Jarrell-Neeman

Miss Bertha Bell Jarrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jarrell of Harrington, became the bride of James C. Neeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Neeman of Felton, Sunday afternoon in the Asbury Methodist church in Harrington. Rev. Robert E. Van Cleef officiated.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Inogene Welch of Harrington sang "O, Promise Me," and "Because."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz length gown of Chantilly lace and net over satin with yoke of illusion and long tapered sleeves. The skirt was fashioned of tiers of lace and net. Her fingertip veil of tulle was attached to a cap of sequins adorned with white roses, and she carried a white prayer book with a white orchid and satin streamers.

Mrs. Martin Jarrell of Harrington, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a waltz length gown of garnet taffeta with scoop neckline and bouffant skirt. She completed her ensemble with a headband of small white flowers, short white gloves, and a nosegay of white chrysanthemums.

Gowns of the bridesmaids were styled like the matron-of-honor's, and accented with the same accessories. Mrs. Ralph Gray of Harrington and Miss Charlotte Hitchcock of Dover wore gowns in a dusty rose shade; Miss Patricia Holloway of Harrington was in pale pink, and Miss Marilyn Jarrell, sister of the bride, was a junior bridesmaid, wearing a garnet colored gown.

Little Brenda Neeman, niece of the bridegroom was a flower girl. She wore a pale pink dress and carried a white basket filled with lavender, pink and white pom-poms.

Frank Neeman of Felton served as best man. Ushers were Robert Jarrell, Ralph Gray, William Morris, all of Harrington, and Airman 2-C Donald Jarrell of Washington, D. C. Master Gordon Jarrell, nephew of the bride was ring bearer.

A wedding reception was held at the Century Club in Harrington, immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Jarrell, mother of the bride wore a wine suit and rose beige accessories and corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Neeman, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy blue and white jersey dress with navy accessories and white roses.

The bride is a graduate of Harrington High School and the Delaware State College of Beauty Culture, Inc. in Wilmington. She is self employed at the Beauty Spot in Harrington. ## REBA ELLEN SMITH

Four Juniors from Harrington High represented the school at the American Red Cross annual Training Center, October 3 and 4, at camp Tokwogh on-the-chesapeake.

Those who attended were Billy Jackson, Ronald Moore, Norma Jean Brown, and Viola B. Vanderwende. Mrs. Mary H. Birnbrauer served as our Junior Red Cross sponsor.

Each of us were assigned to a different group. A list of the groups which each student attended in turn, were:

1. Enrolment and Junior Red Cross Organization.
2. International Activities.
3. Home Nursing and First Aid.
4. Community Services.

Only two of these groups were held each day, but there were other meetings which explained the work of the Red Cross a voluntary service rendered by the American people to their neighbors in time of distress, emergency, and disaster.

On Saturday we had several free periods and from 8:30 till 10:30 p. m., we had dancing in the Recreation Hall. Every single one who attended this camp enjoyed these two hours.

At intermission time, we had a comedian and a magician, both of whom are regular counselors from the camp. Our school was certainly favored for we had Viola Vanderwende to assist the magician in one of his tricks. That was a fortunate incident.

At 11 o'clock at night, the lights were to be out. Do you think they were?

Ronald Moore, who was elected counselor of his cabin, and Billy Jackson were cabin-mates of boys from the Bancroft School in Wilmington, Norma Jean Brown and Viola Vanderwende had a cabin with girls from Wilmington High. Friends were made very easily.

On Sunday, there were church services and the remaining two group meetings. These were in the morning. The afternoon was free, except for one period of demonstrations in swimming, life saving and handling of small craft.

In our group meetings, we learned how to promote an effective partnership between schools and the Junior Red Cross. The classroom is an important workshop where high school students not only plan and work for others in their home community but also promote understanding and friendship in the world community.

On the lighter side, we swam, danced, sang, saw movies, hunted persimmons, ate pears, roamed through the beautiful woods and made many happy friendships. How about it, Billy and Ronnie.

CITIZENS MEETING NOV. 12 TO DISCUSS NEW WATER TOWER

A citizens meeting will be held Friday night, Nov. 12, to determine if the city is to have a water tower, it was revealed Monday night at the October meeting of the City Council.

In the meanwhile, the Council will publish in this newspaper, a resolution, stating the specifications of the tower and calling for bids. The Council also thought it might be a good idea to check on similar towers in neighboring towns.

The resolution, prepared by City Attorney Howard E. Lynch, Jr., was approved by the Council after minor changes had been made.

The Council thought $60,000 would be a good figure to request for a 200,000-gallon tank with pumps. It believed that this figure could be reduced, if necessary, by the time of the citizens meeting, since bids should be in by then.

At the September meeting of the Council, Mayor Ernest Killen read a letter from the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Company giving quotations on water towers. For $29,000, the company offered to deliver and erect a 150,000-gallon welded steel tank, 85 feet above the top of the foundation. The City was to furnish the foundation which, the company estimated, would cost about $5000.

On a 200,000-gallon tank the company bid $33,500. It added it could be erected in seven months.

At its August meeting, the Council had a bid of $39,700 and $45,600 from another company for tanks, or towers, of the same capacities.

The steel companies said the foundations must be erected by others.

At Monday night's meeting, the Council favored the erection of a 200,000-gallon tower. This would be an increase in capacity of 33 1-3 per cent over the 150,000-gallon tank, and the cost, on the basis of the bids of the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Company, would be only $3000 more. The larger tank would be needed for future growth, some councilmen thought.

The height of the tower will be determined later, but it has been said that 100 feet, from foundation to the bottom of the tank, would be favorable because of the greater water pressure it would give.

Proposed location of the tower has not been noted, but there was much sentiment for the eastern portion of the town, the fastest growing part. The present pumps could be used, at their present site, it was said, though the tank was elsewhere.

Mayor Killen authorized Mrs. Townsend Masten, acting as city clerk during the vacation of Grace Wanda Quillen, to write to steel companies, who had given bids, asking them to send engineers here for consultation.

