

DEMOCRATS GREET MAINE VOTE WITH ENTHUSIASM

Democratic leaders in Delaware Tuesday hailed the results of the election in Maine as indication of a definite trend toward a sweeping victory for their party in the November election.

The gubernatorial victory of the Democrat in Maine and the closeness of the senatorial and congressional victories of the Republican candidates were the main topics of conversation at a state-wide meeting of the Democrats in Hartly Tuesday night.

Keynoting the expressions of optimism in Democrat circles throughout the state was the statement of State Chairman Elbert N. Carvel.

"I personally think that the closeness of the contests in that Republican bastion of Maine is a very definite indication of a trend toward a Democratic victory in Delaware and throughout the nation in November," said former Governor Carvel. He was referring mainly to the contest for U. S. Senator and three U. S. Representatives.

Sees Trend Continuing

"I think the Maine election bears out the trend observed last year when New Jersey elected a Democratic representative for the first time in that particular representative district." "Furthermore," the former Governor said, "the trend was noted in Wisconsin when a Democratic candidate was elected in one representative district for the first time."

Mr. Carvel said "I share with many other Democrats throughout the country a very high regard for Senator Margaret Chase Smith and I can well understand how she received a lot of independent support," in the Maine election.

"I have full confidence that, if a full registration is achieved on Oct. 2 and 16 (the only two remaining dates for registering) other than the present September supplemental registration period) that Delaware will go overwhelmingly Democratic."

Speaking at the Hartly meeting were U. S. Senator J. Allen Frear, Jr., seeking re-election; Harris B. McDowell, candidate for U. S. Representative, and J. Donald Craven, candidate for attorney general. Also attending the meeting were Clifford E. Hall, candidate for insurance commissioner, and candidate for county offices and legislative seats.

Frear Is Speaker

Senator Frear, heading the Democratic slate of candidates, also called for registration of every eligible voter in Delaware "in order to insure a Democratic victory in November." Senator Frear was one of the main speakers at the dinner meeting in the Hartley School.

"Failure to achieve an adequate registration may mean the difference between victory and defeat," Senator Frear declared. He praised the efforts of civic groups and political organizations in urging voters to register.

"But each of us as individuals can swell the total of those registered if we will contact just one or two families whom we know are not yet on the books," Senator Frear said.

"Enthusiasm is contagious," said the Senator. "And if we are successful in getting people registered, they will most assuredly be more inclined to take an interest in the other activities of the Democratic campaign."

Senator Frear told the Kent County rally that people will register and will vote if they are concerned enough with the welfare of their government and with the candidates who will represent them in the government, both state and national.

Discussing campaign issues, Senator Frear said that taxes, housing and jobs are three urgent considerations which face most Delawareans as well as people in other states. He defended the record of the Democratic party for its efforts in encouraging a continued expansion of our domestic economy, realistic tax proposals and adequate housing.

Mr. McDowell told the audience of 200 Democrats there is an uneasiness being felt and sensed by the people all over the country, including farmers, small businessmen, office workers and laborers. "There are many who expected so much from the great crusade and now are faced with unemployment, reduction in wages and recession," the Congressional candidate declared.

He said that recent headlines in Wilmington papers announced that unemployment checks were up 400 per cent in August over the same month of last year, and that a recent report of the State Department of Public Welfare indicated there were 21 per cent more people on welfare rolls.

Growing Uneasiness Cited
"All of these serious factors contribute to the growing uneasiness among people in this area as well as the rest of the country today," Mr. McDowell said. "This same situation, which exists in many parts of the country, is one of the main reasons why Republicans were formerly elected," he continued.

Mr. Craven said the Republican national administration has broken its promises to the laboring men through lack of revision of the Taft-Hartley Law; to the people of the Tennessee Valley area where an attempt is being made to throttle TVA and to the farmers of the country because parity is being reduced instead of being maintained in line with the Republican platform.

The Democratic candidate for attorney general said it has been 42 years since a Democrat has been elected to this office. He said that, if he is elected, he will work for a "real change" in the attorney general's office and he said any man serving under him will learn that the man's loyalty lies first with the state. Toastmaster at the dinner was Vernon B. Derricks, Kent County Democratic chairman.

KENT & SUSSEX MOTOR'S NEW PLANT

LIONS BEMOAN LACK OF TRAFFIC PATROLMAN AT SCHOOL

The Harrington Lions Club, in its first fall meeting, condemned the City Council for dispensing with a patrolman to control traffic at Harrington school during beginning and end of the sessions.

A discussion revealed most members with children thought the Council's judgment was poor and involved foolish economy and that it should appoint a special patrolman if the regular one regular one wasn't available.

The members added that a part-time officer would not be too expensive "after witnessing the disorganized traffic in the mornings and afternoons, it will be only a question of time before some of our children will be hurt."

Albert Price, Lions president, enumerated some of the club's activities during the summer. These included a wiener roast at the beach.

The club also agreed to repair a wheelchair and referred to its board of directors a suggestion to assist the school nurse by providing dental care for needy pupils.

President Price announced his committees but, because of lack of space, they will not be published until next week.

Frederica News Notes

Clare Jester, of Wilmington General Hospital, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jester.

The Frederica firemen won $25 as second prize, for best appearance, in the parade at Milton Saturday evening. The auxiliary won first prize of $50 for best appearance. The parade was a feature of the state convention of firemen which was attended by Wilcuts, Mrs. Zora Tatman, and Mrs. Rod Johnson.

George Reynolds Gooden entered Wesley Junior College at Dover Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Purnell spent Sunday afternoon at Rehoboth and Sunday evening with Mrs. Lydia Lindale at Magnolia, Johnnie Beebe and Freddie Satterfield were among the children attending the free back-to-school movie at Milford Saturday morning.

