Eastern Art Convention Highlights

The E.A.A. is a progressive professional organization now in its 43rd year of service to art education in the eastern United States.

The convention offered valuable opportunity in meeting educational leaders, Art teachers, supervisors, art museum personnel and friends of art education.

Another highlight for furthering and improving art education was the exhibit of children's paintings from in and around New York. Timely exhibitions on visual aids, materials and equipment gave added information to the field of an Art Program.

The convention was held at the Commodore Hotel, which is conveniently located so as to afford easy transportation to the challenging atmosphere of the studios and galleries.

Arrangements for tours and trips were numerous. The most impressive was the United Nations Building. Here one became acquainted with the purposes and functions of the U.N. and was provided a rare opportunity to see this beautiful hall. The simultaneous language translation equipment used in the U. N. General Assembly was another feature of amazement.

The entire U. N. headquarters seemed fantastic.

Car loadings are starting to increase after a decline that dates back to the first of the year.

A good barometer for detecting general business trend is the number of cars on D2 and D3 daily. The average load of 150 cars before the holidays had dropped to less than 100 by the first of March. Since that time a steady climb now brings them close to 140.

Highway construction projects throughout the entire peninsula contribute heavily, as do the large fed mills that have sprung up in the past three years.

Track supervisor W. B. Super was called to his home in Augusta, Ga., where his father passed away last Sunday.

Dave McKibben, Supervisor of Structures, was promoted to same duties on the Columbus Division, effective today with headquarters at Columbus, Ohio. His successor is W. H. Pahl, who comes here from Indianapolis, where he has been serving as Assistant Supervisor of Structures.

A new side track was placed in service last week to the Mathieson Chemical Corp., at Ridgely, Md. Another will be installed next week at Eden, Md., serving the Nello Teer Company highway surfacing plant. Construction is also under way for serving the new feed mill now being built at Seaford, Del.

All of this, with the potato season just around the corner and the Air Base at Dover and Navy Base at Chincoetage going strong indicates busy times ahead for the railroad serving industry, serving community, serving humanity at large.

Further indication of railroad interest in community and civic affairs was evidenced in last Tuesday's election when Agent Rolly Hastings was reelected Mayor of Salisbury and T & S Maintainer Dan Shaw, Mayor of Pocomoke. This makes five active railroad men serving in this capacity at the main towns and cities on the Delmarva peninsula with Agent Tom Newman at Middletown, Del., Engineman W. T. As to shift changes, George D. Slater has changed to Thursday, 4 a. m. to 6 a. m.; Sam Short to Sun, 10 to 12 p. m., and Joe Barlow to Sat., 8 to 10 p. m.

In the early morning hours, the spotters pass the time away by playing checkers. There are also some poets, whose work will be published.

Considerable damage was done in this area at the homes of Edgar Brown, White's Church; Walter Schiff, Harrington; Roland Hannon, Williamsville, and George Lindale, Abbott's Pond.

At the home of Edgar "Tony" Brown a broiler house and machinery shed were completely destroyed. The former contained 6000 birds from which were salvaged only 87 coops, which had to be sold immediately.

At the home of Walter Schiff, on U. S. 13, just north of town, roofs were damaged on three broiler houses; all windows were broken out on the west side of the houses. The hailstones punctured the aluminum roof of a feed mill and the rain damaged the feed. The windows in the west side of the Schiff residence were all broken. Also, a number of 9-week-old broilers were lost.

At the Hannon home, at Williamsville, a tree fell on a barn and damaged it and a car inside. At the Lindale place, one end of a broiler house, containing 5500 birds, was destroyed, with 800 broilers lost. The other end, contained 4500 birds, was not damaged.

Other damages

Windows were broken at Harrington and Milford Schools. At the Harrington school there were 26 windows broken. Eleven of these were knocked out completely by the king-sized hail stones.

J. C. Messner, superintendent, reports that some of the younger students were "nearly scared to death." But there was no panic—the teachers were able to reassure the youngsters.

The superintendent said it was the worst storm in his experience. The visibility was zero and the hail was hitting the roof, windows, and sides of the building so fast and hard that "it sounded like machine gun fire."

Two of the hatches on the roof of the 1929 building were lifted off and blown into the school yard.

On the school grounds several cars belonging to members of the faculty were badly damaged. The high wind picked off the slag from a new roof and peppered the fish on the cars. A new car, purchased only the night before by Mrs. Kathleen Politt, a high-school teacher, will have to be refinished. It had only 45 miles on it. Vehicles belonging to Mrs. Mary Dolby and Norman Cotter were also severely damaged.

J. Edward Taylor said four or five windows were broken at his home on Delaware Avenue, with the weatherboarding damaged on the west side of the house, the direction from which the storm came. The homes of Earl Sylvester and C. Douglas Mills, all on Delaware Avenue, were damaged.

