Sharks Qualify As Game Fish

MACKEREL SHARK

The term mackerel shark is used to designate a group of sharks, any one of which might appropriately be called a mackerel shark.

Many of these sharks are considered as game fishes. These include the man-eater or white shark, the mako and the porbeagle shark.

The shark here pictured belongs to the genus Isurus in which the teeth are narrow triangles without cusps at the base.

The man-eater or white shark has huge, broad triangular teeth with saw edges. It ranges from Nova Scotia and from Spain to the Cape of Good Hope.

The pointed heads of these sharks adds to their appearance of being vicious. For the most part these sharks feed on schools of smaller fishes such as mackerel and herring which they capture near the surface of the sea.

The flesh of these sharks has a small value as food but few who seek them do so for any other reason than the sport of catching them.

There are authentic records of man-eater sharks attacking men but this is probably less common than might be assumed and is not likely unless the man is wounded and bleeding.

The National Wildlife Federation encourages interest in these sharks as it does in all interesting forms of wildlife.

Civil Defense Urges All to Study What to Do If Enemy Drops A-Bomb

12th In A Civil Defense Series
By D. PRESTON LEE
State Director of Civil Defense
(Home Preparations, Warden Division, Women Participation)

If and when the real thing comes, when the sirens scream and you realize it's no practice drill, what are you and your family going to do?
It will be too late for thinking. If you have no plans, if your children have nothing to do, nowhere to turn, the natural result, the only logical result will be panic. Multiply your panic by the homes in your neighborhood, your city, your state and you can begin to see that mass panic is a chain reaction far more dangerous than any fission bomb.
On what you and your family do in that terror-filled moment of attack and immediately afterwards may depend not only your lives but defeat or victory for your country. For if we can get through the initial shock of the attack and its immediate aftermath, we have nothing to fear, not even fear itself.

To meet that test with courage, we must do our thinking now. Indeed, it might be wise for every family to hold a little CD conference and talk over just what the members would do in a real emergency. Perhaps, silly though it may sound, it would be wise to hold a few practice drills in the home.

Certainly the head of every family should take a few precautions, among them: either build a shelter or select the safest area in the home and make sure the children know about it; put away a three-day emergency supply of food and water; get a CD emergency first-aid kit and learn to use it.

Also, someone in the family should take a first aid course or study the CD booklet, "Emergency Action to Save Lives." Housewives should practice fireproof housekeeping, learn how to prevent small fires from becoming big ones. Help on this can be gotten from the pamphlet, "Fire-fighting for Householders." Lastly, every family should know the simple precautions necessary against germ warfare. These are outlined in the booklet, "What You Should Know About Biological Warfare." If you cannot obtain these pamphlets from your local CD office, write the Delaware State Civil Defense Office, Delaware Avenue and Academy Streets, Newark, Delaware.

A good man to get to know in your neighborhood is your air-raid warden. He is a level-headed fellow, who can tell you what to expect in an emergency. He will go see your house, advise you on the safest shelter, help you make plans.

But the chances are there is no warden in your neighborhood. There are very few trained wardens in Delaware. If there is none to help you, ask your local CD director or your city council what is being done about it.

CD's only direct contact with the home is through the block warden. He must be well-known and respected in his neighborhood. On matters of home defense, he is the counselor of every family in his district, the source of the latest information.
Women are needed as wardens. They can do the job capably and, besides, they are more likely to be at home or in the neighborhood when an emergency arises than are the men.

The state CD warden division, under James V. Richardson, is ready to train key men for local warden units whenever they are formed at the county or city level. Mr. Richardson has a staff of six instructors. "In five nights," he says, "we can train a man—or woman—in the rudiments of the job. We want to train at least one man in each district so he can instruct others. In that way, we can keep procedures standardized." And he adds, "It's important work, being a warden. They will be the eyes and ears of CD in an emergency."

As always in CD, the issue comes back to the individual. We are all in Civil Defense. It is going to be a part of our lives from now on. Why not face up to that hard fact and start doing your part?

Kent Home Doings

ACHIEVEMENT DAY

Achievement Day on November 11, was a success, and now is the time to give credit where credit is due.

Mrs. Arthur Short, president of the Kent County Council, presided over the program; she did an excellent job. Group singing was under the direction of Miss Margaret Black, who is a Student Counselor at the University of Delaware. Accompanist was Mrs. Clifford Clark of Kenton, who is also the treasurer of the County Council. The invocation was given by Mrs. John S. Farrow, Mag-nolia, past president of the State Home Demonstration Council.

Reports of activities and achievements of the past year are always and important part of Achievement Day. They were given by Mrs. Francis Thomas, Marydel, Health Chairman; Mrs. Andrew Cole, Smyrna, Family Life Chairman; Mrs. Fred Fifer, Wyoming, Citizenship Chairman; and Mrs. Norman Short, Smyrna. They each did a wonderful job of telling us what had been done and what might be done.