Mrs. Emma Hovey is slowly improving at Milford Hospital. S/Sgt. and Mrs. Donald Holger and Roger, of a California Airbase, recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Ed Holger, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Maris, of Canterbury.

Miss Clara Proulx, of Lowell, Mass., is spending two weeks with her father, Tony Proulx.

Maryland Produces Many Turkeys

Maryland turkey growers are producing the second largest crop on record, but they still aren't keeping pace with growers in the country as a whole.

Earl L. Park, agricultural statistician with the Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service, says the U. S. total of 61 million birds is a new record.

The Maryland crop of 507,000 birds compares with the State record of 529,000, set in 1952.

Maryland production also differs from the U. S. pattern in the type of birds being grown. The country as a whole is raising more of both the light and heavy breeds of turkeys than last year, while Maryland increased production only in the light birds. The state's total crop is composed of about 304,000 heavy turkeys and 203,000 light turkeys.

Felton P.-T. A. to Meet Monday

The Felton Parent-Teacher's Association will hold its first meeting of the new school year Monday evening.

Charles E. Sheets, the new president, had scheduled a business meeting for 8 o'clock, to be followed by a social period during which refreshments will be served and guests will inspect the new elementary wing, agricultural class-room and shop, the renovated industrial arts and home economics room, and other newly painted class rooms.

Other officers are as follows: Vice-president, Mrs. Louise Kemp, secretary, Mrs. Maude Reynolds, and treasurer, Charles Rebar. Mrs. Gladys Mack is advisor.

Nancy Nelson Enlists In WACS

Nancy Lee Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Nelson, enlisted in the Women's Army Corps Monday for a three-year period and is taking her eight-weeks' basic training at Ft. McClellan, Ala.

Her course will be interpreting and translating for Information and Education.

Miss Nelson graduated this June from Harrington High School as salutatorian of her class. She was an active member of the school band, Dramatic Club, Glee Club, dance band, and Trinity Methodist Church choir.

Last Saturday Nancy made her farewell appearance with the high-school band at the firemen's convention at Milton.

Ladies Feted By Rotarians Tuesday

The Harrington Rotary Club entertained Rotary Wives and Widows at dinner at the Caesar Rodney Hotel in Lewes on Tuesday evening. There were 36 present. The club president, Rev. R. E. VanCleaf, opened the meeting with the singing of "America," followed by invocation by the Rev. Milton Elliott. A card to be sent to Harvey Burgess, a loyal Rotarian, was signed by everyone present.

After a fine dinner the program was presented by Fulton Downing and George Thompson. A Mock Trial was held with Mrs. Sam Williams as Plaintiff and Mr. Harry Boyer as Defendant. Attorney for Plaintiff: Fulton Downing and the Attorney for Defendant: George Thompson. Judge was Robert VanCleaf and Clerk of the Court was Sam Williams. The Jury consisted of: Mrs. Britt Holloway, Mrs. Elwood G. Russell, Mrs. Harold McDonald, A. B. Parsons, Arch Feagan, and Mrs. Brittingham. Witnesses were: Milton Elliott, Melvin Brobst, John Parks and Gayle Smith. The rest of the group made up the audience.

After hilarious charges and counter-charges the jury gave an amusing verdict in favor of the Plaintiff.

The evening concluded with group singing and everyone agreed that Ladies' Night was a great success.

The club will serve a turkey supper in the Community Hall Thurs., Oct. 28.

Turkey Growers To Make Tour

Several car-loads of turkey growers from Delaware will leave Bridgeville, Wednesday morning, September 29, enroute to the Shenandoah Valley in Virginia - heart of the turkey and chicken industry down there. They will return Thursday evening, September 30.

Some of the people who have already signed up for the tour are William Hoffman, Bridgeville; Arthur Nanny, Seaford, Max Cordeur, Milford; William Lucas, Greenwood; Laurence DeMarie, Dover; and the County Agricultural Agents. The tour is being sponsored jointly by the Extension Service and the Delaware Poultry Improvement Association.

First stop on the tour will be the Norman Turkey Farm at Charlotte Hall, Maryland. Many turkey growers remember the excellent talk Mr. Norman gave last spring in Seaford at a dinner meeting. He keeps 4000 breeders, hatches 130,000 poults, and raises 12,000 turkeys each year for the holiday trade. All of these turkeys are dressed and most of them re-tailed.

Mr. Peterson, the Rockingham County Agricultural Agent, has planned a worthwhile tour for the group around Elkton and Broadway, Virginia. He has contacted Baker Jones, Frank Moyer, the Rockingham Coop, and other industry leaders in that area to show the latest developments in turkey housing, feeding management, breeding, marketing and disease control.

Now is the best time to go on a turkey tour, since the holiday turkeys are out on range, and you can get away from the farm easier. It is sort of a "slack season" in

H.D.C. Club Plans Trip to Beltsville

The Harrington Home Demonstration Club has planned a visit to the United States agricultural experiment station at Beltsville, Md., for Wed., Sept. 29, it was announced at a meeting of the club Monday afternoon in the Firehall. Mrs. Joshua Lister, president, presided. Twenty-five members were present.

In other business, the National Council meeting in Washington, D. C., Nov. 14, was discussed.

The Nominating Committee appointed the following persons: Mrs. Martin Grier, Mrs. Harry Boyer, and Mrs. Oscar Nemish. The annual reports will be here next month. Come prepared to fill in yours.

The Kent County home demonstration agent, Miss Charlotte Swanson, was with the club and gave a demonstration on foam rubber and how to use it on chairs.