The homes of Harold P. Bailey Minner, Delaware Avenue, incurred novel damage; the red cedar siding, on one side of the house, was pitted by hailstones to such an extent it appeared as though woodpeckers had been having a party.

In Warrington Manor, the new home of Leon Brown suffered broken windows, with water damage to hardwood floors.

Hail and Wind Do $60,000 Damage in This Vicinity

A catastrophic wind and hail storm arose with demonic fury Thursday afternoon, April 8, and did untold damage in a narrow belt in Delaware and Maryland. Arnold Gilstad, local insurance man, estimated the property damage in this area at $60,000, but the overall losses will be difficult to estimate, taking in, as they did, losses of broilers, television antenna, signs, etc.

The storm, which sprang up in the middle of the afternoon, operated in a narrow belt west of Queen Anne, Md. It swooped and swirled, traveling like a half-crazed halfback, stiffarming trees to a supine position. The wind blew down signs, lifted roofs, and knocked down numerous television antenna.

Accompanying the wind was another archdemon — hail — which battered and punctured wood and aluminum roofs and punctured the western sides of some houses had been working on them.

Windows without number were broken by the hailstones which ranged from the size of marbles to, some said, golf balls. The Harrington Lumber & Supply Company personnel worked all Thursday night cutting glass for replacements.

Houses along the Milford road, all the way to Milford, suffered paint losses, and one at Church Hill Village showed where hail had beat a tattoo on the paint.

Over the line in Maryland, damage was particularly pronounced.

Man Has Narrow Escape

Richard Sinclair escaped death or serious injury when a large barn in Tuckahoe Neck, six miles from Denton, collapsed as he was attempting to drive several cows to safety. However, he escaped with head cuts and body bruises and was treated by a Denton physician. Sinclair was employed by William DeFord, who manages the farm for Mrs. Philip Downes of Denton, the owner.

At the farm of Edward Carney, opposite the Downs property, part of the barn roof was ripped off and several outbuildings damaged. One farmer reported a corn crib hurled against a nearby granary. At another farm a poultry house was moved 70 feet across a field.

The Wye Mills-Queen Anne section bore the brunt of the storm in Queen Anne's County. Bernard Messer, farmer of near Queen Anne, said the gale picked up a car parked in his lane and deposited it in a ditch.

Four small outbuildings on his property were destroyed with one structure carried across a field.

Out 2-Mile Swath

The storm apparently came from the northwest, growing in velocity as it neared Wye Mills and then cut a swath two miles wide as it headed for the Ridgely section.

Walter Rowe Jr., operator of a large service station at the junction of Routes 50 and 404, east of Wye Mills, reported he suffered cuts of the hands when huge hailstones bombarded the building, breaking all the windows and damaging the asphalt roof.

Two silos were blown down on farms around Queen Anne and in the latter town as well as in Hillsboro, the windows in homes were either broken by hail or blown out by the high wind.

The storm broke up a sale being conducted in a field by the Jump Hardware and Implement Company of Queen Anne. The wind and rain dispersed the crowd but no injuries were reported.

At the Caroline Sale Company property near Ridgely, the main concrete barn withstood the elements but six sheds and smaller buildings were demolished.

Ridgely

The storm hit Ridgely hard. Hundreds of windows were broken, roofs sprung leaks that never leaked before and shingles ripped off.

A large tree fell on the home of Herbert Walls.

On the Owen Dixon farm an implement shed was blown off its foundation and carried several hundred feet. It even lifted part of the cement foundation out of the ground.

The Duralite Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of aluminum truck bodies, had several bodies and parts of bodies which were in the yard, blown several hundred feet, and some were damaged severely.

Vaughn Fowler Killed in Wreck

Funeral services for Vaughn H. Fowler, 39, of Hollandville, who was killed in an automobile accident Sunday, were held Wednesday afternoon at the Berry Funeral Home, Felton, with the Rev. Carl Henn, pastor of Felton Methodist Church officiating. Interment was at Barratt's Chapel Cemetery.

Mr. Fowler was the son of Mr. Lydia E. Fowler and the late John Fowler. He was an employee of the Latex Corporation in Dover.

Besides his mother, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Archie Dill, of Felton.

Mr. Fowler was injured shortly before 8:30 p. m. Sunday in a two-car collision on U. S. 13, about a half-mile east of Camden.

According to state police, Fowler was thrown from his car, the rear wheel of which then passed over his body, following a collision with another vehicle driven by John R. Grenley, 23, 640 Fairview Avenue, Dover. Fowler was rushed to the Kent General Hospital in the Dover ambulance and died at 9 p. m.

At the time of the accident Fowler was traveling west on County Route 360, which runs from Camden to Rising Sun, while Grenley was going north on Route 13. The latter collided with Fowler's car as he was crossing the intersection.

Greenley was uninjured in the crash and the two men were the only occupants of the vehicles. Both cars were badly damaged in the crash.