Kent County Homemakers who attended the National Home Demonstration Council meeting gave reports of different parts of the program. Mrs. Helen Lynn, Milford, served as chairman, giving an outline of the program and some background information about the Council. Mrs. William Warren, Dover reported on the pageant presented on Maryland Night. Reports of state activities were summarized by Mrs. Earl Hurd, Clayton. Tea at the Egyptian Embassy was described by Mrs. Clyde Campbell, Hartly. A summary of a speech by Mr. Kemper, an F.B.I. agent, was given by Mrs. Harry Hall, Leipsic. The work of Miss Beatrice Billings with the FAC in the Philippines was described by Mrs. Fred Fifer, Wyoming. Mrs. William Sterling, Dover, gave a report of the address given by Dr. Norman Peale at the banquet.

The Farmington Home Demonstration Club had 100 per cent attendance at the Roll Call of Clubs. Mrs. Leonard French, Milford, Secretary of the County Council, announced that they would receive the $2.00 award for the best attendance. Three other clubs had more than half of their membership in attendance: Fraziers, Friendly Homemakers, and Chestnut Grove.

Rev. Edwin C. Thomas, Jr., Pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church in Odessa, was the featured Speaker. He was introduced by Mrs. Francis Raughley, Dover who had served on the program committee. Mr. Thomas built his address around the theme: What can we do in the home to improve the community? His answer to the question was to improve the quality of marriage and family relationships so that you can send better people into the community. He told the audience: "You are making the community now in your homes."

Achievement Day cannot be a success without committees working behind the scenes. The committees this year were: St. Jones Club, Hostess Committee; Fraziers Club, Exhibit Committee; Cee-W-Dee Club, Key Board Committee; Cowgill's Club, Decorations Committee. Those serving on the committee were Mrs. Francis Raughley, Dover, Mrs. Clifford Clark, Kenton, and Mrs. William Conard, Dover. The women of the Capital Grange served coffee tea, and milk to drink with box lunches. A Thank you to everyone who helped!

Child Forgotten In Black Market for Babies - Dr. Eliot

REPORT TO PARENTS BY DR. MARTHA M. ELIOT
Chief, Children's Bureau

Having a baby—wanting a baby—is affirmation of life. The fact that more people want babies than can have them is such affirmation too.

Unfortunately, in any situation where demand exceeds supply, there is a temptation for the greedy and the unscrupulous to exploit the situation for personal gain. So there has developed a traffic in babies, for financial gain, one which has brought with it a whole chain of unsavory circumstances. The welfare of the child is hardly likely to be of prime consideration. The legal and human rights of the natural and the adoptive parents, too, are apt to get short shrift.

Stamping out the "black market" in babies, as this traffic has come to be known, is exceedingly difficult task, perhaps even more so than eliminating other illicit enterprises, since this one is so stepped in emotion and since the motives of the parents at both ends of the transaction are often of the best.

Attempts are being made in many communities to eliminate trading in babies. Two of the more recent ones are of particular interest because they attempt to get at the problem from the opposite ends of the chain of circumstance that make a baby market possible.

On the other, there is the unmarried mother. She is often quite young. Frequently, she is without financial resources—or support of any kind, for that matter—to see her through an experience that could change the whole pattern of her life. Such a mother is usually so upset—and justifiably worried—that she is vulnerable to pressures that might not lead to the best decision as to what she should do about her baby and herself. The offer of money from a black marketeer and his assurance that her baby will have a fine home may well seem to her a reasonable solution to her problem.

One move, then, toward the solution of the baby black market is to make sure: (1) that there is a well-staffed social agency to help unmarried mothers who need help and that there be sufficient staff so that unwarranted delays do not occur; (2) that such mothers get in touch with that agency early in pregnancy; (3) that such mothers receive financial aid from the agency with medical and other expenses when that is necessary. The Los Angeles County's Committee on Unmarried Parents is an excellent example of aggressive action by a group of citizens working on these fronts.

At the other end of the deal which makes a baby black market possible are the people who want to adopt children. Most of them prefer young babies, and there are not enough babies to meet the demand. Their desire is often so intense that they are apt to become impatient at the slowness of agency procedure.

