace, owns a beautiful young parrot.

Another of the farm's animal residents is the beautiful Gordon setter which belongs to Arthur. This dog receives much attention from all the members of the family.

Mr. Draper has planted a hedge of bamboo, which now is 10 to 12 feet high. Answering inquiries about the hedge, Mr. Draper said, "It's about five years old."

The Drapers have a 100-acre farm two miles west of Farmington. The land supports 10 milking cows. Milk from this herd is shipped to the Pet Milk Company's Greensboro plant.

Poultry Short Course Program Announced

Program details have been completed for the poultry short course on March 10, at Capitol Grange, Dover.

Nationally-known speakers will cover a variety of topics in the fields of poultry marketing, feeding, housing, management and disease control. According to Silas J. McHenry, assistant extension poultryman at the University of Delaware, talks will pinpoint latest research developments and field observations in these fields.

"With broiler prices below costs of production for the past two months, all members of the poultry industry are concerned with prospects for the future," states McHenry. "This meeting is designed to deal with the current poultry situation."

The morning program, starting at 9:30, is of interest to all poultrymen. Robert Obier, Seaford, is chairman.

ROSY FINCH
©1953 National Wildlife Federation

North America boasts four species of Rosy Finches with three subspecies in one. One of these subspecies is found in north-eastern United States rather rarely but for the most part the Rosy Finches are definitely western and northwestern, one being limited to the Alaska area.

The Brown-capped Rosy Finch is found in the mountains of southwestern United States and the Black Rosy Finch in the mountains from the border south to New Mexico. The Gray-crowned and its related Hepburn's and Sierra Nevada Rosy Finches range from Alaska and Manitoba south irregularly to California and Nebraska, as suggested above, occasionally east to Maine. It is the Gray-crowned subspecies that gives us this eastern extension of the species.

Sometimes the generic name Leucosticte is used as a common name for this bird. The Rosy Finch is most likely to be found above timberline in mountainous long. The general color is dark brown fields. It is about 6 inches brown, but there is a pink cast to wings and rump. The best field characters are in the dark brown breast, high chirping notes and the light gray patch on the back of the neck that shows conspicuously in our illustration.

The hen birds are less conspicuously marked than are the males and the neck patch may be rather inconspicuous except on close examination. In winter, the male may show light brown edgings on some of the feathers of the back and wings. The female also shows some seasonal variation.

Adult Gray-Rosy Finches have been taken in New Mexico at an elevation of 9,000 feet. There and in similar high mountain areas the Rosy Finches hop about in most severe weather, getting meals of small seeds when other forms of animal life are absent or hiding under cover. In summer they share these out of the way places with the conies and the marmots. Not infrequently the finches may be found far out over the surface of some glacier. For bird associates they may have ptarmigans and pipits.

The nest is usually built on the ground, of grasses and a few feathers. It is usually well hidden in rock rubble or among debris. Four white, unmarked eggs are laid. In the winter season the birds may form flocks of a few hundred each and these flocks may be composed of more than one of the species or subspecies of Rosy Finches.

The National Wildlife Federation is interested in these diminutive but rugged mountaineers just as it is interested in all forms of wildlife. Its program supported largely by its stamp series endeavors through publication, fellowships and workshops for teachers and sportsmen to broaden the appreciation of all forms of nature.

Electric Safety Requires Frequent Care

"An electrical wiring system is no better than its weakest link," comments George K. Vapaa, county agent. When poorly installed, even a new extension or a repair job can damage a safe wiring system.

The National Safety Council recommends that electrical wiring, additions, or repairs be checked by a qualified person. Temporary wiring, unnecessary extension cords, and makeshift installation should be avoided.

Even the best wiring system needs some attention now and then, Vapaa stresses. Outside, you should check frequently for broken insulators, frayed insulation, and loose or sagging wires that may contact trees or other obstructions. Inside the buildings, watch for defective outlets or switches, loose clamps at junctions, and damaged insulation or worn fixtures. Appliance cords need frequent attention. When defective, discard or repair them immediately.