Cancer Drive

The American Cancer Society spent $90,826.49 on its programs of research, education, and service in the past fiscal year, it was pointed out by Samuel B. Bird, state chairman of the 1954 Delaware Cancer Crusade.

He said that in conformity with its standard policy of reporting what it has done with past contributions before asking for new ones, the division has issued a printed report on its activities and their costs. Copies are available from crusade volunteers or at the offices of the Society in Seaford, Dover and Wilmington.

The division sent one-fourth of all the cancer crusade contributions received last year into the national fund from which the American Cancer Society finances its nation-wide coordinated fund from which the American Cancer Society finances its nation-wide coordinated effort. Delaware's contribution came to $23,150.66. In addition a grant of $2,500 was made for research at the Carpenter Clinic in Wilmington.

The division spent $17,479.98 on the operation of the Delaware Cancer Detection centers, which offer free examinations to all Delaware women 25 years of age and older, who are presumably asymptomatic. People with symptoms of illness should of course go directly to their own physician or to clinics for treatment.

Financial aid to needy cancer patients took $12,799.04 in the last fiscal year. Nursing service for needy cancer patients required $1,500.

The Society used $11,504.95 for local administrative and campaign expenses. Cancer education in Delaware accounted for $8,001.41 in expenses, and 15 per cent of cancer contributions were sent to the national office of the American Cancer Society to help finance national directed professional and public education and general administrative activities. This came to $13,890.45.

It has been hard work, but fun, too, and the get-togethers, after the work sessions, at the various homes for coffee, scrambled eggs, hamburgers, or what-have-you have helped a great deal to cement the fellowship of the class. These members are each carrying a heavy load of responsibilities to home and family and other community projects, and yet each one has so cheerfully and freely given of his time and strength to this work that they are a real inspiration to all of us.

Consider Marketing

In Beef Breeding

Breeding and marketing are at opposite ends of the long beef cattle management program. Breeding starts the program, and marketing is the last step.

In spite of the hard work and many problems between breeding and marketing, the two go hand in hand. John Buric, who does beef cattle research in the University of Maryland animal husbandry department, points this out in suggesting cattlemen look ahead to feeder calf sales in the fall of 1955 when they do this spring's breeding.

Feeder calf sales in the fall of 1955 are almost a year and a half away. But they are of immediate concern to producers who consign calves — breeding must be done in the next few months if calves of the most desirable age are to be ready for sale.

Buyers prefer feeder calves 6 to 8 months of age, according to Buric. He adds that if bulls are turned in with the cows the first of May, calves will start coming around the first of February next year. Calves born in February will be 8 months old in October.

The animal husbandman also says that, from a marketing standpoint, it is desirable to have sale stock as uniform in size and condition as possible. A short breeding season of about three months will prevent "off-season" births and assure a uniform bunch of calves.

Another practice recommended for cattlemen who are looking ahead to feeder calf sales is to have the herd tested for TB and Bang's. Testing is a lot less trouble if it done before the herd is turned out to pasture and it will assure the grower that his calves will be able to meet the health requirements for feeder calf sales.

Poultry Group Names

State Committees

Committees of the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association for the current year have been named by George Bringhurst, Viola, president of this state poultry group.

"These committees are responsible for planning DPIA activities and carrying out recommendations of the membership," Bringhurst points out.

Chairman of the education-research committee is Ralph Obier of Laurel. This committee sponsors the Junior Broiler Program, tours and other events to keep poultrymen informed of new developments in feeding, management, housing, disease control and marketing.

Charles Williams, Bridgeville, is chairman of the awards committee, which selects winners of DPIA awards among outstanding 4-H and FFA members, scholarships to college students, and winners of the Hi-Lo Egg Club.

The marketing committee has W. T. McAllister, of Newark, as chairman and sub-committees headed by Wilson Wilcox, Middletown, turkey marketing; Melvin Fell, Frankford, broiler marketing; and Lee Hoffecker, Bear, egg marketing.

Other committees and chairmen include: Poultry-health - Leo Tammi, Newark; legislative - Ernest Cool, Felton; handbook - Robert Jaquette, Milford; Delmarva Chicken Festival - Ernest Smith Jr., Kenton; nomination and annual meeting - Walter Pyle, Stanton; auditing - Lawrence Isaacs, Lincoln, and membership and attendance - Edward McIlvaine, Georgetown.

Band Concert Next Week

The Harrington High School Band, under the direction of Melvin L. Brobst, will give its spring concert next Friday evening, April 23, beginning at 8 o'clock, in the high school auditorium.

This spring's concert will feature numbers such as the Overture to Hans Christian Anderson, a Hunting Scene, the new novelty The Typewriter Song, by Leroy Anderson, and will present the Junior Band in its first public concert, and will close with two numbers played by the combined Junior and Senior Bands.