In other business of the evening, the Council voted to purchase a light standard, in front of the First National Bank, and leave in its present location as a standard for traffic signs. The standard is one of the old standards left when the Delaware Power & Light Company revamped the lighting in the business district.

The Council voted to give City Manager Norris Adams authority to move fire plugs at his discretion, to conform to the sidewalks and curbs. The move was prompted by the current work on Delaware Avenue.

The State Board of Health will not make soil tests on south U. S. 13 since only one property owner, Norris Adams, would give it permission. The Board asked to make the tests to ascertain the property of the soil for septic tanks and cesspools, after a complaint had been made about a ditch along the highway. The City, in the meanwhile, has been putting lime in the ditch.

It was called to the Council's attention that someone had been scratching on the parking meters waiting to the effect that the devices were out of order. The Mayor said there was a penalty for defacing public property.

The Captain Jonathan Caldwell Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held its first meeting of the fall in the Social Room of the Houston Community Building Saturday.

The members enjoyed a delightful luncheon, followed by a lengthy business session conducted by the Regent Mrs. W. J. Dufendach. Plans were made for the many fall and winter activities.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Dawson Warrington, of Greensboro. The program will be in charge of Miss Catherine Downing.

Saturday's program was in charge of Mrs. Hoey Farrow, who presented the informative program on "The Correct Use of the Flag."

Those attending from Harrington were Mrs. Oscar Roberts, Mrs. Ellwood Gruwell, Mrs. Florence Simmons, and Mrs. H. C. Miller.

There was a large attendance from the nearby towns.

At its August meeting, the Council had a bid of $39,700 and $45,600 from another company for tanks, or towers, of the same capacities.

The steel companies said the foundations must be erected by others.

Mrs. Guy Winebrenner, Secretary of Spiritual Life led in the devotional period assisted by Mrs. Clyde Perry and Mrs. Charles Peck, Jr. Mrs. Theodore Harrington then introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Earl Sylvester, president of Dover District W.S.C.S. who gave a most interesting account of the Fourth Assembly of the Woman's Society of Christian Service which she attended in Milwaukee, Wis., last May. The Rebekah Circle was hostess and served refreshments.

The Week of Prayer and Self Denial Oct. 24-31 will be observed by a Sacrificial Supper in the church on Tuesday evening, Oct. 26 at 7:00 o'clock. Mrs. Winebrenner announced the date and the plans made at her home the previous evening by the Program Committee. Every one is invited to attend.

New Telephone Directory Out
Distribution of new Diamond State Telephone Company directories, featuring a "new look" in directory covers, started here on Wednesday and will be completed in about a week. It was announced today by Theodore W. Collins, local manager of the Diamond State Company.

The new cover, first of the kind Delaware, is based on the theme of the importance of local and long distance telephone service to the family, Collins said.

Approximately 16,750 copies of the directory will be delivered to subscribers in this vicinity, the manager stated.

The new book contains approximately 42,900 alphabetical listings, an increase of 2670 over the last issue, he added.

Many telephone numbers have been changed in Bedford, Georgetown, Harrington, Laurel, Milton, Seaford, Selbyville and Smyrna. Collins pointed out.

On calls from Frederica to Felton, customers now dial "4", wait for a second dial tone, then dial the desired number.

On calls from Frederica to Milford, they dial "2", wait for a second dial tone, then dial the desired number.

On calls from Harrington to Felton, customers dial "9", on calls from Harrington to Greenwood, they dial "81" and, on calls from Harrington to Milford, they dial "2". In each case, they wait for a second dial tone and then dial the desired number.

On calls from Milford to Frederica, customers dial "2" and the figures of the desired number. On calls from Milford to Harrington, they dial "7" and the figures of the desired number. On calls from Milford to Milton, they dial "3" and the figures of the desired number.

Evergreen Forest Ceremonial Wednesday Night
Evergreen Forest No. 49, Tall Cedars of Lebanon will open its 1954-55 season with a Ceremonial at the Community Building in Milford Wednesday evening.

Evergreen has not held a meeting since its Harding Night in Lewes in June but has participated in the Chicken Festival parade in Georgetown and given a civic concert at Rehoboth Sun, Aug. 29. A tape recording was made of this program and broadcast over W K S B of Milford, W C E M of Cambridge and W B O C of Salisbury. The Tall Cedars national objective, muscular dystrophy, was stressed on this program and explained by Grand Tall Cedars Charles E. Saunders.

The Forest Officers, Rangers and other members visited Pennings Grove Forest No. 51 Friday night October 1 on the occasion of their Ranger drill competition Ranger units from five Forests competed with the trophy going to York Forest No. 30, of York, Pa., and second place going to Spring City Forest No. 34. The winner will keep the trophy for one year and will be host Forest for the contest next year. At its meeting in Selbyville Sept. 22, the executive committee of Evergreen Forest paid tribute to one of its faithful members, William E. Bradshaw of Dover who passed in August of this year.

At the October Ceremonial Grand Tall Cedar Charles E. Saunders will open the business meeting at 8 p. m. following a concert by the Forest Band. On this date the district representative, Harland A. LeCompte of Cambridge will be present and the Forest is expecting visitors from all nearby Forests.

Roy Seagraves of Philadelphia will present a floor show for entertainment and the stewards will serve refreshments.

Democrat Meetings At Houston, Felton
A schedule of meeting of Democratic candidates reveals a meeting here (Thurs., Oct. 7); one at Houston and Felton tonight, and a grand rally tomorrow night at Dover.

All meeting will begin at 7:30 p. m.

The local meeting will be held at the Century Club. The Houston and Felton meeting will be held in their firehalls, and the Dover rally will be at the Kent County Democratic Headquarters, Lookerman and New Streets.

Loyal Workers Plan Rummage Sale
The Loyal Workers Bible Class, of Trinity Methodist Church, met Monday night in the church.