New York State is trying to discourage black marketing on this front: (1) by setting up a system for exchange of information about the families who want children and the children who lack families, and (2) by encouraging adopting parents to become interested in older children available for adoption. The State's Department of Welfare has appointed in each of 5 sections of the State, a consultant who is especially trained in adoption matters. These consultants pool their knowledge about a home in one part of the State which might be

Many in Delaware to Get First Social Security Next Year

BY MYRON MILBOUER
(Manager of the Wilmington Social Security Board)

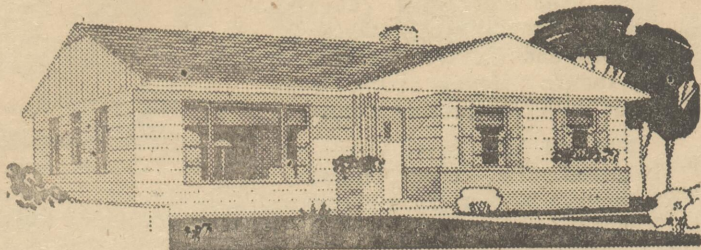

In the first of this series of articles, I mentioned the fact that one of the prime objectives of social security was to bring more members of the nation's labor force under its insurance program. When President Roosevelt signed the original Social Security Act in 1935, he called it "a cornerstone in a structure which is being built, but which is by no means complete." And since the social security system began in 1937, five amendments have built upon this original "cornerstone" a building that will protect many more people from the storms of financial worries in the later years. This same strong building will protect whole families from economic distress if their breadwinner dies.

With the 1954 Amendments to the Social Security Act, President Eisenhower and Congress have made the edifice of social protection even larger to include over ten million more working people. About seven million employed and self-employed men and women are coming into the program on January 1, 1955 on a compulsory basis and about three and a quarter million more working people are eligible on a voluntary basis or at the option of their employers.

Over three and a half million farm operators, about 6000 in Delaware, are covered by social security for the first time after 1954. This is the largest single group to be brought under the program. The new amendment also provides an easy way for the newly covered farm operators to report their earnings for social security purposes if these earnings are low. I'll explain this special method of income reporting in a later article. A second large group is over two million more farm employees. The new amendment covers all farm employees who earn $100 or more in cash from the same farm employer in a year, and abolishes the regularity of work provision of the old law.

Eligible to earn their future protection for the first time, are about three and a half million State and local government employees. These are workers who are already under a State or local retirement system, but they may now be brought under the social security program without losing the protection of their other retirement plans if their State makes an agreement with the

This house has practically every feature required in a small house, from its attractive exterior appearance to its numerous closets. The combination kitchen-dinette is at the front, while the good size bedrooms are located on the quiet side of the house.

Plans call for an insulated floor slab on gravel fill, frame construction with siding and a touch of face brick. The dotted lines indicate the Federal government. Also 150,000 government. Also, 150 thousand Federal government employees will be under the program for the first time after 1954.

About 100 thousand professional people who work for themselves may begin to earn their social security credits on January 1, 1955. This change in the law means that now almost all self-employed people are earning social security. The professions group included by the 1954 amendments comprises self-employed engineers, accountants, architects, and funeral directors. A self-employed person earns credit with social security when his net income during the year is $400 or more.

The rule that domestic workers must work a certain number of days in a calendar quarter for the same employer has been abolished, and because of this, about 200 thousand additional private household employees will be earning social security credit beginning January 1, 1955. Home industrial workers are now covered whether or not they are licensed by their state. These are the people who work in their own homes for an industrial employer.

The 1954 Amendment extends protection to over 250 thousand ministers, Christian Science practitioners, and members of religious orders who have not taken a vow of poverty. After 1954 all employed and self-employed ministers may bring themselves under the old-age and survivors insurance program as self-employed people. They may come in on a voluntary basis, and they must file certificates indicating their desire to begin earning social security.

The new law makes about 100 thousand American citizens who are employed abroad by foreign subsidiaries of American corporations eligible for coverage at the option of the parent American

About 40 thousand more fishermen who are employed workers will begin earning their future insurance. They will be covered by social security regardless of the tonnage of the fishing vessel or the nature of the catch.

If this article has answered the fundamental question of who is covered by the new amendment, it has probably raised many more questions. For, as you see, there is no general rule for all of these newly covered men and women to follow. (One exception to this is that all of these newly covered people should get their social security cards right away.) Because the new law affects each group just a little differently, I shall devote several articles in this series to discussions of separate groups.

Granny Drives But Won't "Shift"

Saw Grandma Taylor parking her 1924 Franklin out front the other day. Neat as a pin, radiator and hub caps gleaming—the whole car is as shiny as the day she bought it 30 years ago.

Then I stopped and looked again—for there, hanging on the spare tire was a sign: "This car NOT for sale."

Asked Granny what was going on. "Joe," she says, "it's this craze for old cars. Everybody wants to buy my Franklin. But it has served for years and it's not for sale at any price."