In connection with the Band Concert, an art exhibit, under the supervision of Mrs. Peggy Malek, local art teacher, will be held in the new elementary school beginning at 7 p. m. for which there is no admission.

Everyone is cordially invited to both these events.

How many potatoes do you eat? How often do you serve potatoes to your family? Chances are they form a regular part of your menu, in some form.

Although we accept potatoes as a good food, we often forget that they furnish needed vitamins and minerals. Potatoes can add vitamins and minerals. Potatoes can add vitamin C, some of the vitamins B, iron, and other important minerals to our diet. (They are usually included on reducing diets, too.)

Right now there is a special reason for serving potatoes often - they are inexpensive and therefore a "good buy" at your local market.

Here are some ways to add variety to your potatoes.

Potatoes in Tomato Juice

3 cups thinly sliced potatoes
1 medium onion, sliced
3 tablesp. butter or margarine
2 cups tomato juice
1-2 teas. salt
Dash cayenne
Pinch basil or marjoram

Cook potatoes and onion in butter in heavy saucepan or large skillet until well browned, stirring frequently. Add tomato juice and seasonings. Cover, and simmer about 30 minutes.

Potato Cheese Surprise

1 egg, beaten
Salt and pepper
2 cups hot mashed potatoes
1-4 lb. cheese, cut into slices
4 slices tomatoes
1-4 cup bread crumbs
2 tablesp. melted fat

Add eggs, salt and pepper to potatoes, beat; shape into 4 balls; press centers to make cups; place cheese in cups; brush mould with fat. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes. Serves 4.

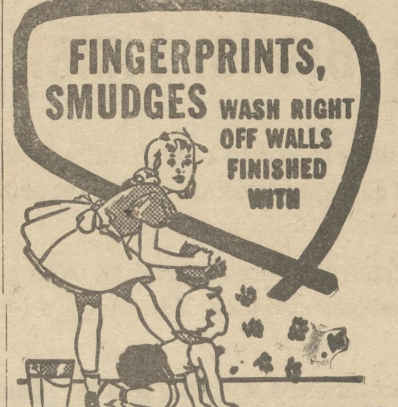

And here are some quick 'n' easy potato recipes.

Oven French-Fried Potatoes

Cut potatoes as for French-fried potatoes. Rinse in cold water, drain, and dry on absorbent paper. Arrange on shallow baking dish. Brush generously with melted butter or margarine. Bake in very hot oven 450 degrees F. for 35 to 40 minutes or until golden brown and tender, turning occasionally. Sprinkle with salt.

Quick Scalloped Potatoes

4 cups cold, sliced cooked potatoes
1 small onion, grated
1 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon pepper
Dash cayenne
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Alternate potato and onion in greased 1-2 quart casserole. Sprinkle with seasonings. Add milk; top with crumbs; dot with butter. Cover and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes. Uncover and bake at 400 degrees F. for 10 minutes longer.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

The Wilmington office of the Social Security Administration makes hundreds of changes in its records each month, in order to keep old-age and survivors insurance checks in the right amount flowing regularly to Delaware beneficiaries.

"The change in these records are necessary for a number of reasons," Myron Milbouer, manager of the office at 813 West Street, said today. "Beneficiaries who move must report their new addresses, so that future checks will reach them at the new locations without delay. Again, when beneficiaries die, a record must be made to terminate their benefits. Also, a change in the family situation may require an adjustment, as when a widow remarries or a mother under 65 no longer has a minor child in her care. Each of these situations must be reported and our records noted to reflect the change," Mr. Milbouer stated.

Changes in the records are also necessary whenever a beneficiary earns more than $75 a month in a job covered by social security, or a self-employed beneficiary has net earnings averaging more than $75 a month. Under the provisions of the Social Security law, benefit payments will be suspended for as long as the beneficiary continues in such employment. When he stops, however, another report must be made so that his benefit checks may be resumed.

The successful operation of this vast social insurance program depends in a large part on the active co-operation of beneficiaries and their proper understanding of their obligations under the program. Without the prompt reporting of these events, it would be almost impossible to make changes currently.

"With more than 11,000 beneficiaries in Delaware receiving checks each month, it is gratifying to note," Mr. Milbouer said, "that, in general, reports are promptly made whenever they are required. This fact emphasizes the spirit of honesty and responsibility that prevails in our state."

Felton School News

The building program at Felton School is nearing completion, and it is estimated that final inspection can be made by May 1. Bids on equipment and instructional aids for the vo-ag shop and laboratory are due on or before April 19.

Specifications on this equipment have been mailed to 18 suppliers, operating nationally, as well as within the state. Leading manufacturers of school furniture are likewise bidding on furniture for the three elementary classrooms. Painting operations should be completed early next week. Installation of hardware and asphalt tile floors should require not more than two more weeks.