The president, Mrs. Orrie Hobbs, conducted the business. The class plans to have a rummage sale Oct. 8-9 in Gaines Alley.

The class also plans to hold a bake in Taylor's Hardware Store Sat., Dec. 4.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Oscar Nemish conducted an interesting quiz, followed by a social hour during which Mrs. Nemish's committee served sandwiches and coffee.

Harrington School
John N. Curtis - Agriculture
Mr. Curtis graduated from Harrington High School in 1937. After completing college in 1941, he entered the Army.

He served two and a half years in the Hawaiian Islands. While in the Army he attended Officers' Training School at Fort Benning, Georgia. Then he went to Italy and joined the 34th Infantry Division. Mr. Curtis received the Purple Heart and Bronze Star decorations. He then returned to the U. S. for hospitalization.

Mrs. Mary Uhler, Mrs. Jean Waller, and Mrs. Mary Elliott, of Laurel, and Mrs. Eleanor Waller, of Seaford, were in Wilmington Tuesday.

It with deep regret that we must report this week the passing of friends and neighbors, Frank Closser of near town suffered a heart attack on the way home from Dover Friday afternoon, and passed away that evening.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters and three sons and several grandchildren. The body was taken back to his former home at Tiltonsville, O., and interment made there.

Mrs. Iva Davis Edgell, 74, passed away Sunday night. She was born in Andover, Vermont and lived there many years before coming to Delaware.

Always active and interested in community affairs, she was Red Cross Home chairman for Greenwood and vicinity during World War II, and later served as president of the Greenwood Home Demonstration Club for two terms.

She is survived by her husband, James Herbert Edgell, one son, Neil, of Seaford and two grandchildren, Neil Jr., and Sharlana. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Edgell home, with the Rev. Harry H. Conner officiating. Burial was in St. Johnstown Cemetery.

Nelson Meredith, Jr. suffered an attack of appendicitis over the weekend and was operated on Monday. His condition is reported as very good.

E. D. Brasure, Jr., a candidate for Recorder of Deeds for Sussex County, attended the luncheon in the DuPont Hotel given in honor of Vice-President Nixon. Mr. Brasure was accompanied by U.

S. Marshal Clarence Spence and Deputy U. S. Attorney L. G. Hagner. The guests had an opportunity to shake hands and chat with Mr. Nixon after the luncheon. Mr. Brasure went out to dinner with the Clarence Spences and remained with them in their home overnight enjoying their wonderful hospitality.

That long-legged bird has certainly been busy around Greenwood and vicinity this past week. Louis and Mary Esther Mills have again "heir-conditioned" their home, and this time it's a baby brother for Cindy and Carol.

He was born Sept. 29 and weighed in at eight pounds. His name is John Allen. See Grandfather Jasper for more details—he's wearing a permanent smile these days.

We hear that Mrs. Edna Porter Hayes has a new grandson too, the new baby being born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hayes Sept. 28. As yet we do not know the name.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Fox are the parents of a new baby girl, born Sunday. She was born in Nanticoke Hospital and has been Susan Kim.

Mrs. S. S. Wroten has recently returned from a few days' visit with the Rev. Edwin Thomas and his family. She reports that they are well and very busy in their work.

Over this past weekend, Mrs. Wroten's guests were her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Stewart of Allentown, Pa.

On Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fisher were pleasantly surprised by a visit from some old friends of long years' standing. They were Sara and Willard Northam from Greenbankville, Va. About nine years ago they were all together at the Army base at Ft. Knox, Ky., and it has been five years since they have seen each other, so you can imagine they had lots of fun catching up on their conversation!

The Jacob Hatfields, Mrs. Annie Hatfield, Ronald Case and Peggy Laughrey were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Burton Carter.

On Saturday evening, the Hatfields were guests of the Arthur Laughreys and enjoyed watching television.

The Greenwood Home Demonstration Club will meet with Mrs. Lester Workman Tuesday, at 8 o'clock.

The Sunshine Bible Class will meet Oct. 13 in the Educational Bldg.

Mrs. Laura Clifton and Mrs. S. S. Wroten were Monday afternoon callers on Mrs. Annie Hatfield. On arriving back home, Mrs. Wroten found visitors awaiting her, none other than the Rev. E. C. Graham and his wife who were making calls on old friends in Greenwood, while en route to Rehoboth, and were dinner guests of Mrs. Mary Paskey of Bethel. They expect to spend a week in Rehoboth. Rev. Graham is to be the speaker at the homecoming service of Hebron Church near Georgetown Sunday.

Mrs. May Granett and her grandson, Charles Kern, of Philadelphia, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Souder of Washington, D. C., arrived at the Diamond State Game Farm Sunday to help Mrs. E. D. Brasure, Jr., celebrate her birthday.

Mrs. Luther Lyons is recovering from an operation in the Milford Memorial Hospital and expects to be home in a few days. We hear that she had had plenty

Color Conveys Cleanliness
Fastidiousness and cleanliness in a store is often conveyed to the public by its color scheme. One baker does it by painting his establishment all white. Another pastry shop has a blue front and a large white area above the show window. A smaller air has been given to a drug store by painting the front of the store, as well as the door and trim, in white. The firm's name is lettered in magenta.

Ladder Success
It's possible to paint a small house entirely from ladders, out it is much easier to work from a plank suspended between two ladders. The foot of a straight ladder should be one quarter as far from the wall as the ladder is high. If the ladder rests on a cement walk, use ladder shoes.

Don't Keep The Home Fires Burning

Fire-fighting generally is considered a man's job. But when fire breaks out in the home, it's likely to be the housewife who needs to know what to do in a hurry. How urgently she needs this information is shown by the yearly toll of deaths and injuries to women and children from home fires.

If you are celebrating Fire Prevention Week (October 3-9) by arranging first-aid measures against fire in your home, here are suggestions from the Delaware Safety Council which is cooperating with the National Fire Prevention Association in this matter.