From where I sit, it's strictly the new cars for me—but Grandma Taylor, and others, are certainly welcome to their "old faithfuls." It's simply a question of preference. Same with a choice of beverages. For instance, I like a temperate glass of beer with supper. You may prefer coffee. Fine! The important thing is that we respect each other's choice—and "ride along smoothly" together.

We bring you THE 1955 BUICK
New thriller in Style - Power - Performance

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

A BRIGHT NEW FRESHNESS greets your eyes and tells you: Buick's done it again.

You see it in the bold distinction of that gleaming Wide-Screen Grille. You see it in the rakish sweep of the rear-end contours. You see it in the whole fore-and-aft newness of feet-lined grace that marks Buick the beauty thrill of 1955.

New horsepower—up to 236
You learn more when you get the power story. Up to new peaks go the horsepower of every Buick V8 engine—a whopping 188 hp in the low-price SPECIAL—a mighty 236 hp in the CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER.

And it's new, more responsive, far able power you can literally feel as you go.

But even bigger Buick news for 1955 is something more than style and power. It's what the "variable pitch propeller" now has done for Dynaflow Drive.*

Up goes performance—and gas mileage too

When you find it necessary to push the pedal to the floor board, you do more than call on the greatest high-compression V8 power in Buick history.

You do what a pilot does when he heads his plane down a runway. You do in oil what he does in air—you cut down take-off time by using "variable pitch propellers."

In this case, the propeller blades are inside the Dynaflow unit. But they're engineered to swivel or change their "pitch" just like plane propellers—and with the same result: one pitch for getaway, another pitch for gas-saving fuel efficiency.

And what you get in the way of instantaneous safety-surge with absolute smoothness, you can only believe when you feel it.

This you have to try

Of course, we want you to come and see the trend-setting new Buicks—look into the betterments in gasoline mileage that add new thrill to these spectacular cars.

But this year, "seeing" is only the beginning. So—while you join the crowds viewing the new Buicks this week end, make a date to get behind the wheel as soon as you possibly can. We promise you the thrill of the year.

Storing Farm Machines Well Will Save Money

With the trend toward more heavy machinery on the farm, and high prices for all kinds of equipment, care of these machines becomes urgent, says County Agent George G. Vapaa.

Proper winter storage prolongs the life of farm machines, holds down repair costs and releases time and labor for other farm activities.

Combine, binder, and baler canvases may be damaged by rats or insects unless put in a safe place.

Another effective way to head off damage by rust is to cover unpainted parts and bearing surfaces with the drying type of rust preventive.

Machines with wooden parts, particularly, need winter protection. Wooden manure spreader boxes will be less affected by winter weather if the wood is coated with preservative.

Q—I am in the organized reserves, and I have been called to active training duty for two weeks. Will those two weeks count in lengthening my entitlement to Korean GI Bill training?

A—No. Training duty may not be counted in determining entitlement to Korean GI Bill training. Only active-duty—as opposed to training duty—may be considered in computing entitlement.

Q—I lost my GI insurance policy. If something happens to me, will my beneficiaries still be able to get the proceeds of the policy?

A—Yes. The policy itself, which has been issued to you, is for informational purposes only. It is not necessary to produce the policy as evidence that the insurance is in effect; proceeds will be paid anyhow, so long as VA records show your policy was in force.

State Poultrymen Meet Dec. 1 to Talk Over Hurricane and Price Problems

Delaware poultrymen have had two strikes against them recently low prices and hurricane "Hazel." In spite of that, there are many who are optimistic about the future. They feel that the big profits are gone for some time to come, but there is still a "living" in it for efficient poultrymen who like chickens and are willing to devote full time to it.

To give these poultrymen the information they need to make a success of the poultry business an all-day Short Course has been planned for Wednesday, December 1st at the Grace Methodist Church in Georgetown.

Several timely topics are scheduled, with nationally known speakers from the Mid-west, New England, and nearby States. According to Silas McHenry, Assistant Extension Poultryman at the University of Delaware, talks will cover latest research developments and field observations in the fields of poultry housing, disease control, feeding, management, and marketing.

Poultrymen who are interested in rebuilding will find out the types of construction and labor-saving features which they should include in a new house. Those who are wondering about the future prospects will hear the latest forecast. Everyone will get an opportunity to meet their friends and exchange ideas during the morning "coffee hour" and lunch served by the Church ladies. The morning program, starting at 9:00 o'clock includes the following topics and speakers with Ed McVaine of Georgetown as Chairman.

"Water, dust and spray Vaccination for Newcastle Disease"—Dr. M. S. Cover, University of Delaware, Moderator.

Dr. R. J. Price, Lederle Laboratories, Pearl River, New York; Dr. P. G. White, American Scientific Laboratories; Dr. H. N. Lasher, Delaware Poultry Laboratories.