The vo-ag and industrial arts departments are constructing a new backstop for the baseball diamond. Welded pipe unions will give the vocational pupils an opportunity to demonstrate their skill in electric welding.

Registration at Felton School last week brought the total number of pupils now identified for entrance into the first grade in September to 48. This number is even larger than last year's total at this time and indicates that next year's first grade enrollment will exceed this year's which is 53.

Exterior painting is in progress, but painting of the interior of the building will not be done until summer.

At the regular meeting on April 5, the Felton Board of Trustees accepted resignations from Vernon Meier and Mrs. Maude Reynolds, who will retire this June after 43 years of service. All other members of the staff have been re-elected for the school year 1954-55. Howard E. Henry, supervising principal, is receiving applications to fill vacancies in business education, junior high school English and social studies, and additional teachers.

Felton School representatives for the annual Boys' State and Girls' State sessions, in Dover, have been elected. Morris Turner will serve as Secretary of State with Dorsey Hammond as alternate. Walter Moore will serve as Representative, with Arthur Henry as alternate. Doris Wyatt and Diana Gruwell will serve as Representatives with Janet Rentz and Reba Clark as alternates. Boys' State will run from April 29 to May 1, and Girls' State will be in session from June 28 to July 2.

The Felton Junior Class will present "Love is Too Much Trouble" in the Felton School auditorium Thursday and Friday evenings, April 22 and 23, at 8:15 o'clock. The play is being directed by Miss Elsie Clark, and is a farce-comedy in three acts. The action of the play takes place in a college eating place, affectionately known as the "Poison Pot."

The cast includes Elaine Wagner, Russell Rash, Art Henry, Walter Moore, Diana Gruwell, Sadie Walters, Caroline Wyatt, Reba Clark, Phyllis Jones, Doris Wyatt, Mary Eleanor Friedel, Elwood Fisher, Betty Anne Havelow and Joe Hughes.

The student directors are Doris Greenly and Jean Ware. Linford Lockwood is stage manager, and Stanley Good is in charge of lighting.

May 5 will find the Junior and Senior classes busy as bees getting everything in order for the semi-formal dance to be held in the high school auditorium from 8:30 to 12 p. m.

Needlecraft News

by Nancy Baxter

When counting off the days on the calendar, I suddenly realized that Spring is just a step behind us. That means a good seasonal house cleaning will be needed soon and immediate attention ought to be directed towards re-decorating. The latter subject calls for some fresh, bright fabrics and a review of our sewing materials. Let's take inventory of our sewing baskets to see if we have the proper equipment to fit in with our re-decorating plans....

NEEDLES AND THREAD

If we are going to use net, marquisette, batiste, organdie or nylon, we will have to have a number 10 hand needle, a fine machine needle, and thread in size 100. A fine, number 9 hand needle is for use on lawn, dimity, voile, chiffon, rayon sheer and thin silk with thread in sizes 20 to 100, and a medium fine machine needle, size 11. For sewing on gingham, chambray, sheer wool crepe and taffeta, a number 8 hand needle (medium fine) is the best with number 60, 70 or 80 thread. Poplin, bengaline, faille, wool flannel, wool jersey, pique, percale, chintz and moire require a hand needle in size 7 or 8 and thread in size 50, 60 or 70. Use a number 14 machine needle for the fabrics listed in these last two categories. For heavier fabrics such as gabardine, corduroy, velveteen, twill and madras, have a number 6 needle in hand, a number 16 needle in the machine and thread in size 30, 36 or 40. A size 4 or 6 hand needle is to be used on sailcloth, denim, ticking and drapery fabrics along with thread in size 16, 20 or 24 and a machine needle, number 18. Canvas, duck and upholstery fabrics should be sewed with a number 3 hand needle, number 19 machine needle and thread in size 8, 10 or 12.

RE-DECORATING YOUR BOUDOIR

It's a real joy to re-decorate a boudoir because you can run rampant with frills and flounces and satisfy your feminine heart's desire. Softly ruffled chintz is a beautiful choice for covering a vanity table and companion pieces. Make the vanity and stool skirts in a frothy pastel and enhance them and your make-up mirror with pretty, printed ruffles. Complete directions for making a BEDROOM ENSEMBLE such as this may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Dept. of this paper for Leaflet No. E-2518.

Felton School News

FFA NEWS

At the last regular meeting of the Felton Chapter of Future Farmers of America, Elwood Fisher was elected treasurer to replace Robert Cooper who left school. Linwood is very much interested in chapter affairs and it is expected that he will discharge the duties of the office very effectively.

Preparing for the annual State FFA Judging Contest, held at The University Farm, Newark, has occupied much of the attention of both students and instructor for the past two weeks. Due to the cooperation of Mr. Friedel and Russell Torbert, the dairy judging and meat judging teams were able to get actual practical experience in judging those classes. Assisting Mr. Torbert was Ebe H. Pope of the Cochran-Hill Company, who contributed much information from his years of practical experience in grading and merchandising meats. Other teams including land judging, seeds and hay received practice in the classroom and in the field.