Most important to know is that different types of fires need different treatments. For example, water will put out ordinary wood, paper or rubbish fires, but may be dangerous in other fires. Water can spread and scatter burning grease or gasoline, and it can cause shock if applied to burning electric equipment. Your local fire department can advise on the selection of fire extinguishers for your home but here are some points about their use:

For class A fires—that is, burning paper, cloth, wood or household rubbish. Wet down to remove heat. A 5-gallon pump tank kept filled with water and in a convenient place is good for quenching such fires. Also recommended is a soda acid extinguisher.

For class B fires—burning oil, grease, paint or gasoline. The foam extinguishers are excellent for this type of fire. If grease gets on fire during cooking, it may be smothered by putting a tight lid on the pan or by scattering on baking soda. Baking soda absorbs grease and gives off carbon dioxide to suffocate the fire. Keeping a package by the kitchen range is a safety precaution.

For class C fires—electrical equipment. These call for smothering with some substance that does not conduct electricity. The carbon dioxide extinguishers and the dry chemical extinguishers both are excellent for this type of fire.

With winter just ahead, specialists remind housewives that soda acid and foam extinguishers must be kept where the contents will not freeze.

Quality Marks Vital In Clothing

Are you in the know when it comes to selecting a winter coat or suit? Do you know the marks of quality in coats and suits? Miss Ruth Pearce, extension clothing specialist at the University of Delaware, suggests that a well-made garment may keep its good appearance and shape after long wear and many cleanings. A poor-made garment may lose its shape in one cleaning and be unsatisfactory.

Decide on a price limit before you go shopping. This will help you from overspending and will narrow your choices so that you can concentrate on getting the most for your money. It is also well to have your mind made up about the general style and color you want. But be prepared to adjust your wants to the stock available or you may never find anything that satisfies.

When judging quality of workmanship, one of the best aids is to know something about the grade of workmanship, Workmanship of women's suits and coats is graded from one to six, depending on the care and skill with which the various steps are carried out. One is the lowest grade, six the highest with the other four grades ranging between. The best grade suits and coats are made from fine materials, that press and tailor and press well. The garment is assembled and stitched with perfectly matched thread by skilled craftsman. The shape is sewed into the coat or suit and you are assured the same fit as long as the garment lasts, Miss Pearce points out.

Low-grade suits and coats which are made of materials that do not tailor well or keep a press are sewed by unskilled workers at high speed with little attention to accuracy.

For marks of quality first look at the outside. A good one is neatly pressed, smoothly shaped and evenly stitched with perfectly matched thread.

Examine pocket corners, ends of buttonholes, and other places of wear and strain. Buttonholes should be cut the grain of the goods. Worked buttonholes may be made by hand or machine.

Linings and the way they are usually good signs of the hidden values within a coat or suit. Carefully examine the interlining also.

Complete information on this subject is given in a USDA Bulletin, "Buying Women's Coats and Suits." You can get this bulletin by writing to the Mailing Room, Agriculture Hall, Newark, Del.

"Blind Man's" Bluff

You know how Handy Turner down at the hardware store goes in for weird advertising stunts. Well, when it came to plugging his new Venetian blind department, his enthusiasm nearly landed him in trouble. Handy painted a warning on the tailboard of his truck: "Caution—blind man driving." "Had driven about a mile," Handy says, "when a state trooper stopped me and told me that sign might cause trouble. Guess he was right. From now on I'll advertise in the Clarion."

From where I sit, I agree—the highway is no place for jokes. We all ought to be considerate of the other fellow when we're driving. In fact, let's respect our neighbor's right of way always. Then, when we have differences of opinion—say about the best route to Centerville, or whether beer or buttermilk is better with lunch—there will be less chance of anybody developing any "blind" spots.

C. H. BURGESS & W. C. BURGESS PUBLISHERS

Because, Because, Because

When the Supreme Court of the United States handed down its decision that segregation in public education is unconstitutional...

The opinion handed down on May 17 of this year stated: "Because, these are class actions, because of the wide applicability of this decision, and because of local conditions..."

If some of our own Delaware school officials had remembered the warning of those three "because's", there would not be the serious situation which exists in the Milford schools today...

When we read that eleven Negro pupils had been enrolled at Milford, we were amazed that such a step had been taken by the school authorities.

For they know, as we all know, in the South, that the quick enforcement of non-segregation is dynamite. It can come only gradually if the best for both the negroes and the whites is considered.

The Sussex Countian (Georgetown)

TOWNS HAVE UNSUNG HEROES

In many smaller cities and towns much of the governing work is done by councils and boards who serve with little or no pay.

Sometimes these officials misuse their power intentionally or unintentionally. However, for every instance of misuse there are countless others where the members serve honorably and wisely.

It is true the decisions the most honorable must make in their official capacity do not always satisfy or please a portion of the town's citizens...

Usually these persons who are most critical because a governing board fails to provide one or another improvement are the same persons who squawk at the loudest if their tax levy is increased by as little as one mill.

This is particularly true in the case of the truly small town where it is most often found that the hard work and true service of its officials have kept the town and school active.

Heirs Can Benefit Under New Social Security Changes

By MYRON MILBOUER (Manager of the Wilmington Social Security Office)

The new social security law has a special provision for the survivors of the deceased workers who were not eligible to collect benefits before because the worker wasn't considered insured under the old law.

For a woman not yet thirty, life had dealt some serious blows to this young widow. One rainy night in 1948, her husband was on the way to the hospital where the young woman had just given birth to twins.

A few months after the tragedy, the young widow paid her first visit to the social security office. She held her husband's social security card in her hand while she was telling me her story.

Not long after the beginning of September, when she came into the office, she was surprised that I remembered her and the twins, who were by this time in their first year of school.

Now the savings had been depleted and the money from the widow's parents had stopped because of the illness of her father. The widow and her children had come once more to ask about social security benefits on her husband's record.