The feature of the November meeting will be a demonstration on the alteration of patterns by the club's new leader, Mrs. Fletcher Price, Mrs. Eunice Brown, and Mrs. Loretta Theil.

Movirama Opens At Reese Theatre

The Reese Theatre will be closed Wed., Thu., & Fri. Sept. 15-16-17, and Saturday afternoon matinee of Sept. 18, re-opening Saturday eve, at six o'clock for a continuous show till midnight.

The big news has arrived. Engineers, technicians, utility men, and carpenters are working like mad to complete the biggest installation of new and improved theatrical equipment ever to grace any Eastern Shore theatre.

From all indications the so-called deadline will be met for the Grand Opening of Cinemascope No. 7, Movirama, RCA Hi-Fi Stereophonic 4 Track Sound, along with the Giant Madga Screen, for the presentation of 20th Century Fox's latest hit, "Broken Lance", starring Spencer Tracy, Sun, Mon., Tues., Wed., Sept. 19-20-21-22, with Sunday matinee at 2:30 p. m.

The Central Committee of the Community of Friendly Neighbors from fifteen adjoining towns, will be special guests of the Reese Theatre during this engagement.

The Board of Directors of the Kent & Sussex Fair Association, in a lively, extended meeting at the Firehouse Friday evening, voted to erect a grandstand at the fairgrounds in approximately the same location as the present one.

In a spirited session, embellished by much discussion, the directors voted on two sizes of stands. One stand would be 315 feet long and seat 3900 persons, while the other would be 367 feet long and seat 4550 persons. The present stand is 320 feet by 40 feet and seats 3750 persons.

After engineers of the Baltimore Steel Company, Larry Brockman and John Tussing, had presented blueprints of the plans and had answered questions, there was considerable discussion on the choice of stands. George Simpson, of Houston, motioned to accept the smaller size. It was seconded, but defeated, 11-10. Mr. Simpson then made a motion to accept the larger size and it was carried, 13-7.

Jacob O. Williams, of Federalsburg, president of the fair association, then appointed a finance committee with A. E. Parsons as chairman, with Theodore Harrington and Senator Jehu Camper as the other members. Mr. Williams added that the members had the authority to draft any help.

T. Brinton Holloway, general manager of the fair association, said that the sooner action could be taken in work on the new grandstand, the better. Mr. Parsons said he would get on it tomorrow (Saturday).

The new grandstand would be 15 feet farther back from the track than the present stand, or a distance of 40 feet in all. The front would all be open, facilitating the flow of traffic to the mutual windows, providing more space for concession stands and exhibitors during the Kent & Sussex Fair in July.

The stand would be constructed of wood and steel and would resemble that of Ocean Downs. The grandstand would rise, one foot in three, against one foot in four (as in case of the present stand), thus providing a better sightline for the spectators. On the roof would be a penthouse for judges, camera, timers, caller, etc. The stand would extend back into the middle of the street back of the grandstand.

Toilet facilities would be provided elsewhere, probably in the site of the Art Building which would be moved.

The steel company would provide the steel and its erection. It would recommend foundations, but would not build them. It would be up to the fair association to contract for the remainder of the building. Cost of the steel-work on the smaller grandstand was figured at $106,155, without paint, which was voted in, at $123,680.

Construction schedule called for work to begin Jan. 1 and be completed by June 1, but it was revised to include a starting date of Dec. 15. Mr. Holloway estimated it would take a month to raise the piers, jussad

The general manager also estimated that complete cost of the approved grandstand would be $359,000, but revised the figure to better than $400,000 to include razing of grandstand, moving of Art Building, building of toilets, installing lighting, and incidentals.

Installing lighting, and incidentals.

TIPS FOR IRRIGATION "BEGINNERS" IN DELAWARE

Time spent in planning before the installation of an irrigation system is time well spent—and it will save plenty of headaches later on.

Irrigation specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture emphasize the fact that the success of a venture into irrigation farming rests on two major factors:

(1) the proper design of the system to fit the particular farm and (2) the proper operation of the system in accordance with the standards of the original design.

Nitrogen Can Stretch Pastures

One way Maryland farmers can stretch short supplies of hay and silage is to stimulate pasture production this fall.

The source of stimulation is nitrogen fertilizer, according to Dr. Tom S. Ronningen of the University of Maryland agronomy department.

Dr. Ronningen doesn't recommend fertilizer for any and all pastures, however. He says the biggest returns will be from permanent bluegrass pasture or rotational orchard grass pasture where the grass cover is good and the soil has a good supply of moisture.

As to the time of application, Dr. Ronningen says, "right away."

He points out that 20 to 40 pounds of nitrogen equivalent per acre will make some good grazing for livestock this fall. With the cost of high analysis fertilizer about 18 to 20 cents a pound, that would mean a fertilizer cost of from $4 to $8 per acre. Low analysis fertilizer costs more for each pound of nitrogen applied.

How much return can be expected from this investment?

"A conservative estimate," the forage specialist says, "would be 1 1/2 to 1 1/2 ton of extra hay for each acre treated. If we estimate mixed hay at $35 per ton, the extra hay growth due to fertilization would be from $8 to $17 per acre. That's roughly double the cost of fertilizer."

While recommending nitrogen fertilization of good bluegrass or orchard grass pastures as a measure to help farmers over the present shortage of feed, Dr. Ronningen thinks it is much more important to plan long-range programs for increasing pasture production. He points out that nitrogen probably won't be needed if clover is maintained in pastures. He urges farmers to have soil tests made regularly on pastures, and add lime and fertilizers as needed.

New Tax Law Aid to Farmers

Richard S. Snyder, State Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, draws attention to a new provision of law which reduces costs to farmers for measures taken to solve soil and water conservation problems.