Representing Felton at the Kent County Public Speaking Contest held at Harrington High School, was Richard Watson Green. Although he did not win, he gave a fine speech, and promises to give them a run next year. After the contest the Felton group attended a demonstration of forage harvesters held in the Farm Shop, through the efforts of Fred Myer, and through the co-operation of the local machinery dealers.

The judging teams and their members are as follows: dairy - Elbert Harrington, Elmer O'Day, and Marvin Rothermel; milk - Fred Casper, Joe Hughes, Billy Stokes; land - Edwin Reed, Billy DeLong, Elwood Fisher; hay and seed - Wayne Dill, Norman Tribbett, Dorsey Hammond; tractor driving - Linford Lockford; livestock - Max Bush, Lawrence Morris, Dick Green; meat - Dick Lander, Francis Hutson, Kenneth Fitzgerald; poultry - Abe Schultz, Jack Greenly, Joe Green; alternate was Sammy Rattray.

Takes Room from Boldrums

A bright color—vermillion, for instance—draws your eye when it's used in the decoration of a room. A dull one, such as a deep tone of red, stays quietly in its place. The brilliant colors which provide positive accents of color are sometimes needed to give life to an otherwise dull room.

Rubber Pads

Use rubber pads in the sink which is used as a wash basin for the dishes to make the work quiet as well as to prevent chipping.

Long-Lasting Cloth

A process has been developed to triple the life of cotton cloth used to shade tables.

RED-BELLIED WOODPECKER
© 1953 National Wildlife Federation

Red-Bellied Woodpecker

Here is a relatively shy woodpecker found in forested lands or about the shade trees of small, quiet communities. It's much more cautious than the commoner Downy Woodpecker, the Hairy, or Woodpecker or the flicker, or for that matter, than the most conspicuous Red-headed Woodpecker. It measures just under 11 inches and is therefore a couple of inches shorter than the Flicker which in many respects it resembles rather closely. It has a wingspread of 18 inches.

In the male Red-bellied Woodpecker, the crown and nape are a lighter red than one finds in the Red-headed Woodpecker, the back is conspicuously dark striped. A spot of white shows at the base of the tail like that seen in the flicker and the breast throat and cheeks are pale brown. In the female, the red on the head is confined to the nape with the crown becoming a grayish brown. The female is also smaller than the male.

Red-bellied Woodpeckers range from the Dakotas east to western New England through southern Ontario and south to central Texas and Florida. They are resident in the territory they occupy so their winter and summer ranges are approximately the same. Closely related species include the Golden-fronted, the Gila, the Cardon and the Brewster's Woodpeckers that extend the range to the south and west.

Nesting season for the Red-bellied Woodpecker is May and June. At that time a hole is dug in a tree or pole from 16 to 50 feet above ground. It has an entrance of 1 3/4 inches and a depth of about 1 foot. In it 3 to 5 or more dull white eggs are laid. The eggs are incubated for 2 weeks by both parents and the young are helpless when hatched. With their first feathers the young resemble the mother and usually not until the following spring do the young males develop maturity and the characteristic red crown and nape.

The birds may on occasion nest in boxes put up for their benefit. The food of the Red-bellied Woodpecker is essentially insects gleaned or dug from trees. This includes caterpillars, beetles, and their grub and bugs of many sorts. The birds may on occasion follow the example of the Red-headed Woodpecker and feed on fruit and on corn, or it may follow the example of the Sapsuckers and tap trees and feed on the resulting sap that flows from the wounds thus made. In regions where the birds injure oranges they are naturally most unpopular. Ordinarily they are looked upon as interesting, harmless and often useful members of the wildlife population.

The National Wildlife Federation has featured this bird in its stamp series which have for many years presented the best illustrations of wildlife that have been obtainable anywhere. Through this service the Federation makes its contribution to the betterment of conditions for wildlife.

SULFAQUINOXALINE

Improves Broiler-Finish and Profits

Coccidiosis is a constant threat to broiler and poultry profits. Feeds containing preventive levels of SULFAQUINOXALINE give your flocks the strongest protection against outbreaks.

1. SULFAQUINOXALINE reduces mortality from coccidiosis to 2 per cent or less, sharply reduces stunting. You save up to 2.5 cents per bird on production costs.
2. Exposed birds protected with SQ feather uniformly, without delay, and have better shank color. Market weights as high as 12 per cent above those of unprotected birds have been reported.
3. SQ-protected birds have shown an average of 6 per cent greater feed efficiency.

It all adds up to finer finished broilers and greater profit for you. Used successfully with hundreds of millions of birds, SQ is the only product effective against all dangerous poultry coccidia. Tell your dealer you want feeds containing SULFAQUINOXALINE—the coccidiostat with the widest margin of safety.