For this young widow and for thousands like her who lost husbands or fathers before September 1950, the 1954 amendments will make a big difference. Her husband is considered fully insured under the new law because he had about a year and a half work under social security.

She has applied for survivors benefits for herself and the children. And she will be getting them from September of 1954 until her twins are 18, unless she marries again.

If you are the survivor of a worker who died before September 1, 1950, and if you weren't eligible for social security benefits before, you may be now. Maybe you didn't apply before or waited too long to apply for the benefits to which you were entitled.

I urge you to apply for the benefits now if you think you are eligible. And you are if you are the surviving aged widow, widowed mother and minor child, or parent of any worker who died after December 31, 1939, and before September 1, 1950, and who had at least a year and a half of work under social security.

I'll be receiving thousands of questions about social security because of the 1954 amendments to the Social Security Act, signed this summer by President Eisenhower.

In this series of articles on the old-age and survivors insurance program, I shall describe the recent changes in the social security law as they will directly affect each and every one of us.

When Congress proposed and enacted the new amendments, it did so with its main view toward bringing social security insurance benefits more realistically into line with current earning levels and living costs.

To accomplish this end, the changes in the law had to have two objectives. First, social security protection had to be extended to more types of jobs so that a larger number of people could participate and through their contributions qualify for social security benefits.

The second objective was that of giving increased benefits to those already receiving old-age and survivors insurance payments as well as to those who will be getting them in the future.

In addition to logs and poles and piling, the forest region of the West Coast furnishes much of the greenery used by florists of the nation, buried used by furniture and fine cabinet makers, cascara bark much in demand by druggists, honey, digitaria, a very important heart stimulant, wild blackberries and huckleberries, and of course, Christmas trees and greens.

This may be a good place to point out that old-age and survivors benefits are payable only to persons who have worked for a specified length of time in employment or self-employment covered by social security and to qualified dependents of such workers.

In this article I have sketched the full scope of the social security law as a huge picture. The next one will be devoted to just one phase of the new amendments to the law.

VETERANS ADMINISTRATION QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—It is possible to obtain additional Korean GI training allowances because I am supporting my parents? Or are the extra amounts limited only to married veterans?

A—It would be possible to obtain the higher rate of GI allowance if you are supporting your parents, and are single. They will have to fill out a VA form, "Statement of Dependency," which may be obtained at any VA office.

Q—I want to study law under the Korean GI Bill. Would I be allowed to take a bar review course after I complete my college work?

A—Yes. On your application form, list "Lawyer" as your objective. And put down both "Bachelor of Laws degree" and "Bar Review Course" as your training program leading to the objective.

Q—A friend of mine is a totally and permanently disabled World War I veteran who is receiving an extra pension allowance because he needs regular aid and attendance of another person. He has just been admitted to a VA hospital. Will his extra allowance continue while he is hospitalized?

A—No. The higher pension rate for regular aid and attendance does not apply when the veteran is hospitalized by VA.

Q—Is it possible to get a loan on a GI term insurance policy? A—No. A GI term insurance policy has no loan value. A GI permanent plan, on the other hand, does have loan value after it has been in effect for one year.

Letter to the Editor

Last year in Delaware, there were 2834 fire alarms, as compared to 135,700 alarms in the whole U. S. A. The fire loss in Delaware last year was $1,050,783, as compared to $1,160,000,000 nationally.

But these fires are far too many most of which could be prevented with a little effort. Here are some simple rules which, if followed, can prevent 90 per cent of the present fire loss:

Don't smoke in restricted areas. When you do smoke, take care where you toss the match and the butt.

Trash and oily rags are deadly fire hazards. Clear trash away. Put oily rags in metal containers. Keep fire doors closed. If sprinkler system is used, leave plenty of space between them and piled stock.

Fire-proof buildings just don't exist. They are only fire resistant. Stock, furniture, clothing, and all flammable liquids burn just as quickly in a fire-resistant building as in a wooden shack.

If a fire broke out right now, what would you do? Everyone would say, "Call the fire company." Would you know what number to call, or whom to call?

This is something everyone should know—the phone number of one of the most dependable civic organizations of any community—your own volunteer fire company. They are always ready at any time, day or night, regardless of weather conditions, to help anyone, anywhere, regardless of race, color, or creed.

Remember the phone number of the Harrington Volunteer Fire Company—432 or 511. It could save lives and property by saving valuable seconds in notifying your fire company in time of need.

FARM NEWS - REVIEW - FORECAST

Best Temperature For Crop Storage Set At 32-38

Fall crops can be stored through part of the winter, or even through the entire winter, if a few easy conditions are met.

The crops that should be stored are carrots, beets, turnips, rutabagas, sweet potatoes, pumpkins, acorn squash, onions and white potatoes.

Two essentials of good storage are proper temperature and humidity. Basements meet the conditions for pumpkins, acorn squash and sweet potatoes. For practically all other vegetable crops the storage temperature should be just above freezing. The temperature range between 32 and 38 degrees Fahrenheit is best.

For basement storage, a room as far away from the furnace as possible should be partitioned off with insulating wall board. The room should have a tight-fitting door and a slatted floor laid on top of the basement floor. A wooden flue should extend from this false (slatted) floor to a window opening to the outside. The window should be screened and left open.

Most root crops can be stored in this type of insulated basement room. Carrots, beets, turnips, and rutabagas should be stored in boxes of damp sand. White potatoes keep best in boxes or baskets at floor level. Onions, which require a drier atmosphere, can be hung in slatted crates from the ceiling.

Keep the storage room dark, clean and sanitary at all times. If you prefer outdoor pit storage simply dig a shallow hole, and line it with straw or leaves. Pile the root crops in a cone shaped mound, cover them with a foot of straw and then top off the pile with two or three inches of soil. Several small mounds or kilns are better than one big one. Store only the vegetables that are free from disease and injury. Never wash vegetables before storing them.