"Boom or Bust for Poultrymen?" (a look at the crystal ball for poultry prospects) W. E. McDaniel, Agricultural Economist, University of Delaware.

"Building Poultry Houses to withstand hurricane"—Milton Dunk, Editor of Poultry Tribune, Moderator.

FRAME CONSTRUCTION—Dr. Glenn Bressler, Pennsylvania State College.

POLE CONSTRUCTION—William Calvert, Agricultural Engineer, Reynolds Farm Institute.

CONCRETE CONSTRUCTION—William Wagner, Farm Representative, Portland Cement Association.

During the afternoon session, Ralph Obier, Laurel, will be Chairman of the General Session, which includes a panel discussion of how to "Save money with bulk feeds." Silas McHenry will be Moderator, with Arnel Long, Millsboro; Warren Mumford, Selbyville and Sam Sloan of Harbeson.

"Ventilation of Poultry Houses" will be the subject of an illustrated talk by Bruce Fearn, Rural Representative from the Philadelphia Electric Company.

Separate meetings for broiler growers and egg producers will be held for the remainder of this program. Heading the broiler groups is Elbert C. Golder of Dover.

Topics are:

"How many feeders and fountains to use for growing broilers at present prices" by Otis Esham of Parsonburg, Maryland.

"Marketing Delmarva Broilers"—"Why the difference between farm and retail prices of broilers" by John Hargreaves, Denton, Md.

"Control respiratory diseases with better management"—a panel discussion.

Chairman for the egg producers is Charles Boyer, Bridgeville, Delaware.

Topics and speakers are:

"Push-button egg production" (results with experimental laying house—1.3 sq. ft. per bird)—Dr. Glenn Bressler, Pennsylvania State College.

"Raising Flock Replacements" (confinement vs. range rearing; restricted vs. full feeding, how to raise healthy pullets)—Milton Dunk, Editor of The Poultry Tribune.

Care Advised In Rebuilding Poultry Houses

Are you planning to rebuild your poultry house after Hurricane Hazel? Silas McHenry, Assistant Extension Poultryman at the University of Delaware, offers many suggestions to make a stronger, more substantial house.

The houses you rebuild can be hurricane proof, reminds McHenry. He recommends a foundation wall, two feet below the ground with a concrete footing eight inches thick and 16 inches wide. Many old houses which were damaged, were just setting on blocks with no solid foundation.

Two types of houses popular in the Delmarva area are the gable roof house—48 feet wide—facing east and west and the shed roof house—24 to 30 feet deep—facing south. Wall construction may be concrete block, board covered with asphalt roofing, cement asbestos board or metal roofing. A 19 inch white overlap of asphalt roofing material is preferred to the block built up asphalt roof.

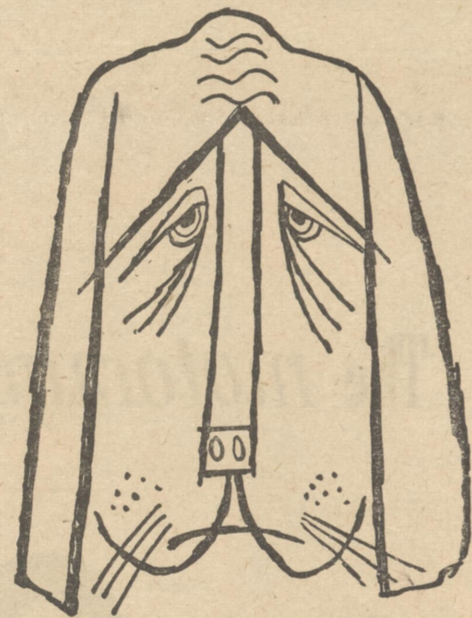

Sliding windows are preferred in both the wide and narrow houses. Some laying houses are built with two rows of hinged openings for better cross ventilation. For cleaning purposes and cross ventilation, double doors at the ends of all poultry houses are recommended.

Although some people find a four inch concrete floor more easily cleaned, a dirt floor is more economical. Whatever type of floor, it should be six inches above the ground level for good drainage.

Higher egg prices and better hatchability—Jack Taylor, Ext. poultry specialist, New Jersey.

The blink of a human eye can last as long as a half a second.

Elevated feed platforms make it easy to feed and dump bags of feed into a bin type feed carrier. Some poultrymen are installing bulk feed bins. An automatic feeder or feed carrier track is necessary in either case.

Another important item to consider is the water supply. Water is the cheapest and best item available for the chickens. At least four 4 foot automatic water troughs or their equivalent per 1000 broilers should be provided, or 1 trough or pan per 100 laying hens.

Enough electric wiring should be provided to furnish one electric light socket for every 200 square feet of floor space. This would give one light bulb every eight feet in a 24 foot deep house.