When purchasing replacement cords or plugs, choose good quality and the right type for the use intended. Avoid plastic caps that break easily or those which cannot be grasped firmly to pull from a receptacle. Use cords with asbestos insulation for heating appliances and heavy rubber jacketed cords for motor operated equipment. Avoid unnecessary kinking, twisting, knotting, or exposure to heat and mechanical injury.

Watch your circuit loads and fusing. An ordinary household circuit with a No. 14 wire should be protected by a 15 ampere fuse. When a fuse "blows" something is wrong — too much load on the circuit or a short circuit somewhere. Locate and remove the source of trouble before inserting a new fuse and then be sure to use the proper size. Before attempting electrical repairs, always disconnect the current.

The service in Harrington, this year, will be held at Trinity Methodist Church, at 7:30 this evening. The women of Harrington and adjacent communities are invited to unite in this service of worship.

Blueberries A Prize

Crop For Home Gardens
Did you ever think of planting blueberries as part of your yard or landscaping plan? They do very well for this purpose, says County Agent George K. Vapaa. The youngest of our cultivated fruits, blueberries, also are ideal in home gardens.

C. W. Hitz, research horticulturist at the University of Delaware, recommends six varieties of blueberries that have quality and size to make them attractive to any home gardener. These are: Early Blu, Ivanhoe, Blue Crop, Herbert, Berkeley, and Coville. All are adapted to most Delaware conditions and should do well if you follow simple cultural procedures.

According to Hitz, blueberries should not be planted where lime has been applied liberally in recent years. They should be planted in well-drained locations. The plants should be mulched with sawdust the second year after planting. Only ammonium sulfate should be used as a fertilizer, since blueberries "dote" on this form of nitrogen.

Delaware State Development Department

Delaware Commission on Children and Youth

Two young Delawareans who have distinguished themselves for service and for heroism are being sought by the Delaware Commission on Children and Youth for national and local honors.

Public nominations are needed by April 1 for candidates for the U. S. Attorney General's Young American Medals.

In addition to the honor of representing the State of Delaware before the nation, Governor J. Caleb Boggs has officially created state recognition for our brave and distinguished youths. Plans for these local honors are still being formulated and when completed will be announced through the press.

The youth agency, headed by Thomas W. Mulrooney, was asked by Governor Boggs to serve as the screening body for the national candidates.

Mrs. W. R. Bovard of Wilmington, is chairman of the commission's award committee. Nominations of any boy or girl 18 years old or younger who has either given distinguished community service or performed some outstanding act of heroism, should be sent to Mrs. Bovard at the Commission's office, 511 W. 8th St., Wilmington, before April 1.

This will be the second year for Delaware's participation in the national nominations.

Only two Department of Justice medals are given in each category service and bravery.

The acts for which the young people are to be honored must have taken place during 1953, and the candidate should not have reached his 19th birthday when the event happened.

Selection will be by the Young American Medals Committee of the U. S. Department of Justice. Delaware nominations will be cleared through the Youth Commission to Governor Boggs who will forward them to Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr.

Nominations for both awards must be in writing and include a complete statement and documents testifying to the outstanding endeavor or service achievements. These should include the time and place, statements by witnesses or persons having direct knowledge of the performance, plus a biographical sketch and birth date evidence of the nominee.

The national honors were established in 1950 by an act of Congress.

The Young American Medal for Bravery may be awarded to a person under 19 who lives in the U. S., but need not be an American citizen, of the same age category.

A candidate may be eligible for both medals in the same year.

Letters asking for recommendations have gone out to civic, church, fraternal and youth organizations, and schools, but suggestions from the general public are also invited, Mrs. Bovard said today.