Chickens And Cows Provide Most Of Farm Cash

A recently completed breakdown of 1953 Maryland farm income shows that the State's poultry and dairy industries retained their standing as the most important sources of cash receipts.

Figures compiled by the Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service reveal income from poultry and poultry products amounted to almost $79 million in 1953, or roughly 30 per cent of the total farm cash receipts of $265,709,000. This total was about $3 million above 1952.

Cash receipts from dairy products—milk, cream, butter and cheese—came to $68 million. This does not include the value of veal calves and cull cows sold for meat.

According to these figures, it appears that poultry ranks highest. But Earl L. Park, agricultural statistician, says that if "we actually trace through income to dairy enterprise I believe we would have room for debate.

"Dairy products amounted to $68 million, but at the same time receipts from the sale of cattle and calves came to $18 million and in this State between one-half and three-fourths of the sales of such animals come from dairy stock. If this income is added to that from dairy products, dairying could very well rank as high as poultry."

Income from all livestock and livestock products (including poultry) amounted to $182 million last year.

Sales of crops amounted to $84 million. The value of crops was actually $117 million, but part of the crops were fed and not sold direct. Tobacco was the most important crop from the standpoint of cash receipts, with sales amounting to $20 million. The value of the corn crop was $30, but only about one-third of the corn crop was sold for cash.

Other important cash crops were vegetables, wheat, soybeans, fruit and hay each of which brought in more than a million dollars in 1953.

As might be expected, broilers were the most important single commodity. Broiler sales amounted to nearly $51 million.

Bulletin Explains Pasture Care

A new bulletin on pasture renovation has been released by the University of Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station.

Authors of Bulletin 449, "Pasture Renovation," are Drs. A. W. Burger, T. S. Ronning and A. O. Kuhn. All were members of the information that is given in the bulletin. Dr. Burger is now in the University of Illinois agronomy department.

The authors point out that although pasture renovation has been variously defined, in Maryland and in many states of the Northeastern United States, the term refers to the improvement of grazing land by the breaking up and subduing of old permanent pasture sods, followed by the introduction of productive tall growing grasses and legumes under a good liming, fertility, and management program.

Bulletin 449 reports on renovation studies which were conducted to compare various grass-legume associations and disking versus shallow plowing for seedbed preparation, as well as fall versus spring as possible times for establishment of the various mixtures.

Renovation studies, starting in 1947, were made on seven sites that involved two soil types of sod. Five of the sites were on the Plant Research Farm near College Park, and two were on the Animal Husbandry Farm near Ellicott City.

The studies showed that fall was superior to spring as the time for establishment of the various mixtures used. Mixtures seeded in the fall produced more dry matter than those seeded in the spring.

Two other important points revealed in the studies were:

(1) Disking and plowing were equally satisfactory as methods of breaking the sod in preparation for the establishment of the various mixtures in the fall.

(2) Plowing was superior to disking for breaking the sod in the spring as preparation for the establishment of the various mixtures.

Of the 15 different mixtures compared in the study of orchard grass in combination with ladino clover, red clover and alfalfa—and tall fescue in combination with these same legumes—produced the most dry matter per acre for the harvest years 1949-52 inclusive.

Lowest dry matter yield were obtained from mixtures containing smooth brome grass, birdsfoot trefoil, lespedeza and timothy.

Bulletin 449 will be mailed free of charge to all residents of the State who request it. Requests should be addressed to the Bulletin Room, Symons Hall, University of Maryland, College Park, Md.

Big Job

In Mandan, N. Dak., a local radio announcer offered, personally, to do the laundry of any listener who could identify the author of the phrase, "So much to do with so little time," gulped when the correct answer (African pioneer, Cecil Rhodes) came from a woman who turned out to be laundress for 300 inmates at the Mandan State Training School.

Benson Acts Benson Moves To Offset Drought

In a news release dated Sept. 15, Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra T. Benson, announced three-fold action to help offset the affects of a still spreading drought. Briefly summarized these actions are:

1. Continuation of the "total acreage allotment" provision for 1955.

2. An increase in the rate of assistance available to eligible farmers and ranchers in designated drought counties, and

3. A recommendation that Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, Tennessee, and South Carolina be designated as Drought Disaster Areas in addition to the eight states already so designated by the President.

Since Delaware is not in the designated drought disaster area, only the first item—Provision for 1955—directly affects our farmers. As long as farmers comply with their individual crop allotments (wheat and probably corn in Delaware) they will, in general, be free to plant the rest of their land as they wish without loss of price support eligibility.

It must be emphasized that farmers must comply with all individual crop allotments in order to be eligible for price support loans or purchase agreements or to be eligible for Agricultural Conservation Program assistance. Smaller wheat plantings—not more than 15 acres—are excepted from this cross-compliance provision. Producers who exceed their wheat allotment but do not plant more than 15 acres will not be eligible for wheat price support, but they will not lose their eligibility for support on other crops for which they have observed allotments. However, compliance with all crop allotments (including smaller wheat allotments) is a condition of eligibility for Agricultural Conservation Program assistance.

A special provision also applies with respect to commercial vegetables. To be eligible for price support on any commodity, the 1955 harvested acreage of vegetables, potatoes, and sweet potatoes (for fresh market or processing) and dry edible beans must not exceed the average acreage of these crops planted for harvest on the farm in 1952 and 1953.

The practical effect of this change in the program for 1955 is that it will permit many Delaware farmers to plant feed grains for harvest next year and thus replace some of the feed supplies lost as a result of the summer drought. Farmers will in many instances be able to "round out" the remaining acreage in fields by planting small areas diverted from wheat in barley, rye, or oats to be harvested for needed forage or grain. This will enable them to make customary seedings of grass and clover without disturbing long time established rotation systems.

Farmer: "Sure a nice cow... ain't she?"
City Cousin: "Yeah. But, gosh, doesn't it cost a lot to keep her in chewin' gum?"