Under a provision in the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (Public Law 591, 83d Congress), farmers making out income tax returns this year may treat as current expenses costs they incur for carrying out certain soil and water conservation measures.

The costs must be incurred in connection with land actually used in farming. They are described in the law as "expenditures paid or incurred for the treatment or moving of earth, including (but not limited to) leveling, grading and terracing, contour furrowing, the construction, control and protection of diversion channels, drainage ditches, earthen dams, watercourses, outlets, and ponds, the eradication of brush, and the planting of windbreaks."

Not included as deductible expenditures are "the purchase, construction, installation, or improvement of structures, appliances, or facilities which are . . . subject to the allowance for depreciation."

On the other hand, assessments by a soil or water conservation or drainage district to accomplish measures which would be treated as current expenses if performed by the taxpayer himself may be listed as a current expense, according to Mr. Snyder.

In no one year can more than 25 per cent of gross income from farming be listed as a current expense for conservation costs. If actual expenditures exceed this limit in any one year, the excess may be listed in succeeding years in order of time.

Farmers who are uncertain about which expenditures for conservation can be treated as current expenses can obtain additional information from the Internal Revenue Service or the Soil Conservation Service.

Alfalfa Cutting Time Help to Crop Health

Close cutting of alfalfa can ruin the stand.

Alvin Allen, who lives below Camden, says a good top growth must be on the plants by late fall. This growth will offer protection from winter injury, and will also let the plant store up a reserve of food for the winter.

The food supply must be enough to give a high degree of cold resistance and furnish food for spring growth. A weak plant is much more likely to get diseases. If the last short growth of alfalfa is taken off the field late in the fall, Allen says the stand can be badly damaged.

In several experiments conducted in other states, the late green succulent growth was cut off from a part of a field in the early part of October. In the rest of the field the growth was allowed to stay on the plants throughout the winter. The close-cut part lost 75 per cent of the stand, and the yield next spring was very poor.

Cutting alfalfa in the early bud stage throughout the year also reduced the stand and let grass and weeds take over.

The key to producing lean hogs is to select meat-type gilts and boars with the desirable characteristics built into them.

Francis Sturgis, Newark, Md. —
"I've fed Beacon to my own birds for 6 or 7 years but I feed other feed to flocks I'm tending. It doesn't take as much feed with Beacon to grow them quicker. You can make more money with Beacon."

Elisha Hickman, Frankford, Del. —
Mr. Hickman made two tests of Beacon against a feed costing 75¢ less per bag. He says, "In both tests I made more profit on the Beacon fed flocks. I've fed. I guess, every feed on the shore at some time. I believe Beacon is best."

Chas. "Berry" Smith, Atkins & Pepper, Dagsboro, Del. —
"I wasn't always sold on Beacon. Not until I saw the feed efficiency and the kind of chickens it grew. I've put Beacon against several other feeds. Regardless of the cost of the feed I found it costs less to grow the bird on Beacon."

Mrs. Lillian Wright Preston, Md. —
"I didn't make any money until I changed to Beacon. In fact I wouldn't raise chickens if it were not for Beacon feeds and Beacon Service. The Beacon Service-man always knows the answers to trouble."

Richard Clarke, Onancock, Va. —
"It takes less feed with Beacon. Birds eat less because it's higher quality. I know I can depend on Beacon for the critical ingredients every time, without substitutions."

Gomer Bunting, Selbyville, Del. —
"We tested 14,000 birds on Beacon against 12,000 birds on a lower priced feed, in 2 rows of houses, side by side. Although the Beacon fed birds were only 10 weeks old they averaged heavier than the other lot at 11 weeks of age. We made 8/10¢ per lb. more net profit on the Beacon fed lot."

Geo. T. Beauchamp, Westover, Md. —
"We get more weight . . . on less feed . . . at lower cost . . . with Beacon. I believe Beacon is the best feed today. The experienced Beacon men give great service too."

Wallace Nichols, Denton, Md. —
"We changed to Beacon because we were not getting the weight we expected. We found we can grow for less on Beacon even tho it costs 25¢ a bag more than the feed we were using."

Elmer Cooper, Selbyville, Del. —
"We've tried other feeds but we're thru experimenting. It's expensive for a grower to experiment. We believe we can grow a better bird on Beacon feed. At today's prices only the efficient can come out on top." (47,000 bird plant)

Harry Cooper, Willards, Md. —
"I was feeding a well known feed. Naturally I compared profit with my brother Elmer. He always beat me. Then I changed to Beacon. I discovered too, I can raise a bird at lower feed cost with Beacon."

Clarence Rowe, Exmore, Va. —
"I've tried cheaper feed. It takes longer and costs more in the end. I've had more weight and growth at 10 weeks on Beacon than with any other feed I ever used. Furthermore, on Beacon I've had no feather trouble as with other feeds. Beacon service is one particular thing I like too. It's prompt. That's important with 15,000 birds."

Vic Townsend, Newark, Md. —
"I can't afford to gamble with 43,000 birds. I believe no other feed can grow as good a bird as Beacon."

Harold West, Tull Bros., Seaford, Del. —
"I originally changed to Beacon because I was having bare-back trouble. I have no feather trouble now. Beacon has the factors that eliminate common 'high energy' troubles."

B. F. Dennis, Willards, Md. —
"I was forced to use another feed. Right away the birds ate an extra bag a day in each house. It's another example of how feed which costs less to buy, usually costs more to feed. Birds don't need to eat so much Beacon because it's better feed."

Kent H-D Club Activities

Along with the coming of fall and the opening of school, Home Demonstration Clubs are getting back on fall schedules, too. During the summer, picnics and other informal meetings were the order of the day; now we are getting down to business once more!