Without a doubt, plenty of nails should be used in order to strengthen the construction of the house. Partitions give extra rigidity and help the house to withstand severe winds, and diagonal braces on the partition walls or every 30 to 40 feet makes a stronger house.

For more detailed instructions, contact your county agricultural agent, Extension poultryman, or agricultural engineer at the University of Delaware.

Gain in Farm Exports Foreseen

Present prospects appear favorable for increased sale of United States farm products abroad. An increase of as much as 10 per cent in exports of farm products to other countries during the last half of 1954 and the first half of 1955 is held a possibility by the Foreign Agricultural Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

During the preceding year exports of farm products improved 4 per cent over the low postwar level of 1952-53.

If government surplus disposal programs are successful, the increase in farm exports may even exceed the 10 per cent expected this year, according to FAS. But over the long run, volume of exports will depend more upon high quality and attractive prices in products offered, and upon our ability to meet exacting buyer preferences overseas in an era of competitive foreign marketing. A product selected to meet demand here at home is not necessarily the preferred type of foreign standards.

Unico REDI-GRIP Passenger Tire

The "All Year" Tire with Greater Traction On and Off the Highway

Maximum Traction, Positive Grip—Built for severe year-round use in mud, snow, slush, ice . . . and over summer highways.

Protection Against Skidding — Resists lateral slides. Protects against winddrift. Wide, flat, flexible tread gives maximum control against skidding or side-sways.

Quiet Running — Circumferential ribs with off angle varying length bars provide quiet running on dry pavements, yet assure maximum traction in rough road conditions.

Extra Mileage — Tread compounded for top mileage. Extra thickness to give mileage equal to or better than conventional tires under regular highway travel.

We Invite You to Compare

Redi-Grip Tread Depth .585 in.— deepest tread of any major mud and snow tire on the market. Mileage is vastly superior to similar tires of this type.

Redi-Grip Tread Width 5.93 in.—widest in the field.

Natural Rubber Throughout—no other mud and snow tire can make this claim.

SCHOOL NEWS

Grade 1 - Mrs. Grant
We had a lovely Halloween party on Friday, Oct. 29. Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Land, Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Bonniwell, Mrs. Harcum, Mrs. Dill, and Mrs. Hill all helped. Wayne Land won the prize for pinning the tail on the donkey. We paraded in other rooms and had fun. All of us dressed up in pretty or funny costumes.

Grade 1 - Mrs. Hopkins
We are sorry that Sandra Ferrilli is absent because she has poison on her face. Anthony Vogl and Diane Andrews are absent too. We miss all of them and hope they will soon be back to work with us.

Mrs. Percy taught us a new game of tag this week. In our Art Class, Mrs. Malek taught us to finger paint. Our pictures were fun to do. They make a very pretty decoration on our bulletin board.

Our Reading Workbooks are getting more interesting and easier for us to do each week.

Last week we learned to make the last letters in our alphabet. Now we can print all of the capital and small letters, but we must practice every day so we can make them better.

Grade 2 - Mrs. Irwin
Every one in our grade wants to thank our homeroom mothers for giving us such a nice Halloween party.

Our refreshments were cookies, popcorn, candy, and popcorn. We had fun going to each room in our costumes.

Grade 5 - Mrs. Donovan
When we had our Halloween party, we had an entertainment committee. Connie Diddle tap danced to Dark Town Strutters Ball. In our Social Studies, we are reading about De Sota. Our Weekly Readers last week were about North Dakota. This week they are about the St. Lawrence.

Grade 6 - Mrs. Mann
We had a Halloween party on Friday, Oct. 29, about two o'clock. We dressed up in our costumes and paraded around the other rooms. There were prizes for the funniest person, the ugliest, and the most original. They were as follows: Harry Knotts; The most original, Funniest, Beatrice Collins; The most original; Mary Ann Messick, Jean Martin, and Dolores Brown.

The judges were David Hitchens and Patty Hackett. We played games, had lots of things to eat, and lots of fun. Dolores Brown - reporter or your choice of two new sixes!

It's got a "V" in its bonnet—

The motoramic Chevrolet for '55

Great new 8

Two new 6's 6

It's the valve-in-head V8 as only the valve-in-head leader can build it!

You'd expect Chevrolet to out-V8 the field—and it has! Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8" puts a brand-new kind of excitement under your foot. The excitement of 162 horsepower! The excitement of an 8 to 1 ultra-high compression ratio that squeezes more pure fun out of a gallon of gas than you ever dreamed possible! The new "Turbo-Fire V8" is so efficient that it requires only four quarts of oil instead of the usual five or more. And it has the shortest piston stroke in the low-price field, for longer engine life. But we can't even begin to give you the whole story here. Come in and drive the new "Turbo-Fire V8!"