Two Jobs at Once

Now they have concocted a paint-plaster wall-finish combination that lets you paint and plaster in one operation. One coat is said to hide small plaster cracks, fine seams, nail holes, uneven surfaces, and other similar defects. Easy to apply with brush or roller, the finish dries hard and may be washed or even scrubbed repeatedly. It comes in a variety of colors and can be textured with a brush, sponge, or paper.

U. of D. Anticipates 4,000 Students

Student enrollment at the University of Delaware may double by 1970, reaching a total of about 4000 undergraduates, Dr. John A. Perkins, university president, predicted today.

To handle this "inevitable influx," the university "must begin constructing new dormitories and classrooms next year," Dr. Perkins warned, adding that a minimum of 200 more faculty members eventually will be needed, plus a more attractive pay scale to secure them.

His statement appeared in the university's 1954 football program distributed today at the Delaware-West Chester game. Entitled "Today's Score and More," the article was designed to put university supporters abreast of the "score" at the institution.

Throughout the season, the 56-page program, largest ever printed by the university, will present a series of articles on pressing educational matters. This novel method of putting the university's case before Delaware's citizens is expected to reach over 25,000 fans during the five home contests.

Copies of the program, it was pointed out, are retained as souvenirs after games and receive a wide secondary circulation.

Dr. Perkins' article will be carried throughout the season as will a special feature on the teacher shortage by William O. Penrose, dean of the school of education. Weekly articles will be by various deans at the university who will discuss educational topics of prime interest to Delawareans.

In his article appearing today Dr. Perkins pointed to the tremendous upswing in the birth rate during and since World War II and he said, "The first big baby crop, those children born in 1940, will enter college in the autumn of 1958." Funds appropriated in 1955 for new buildings, he pointed out, will not produce finished structures until 1958. Hence, he said, it is imperative that we start next year on construction of these facilities.

By 1970, he maintained, the university will receive the full impact of the "burst rate" in the steadily rising birth rate since 1940. Added to that will be the ever expanding group of young people from families who have moved to Delaware since 1940.

Dr. Perkins pointed out that the state's population has increased by almost 30 per cent since that date. Furthermore, a greater percentage of Delaware high school graduates are going to college and a larger proportion are going to their state university. Ever since 1951, despite the departure of G. I. students, the university enrollment has climbed steadily, he declared.

By 1970, he predicted, the university's "present physical facilities—classrooms, laboratories, shops and lecture halls—will need to be doubled. If only half of the new students live on campus, the university will need dormitory and dining space for an additional 1000 students."

Furthermore, "more money for adequate salaries" both for new teachers and replacements will be needed. The problem of hiring a "minimum of 200 faculty members, not to speak of replacements caused by retirements, will be desperately difficult," Dr. Perkins said. "Our salaries must be such as to hold the strongest members of our present teaching staff and attract newcomers of the best quality."

The situation is complicated because many good teachers today have been drawn into better paying jobs in the professions and industry. When universities start bidding against each other for qualified.

He emphasized that "teachers are more important than buildings" and that any university which cannot pay its staff well may be handing over its students to "instructors who are neither adequately trained nor personally qualified."

SAVORY FISH AND RICE CASSEROLE

- 1 1/2 pounds frozen fish filets
1/2 cup minced onions
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup uncooked rice
1 1/2 cups water
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon marjoram
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 1/4 cups milk
salt and pepper

Thaw fish and separate filets. Cook onions in 2 tablespoons of the butter until soft. Add rice, water, salt, pepper, marjoram, and parsley. Bring to a rapid boil. Lower heat to simmer; cover. Cook about 14 minutes, without removing lid, until rice is tender. Spread in buttered 10 x 6 x 2-inch baking pan. Arrange fish filets over rice.

Scald milk in the same pan in which rice was cooked. Pour over fish and rice. Dot with remaining butter and sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Bake in slow oven (325°) until milk is almost all absorbed and fish flakes easily. Yield: 6 servings.

KENT HOME DOINGS

Many homemakers have been freezing cooked food for several years. They realize the advantage of taking a whole meal from the freezer, heating, and serving—a lifesaver for the day mother goes to her Home Demonstration Club!

I am sometimes asked if there is any really new information available on freezing cooked food and now the answer is yes! The Human Nutrition Research Branch of the United States Department of Agriculture has just published a new bulletin: Freezing Combination Main Dishes.

Here are a few of the suggestions which are given for preparing the food to be frozen: Do not overcook; such foods as vegetables and macaroni are likely to be too soft when reheated if they are well-done before freezing. Crumb or cheese toppings are best added when the food is reheated for serving. Pastry crusts frozen unbaked are more tender and flaky and have a fresher flavor than those baked and then frozen.

In addition to information about packaging and reheating frozen main dishes the booklet contains many recipes developed specifically for freezing. To make this even more practical, the recipes are in quantities to make 16 to 25 servings. That means that you can prepare the full recipe and then divide it into portions for family meals or for individual servings. Or you can serve a part of it to your family immediately and freeze the rest for future use. Some of the recipes are: Chicken a la King; Turkey-Macaroni Casserole; Lamb or Beef Pie; Cheese Meat Loaf; Baked Beans and many others.

You may have heard about this bulletin from your friends who took the tour to Beltsville, they received a copy at the Human Nutrition and Home Economics Branch there. If you would like a copy, I'll be glad to send it to you.

Young Cow's Future Predictable

Dairy scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture get reliable indications of how much milk a young cow will give at maturity by multiplying her early production by certain "age conversion factors."

Such an estimate of a young cow's potential production could be a tremendous help to the individual farmer in deciding whether she is worth keeping as a milk cow, says Delmar J. Young, extension dairy specialist at the University of Delaware. It can also furnish a means of making an early analysis of her sire's desirability as a breeding animal.

The new conversion factors cut to a minimum the possible margin of error in estimating a cow's nature production," Mr. Young states.

The revised factors are based on a study of the 305-day lactation records of nearly 600,000 cows of all ages milked twice a day, reported from 1945 through 1952.