All Kent County Home Demonstration Clubs will see a demonstration on "Using Foam Rubber in Upholstery" at either their September or October meeting. When I present this demonstration, I will show all the steps in re-upholstering a dining room chair. We will also discuss the advantages of using foam rubber and some recommendations for using it on larger pieces of furniture, too.

Other topics being presented to Kent County Home Demonstration Clubs are: pattern adjustment; sharpening knives and shears; and repairing electric cords. These topics are being presented by members of the clubs who attended leader training meetings in June.

"Destination; Beltsville, Md." will be the motto on Tuesday, Sept. 21. A bus will leave Kent County early that morning, filled with eager Home Demonstration Club members. They will spend the day at the Research Center of the United States Department of Agriculture. The agricultural research projects will be seen in the morning, and the home economics projects in the afternoon. Luncheon will be in the cafeteria. These women will return with a better knowledge of the part played by the United States Department of Agriculture in improving our agriculture and our homes. Club presidents are usually

Faculty Notes - New Member
 Mrs. Mayme Lou Percy, girls' physical education instructor, calls Texas her home. Waco is the name of the city and it is located "deep in the heart of Texas." She graduated from the high school of the same name in 1948. All of her high school days, Mrs. Percy was interested in sports. She furthered this interest by receiving a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in physical education from her hometown university, Baylor University.

Until 1952, Mrs. Pearce had spent that part of her life in Texas. At that time, a trip to the Orient was made possible by the government so that she could be with Mrs. Percy. She was in Japan from July of 1952 until April of 1954. During this time, she taught health and physical education at the American School in Japan. This was an unusual opportunity because of the inter-nation relationships. Within the school were twenty-eight nationalities. The curriculum was similar to all American schools with this exception - all children in the elementary grades were taught Japanese.

After leaving Tokyo, the Percys were assigned to Delaware. They said, "This is the first time that we have seen this part of Texas."

Visitor
 On Tuesday, Miss Nelva Edmondson of Newport Ky., visited our high school. She is the cousin of Phillip Price, a Junior.

Graduates of 1954
 Johnny Langrell and Leon Minter journeyed to Wilmington last Sunday to enter Goldy-Beacom College on September 13. They are rooming together with Mrs. Elmer Tee, a former resident of Harrington.

Eugene Porter is working for the U. S. Geological Survey, on establishing the longitude and the latitude for the Topographical maps. The maps are being made of the Delaware Valley, because it is believed to be the center of possible aerial attack in case of war.

Janet Collison, Mary Smith, Ruth Moore, and Charlotte Noble are in Nurse's Training School at Milford Memorial Hospital. They entered on August 31 in order to start classes September 1.

All you "grads", please send us news of your latest occupations.

Grade 1 - Mrs. Howard
 We have 10 girls and 20 boys in our room. Mrs. Howard has been absent. Mrs. Charles Peck has been with us while she is away.

Grade 1 - Mrs. Hopkins
 There are thirty girls and boys in our room. We are enjoying our work and play. It is hard for us to learn to be quiet and sit in our seats. Soon we will get our reading books and enjoy learning about Alice and Jerry.

Grade 1 - Mrs. Grant
 We have been busy making our names and numbers. Vicki Hill and Linda Koehler sang songs for us. Donald Wells beat the drum for the Soldiers' March. We all had fun playing circus. Pat, Cheryl, and Emilene were good elephants. Billy Dill was a fine acrobat. Mike, Ellis, Connie, and Gayle were good high stepping horses. We liked the circus song very much.

Grade 2 - Mrs. Irwin
 We have 29 children in our room. Thirteen are girls and 16 are boys. We have one new boy from Caesar Rodney School, Roger Thompson. We had a reading readiness test last week and found we had forgotten a lot, but it shouldn't take us too long to review. We are learning our new pledge of allegiance and many other interesting things.

Grade 2 - Mrs. West
 We have twenty-eight boys and girls in our second grade. There are seventeen boys and eleven girls. Most of us were glad to start back to school last week. We are finding out that we have forgotten lots of things over the summer, but we will soon catch room monitors and learning new up on them. We are selecting songs. Last week we did not buy lunch, but this week we will.

Grade 3 - Mrs. Baker
 We are glad school has started. There are 37 in our room. Ronald Melvin is sick. We hope he will get to start soon.

Grade 3 - Mrs. Wright
 The boys and girls in Mrs. Wright's Third Grade were glad to return to school. They are very happy learning many new things. Two new boys entered our class this term. We were happy to welcome Ronald Melvin from Greenwood and Stuart Seward from Magnolia. We have thirty-eight children in our class.

Grade 4 - Mrs. Quillen
 Our room has thirty-two boys and girls who are all ready for work.

Grade 4 - Mrs. Slaughter
 Mrs. Slaughter has an enrollment of 31. She has a new pupil whose name is Charles Thompson.

Grade 5 - Mrs. Donovan
 Some of our class members took interesting trips during the summer. Bramer Wolfe went to Pennsylvania and New York. Lillian Smith went to Maine during vacation. Barbara Spicer went to New York this summer.

We are sorry to report that Nelson Link stepped on a pitchfork. Connie Biddle is moving into a new trailer on the Harrington-Milford-Highway.