With enough new advances to fill a book!

Chevrolet offers two new highstepping sixes for 1955! There's the new "Blue-Flame 136" (teamed with Powerglide as an extra-cost option) and the new "Blue-Flame 123." Both bring you new, higher-rated power—the zippy, thrifty high-compression, kind. Both have new, more efficient cooling and lubrication systems... new engine mounts that result in almost unbelievable smoothness. And, like the new "Turbo-Fire V8," both are sparked by a new 12-volt electrical system for finer performance and faster cold-weather starting. They're the liveliest, smoothest sixes Chevrolet ever put into a passenger car!

The Bel Air 2-Door Sedan—one of 14 new Fisher Body beauties in three new series.

P.T.A. To Operate Pupil Insurance Plan

The Caesar Rodney Board of Education at a recent meeting authorized the Parent-Teacher Association to put in operation a pupil accident insurance plan. Dr. Jack Sabloff, president of the P.T.A., has appointed the following committee to be in charge of the details of getting the plan underway: Mrs. Roy M. Scrutfield, Mrs. H. Irving Holt, Mrs. Jack M. Curl, Mrs. R. Sudler Emerson and Mrs. Clayton Hershberger.

The Board had previously decided against the plan on the grounds that it was a commercial project requiring the time of busy teachers and that it involved another collection of money from parents.

A survey in the school indicated that half of the students were already covered by some type of accident insurance. Also, according to the records of the school nurse the costs of such accidents for the previous school year had been less than $300.00.

However, the Board acceded to a request from the Parent-Teacher Association for approval for a pupil accident insurance plan on the condition that the association furnish the personnel required. Subsequently, Dr. Sabloff appointed the committee to be in charge of the activity.

Century Club Notes American Home Week

A large number of club members and their husbands enjoyed a delightful evening at the Harrington New Century Club Monday when American Home Week was observed with a bountiful covered dish supper at 6:30 p. m.

New Methods Ease Stock Feeding

Plan any changes or additions in your farm buildings to help make feed handling easier.

County Agent George K. Vapaa says many farmers still use inefficient, time and labor-consuming feeding methods. At the same time they use new improved machines and methods to plant, cultivate and harvest their crops to save hours of labor.

One way to save livestock feeding time is to group livestock buildings into a well-organized unit, Vapaa points out. This unit may include shelter, feedlot and storage for silage, hay and grain. Another way is to build labor-saving devices into the buildings you already have.

Paved feedlots are well worth their cost for both winter beef feeding and swine production. You can save lots of self-feed silage from a horizontal silo, use automatic unloaders in upright silos or fill feed bunks with a silage conveyor or a self-unloading wagon.

You can get equipment that will move grain from storage to self-feeder by means of a blower or conveyor if you locate your grain storage next to the feeding area. Some farmers are using an automatic feeding setup that moves corn by machine from the crib, grinds it, mixes it with supplement and blows it directly to a self-feeder.

Store hay at ground level to cut the cost of a storage building, to eliminate the need for elevating it to a mow and to store it right where it can be fed. Build livestock shelters that are free from posts so that you can clean them with a tractor and manure leader. Finally, you can move water wherever it is needed for all livestock units on your farm with a pressure water system.

"WHITE CHRISTMAS" AT REESE NOV. 25 THRU DEC. 1

"White Christmas" Nov. 21 - 22 When a theatre will change a listed program, one might expect something of unusual importance is in the making. And that is just what has happened with the special announcement that "White Christmas" with Bing Crosby, Danny Kaye, Rosemary Clooney, and Vera-Ellen, will open at the Reese Theatre, Thanksgiving, Nov. 25 and continue for a seven day engagement ending Dec. 1.

This is a special so-called read show engagement and is the first picture having the new Vistavision-Perspecta Sound process. Thru the foresight and recommendation of the Community of Friendly Neighbors, the Reese Theatre is the only theatre in lower Del. & Md. having a Perspecta Sound installation, which will allow the sound to follow the action, adding much to the presentation and enjoyment of Reese Theatre patrons.

Advanced Producer's prices will prevail. Schedule and prices may be found in a special advertisement section in this newspaper.

Tibetan Evolution

Tibetans anticipated Darwin by long ago claiming descent from a monkey. This legendary forebear, say Tibetan chronicles, was actually an incarnation of the Compassionate Spirit. He fed his six offspring on sacred grain, with the result that gradually their tails became shorter and they turned into men—the first Tibetans.

to name two others Monday night. It is expected that the four attorneys will be asked to draw up bills designed to carry out the provisions of the Democratic platform, and to have many of them ready for action when the session starts in January.

Members talked about the desirability of having a fast session, and of getting down to business without undue delay. They also discussed the idea of having a recess while the finance committee goes over the budget.