The "conversion factors" used by USDA in estimating a cow's capacity vary slightly with the age of the cow and with different breeds, but they are simple enough so that anyone can use them. Farmers can obtain tables giving the conversion factors from the Dairy Husbandry Research Branch, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, 25, D. C.

Babies Better Protected

Babies under six months of age may not be wholly immune, but they are better protected against polio than older children because they have as many antibodies in their blood as their mothers, and because they are seldom exposed to the virus.

TO INSURE WATER FACILITIES LOANS
A new type credit for financing soil conservation measures will be available to farmers through a recent amendment to the Water Facilities Act. In addition, loans to develop irrigation systems and farmstead water supplies, previously limited to 17 western states, are extended to the rest of the nation.

The loan services will be available from the Farmers Home Administration, an agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Applications must be made to county offices of F.H.A. Fred Rickards of Dover is supervisor of the Delaware Farmers Home Administration.

An outstanding feature of the law is provision for insuring loans made by private lenders. Where insured loans from private sources will be four per cent a year on the unpaid principal, plus as annual loan insurance of one per cent. Direct loan interest will be five per cent.

Loans can be used, under the amendment, to pay costs of materials, equipment and services directly related to the application or establishment of soil and water conservation practices, water facilities or drainage. This may include such things as construction or repair of terraces, dikes and ponds, pasture improvement, basic application of lime and fertilizers, and tree planting. Water facilities that can be financed with these loans include tanks, cisterns, wells pumping and irrigation equipment and similar facilities.

Eligibility for loans under this new legislation will be passed upon the local three member county committee of the F.H.A. Loans will be made only for the types of soil and water conservation practices recommended by the Extension Service. Soil Conservation Service and other agricultural agencies. No loans can be made for annually recurring costs that generally are considered as farm operating costs.

Traveling Advice
Use a snap clothes pin to hang your hat in the car when taking a trip. Just snap your hat to the rope stretched across the back of the front seat. Snap road maps there, too. Handy for those riding in the back seat.

Molasses Cake
Molasses cake should be cooked in thick loaves as it bakes easily and may scorch if laid out too thin. Tins should be lined with greased paper for such cakes.

Group Studies Baby-Sitting

By DR. MARTHA M. ELIOT
Chief, Children's Bureau

"What should I do if a stranger comes to the door?" asked a fragile looking blonde.

"Not hot should a kid be before you call a doctor, if you can't get his parents, I mean?" queried that 5 foot 11-inch center of Grants Pass, Oregon, Junir High School basketball team.

The questions came from an intent group of youngsters. They were all somewhere between 12 and 17 years of age. And they were all baby-sitters—or would be baby-sitters. They were all also anxious enough to want to do a good job to attend, of their own volition, an out-of-school hours baby-sitting safety course.

The course is sponsored by the Grants Pass Parent Teacher Association. The youngsters themselves helped form the curriculum, since they chose what subjects they most wanted discussed. One of the unique things about this neighborhood project—aside from the fact that it exists at all—is who the instructors are. They're volunteers. And they're professional people from the community.

A police officer from the station house down the street is one of the instructors, ready with a practical answer for the worried blonde as well as with other realistic advice and suggestions on other phases of protection that it might be wise for the young temporary guardian of a household, and of its precious occupants to know.

On another afternoon the city recreation director explains how to read and tell stories to small children, including the type of stories most apt to appeal to different age groups. He also passes on a valuable repertoire of suitable games and entertaining devices geared for the occasion.

A pediatrician answers other questions that puzzle the teenagers, mostly questions on how to meet emergencies that they feel they might not know how to handle adequately. There are searching questions on such small emergencies, too, as how to handle tantrums and stalling about getting to bed.

A nurse leads a session that certainly should prepare the students to be super-sitters: the low down on how to give an infant a safe and proper bath and how to change a diaper with such knowledge that neither baby nor baby-tender panics—nor gets stuck with a pin.

The course is such a popular one—60 boys and girls completed it this first year—that there is a suspicion it fills a need on the part of these young people that is even greater than proficiency at their chosen part-time job of baby-sitting. It may well fit in quite neatly and be of great use in very personal patterns apt to take shape in a not too distant future.

Other groups around the country have found other ways to improve the quality of baby-sitting, some even forming baby-sitting exchanges where an attempt is made to check the health as well as the reliability of the sitters—though ultimately it is the employing parent whose responsibility it is to judge the competence of a sitter even though they cannot judge whether or not the sitter has tuberculosis. This business of checking the health of any one who is frequently in close contact with babies or young children is a most important one and baby-sitters are no exception.

Still, the youthful babysitter of today will be the parent of tomorrow almost before we know it. It's nice to know that many will do a better job at both because they and the community care.

We're out to break a record in October!

The luxurious ROADMASTER Riviera, custom built by Buick, sells for the lowest price-per-pound in the fine-car field.

THERE'S a mighty good chance that October 1954 will be the biggest October in Buick history.

In fact, we know it will—if we can keep Buick sales rolling as they've been rolling thus far this year.

This is the car that has romped ahead of competition—climbed up into the circle of America's three top sales leaders.

It's the car that has been winning customers because it has the power, the ride, the room, and the styling that make it the buy of the year.

So we're in the mood to talk turkey, if you are in the market. Come in today for a car—and a deal—too good to miss.

THIS IS THE 3-WAY BONUS WE OFFER IN BUICK TODAY

1. Tomorrow's Styling
True year-ahead beauty with long, low glamor lines, keyed by that spectacular new panoramic windshield that most other cars won't have till 1955 or later.
2. Higher Resale Value In the years to come
From the far-in-advance styling that will keep your Buick new and modern-looking well into the future, as other cars catch up.
3. Bigger Allowance from our volume business
For the huge sales success that has moved Buick into the circle of the "Big 3" means we can offer you a higher trade-in on your present car. Come in and see for yourself that we can make you a better deal.

Now's the time to make your buy because —