W. S. C. S. Notes Asbury Methodist

Judge Marion W. Stevenson of the Juvenile Court, Dover, addressed the WSCS of Asbury Methodist Church at its meeting Tuesday evening. The subject of the program was "Who Are the Guilty?"

Mrs. Mark Willey, chairman of the program, introduced Mr. Stevenson, who spoke interestingly to a large and attentive audience on his experiences in Delaware with juveniles. He said that he served approximately 100,000 people, and in his experience he had found no alcoholics among Jewish people, only one juvenile delinquent and very few divorcees. He accounted for this by considering the close family relationship and the high regard for family life in the Jewish religion.

Mrs. Charles Greenhaugh, Mrs. Willey, and Mrs. A. B. Parsons were elected delegates to the annual meeting of the Peninsula Conference of the WSCS, Wesley Church, Dover, May 6. Mrs. R. E. VanCleaf, Mrs. T. H. Harrington, and Mrs. J. F. Camper were elected alternates.

It was announced that this society would serve luncheon to the Peninsula Conference Executive Committee which will be held on Thurs., April 22.

Pledge cards are in the hands of the circle leaders to be distributed among their respective members and returned for report at the next meeting of the society on May 4, which will be a pledge service, "Not Above His Master," under the direction of Miss Oda Baker.

The Deborah Circle, Mrs. George Toppin, leader, served refreshments.

FARM NEWS - REVIEW - FORECAST

Kent General Hospital Public Relations Luncheon

The public relations program of the Kent General Hospital had its "kick-off" last Wednesday in the newly decorated hospital dining room. The Dover Rotary sponsored the redecoration of the dining room, and Mrs. Willard Boyce and Mrs. Howard Lynch, members of the Board of Directors, supplied the work. The decoration is the planning and supervision of done in tavern motif.

The program got underway at 1 p. m. with luncheon, followed by a conducted tour of the hospital and a question-and-answer session.

The following guests were present: City Council members, William Davis, Victor E. Holpp, Gilbert Mundy, Millard Biddle, and City Manager Preston Ward. From the Kent County Levy Court, Edward Kelly and Henry Price. Norman Davidson represented Dover Rotary. J. Wallace Woodworth represented the hospital Board of Directors.

Keen interest was demonstrated in affairs of the hospital in the question-and-answer session.

Each week four representatives of a Kent County organization will be the guest of the hospital for a similar program.

Dates Announced For Social Security Stops

Farmers with questions about their social security status will soon have the chance to find the answers, according to county agent George Vapaa.

A representative of the Wilmington Field Office will stop at scheduled times and places throughout Delaware during the next three months, to explain the latest Social Security developments.

Following is a schedule of stops to be made in Kent County in April, May and June.

Dover, at the Delaware State Employment Service Office on Mondays and Thursdays at 10 a. m.

Milford, City Office Building the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month, at 9:30 a. m.

Soybean Contest New In Kent County

A 40-Bushel Soybean Club, a new statewide activity of the Delaware Crop Improvement Association, is open to Kent County farmers, discloses Homer Torbert, state soybean committee chairman.

Working with the state chairman are Kent County committee members: Elmer Roland, Viola; Effinger Brothers, Frederica; J. E. L. Hershberger, Dover.

According to County Agent George Vapaa, the average yield for soybeans in Delaware is about 16 bushels per acre. "Nevertheless, many individual farmers are growing 40 or more bushels to the acre -- proving it can be done. We hope to get at least 40 more Kent County farmers to reach the 40-bushel yield this year."

Farmers are urged to enroll in the soybean club immediately, by contacting any member of the committee. The county agent and extension agronomist will arrange to visit their fields by May 1 and obtain soil samples. Entrants will be asked to fill out questionnaires describing their soybean growing practices.

Important practices for 40-bushels soybean members include planting at the right time with adapted varieties, planting in rows, proper liming and fertilizer and weed control, says Vapaa.

All members attaining 40 bushels this season will receive certificates at the annual Crop Improvement Association awards dinner next November. At that time a summary will be presented of practices followed by farmers entered in the soybean club program.

Spring Clean-up Makes Farms Safer

Next time you stroll in your yard to see what's coming up, make it a "picking up" stroll too, suggests George Vapaa, county agent.

While you are getting ready to plant the garden, take time to clean up the debris that has accumulated--broken glass, rusty cans, boards with nails, and other junk. Also be sure that insecticides are stored in a safe place.

Many people do not realize that these hazards along with tools, bags of feed and buckets out of place plus just common debris are responsible for hospitalizing one out of five accident victims. This was shown by a study conducted by the National Safety Council. They also found that the largest single cause of injuries, other than the personal factor of poor judgment, is disorder.

A well-maintained farm doesn't just happen, the agent stresses. It takes hard work, careful planning and co-operation of all persons who call it home. Even where there is a place for everything and everything is always kept in place, a thorough spring clean-up is needed.