Grade 10 - Mr. McDonald
 The 10M Class held a business meeting and elected the following officers: President-Eugene Wright, vice-president-Phyllis Curtis; secretary-Kay Bowdle; treasurer-Gladys Welch-Student Council Rep.-Eleanor Wagner, Alt.-Ginger Minner; hall mon.-Ronald Lane

Grade 11 - Mrs. Birnbrauer
 On September 9, our class elected the homeroom officers for the coming year. They are: President-Pat Minner; vice president-Henry Nutter; secretary-Jean Brown; treasurer-Janet Smith; news reporters-Rae Smith, Phillip Price; student Council Rep.- Rae Smith; sec. Jean Brown

Grade 11W - Mr. Wolfe
 The 11W class had a meeting and elected the following officers: President-Billy Ray Collison; vice president-George Fensick; secretary-Louise Minner; treasurer-Eloise Brown; Student Council Rep.-Ronnie Moore; Alternate-Viola Vanderwende; news reporter-Betty Anthony.

The class also discussed our bake which will be held on September 25 at Taylor's Hardware.

F.F.A. Awards Made at First Assembly

W. Lyle Mowlds, state supervisor of Agricultural Education, made the following four awards at the first day high school assembly at Caesar Rodney High School on Wednesday, Sept. 8. The awards are from the National Foundation of Future Farmers of America for $100.00 each to the state winner.

1. Eugene Thomas, State Dairy Award and will be one of three boys from Delaware to play in the National F. F. A. Band at Kansas City during the National Convention in October.

2. Robert Gillespie, Soil and Water Management Award.

3. Donald Gehrman, Home Electrification Award.

4. Carlton Fifer, chapter president, represented the chapter in receiving the chapter safety award.

Mr. Mowlds also announced that Caesar Rodney had won first place in the state for having the most prize winning entries at the Kent Sussex Fair this summer.

Carlton Fifer, president of the Student Council, was chairman of the program and welcomed the new and returning students. Devotional exercises were led by Joyce Ross, secretary of the Council. The flag salute was led by Harry Voshell, treasurer of the council. Connie Hart, vice-president of the council was also on the platform.

Brief remarks were made by Toni Tieman, captain of the Safety Squad, and Barbara Downes captain of the Traffic Squad.

Dr. William B. Simpson, introduced new members of the high school staff and advised the students to maintain a high standard of citizenship both in class and out.

Speaking briefly, John C. Branner, head coach of football, challenged the student body to match the high spirit already evidenced by the football squad in practice sessions.

Added To Staff
 The Caesar Rodney Board of Education has authorized the appointment of Mrs. Mary C. Schmidt as an additional Junior High School teacher of English and Mathematics. The appointment of Mrs. Schmidt will enable the seventh and eighth grade study groups to have the advantage of being separated from the upper grades.

Mrs. Schmidt is a graduate from Penn State and has one year of teaching experience at Yardley, Pa. Her husband is an Air Force officer stationed at the Dover Base.

SPORTS

Finals Gained By Frederica

Frederica's pennant winners advanced to the Mar-Del Baseball League final playoffs by sweeping its series with Felton Sunday, 10-5.

The winners will meet Viola in the opener of the best-of-three finals Sunday. Viola gained the finals when its scheduled semifinal rival, Lewes, withdrew from the playoffs last week.

Fine relief pitching by 50-year-old Jim Postles and Bob Knight featured the victory. Postles took over in the fourth after starter Buddy Kimmel had walked in a run and had the bases loaded, threatening Frederica's six-run lead. Postles checked the rally at four runs, gave up another in the fifth and worked until he tired in the eighth. Knight finished up tidily.

Frederica drove Bill Millman from the hill with a three-run outburst in the first inning. Another three-run blast in the fourth chased Tom Wells and brought on Jack Moore, who went the rest of the way.

Marv Brown, Hal Davis and Kimmel each had three hits to pace Frederica's 15-hit attack.

Now, You can adjust Corn Picker Snapping Rolls On the GO!

It's new! It's exclusive! It's another great International Harvester development! Now, you can adjust McCormick corn picker snapping rolls on the go - from the tractor seat! Pushing or pulling a handy lever gives you eight different snapping roll spacings.

You'll want this great new feature whether you now own or intend to buy a McCormick No. 24 two-row mounted, or No. 14-P one-row pull-type, corn picker. It gives you three-way mastery of the corn harvest:

- You do better work because you adjust the rolls instantly to suit changing field and crop conditions.
- You work faster because you don't have to stop and get off the tractor to adjust the snapping rolls.
- You work safer because you can change the snapping roll adjustment from the tractor seat to avoid slugging in rank stalks or heavy trash.

Stop in for more facts the next time you're in town.

Harness Group To Feature Memorial Races

It was announced today that a series of memorial races would be run during the 30-day meet of the Kent and Sussex Racing Association at Harrington which begins Sept. 25.

T. B. Holloway stated that the J. Wirt Willis Memorial would be presented on opening night. This race will honor the memory of Mr. Willis who was Delaware's first harness racing commissioner. This race will carry a purse of $1300 with an appropriate trophy being presented to the winner of the race.

Other memorials will be scheduled during the meet for J. Morris Harrington, C. D. Murphy, B. I. Shaw, Ernest Raughley and Warren T. Moore, former officials of the raceway and the state racing association.

Dick Case, the popular racing secretary from Flemington, N. J., will have 500 horses competing for the purses offered during the 30-day meeting.

The racing association will install heating units in front of the grandstand for the convenience of the patrons.

Dale Fetrow of Carlisle, Pa., will serve as starting judge and will use his new mobile starting gate, the gate that has played a very important part in the great advancement that the sport of harness racing has made over the past few years.

Jim Langford, mutuel manager at Delaware Park, will supervise the mutuel department. Ten daily-double machines will be installed for the betting public.

The association has planned a nine-race program for each evening. The first race post will be 8:15, with the last race post at 11:03 p. m.

Many stables of horses now competing at Brandywine and Freehold have made reservations for the meet and Mr. Case anticipates that many of the shore's finest trotters and pacers will be on hand to participate in racing at Harrington.