In speeches to the legislators, Mr. Carvel, U. S. Senator J. Allen Frear, Jr., and U. S. Representative Harris B. McDowell, Jr., all urged them to make a good record and to carry out the desires of the people.

Specific legislative proposals were not discussed at the meeting.

The meeting of the new lawmakers followed a meeting of the Democratic Policy Committee, with several attorneys and victorious candidates attending at the invitation of Mr. Carvel. Those attending included Mr. Carvel, Mr. Frear, Mr. McDowell, Joseph J. Scannell, city chairman; James H. Latham, New Castle County chairman; Vernon B. Derrickson, Kent chairman; I. Leroy Smith, Sussex chairman; John C. Hazard, national committeeman; Harry S. Smith, insurance commissioner - elect, Howard H. Dickerson, state treasurer - elect; Samuel Fox, Thomas Cooch, Howard E. Lynch, Jr., Herbert Cobin, and Robert Tunnell.

Absent were Joseph Donald Craven, attorney general-elect, and Clifford E. Hall, auditor-elect, both of whom are in Florida on vacation, and William S. Potter, who was busy with a case.

Wild Life Refuge

The refuge open area should submit their application on a two-cent postal card, noting their name and address and their first and second preference of hunting period.

The 100 persons chosen in the drawing will be so notified by mail with their permit, a copy of pertinent federal regulations and a map of the open hunting area enclosed.

It was explained by David M. Hickok, refuge manager, that the Fish and Wildlife Service only opens a portion of the refuge areas at the request of the Delaware Fish and Game Commission in order to expedite their efforts to control the population trend of the Delaware deer herd, and then only if in the opinion of refuge personnel that the harvest is biologically justified.

The refuge area contains what is believed to be the largest segment of the state deer herd. This herd increases in numbers as deer are driven into the refuge during the small game season and reaches a peak in numbers in December and January.

The refuge as usual will be open for bird watchers during the deer season, but "birding" will be restricted to the Whitehall Neck area of the refuge and to the dikes around Raymond and Shearneck Pools.

It is emphasized that the hunting program has been so planned as to minimize any disturbance to migratory waterfowl.

Gloves

Printed and woven cotton and wool are being used for the sensational and dramatic gloves of the season while suede-finished, double-woven nylon gives the perfect accent to soft afternoon woolen dresses. Stitched, short cotton or suede gloves are favored for suits.

The Senior Class Play

"He Couldn't Marry Five" is the title of the three act comedy to be produced by the Senior Class of Harrington High in the high school auditorium on Friday, November 19. The performance will be under the direction of Miss Loretta Paskey and Miss Leona Dickraeger. The curtain will go up promptly at 8 p. m. Tickets are 75c for adults and 50c for all school children.

Library News

The Library Club met on Wednesday morning. Twenty-nine members were present. The president, Sue Holloway, presided. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The treasurer, Joan Collins, reported that the booking system had been approved by the auditing committee.

The members of the library practice group arranged four bulletin board displays for Book Week, November 14 to 20. They stressed new books by means of map pointing out places of interest told about in new book, a snow man pointing to a clothesline on which book jackets were hung, a tree trunk symbolizing the National Theme of Book Week. This display gave everyone an opportunity to see and examine the new books before they were put out in circulation.

Employment Tests

On Tuesday, November 9, the members of the Senior Class were given tests, in the High School Cafeteria, by the State Employment Bureau. These tests are to be used to determine what aptitude each student has for particular jobs. The results of the test will be made known to the Seniors at a later date.

The children divided themselves in groups of four for the refreshment period. Each pupil shared in furnishing the refreshments for his group. In the manner more individual participation was experienced.

Grade 2 - Mrs. West

We have been watching men fix our playground. They have been grading with big machinery. We saw them use a bulldozer, many dump trucks, road scrapers, and a big shovel. We saw the shovel put the dirt in the trucks. Many men used hand shovels. The piles of dirt grew bigger and bigger before our eyes. Soon they looked like hills. We saw large machinery loaded on huge trucks. Big bulldozers flattened out the piles of dirt and pushed over trees. There were many different kinds of noises.

Grade 3 - Mrs. Wright

The boys and girls in Mrs. Wright's third grade gave the playlet, "Storm in the Library", on Friday afternoon. In the play many story book characters came to life. Susan McDonald was the librarian, David Brobst, the master of ceremonies and Randy Knox the announcer. The other characters were Johnny Barry Fry; Little Martha - Nancy Harrington; Jane - Dawn Hopkins; Swan - Phobe Bullock; Joan of Arc - Alice Hearn; Mark - Stuart Greenburg; Skunk - Doug Moore; King Alfred - Rickey Simpson.