VETERANS ADMINISTRATION INFORMATION SERVICE

Questions and Answers
Q — I understand that after my starting cut-off date, I'll be allowed to suspend Korean GI training for periods up to 12 straight months. But what happens if I suspend training for longer than that?
A — If you suspend for more than 12 months, you will be permitted to resume your Korean GI training only if you can show VA that the suspension in excess of 12 months was for reasons beyond your control.
Q — I'm a disabled Korean veteran, and I'm running a farm in partnership with another veteran — a fellow who took on-the-farm training under the World War II GI Bill. Would I be allowed to enroll in farm training under Public Law 16, even though the farm is not under my complete control?
A — Yes, it might be possible for you to take institutional on-farm training under Public Law 16, provided that you meet the basic eligibility requirements of the law; and that your partnership agreement calls for equal managerial authority, and that your farm is productive enough to provide a livelihood for both you and your partner. See your nearest VA office for details about your case.
Q — I hold a permanent National Service Life Insurance policy, and I've just gone back on military duty. I want to surrender my policy for cash. What's the effective date it will be surrendered if I make a request for surrender through military channels?
A — The effective date your permanent GI policy will be considered surrendered will be the date your request is placed in military channels, and not the date your request finally reaches the VA.
Q — Several years ago I went into business with the help of a GI business loan. Now I have the opportunity to sell my business at a nice profit. May I do so? And will I need VA's approval?
A — You have the right to sell your business to anyone at all, and you do not need VA's approval to sell. Of course, though, you must pay off your GI loan to end your liability under VA guarantee.

SOCIAL SECURITY NOTES

"A large number of Delawareans are getting social security credits from both wages and self-employment income at the same time," it was stated today by Myron Milbourn, manager of the Wilmington office of the Social Security Administration.
"While both count toward social security payments, taxes are paid on up to a total of only $3600 for a year," the local manager added. "Wages are counted first, and then self-employment income."
For example, a person who works in a factory part of the year and earns wages of $2500 may also operate a business and have net earnings of $2800. At the end of the year he would file social security taxes on the self-employment income at the same time that he files his annual income tax return. However, he would pay social security taxes on only $1100 of self-employment income because of the factory earnings of $2500.
Pointing out that social security benefits payable to a self-employed person in his old age, or to his dependents in case of his death, are based on earnings credited to his social security account, Milbourn stressed the importance of correct reporting.
A special guide sheet to help self-employed persons correctly report their net income for social security tax purposes is now available on request from the Social Security Office, at 813 West Street, Wilmington.
Ask for "Helpful Guides on Reporting Self-Employment Tax."

Gene Short Is Long on Tractor Upkeep

Production on the Short farm near Smyrna has been kept at a high level because tractor wheels have been kept rolling by Gene Short 19, who was awarded a trip to the 4-H Congress as a guest of American Oil Co.

Delaware winner in the 4-H Tractor Maintenance program, Gene has devoted one year to the study and practice of tractor operation and maintenance. In this program, which emphasizes care—not repair, Gene says a tractor pays for itself in savings of labor costs alone.

Gene was one of the founders of his local tractor 4-H Club. He also has projects in dairy, beef and crops. Gene, a high school student, is the son of Arthur N. Short, who farms 275 acres.

"We believe that the future of America is safe in the hands of youngsters like these."

The Livestock Situation Is Still Favorable

Hogs are selling at good prices, despite some weakness in the trade. With an unusually favorable corn-hog ratio, demand is brisk for a scanty supply of feeder pigs.
Vealers are still in the upper brackets. Inquiry for stocker and feeder cattle is not what it should be, with grass coming on. NOW is the time to buy: they'll be higher later. You can depend on that. We usually have some good ones on hand.

ALL CALVES ARE WEIGHED AS THEY ARE UNLOADED AND SOLD AT THAT WEIGHT, THUS GIVING THE SELLER A MARKED ADVANTAGE.

BUILD BETTER Layers

When you're building a flock of first-class layers, the right kind of feed at the beginning is mighty important. In fact, the feed your chicks get during the first few months is probably the most important feed of their lives. That's why Southern States Starting & Growing Mash has for so long been a favorite with poultrymen. A one-feed-all-the-way mash, it gives your chicks everything they need plus plenty of extra nutrients. These extras act as "safety margins" to take care of deficiencies during those critical early weeks.

Try Starting & Growing Mash. Its balanced, 20% protein formula takes care of every growing need of the young chick. You'll find it will pay quickly in better layers and better production. Order now and give those chicks the right start.