TRAFFIC DEATH TOLL SHOWS 4400 CHILDREN KILLED IN YEAR

"A total of 4400 children under 15 years old were killed in traffic last year," Mrs. William N. Cann, Vice President for Home Safety for the Delaware Safety Council said today.

Mrs. Cann said that this terrible child death toll in itself would be reason enough for the child traffic safety program which the Council is sponsoring this month in Delaware in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

"But the number of fatalities is only part of the picture," she said. "In addition, approximately 225,000 children were injured in traffic accidents in 1953, according to the National Safety Council."

Many of these injuries, Mrs. Cann pointed out, will leave the youthful victims maimed or scarred for life.

"There is no quick, easy remedy for this deplorable situation on our streets and highways," she said.

"Instead, it will take a long range program of public education to bring about a lasting improvement. Motorists must come to realize their responsibility for the lives of unpredictable children and must exercise extra caution when driving in areas where youngsters may be walking or playing. And parents, too, must be made to understand the serious danger involved, and teach their children safety precautions.

"Many people today do not realize that traffic is the number one killer of children between the ages of one and 14."

Traffic accidents kill more children in this age group than any one of the highly-publicized childhood diseases, she said.

"Figures for 1951, the most recent year for which complete statistics are available, show that for the one to 14 age group there were 3888 deaths due to motor vehicle accidents," she said.

"This was five times as many child deaths as were caused the same year by polio, and three times as many as were caused by tuberculosis. There were 800 fewer deaths from pneumonia and 600 fewer from cancer, in all its forms than from traffic accidents in this age group."

Mrs. Cann said that if we are to improve this tragic situation we all will need to remember and act on the traffic safety slogan being featured this month in the program of the Delaware Safety Council and the National Safety Council: "WATCH OUT FOR KIDS."

DELAWARE'S 4-H MEMBERS ENGAGE IN SAFETY PROJECT

4-Hers throughout Delaware are issuing reflective materials to be used on farm equipment for visibility at night. This project is known as "The Lite a Farm Equipment" campaign and is designed to decrease highway accidents.

The material has been distributed to local 4-H leaders and is being sold by club members.

During the annual 4-H leaders camp held at Camp Barnes in August, a group of leaders discussed ways and means of promoting the Lite Farm Equipment campaign. Some of the most important ways were as follows:

Conduct educational programs at community nights and Grange and Farm Bureau meetings, news releases, radio programs, posters, and samples available for inspection.

A typical comment at the meeting was made by Daniel Harris, a local 4-H leader and farmer of New Castle County who said, "The program is a community responsibility. Each community must determine the best ways of carrying out the campaign."

This campaign has been approved and highly recommended by the Delaware Safety Council and the National Safety Council.

The cattle egret, a bird formerly found in Africa and Asia, suddenly appeared in South America in 1930 and was found in the United States in 1952, says the National Geographic Society.

'DANGEROUS MILE' BELOW 5000 FEET, SAYS LEE

(9th in A Civil Defense Series) BY D. PRESTON LEE State Director of Civil Defense

The "dangerous mile" in this country's air defense system is from ground level to 5000 feet. Radar probing eyes, which watch constantly from stations along both northern frontier and down both coasts, are far-sighted, but they cannot, with any certainty, spot low-flying craft below 5000 feet.

To serve as the lower lens in its bi-focal vision, the Air Force relies heavily on its Ground Observer Corps. It is quite possible, says airmen, that low-flying enemy craft could escape radar detection. In that event, ground observers might give the initial attack warning.

In July, 1952, ground observers in 26 states began "Operation Skywatch." This meant round-the-clock spotting for attacking planes that might move into view at any moment.

In Delaware right now, there are 18 ground observer posts with about 470 volunteers. For adequate coverage, 26 posts are needed with over 3000 volunteers.

Only seven of the 18 are staffed around the clock; the remainder operate parttime. Of the posts working 24 hours, most are staffed by military or state personnel as part of their regular jobs. For instance, tower guards at the New Castle County Workhouse also double as ground observers.

Among those posts staffed by volunteers, the two most faithfully operated are the Wilmington and Harrington units. The former is operating 75 per cent of the time, and the Harrington post is on watch 95 per cent of the time, according to Air Force officials.

Many Delaware GOC posts, once fully manned, have become almost deserted. It is easy to get volunteers, but hard to keep them. It is easy to hire a man with enthusiasm by pointing out that if he sights one enemy A-bomber he may save a million lives. But it is hard to keep him watching in two-hour shifts week in and week out, month after month.

Yet ground observers are needed not only to sound an initial warning but also for follow-up spotting. Should an enemy flight, detected by radar and intercepted by U. S. fighters, break away at low altitude, the GOC reports would be relied upon to track it.

Another function of the GOC is to report plane crashes as soon as possible, so that Air Intelligence may parachute men into scene to question enemy check enemy planes.

spotting brings no glory. It is lonely, monotonous work. Yet Delaware volunteers have done it. Some have logged 4000 hours and more at skywatching. A few make the regular two-four spotting shift a family affair. Man and wife teams are not uncommon. Housewives sometimes take their children to the post for a tour of duty.

Those interested in volunteering should contact their local observation post supervisor or write the state Civil Defense office at Newark. Once in the GOC, the volunteers are trained by and work with the Air Force.

Another phase of CD's air operations is the work of the Civil Aviation Division. In an emergency, roughly twenty planes with 150 pilots, private and commercial, would be on call, ready to carry out any mission assigned by the state CD director.

These planes operate out of 10 airports, mostly small fields, in Delaware. The unit is controlled out of the New Castle County Airport by G. Edwin Petro, airport manager, who is CD chief of civil aviation. His office will fan out the "red" alert, grounding all civil planes during an enemy attack.