Such a program will pay dividends in several ways. If you do a shipshape job you can lessen the fire hazards, cut down your chance of accidents and promote the well-being of farming in general. A little paint, a lot of elbow grease, and a careful check of all danger spots add up to a family that will be in shape to participate in the rural Easter Parade.

Better Peach Trees With Cover Crops

Peach trees grow best when treated to a vigorous winter cover crop. That is the conclusion from a 10-year study of southern Delaware peach orchards, made by the University's Agricultural Experiment Station.

The most satisfactory winter cover crop was a mixture of 70 pounds of rye and 30 pounds of vetch. Sowed September 1 and disced under in mid-May, this treatment encouraged good tree growth. It also reduced competition for moisture and nutrients--important during the growing season.

Halehaven was the peach variety used in the research, carried on at the Agricultural Substation in Georgetown. Twelve different treatments on 384 trees with various combinations of winter and summer cover crops all indicated that a tree will grow better with some cover crop than with constant clean cultivation.

Results also showed that the soil should be well fertilized before sowing a cover crop. In this case, 300 pounds of a 2-1-2-10-10 fertilizer were applied each year to the area sown to rye-vetch.

In general, the treatments that gave the best tree growth the first five years also resulted in the largest trees at the end of the experiment. These trees also produced the most fruit.

Complete details of the peach tree study are available in Experiment Station Circular 28, Better Peach Trees With Cover Crops. Single copies are available from the Mailing Room, Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark.

Dairy Farmers Need Low Cost, High Volume

Falling milk prices may mean the axe for dairy cows that aren't paying their way.

"Now is the time to cull out unprofitable cows," advises W. T. McAllister, extension farm economist at the University of Delaware. "Some cows -- even those that made a profit in 1953 -- will be headed for the market in 1954."

On the other hand, some farmers will find it to their advantage to increase their herd even though milk prices decline--adding good cows to utilize land, labor, investment in machinery and feed produced on the farm. Many farmers can make better use of their production facilities. They can improve the quality of their herds and pasture programs to reduce the cost of producing milk.

The dairyman who has not been able to show much profit in the past year or so probably won't find the situation any better in the year ahead, McAllister warns. Right now there appears to be room in this business only for the good farmer who can keep his costs low and his volume high.

Bridgeville Youth State Winner in 4-H Field Crops

Everett Warrington

Through all-around efficiency in crop production on the 45-acre farm of his father, Samuel Warrington, Everett Warrington, of Bridgeville, was named state winner in the 4-H Field Crops program. A coveted trip to the 4-H Congress, provided by International Harvester Co., is his reward. Everett was able to achieve that recognition through careful attention to every phase of crop production such as keeping farm machinery in condition, selection and treatment of seed, and scientific soil management. He raises white potatoes and onions which he exhibited at the Kent and Sussex Fairs last year, winning two blue ribbons. He exhibited corn on achievement day last year winning a red ribbon. Everett belongs to the Dublin Hill Yellow Jackets 4-H Club of which John R. Hastings is adult leader.

"We believe that the future of America is safe in the hands of youngsters like these."

Three Kinds of Polio

Recent discoveries by scientists at four universities, Utah, Southern California, Kansas and Pittsburgh, have enabled doctors to state with virtual certainty that there are only three types of polio virus, each of which has been isolated and identified by science. This medicine has taken a tremendous step toward finally defeating polio by determining exactly the nature of this crippling enemy.

While I have it on my mind, don't fail to see the new Philco refrigerator that opens either right or left, and besides that, the color is out of this world, and so many conveniences. In fact, the minute you see it you will want it. Costs nothing to look, glad to show you.

Don't fail to see our separate ad in this issue of The Harrington Journal for a special price on televisions, and all 21 inch screens at 11pt.

Now is the time to think of that beautiful garden you have always wanted, and the way you can have it is to put out a little elbow grease and plant a few flowers.

We have hundreds and hundreds of canna and dahlia roots all 5 cents apiece in different colors.

Of course, it is not necessary for me to tell you that you need some new wall paper. We have plenty of it and waiting for you to come and make your selection.

"The Robe" to Show at Denton

Sam Mellits, owner of the Dentonia Theatre, Denton, announced this week that CinemaScope has been installed in his theatre and that, starting Easter, it will show "The Robe." The picture will show through until next Friday.

Already on record as the best-selling novel of all time, Lloyd C. Douglas' famous story, in CinemaScope, is now being hailed in many quarters as the greatest movie of all time, an opinion reflected in the record-shattering attendance polls of the film's kick-off engagement at the Roxy Theatre in New York.

All the great scenes are preserved in the story of what happened to the cloak Christ wore to the Crucifixion and the effect it had on the lives of Marcellus, the Roman soldier who won it gambling at the foot of the Cross, and those close to him.