Immediately afterwards, military planes will, of course, get top priority in the air. But after the airport traffic situation clears, the Civil Aviation group will be ready to function as a part of Civil Defense.

Group Meetings Prove Help To Palsied Children

By DR. MARTHA M. ELIOT Chief, Children's Bureau

Problems have a way of working out when the working out is divided among a group. Six little cerebral palsied children, their parents, and the Washington County, Md., Health Department have found that out.

Ever since 1951, this health department has been holding clinics for children with cerebral palsy. One by one, parents bring them to the clinic, expanded now with the help of the Maryland Society of Crippled Children and the local Kiwanis Club, for physical therapy and other kinds of treatment.

Two years ago, the physical therapist had a bright idea. "How about trying the new wrinkle," she proposed to some parents, "of seeing what we can do if all of you meet with your children at the same time every week? That way, she thought, perhaps they would have a chance to learn from each other, as well as from the clinic staff.

These were the parents of 6 children ranging in age from 6 to 9 years. All 6 had fair or better than average mental ability; all had severe motor disturbances. None of them could walk. Four were unable to feed themselves.

The physical therapist's idea caught on. A "treatment class" got started for the children and their mothers in January, 1953.

Class day proved to be such fun it became known as "picnic day" to the children. Ice Cream and cookies not only helped the fun along; they gave the physical therapist a chance to show mothers ways of encouraging self feeding. Bingo, lotto, and other games were played to stimulate speech, and to teach numbers and each other, too, to see how each color. The children vied with could walk through the parallel bars, lift feet, take steps. The children made such improvement that both mothers and the Health Department felt that they could benefit from a more elaborate program.

School officials were invited by the health department's physician, in charge of cerebral palsy and school health work to visit the WHEELER'S TELEVISION CENTER About this time of the year we are beginning to think about the cold weather just ahead. We are ready to help you along the line of heating, and have several models of oil burning space heaters and some with a ten year guarantee on the burner. This time of year is just cool enough to have just a little heat. Well you know Perfection has been building oil stoves for many years and when it comes to heating on a small amount of oil, they sure have got it cornered with a pilot burner. This pilot does not go out so you never have to light your stove. We install these heaters and supply you with any type tank you want. Better put that fan away now and think about keeping that air away. It is also housecleaning time for you ladies or you old bachelors and to help you along the line of cleaning we have several different kinds of cleaners. This includes the new revolving type Westinghouse just out and what a cleaner! They are so powerful that money could be sucked right out of your old man's pocket. God idea at that. Come in and see these new cleaners and I know you will say the finest cleaner I have ever seen. Yes it is wall paper time and we are right ready for your Fall business. We have now rolling several thousand rolls of patterns that are entirely new. Paper now and when you must stay in the house when the snow falls, you will be glad to sit back and enjoy it. I know most of you saw the Beauty Pageant from Atlantic City and I suppose you know Philco brought it to you. They not only brought the Pageant to you but they also showed the new TV line for 1955. Wonderful both in price and performance and for looks. Well they are out of this world. We are ready as we have a supply of 1955 models now in stock and we can serve you at once. Of course you can buy a 1955 twenty-one inch table set for as low as $159.95. Hope you can stop in and see some of the models. Now is the time to put in your order for Christmas and we sure will have it ready for you. Drop around and see how easy you can buy one. Are you paying more than $1.52 a month for gas? Well that is the minimum charge when you let us hook up your gas range on meter. No worrying about running out of gas, as we see you are kept supplied at all times. Drop around and let's talk it over and let us be your servant. We sell hot water heaters both gas or electric. So if you are in the market for one we would be mighty pleased to serve you. A good time to buy that freezer that you have wanted so long. We have them in both upright and chest type, Philco and Westinghouse. No better, here, there, or anywhere. Wheeler's Television Center Smile Smile Smile We are here today.

Over the GARDEN WALLS By Dr. Edger P. Walls Department of Horticulture University of Maryland

The wise gardener never burns leaves or other plant trash. Any plant material that is not hard and woody can be turned into soil-improving compost. Compost is equal to animal manure as a garden fertilizer. Prepare a shallow pit five or six inches deep. Put corn stalks or coarse weeds in the bottom of the pit and add all crop and weed residues as you clean up the garden this fall. Sprinkle a pint of pulverized limestone over each wheelbarrow load of trash. To speed up the decay of the organic matter it is a good idea to add a pint of 5-10-5 fertilizer to each wheelbarrow load, also. Alternate the layers of organic matter with the soil which was dug from the pit. Adding a thin layer of the soil to the compost pile gives it body. Keep the side of the pile as straight as possible. Finish with a layer of soil or sods and leave the pile slightly sunken or "dished" on top to catch rain water. It the pile is three or four feet high it will soak up and hold the water that falls on top. Rain will leach or wash out some of the plant foods if the pile is too shallow. Fork the pile over occasionally to hasten decay and to give the compost an even texture. Add the compost to the soil and sow or spade it into the soil in spring just as you would with manure.

PLUM ISLAND LABORATORY BEGINS WORK ON VIRUS DISEASES

Scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture recently began research on vesicular (blister forming) diseases of livestock at the Plum Island Animal Disease Laboratory near Long Island, New York. Facilities already on the 800-acre island allowed intensive studies of these diseases to begin almost 2 years ahead of schedule. Initial work is centered on the virus causing vesicular stomatitis, similar to foot-and-mouth disease in many ways. Research on foot-and-mouth disease itself will soon begin, also. The scientists are working toward a number of objectives, including improvement in diagnostic methods, finding out how the viruses are passed from one animal to another, development of more effective vaccines, and such fundamentals as the chemical and physical properties of the viruses.
